SNOW STORM IN NEW YORK KILLS THREE

Blanket, Six and One-Half Inches Deep, Covers Metropolitan; 10,000 Men Work All Day Clearing Thoroughfares

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Three persons died, one dying and several injured was the known toll exacted here by a snowstorm lasting from yesterday forenoon until this morning.

Two of the victims were found dead in snow banks. The third slipped from an icy platform and was killed by a train.

Six and a half inches of snow fell, and traffic was greatly impeded. A force of nearly 10,000 men worked all day to clear out the main arteries.

Several trains, running all night, kept tracks and switches free from ice and snow. Subways in Manhattan were not affected, but in the Brooklyn district, open cuts, snow hampered service.

Marine traffic was seriously disrupted, captains of incoming liners preferring to remain at quarantine until the storm abated.

NEW ENGLAND IS BURNED UNDER DEEP SNOW DRIFTS

BOSTON, March 7 (AP)—New England today contended with a snowstorm that was among the worst of the year. To a snowfall of nearly 10 feet accumulated previously in some places, it added nearly a foot, delaying transportation services and burning wires, but damage was not great.

The storm had blown out to sea before evening. A heavy northeast gale caused shipping to lag behind. The Boston schooner Augusta G. Hilton, running light from this port to Norfolk, was driven ashore on Martha's Vineyard.

In other cities other cities remaining closed as a result of the storm.

Takes Proposed Alterations in Anti-Cigarette Law from Committee that Would Have Buried Them

SALT LAKE, March 7 (AP)—After the house sifting committee, by a vote of 4 to 3, decided to bury the proposed amendments to the Utah cigarette law, the house, making a change in the rules, made reconsideration of the measure a special order of business for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The proposed amendments, which will be voted upon tomorrow, would restrict the sale of cigarettes by licensed dealers, but would prohibit all tobacco advertising. A fight on the bill is regarded as certain.

THREE ATTEMPTS AT SUICIDE FAIL

Woman Convicted of Murder, Seeks to Take Own Life After Verdict is Returned

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Mrs. Fawcett Salades, the second woman to be convicted of murder in this city within three weeks, made three unsuccessful attempts at suicide tonight.

Found guilty of killing Oscar Martelliere, an insurance broker, who, she said, had wronged her, Mrs. Salades was being led across the Bridge of Sighs when she swallowed poison, then tried to slash her throat with the lid of a small tin box, and finally attempted to dash her brains out against the wall of her cell in the Tombs.

The jury, composed of men of "super intelligence," and admonished to find a verdict with their heads instead of their hearts, found Mrs. Salades guilty of second degree murder, which carries a prison sentence of from 20 years to life. Less than three weeks ago a jury in Brooklyn returned a similar verdict against Mrs. Lillian Batzen for the slaying of Dr. Abraham Glickstein.

Mrs. Salades shot Martelliere October 16 and on that day was prevented from snuffing her life when she attempted to leap from a window in her attorney's office.

The theory was set forth tonight by some prison officials that she had decided to end her life rather than tell all the facts concerning her life, which will be necessary when sentenced to prison. Little is known of her history.

McLean, Chairman of the shipping board, and former Director Dawes of the budget, came ashore and motored to Seabreeze, across the Halifax river from this city, to spend the day at the beach.

LEGISLATORS WOULD LIFT BRYAN SCALP

Appropriation Bill for Education Appears in Senate Minus Provision for Commissioner's Salary

BOISE, March 7 (Special to The News)—Dr. E. A. Bryan, commissioner of education of the state of Idaho, former head of the Washington State college and noted educator, may lose his position as commissioner of education through the failure of the Idaho legislature to appropriate money for his salary after July 1, 1923.

This is the price paid to his political enemies by those interested in the passage of the three-eighths mill levy to build school buildings at the state institutions. Balked in their efforts to have the bill abolished by the passage of a bill which would have accomplished their purpose, and facing a public opinion expressed in mass meetings and a rush of telegrams and communications to state officials, and members of the legislature, those who would lift Dr. Bryan's official scalp have found a way out through the anxiety to build buildings through a special bill.

The appropriation bill for education in Idaho was introduced today in the senate. It calls for $1,854,198 and reverses the cut in the commissioner's salary and the tax program.

Tax Program Gaining Passage by the senate of three-hour bills, cutting 10 per cent from the levy of school districts and two classes of highway taxes, and passage by the house of a bill which will cut the levy limit of municipalities, almost completely, and the transmission of financing taxes in smaller political divisions.

A senate bill prohibiting all public officials from attending any political convention at state expense almost failed in the house late today by a vote of 32 to 30, and notice of reconsideration was given.

Senate bills passed by the house combine 18 items of public accounts and budget with the auditor's office; exempt from the anti-trust laws co-operative organizations which handle agricultural and horticultural products; and set salaries of state commissioners.

Takes Up Bank Guarantees The house defeated a senate joint resolution which would have amended the constitution, allowing the submission of a bill to the legislature on a joint resolution from the upper house providing for a commission to investigate.

MISSING MEN'S BODIES FOUND

Searchers Uncover Remains of Deputy Sheriffs Slain by Moonshiners Taken at Still

FRANKLINTOWN, Pa., March 7 (AP)—The bodies of Wesley Crain and Wiley Pierce, deputy sheriffs of Washington county, slain by moonshiners, who had captured at a still in the swamps eight miles east of here last Saturday morning, were found early this morning buried in a shallow grave a quarter of a mile from the destroyed still.

The carcass of a cow had been dragged on top of Crain's body. The body of Pierce had been pressed down into the mud by a number of small logs. John Murphy and Gleason Rester, two of the men rounded up by a posse yesterday, are accused by the authorities of the crime. An official statement credits the moonshiners with the finding of the bodies and the confessions in the hands of the authorities ending the search in which approximately 1000 men, including members of a troop of cavalry, have been engaged since Monday morning.

BALFOUR WILL EXPLAIN ALLIED DEBT PROPOSAL

Author of British Note is Prompted by "Misunderstandings" to Make Statement Before House of Lords

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—The Earl of Balfour as the author of the British note of August 1, 1922, regarding inter-allied debts, will make an explanatory statement in the House of Lords this afternoon with reference to the misunderstandings which have arisen concerning it, says the political correspondent of the Morning Post.

The note of Lord Balfour, then acting foreign secretary, was addressed to France, Italy, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Portugal and Greece.

It constituted a strong plea for international settlement of debts and repatriation on the basis of a general cancellation of the war-related indebtedness and a generous reduction in German reparations.

