SEIZE MARKS FOR DAMAGE BY SABOTAGE

French Launch a Systematic Collection of Funds to Cover Repair Bill with 60,000,000 Marks Grab

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—A dispatch to the Daily Express from Cologne says the French are building a large barracks on the eastern boundary of the Ruhr and that it is interpreted locally as meaning that they intend to stay there permanently.

DUESSELDORF, March 21 (AP)—The systematic collection of funds to cover the expenses of repairing the property damaged by German sabotage began today when the French seized sixty million marks from the Duesseldorf city treasury and main postoffice.

Twenty-seven officials of the German customs and the tax collector of Duesseldorf were arrested today by the French, charged with attempting to disregard the Franco-Belgian regulations.

Hans Sachs, a young German workman, courtmartialled on the charge of shooting and wounding a French soldier near Essen, has been sentenced to 15 years imprisonment—the heaviest sentence imposed since the beginning of the occupation. Sachs will be taken to Metz or elsewhere in French territory to serve his sentence.

American Steamship Vessel 40 Persons from Italian Vessel Left at Sea to Become Drifters

A wireless message conveying this news was received late this afternoon from the President Wilson by agents of the United States coast guard.

The Gullia, a vessel of 4337 tons, sailed last Saturday from Portland, Me., for Gurgent and Trajan, Italy, with a cargo of grain. The first distress call from her was picked up at 6 a. m. yesterday. Two other calls were received later in the day.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Serious damage to the peach crops in Georgia, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas and North Carolina as a result of the recent cold wave was reported today by the United States department of agriculture. Early damage from North Carolina indicates damage up to 80 per cent of Elberta and Hales, with less damage to Bellas and other early varieties.

CHANGES ARE LOOMING IN SOVIET REGIME

BECAUSE of the illness of Nikolai Lenin, Russian soviet premier, which may prove fatal at any time, changes are looming in the soviet government. M. Kamnev, Lenin's right-hand man for years, may then assume the premiership with Leonid Brezhnev, one of the ablest and most capable of the revolutionary leaders, as his adviser.

DISCLOSE ACTS OF CULT'S HEAD

Witnesses Tell of Purnell's Alleged Mistreatment of Girls and Fear of Exposure

GRAND RAPIDS, March 21 (AP)—Additional testimony that Benjamin David Purnell, head of the House of David at Benton Harbor, mistreated young girls; that he feared exposure of alleged conditions within the colony and had made preparations for flight through a tunnel and by means of a fast motor car, and that he dictated the manner in which members should vote in local and state elections, was offered today in the suit of John W. Hansell, former member, who seeks a financial accounting with the cult.

New charges were injected into the case late today by a report that Purnell, who is considered by his colonists as immune from court action, was in Grand Rapids, preparatory to taking the witness stand in the trial. The plaintiff had sought to force his personal appearance.

Wife Starts Protest

Mary Purnell, his wife, known as the "queen" of the colony, has occupied a seat at counsel's table since the opening of the case, and is there to take the stand. Up to today she has sat through the denunciation of the cult without show of emotion. This afternoon, however, she rose from her chair and threw a finger toward a witness who declared he had overheard her upbraiding Purnell for running a house of ill-fame.

Mrs. Purnell's protest was interrupted by an objection to the testimony by Attorney H. T. Dewhurst, for the cult.

Isabel Pritchard of Chicago, a former member of the cult, renewed today the charge that Purnell mistreated young girls, explaining to them that they were to bring a sacrifice. "You have ruined my faith and my children," Mrs. Pritchard told Benjamin Purnell, following a confession to her by her son, daughter, and they had marital relations with the head of the cult.

Aged Mother Breaks Down. In the midst of the recital, the woman, white-haired, nearly 70 years of age, broke down in a sobbing fit, however, she continued her testimony.

So great was her faith in Purnell, she testified, that she would not believe her daughters' story and would have them to bring a sacrifice and swear to her with a hand upon the book that they were telling the truth. Then she protested to Purnell and began preparations to leave the colony. Mrs. Pritchard, her daughters and their husbands left the colony seven days after she learned of the alleged immoral practices. Because of this, they were not given traveling expenses and the husband of Irene paid their way with money he had earned outside the colony.

CLOSE AVENUE OF ESCAPE TO UTAH INDIANS

United States Marshal Leaves Salt Lake to Take Command of Poses on Trail of Renegade Piutes

SALT LAKE, March 21 (AP)—United States Marshal J. Ray Ward of Utah, accompanied by several deputies, left here late today for the scene of the Piute Indian outbreak near Blanding, southeastern Utah. He is said to be under instructions from Washington to hunt down the band of the approximate 50 armed men who are pursuing the renegade Redskins who are led by "Old Porey."

It was reported to Marshal Ward before his departure, that the main posse of whites has the Indian band surrounded in the vicinity of Comb Wash, a wild, high country, broken by ravines and covered with underbrush.

Poses Guard Passes. Poses have been sent out from Blanding and neighboring towns to guard the passes of the San Juan river country to prevent the escape of the Indians and to take the passes of the Colorado area where capture would be next to impossible.

The four members of the posse who are known to be lost somewhere before their capture are still not yet been heard from. Three of the men have been identified as follows: F. H. Hammond of Monticello; Aldon Stewart and Wiley H. Cole of Blanding. The name of the fourth man has not been learned. Searching parties are now seeking the men.

SCOTT OFFERS SERVICES

CAMDEN, N. J., March 21 (AP)—General Hugh L. Scott, who has figured in the settlement of many disputes with the Indians, said today that he could be of use in the present trouble with the renegades in south Utah.

General Scott, who is one of the newly appointed New Jersey highway commissioners, said he had served Commissioner of the Indian Affairs at Washington, offering his services.

D. F. Gates, Wealthy Lumberman, Clutching Revolver and With Bullet in Head, Dies in California

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Don F. Gates, wealthy lumberman, was found in a dying condition on a bullet wound to the head on the hills east of his estate at Santa Pasadena, a suburb, late today by a caretaker, who told the police a revolver still smoking was found near the body.

Efforts to revive Gates failed and he died soon after being found.

EXPLAINS FIGHT ON WALL STREET

Head of Piggy Wiggy Stores Says Traders Held "Razor to Throat"

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 21 (AP)—Charles Saunders, president of the Piggy Wiggy Stores Inc., announced in a statement late today that he would expect settlement in full on all stock of that concern sold to him "short" by 2 o'clock tomorrow on the basis of $150 a share.

After that time, Mr. Saunders declared, "my price will be $250 a share even if it takes the courts to decide." "I have not a cent of my own money," he said, "and I am holding shares still short to him on delivery at more than 25,000," and asserted that "there still are thousands of additional shares, but on a marginal account to others which must be liquidated in the settlement."

