

STOCK TRADERS PLACE BAN UPON PIGGLY WIGGLY

New York Exchange Suspends Trading in Chain-Groceries Shares After Violent Price Fluctuations

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Trading in "A" common stock of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., was suspended by the board of governors of the New York stock exchange late today after one of the most violent price fluctuations in stock exchange history. The stock closed last night at 72, opened this morning at 75, dropped to 74 1/2 and then rose perpendicularly to 124, often jumping several points between sales. From the high point it dropped also perpendicularly to 92, where it closed at a net gain of 10 points on the day.

Jesse L. Livermore, famous stock market operator, who had been expected last December by Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., president of the company, to maintain a market for the stock, issued a statement, saying that Mr. Saunders had abruptly terminated Mr. Livermore's authority to act for him at 11 o'clock this morning and that he (Livermore) had immediately cancelled all orders in the market and ceased operating in the stock.

"Squaw" Play Seen.

While official comment was withheld during the day by Mr. Saunders it was understood that he had decided to "squeeze" the short interest by calling for the delivery of 32,000 shares of the stock, which had been sold "short" through the local and Chicago markets. Brokers reported that while the stock was climbing upward, it was virtually impossible for shorts to borrow the stock in order to make delivery of shares which they had previously sold on the assumption that the market price was too high and that they could "cover" their commitments by buying the stock back at lower prices later. The apparent absence of the market and indications of a "corner" undoubtedly prompted the stock exchange authorities to take immediate action, although the notice of suspension called for attention to the fact that it had been taken with the approval of counsel for the Piggly Wiggly company. Unofficially it is learned that the governing board decided that there was not sufficient stock available to meet demands.

Late last fall, a concerted raid was made on the stock of a few companies which had leased territorial rights to the Pig Wigg patents had become involved in financial difficulties, which did not, however, involve the Memphis concern. The stock dropped then to around $40 a share after having sold as high as $50 last year.

Carries War to Shorts.

Mr. Saunders came to New York about that time and was reported to have bought the stock at a price of $1,000,000 for use in combating the short interests. Mr. Saunders denied, however, that such was the purpose of his visit. Mr. Livermore is believed to have been engaged at that time.

While the investigation of the stock exchange has not been officially completed, it is not believed that the stock will be restored to the list unless a much wider distribution of it is made. Meanwhile, settlement of stock transactions probably will be made by arbitration among the interested parties at a price to be agreed upon.

The Piggly Wiggly company operates a nation-wide chain of approximately 250 grocery stores, the nature of merchandising many of the methods and processes of which have been patented.

MAYOR ACTS AS TRAFFIC COP

READING, Tex., March 20.—Mayor John K. Stauffer is a firm believer in the old adage "the best of the riding is in the eating," and to prove his contention that 45 minutes was not too long a trick for traffic officers to work he donned a uniform and for two hours directed traffic at the busiest and most crowded corner in the city. The day he chose was the coldest of the year.

The mayor recently reduced the periods of traffic officers from one hour to 45 minutes. The men then asked a further reduction in the time.

After two hours' work the mayor said: "This job, at the best, is the most pleasant in cold weather, but it isn't half as bad as that of the night patrolman who pounds his beat continuously for 11 hours in all kinds of weather."

HELPS CONVICTS TO OBTAIN WORK

Howard Association of Chicago Lends Aid in 22 Years to 27,500 Former Prisoners

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Eleven hundred convicts, discharged or paroled from penitentiaries, were assisted on to the right road by the Central Howard Association, of this city, during 1922, according to the annual report made public by the association. In addition to this 500 boys under 18 years of age were guided and helped and legal aid was provided for 400 additional men accused of crime but who had no friends at court or were without adequate resources to obtain their legal rights.

This brought the total applicants aided in the 22 years of the association's life to 27,500 and the average cost per applicant in this length of time was $9.69.

A significant part of the report is the rotation of the earning capacity of the men assisted in 1921. In that year, according to the report, 208 paroled men worked a total of 19,610 days and earned $23,541, an average of $4.59 a day.

