The regular one-eighth royalty received by the bank will be applied to the creditors' claims.

SIGNALLING IN COURT CHARGED

Attorney Protests Against Alleged Attempt at House of David to Coach Witnesses

GRAND RAPIDS, March 26. (AP)—Charges in open court by counsel for the plaintiffs that an effort was being made by leaders of the Isernito House of David to coach defense witnesses in the $50,000 suit of John H. Hensell and Benjamin J. Purcell, head of the Boston Harbor cult, culminated this afternoon's session of the case before Federal Judge John E. Bator.

Following accusations by Attorney Walter M. Nelson, representing the Hensells, that a representative of the cult was signaling with a whip, the grand jury returned a verdict of guilty against the accused after expiration of the present case.

Would Call Spectators

The charges were made during the cross examination of Carl Turk of South Bend, a defense witness. Attorney Nelson charged Ada Ross, a girl from the Boston Harbor colony, sitting with attorneys for the defense, was signaling to the witness. The witness, the girl and the attorneys for Purcell denied the imputation. Nelson declared he could prove his assertions if permitted to call spectators as witnesses and the judge announced his willingness to institute contempt proceedings if "reasonable proof" was offered that coaching had been resorted to.

The charges of Attorney Nelson were the third similar accusations he had made during the day. Previously he had called attention of the court to the fact that Mrs. Amanda Keenan, another defense witness, had in her purse several slips of paper to which she referred occasionally. "The papers submitted to the court, her words."

Part of Cult's Code

No effort was made in open court to learn the meaning of the writing, but Esther Hansell, daughter-in-law of the plaintiffs and their chief witness, and also a sister of Mrs. Keenan, told newspaper men the sentences were part of a House of David code.

Married to Get Man

Mrs. Keenan testified she was married "because I wanted a man." She "picked" Walter Trotter, who, it was brought out, was twice her age. She was then about 15 years old.

Tucker testified he had witnessed improper conduct by Esther Hansell before her divorce from Horace Hansell.

FEDERAL COURT BALKS FREIGHT RATE INCREASE

Issues Permanent Restraining Order Against Boost in Tariffs Granted by Interstate Commerce Commission

WICHITA, Kansas, March 26. (AP)—An increase in freight rates, asked by the Kansas City, Abilene and Orient railroad and granted by the interstate commerce commission, has been permanently restrained by an order of the United States district court made last week in Denver and filed with the clerk of the federal court in Wichita, it became known here tonight.

The decision, reached in Denver March 19, with Judge Lewis of the eighth United States district court, providing, made permanent a restraining order recently issued concerning a decision on freight revenue by the Orient railroad and its connecting lines. The increase asked by the Orient to which the connecting lines objected, amounted to between five and 20 per cent, it was stated tonight, and would have brought approximately $500,000 more funds to the Orient annually, or practically enough to assure the Orient from going into debt for the fiscal year.

Denies Sufficiency of Evidence

Upon application for the increased rate by the Orient, the interstate commerce commission heard the petition and granted the rates asked.

The federal court decision, mailed from Denver and filed here, declared the interstate commerce commission did not have sufficient evidence to determine whether the division of through rates asked by the Orient was reasonable as applied to the connecting lines, which would have suffered proportionate decrease in their revenues.

WHEAT GROWERS PLAN OUTLINED

Suggestions for National Marketing Organization Put Before Association Heads

WICHITA, Kansas, March 26. (AP)—The final draft of a plan for a national wheat marketing organization was presented to executives of wheat growers' organizations of five states at their meeting here today. Presidents and members of the boards of directors of wheat growers' organizations in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska and Colorado composed a large part of the gathering, although 11 states were represented indirectly.

The proposed national organization would be known as the American Wheat Growers' Association, Inc. It would be composed of the various state organizations in wheat producing states. The object would be the marketing of the produce on non-profit basis, according to the plan outlined here today.

What would be disposed of under the best terms obtainable by this national organization under the marketing conditions. The state associations which participated in the pool would receive payment in proportion to the grade, variety and quantity of contributions to the national pool.

Other cereals would be included in the marketing plan, it was stated.

Communists in America Strike at Legion, Klan, Army and Navy, Testimony Shows ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES OF RADICALS IS INDICATED

Government Agent's Report, Produced in Evidence at Foster's Trial, Fixes the Time and Place of Recent Meeting and Quotes Statement of Present Aims of Party

DEFENSE WITNESS ADMITS BEING PRESENT AT REPORTED CONCLAVE

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 26. (AP)—The communist party of America was meeting and functioning as a party organization and discussing illegal activities as late as a week ago yesterday, according to evidence produced by the state today in the trial of William Z. Foster, charged with violating the criminal syndicalism law of Michigan.

Attacking the claim of Charles E. Ruthenberg, a defense witness and co-defendant with Foster, that the communist party had passed out of existence last January, merging its identity with the legal workers' party, the prosecution on cross examination, won an admission that Mr. Ruthenberg had attended a communist gathering in New York on Sunday, March 18.

Ruthenberg admitted that he and another member of the central executive committee of the workers' party was present and that the other member delivered a speech in German, which Ruthenberg translated.

