LACKS PROOF OF GUILT OF HOODED BAND

Morehouse Parish Grand Jury Probe Brings No Indictments—Attorney General to Prefer Charges

BASTROP, La., March 15 (AP)—No indictments were returned by the Morehouse parish grand jury in connection with the slaying of Watt Daniel and T. P. Ricard on August 24 last, and various hooded band societies, the jury has been investigating for the past two days. The jury's report was given to District Judge Fred Odum late today.

Attorney General Cocco and two of his assistants, officers before the grand jury made its report. Mr. Cocco stated early today that in event no indictments were returned he would file bills of information against the band members named at the open hearing here in January as having participated in mob activities. He did not state, however, whether this action would be taken immediately.

President Varies Vacation Trip by Trying Hand at Deep-Sea Fishing

MIAMI, Fla., March 15 (AP)—All prepared for deep sea fishing, President Harding tonight was at Coocoblo Cay, a small island about 25 miles south of Miami. Whether the president will be able tomorrow to vary his vacation trip by trying to land a barracuda, a porpoise or a kingfish, appeared to depend on the weather. A steady north-wind today kicked up some nasty waves on the limits of Biscayne bay and indications tonight were for a continuation of the blow tomorrow.

Authorities Move to Investigate Fire that Caused Death of Nine Persons

ANGELICA, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—County authorities moved tonight to investigate the fire at the Allegheny county almshouse, which resulted in the death of seven women inmates and two men employees. The fire started late last night and destroyed three of the four buildings within an hour.

Where Women Died

Of 14 women on the second floor, nine were saved. Four perished in the flames and one was killed by leaping from a window. Two of the seven patients in the infirmary rooms were burned to death.

It was at first reported that Charles Berger, superintendent of the almshouse, had taken part in the rescue work, but subsequent developments indicated that he was burned to death in the service building, when Frank Schen, the fireman, also perished.

SHERIFF TELLS OF RAID UPON RED CONCLAVE

Reference to Herrin Massacre Brings Clash in Opening Argument of W. Z. Foster on Syndicalism Charge

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 15 (AP)—William Z. Foster's trial on charges of criminal syndicalism got under way late today when Sheriff George Bridgeman of Herrin county, took the stand as the state's first witness and described how he was a posse of deputies, four federal agents and a number of the state constabulary, raided the communist convention held near here last August.

The jury was completed early this noon, with one woman and 11 men seated to try Foster, first of the 76 persons alleged to have attended the convention, to go to trial. Nine of the jurors are farmers, one a grocer, one a crossing watchman and the twelfth a housewife.

Smith, assistant attorney general of Michigan, in his opening statement, declared the state would show that Foster had helped to organize, recruit a member and voluntarily assembled with the communist party, which taught and advocated the doctrine of crime, sabotage, violence and other unlawful means of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political reform.

Reviews Foster's Activities. The evidence will show, he said, that Foster was a paid organizer and official of the organization and editor of the Labor Herald of Chicago, original publication of the Chicago Educational league, an offshoot of the communist party.

Mr. Smith and Frank P. Walsh of New York, chief of counsel for Foster, clashed when the assistant attorney general declared the evidence would show that the Herrin, Illinois mine war, in which more than 20 persons were killed, had been lashed at the convention as a "valiant defense" and that an official of the communist party attending the convention had declared the workers throughout the country must "take their guns and close down the scab mines and paralyze the state machinery in military action."

Mr. Walsh objected to Mr. Smith referring to the Herrin killings as "murders" and contended that in the only completed case growing out of the affair the defendants were acquitted. Judge Charles White ruled that as the attorney general said, he had the documents to support his statements it was admissible.

Mr. Smith described the speech the state claims Foster delivered to the convention and repeated part of it, in which he said Foster described a union meeting at which he was debating the question of buying an automobile agent for its business agents. A substitute motion to buy a bicycle was presented and the speaker demanded to know now a "business agent can throw bricks through windows from a bicycle."