"In other words one-sixth of the men aided that year earned eight times the association's entire income, says the report.

The Central Howard association is named after John Howard, who was Sheriff at Bedford, Eng., in 1773 and who is known as the father of modern prison improvement. Its field is confined to the Central and Western States and its method is "more individual than collective. It acts as 'first friend' to paroled men and serves as the mediator between the public and the man who has gone wrong, but who wants to get right. Practical employment is obtained for the men, also working tools, clothing, shelter and fuel.

The objects of the association go further than this, however, it aims to obtain modern, wholesome jails, realize more efficient action in courts; establish the principle of reformation in correctional institutions and work for prevention of crime by better supervision of offenders while on probation and parole. The officers of the association are: George W. Dixon, president and F. Emory Lyon, founder and superintendent, both of Chicago.

FAMOUS WESTERN HOTEL PASSES INTO HISTORY

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—Pioneers of the '60's from the east and northwest who remember the first hotel that was built across the river from the town of St. Anthony, which is now Minneapolis, in all probability have seen the last of the historic structure. The Nicollet hotel, this city's first hostelry, is to be razed to make way for the new Nicollet, a $3,500,000 building.

Woven into the industrial growth, social welfare and general expansion of Minneapolis, the Nicollet hotel in the early days was the stopping place of leaders in the northwest and the nation. In its now antiquated rooms there have slept Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt, General William T. Sherman and General John A. Logan, as well as a number of other nationally known figures who have since passed away, were listed on the hotel's register.

Built in 1858, the Nicollet prospered after ferry boats and a suspension bridge made St. Anthony accessible to the other side of the Mississippi, and the new town (Minneapolis) arose from the small stores and bridge square next to the river. It was built at an original cost of $30,000 by two Boston men. As the town grew, additions were built until the hotel reached its present size.

THREE ROADS TO TAP OIL REGION

Montana Area, One of Largest in America Without Railroad, Has Prospects

BILLINGS, Mont., Mar. 20 (AP)—An area in southeastern Montana, approximately 150 miles wide and 170 miles long, one of the largest in the United States without a railroad, has prospects of three lines which will tap both oil and coal fields.

A branch line, which will extend thirty-five miles south of Forsyth, Montana, to the headwaters of Arnolds creek, has been surveyed by the Northern Pacific railroad, and announcement has been made that construction will begin as soon as materials can be put on the ground. This line will open the coal fields in Rosebud county.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, it is reported, is buying right of way for a line which will run eastward from some point on its tracks between Billings, Mont., and Sheridan, Wyo., into the two counties in the southeastern corner of Montana and into South Dakota.

The third line is backed by oil men headed by Charles M. Heakell, president of the Middle States Oil Company, and former governor of Oklahoma. It has run surveys for a route from Miles City, Mont., past Sheridan, Wyo., to Casper, Wyo., which would tap both coal and oil fields in Montana and Salt Creek oil fields northeast of Casper.

DOGS GUARD ART TREASURES

BOSTON, March 20 (AP)—Two giant police dogs nightly guard the treasures of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Trained to refuse to accompany any one but the watchman who has charge of them, they are led at intervals each night through the darkened galleries. Employees are cautioned against remaining in the building after hours because of the danger of attack by the powerful animals. An official of the museum who stayed until well into the evening recently was saved from the dogs only by the quick intervention of the watchman.

Washington Authorities Delving Into Mystery Surrounding Death of Four Persons when Bakery Burns

EVERETT, Wash., Mar. 20 (AP)—George Dinas, arrested at Morton, Washington, and George Chakos, a youth of this city, were severely questioned Monday by officials seeking to learn how Mrs. Clopatka Karas, sister of Chakos, her brother-in-law, Gust Karas, and two of her children came to their deaths Saturday when a bakery burned here.

Prosecuting Attorney C. T. Roscoe quizzed Dinas about a letter written in Greek to Gust Karas. An interpreter in the Seattle police department had said that a clause in this letter reading "the $1,000 that I have spent to have your brother murdered," Dinas declared that it should read "the $1,000 that was spent to have your brother murdered." The interpreter agreed that Dinas might be right.