The report of the unnamed government agent who attended the meeting said that the speech was followed by a general discussion in which Ruthenberg answered questions. "He stated as follows," the department of justice agent's report continued:

"The apparatus of the communist party of America will consist of a few central committees which will direct illegal work, such as sending men into the American Legion, the Ku Klux Klan, the army and navy and in case of an uprising this committee will take care of getting arms and distributing them, also to get people to distribute illegal literature and do the general work of the party."

Ruthenberg denied that the statement represented what he had actually said.

Efforts of the state to get Ruthenberg to admit that the communist party had issued orders forbidding its members to testify for the government in any court of law were unsuccessful. The witness said he had never heard of the policy and was here by direct order of the national executive committee to appear and tell all he knew about communism.

Would Stick Together

Communists, he admitted, would stick together and not testify against each other if it could be avoided.

Concluding his direct examination, the witness declared the communist international of Moscow had advised American communists to form a legal party and explained that the Moscow group attributed the illegal character to the country to prosecution of its members.

FIVE PERSONS DIE IN APARTMENT HOUSE FIRE

Spectacular Blaze in Building Produced by Drunken Man's Cigar

NEW YORK, March 26. (AP)—A spectacular fire which today swept the Princeton apartments on West Fifty-seventh street, occupied chiefly by members of the theatrical profession, caused the death of five persons.

The blaze, believed to have been started by a drunken man tossing a lighted cigar in the hallway, soon attacked the upper floors of the seven-story building. Frightened tenants scrambled out window sills. Several jumped.

There were many dramatic escapes and rescues. One of the most spectacular was that of Henry Zeligor, formerly a Texas cowboy, who came to New York to study art. After getting his wife and child to the street, he returned to the apartment house to get his things, he took from a bureau drawer a harlot he had used on the plane. Making this feat he lowered himself to the street.

EVIDENCES OF NEW SEVERITY SEEN IN RUHR

Increase in Numbers of Troops is Observed at Essen and Bochum; Latter Town is Described as "Dead City"

LONDON, March 26. (AP)—The correspondent of the Times at Dusseldorf, visiting Essen and Bochum today, says he noticed more troops in both places than on any previous visit, and that movements were in progress suggesting that the French were about to put into execution some special plan in that area.

The correspondent also observed "increased severity" on the part of the occupation authorities in Bochum, which town he described as like a dead city. Every shop was closed, no vehicles were moving and only a few frightened stragglers were on the streets. Neither the French nor the Germans were able to explain the greater severity, which apparently began Sunday and possibly was due to a change in command.

LABORITES VISIT RUHR

LONDON, March 26. (AP)—The British labor delegation which left here in the middle of the month to visit the Ruhr and other parts of Germany and investigate the situation, has finished its tour. The laborites visited the chief towns in the Ruhr, talked to workers and according to a dispatch to the Daily Express from Cologne, "were appalled at the militaristic nature of the occupation."

The dispatch says the laborites believe the intricate nature of the Ruhr railroads makes them unworkable to anybody not used to the system. The Ruhr is Bochum the worst place in the Ruhr.

CANCELS WOOL RATE HEARINGS

Continuance of Former Tariffs is Considered Effect of Commission's Decision

PORTLAND, Ore., March 26. (AP)—Hearings by the interstate commerce commission on wool rates from the Pacific coast to Boston and other Atlantic coast terminals scheduled for Portland, April 2, Boise, Idaho, April 5, and Salt Lake City, April 10, have been cancelled. It was announced here today. It is believed the effect of the order will be to continue former suspension of rates throughout this season, concluding which it is considered possible that general hearings on the subject will be held.

Cancellation of the hearing followed a postponement from March 10, when it had been planned to hold a hearing in Portland to continue former suspension of the rates published by the carriers to become effective February 10 last, when it was proposed to put into effect a rate of $2.70 on wool in sacks and $2.35 in bales from this territory. This was an increase by the railroads over former rates which they were ready to publish, but denial to them of "fourth section" relief by the commission left them no recourse save to call up an advance on the through tariff.

PANDOLFO SEEKS PARDON

Former Head of Pan-Motor Company Says Persons Alleged to Have Been Debauched Rally to His Support

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 26. (AP)—A number of Minnesota state officials today received communications from C. Pandolfo, former president of the Pan Motor company of St. Cloud, who was convicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud, asking them to file a petition for pardon. Pandolfo said he had been granted a pardon before April 3, the date of which his sentence to federal prison is scheduled to begin.

"The very people that the indictment alleged were defrauded or were intended to be defrauded," Pandolfo's letter said, "are rallying to my support and asking me to pay money to facilitate their interests and put in complete command and control those interests even in the face this conviction."

IT SERVE AS A GLUE TO MURDER

Investigators of Death of Dorothy Keenan Seek Clue Given Her by Wealthy Clubman

NEW YORK, March 26. (AP)—A $1000 liberty bond and a valuable jade bracelet, gifts of John Kearsley Mitchell, wealthy Philadelphia clubman, to Dorothy Keenan, slain model, set detectives on a new trail and offered a new clue to the slayer tonight. The band and bracelet as well as several hundred dollars in cash, were given the model by Mitchell on his visit to her apartment on March 14, but were missing when her body was found the next day, authorities said.