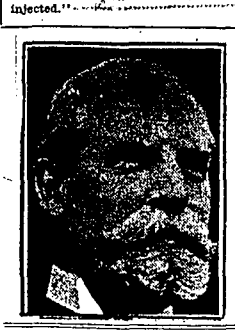

"A razor to my throat, figuratively speaking, is why suddenly and without warning, I held the rope from Wall Street and its gang of gamblers and market manipulators," Mr. Saunders said in his statement—his first formal declaration since the sensational happenings on the stock exchange yesterday which sent Piggy Wiggy soaring to a high point of 124 and resulted in the temporary suspension of trading in the stock on the exchange.

"It was strictly a question of whether I should survive, and likewise my business and the fortunes of my friends, or whether I should be 'licked' and pointed to as a boob from Tennessee. And the consequence was that the board of directors supposedly invulnerable Wall street powers found their methods contrived by well laid plans and quick action."

"Not until my Piggy Wiggy operations in the stock market had I sought a single share of any kind of stock on the New York stock exchange."

Hughes Gives Reasons for Refusal to Recognize Russian Soviet Government

SECRETARY OF STATE C. H. HUGHES who declares in explanation of refusal to recognize soviet that "salvation of Russia cannot be conjured outside and injected."

FOSTER CALLED SOVIET'S AGENT

Witness Testifies Communist Leader Brought Plans for Revolution from Moscow

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 21 (AP)—William Z. Foster, of Chicago, brought back from Moscow last year the program for a revolution in America according to a speech delivered by Foster at the communist party convention held in the sand dunes near here last summer, according to testimony today at Foster's trial on charges of criminal syndacism.

"Foster," Francis Morrow, a department of justice agent, who attended the convention as a delegate, produced on the witness stand penciled notes which he said he made while Foster spoke at the convention. Morrow's memory repeated the gist of Foster's alleged speech.

Next to the testimony about the Foster speech, the outstanding development of the trial today was the introduction by the state of quotations from the "theses and resolutions" adopted by the communist internationale at Moscow, setting the American Legion, a branch of the American Legion, and the war" and "the leading organ of the organizations of strike breakers and cut throats which are an old time establishment of American democracy."

An effort by the prosecution to have Morrow tell about a Russian letter to the United States which was blocked by defense objections. Mr. Smith produced a transcript of the convention proceedings made by a stenographer for the trial. The letter indicated Foster still did not suspect Morrow of being a government agent, and in friendly terms made an appointment to meet the latter in Chicago.

Morrow identified a letter written to him by Foster more than a month after the convention was raised and named the letter as the one which the latter indicated Foster still did not suspect Morrow of being a government agent, and in friendly terms made an appointment to meet the latter in Chicago.

The state finished Morrow's direct examination late this afternoon and turned him over to Mr. Walsh, of defense counsel, who launched a detailed grilling into the entire history of the connection of Morrow with the government secret service and the radical movement.

Mr. Walsh questioned him in detail about the division of the convention held in the sand dunes here last summer. The witness told Walsh that in the "poor caucus," composed of the supporters of a "continuing underground movement," there were either 24 or 25 delegates voting, while the "liquidator caucus," composed of the advocates of a legal existence, there were either 20 or 21 votes.

PROOF OF GOOD FAITH MADE ESSENTIAL TEST

Argues Encouragement to Repudiation and Confiscation Would Be Mistaken Policy—Bolsheviks Would "Visit on Others Disasters Which Have Overwhelmed Russians"

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Secretary Hughes today flatly rejected an appeal to recognize the Russian soviet government, made to him by representatives of the Women's Committee for Recognition of Russia, and in a formal statement, declared the "salvation of Russians cannot be conjured outside and injected." The statement in reply to arguments it advanced, touched Russian government, trade, finance, economics and various policies inaugurated by the soviet affecting international relations.

Brorah Demands New Objective for Politics

Idaho Senator Invites Republicans to Head Off Third Party with "Fearless Program"

AKRON, Ohio, March 21 (AP)—Inviting the republican party to "quit gambling" for votes and adopt a "clear cut and fearless program," Senator Brorah Idaho, declared in an address here tonight that by such a course republican leaders could put an end to a third party movement which now appears "most improbable."

"Political conditions are distressingly unsatisfactory to both political parties," said Senator Brorah, speaking at a banquet held in honor of Abraham Lincoln by the republican county committee. "The voter is alarmingly independent. Party lines are shadowy and uncertain. Party leaders seem confused. The rank and file are distrustful. And yet the people are deeply and profoundly interested in public questions and eager for information upon all political problems."

Seeks Low Standards. "If I were to suggest the underlying fundamental vice over American politics at this time, I would unhesitatingly declare that it consists in playing the game on too low a standard—far below the level of both the intelligence and patriotism of the vast majority of the people. The chief attention area in many ways the most difficult ever presented to the American electorate. We know those standards are here and there to be unencumbered and reported to them. We seem to lack boldness and determination in dealing with them."

"In my opinion, what we really ought to do together and win battles through the power of patronage, the appeal to past party achievements and denunciation of the opposition. It is a fearful mistake. It is bringing us to the brink of political disaster and ruin. The people are far ahead of their leaders, both in conception of duty and of courage. If we can understand this fact and believe it, we shall be able to re-organize our party in its present perilous situation and render it indestructible to the country."

Opposes Epirocity. "A democrat in the days of Jackson was a crusader. A republican in the days of Lincoln was an apostle. Give the people the issues and the program and the republic will be saved. Politics will return. The men who have bravely put aside expediency and sought justice for justice's sake, have had the greatest following politically in the history of our country and generation, but in the hearts and minds of succeeding generations. FRENCH DEBATE NAVAL TREATIES

Proposed Reservations Bring Decision to Give Hearing to Negotiators

PARIS, March 21 (AP)—Deputy Charles Guernier, the official reporter on the Washington naval treaty, today made his long deferred report to the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies. While his conclusions were favorable to ratification by France, his exceptions and reservations were such that a majority of the committee thought it necessary to give Aristide Briand and Rene Viviani, the former of whom headed the French Delegation to the Washington conference but later was succeeded by M. Viviani, a chance to be heard before the committee made its recommendations. It was also decided by the committee that Premier Poincare should be afforded an opportunity to present the government's definite viewpoint on the agreement.