Mr. Walsh in his opening statement said the defense would "endeavor to show that Foster attended the convention as a fraternal delegate and did not hold a card or pay dues to the communist party."

Charges Double Crossing. He described the organization of the party in 1919 and the federal raids on its members on January 1, 1920. The evidence, he said, would show that federal secret agents in the party's ranks called meetings for that date and that when the members had assembled in response to the call, they were raided and some 6000 arrested, few of whom were ever brought to trial.

The raids, he said, drove the party underground, but that the Bridgeman convention was called by the advocates of legality for the express purpose of voting on a resolution to come out in the open again as a legal group. The evidence will bring out, Mr. Walsh told the jurors, that a government secret agent, Francis Marshall Ashworth, of Camden, N. J., was a delegate to the convention and that Morrow was one of the five leaders in the extreme radical wing who opposed the move, and that the motion was defeated by one vote.

"The deciding vote against it was cast," Mr. Walsh said, "by his representative of the secret service of the United States."

Morrow, who was arrested at the time of the raid, but who headed when he established his identity as government secret service agent, is to be a witness for the state in the trial here.

See Doctrine on Trial. Mr. Smith, in his statement, declared the prosecution is not aimed at the belief of Foster in the right of labor at Foster as a "labor agitator," but that it is aimed at the advocacy of the doctrine "that the government of the state of Michigan and the government of the United States shall forcibly be overthrown by the workers by means of armed insurrection and civil war, and supplanted by a form of government known as the dictatorship of the proletariat."

"We will show you," Mr. Smith continued, "that at the time of the raid all the documents and materials used at the convention were buried in two barrels in the ground and carefully concealed; that this literature shows the nature, kind and character of the assembly and shows the purpose of violent and forcible overthrow of all existing forms of state and national government in the United States and supplanting the same with the dictatorship of the proletariat."

"We will show that this meeting was held under the most secret and guarded conditions; that the sessions were held in such a place that detection was almost impossible; to make the secrecy of their convention doubly sure, they had lookouts or sentries posted to warn the convention of any approach of strangers.

"We will show that among the papers seized was a pamphlet, 'The Future of the Communist Party of America,' which teaches, advises and advocates the duty and necessity for the forcible and violent overthrow of all existing state and national governments in the United States, and substituting therefore the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Teaches Hatred as Duty. "We will show that this document teaches the duty of hatred on the part of the working class against the employing class; that it teaches throughout the necessity of the class struggle of the workers against the land owning and employing classes, characterizing this struggle as a political struggle which inevitably develops into civil war; that this document teaches the inevitability of and necessity for violent revolution and will prepare the workers for armed insurrection as the only means of overthrowing the capitalist state."

"We will show you from the printed documents seized at the second national communist party congress at Herrin, Illinois, where innocent miners were murdered, is lauded as a valiant defense on the part of the striking miners and the workers are advised to 'take their guns and close down the scab mines and paralyze the state machinery by military action—revolution by bullets, not ballots.'"

Describes Raid. Sheriff Bridgeman was still on the stand under direct examination when court adjourned tonight. He told the French Spies of the radical bureau of the department of justice in Chicago, came to him August 18, of last year, and requested his aid. The raid was made on the shores of Lake Michigan. Here the communists, led by Foster, Maurice Wolff and Edward Shannahan, federal agents, helping the sheriff's posse.

The sheriff described the scene of the convention as a deeply wooded ravine hidden away among the Wolfkill dunes, 20 miles south of St. Joseph, and on the shores of Lake Michigan. Here the communists, he said, had taken over the cottages of the Wolfkill summer resort and were holding their sessions in a dance pavilion.

Sheriff Bridgeman described the digging up of the evidence which had been buried in two barrels specially prepared to protect their contents from moisture. The evidence was brought into court and piled before the jury.

Besides the 76 document files, in which the delegates kept their papers, there were piles of printed documents, one or two leather bound cases, half a dozen typewriters and two duplicating machines.