Detectives were concentrating their efforts in tracing the bond, which Miss Keenan was known to have had the night she was murdered. Her jewels, also valued at several thousand dollars, were taken by the slayer.

Details of a plot to "shank down" Mitchell for $50,000 as the price for silence concerning his relations with Miss Keenan, were revealed by Assistant District Attorney Pecora. Miss Keenan, he said, had been approached a few days before her murder and an attempt was made to enlist her aid in the conspiracy.

The plotter, who was said to have had confederates, sought to obtain the letters Mitchell had written to the model, Mrs. Pecora said.

The possibility was advanced that the model had demanded too large a share of "cash money."

Knew Little of Girl

Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Pecora continued, knew but little of Miss Keenan's mode of living, and did not know until her murder of Albert E. Guimaraes, the "man in the fur coat."

The Philadelphia clubman, Pecora said, had written but few letters to Miss Keenan and none of those was noticed in extensively searching terms. They were usually headed, he said, "Dear Dorothy" or "Dear Dottie."

Frederick E. Goldsmith, attorney for Guimaraes, today said Guimaraes had been in New York more on Miss Keenan than on Mitchell.

DEATH CLOSES LIFE AND WORK OF BERNHARDT

World-Famous Actress Whose Art was Known and Admired by Three Generations, Dies in Arms of Son

PARIS, March 26 (AP)—Sarah Bernhardt died peacefully in the arms of her son, Maurice, at one o'clock before 3 o'clock tonight. In life she had had an amazing power of emotion, of marvelous realism and pathos in her acting of death scenes. At the end of her days, she quietly drifted away into eternity, lifted after her long fight against death, which she did not wish, but never feared.

Hope for the life of the great actress had long since been abandoned, and half an hour before she passed away, those in attendance found her sinking beyond recovery though knowing her recuperative powers, it was thought she might live throughout the night.

Mme. Bernhardt died in a large room on the second floor of her home with windows wide open on the boulevard Periere, the noise of trucks and the railroad keeping up a low roar to which she was long accustomed. It was the sudden closing of these windows opened on the finest day of spring, that gave the signal to those waiting and watching without that Bernhardt was dead.

Clings to Life by Will Power. Death was due to a renewed attack of uraemic poisoning, which began Friday, but the actress astonished her physicians by her repeated rallies and her will to live, just as she did last December when hope had several times been abandoned. A priest was summoned hurriedly in the middle of the afternoon when symptoms of the gravest nature supervened, but Bernhardt rallied and regained lucidity. The priest administered extreme unction, which she acknowledged with faint movements of the hands and head, too weak to speak.

The actress' son, Maurice, aided by the family physician, Dr. Marek, arranged his mother's hair and clothing and repositioned her on the large bed on which she died, facing the windows. This room is filled with antique furniture chosen by the actress herself, with the walls covered with tapestries, except where hang many photographs of her own and great personages who were her friends.

Tribute Is World-Wide. Messages of sympathy came from all over the world, and from all parts of France. Friends journeyed to Paris so they might come personally to the house to make inquiries and leave expression of their affection. Carriages and automobiles filed past the entrance from morning until night, the willow weepers seemed to be watching with the group of six doctors, hoping for recovery, but regretfully realizing that a great career was ending.

Bernhardt's last stage role, in Sacha Guitry's play "Un Sujet de Rome," was never filled; she insisted she would appear, but the doctor and her family interfered to prevent her. Her last appearance was in the motion picture she made in her home, which remains unfinished.

Three years and one season on the stage did not fill her life; she found time to be poet, novelist, painter and sculptor, and never too busy to see her many friends and always seeking something more to do.

Takes Misfortune Bravely. The loss of her right leg at the beginning of the war caused her to limit her movements on the stage, but did not hinder her appearances. She took her misfortune bravely, played for the soldiers and used to the utmost her wonderful voice, which seemed never to tire; only of late years had it begun to lose something of its marvelous quality. Her inability to walk well and the increasing disabilities of age of late greatly restricted her stage roles and latterly she had appeared only seated.

Madam Sarah Bernhardt, who at 70 years of age seemed still a girl, was known to every land as "the world's greatest actress." What dissent there might have been to this estimate, and however far her detractors ventured in their attempts to minimize her right to that distinction, the numerous admirers of the first "vive Sarah!" remained convinced that never before had the stage produced an actress capable of soaring to such heights in the realm of emotional drama.

The work of Mme. Bernhardt was best where a theme afforded the greatest opportunity for a display of her powerful emotions. At the height of her career this form of acting, based principally on love, hate and jealousy, held the predominant place now dedicated to character delineations, and Bernhardt never was surpassed, her critics say, in this emotional school. Hundreds of parts she either rewrote or created to suit herself, seldom being content to act them as interpreted by others.

Three generations have praised and even worshipped the art of Bernhardt, and hundreds upon thousands of people around the world have thronged to see and marvel at her acting without understanding the French language, which she invariably employed upon the stage. Once in Rio de Janeiro, she was called before the curtain more than 200 times by a wildly enthusiastic audience, and many times, in other parts of the world, she was obliged to answer scores of curtain calls at a single performance.