M. Guernier's exceptions and reservations were two-fold. The first was that France would be bound for too long by the agreement, and the second that too allotment tonnage was out of proportion to the country's needs regarding the safety of the seaboard of the mother country and of the colonies. M. Guernier argued that M. Briand and M. Viviani had failed to safeguard the best interests of France and that the United States, Great Britain and Japan had treated her as a "poor country equal."

Retiring Head of Feminine Administration of North Dakota Town, Sees Trouble Ahead

MINOT, N. D., March 21 (AP)—That it will be "rough sledding" for the new administration of Des Lacs, N. D., which yesterday was sworn in, Mrs. M. J. Walsh, a woman who for the past year have guided the destinies of the small town, said today. Mrs. Walsh, who was the retiring head of the feminine administration of North Dakota town, Minot, N. D., said she was out in her campaign for re-election as trustee. She had been in Minot during the past two weeks, serving on one district jury.

"There's something that I don't understand about this affair," she said today. "I am positive that our town is in a very bad way with general favor at Des Lacs and it was only through some political move on the part of the opposition force that we lost out. I wish I had been there yesterday instead of in Minot. A year hence may see another change in the administration, as we don't intend to remain idle."

SHORTS STAGE MAD SCRAMBLE AFTER SHARES

Wall Street Operators-Seek to Get Out of Trap by Obtaining Stock Said to be Held by Piggly Wiggly President

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—A mad scramble for class "A" common stock of the Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., was made among the brokerage houses of Wall street today by short interests who were trapped in the sensational 52 point jump on the stock exchange yesterday and who were unable to cover the subsequent rise of 50 to 150 on the outside today. One sale of 50 shares by a Philadelphia price at 150 was reported. Several other sales were reported by local houses at prices of 80 to 110.

The volume of stock thus traded is believed to be relatively small. While no accurate estimate as to the size of the bid buying and selling in the Wall street brokers generally believed it would not exceed 10,000 shares.

Saunders Holds Reins.
Ordinarily, stocks sold on the New York stock exchange on one day are cleared before 2:30 p. m. the next day. A broker buying and selling the same day receives a check representing his profit on the transaction, or is required to submit a certified check covering his loss, and thus is relieved by the clearing house of either receiving or making physical delivery of the stock certificates. The stock clearing corporation had today no interest in the original contracts involved in the liability of purchases and sales made in yesterday's trading.

The next move must come from Clarence Saunders, president of the Piggly Wiggly corporation, who is reported to hold the orders for the stocks which the shorts are unable to deliver. When the exact amount of the short interest is ascertained, a meeting probably will be arranged between representatives of Mr. Saunders and the short interests to effect a basis of settlement. When this settlement has been effected, the stock exchange will take definite action, either to strike the stock from the list or to permit a resumption of trading.

NICHOLSON CRITICALLY ILL

Burgeons Decide Against Operation Upon Colorado Senator who Will Be Taken to Home in Denver

ROCHESTER, Minn., March 21 (AP)—United States Senator Samuel D. Nicholson of Colorado, who is critically ill, will be taken to his home in Denver, in a private car tomorrow. It was announced here tonight. No operation will be performed now.

The announcement was made by Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, and a close friend of the senator. Dr. Work said Senator Nicholson's condition was grave. Earlier in the day, after consultations with Dr. William Mayo, Dr. Work declared that operation at this time "is deemed inexpedient." The senator is suffering from a tumor of the stomach.

POINTS OUT TWO IN HERRIN RIOT

Aged Farmer on Witness Stand Identifies Men Who Led McDowell to His Death

MARION, Ills., March 21 (AP)—George Nelson, a grey-haired farmer, pointed out from the witness stand today Otis Clark and Oscar Howard, two of the six defendants in the Herrerin riots trial, as men he had seen lead C. K. McDowell, one of the 25 men slain during the outbreak toward the spot where the body was found.

Nelson declared he had seen the non-union men who surrendered at the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company the morning of June 22, last, marched past his house by the mob.

"When the crowd reached my house," he testified, "some man led McDowell over the head with a gun and another said that it was no use to take him any further as he had given out. Then Clark, who had a gun, and Howard led him away from the crowd down a side path.

"In a few minutes I heard shots from that direction and when I went down the path about 35 or 30 minutes later I found Mr. McDowell's body with two bullet holes on each side of the chest and a wound on the forehead."

Nelson asserted that he had later seen Clark and Howard get into an automobile driven by Mrs. Clark and drive away.

William Goodman, also a farmer, testified that he had seen the crowd with its prisoners a short distance from the mine and had heard Clark make a speech in which he declared: "We'll take the men out and kill them."

SHORT NAMES SAVE LABOR

Oregon Governor's Use of Full Name Excites Statistical Experts to Calculation of Lost Time and Effort

SALEM, Ore., March 21 (AP)—Statistical experts are busily figuring how much time and energy Governor Walter M. Pierce would have saved if, when taking charge of the executive office of the state of Oregon, he had begun signing his name "W. M. Pierce," instead of "Walter M. Pierce," as his now signed official documents.

Recently the state sold $5,000,000 worth of soldier loan bonds in $1,000 denominations. As these bonds have to be signed personally by the governor and the state treasurer, it means that each of these officials will have to sign his name 5,000 times.

It is estimated it will take the governor between 12 and 14 hours to do his part.

O. P. Hoff, state treasurer, completed the job in seven hours, his name being only about half the length of that of the chief executive.

BATTLESHIP COSTS $16,500,000

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—The cost of building a first-class battleship in 1914 was approximately 500,000 pounds sterling, or about 2,500,000, but the cost of a similar ship today is about 3,300,000 pounds, or about $16,500,000, according to commander Eyras-Moncell, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty.

Explaining this increase the expert says: "It must be borne in mind, however, that a modern capital ship embodies features found necessary in the light of war experience which involve considerably greater tonnage, offensive and defensive armament, and consequently cost."

FIXED DATE FOR EASTER ADVOCATED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—An effort is being made by a number of Englishmen led by Lord Desbrough to obtain a general agreement on the question of a fixed date for Easter.

Lord Desbrough recently stated that a motion to this effect will be offered at the next meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce on the ground that the variance of Easter is inconvenient not only to business people, but also to the legal profession and to schools and universities. He will leave next month for Rome to ask the Pope to consider the matter.

It is understood that the heads of the Church of England have already been approached on the subject but answered that they had not the power to change the present system.

It has been suggested that the second Sunday in April should be fixed as the immovable date.

At the same election voters will be asked to express their preference as to three proposed sites for a new civic center, of which the city hall would form a part.