Attention again was centered on the note February 25 at the Pilgrim's dinner in London when George Lloyd, the American ambassador to Great Britain, referred to it as containing the specific assertion that under the terms of the understanding reached, he hoped to see some suitable time the British government would "remove the misapprehension created by this unfortunate allusion."

"The oil industry is being taxed to the limit," he said. "It is being taxed for so many things that pretty soon it will be unable to pay for the widows' pensions, congressional boot parties and other things."

WALLACE, Idaho, March 7 (AP)—Fifty cents per day wage increases for miners throughout the Coeur d'Alene district will be announced in notices posted today in the mines at the various mines. It was stated tonight, as a result of recent increases in the market price of lead.

TELL ACTIVITIES OF MASKED MEN

Witnesses from Among Those Held up by Hooded Band Appear Before Grand Jury

BASTROP, La., March 7 (AP)—Witnesses who appeared today before the Morehouse parish grand jury were, for the most part, persons held up on the Bastrop-Mer Rouge highway last August 24 by a masked band which kidnaped Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard. It was believed that the jury had begun its inquiry into the most serious act of the hooded men in the parish, the only instance where their victims of the lawless operations had lost their lives. The bodies of Daniel and Richard, virtually headless and mutilated, were found in Lake La Fourche four months later.

The principal witnesses today were M. E. Hunkler of New Orleans and V. L. Daniel, the father of Watt, and "Tot" Davenport.

Mrs. Inabel, at the opening here in January, testified she recognized E. N. (New) Gray as one of the hooded men, who made captives of Richard, Daniel, J. L. Daniel, W. C. Andrews and Davenport.

There has been no intimation when the grand jury would complete its work but prior to its organization, attaches of the attorney general's staff said they believed it would require a week or 10 days.

AMERICA WAITS FOR FULL INFORMATION IN CASE

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Administration officials are awaiting full information as to the situation relative to the Lausanne treaty between Turkey and the allied governments before reaching a decision as to when steps should be taken to ratify the treaty. Turkey will be undertaken. Official word was still lacking today as to the action of the Ankara parliament in voting to reject the Lausanne peace pact. It was said officially that while restoration of peace between Turkey and the powers appeared to be a desirable condition precedent to negotiation of a new treaty, it was not an essential condition of the situation. The United States has never been at war with Turkey and its situation is wholly different from that of the European powers.

REICHSSTAG APPROVES SPEECH AND WONDERS ABOUT EFFECT

BERLIN, March 7 (AP)—The Reichstag today debated Chancellor Cuno's speech, the discussion revealed general astonishment at the terms of the government's statement, while in the Reichstag corridors the talk chiefly concerned itself with the effect of the Chancellor's speech abroad.

In the speech abroad, Dr. Eduard David, for the socialists, said the French ought to understand that an agreement was always possible with France, which had offered reparations in peace, but with France wanting to annex the Rhineland and the Ruhr, never.

Herr Herst, conservative, regretted that Chancellor Cuno had not announced a rupture of diplomatic relations and a policy of reprisals.

WALLACE ASKS CONSERVATION OF WOODLANDS

Agriculture Secretary Urges National Policy to Conserve and Develop American Timber Supplies

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—A national policy to conserve and develop American timber supplies was urged today by Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture, and Hugh B. Baker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp association, in opening hearings of the special senate committee on reforestation.

Witnesses will be heard here by the committee during the next few days, and next month it will begin a tour of virtually all timber regions of the country to make extensive investigations preliminary to recommendations to congress.

The day of self-sustaining supplies of lumber have passed. States on the committee was told by Secretary Wallace, who declared that a scientific and economic program of conservation and reforestation must be prosecuted.

Fight Fire and Lower Taxes.

Fire protection and reduced taxes to stimulate forestry development were the principal measures proposed by the secretary and Mr. Baker. Mr. Wallace also suggested federal acquisition and development of large tracts of the existing 81,000,000 acres of barren cut-over timberland.

Both witnesses today urged cooperation between the federal government, the states, municipalities, timber owners and consumers of wood products to ward conservation and production of timber. Secretary Wallace said it was unimportant to have government control of private timber cutting, but that this should be done by the states "to give a reasonable form of public control."

With an annual consumption of 7,000,000 tons of paper, with an embargo on pulp wood threatened in Canada and with constantly decreasing domestic supply, Mr. Baker told the committee that reforestation was a vital problem to the paper industry.

Facing Fifty Year Years.

"We feel that we are facing fifty year years," he said, declaring that planting of trees on unused lands and the Missouri and north of the Potomac rivers would insure an adequate supply of pulp wood and also would enable the United States to become an export nation. Twenty per cent of the pulp wood now consumed in the United States, he added, is imported.

"We are looking to the south as the great future source of the pulp wood supply," said Mr. Baker, stating that the loblolly pine could be grown in the south in 20 years. Alaska has pulp timber with great quantities, he added, but its distance from the center of population will make its development slow as a paper source.

LEFT WITH BROKEN LEG IN SNOW, FIFTEEN BELOW

HUTTE, Mont., Mar. 7 (AP)—Spending 36 hours in the open with the thermometer freezing between ten and fifteen degrees below zero, with a broken leg, and later one frozen and one badly frosted foot, to say nothing of the prospect which faced him constantly of freezing to death, was the experience of Jens B. Jensen, 31, rancher of the Medicine Lodge valley, about 50 miles southwest of here.

After Mr. Jensen finally succeeded in reaching the nearby inhabitants, some sheepherders about ten miles distant at Armatand, he was taken to Dillon in a truck and from there by train to this city. He is being treated at a local hospital, where it is thought it will be necessary to amputate all of the toes and possibly the leg.

While chasing horses his own mount stepped into a ditch covered with drifted snow and went down. The rider was dragged several rods before he finally freed his foot from the stirrup. The horse, frightened, departed and left Mr. Jensen lying in the snow his leg broken in several places.

DOORN, Holland, Mar. 7 (AP)—The relation between Willem III and his wife, Princess Herminie, are strained, according to information obtained from a member of the one-time emperor's entourage. This fact supposedly is the cause for the imminent departure of Herminie and her children for Silesia. The state of the health of the princess and the raw climate of Holland, however, are being assigned as reasons for her intention to leave Doorn.

While rumors are freely current in Doorn that Herminie again is to become a mother, no confirmation is obtainable from the former emperor's suite.

She stated the old station would be retained as a memorial to the men who established Rhyolite at the threshold of Death Valley. The depot, which cost approximately $300,000, was erected when Rhyolite seemed certain to rank among the foremost mining camps of Nevada, but the failure of the ore bodies in the Montgomery-Shoshone and other mines forced eventual abandonment of the town.