SARAH BERNHARDT, world-famed actress, who died Monday evening at her home in Paris after long fight against death

Dramatic Life Story. The long life-story of Bernhardt is almost legendary. Closely woven with dramatic incident off as well as on the stage, it was set down by herself in a lengthy volume published many years ago and, as one of her critics has said, "through the pages of the book peers the face of a woman, a little tired weary of her own reputation, and blessed with more than her share of the vanities of the sex." As she and others have told the story, it is summed up here:

The date of her birth, the record of which was destroyed in the flames of the Commune in Paris, and commonly accepted as October 22, 1844. Her mother was Dutch and Jewish and her natural father a French official.

As a child Bernhardt spent much of her time with relatives in Paris, and at the age of 12 was sent to the Grand Champ Convent, Versailles, where she made her debut in a little miracle play given by the children. Even at this early age, the pale and sickly child is said to have displayed the fits of temper which were characteristic of her stage career.

After a year or two at the convent she conceived a passionate desire to become a nun. To this her mother recorded unqualified opposition, and suggested a theatrical career instead. "She's too thin to be an actress," said her god-father. "Let her be a nun."

But fate had determined otherwise, and at the age of 14 Bernhardt was sent to a conservatory. At the end of the first year she won second prize for tragedy. A subscription among the players at the Comedie Francaise enabled her to spend another year at the conservatory, and upon the completion of this she carried off second prize for comedy. Her first public appearance was at the Comedie Francaise in August, 1862. She took a minor part without any marked success.

Five years later she emerged from laboratory obscurity with her first definite success as Cordelia in a French translation of "King Lear" at the Odéon, then as Queen in Victor Hugo's "Ruy Blas," and above all as Zanzett in Francois Coppee's "Le Passant," which she played in 1860.

Serves as War Nurse. Then came the Franco-Prussian war. Bernhardt increased her popularity by becoming a war nurse. In 1871 she was made a life member of the Comedie Francaise. She clashed repeatedly with M. Perrin, the manager, over the roles she should take, and once in a fit of pique fled from the theater and decided to give up the stage. She plunged into sculpture. Her first piece, "After the Storm"—finished some years later—won a place in the Salon. She returned to M. Perrin only to break with him again, incurring a forfeit of 4,000 pounds, which she paid.

She invaded England, receiving a tremendous ovation, then toured Denmark and Russia. Next she came to America, where her success was instantaneous. She toured the United States and Canada eight times in some 35 years, and appeared several times in the larger cities of South America.

During the World War Bernhardt made several trips to the French front and gave a number of performances for the soldiers. This, she declared, was the "incomparable event" of her life. Many stories have been told of the fabulous sums accruing to the famous

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success. An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astounding statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—adv.

GIVES VIEW OF WASHINGTON ON RAIL GROUPING

Traffic Expert for State Commission Declares for Through Coast to Coast Lines with Outlets to Gulf

SEATTLE, March 26 (AP)—Any grouping of railroads into systems under the authority recently conferred on the interstate commerce commission should provide for through coast to coast lines which also should have outlets to the Gulf of Mexico, is the view of the Washington railroad commission as given by its traffic expert at a commerce commission hearing here today.

The expert, Owen C. Caldwell, was on the stand during much of today's session. He discussed at length the northern groupings under consideration by the commission, which would include the Northern Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago, Great Western and Minneapolis and St. Louis railroads in one group; and the Great Northern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Duluth and Iron Range, and Duluth, Missabe and Northern railroads in another.

Opposes Separation. It would be unwise to separate the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, the expert contended.

In case the commission permitted consolidation of the Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern, with or without eastern connections, Mr. Caldwell urged the consolidation of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul with the Union Pacific.

The state department of public works, he said, favors the creation of terminal companies at all important track centers to enable all industries to reach any and all railway lines.

MORE OF THE CONVERSATION THAT LEAD TO HIS MIND.

In an open statement signed by Mr. J. S. Keel in The News of Sunday, March 25th, Mr. Keel states a part of conversation between himself and me in W. Eldridge's store February 28, Editor Twin Falls News:

Mr. Keel's statement in The News of March 25 I believe to be as he perhaps remembers it. I do not know what he should relate our conversation in detail, but the important detail he evidently overlooked.

Mr. Keel told me that street number was that my committee had made a deal or agreement with Mr. Mills that they would endorse Mr. Roberts if Mr. Mills would not put forth a ticket. This I did not believe. Mr. Keel said: "I believe you, Mr. Lambing, but the committee is giving you the double-cross." I replied that I would oppose the committee if it proved true.

At this juncture Mr. Eldridge came into the store and said that Mr. Keel had just said Mr. Mills and Roberts had had a quarrel and were at odds. While this was being discussed Harry Bennett came in and said that Mr. Mills had told him the same story. After Mr. Harry Bennett left Mr. Eldridge said: "Jim (Keel), this whole muddle can be cleared by one paragraph in the newspapers," and Mr. Eldridge went to his desk and wrote the paragraph and handed it to Mr. Keel, with a request to put it in the evening paper that afternoon. Mr. Keel said: "All right, Bill," and folded the article and placed it in his left vest pocket. I do not know what that paragraph contained for I have never seen it in print.