ALBANIA TURNS AGAINST TURKS

Rebels Against Payment of $150,000 Debt; Turns Toward Western Civilization

TIRANA, Albania, March 21, (AP)—Little Albania, with her narrow strip of mountainous territory and her scant one million people, rebels against paying any of the debt of Turkey for the reason that the former Ottoman Empire, after collecting its tribute here, never so much as built a bridge, constructed a road, or created a school, according to members of the newly constituted Albanian parliament, which has been meeting in laborious sittings since the New Year.

The sum assigned to Albania for payment was 750,000 gold francs, or about $150,000, but this sum, the deputies say, would make very serious drain on the public financing.

Albania is still the wild and undeveloped country she has always been—without a mile of railroad, almost impassable roads and but one or two schools at most. The government, constituted on the order of a republic, is bending every effort to collect sufficient revenue to meet the annual expenditures, figures for 1922, 6,000,000 francs, or about $3,000,000, which represents but a fraction of what the United States government spends in a single day.

Though there is a great deal of Turkish influence left in this small and primitive country, the present tendency is to throw off all of the Ottoman bonds and lean toward Western civilization. In fact, the young men to Constantinople for their professional training, the well-to-do now send to Paris, London and Rome. Even in dress the tendency is to turn to the West for leadership.

The toy capital, located here, is now putting on the airs of its mission by the establishments of legations and consulates. Both English and American maintain legations here, while Italy is represented by a consulate.

Moses as Alchemist.

All writers upon alchemy triumphantly cite the Bible story of the golden calf to prove that Moses could make or unmake gold at his pleasure. It is recorded that Moses was so wrought with the Israelites for their idolatry that he took the calf which they had made, and burned it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and strewn it upon the water, and made the people of Israel drink of it. This, say the alchemists, he never could have done had he not been in possession of the philosopher's stone—by no other means could he have made the powder of gold float upon the water.

The notions of the alchemists seem to have been that all metals were composed of two substances—the one, metallic earth, and the other a red, inflammable matter, which they called sulphur. The pure union of these substances formed gold, but other metals were mixed with and contained by various foreign ingredients. The object of the philosopher's stone was to dissolve or neutralize all these ingredients by which iron, lead, copper and all metals would be transmuted into the original gold.

Daddy Knew 'Em All.

My brother recently attended a charity bazaar, accompanied by his little son, aged three. Several young ladies soliciting sales for charity were dressed in costumes cut rather delectable. My brother, knowing several of the women, conversed a few moments with them. Next morning, when mother asked the child what he'd seen the night before, he told of the pretty things and also said "And, Grandma, there were lots of ladies and they had nothing on here (pointing to his chest) and nothing on here (indicating his arms) and daddy knew them all!"—Detroit News.

VLADIVOSTOK DISTRICT THREATENED BY FAMINE

Food Taxes Prove Unsuccessful; Soldiers of Red Army Begging from Door to Door

VLADIVOSTOK, March 21 (AP)—Food taxes have not won a success in this district, although the authorities are declaring that the collection of taxes has been very satisfactory. The government has no money to buy food produce in large quantities abroad, and one of the leading commissars has declared that if things do not improve this district is in danger of famine this year.

Soldiers of the Red Army are going from house to house begging for food, although this is strictly forbidden by the army regulations. The men complain that they get only one and a half pounds of bread daily and sometimes soup made of fish. They are supposed to get a salary of 25 kopecks a day, but many of them have not been paid for more than three months.

FOOTER HELD AS SLAVER.

NEW ORLEANS, March 21 (AP)—An alleged deserter from the army camp at Fort McDowell, Cal., Danny Deever, young pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, was at liberty on parole tonight. Lou Wildie, treasurer of the Cincinnati baseball club, obtained Deever's release by assuring the police that the club would be responsible for his delivery into the custody of properly qualified military authorities.

Taking Chances.

"One of the most difficult things to do," said a superintendent of one of the large office buildings as he finished reading an account of a window cleaner or in New York falling from the tenth floor, "is to make employees take ordinary precautions. We make it a rule to discharge window cleaners who refuse to make use of the life belt with which each is equipped when working on the outside of the building. Do you know that I am constantly discharging them for their failure? And our jobs are worth having. Men working at high elevations are cool-headed; familiarity makes them careless; hooding the lifebelt is too much for them; they take a chance. This chap who fell did that."—Exchange.

STRONGHEART FIGHTS WOLVES.

In the new Laurence Trimble-dance picture production, "Brazen of the North," a first national attraction starring "Strongheart," the wonder dog, who became the pet of the world by his marvellous portrayal in "The Silent Call," Laurence Trimble has succeeded again in startling audiences.

Situations that would require the very best artistry from human actors are given to Strongheart in "Brazen of the North," and the manner in which Mr. Trimble has succeeded in having him portray his role, appears a refutation of scientific contention that dogs cannot think or reason.

In the picture he is a dog of almost dual personality—in one flash savagely fighting attacking wolves, and in the next, gently and heroically in the lost on the open snows. Strongheart's every mood is shown, together with a series of emotions which he expresses with his face and by gestures. Showing the Orpheum today.

FRESHMEN WIN FROM SENIORS

First Year Players Defeat Upper Classmen in the Opening Baseball Game of Season

Jerry Jarman's freshmen took the seniors down the line yesterday afternoon at Lincoln field in the first baseball game of the season by the score of 9 to 6 in a seven-inning contest.

The seniors started off in the first inning as though they were going to put the game on ice by making two scores off of Doc Jarman, the youngest of the three Jarman brothers, who grace the freshman team. Selek opened the game by lining out to Johnson in center who made a dandy running catch. Jamison singled sharply to right; Atkinson was tagged in the slight at my, and Brown advanced on a passed ball. Jamison scored on a fielder's choice by Nyo and Atkinson scored when Sears threw wild to the plate.

The Jarman brothers, with the other six freshmen, started their bombardment of Patz in the opening inning, when Laval Jarman sent one out to the barn for three bases. Dunn waited until he got hit, and Laval Jarman scored on a fielder's choice by Doc Jarman, Dunn being tagged out at second by Selek. Sears rattled the right field fence for a double, and Doc Jarman reached home. Jerry Jarman kissed one past Selek, and Chet Kerr let the ball roll between his legs. Jerry spiking the rubber before the ball was returned.

Seniors Come Back.

The seniors came back in the second with another counter when Patz was granted a life on Ross' low throw to first base. Selek shot a hot one to Ross, who gobblet it up, and threw Patz out at second. Jamison was safe when Laval Jarman dropped an easy toss by Doc Jarman, Selek going to second; Atkinson walked, but was forced out by Nyo. Selek scoring on the play. Selet onied the inning by grounding out Jerry Jarman to Laval Jarman.