Pete Karas, husband of Mrs. Clopatka, was found dead near a road eight months ago.

Mr. Roscoe declared his confidence that Chakos, who was sleeping in the bakery when the fire started, knew something of who crushed the skulls of Karas and Mrs. Karas and set the flames, but the youth appeared to fear for his life if he should speak.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR VETERANS COSTS MILLION

Government Prepares at Palo Alto to Take Care of Patients Suffering from Nervous Disorders

PALO ALTO, Cal., March 20 (AP)—Expected at a cost of $5,000,000 and declared to be the most modern hospital for neuropsychiatrics in the United States, the new unit of the United States Veterans' hospital No. 24 has just been opened here. More than 100 nervous cases from the Mendocino state hospital for the insane were brought here March 16 and additional nervous cases will be added from time to time. The capacity of the new group is 600 beds.

The old wooden buildings of the hospital, which now house 425 patients, will be used for tubercular cases until the completion of the new government hospital at Livermore. They will then be torn down and another 600 bed unit built, if recommendations made to the government by Colonel Frank E. Leslie, commanding officer, are adopted. Col. Leslie has advised the purchase of additional land to enlarge the present tract of 88 acres.

Embodies Last Word

This is the seventh government hospital that Colonel Leslie has opened and is asserted by him to be the best he has ever seen. It represents, he declares, the most modern ideas in hospital construction for the care of patients who are nervously or mentally ill. There are twenty-two buildings in all in the new group, most of which are to be used strictly for hospital purposes. In addition, there are a well-arranged mess hall and kitchen, a nurses' home, nine officers' quarters and an administration building. All are of concrete, steam heated.

These buildings are being furnished at a cost of $500,000, making the total value of the completed plant $1,750,000. The operating expenses will approximate $134,000 monthly.

A personnel of 535 doctors, nurses and attendants will conduct the institution, 200 of these being added to the new unit. They are in command of Colonel Leslie, who was recently transferred to Palo Alto from Fort Sheridan, Wyo. He is a specialist in the treatment of neuropsychiatric cases. There are already 126 of these cases in the hospital. The other 325 cases are tubercular and general medical or surgical. These, however, will eventually be eliminated and the entire space given over to neuropsychiatrics.

Veterans' hospital No. 24 is situated about one mile from Palo Alto near the fashionable residential community of Monte Park. It is a successor to the Camp Fremont base hospital, conducted during the World war.

PROVES TOUGHEST WOOD

Forest Service Tests Show Osage Orange in Natural State Holds First Place for Durability

TUCSON, Ariz., Mar. 20 (AP)—A report on durability tests of various native woods of this country, received recently by local forest service officials, discloses the fact that Osage orange which is extensively used in Arizona as a hedge, holds first place in this regard, while pine, fir and juniper, found in quantity in this state, made a creditable showing.

The experiments, made for the purpose of ascertaining what native woods, without special treatment and in their natural state, possessed the greatest durability, were conducted at the forest products laboratory maintained by the Forest Service at Madison, Wis., where all kinds of experiments with forest timber are carried on.

On a basis of 100 per cent for white oak, according to the report, Osage orange was found to rate from 200 to 300 per cent, making it especially valuable as fence post material, whose length of life is desirable. Of the other woods found in Arizona, yellow pine was rated at from 35 to 40 per cent and Douglas fir at from 75 to 85 per cent, while juniper showed a good degree of durability.

Police Court Uses Toy Automobiles to Facilitate Inquiry

Denver Magistrate Avoids Confusion by Asking Demonstrations in Cases of Accidents

DENVER, Mar. 20 (AP)—Toy automobiles, operated on a judges desk in police court, is the innovation adopted to determine the exact facts concerning automobile accidents in Denver when the drivers become confused in difficulties which lead them before the judge of that tribunal. Magistrate William E. Rice, often confused heretofore, by the conflicting claims of participants in traffic crashes, now keeps two miniature gas consumers on his desk. When the rival claimants appear he asks them to demonstrate exactly the manner in which the accident occurred. The novel method is said to be highly successful.