A most interesting checker tournament took place at the court house on Sunday between Jerome and Rupert. Rupert won 15 and lost 17, and Jerome won 17 and lost 15, with four draws.

SEES CAPITAL ON LAST LEGS

Leader of Labor Party in British Parliament Preaches the Adoption of Socialism

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—"Labor should do itself the justice of ceasing to be negative, anti-capitalist, thinking only of its shares," writes Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the labor opposition in the house of commons in the February issue of the Socialist Review. His article is called "The Outlook for Trade Unionism."

"Every counselor who advises labor contrary to the spirit of social cooperation is misleading it," continued Mr. MacDonald. "The building up of an organization devoted exclusively to fight capitalism is an error. The fight against capitalism has to be carried on by applying a better spirit than that of capitalism to social and industrial problems and difficulties."

After stating that political and moral weapons alone can undermine the walls of capitalism, Mr. MacDonald said: "Organized labor, trade union executives, parliamentary parties, should each in their own way and in respect to their own trades and jobs make the community—not always against the labor party—clear. This has to be accomplished by a persistent explanation of the work of capitalism, its wretched stocks, its flotation expenses, its useless payments, its methods of keeping up prices, and such like."

"Capitalism is decaying owing to its moral bankruptcy. It is at war with social production, with common well-being, and with the spiritual love of liberty. If the labor struggle is conducted in the same spirit as capitalists have shown, and on a class basis, the decisive battles will be fought with economic weapons alone and labor will gain a great victory; but as soon as labor frees its mind so as to consider the influence of the spirit of its historic role to create a social economic organization that will secure liberty and make a single minded pursuit of commonwealth interests practicable, it will equip itself with weapons and hold a position which will make its final victory certain."

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, also you may feel a dull pain in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jod Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then get fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jod Salt is inexpensive and affords a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

FIRPO TO STAGE NEXT BOUT HERE

Rickard Schedules South American's Next Ring Appearance—Discourt Argentine Stories

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—While boxing circles here regarded with marked skepticism a flurry of reports that Argentine promoters were offering inducements ranging from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for Jack Dempsey to risk his heavyweight title against Luis Angel Firpo, Tex Rickard tonight announced that the South American champion would make his next ring appearance on a boat on the same card with the Jess Willard-Floyd Johnson match at the Yankee stadium, May 12.

Rickard did not intimate who Firpo's opponent would be, but it was said he might select Jack Bennett, promising Canadian heavyweight, or Tom Gibbons, St. Paul, Minn., or light heavyweight.

Think of a Firpo-Dempsey match in Buenos Aires was branded, in ring vernacular as "hollyhock."

Keenly desired specifically that he had been offered $750,000 for the champion's end, as reported.

Rickard, who has Firpo under an iron-clad contract to box for him exclusively for a year, declared that talk of fabulous purses for a Dempsey-Firpo fight, either here or in Buenos Aires, was "pure bunk."

Buenos Aires is Skeptical.
 BUENOS AIRES, March 15 (AP)—The reports from Los Angeles that Jack Dempsey had been offered $750,000 to fight Luis Angel Firpo in Buenos Aires was received with skepticism in well-informed sporting circles today. The opinion was expressed that any one offering such a stake, plus a purse for Firpo and the expense of building an arena for the fight, likely would be a heavy loser by the venture.

It was pointed out that $750,000 was an equal sum to what $200,000 means here, and that to meet this sum an attendance of at least 30,000 persons at 50 cents each would be required. Such a price for spectators was believed to be prohibitive.

Reports that the Argentine government is backing Firpo could not be confirmed, but were received likewise with skepticism.

It was pointed out today that at present the ordinances of the federal capital prohibit boxing in public and hence the government would not be likely to support a Dempsey-Firpo contest.