The freshmen piled up three more in their half of the inning. Johnson shifted the breeze; L. Jarman sent a hot single to left, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Atkinson missed. Hoffman's perfect throw to the plate, on Dunn's grounder. Doc Jarman received a swat on the ribs and meandered to first. Sears fanned; Jerry Jarman was safe at first when Jamison erred. Dunn scoring. Hoffman fuzzed Ross' easy roller and Doc Jarman spiked the rubber with the third ball.

The older students failed to get a man on base in the third, but the Jar-manite made one more when Laval Jarman singled over Selek, and came all the way around on battery errors.

Nothing more happened until the fifth, when the seniors sent three over the platter, without the least sign of a bit of resistance. The location of the plate in this inning, insuring three walks and making two wild pitches.

Polcs Out Icomer.

The last scoring of the day came when Laval Jarman poked the pill over the right field fence for the circuit.

Aside from the fact that the two Jarman brothers held the seniors to two hits during the seven innings, the feature of the game was the heavy hitting of Laval Jarman, who socked out a home run, a triple and two singles in four trips to the plate.

There are several new faces that look of mighty good yesterday afternoon, but it is a little early to make predictions as to what players will represent the blue and white for the coming season.

This afternoon at 4:15 the sophomores and juniors will tangle for the second of the class games. The winner of this game will meet the freshmen Friday afternoon for the school championship.

AUTO MEN TAKE THREE STRAIGHT
 Rendahl-Wright Bowlers Defeat Theatre Team and Tie Laundry for Lead

Winning three straight games from the Idaho theatre kids last night at the Twin Falls bowling alleys, the Rendahl-Wright pin artists went into the first place with the Troy laundry quintet.

The first game, the best of the evening showed both teams over the 800 mark, the Mechanics totalling 852 to 814 for the "silent drummer" team. Lee McCracken swatted the napes in this game to the tune of 222 for high.

In the second game both teams slipped a little, the Auto men coming out with the theatre boys scored content with 750. Walter Selck harpooned the wood for 192 in this game.

The last game of the evening showed the theatre team with considerable advantage in the fifth frame, and it looked as though they would grab at least one of the trio, but in the seventh inning the gross artists cut loose with an avalanche of strikes and sprang that completely unnerved their younger opponents taking the lead by a few pins in the ninth frame and finishing with a total of 791 to 754 for the thespians. Donny Sullivan with 173 had high in the last game of the evening.

THE SLAUGHTER OF THE LAMBS
 The Troy laundry was out in full blast helping the kids—lose.

These three games puts the league leadership into a tie, and the two leaders will not play one another any more this season.

Don Rendahl sat in the bleachers and when told that his team had won three games said that he was in favor of it.

"Milky" Reeves went dry, as the best he could do was 421 for the evening. His low mark was 139 in the second.

Bob Whitzel went nicely the first two games and then fell to 138 in the last. Bob has to have one poor game or he won't play.

Donny Sullivan tripped the lumber for an average of 164 for the evening, the highest made by the theatre boys.

McCracken plowed through the pins for 222 in the opener, and then let his feelings get the best of him in the second. McCracken is too good-hearted to be a good bowler.

Chat Korr was not up to standard, and every time he made a strike he drew a split in the next frame.

The first twenty-five years of bowling are the hardest, and then it gets worse.

Emmet Asbury ran into some nice splits, working under the impression that there was going to be a prize given for hitting the head pin on the nose.

Walter Selck got as far as 486 for the three games, but didn't bowl his regular game.

This evening the Wright's store team will try a few stunts on the Albery & Mott quintet, but once more it is said that the grocers are due to do.

Percy Thompson, the old reliable, fell a little on the three game total, but he is of the fact that of the three, just seemed contrary. He hit them right but they wouldn't "fall" for his line of chatter.

Laval Jarman fell a little, too, but had an excuse as he pitched four inings in the afternoon in north pole weather.

A game that should prove to be a hummer will be staged this afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Harry Benoit's legal lights will slide down the polished surface in a tilt with the Bank and Trust bowlers, headed by "Hooin" Linville.

The lawyers claim they have the best team, and are willing to argue the case, but the very Linville refuses to argue, and wants to be shown.

A glance at the list of the lawyers shows Bill Bailey the dean of the profession in the land of potatoes. Then O. W. Witham will show a few fancy staps, after which Captain Porter will sail them down the glazed surface. Orr Chapman, the man who put the six in his exercise, will show what an improvement just a few weeks makes. Captain Harry Benoit will be the fifth bowler who will try and uphold the wonderful showing made this year for the year by his team. (Note—This is the first game for the lawyers).

The bankers will use the same team for this season: Peck, Ryan, Patrick, Fix, and Linville.

Mark Murtaugh will be on hand to offer his sympathy to every bowler making a split during the contest.

Our daily bowling thought: If men took as good care of themselves as they do their automobiles, this would be a generation of athletes.

ANCIENT BURIAL PLOT IS FOUND
 Oregon Farmer Discovers Relics what is Pronounced Primitive Mound-Builders

ALBANY, Ore., March 21 (AP)—A burial ground of what is pronounced to be an ancient race of mound builders has been discovered directly across the river from Albany by a farmer, Clyde Peacock, it became known today. Mr. Peacock made the discovery while plowing a field which has been under cultivation for many years. The plough share was caught by a rock and after digging the rock out it was found to be a fine specimen of a mortar. Upon digging further, Peacock unearthed skulls, knives, skeletons, charcoal and more mortars and pestles.

Up to the present a total of 13 skulls, all well preserved, have been unearthed. There are mortars and pestles with nearly every skull. The excavation is about 50 feet long and about 20 feet wide, by from 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 feet in depth.

J. G. Crawford, local authority on pre-historic specimens declared the skulls to be those of mound builders after closely examining them with other specimens of mound builders and Indians that he has in his laboratory.

Fixes Burial Date.
 Mr. Crawford held the theory that the skeletons were buried shortly after 500 A. D., because he says at about that time the Buddhists, present, visited this coast and after returning to China to get more missionaries, came back and taught the dwellers here. After this visit by the Buddhists, Mr. Crawford says that the pestles and mortars were buried with the dead mound builders, and the presence of pestles and mortars in the north Albany mound indicates that this was the case, and further carries out Crawford's opinion regarding the type of civilization that the skeletons represent.

Examining some of the best specimens of bones Mr. Crawford declared that the race had been one of great size and strength. The skulls are varied in weight, some are much heavier than others and the teeth in some are badly worn, while in others are in perfect condition.

Two fine specimens of knives or spearheads were found with one of the skeletons. These were made of volcanic glass, technically known as obsidian. One was about 4-1/2 inches long and the other was over six inches in length.

ought to think of that at the present time.