Honor Long-Dead Saint

Half a million pilgrims gathered in Goa, India, for the exposition of the body of St. Francis Xavier, who died in China 500 years ago. The body was taken afterward to Portuguese India. The festival, which occurs about every ten years, draws all races and religions, including many crippled and infirm, who hope for a cure. The festival proper began when the saint's body, which lies ordinarily in a magnificent shrine in the church, was exposed to view. The body is still in a fair state of preservation, though it is denied that any embalming process was used. The face is brown and appears mummified, but is recognizable.

COMPARES VALUES OF LAMB FEEDING RATIONS

Colorado Agricultural College Tests Show Combination of Corn, Wet Beet Pulp and Alfalfa Profitable

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Mar. 20 (AP)—The most profitable ration for lamb feeding consists of corn, wet beet pulp and alfalfa. Beet molasses is an excellent feed with a higher food value than corn, 150 land feeders were sold by E. J. Maynard of the Colorado Agricultural College, following tests conducted recently. Sunflower silage is better than corn silage or beet top silage, he declared.

In making the lamb feeding experiments, eight lots of sixteen lambs each were put on feed for 100 days, each lot being fed a different ration. Records were kept of the cost and the gain in weight, and the profit on each lot was figured on prices placed on the lambs when the experiments were completed by a buyer from the Denver stockyard. Other experiments to be conducted later include a cattle feeding test and a sows maintenance project.

Helping the "Policeman."

Little Mary was rather willful and inclined to have her own way. She was especially fond of slipping out of the front door when her parents were not looking. So often did this occur that they were afraid that one day she might get lost. So they instructed her, should this happen, never to speak to any one but a policeman.

One day she was out for a walk with her father, who was anxious to know if she had grasped her instructions correctly.

"Now, Mary," said he, "let's pretend that you're lost and I'm a policeman."

He crossed the road, and Mary followed, tearfully saying:

"Please, Mr. Policeman, I'm lost!"

"What's your name, dear?" inquired the policeman.

"Mary Jackson, please," was the correct reply.

"Where do you live?"

"Come on, I'll show you!"

BE YOUR BEST

If you can't be a place on the top of a hill,
Be a scrub in the valley, but be
The best little scrub by the side of the hill,
Be a bush if you can't be a tree.
If you can't be a bush, be a bit of the grass,
Some highway to haphazard make,
If you can't be a musketeer then just be a bass,
But the liveliest bass in the lake.
We can't all be Captains, we've got to be crew,
There's something for all of us here,
There's a big world to do, and there's lesser to do,
And the task we must do is the near.
If you can't be a highway, then just be a trail,
If you can't be the sun, be a star.
It isn't by size that you win, or you fall—
Be the best of whatever you are.

Humidifying the Air.
Humidifying and deodorizing the air in a home, theater, hotel lobby and similar places may be efficiently accomplished by the use of an appliance which operates as a miniature fountain. It resembles the now rather commonly seen electric fountains, except that instead of a score of water jets, it throws 50 fine sprays of perfumed water into the air. The height of these sprays is regulated by a small centrifugal pump, driven by a one-thirtieth-horsepower motor, which in turn is controlled by a rheostat. The entire outfit weighs only 15 pounds.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Death Rate Falls.

Figures for practically all states within the death registration area of the country show a decreased death rate in 1934. Taking account of the adjusted figures, the differences in the sex and age distribution of the population give Montana the lowest rate, 8.5 to 1,000 population, and Massachusetts acts the highest, 13.4. For cities of 100,000 or more population, Akron, O., had the lowest adjusted rate, 9.2, while Memphis had the highest, 10.

Dreams and Their Meaning.

Should you dream about brambles and pass through them unharmed, you were supposed to be able to conquer difficulties; but should you seem to be pricked, you would have great losses. The dream of cutting up cabbage was held to foretell jealousy. It was said to be a good thing to see garlic in a dream, for this was a sign that the person would find hidden treasure. We might think a dream about thistles was unfavorable, but we are told it is the other way, for it meant that you would soon have pleasing news. Clover, if it came into the dream, was a token of health and happiness.