NIGHT RIDERS' TRIAL BRINGS WORD OF KLAN

Witness Declares He Resigned Membership When Disavowal of Hanging of Oregon Man Was Not Forthcoming

MEDFORD, Ore., Mar. 7 (AP)—For the first time the trial of Dr. Jonoff P. Bray, who with J. F. Hilsman and Howard Hall were indicted with sixteen John Does on the charge of participating in the hanging of J. F. Halo on the night of March 17 last, was devoid of sensations although a number of witnesses were examined.

Halo, lying on a cot because of his illness, resumed his direct testimony and was cross-examined by the defense this morning. Other witnesses who testified today were: Miss Ruberta Pierce, on cross-examination by the defense; Jay F. Halo, 15, son of the victim of the night riders; William L. Craig of Salem, former automobile mechanic of the city; Attorney A. E. Bates of E. Ediniston, Sheriff Terrell, Dr. S. B. Pickett and Miss Angie Halley.

Halo, after finishing, was taken to a hospital for treatment. He had been on the stand for three hours a day and his story at the finish remained unshaken in any essential detail.

The defense asked Halo about purporting meetings with Miss Ruberta Pierce at Eugene, Salem and Roseburg last January and he entered a sweeping denial of any wrong doing. Miss Angie Halley, stenographer, 25, testified she had "kept company with Halo" for about six months in 1922, that they had been engaged but it had been broken by mutual consent. The witness was excused for further cross-examination at the beginning of the court tomorrow morning.

For the first time during the trial the name of the Ku Klux Klan was spoken from the stand by a witness. J. E. Ediniston said he had joined the Klan and did not believe at first they were responsible for the Halo affair. He said he had advised the Klan of a disavowal and when it was not forthcoming had resigned.

The testimony of Ediniston brought forth a spirited argument between counsel for both sides over the admissibility of evidence bearing on the Klan. The court finally ruled "that what took place in a Klan hall and connects these defendants with crime, is admissible and the state must prove the advocacy of this particular crime and in the presence of these defendants."

The court also ruled that the words of an official of a lodge did not bind a member.

Describes Regalia

William L. Craig, an automobile mechanic, testified that he had belonged to the same fraternal order as defendants Hill and Dr. Bray "and that he attended a meeting at which they were present and wore regalia." He described the regalia as consisting of black sashcloth reaching to the heels and a cowl, cut square on top and reaching down to the forehead but not covering the face. The court ruled that the name of the organization was not admissible.

Turkish Race Much Mixed.

The Turkish "race" is the least pure of any in the world. Long before the time of Mohammed it was already an amalgam of Turcomans, Tartars, Mongols and Patehlinks, and the patchwork became intensified when the Turk started his predatory career in the direction of Europe. Let loose in Asia Minor, the Turks married the women of the natives in which they settled. Sometimes the marriage was voluntary, sometimes it was compulsory. The Turk did not care whether his wives were Christian or not. Many of the early sultans had Christian wives, and many a sultan reigned with little original Turkish blood in his veins.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain and simple. They do not fulfill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an old-fashioned system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimonials, the success of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by filling out the coupon below and enclosing ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—adv.

Figures in Dry League Investigation

William H. Anderson, New York State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, is the central figure in two important investigations. One is being made by the District Attorney in New York City, into charges that Anderson forced fund solicitors to "split" their commissions with him. The other is an Albany investigation into charges that the Anti-Saloon League is a political body and should, therefore, be compelled to make public accounting of its receipts and expenditures, about which there has been so much secrecy. The Rockefeller, who formerly practically supported the League, have withdrawn financial support from it and have demanded that Anderson make complete accounting.

Frank E. Cartwright, of Corning, New York, brought about the second investigation, through his attorney, Colonel Ransom Gillette, World War hero, charging that he was beaten for the Assembly, by the influence of the League. Ex-State Senator Drackett is Anderson's attorney.

DESERT SANDS COVER FLYERS

Searchers Make a Fruitless Quest for Trace of Missing Army Aviators

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Mar. 7 (AP)—Covered by the shifting sands of the desert, is the unofficial verdict of the fate of Col. Francis Marshall and Lieut. Charles Webber, army aviators who have been missing since December 7, 1922, according to members of a searching party headed by Major Theodore Moseley of the Rockwell field here, who have just ended a fruitless search for the two men.

Major Moseley says that since January 12 he and his party have thoroughly explored the mountain fastnesses and desert wastes of northern Arizona, Mexico, and southwestern Arizona. No trace of the army aviators was found by the government party.

Major Moseley says that his search revealed the fact that Col. Marshall and Lieut. Webber never topped the Crowder mountains in their intended flight from San Diego to Fort Huachuca, near Tucson, Arizona. Their flight was traced from Rockwell field to a point near the Gwagger mountain range, but beyond this point they could elicit no information from ranchers and cowboys that would tend to show the plane had proceeded further eastward, Major Moseley said.

The government searching party was unanimous in stating that the fate of the two army officers probably will remain forever a mystery. The shifting sands of the Ajo desert probably has covered men and plane forever, the army searchers stated.

The final chapter of the tragedy was written in Washington, D. C., last week, according to reports received here. No memorial services were held for the two officers. Many prominent officials of the United States army attended, including the secretary of the General Staff, Fering, and Mrs. Francis Marshall, widow of the lost colonel, who travelled from her home in Wisconsin to attend the memorial exercises.

ADVANCING COST OF LIVING SEEN

San Francisco Federal Reserve Agent Quotes Specific Instances of Rise in Prices

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 7 (AP)—The cost of living in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and the entire United States turned definitely upward during 1922 according to a report just issued here by John Perrin, chairman of the board and federal reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

In the last quarter of the year the cost of living increased in all reporting cities in the west, Mr. Perrin says. From September to December, 1922, the following increases in food, clothing, housing, fuel, light and furniture are given by the Federal Reserve Bank head.

Food: San Francisco and Oakland, 3.1 per cent; Los Angeles, 4.0 per cent; Seattle, 1.7 per cent; Portland, 3.2 per cent; entire United States, 4.8 per cent.

Clothing: San Francisco and Oakland, 3 per cent; Los Angeles, 1 per cent; Seattle, 1.5 per cent; Portland, 3 per cent; entire United States, 1 per cent.

Housing: San Francisco and Oakland, 2 per cent; Los Angeles, 2 per cent; Seattle, 1.5 per cent; Portland, 4 per cent; entire United States, 4 per cent.

Fuel and light: San Francisco and Oakland, 2 per cent; Los Angeles, 1.3 per cent; Seattle, 2 per cent; Portland, 4.2 per cent; entire United States, 1.4 per cent.

Furniture: San Francisco and Oakland, 1.7 per cent; Los Angeles, 1.3 per cent; Seattle, 1.6 per cent; Portland, 2.5 per cent; entire United States, 2.6 per cent.