"I do not turn aside to discuss third party movements. Such a movement is not impossible, not even unprobable, but the old parties are it within their power to put an end to all such movements by courageous meeting and dealing with the problems at hand in thorough fashion. Let us make no mistake as Republicans about the seriousness of the outlook. To misread the popular demand at this particular juncture means something more to the party than temporary defeat. The undercurrent is strong and somewhat murky, but it belongs to any party which discovers it and harnesses it to the great tasks of the hour.

"If I am not greatly in error, there is a demand in this country for a political party which will put behind us the vengeance, the passions and the intolerance of the great war and build for the future under the inspiring dawn of a new day; a party which holds in the forefront of the United States; a party which knows that it is safer to build up communities at home than bureaus at Washington; a party which believes that responsibility for the world is not only in area and broad enough in principle to do justice, to give protection to all tongues, all races, all religions, found within its confines, and direct demands in return as acknowledged allegiance to the government, loyalty to American institutions and obedience to law; a party brave enough to denounce and hold enough to disown as enemies of our common peace all who would kindle anew the hateful fires of racial and religious intolerance.

Proscribes Remedy
 "Let us give to the country a thorough and fearless program. If we do and quit quack shooting for bunches of medals, then there are no medals not only make our party invincible, but we will bring honor and strength to our country. We have found that it is easier to create a bureau and shift responsibility than to devise a remedy and assume responsibility. If the government could be relieved of this shambling party expediency and the public service cleansed of political dead, many of the questions which seem complex would grow simple and more than half our troubles would disappear."

conditions in Russia have somewhat improved, because agriculture is basic in Russia. There is hope in that fact, but agricultural conditions are still far from what they should be. The conditions of the industry and transportation are most lamentable. If you need to know what those conditions are, I refer you to the soviet authority, Mr. Ribbentrop, and his statements last fall, which no doubts are accessible to you and the analysis of which I think will correct some of the rather optimistic statements that you have made.

Good Faith Prime Requirement
 "I recognize fully the distinction between matters exclusively of economic import, and the question of diplomatic relations. As I said to the representatives of your organization a year ago the fundamental question is the recognition of a government is whether it shows ability and a disposition to discharge international obligations. Stability, of course, is important; stability is essential. Some speak as though stability was all that was necessary. What, however, would avail mere stability if it were stability of the prosecution of a policy of repudiation and confiscation?"

"In the case of Russia, we have a very easy test of a matter of fundamental importance and that is of good faith in the discharge of international obligations. I say that good faith is a matter of essential importance because words are easily spoken. Of what avail is it to speak of assurances, if credit obligations and rights are repudiated and property is confiscated?"

"Our own government, after the first revolution, loaned about $187,000,000 to Russia. I may say that we were the first to recognize the Russian government; that government did not profess a policy of repudiation. Now what did the soviet authorities do? In their decree of January 21, 1918, they made this simple statement: 'Unconditionally and without any exceptions, all foreign loans are annulled.'

Not Harsh Creditor
 "What was loaned to Russia out of our Liberty bond proceeds, and the war loans obtained by Russia before the revolution to enable Russia to continue the war were simply annulled. Now the United States is not seeking to press debtors who cannot pay beyond their means. But indulgent and proper arrangements are one thing, repudiation is quite another.

"Not only would it be a mistaken policy to give encouragement to repudiation and confiscation, but it is also important to remember that there should be no encouragement to those efforts of the soviet authorities to visit upon other peoples the disasters which

FLEET'S GUNS HAMMER ONCE PROUD FLAGSHIP
 ABOARD U. S. S. MARYLAND, Panama Bay, March 21, (AP)—(Radio) Hammered by the big guns of the new pennant-bearer, the Mississippi this afternoon, the rattle controlled battleship Iowa was slowly settling tonight. Twice the old hulk, which was the proud ship of "Fighting Bob" Evans in the battle of Santiago, came under the range of the Mississippi's guns and each time was severely punished by reduced charges and shells, especially designed in the hope that they would not sink her.

President Porras, of Panama, Secretary Denby, Percy Bennett, British minister to Panama and high navy and army officers watched the firing from the fleet's flagship Maryland, which stood off about one mile as the Iowa steamed along at 14 knots under the rattle control of the mine layer Shawmut.

The Mississippi, coming over the horizon at 19 knots, opened fire with five-inch guns at a range of approximately six miles to demonstrate the kind of a barrage attacking destroyers would encounter. Eighteen salvos of six shells each were fired, 10 direct hits being scored.

When the night was under way to keep the Iowa afloat until tomorrow for further big gun tests, which are planned as a climax to the most extensive maneuvers ever held by the United States fleet. The Mississippi attempted to locate the Iowa by the use of star shells.

have overwhelmed the Russian. I wish that I could believe that such efforts had been abandoned.

"Last November—last November, Zinoviev said: 'The eternal law of the Russian revolution is the fact that it is the beginning of the world revolution.' Lenin, before the last congress of the Third International, last fall, said that 'the revolutionists of all countries must learn the organization, the planning, the method and the substance of revolutionary work.'

 "Then, I am convinced," he said, "the outlook of the world revolution will be not good, but excellent," and Trotsky, addressing the fifth congress of the Russian communist youths at Moscow last October—not two years ago, but last October—said this: 'That means comrades, that revolution is coming in Europe as well as in America, systematically, step by step, stubbornly and with gnashing of teeth in both camps. It will be long protracted, cruel and sanguinary.'

A STEP FORWARD

Renewed interest in the development of the dairy industry in the Twin Falls country may be accepted as marking a step in the right direction and one of the most important steps over taken in these parts.

In a general way it has always been understood that dairy cattle as a rule spelled prosperity for the section devoted to the industry, but for various reasons Twin Falls farmers have been slow to seriously consider the dairy industry on anything approaching a wholesale scale. Cows there have been, a few here and there at intervals over the entire tract, but the Twin Falls country has never made a serious effort to excel as a dairying center and the present interest manifested in the matter would appear to be a splendid move and one of far-reaching importance.

Within a few days now a general meeting of farmers interested in the matter will be held, and it is expected that concrete results will follow.

So far as can be judged the development of the industry in this section to commercial proportions would be one of the best moves which it would be possible to make, not only from the standpoint of the farmer but from the standpoint of the various towns as well and all the support and encouragement possible should be lent the movement by all.

POWER DEVELOPMENT

New York's argument for amendment of the federal water power act and for state control of all power developed in her borders serves several purposes. It raises the question of how long New York's prosperity would endure if such sources of power as Pennsylvania's coal were not always available to other states. It indicates anew a curious sense of self-sufficiency that enables New York to absorb the contributions of other states without feeling any conscientious obligation to reciprocate.