At no time did I deny that the committee did not endorse Mr. Roberts as an independent candidate. What I do deny and still deny is that there was any deal, trade or intimation, implied or otherwise, with Mr. Mills, as the rumor circulated stated.

Mr. Keel quotes correctly in the last paragraph and I certainly do not wish to convey the idea that he sold I 100 per cent satisfaction after he had named an entire ticket.

Mr. Keel and I are friends and I feel certain that we are both honest and considerate of each other, with no desire to do the other injury by any intentional misstatements, and he may have thought our conversation too lengthy to quote in full.

Respectfully, W. M. LAMBLING.

The Pneumonia Month. March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long period of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and broods in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ-laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents it resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.

If excellence in Printing cost too greatly in excess of just ordinary Printing, probably there would not be a sufficient market for the better kind to warrant the extra effort involved.

But where the extra cost amounts to little or nothing, obviously, the better product will sell over the poorer product.

This is the big truth back of the fact that News Printing sells --it sells over and over again--probably it will continue to sell.

SHOE MEN TRIM AUTO BOWLERS

Foot Fitters Win Match in Extra Frame to Decide Tie and Gain Second Place

After taking the first two games from the Rendahl-Wright bowlers, the Shoe Market team, or rather Buchanan, Hulhan and company, tied the mechanics in the third game of the evening with 739 each. To decide the winner of the last game, each man threw one ball, the total pins for the five balls giving the shoe market 44 and the Rendahl-Wright team 43, thus putting the shoe men down three games in the last column, and putting the Shoe Market within one game of the league leading Troy laundry quintet.

The feature of the evening was the bowling of Walter Buchanan and Jimmie Hulhan. These two bowlers were the best game of the evening, both teams doing nice work throughout the contest. The foot-fitters were several pins behind during the first part of this game, but in the seventh and eighth frames they went on a "strike" and picked up enough pins to finally tie the score, 854 to 848. The foot-fitters were several pins behind during the first part of this game, but in the seventh and eighth frames they went on a "strike" and picked up enough pins to finally tie the score, 854 to 848.

Both teams skidded a bit in the second contest, each team rolling under the 800 mark. The shoe men rolled 791 for the shoe men and 743 for the "honkey-wrench" manipulators. Buchanan again topped the rest of the boys with 188.

In the third game Jimmie Hulhan rattled the timber for 187, which went for high.

GIVING THE AUTO MEN "FITS"

Will wonders never cease?

The first game was so close that even Mark Murtough refused to express an opinion.

Hulhan and Buchanan were the whole show for the people who make your feet laugh. These two lads were told that there was a chance for their team winning first prize if they were more games that the rest of the teams, and they proceeded to get busy.

Buchanan with 579 for the evening is the first bowler since the days of the Medes and Persians to bring some one to watch him bowl and then turn around and show them that he can bowl.

was solved. Self was throwing the ball too far to the right.

Jimmie Hulhan, lead off man for the core coverers, did a nice job of it, using 174 for his low mark of the evening. Some one told Jimmie that it was St. Patrick's day, he donned a green shirt and celebrated.

Asbury started out with 200 in the first game, and when told that the prize for the week was based on the most splits per game, he forgot all about the score and started out for the prize, which he won without the least bit of trouble. Six splits in this game set a new alley record for one game which will stand for a long time.

Art Hannak couldn't get started. First of all, the ball that he uses is in the hospital for repairs, and Art couldn't find another one that suited.

Bob Whitzel had two nice games in the first two starts but fell to 139 in the last. A couple of bad splits in that game forced Bob to lose his pep.

"Dug" Salmon, he of the hook ball, hooked enough pins during the evening to total 431. Dug dug but he didn't dig deep enough.

Leo McCracken was high man for the mechanics with 498. This is the second straight week that Leo has led his team mates.

Jake Yeohem had but little to say during the evening, as 139 was his high mark. Jake hit—right but they went down wrong.

Perceval Thompson fell down a trifle, dropping one point in his average. Percy knows just where to hit them, and yet he hasn't rolled 300 since the tournament started.

Tonight the Rogerson Cafe team will clash with the Alford & Mott team, and a hot time is looked for. Several records may be broken, according to Bob Logan, who knows all about records.

This afternoon at five o'clock the Sugar Factory team will try and teach the teachers of the high school a few of the fine points about bowling.

The lawyers and the Bank and Trust are also on the boards this afternoon for their playoff of that wonderful time of last week.

Bert Colwell who knows more about Missouri than the rest of them, "showed" the boys yesterday afternoon when he clinched off 225. This is Bert's first offense, so it is to be hoped that the fans don't kid him too much about it as he has promised never to let it happen again.

Twin Falls won the first telegraphic gun shoot of the season from Boise Sunday morning at the gun club grounds by the score of 139 to 136.

Shooting before the largest crowd that ever attended a shoot other than a tournament, and shooting under perfect weather conditions the local members did clever work considering the fact that several were out for the first time this season.

Everett Sweeley, member of both contesting clubs, shot the best string of the day turning in a score of 25 out of 25. His score counted for the head by virtue of his having made the score on the Twin Falls grounds.