Miscellaneous: San Francisco and Oakland, 1.4 per cent; Los Angeles, 1.2 per cent; Seattle, 1.4 per cent; Portland, 1.6 per cent; entire United States, 1.9 per cent.

The percentage increases in all items for the various cities and the entire United States are: San Francisco and Oakland, 1.9 per cent; Los Angeles, 1.2 per cent; Seattle, 1.6 per cent; Portland, 1.2 per cent; and the entire United States, 1.9 per cent.

Mr. Perrin says: "The uniformity in the movement of separate items of the family budget in the five cities can be noted. Declines, where they have persisted, have been small while advances, particularly in foods, furniture, and house furnishings have been relatively large. The reported increase in the total cost of living follows the lag in which price, which was observable during the whole of 1922, is not surprising or unexpected."

"According to the United States Bureau of Labor, index numbers there were thirteen per cent higher in January, 1923, than in January, 1922."

Advertising, Advertising

There is one phase of this advertising that we don't enjoy, and that is that people don't seem to understand what we want to tell them; and they find fault with the way we write our ads. There is one consolation, however, it makes us feel that we must still be alive in business, as you know they never kick at a dead one.

We said in one of our ads, some time ago, that we did not have time to talk politics or religion and some people took exception to that. Now, they would not have done that had they understood us. We had only one in mind, that we did not approve of discussing and condemning our customers' views on those matters.

There are different ways of advertising. Sometimes evangelists single out some individual and they do what they call "take the hide off of that fellow," just as though he was the only sinner in town. We think that that is only advertising for the preacher to draw a crowd.

Then there is another method which some dealers use. They get their customer in a corner and whisper in his ear that if he will "faithfully promise to keep the secret" they will make him a cut price.

Now, we don't believe in that method.

We Tell It Out Loud

Cut the price to everybody alike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has compelled the railroad to advance the rate on coal 50¢ per ton, but you will notice that our prices have not changed any; and we are not quite sure but what we will cut the price further in the near future. We realize that coal is too high; we also realize that we don't make any profit on coal that we do not sell, so we have decided to play Henry Ford for a while, sell 'em cheaper so that the people can buy more.

OUR MOTTO: If you have something to sell, Don't whisper in a well; If you want to reap another dollar, Get up in a tree and holler.

THEATRE SQUAD TRIMS GROGERS

Bowling in championship form in the last two frames of the third game, the Idaho theatre lads managed to grab the odd game from the Alford & Mott pin smashers last night in the regular scheduled games at the Twin Falls bowling alleys.

The first one found the theatre boys with a total of 752, while the grocery men yelled "whoot" at 722. This game was close throughout, and only Laval Jarman's coolness saved the day for the followers of the sob stuff. Jarman took high in this game with 171.

After snoring severely through eight rounds, the school boys awoke with a start in the last two innings of the second game and pulled the game out of the fire 735 to 709. This game was a dandy, with Reeves' English. Laval Jarman was high in this game also, his mark this time being 180.

The last game of the evening was featured by the high toned bowling of one "Milky" Reeves of the theatre team. Reeves became perved in the fifth frame of this game and rolled five straight strikes, winding up with a total of 226. The rest of the game brewed up in the last two frames, the result being 831, with the Alford and Mott team going to 773.

DERBY ENTRIES SET NEW MARK

One Hundred and Forty-Five Thoroughbreds Nominated for Annual Running

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 7. (AP)—A record number of nominations for the forty-ninth annual running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, 145, made up of 102 colts, 22 fillies and 21 geldings, was announced here tonight. The Derby, the oldest fixture of the American turf, will be contested by three-year-olds over a mile and a quarter, May 19.

Should as many as 15 of the 145 named tonight survive the strenuous pre-derby tests and preparation and go to the post, the stake would be worth $61,125, with the nominating fees of $25 each, $500 each additional to start in the race and $50,000 added by the Kentucky Jockey club. Of that amount the second horse would claim $5,000, the third $3,000, and fourth $1,000. The remainder, as well as a gold purse worth $7,500, would go to the winner.

The nominations announced tonight, however, do not comprise the cream of the three-year-old division. The Harry Payne Whitney family led the list with eleven—four by Mr. Whitney and seven by Mrs. Whitney.

E. R. Bradley, master of the Idle Hour stock farm, with seven of his Bismarck three-year-olds, is tied with Harry F. Sinclair for second honors. J. S. Coolen nominated five, Rear Admiral Carey T. Grayson, four, and Willis Sharpe Kilmer three, the same number as Montfort Jones.

Other notable turfmen represented are August Belmont, Benjamin Block, Gallagher brothers, Jefferson Livingston, Walter J. Salmon, E. B. McLean and E. K. Reynolds.

A number of the thoroughbreds named for the derby have raced in the winter at southern tracks. Some have displayed merits that would stamp them as of unobtainable derby type, horsemen say.

Of those given consideration as possible derby winners, enchantment, Payne Whitney family led the list with eleven—four by Mr. Whitney and seven by Mrs. Whitney.

E. R. Bradley, master of the Idle Hour stock farm, with seven of his Bismarck three-year-olds, is tied with Harry F. Sinclair for second honors. J. S. Coolen nominated five, Rear Admiral Carey T. Grayson, four, and Willis Sharpe Kilmer three, the same number as Montfort Jones.

THE SCREEN

STAGE FAVORITE SUPPORTS STAR

Jack Rouch, one of the featured players in "Rainbow," probably the greatest individual stage success of the past season in New York city, and certainly the most artistic success, has an important role in the support of Alice Calahan in "Rainbow," which will be shown at the Lavering theater the last time tonight. He was especially selected because of his ability. This marks Mr. Rouch's screen debut and indicates that he will make a name for himself as a screen player.

The story of "Rainbow" deals with a young girl whose claim to a mine is disputed. The youth who owns the mine comes to claim it, and after numerous complications the girl finds he is the rightful owner to the property. She wishes to abandon her claim, but three old men, each one a type, who act as her daddies, refuse to let her give it up. She and the youth, however, compromise at the climax by forming a life-long partnership.

THEATRE

"THE BAT" TO PLAY HERE

Manager Howard E. Sablin of the Lavering theater announced last evening that he had received contracts from Wagonhall and Kasper which makes it a certainty that local theatergoers will have the opportunity of seeing "The Bat," probably the most discussed play to be produced in years. "The Bat," Manager Sablin announces, will be seen here next month.