But more important is the activity to which the movement stirs the mind of Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania. The Hoover super-power scheme is resurrected for discussion with a heavy accent on the plan of producing electricity at coal mines and shooting it overland by wire. The magnitude of the whole program is such that the provincial selfishness of New York are quite eclipsed.

Power production in this country is still pretty much a virgin field. For example, only one-fifth of its water strength is harnessed. Power created at mines is still a mere prospect. National organizers of power development, then, have the histories of such growth as that of the railways to furnish numerous horrible examples which must be avoided. Power can be organized now without the waste involved in cut-throat competition and subject to public control from the beginning.

In a unified scheme of development, power projects in mining centers would play an important part. Their merits have been apparent on paper for some time. Mine power might prove a nightmare to roads who depend largely on coal-carrying for a livelihood, but this consideration is entirely outweighed by the saving to the public of the whole cost of coal handling and carriage. It means a saving of the immense amount of coal used by roads to carry nothing but other coal. It means regular work for miners.

Pinchot is not interested in hearing this power in Pennsylvania. He and New York just now occupy places of thought remote from one another. One thinks in terms of a great public utility of the future, the other is stonied up over a minor matter of the status of power control in one of 48 states. New York will not be bigger if she acquires any new rights in her water power for herself. She will be bigger if she merely tries to get the Pinchot slant on a great development that has nothing to do with imaginary state lines.

Sobouids.

It was a regular thing for Mrs. Penfield to be called to Number 41. Mrs. Sanders lived there, alone except for a roomer; and during the few months since she had come to The Custard Cup, she had summoned Mrs. Penfield several times when overwrought nerves had brought her to a climax of suffering. Her neighbors had little patience with these attacks. Because of the weeping and lamentations which were the outer symbols of her distress, they had nicknamed her Sobouids. And she knew it. Sensitive to an attitude which she interpreted as unsympathetic, Mrs. Sanders turned for comfort to Mrs. Penfield as the only one of her neighbors who could soothe her into equilibrium.

It was Monday, and Mrs. Penfield was in the midst of washing; but when the summons came, she made all haste to respond, her office being that of the physician who is called in an emergency.

She found Mrs. Sanders in her small living-room, pacing rapidly back and forth, beating the air with her clenched fists.

They exchanged no word of greeting. Mrs. Penfield entered casually, as if she had happened to think of it in passing. Mrs. Sanders gave her a glance of recognition, but said nothing.

"It's colder today," remarked Mrs. Penfield in a matter-of-fact tone, "seems a mite like fall if you ain't in the sun. What do you say if I make us some tea to drink while we're chatting?"

Mrs. Sanders did not reply, but the taut muscles in her face relaxed the merest trifle. Mrs. Penfield went into the kitchen and poured boiling water over the bones she had brought. She found a tray and arranged her service deftly, as if the occasion were purely social. She was profoundly sorry for Mrs. Sanders, whose nerves, she understood, had been shattered by grief until at times they became uncontrollable. She filled a bag with hot water and went back.

"Keep your hands on this when you can," she advised briskly. "You can hold it in your lap while we're drinking this here tea. Yes, I know the tea's hot, but you can sip it. My, it tastes good, don't it?"

Mrs. Sanders finished her tea and put down the cup. "I'm sorry," she whispered, with quivering lips, "but I couldn't stay here by myself. I got to thinking and—Oh!" She sprang to her feet, tossing the hot-water bag to the floor, and took up her pacing again. She was a small woman, with a thin, white face and gray eyes that at the moment were burning with rebellion.

"Oh, I can't stand it; I can't stand it," she cried aloud, beating her hands together. "I got to thinking, and—"

Mrs. Penfield had risen, too. "Yes, I know," she interrupted quietly. "It shuts off your breath, and your blood runs cold. It makes creation seem big and cruel and against you."

"Mrs. Sanders wheeled and fixed her with a strange look, as if she could not believe that it was her neighbor who had spoken. "Yes, like that, but it's so much more being by myself. It's different with you. You got the children. They keep you going."

"Yes, they keep me going." "So you see what I mean. I'm all alone—all alone."

"All alone!" repeated Mrs. Sanders, her voice rising to a shriek. "Oh, it's awful. I never been alone before. I hadn't told you how 'twas, but—two years ago—I lost my husband—my mother—then my brother. It left me alone—absolutely alone. I don't get over it. Sometimes—I her words sank. "Sometimes I think I shall go crazy—that I may end it—"

Mrs. Penfield regarded her calmly. "Guess 'most of us feel that way, first or last. But it's only selfishness talking to us. Easiest thing we can do is to go."

Mrs. Sanders stopped in her pacing. The keenness of her astonishment drew the tension out of her bearing; she was suddenly limp from the shifting of emotion.

"You!" she exclaimed. Mrs. Penfield gave her a smile that had nothing in it of amusement. "I," she confirmed. "My dear, you didn't suppose, did you, that the Lord had singled you out to see if He could break a string in your heart?"

"But you! I'd never thought as you—"

Mrs. Penfield's face settled into lines that Mrs. Sanders had not seen before—into the rigidity of forced control. "I don't speak of it," she said jerkily. "I can't. It hurts more. Ain't nobody here knows. My—my husband was a contractor; he had a kind of a job for me and three children." The words trailed into silence. Her brown eyes, with lengthened focus, were fixed on the wall beyond her hostess, as if she were seeing pictures out of a past that had receded but not grown dim.

Presently she went on, her voice lower, her breathing uneven, speaking more to herself than to another, as far as she withdrew from the present. "We were happy—happy—until—There was an epidemic. The worst of it had passed. We had escaped; we thought we were safe. The relief from anxiety made us more thankful, happier, than ever. One night we—we had a jolly supper—the five of us, at the round table. There was green peas and custard pie. Little David loved to see it tremble. He was three. His curls were like waves of sunshine, and his eyes were the deepest blue. And Katherine and Bobby—they were all so well, rosy, full of laughter! But—that very night—first one and then another. . . . In the morning they were—gone. Think of it! Before day broke they were—all my babies—gone!" Her eyes lifted; the lines of her face were twisted in agony. She had forgotten her surroundings, re-living those hideous hours.

"Oh, my dear," said Mrs. Sanders softly, "how did you ever stand it?" "Stand it?" Mrs. Penfield took up the words with momentary vehemence. "I didn't stand it. I went mad—raving mad. Everything I'd ever believed in, went down." Her sad eyes came back to her neighbor's face. Mrs. Sanders' gaze had lifted to Mrs. Penfield's heavy hair, nearly white, strangely out of keeping with the look of youth that lingered in her features and expression.