BRENNAN OUT OF DANGER

Chicago Fighter, Suffering from Injury Received in Bout with Firpo, is to be Released from Hospital

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, who is in a hospital with a slight concussion of the brain, resulting from his knock-out at the hands of Luis Angel Firpo Monday night in Madison Square garden, tonight was declared "out of danger" by a specialist attending him. He will be able to leave the hospital in three or four days, it was said.

Brennan's manager, Leo P. Flynn, tonight made public a letter written to the boxer by William Muldoon, chairman of the New York athletic commission, in which Muldoon praised his showing against Firpo's terrific attack and branded as "a newspaper sensation" newspaper charges that the bout was "fixed" for the South American to win.

LOOKS GOOD ON PAPER WARM UP FOR BASEBALL

Twin Falls Baseball Fan Expresses Skepticism about Proposal for Six-Town League; Favors Twilight Ball

The Sporting Editor,
 Twin Falls Daily News.

Your article concerning the proposed league, appearing in a recent issue, sure sounds fine, on paper. I am very doubtful whether it will work. I am basing my doubts on past experiences. Four, or five years ago we had a similar league in Twin Falls, and it died a natural death from non-support. At that time they had a park, and all that goes with it.

My observations are this: As long as the team is at the top, all right, but let them get to be tailenders and they are out of luck. Toward the last part of the life of the league we had they were changing managers as often as they could find anyone that would take the job.

This new proposed league may work out, but in the first place there is no park. The school board will not let Lincoln park be used for Sunday ball. Then there is salaries for players. I don't think that the other towns would stick to home town boys. To get ball players to town we will have to furnish jobs for them. Believe me, those are scarce.

All in all, I am still of the opinion that we had better stick to twilight ball, because we know it will work.

Yours truly,
 J. W. F.
 Twin Falls, Idaho.

BOWLING NOTES

Carl Jungst, star of the Independent ment market bowling team, left for Portland last night, and in his place will be seen John Ford (no relation to Henry), the boy who throws them down the gutter so that the pin boys won't have to work so hard.

The Independents and the Central ment market teams will also meet this evening, their game starting at 6 sharp.

Our daily bowling thought: The first fellows who should be jailed for carrying concealed weapons are those going around with "hammers."

High School Aspirants for Place on Blue and White Team Show From Leo in Initial Workouts

Coach Evans this week took his gang of baseball aspirants out to Lincoln field for the first time this season, and 50 boys showed some of their wares.

It is a bit early for regular workouts, although every warm afternoon will be utilized by the coach during the weeding out process.

The boys are all trying hard for a place on the blue and white team, which should prove a stronger organization than that of last year.

Fans will be interested in knowing that Clarence Garrity, last season's football star, is out for a place, and on his first appearance at the bat sent the pill sailing far over the right field fence on the first ball pitched. John Nye also caught one on the nose which at a late hour was reported as having rolled down the Blue Lakes grade.

BOWLING SCORES RUN LOW

Plankton Globe Team of Milwaukee "Booster" Squads Retains League at Tourney with 2760

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 15 (AP)—None of the teams on today's schedule of the American Bowling congress tournament made a creditable showing, the scores of these still participating in the five-man event, all Milwaukee "booster" teams, ranging from 1,812 to 2,578. The top score was made by Worden Allen team and the low by Elaine No. 3.

The leaders, all Milwaukee teams, are:

- Plankton Globe No. 1, 2,760.
- Budger Shoe Repair, 2,721.
- Ludwig Bay View Ice Cream, 2,683.
- Salo-A Ways, 2,670.
- Wisconsin Hotel No. 1, 2,605.

HORSE LOVERS WILL GET GEEK KICK FROM "HOTTENTOT"

Lovers of good horsethief will welcome Thomas H. Ince's production of "The Hottentot," which comes to the Orpheum theatre on Thursday. In this pictureization of the famous Willie Collier stage success, the steppelachao scene is spectacularly presented, with Douglas MacLean playing Collier's role of Sam Harrington, the boy morally afraid of horses, who rides to win to please his sweetheart. But with pretty Madge Bellamy holding a smile for the man and a bag of oats for the horse at the end of the long run, what man or beast could refuse to put forward his best?