Of all the plays to be produced during the last ten years and more, there is no doubt that "The Bat," written by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avory Hopwood, stands in a class by itself. It has played for over two years in New York, and for more than a year in Chicago, a record never before equaled by any play. It is also a sensation in London, where it has been for nearly a year. In the company to be seen here are Lizzie Evans, John Harrington, Josephine Morse, Gretchen Thomas, Herbert Delmore, Harry LaCourt, Joseph M. Holley, George Wilson, John MacKenzie and John Graham Spacey.

Idaho Coach Turns Down Proposal of Utah for Contest for Championship of West

MOSCOW, Idaho, March 7. (AP)—Offer for a three-game basketball series between the University of Idaho, Pacific coast conference champion, and the University of Utah, Rocky mountain conference champion, for the championship of the west, was declined today by R. L. Matthews, athletic director.

The basketball season for the Idaho Vandals ended last night with the final California game. Mr. Matthews said, as there is little chance of a national intercollegiate tournament this year.

RUNNERS SET NEW MARK

Jole Ray Defeats Willis Ritola by Wide Margin in Race in Which Both Break World's Record

NEW YORK, March 7. (AP)—Jole Ray of the Illinois A. C. Chicago, tonight defeated Willis Ritola, of the Finnish-American athletic club of New York, by 50 yards in a 5000 meter race at the annual track and field games of the Western Union Athletic association. Ray's time was 14 minutes 51 seconds.

Both Ray and Ritola broke the world's record for the event set by the Flying Finn last February 21, which record, however, has not yet been accepted officially by the Amateur Athletic Union.

ORDERS KENWORTHY OFF FIELD

HANFORD, Cal., March 7. (AP)—"Bill" Kenworthy, manager and part owner of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast baseball league last year, was ordered to refrain from practicing with the Portland club here by Commissioner K. M. Landis, in a telegram received today.

Kenworthy expressed surprise at the ruling and declared he had merely come to Hanford with Portland to assist Manager Middleton over a few rough spots. He announced he would leave immediately for Shreveport, La., where he will join the Columbus club of the American association.

BARNES WINS MAT BOUT

KLAN HEAD IN SOUTHLAND

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 7. (AP)—Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, confided here today with leaders of that organization from several southern states.

Questioned by reporters regarding the Klan's attitude toward politics, especially the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign in Louisiana, Dr. Evans said, "the only way the Klan could take part in politics in Louisiana would be in teaching and practicing the fundamental patriotic principles that might have effect upon the minds of members."

BETWEEN 'MEIGHAN' YOU

Whenever the kids bowl, the place is crowded.

Plenty of rooting for both teams, with the high school kids a little in the lead yelling for the Idaho theatre bowlers.

Too much yelling by the students in the second game caused the theatre lads to drop a game.

The noise awoke the Alford & Mott team, and they finished like big leaguers. The kids became frightened at the spurt taken by the enemy, and couldn't lay up a cent.

Captain Walter Seck of the theatre team, was absent last night, and "Slim" Hammond took his place. "Slim" suffered a trifling stage fright, and couldn't get started until the last frame of the last game.

The best that "Slim" could do was to take 127 for high for the evening.

"Milky" Reeves rolled a dandy game in the third session of the evening, making 6 straight strikes in a row, and ending up with 226, his the highest game of the evening.

Chet Kerr asked Clint Evans what he thought of his execution after roll. He hit 110 in the second game, and Clint said that he was in favor of it.

Danny Sullivan missed several easy spares last night, most of the blows coming in the second game.

Every one of the high school kids went hay wire in the last two frames of the second game.

PRODUCE NEW ANAESTHETIC

CHICAGO, March 7. (AP)—Associate of Dr. A. R. Luckhardt, associate professor of physiology of the University of Chicago, announced today that he had produced an anaesthetic that they considered superior to anything heretofore known to science. Dr. Luckhardt was assisted in his experiment by J. P. Carter and the new anaesthetic was said to utilize the properties of ethylene gas, which in purified form, associates with, had many advantages over nitrous oxide, commonly known as laughing gas.

UNION LEADER IDENTIFIED AS CHIEF IN MOB

Herrin Massacre Survivor Names State Board Member of Illinois Mine Workers as Man who Ordered Slaughter

MARION, Ill., March 7 (AP)—Hugh Willis, state board member of the Illinois Mine Workers, was pointed out from the witness stand at the second Herrin riots trial today as the man who gave an order to "kill them all" for the mob which took 43 non-union workers from the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company last June.

The accusation was made by Robert Tracy, a survivor of the riots. At the time of the outbreak, Tracy testified, he was firing one of the locomotives at the mine and was a union man. The witness also picked out O'Byrne Clark from among the six defendants charged with the murder of Antonio Mulvih, former soldier, and one of the victims of the tragedy.

Tracy testified that he had seen Clark walk up to C. K. McDowell, mine superintendent and another victim of the mine riot, curse him and beat him over the head with the butt end of a pistol.

Escapes by Swimming.

Tracy testified that the unarmed prisoners were taken into the woods, after Willis had driven up in an automobile and said to "kill them all," and lined up before a barbed wire fence. He said one bullet struck him as he ran, but that he escaped by swimming a small lake.

On cross examination Tracy said that after the firing on the mine had started, he got a gun, went to the top of one of the mine buildings and returned the fire.

John Shaffer, a clerk in a Herrin hardware store, testified that some men had come into the store the morning of the riot and had asked for guns and ammunition, saying: "The local is good for it."

Judgment Falls. The witness said he refused to give them any guns without an order and that a little later some one called him on the telephone and said: "This is Hugh Willis. The boys want some guns and some ammunition, to shoot birds. You let them have it and I'll make it right."

Asked whether he thought the voice was that of Willis as he had testified at the trial, he replied: "Before I said that I thought it was Hugh Willis, but that I might be mistaken. I have no judgment now."

DECLARES DOOR CLOSED TO STRIKING SHOPMEN

Santa Fe President Says Western Lines, with Two Exceptions, Refuse to Negotiate with Strikers

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 7 (AP)—That President Harting is asking the impossible when he expressed the wish that all the railways of the country that have not already done so would hasten to make agreements with the Superior organizations which went on strike last July was the comment of A. G. Wells of Chicago, vice president of the Santa Fe railway, here tonight. Mr. Wells issued the following statement:

"The president's statements have been made obviously without accurate knowledge of the conditions.

"In the west many important roads that have settled with the strikers are the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. No settlement has been made by the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Burlington, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Rock Island, Frisco or Santa Fe, nor is it possible that settlement could be now made on any of these roads, certainly not on the Santa Fe.

"The shoprats struck more than eight months ago. Unwieldy of 3500 of the Santa Fe shoprats refused to obey the mandate of their leaders to strike and remained in the service. The places vacated by the strikers have been filled and the shop forces are now 100 per cent. The time has come by when negotiations can be reopened with the committees representing the men who went on strike."