Egyptians Were Thimbles.

What was supposed to be the first thimble was made in the year 1684, but devices of an apparently similar pattern have been found in Egyptian ruins.

ONCE MORE
Contributed matter intended for publication in The News, especially where such matter is of a controversial nature, must bear the name of the contributor or author.

The rule is a simple one and a general one, yet every so often it becomes necessary to refer to it. Another very excellent point to be kept in mind is that reasonable brevity is generally a necessary qualification.

THE CURE
The best of all cures for those who are afflicted with the idea that Twin Falls is badly smitten in a business sense would be for these sufferers to visit about a bit and note conditions in other towns of similar size and importance in Idaho and adjoining states.

Twin Falls is not exactly a hive of industry in any line of endeavor but Twin Falls today is so much better off than a majority of all Western towns as to be actually prosperous by comparison.

It is not a subject that invites a too close inspection for the reason that an intimate comparison might be construed into a lack of civility towards the other side of the picture.

As to a scarcity of money, let it be kept in mind that more automobiles are being sold here this Spring than were sold during the corresponding months of last year and that a greater percentage of goods disposed of at farm sales are sold for spot cash than has ever before been the case.

IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE BILL
Cody, Wyoming, scorns the statutory of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. The lady fashioned a conception of Buffalo Bill into clay and offered it to the town which perpetuates the illustrious colonel's name.

Mr. Cody's face was probably more or less fixed in life and so were the salient features of his steed. That was the time to have sculpted the pair.

CHAPTER VII

What Can You See in Him?
Lettie was in the midst of a financial enterprise. Mrs. Catterbox, leader in penny profligacy, had forced the job of watching her two children till dinner time, at one cent per head.

Lettie Pirouetted Momentarily.

she quoted this intelligently. "Hub, trust me! It's just little animals we're going to play."
Mrs. Penfield went on into the house. Uncle Jerry was there before her; also Frank Bosley.

"I thought you wouldn't mind, Carlina, if we walked into your living-room for a minute."
She nodded pleasantly. "You're perfectly welcome." The words were hospitable, but not so cordial as Mrs. Penfield herself could have wished.

"round with you when you go anywhere."
"No, I hadn't never done that before, but going out to the Custard Cup... And even so, what if I lost it?"
"I should say!" His words cut the air with violence. "Believe me, I'll fix this!"

Jerry Winston, whose merry eyes had sharpened with alert interest, spoke in a casual drawl. "At least you a bit hard on nerves, Bosley? Likely your wife's had a dream or something."

This lightened verolan seemed to restore Frank Bosley's composure. "Likely," he agreed glibly. "Been reading the newspapers? 'Pleasant Got her mind full of robberies, and thinks she's going to be the next in line.'"

Jerry Winston nodded. "Worst thing in the world for nerves," he said sadly. "Women need lighter food'n that!"

Mrs. Penfield started for the kitchen. Frank Bosley's voice followed her. "I'll be ambling along, Winston. See you again in a day or two."

Mrs. Penfield, emptying the baked beans into the saucepan, shook his head. "Wouldn't that beat you?" she murmured.

She put the saucepan on the stove and went to the back door. Lettie's game was in full swing. There were now ten scraps of humanity, because that had been annexed to the party as a family courtesy and was traveling deadhead through its joys.

Uncle Jerry trumped through the living-room and paused on his way through the kitchen. Mrs. Penfield was far from understanding why he had come into her home. It had seemed natural enough at first, but the supposition that he wanted to participate in the home life of his own kindred was being rapidly dispated.

Oregon woods that delighted the children, full of rough but jolly kindness—then Mrs. Penfield apologized him without reserve. "But there were other times—times that his reluctance was uppermost, about his absence, his business, his companions. Then she was puzzled and disturbed, even piqued."

"Well, Carlina," he began, "I didn't know you had a safety vault for the neighbors. That's about the last thing I'd expect you to start."

"Mrs. Bosley must have the fogots," he continued; and as his tone grew lazier his eyes grew keener. "Say, wasn't he mad? I'll bet they've had trouble over that box. It was a box, wasn't it? Does she always bring the same package?"