NEEDLES, PINS AND BUTTONS ATTEST OUR INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

"Not many people really know the enormous manufacturing facilities necessary to supply the everyday necessities which are sold in such great quantities over our country," says Mr. Booth of the Booth Manufacturing Company. "Take the common sewing needle, for instance," continues Mr. Booth. "Simply a shiny piece of metal, you say, with a point on one end and an eye at the other. But a needle like this is in fact a wonderful product, which has been made possible only through long years spent in inventing and developing automatic machinery. And now this machinery turns out needles with every point and eye so perfect that we cannot tell one from another under a magnifying glass—all so much alike that they have become just needles to most of us. So it is with all things which we see in the notion department, with thread, hooks and eyes, fasteners and the hundred and one other items. Every one of them is a marvel of perfection at a small cost." And yet, there are standard qualities and cheaper imitations of every article.

That these innumerable articles should be brought together from the world's manufacturing centers and combined in one assortment, where they are available to every purchaser for a few pennies apiece, is one of the great achievements of present manufacturing and merchandising methods.

These notions which are sold in dry goods and department stores, most of us will agree, are among the indispensable things of daily life. Thread, pins, needles, or buttons, for instance, are used constantly by every woman, so constantly, in fact, that their use has become almost second nature. Ever since, as five-year olds, we were sent to the store for some thread or a paper of pins, we have almost accepted them, like the air we breathe—something we can't do without, and yet hardly ever think about.

"At this time, when the spring sewing season is just beginning," Mr. Booth says, "we want everybody in Twin Falls to know how great a variety there is of useful and labor saving articles in our notion department resources at the same time make them substantial savings in the purchase of their spring sewing supplies. To do this we are holding a Semi-Annual Notion Fair, one week, beginning Saturday, when everything needed for the spring sewing will be on display and where really standard merchandise will be sold at sale prices for one week"—adv.

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVES

WHEN THE PRESIDENT PLAYS

Excessively weary, his hair preceptibly grayer, his face more deeply lined, President Warren G. Harding, accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a coterie of friends, are on a long-postponed vacation in the South.

The two years of President Harding's administration have exacted a heavy toll from him, physically and mentally. He has given himself in a most unselfish way; he has met the rather unreasonable demands that Washington society exacts of the chief executive with an almost too generous response.

Almost all of our presidents have been obliged to throw off the weight of responsibilities at stated intervals and seek recreation in some form or other. Grover Cleveland went fishing; Theodore Roosevelt hunted, rode horseback, took long walks, boxed, fenced, did most everything but fish; William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson and President Harding turned to golf with relish.

Abraham Lincoln, when the way was rugged, cracked jokes and read aloud from the writings of Artemus Ward. Certain dignified members of his cabinet were horrified that the president should read such tomfoolery at a time when the Union's cause hung by a thread, and they were not backward in letting him know their feelings.

The heavily burdened Lincoln answered with spirit that he would break under the strain if he did not rid his mind occasionally of the responsibilities of State. It was a wise answer.

Some people object to anybody playing, even children. Certain criticisms that reached President Harding relative to his playing golf struck him like a bolt, quick, and he so took the criticisms to heart that he decreased unwisely his hours on the links.

He need not have taken so shallow and baseless a stricture seriously. The American people want their president to play whenever he feels like it. Play is a good medicine, wholesome and tonic in its effects. Where no play is strenuous take themselves and others too seriously. Playful presidents are to be preferred. May the skies of Florida smile welcome to the Hardings, the smacking birds sing their most welcome notes, the flowers bloom in loveliest profusion, and Ponce de Leon's Fountain of Youth be something more than a fable to the prisoners of the White House now on holiday.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THIS?

Most of the European countries are too proud to pay. But little Czechoslovakia is preparing her budget with provision for the payment of interest and the repayment of the principal of her debt to the United States.