MOVIE CENSORSHIP BILL IS SIDETRACKED BY HOUSE

BOISE, March 7 (AP)—The movie censorship bill, before the Idaho legislature was killed this morning by a vote of 35 to 23. Two women members, Representatives Abercrombie and George, voted against the bill, while Mrs. Boardman voted for it. Indefinite postponement was the method used.

The house also indefinitely postponed a senate bill which would make water decrees unenforceable except for fraud after two years, and killed the senate grazing district bill, after representatives had claimed its penalties to be too severe.

A senate bill, allowing county municipal fire insurance companies to operate in eight contiguous counties, goes to the governor, and the house bill, providing for biennial county audits, was passed.

Strengthening the state banking laws, the senate passed an important bill at its morning session, slightly amended the term of warehouse act and passed it. An introduced, suspended the rules and passed a bill lowering the predatory animal bounty.

ONE GOOD THING

The action brought by Alan P. Senior in which he sought, without success, to enjoin payment by the City of the audit bill of eight hundred five dollars to the City's official organ, has had at least one good result.

But the bill for publication and distribution in connection with the audit rules into insignificance as compared with the price of the audit itself. To ask for a bill on a City audit, disregard a guaranteed price proposal from one auditor to accept practically a per diem arrangement from another constitutes about the most stupid and at the same time the most daring piece of high finance to which the Twin Falls public has ever been treated.

Over twenty-four hundred dollars of City funds were deliberately handed to one man, as it were, on a silver platter, in payment of a bill of forty-four hundred dollars for work which could have been contracted for two thousand dollars.

It is a matter for thanksgiving that the end is happily in sight. If any single man with any lingering shred of connection with the interests which have dominated the present City administration, or with the administration itself, should be returned to office at the forthcoming election, the event will just about amount to a reflection on the public intelligence.

WHY WE LOOK TO THE SOUTH

With whatever else they fill the mind, it is certain that the flavor of romance still clings to Mexico, Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Chile and other states of the American continents on which Spain and Portugal made so deep an impress. The conquistadores who sought an empire behind every headland, the Plate ships which bore away to the Old World the treasures of the New, Pizarro and Cortes, these are things and names to conjure up that strong urge for adventure bred into the bones of vigorous peoples.

The name of Latin America's products, scattered over an area covering more than 8,000,000 square miles of land, would seem to promise the world's trafficking, and princely rise of merchants and the great stores of ports and wharves and storehouses and markets.

The economic and social development of the eighteen independent republics becomes of increasing importance and interest to the world. They are a natural, even though not a political federation; possessing a distinctive civilization, and with many problems still to solve. Nevertheless no nation that looks beyond its own borders for commerce can regard these growing republics with anything less than solicitude.

From the fourth Pan-American congress of 1910 to the coming one in March is a span longer than the calendar records. Each may reflect for himself on the transformation in the minds of men and in their mode of living now as compared with that first decade of the century; the great war has interposed a monumental barrier between that day and this, and never can the two periods be brought together.

It is in the light of this profound change in national values that the Pan-American congress takes on supreme importance to the people of the United States. What may come out of the various reflections of these states? Indeed, what may not come therefrom? A decisive sense of their mounting power, a calculation of the part their resources in food supply alone may play in the destinies of lands far away, an instinct for brotherhood which even may direct itself for consumption at a later day toward political federation.

These, and other things, may serve to turn the eyes of North America toward the South, as the constructive work of cooperation again is taken up.

European and American Children. Nowhere are children allowed to be children as long as they are in the United States, Helen Beckett declares in the New York Sun.

The Associated Press in exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it, or not otherwise credited in this publication...

There are tens of thousands of children in Latin countries who look inappreciably different from those of this instance. One may see a lad of 12 in long trousers, long black frock coat with buttonhole bouquet; he carries a cane, his hat and gloves (which he must hold just so and never put on).

Crow Not a Swift Flyer. The crested bird is a rapid flyer. A list of 22 migratory birds, flying an insignificant average of 45 feet a second, or 30 miles an hour. Of course this speed maintained steadily in an automobile would mean a very fair rate of progress, defying the speed laws in many countries.

Strange Experience. At a time when there has been several burglaries in our neighborhood, I was left alone one night. Some time after I had retired I was aroused by a crash in the basement and the noise of falling glass.

No Case. In a divorce case the counsel of the lady plaintiff pleaded among other reasons incompatibility of temper, and described the husband's character as "Hypocritical, passionate."

Foolish. To be talking about those, who make a good cotton crop and spend the entire proceeds in a rumbling. "That was foolish," commented a bystander.

Original Verses of Burns Found. Four original verses written by Robert Burns were discovered in an old volume recently offered for sale in London.

COLLAR AND CURL

Distinguishing Characteristics of English Statesmen.

The One Was Thought to Be a Fobite of Gladstone, the Other of Beaconsfield.

"I suppose," says Mr. John Theodore Tussaud in the "Romance of Madame Tussaud's," "the British public never looked on two such political gladiators as Beaconsfield and Gladstone, and while those two statesmen were in the arena it was natural that they should both have a pedestal at Madame Tussaud's waxworks. I can neither say who was first to appear in the exhibition nor prophesy who will be the last to go."

There are two men who will attract the attention of the generation that will see the waxworks of the Gladstone collar exercised a subtle influence in the political world mainly through the cartoons and the caricatures of Tenniel and Furness.

The "master of the robes" of the famous waxworks was sent to Gladstone's head and neck to be investigated his collar boxes; permission was readily granted, but the investigator was much astonished to find that none of the collars were abnormally high or pointed. They were quite ordinary collars. The clever caricaturist had not been so unimagination, characterized effect was desired; for to leave his throat unimpeded for ordinary Gladstone was careful to wear his collars loose; and that circumstance, especially when he was seated at ease or with head reflective, inclined toward his chin to sink into the neck, and the appearance they attained under and striking prominence. Once when Gladstone was invited to a dinner at which he knew Harry Furness was to be present he surprised the portrayer of the famous exaggerated collar by wearing for the occasion a collar not more conspicuous, low and narrow collar he could possibly obtain. No one said anything about it, but mischief twinkled for once in the somber eyes of the statesman, and amused understanding twinkled in the eyes of the artist.

In the case of Lord Beaconsfield, the dangling ringlet falling upon the forehead was the particular delight of his caricaturists. They often exaggerated the length and the stringiness of it; but that he did really wear such a curl lock; not only does his counterfeited portrait in wax at Madame Tussaud's display the familiar lock, but the actual and original curl of the great Tory is in the possession of the museum. Two locks of his hair, cut after his death, were given to a nurse who had tended him in his last illness, and were preserved in the celebrated curl. From the niece of the first owner they passed to Madame Tussaud's.