Mrs. Penfield, testing the heat of the irony, turned in astonishment. "My goodness, Uncle Jerry, how'd it come to mistrust you so?"

His shrugged. "Just making conversation. If nothing else happened to talk about."

"That's so, too," she agreed. "Well, no, 'tain't always the same package. Sometimes it's thin and soft. I guess she's got different ways of sending down her jewels. Why, are you going off again? I thought maybe you'd have supper with us tonight."

"Can't, Carlina. Sorry, but I got to see a man. Heavens, what's going on in your yard?"

Mrs. Penfield explained. She had to lift her voice, because Uncle Jerry had opened the door, and the game, now at its most vocal stage, filled the air with diverse cries and squeaks and clucks. Jerry Winston's footsteps on the boardwalk that ran around the house were lost in the din.

The animal game was drawing nearer. A zealous participant had discovered his habitat to be in the tree that overhung the lean-to kitchen. By the squeaky calls it was Gray Squirrel. Also, Gray Squirrels leap from branch to branch. Mrs. Penfield set down her iron and started for the door, with the intention of curbing the hazardous realism, when Crash—Splash—Gray Squirrel came hurtling through the thin spot between two supports and landed in a tub of soaking clothes.

that jiggle your pins? There goes one cent. I won't never get paid—for Timmy."
"Lettie, get me the blanket off my bed. And hurry! Hush! Timmy, dear; you ain't hurt a speck. We'll have you warm and dry in no time."

The protesting Timmy in one arm, Mrs. Penfield rummaged in the cupboard for towels.

"You little stupid! Don't you know a roof's to keep you out, 'stead of leaking you in? By jingoes, 'spos Mrs. Lettie's going to pay me for Sussie, either. Timmy here fell into mine. Ain't that luck?"

"Lettie, be still. Stop thinking 'bout money when you 'most broke a feller's neck. Now clear out, children. Land, if I wasn't so busy, I'd spank every one of you for enjoying yourselves, 'cause Timmy here fell into misfortune. Step lively. I got to have elbow room—and suddenly."

The company, thus explicitly unwanted, initiated a fade-out. Lettie shooed them vigorously.

"Run along, babies," she commanded. "You're going to play hop-scotch in the driveway—'darned if you ain't! I'm going to have that seven cents or bust." She turned back and stuck her nose into the kitchen. "Say, Penzie, what you going to do with him? A scornful twirl of her thumb indicated the suffering Timmy."

"Dry him out," replied Mrs. Penfield tersely. "We can't return him soaked." "I expected to iron tonight, but I didn't 'spos it'd be Timmy. And now, Lettie, you remember to keep all them kids on the ground. Moreover, you'll have a quiet little talk when things clear up a bit."

"Yes'm!" Lettie gulped from the depths of a great comprehension; then flew to the pursuit of whatever penalties remained.

Hebrew Weights and Measures
According to a table of Hebrew weights and measures, given in Smith's Dictionary of the Bible, the cubit was a measure of length and was equal to 18.0618 inches of our measure or approximately 1 foot 7 inches. The reed for measuring buildings was equal to 6 cubits, that is, to 114.3 inches. However, the dictionary states that the values given in the table are to be accepted with reservation for want of greater certainty.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU
Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts to Get Rid of Toxic Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.
Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.
At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—adv.

RED PEPPER HEAT STOPS BACKACHE

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once.
When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.
Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles' Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—adv.