Czechoslovakia has fewer than 15,000,000 inhabitants. Her statesmen made a survey of her business and industrial possibilities and concluded that as a business proposition her debts could and should be paid.

Thought for the Day. After a man has made a host of friends he gets elected to office and then loses them.

Lively Interest Is Shown in Life of Ancient Egypt

Discoveries in the Tomb of Pharaoh Augment Crowds of Visitors at Museum Where Relics are to be Seen

PITTSBURGH, March 15 (AP)—Douglas Stewart, director of the Museum of the Carnegie Institute, reports the liveliest interest on the part of the public in the life of ancient Egypt. The discoveries in the tomb of Tutankhamun at Luxor have, he says, made the history of 35 centuries ago present day news.

The largest exhibit in the museum is the remains of a Nile boat of an admiral buried with him according to the custom of interring the tools of trade with the dead. There is not a nail in this boat. It is fastened together by wooden pins dovetailed into the timbers, and by thongs. It dates from 4000 B. C., 600 years before Tutankhamun's time, or 600 years before Abraham went to Ur of the Chaldees.

Bronze mirrors appropriately find a place beside the eye paint pots. Near by a ring of eight tiny diamonds is seen to be of precisely the same model as the old style razor of today, working on a silver handle, and proving that barbers shined their customers 2500 years ago just as they do today. A group of fishhooks of 1580 B. C. constitutes another exhibit where the design has not changed in 35 centuries.

The exhibits of ancient Egyptian pottery show that the shapes in use in the Egypt of today are exactly those used in Tutankhamun's time. The water pots have the same pointed bottom, necessary to press into the sand to keep them upright.

The exhibits of the Carnegie museum are mostly from Tell-el-Amarna, the capital of Pharaoh Ikhnaton, which he built when his refusal to worship other gods than the sun led him to leave Memphis. Tell-el-Amarna was abandoned on his death bed and the return of his successors to the ancient world at Memphis. The site, which is 100 miles south of Cairo, was excavated by the Germans before the war and since then by the Egypt Exploration fund to which the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh has contributed.

Besides a mummified baby, a number of mummy cases, and several pieces of decorative art in which the designs and colors are as perfect today as when they were first painted, the exhibit has mummified cats, several scarabs, one with an inscription from the Book of the Dead, and many smaller antiques of the different dynasties.

Director Stewart has added to the collection a display of a copy of a beautiful necklace of the Princess Knemidit which will be of value to designers of jewelry by affording them a true type of ancient Egyptian art now being sought by modern fashion creators.

Because of the interest of the adult population, the public school children of the eighth grades are attending lectures by museum assistants who find their joy in the subject as keenly interested in the pharaohs as they usually are in the exhibits of the American Indians.

Mrs. Penfield, down on her knees in front of the oven, was critically examining the contents. "Well, I'd be glauced over the oven door at the guest. 'Would you like to stay and live with us, Lettie?'

If she had feared an impudently acceptance, she must have been immediately relieved. With a highly trained big toe, Lettie was engaged in loosening a silver in the rough board floor, and not until she had finished this fascinating operation did she make any reply whatever. "Don't know," she said frankly. "I'd have to see what I think." Then, as if to ease the blow of her ungraciousness, she added hastily, "But I'll stay to supper, anyhow."

Mrs. Penfield closed the oven door and rose. She put her hands on Crink's small shoulders and looked into his eyes with unaccustomed seriousness. "You know what I'd mean, Crink, if we was to take her in? Would you be willing to divide what we have to eat into fourths, 'stead of thirds?'

"Sure," agreed Crink easily. "I'd as soon eat that, and besides, she—"

"Lord!" exclaimed Lettie, agnast. "Do you think I'm a piker? I've at ways brag in morn' I've eat. Lord!"

"Brought in?" queried Mrs. Penfield. "Brought in? From where?"