Several of the old timers failed to bring in their regular scores which kept the total for the six best strings down to 139.

Six of the best strings of 25 shots may be used in telegraphic shoots, and Sunday Sweeley, Bailey, Coats, Patrick, Spreck and White were the ones chosen.

Blustery weather conditions held the Boise scores down and the shooters of that club promise better scores next week.

Sunday's shoot was the first so far with the capital city trap artists.

HITTING THE BULL'S EYE

The largest crowd that ever attended a weekly shoot was present.

Those on the side lines got the fever, and before it was over everybody that could hold a gun was mixed up in trying to break a few records as well as birds.

"Pop" Fisher put on a pair of goggles, and when he missed a target he ran down the field to see what kept it from breaking.

Let. Wright was another of the sharpshooters who missed several times. Wright chased one down the canyon, but missed after a hard sprint.

Doc Snook blazed forth in shooting regalia, and extracted 40 out of 60.

Everett Sweeley clipped off 91 out of 100, and called it a day. "Ev" belongs to Boise's Gun club as well as the local organization but his count went for the locals.

Sweeley popped them on the ear with marked regularity.

Everybody "barked" on John Maxwell, and he turned in a score of 28 out of 50.

Ernest White soaked up on them with his left hand and punished 42 out of 50. Keeping his dog out of fights seemed to unnerve Ernest a little.

Dick Bobler is another of the south-paw pluggers who slips them in the face.

Bill Bailey master of ceremonies, clipped off 40 out of 50. If Bill had hit five more he would have totalled 45.

Ray Read admitted at the start that he was out of practice and then proceeded to prove it. After a poor start he finished up with breaking 30 out of 45 of the badly things.

Dooley took several tests but found them all under the standard.

Coats of Jerome punished the birds right along, amassing 68 out of 75.

Clint Evans said that he didn't know anything about trap shooting and then kissed the first five. Clint is quite a kiddler.

Ray Wheelwright didn't seem to veer right as he only got 28 out of 50.

Next Sunday morning at 10 the second telegraphic shoot will be held.

JOHNSON WHIPS THOMPSON

Iowa Heavyweight Sends Boston Man Beating to Floor After 12 Seconds; Ends Fight in 20 Seconds

BOSTON, March 26 (AP)—Floyd Johnson of Iowa, knocked out Ray Thompson of New York, in 23 seconds here tonight. The Iowa heavyweight sent Thompson reeling to the floor with a punch to the jaw after 12 seconds of milling and the New Yorker stayed down until the count of eight. A blow to the right temple felled him for the last time.

Johnson entered the ring weighing 195 pounds and Thompson scaled 184 pounds. The two shook hands and Thompson left with a left for Johnson's face. The latter countered with a blow to Thompson's heart that sent the New Yorker back. Johnson shot a right to the jaw and Thompson went down in a heap. Twelve seconds only had elapsed. Eight was counted before Thompson arose. Shaky but willing, he closed in as if in an attempt to clinch. The Iowa's right hand crashed against his left temple and he sank to the floor—knocked out. A brief 20 seconds saw the end of the fight.

GIBBONS WINS BY KNOCKOUT

FRYBRIA, Ill. March 26, (AP)—Tommy Gibbons St. Paul light heavyweight, knocked out Andy Schneider, of Omaha, in the first round of their scheduled 10 round bout tonight. Gibbons dropped Schneider to one knee for a count of three, thirty seconds after the start of the fight with a stinging right to the face.

It adopted without a dissenting vote a joint memorial to congress urging the adoption of an amendment to Article XIV, which would make the article read that "no persons of white, negro, and American Indian parents, born in the United States, and subject to jurisdiction thereof, are residents of the United States and of the state wherein they reside." This would exclude Orientals by omission from the list. The memorial now goes to the senate.

CARRIES FIGHT TO WALL STREET

Head of Piggy Wiggly Corporation Announces Purpose to Sue for Conspiracy

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 26 (AP)—Clarence Saunders tonight announced that he will enter suit "against each of the brokers who was in, default," and "in addition thereto, I will sue the New York Stock Exchange for conspiracy" as a result of failure to deliver class "A" common stock of the Piggy Wiggly Stores, Inc., within the customary 24 hours after trades were made during the stormy trading in Piggy Wiggly on the stock exchange last Tuesday.

Mr. Saunders announced this as his next move in the controversy over the Piggy Wiggly trading which put the stock exchange in an uproar Tuesday and resulted in the elimination of that stock from the "big board" and a stock exchange order to extend until today the time for delivery of stock sold "short" on the exchange March 26.

For People to See

"I took delivery of the stock today, which was due on my call of the 26th, and which should have been delivered the next day, but in taking this delivery, I did so with the full understanding that I would hold responsible and liable not only the brokers who made delivery but also the New York Stock Exchange," Mr. Saunders said in a formal statement issued tonight. "I shall enter suit against each of the brokers who was in default in his delivery, and I also shall sue the New York Stock Exchange for the purpose of collecting the money due me and for the further purpose of the court record being made public property for the American people to see the tricky and unethical methods of Wall Street and the New York Stock Exchange, as practiced by them. And I don't intend to compromise this matter by settling secretly behind closed doors, merely for a money consideration as the New York Stock Exchange no doubt thinks I would love to do, as money is the second consideration in this fight of mine," which he said had come to "exposing and putting to public view the inside workings" of what he termed "the most notorious and outrageously domineering crowd" that "ever over-ruled a country of either slaves or free men."