How to Insure Sales for Your Product
The chief asset of any business is the demand for its product. As long as that demand continues, the business is on a sure foundation. But let that demand subside, and every other asset of the business is in danger of becoming a liability.
In times of prosperity and a rising-market there is a general demand for the products of industry that comes to be accepted as a matter of course. It is seldom listed among the assets of the business—it is simply assumed that it will always be there.
But, overnight, conditions may change—as they have done before—and the matter-of-course demand becomes conspicuous by its absence. The business, once strong and flourishing, is suddenly found to be in a very tight place. The demand had not been insured—and yet the entire business depended upon its continuance.
The modern, economical way to insure the market for any reliable product is by Advertising to the public which consumes it. Advertising creates a steadily increasing number of customers who desire the product, and ask for it by name.
Changes in business conditions have little effect on a steady consumer demand for trademarked articles of common use. The dealer may carry a lighter stock, and for a short time the demand through the jobber may seem curtailed; but just as sure as customers are calling on the dealer for the product, he is sure to supply it, and orders soon begin to flow in to make up for the temporary curtailment. The total consumption continues about the same.
Any manufacturer who has an article for popular consumption that can be trade-marked has the opportunity to insure his consumer market and retail sales by means of Advertising.
During the present business condition the manufacturers who have insured their demand by Advertising are in a far better position—in every way—than those who have trusted to the current demand that was not of their creating.

Twenty railroads averaged 89.60; net gain .24; high 92.5; low 84.53.

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Chief interest in today's stock market centered in the extremely violent fluctuations of Piggly Wiggly stock, which opened today at 75 1/2, jumped to 124 and then dropped back to 82, ten points above last night's close, in response to the apparent squeezing of the market's interest. Trading in the stock was suspended by order of the board of governors after the market closed, this action being taken in view of the fact that the Piggly Wiggly company, who is reported to have demanded delivery of 48,000 shares of stock, had been refused. The erratic gyrations in this issue naturally caused some uneasiness in the balance of the list, but a good demand for the independent stock, textiles and some of the rails eventually turned prices upward again.

COMMISSIONERS DEBATE PERMIT FOR OIL TANKS

Opposition Develops to Application for Right to Install Containers in Vicinity of Creamery and Lumber Yards

Applications of the Home Oil company and Oint Nelson for permits to erect oil tanks in the vicinity of the city and question of the making of a city audit for the past year, brought about an interesting session at the regular meeting of the city commissioners Tuesday night...

After preliminary matters had been disposed of the evening's activities in oil and butter began with an oratorical contest on the subject of the making of a city audit for the past year...

Insurance Bates Figure. The discussion then turned to rates of insurance and the ways they may be effected. It is well known that the district is bound to be built up and it is a question of whether or not these oil tanks will be objectionable...

Decision Deferred. Commissioner S. G. McAuley said he had investigated the matter and did not recommend the granting of the permit in view of Mr. Young's objections...

Activities at this point shifted from oil and butter to the making of a city audit for the past year...

Commissioner All again arose and expressed his opinion in part as follows: "I think we may have had enough in regard to audits of the city's books. I move that we postpone action on the matter and leave it to the incoming administration..."

After declining to meet the claim of the county hospital for the late J. W. Leedom, tourist park tender, the commission took up the matter of a company as suggested at the last meeting by John Wolfenden.

Commissioner All again arose and expressed his opinion in part as follows: "I think we may have had enough in regard to audits of the city's books. I move that we postpone action on the matter and leave it to the incoming administration..."

effect that the mayor had the right to name a member of the commission rose to a point of order, which was not done. Holds Out Balance. Mr. Tucker at this point urged that the audit be left to the new officials, recommending that it be done by some of the local accountants whom he classified as having been antagonistic to the present administration...

CITY PASSES UP HIGHWAY NOTICE

Notification by the Twin Falls highway board that a quarter mile stretch of canal ditch running alongside the road from the low line canal to the site of the old filtering plant location must be removed by the city within 10 days was ignored by action taken at the regular meeting of the city commission Tuesday night...

The removal of the ditch is desired by the highway district in order to facilitate grading and graveling of the road. Commissioner S. G. McAuley brought up the subject saying that he had received notice from the highway board notifying the city to remove the ditch...

Discussion of the matter revolved around priority of right to the right-of-way. It was claimed that the canal ditch existed in its present location before the highway was built. In turning to Attorney Davis for his opinion the council was informed that the ditch was built before the highway and that he could obtain testimony to that effect from early residents of the district...

Mayor J. D. Tucker questioned the motive of the highway board in bringing the matter up at this time and he characterized the case as a political move.