"Dumps and places," explained Lettie, with a generous wave of her arm. "Honest, Penzie," contributed Crink, in a confidential tone, "she's the quickest grabber I ever saw. I know she'd find heaps of things we need. That's one reason I thought—"

Lettie, lending an attentive ear to this eulogy, broke in with amplifications. She had no intention of identifying herself with any household so speedily as to minimize the honor she conferred; rather, she meant that household to appreciate fully that there was no ordinary suppliant.

"I'm easy the best skiver there is," she announced. "If some'n goes to pieces or there's a fire or anything, you oughter see me. I'm sure Johnny-on-the-spot, horns and bells to boot."

"Say 'ho' to 'em," she said, "I like the feller that does so 't all comes out in the wash. Trust me for the best pickings." She shrugged her thin shoulders, like one who carries honors easily.

FOUNDER OF BOY SCOUTS HONORED BY KING

Sir Robert Baden-Powell

SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL, hero of Ladysmith, in the Boer War, was shown leaving Buckingham Palace, London, after being invested with the Cross of the British Empire by King George.

Mrs. Penfield covered her forehead with an old sheet and propped it in a corner. Turning, she stood a moment in deep thought, her brown eyes on the peckly piece of childhood on the wash bench, her mental vision absorbed in problems of arithmetic.

The question confronting Mrs. Penfield was complicated only by the limitation of food for the family. The ungly accretions of speech and behavior disturbed her very little, because she believed that underneath them there is always a bit of life that is sweet and true; one has only to pry off the handiicaps and give it a chance.

"I was only thinking," she said brisily, "that it might be a mercy if Lettie'd stay. I got 'most a box full of clo'es that Mrs. West's tone sent down that's betwixt and between, too small for me and too girly for Thad. I expect they'd fit Lettie fine."

"That young lady shot a wise glance over her bright, black eyes. The eyes were young, 'but' the expression was centuries old, full of gathered shrewdness and mockery. "My clo'es ain't never stumped anybody yet," she observed scornfully. "It's victuals that cuts the ice, anyhow."

"And I'll get her a sleeping-box down to the grocery," added Crink eagerly, more and more captivated every minute by the sterling peppiness of the newcomer.

"Sure. We'll have it worked out in no time. 'But all the real diff'rance an extra one makes is that you're happier to have another one in the family. Now, Crink, you set the table—and be spry, 'cause I'm going to digh right now. You'll find an extra spoon in the egg box. Lettie won't need no knife and fork. This here supper's simple to eat."

With the cover of the saucepan in her hand, Mrs. Penfield made a dash down to the grocery. "Crink," she called, in a practiced neighborhood yell. "Thad! Thad-a-nd! My land," she continued, dishing up stew with a worn agate ladle, "I 'most forgot to call that blessed baby. He's been watching Mrs. Catterbox's garden. She promised him a penny to keep the chickens out two hours while she went uptown. He's been in 'out seven times to know if he sure could spend it himself, the dear!"

These intimate revelations were cut short by the entrance of the new capitalist. One glance at the occupant of the wash bench reduced his high enthusiasm to a round, double stare, framed in amber eyelashes.

"Thad," said Mrs. Penfield formally, "look what we got while you were gone." With the agate ladle she pointed toward Lettie with the air of an entomologist who indicates a particularly fantastic bug. "This here's Lettie. And Lettie, this here's Thad." Having thus separated their personalities with the convenient ladle, she reached for another bowl.

The setting of the table had not been a difficult thing for Crink to learn. On a cloth composed of four flour sacks, united by hand, were four plates, four bowls, four tumblers of water, four spoons, and, in front of Mrs. Penfield, a plate of cornbread, a small piece of butter, and a knife.

"Now, boy," signified Mrs. Penfield. "And mind you go slow and mean what you say. You know God can't hear nothing unless you mean it."

Then the mixed chorus said slowly: "Lord, we thank Thee 'cause we got big appetites and good things to eat. Amen."

Lettie forgot her hunger momentarily and opened her black eyes wide. "That beats me," she commented. "Do you always talk that way 'fore you begin. What in tarnation do you do it for?"