Difference in Humanity.

In human relationships it has often been observed that there are a group of individuals who are invariably successful in their undertakings, pleasant to deal with, and stimulating to those with whom they come into contact. On the other hand, there is an equally large group who, with the same opportunities, are more or less failures, are unpleasant to deal with, and have a depressing effect upon others.—Irving J. Sunda.

YOUTH IS HELD PENDING PROBE IN GIRL'S DEATH

High School Student is Believed Involved in Fatal Shooting of the Estranged Wife of Another Man

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Beyer, 19 years old, said to be the wife of Randall Beyer, a student at the University of Minnesota, was shot and killed here today. Fillmore Holkkila, a high school student, was held pending the coroner's inquest. Holkkila is said by the authorities to have told them the shooting was accidental.

Mrs. Beyer has been estranged from her husband for several months and with her baby, made her home with her parents in Sault Ste Marie, Ontario. She was killed in a room here that had been occupied by Holkkila.

Officers said they found no evidence of a quarrel.

Randall Beyer is the son of R. R. Beyer, a city commissioner.

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP)—A copier's jury today returned a verdict that Fred W. Announcement was made today that the bank would be re-opened as a reorganized institution Wednesday.

BALLANTINE NAMED AIDE TO UNION PACIFIC PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The appointment of N. D. Ballantine, formerly general superintendent of transportation of the Union Pacific railway, as assistant to the president, was announced today by S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line railway. Mr. Ballantine was associated with Brigadier General W. W. Astorbury in the car service of the American expeditionary forces in France during the war.

GIRL FALLS TO DEATH.

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—A story which 16-year-old Miriam Wilson had started to write today for her high school magazine will never be completed. Miriam went up to the roof of the five-story apartment where she lived, seeking quiet to write her masterpiece. A few minutes into one of the tenants heard a crash, and investigating, found her body on the pavement of the roof.

It is believed the girl, who was subject to attacks of dizziness, swooned and fell to her death.

niford, a cult member. Francis Thorpe, secretary of the colony, denied knowledge of any immoral actions by members of the colony.

On cross examination tonight Thorpe testified that all of the property of the House of David was in the name of Parrish.

He declared Parrish and his wife, Mary, had never signed the roll of other members, being regarded as the spiritual heads of the cult.

He testified two sisters were employed in the colony school, which was attended by about 100 children. Thorpe could not remember that any member who had been expelled from the colony had been given written notice, or a trial.

PIGGY WIGGLY SHARES DELIVERIES COMPLETED

Stock Exchange Announces Transfer of 11,200 Shares and Closing of Interesting Incident

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—All deliveries of class "A" common, Piggy Wiggly Stores, Inc., under contracts executed on the last day the stock was on the "big board" of the New York Stock Exchange, were completed this afternoon, officers of the exchange announced tonight.

The total amount handled through the Stock Clearing association was 11,200 shares, including both long and short interests.

Exchange directors declared there was no basis for a statement by Clarence Saunders, president of the corporation, that there was a short interest of 25,000 shares.

Mr. Saunders has received all stock at prices he contracted to be paid for it and is in exactly the same position in all respects as though the stock had been delivered to him on March 23, the statement of exchange officials continues.

It is also asserted that suspension of trading in the stock on the "big board" was in strict accordance with the constitution of the exchange and "resulted in substantial justice to all parties."

LOOKED IN FACE OF DEATH

Anglo-Indian Merchant's Close Call at the Hands of Servant Who Sought Revenge.

Poisoning is the art in India. It is a favorite way to be revenged on a foe in a private quarrel. Sometimes a reptile is placed in a man's bed, or the more subtle method may be adopted of inserting poison in his belongings.

An Anglo-Indian merchant once had an adventure that nearly cost him his life. He had gotten along well with the natives, but two of his servants had had a quarrel over a girl. The merchant interfered in the affair. LaJ, the unsuccessful suitor, began to make trouble, and his rival, the husband, warned the merchant against him.

Nothing happened for some months. Then the merchant went away on business. On his return he was told that LaJ had been caught in his bedroom.

In the East this means trouble. The merchant called his servants and had a thorough search made of the house. They scrutinized every knob, handle and garment to see whether it had been smeared with poison or with juices that attract venomous creatures.

The merchant was tired, and after eating went to the cabinet where he kept his cigars. As he took up a box he noticed on it the marks of dirty fingers.

He was about to take a cigar when he noticed that something was wrong with the head. A second and a third were like the first. In each a small, almost imperceptible rose thorn had been inserted and on it was a dab of brown slime, still moist, the same color as the cigar.

The merchant notified the police. In half an hour an officer appeared with LaJ under guard. The merchant stated the case to the officer, and, taking one of the cigars, handed it to LaJ with the command, "Take it and smoke it."

The man refused. His guilt was proved.