Few great men are genuinely indifferent to their waxen models, though they may be apparently unconcerned and approach gradually and coolly to secure they are open to see. When a new figure is making, the original often sends interesting suggestions and criticisms. Often he is politely requested to give altitudes. Occasionally he volunteers an unexpected hint which he sticks to.

Tennyson, whose instincts and habits were, as was well known, those of a recluse, was studied and modeled surreptitiously, but an observant neighbor told him what was going on. Soon afterward a quiet hint was conveyed to the poet, and, despite his seventy years, the aged poet had not a gray hair in his head and desired that the modeler should make that pleasing fact plain in his model. He did so and with respectful amusement enjoyed the wholly human little exhibition of vanity.

Rewarded—or Crowned. A Princeton grocer has a new delivery boy. Taking an armload of groceries to a Princeton home, he found the back screen fastened on the inside.

The boy, observing that the screen was a little old, kicked at the bottom with his foot and inserted the groceries. The irate housewife patched the door and complained. "Next time the boy found the screen door fastened he did better. This time he poked only a small hole through the screen and lifted the latch with his finger."

Finds Poor Better, Fed. Where it has been possible to make comparisons, more malnutrition has been discovered in the homes of the well-to-do than in the homes of the poor. Dr. William R. P. Emerson of Boston told the New Jersey Tuberculosis League at the final session of its annual meeting at Newark. He said one-third of the children in the ordinary American community are underweight, under nourished and malnourished. Telling of the efforts of schools to meet these conditions, he said the school lunch, while it had its place in the general scheme, did not offer a solution.—New York World.

DIFFER IN VIEWS OF LIFE

Oriental Look at Existence in a Manner Radically Different From the Westerners.

We feel that the things others desire hard at work in a diamond mine in desire. Yet, in fact, the races of Asia and Africa—beyond the primitive belly—make quite different claims on life from ours. Most of us desire, among other things and above them, comfort and security; but the Orientals take little account of comfort and still less of security.

They want the joy of living and a chance to do their own living for themselves; a life not so much protected, but with color and excitement in it, with the zest of creation and accomplishment in it—a life in which a heavy-handed man would have a chance, and another could come to the top. The life of the Arabian Nights—the real Nights—is still the ideal of the Moslem East. For Orientals those stories are not tales from fairy, but such reckonings with the wonders of the world and of science as Mr. Wells used to give us before he became didactic. Or, to put the same point a little differently, the Orientals today are like our ancestors in the age of Chaucer, with an unknown world around them, in which anything may at any time happen—a world full of adventure and romance.—Exchange.

DERIVED FROM ROMAN NAME

Term "Scandinavian" Frequently Is Incorrectly Used, According to This Newspaper Writer.

The name "Scandinavian" is derived from one the Rommsa gave to the region now forming the southern part of the country to which the term was applied also to Norway on the western part of the same peninsula, and then the Danes, who occupy an entirely separate peninsula, came to be included in the term "Scandinavian" because of their racial relationship to the two countries to which the term was applicable geographically. As the people of Iceland are descended from Norwegian colonists they, too, may be counted as Scandinavians, and the same holds true of some Finns of Swedish descent, though the general population of Finland is ethnologically no more Scandinavian than are Magyars.

The point is made by those interested in clarifying the terms "Scandinavian" and "Scandinavian" that one should refrain from unqualified use of the former unless the first four at least, of the latter are clearly indicated, or referred to collectively, and the latter term should be used only to indicate the entire region occupied by these nations.—Detroit News.

Pockets of Marbles in Lava.

If prehistoric lads did not enjoy the regular spring game of marbles, pockets of marbles, formed by the molten lava, have recently been found on the west slopes of Mount Adams, Washington, and indications point to an Eldorado of them. The substratum, under a thin layer of ash and leaf mold, contains an unlimited number of the crystals of the stone. Many of them are perfect in shape and just about the right size for childhood's old-time game. The theory advanced as to their origin is that the molten lava sprayed high into the air, was cooled by a cold air current and in falling the rounded stones solidified in the same manner as bullets are formed while the hot lead drops from the shot tower.

Another German Prodigy.

Germany has another memory prodigy in a twenty-one-year-old girl, who has mastered the art of brain control over muscle most completely. She speaks a German song, writes an English sentence with her right hand, and a French sentence with her left hand at the same time. Also writes a sentence in one language backwards, and another in a different language in the regular way. She can calculate with one hand and write dictation backwards with the other. She can also begin a sentence at both ends and complete it in the middle, using both hands. She does several other things which really seem beyond the limit of credulity.—Scientific American.

Names of Famous Persons.

The pupils of the fifth grade in St. Joan of Arc's parochial school were asked to name a famous person. A book was offered as a prize for the best story. It was decided that the authors should write the name of some famous person on the stories in order to keep the teacher from recognizing the writers of the stories. The majority of the pupils wrote the names of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson, and President Harding. The prize was won by a little red-headed youngster named Mike Fox. The name he had written in his story was Paul Castner.—Indianapolis News.

Dangerous Subject.

There was a self-made man whose plentiful pile was not altogether free from tax. He employed an expensive architect to build him a lordly pleasure house. "I think," remarked the man of plans, "that you had better have a southern exposure." The man of money grew red and shuddered his feet. "If you want to retain your contract," he growled, "if you want to retain your contract."

FOILED MUD RUSH

Incident of Work in South African Diamond Mine.

Quick Thought and Action Saved Natives in Danger of Horrible Death in Depths of Slime.

One morning a band of natives had at work in a diamond mine in South Africa were started by a dull noise, as if a few tons of some soft substance had been hurled against the high door that separated the spot where they worked from the long tunnel that led to the shaft.

"The mud!" they cried, and dropped their picks in a instant. A mud rush means certain death to all in its track. It gives no warning. It comes silently, like an ugly, writhing snake; it works its way swiftly, spares nothing, covers everything.

An Englishman at the opening to the tunnel roared out, "Climb to the top of the wall," which the natives promptly did. There for the time, at least, they were safe. "Stay where you are!" the Englishman called. "If you jump down you will be sucked in and suffocated in two minutes!"

Soon the tunnel was a tunnel no longer, but a mass of quivering slime. The mud flowed and heaved. Then it gradually stowed for hours. The Englishman decided to try to reach the men, not by removing the mud but by passing over it.

He laid a plank upon the mud and stretched himself upon it. A little spade was handed to him, with which he began to cut into the mud and pull himself along as a man face downward in a canoe might pull himself forward with a paddle. He worked bravely on—half-life by half-life. Then another man put down a plank and followed him.