"So we won't forget for a minute how thankful we are," returned Mrs. Penfield mildly. "Now sail right in, Lettie."

Lettie called—or rather she ploved. No crossed letters of resolution ever held so deep a tribute as was accomplished by Lettie. When the meal was over, she hunched down on her stool in the relaxation of absolute content, and fixed her black eyes on Mrs. Penfield.

"I'll stay with you forever, if you want me to," she announced. Mrs. Penfield acknowledged her triumph, but bore it with remarkable modesty.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken-Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from doctors and prescriptions. Declare noted skin specialist. Apply a Little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it, healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Brawley Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—adv.

The Pneumonia Month

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality from the disease. After a long and hard winter the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and needs in its treatment Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ-laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.—adv.

MEXICO PLANS NEUROPOLEIS

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP)—The legislative palace, the construction of which was started at the end of the Diaz administration and which for years has stood untouched and a prey to the elements, is to be completed it is said in official circles. The huge structure is not to house both branches of congress as was the original intention, but will be converted into a "Home for National Heroes" where will rest the remains of the distinguished departed. It will be made one of the show places of the city. It is said that a great part of the costly material already used in the structure can be employed in the new edifice.

Excellent Remedy for Constipation

It would be hard to find a better remedy for constipation than Chamberlain's Tablets. They are easy to take and the mild and gentle effect gives them a trial when you have need.—adv.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—Wheat values averaged higher here, the greater part of the day, a good class of buying late in the afternoon brought about a reaction from an early decline which resulted from reports of favorable weather in sections of the winter wheat territory. The close was heavy at a not loss of 1-8 to 1-2, with May $1.19 to 1.10 1/8, and July $1.14 3/4 to 1.14 1/2. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher; oats advanced 1/4 to 3-8; and provisions finished unchanged to 17 cents up.

Beneficial rains over some dry sections of this winter wheat belt and a blizzard which struck western Kansas where there has been more or less drought since last July, gave the wheat market an easy undernote at the start today. The close was heavy at a not loss of 1-8 to 1-2, with May $1.19 to 1.10 1/8, and July $1.14 3/4 to 1.14 1/2. closed at 121 3/4. Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, and Norfolk and Western were the other conspicuous heavy losers in the rail list. The sharp 15 point rally in French francs, which were quoted above 6.20 cents for the first time in over a month, was the feature of the foreign exchange list. Demand sterling sold just above 4.60 5/8. Canadian exchange was again heavy.

Call money opened and renewed at 5 per cent, but dropped to 4 1/2 at noon, closing at that figure. Time money continued quiet with brokers bidding 5 1/4 and bankers asking 5 1/2 for all maturities. Commercial papers continued to move in moderate volume, with the prime names commanding 5 per cent.

FORESEES ALLIANCE OF ENGLAND WITH TURKEY

BOMBAY, March 15 (AP)—His Highness the Aga Khan, upon his recent arrival here from Europe, spoke optimistically concerning the settlement of all difficulties between England and the Mohammedan world. The Aga Khan is the recognized leader of Indian Mohammedans, and was accorded an elaborate ovation by the Moslem community upon landing in Bombay.

The Aga Khan is determined to serve the best interests of Islam. "But I am convinced," he declares, "that the majority of Englishmen, and those who form the backbone of the British Empire desire a fair and final settlement of the difficulties that have grown out of our differences with the Moslems." "I believe that the realization of the equity of the dead Treaty of Sevres."

"There are signs in England that the number of people desiring a fair and final settlement of the Turkish question is daily growing. To this day our whole case about the Holy Places has not been properly understood by Englishmen, and we must continue to enlighten them about their special treatment."

"International difficulties, especially after the bitter memories of a disastrous war, will take long to settle, and I cannot expect to remember that fact and not become impatient at delays. I am a strong believer that a powerful Turkey will be a source of great strength to the British government, and will be an ally of the two nations will be an effective means of securing the future peace of the world."