Mrs. Penfield caught the glance. "It turned that night," she said indifferently. "It didn't matter."

"And you—your—"

Mrs. Penfield's lips worked. "It killed my husband," she replied slowly. "Not at once, but—he never got over it. He was devoted to his family. He hadn't been well. He ran down fast. We sold—traveled—everything. . . . It didn't help. In six months—"

"Oh, my dear!" repeated Mrs. Sanders pityingly. "That was when—"

Mrs. Penfield nodded. "It would have been easy—so easy to go, too. The hard thing was to stay—in an empty world. Nothing."

"I—I know how you felt. You—you cared."

"Cared?" Mrs. Penfield's tone shook the word to shreds and cast it aside. "Part of me died—when he did. I hadn't never been the same. I try—but I can't!" Her voice broke. She wheeled swiftly and went over to the window. Standing with her back to the room, she stared into the meshes of the muslin curtain, bending the casing with her closed hand. Those blows, the outlet of long-suppressed torture, pounded into the silence of the room with uncanny contrast, as of physical violence upon some sacred stillness.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are oftentimes symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Egg Coal—$10 Per Ton

We wish to call your attention to the difference in eggs. Some are good and some are bad, some small, some large; some fresh and some have been lying around too long. We frequently find dealers having stale eggs for sale, and they would call them strictly fresh. We were in the egg business for 30 years, and we never have found cheap eggs to be good.

The Same Is True with Egg Coal

DEALERS SHOW PROVES HIGHLY POPULAR EVENT

Overflow Audience Witnesses First Program of Carnival Given by the Twentieth Century Club

Through the progressiveness of the Twentieth Century club the merchants of Twin Falls scored another notable triumph Wednesday evening when the merchant and artist presented a play at the theatre before an audience that overflowed the seating capacity of the theatre. Standing room was crowded before the program of the evening was under way.

Surprises came so frequently during the program, which is to be repeated Thursday evening, that the interest of the audience was held continuously during the three hours required to present the show. Efficient and thorough preparation and planning of the event were in evidence, and were rewarded by the applause and expressions of praise as the various numbers were staged.

Forty local merchants in practically every line of merchandise were represented in the event which was presented in the form of a pageant, spiced with comedy.

Showing of comedy films opened the program at 7:15 o'clock. The first number to follow was a clever Dutch sketch by Mrs. B. E. Beverly, followed by a chorus composed of Mrs. N. J. Keefe, Miss Lucille Wolfe, Miss Edith Kelling, Mrs. Maguire and Mrs. F. T. Enloe. All were in costume and, with an attractive setting, they proved a most suitable opening for the remainder of the program.

A dance by Miss Leona Yonchem and a solo by Mrs. O. P. Davall, followed by a comedy character reading by Mrs. Herman Schurzer were well received.

Quon Introduced

Following the opening numbers the queen of the Twin Falls tract in the person of Mrs. C. B. Beverly was introduced to the audience from her throne at the rear center of the stage. Mrs. Don Henry and Mrs. S. C. Wyatt occupied the seats next to Mrs. Beverly. The skits were extremely attractive.

Howard Sabin, in costume acted as announcer and introduced the various numbers. Models, characters and figures were presented in a series of sketches before the ruler of the evening for her inspection. While the interpretations were universally novel and attractive several deserved special honors. A local market with a small boy pulling a wagon of meat products and a girl with a tray of tea was given much applause. Others especially notable represented a drug store, a grocery store, a bakery, a book store and the local jewelry dealers.

The fashion show concluded the program with models from various departments and millinery stores, and featured in women's wear presenting the latest creations in evening gowns, afternoon and street dresses, suits and wraps of all sorts. Demonstrations of capes received much admiration.

Dealers Listed

Dealers represented in the carnival in the order in which they were introduced were:

Rotarians Invited to Donate Books

Needs of Public Library Are Placed Before Club in Connection with Drive

The necessity of an increase in the number of volumes available to readers through the medium of the Twin Falls public library was called to the attention of the members of the local Rotary club at its regular Wednesday meeting by W. H. Eldridge in connection with the drive for donations of volumes scheduled for April 13-14.

According to Mr. Eldridge, the library now contains approximately 7000 books and the circulation in the course of a single month sometimes amounts to more than the total number of volumes. Last year the total circulation of the library amounted to 72,000 book loans compared to Pocatello where with a much larger population the total circulation for the year was only 50,000.

The club amounts to a request for donations of books from all who have these to spare. The only condition is that the book must be in reasonably good shape as to binding. No funds are available from any other source for the purchase of books and additional volumes are badly needed. The assistance of the club was assured in connection with the drive.

Upon motion by Judge Walters the congratulations of the club were ordered conveyed to the Kiwanis club of Twin Falls upon the enterprise of the latter in securing for this city the district convention of the Kiwanis club which will be held here next August. The Rotary club will extend its assistance towards the work of making the convention a success in every way. J. Wesley King of Salt Lake, who has the distinction of having the longest Rotary membership record in this entire section of the northwest, addressed the club at length on the precepts and practice of Rotary, urging renewed attention to the subject of boys' work. Roy Scott, development in particular, Mr. King's address was a feature of the program.

President Arthur Deane gave a detailed report of the district session held last week at Pocatello to which he, W. T. Selley, Captain C. H. Krongel and Charles Neesley were delegates. C. S. McMartin of Twin Falls was named in the program for an address, but through pressure of unforeseen business was unable to be present.

Crop Indications Appear Favorable

Farmers Find Fall Irrigation Gives Good Results, Canal Manager Reports

Although precipitation this year has been somewhat less than usual, the soil, particularly in the Buhl district, is in good condition for planting and growing crops. This is due to the fact that this season's crops are favorable, according to J. C. Wheelon, general manager of the Twin Falls Canal company. Mr. Wheelon has been making a tour throughout the surrounding district in the last few weeks on inspection and in connection with his office.

Farmers who irrigated last fall for general crops have had the advantage over those who did not irrigate. Mr. Wheelon stated. Vegetable growers, particularly those raising lettuce, have found it to be a mistake to have the moisture retained in the ground over the winter, and wheat irrigated in the fall will give better results, he said.

Several farmers have already asked for irrigation water for lettuce and a few requests are coming in at various times. The canal company will turn the water into the laterals for irrigation season about April 15.

According to the complaint the surety company put up bonds to protect the water in the laterals for the state of Idaho against the loss of the money. Other defendants named are H. M. Vanderpool, C. Peterson, Oscar Iverson and Dan Iverson. The sum of $750 as attorney's fee is also asked.