In half an hour six men were laid flat on six planks in the midst of the mud. There were fifty feet of mud, and between them and it were these thin planks that might keel over at any moment and send them to a suffocating death. And behind was the hidden spring of destruction that might let loose its slime again, flood the tunnel and capsize the planks like cockle-shells on a turbulent sea.

When the Englishman on the first plank reached the wall on which the natives were huddled he called to them.

"You're going back the way I've come. Well, I'm going back, but I'm leaving the planks for you to follow on. Crawl along the planks as much like a snake as you can."

Slowly the men on the planks crawled back, leaving the wooden line behind them. Slowly the natives followed. Nobody spoke. The black mud underneath looked as hard as a rock, but was as soft as porridge, and trembled horribly.

As each man reached the end plank he was hauled in to safety and carried, half-fainting, out of the tunnel. The rest dragged themselves wearily on. When the last native arrived, his mates thought he was a stranger.

His hair was perfectly white. Fear had turned it white.

Alligator Hunting.

Alligators are by no means so plentiful as they once were in Florida. Those that are left are to be found in the wild places, anywhere in the state. There is a market for "gator hides, but not a good one. There is a firm or two in Jacksonville that buys them. Nearly any kind of boot will do for hunting them and nearly any kind of gun, though a high-power rifle is best, and especially an explosive light is best. The best way to hunt them is to go at night with a strong light, "shine their eyes" about them, mark the spot with a weight and a float with a cord between, and go back next day to grapple for them. There's a lot of poppycock about the notion that "gators are so hard to kill. A .22 bullet will kill one if you hit him in a vital spot—backbone, brain or heart.—Adventure Magazine.

Tasting Electricity.

If you put two fingers on the terminals of an ordinary dry cell, which is as used to work an electric bell, you will feel nothing at all, for the current is so small that it gives nothing in the nature of a shock. But you can taste it, quite easily, by connecting a wire to each terminal and placing them on your tongue.

Try first of all with the wires not joined up to the battery, then attach them and notice the difference. You do not feel anything, but you are conscious of a little sharp taste. Electricians who are engaged in tracing leaks in wires that carry very light currents often use this method, which saves a great deal of trouble. Do not, however, try it with the lighting circuit, or you will receive considerably more than a taste!

The tongue is one of the most sensitive parts of the body, and its natural wetness makes it a splendid conductor of electricity, so that it can detect the presence of currents too small to be felt in any other way.

"Not an Island!"

J. St. Louis Stracher, famous editor of the Spectator, tells this John Hay story in "The Adventure of Living," just published:

"I remember his (Hay's) telling me twenty years ago—that is, during the Spanish war—how the German ambassador in London had approached him officially with the request that a portion of the Philippine Islands should be ceded—how he knows who—to the Kaiser. I can well recall his contemptuous limitation of the offer of the request. 'You had so many islands; why could you not give us some?' I asked Hay what he had replied. With a somewhat grim smile he answered, 'I told him: "Not an island—not one!"'

Device of Worth.

An improved machine for use in the manufacture and repair of chains, catches, rings, silversware and other jewelry, is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It provides three different heats for electric soldering and is said to be absolutely proof. A suitable piece of solder is placed upon the carbon electrode, the article is gripped by the tweezers that form the other terminal of the circuit, flux is applied, the joint of the article is put in contact with the solder, and the current is turned on by a foot switch.

CLAIM WORK ON RESERVOIR MAY START IN JULY

Directors of Big District Set May 12 as Bond Election Date; Will Meet Soon at American Falls

The beginning of construction work on the American Falls reservoir shortly after July 1, or possibly before that time, is considered probable by a majority of the board of directors of the big district who Wednesday designated May 12 as the date of holding the bond election.

Interested persons attending the sessions of the board at the canal company offices here Wednesday afternoon were of the opinion that the election may be called at an earlier date, but W. P. Awerth, secretary of the board, stated that so far as the board is concerned the date is officially set as May 12. Mr. Awerth admitted, however, that an election a month earlier may be possible.

Includes Districts

May 12 was selected as the date for the election mainly to allow as possible for contracting districts as possible to join, as the individual cost will be lessened according to the number of contractors. It is estimated that the Hillside district may be included and there are some owners in the Aberdeen-Springfield district who petitioned themselves out of the district and who now want to get back in.

The directors will go to American Falls within the next two weeks to familiarize themselves with the site and to consider as first hand the problem of making the townsite. A report on the contract from the secretary of the interior is expected at about that time.

Agree on Contract

The matter of the contract has practically been settled and is a satisfactory matter, according to E. E. Snyder of Boise. "Some slight changes have been made but the directors and the reclamation officials are well agreed on the terms in general," said Mr. Snyder.

Following the bond election the advertising for bids, providing the issue carries, will take four weeks and two weeks will elapse in which to confirm the bond election.

That the bonds of the district will sell easily is admitted and according to members of the board three or four hundred acreage have already indicated their willingness to take the issue.

SALES REPORTED AT HUGE FIGURE

Twin Falls Shown to Have Favorable Outlook on Business; Total Purchases Shown

Purchases of goods of all kinds in the Twin Falls district during February reached a total of $3,165,000, the second to the highest total in the state for the month, according to Babson's monthly report. Only Boise, Twin Falls and Pocatello are mentioned in the sales report, which shows that purchases at Boise total $1,299,000, and $1,663,000 at Pocatello.

The monthly purchase graph for Idaho as shown in the Babson report indicates that a slight decline in purchases has taken place since January 1, but that the period immediately preceding that date witnessed a sharp increase in business. Similar conditions are shown to have existed in the majority of the other states.

In regard to the sales outlook Twin Falls and Boise are the only cities in the state rated by the Babson report as being in the "fair" class. In the Pacific coast and western territories Los Angeles and San Francisco are the only cities with a first class rating.

DISCOUNTS STORIES OF ALLIED CHALLENGE OF AMERICAN CLAIM

Washington Officials Cite Prior Recognition of Right to Share in Rhine Army Expense

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Official reports from Paris to the effect that the claim of the United States to a share in the payments already made by Germany for maintenance of allied and American troops on the Rhine, have been challenged at the conference now in progress, are discounted in Washington official circles as founded on misinformation.

It was pointed out today that in the correspondence which led to the conference on army costs with Assistant Secretary Wadsworth of the treasury, representing the United States, the justice of the American claim was promptly admitted by the allied governments which suggested the conference. The purpose of the Paris discussion, it was added, was specifically to seek ways and means of providing for the refunding to the United States of Rhineland army costs in a way best calculated to aid in the economic plight of the allied governments.