THE MISSING ISLAND

Easter Island two thousand three hundred miles west of Chile, in the southern Pacific, is reported missing.
It is famous for the strange statues discovered in it a century ago—huge stone figures, standing upright in the earth, of an unknown type of men.

There has been much speculation about those statues. Who carved them, and for what purpose? Are they hundreds of years old, or tens of thousands? Nobody seems to know.
Some have fancied that they are relics of ancient Lemuria, the legendary continent supposed to have sunk from sight in the Pacific Ocean—as Atlantis did in the Atlantic. If the island is really gone, it is unfortunate. Such remarkable vestiges of prehistoric humanity should have been preserved.

There is hope, however, that Easter Island is still where it ought to be.
The news dispatch from Tahiti, telling how a French steamer failed to find it after the most painstaking quest, adds this cheerful remark: "It is pointed out by marine authorities that observations of French merchant skippers are not always accurate."

GERMAN HOSTAGES

The French commander of one of the Ruhr districts has announced that if any more French troops are assaulted or ambushed, the mayor of Euer and four other town officials, now held as hostages, will be shot in retaliation.

Julius Caesar was doing the same thing in Germany about two thousand years ago.

In ancient and medieval times it was the usual thing, when occupying a foreign country, to hold prominent enemies as security for the good behavior of their fellow-countrymen. In modern times, with the progress of enlightenment, the practice died out in civilized countries, because it was recognized as unjust to the hostages to punish them for the offenses of other people.

Germany revived this relic of barbarism in the recent war. Is it to become a fixture now, like so many of the other revivals or innovations with which Germany horrified the world, but which are losing their horror as they grow familiar?

HUMANS ARE HUMAN

An article in a humorous weekly points out the fact that the favorite sport of the year is joining the human race. Artists, statesmen, writers, successful professional men, captains of industry, even social workers and little children are being praised because they are "so human." No matter what dizzy heights of glory they have attained, it is discovered in instance after instance that one and all have something essentially "human" about them. If the fact continues it is likely to take in even the common laborer and the plain business man.

It really is rather funny, when one stops to consider the fact, this enthusiastic discovery of the existence of the human element in so many people. But there is a serious and a hopeful side.

Perhaps, by and by, when all the eligible parties have been taken into the fraternity, some bright member will discover that there's no one left outside, that "humanity" is a universal characteristic of man as distinguished from lower animals, plants, etc. Once this great truth is forced to the attention of mankind, constructive action ought to follow. With human humanness recognized and taken for granted, a lot of quibbling over faults and weaknesses may be thrown overboard along with a lot of false pride in good points and strength.

Then the gang can get together and work for the benefit of all."

ENCOURAGEMENT

(Successful Farming)
 A year and more ago there were two dominant colors in the atmosphere of every gathering of farmers, dark blue and red. Those who could keep their feet on the ground and their heads in the air were decidedly blue. Those who were fed up on radical propaganda and had no faith in the future were seeing red, decidedly red.

The blue observer can see that the red is getting more blue, and the dark blue is getting brighter. This feeling is shown in the faces of any group this year. Debts have not all been paid, not by a long way, but have farm prices reached a parity with labor wages and prices of other products, yet everybody is feeling better, unless it be those who are still sticking to their guns.

It has been a terrible ordeal, a nightmare in farm life, but it is not all in the red. Out of this experience has come to the nation a realization that agriculture is a basic industry and must never again suffer like this. To the farmers has come the necessity of organizing a national organization, and reaching out to the marketing end.
These benefits will live forever, while the losses of the past two years will be forgotten in the prosperity of the future.

"Um! On what grounds?" Mrs.
Penfield's voice was low and pleasant.
"On the grounds of being a nuisance."

She smiled. "It's your idea, then,
to put all human nuisances into reform schools?"

Mrs. Wopple glanced at her sharply, and a dull crept up under his millow skin—gratuitously, because Mrs.
Penfield's question had been wholly impersonal.

"That's my idea with young ones,"
he confirmed.

"With young ones? What would you do with the old ones?" Her lips curved in amusement.

"I don't matter," he retorted.
Always talking 'bout Lettie, ain't we?"

"We started with her," agreed Mrs.
Penfield, still smiling, "but your talking a distinction that way set me thinking. Sounds like the younger a feller is and the more he needs help, the more you'd be for branding him as bad as showing him out of somebody's home care. Way I look at it;

when you come right down to it—no more's there in individuals. The main difference in folks is in the amount they'll confess.

"Now, what all this comes to is:
Lettie's going to have her chance.
I've elected to give her breathing space and what help I can, and I'm trusting the Lord to right the human nature in her that's got a bit twisted.
But there's one thing you got to keep in mind; That is, there ain't nothing
I want to do to help that child grow into the fine woman she's capable of making. She ain't going to be favored, and she ain't going to be pettered; but she's going to have her chance."

Her right hand, resting on an old post between the yards, clenched suddenly all the knuckles pressed the blood from the skin; her fine eyes glowed with unusual fire; but her even color and the mild curve of her lips showed how superbly she had herself in control.

Mr. Wopple was paralyzed—not by the words, but by the fact that they had been spoken by this woman whom he had known for many months without suspecting the dynamic will power

when a new slide is inserted in the lantern. Her fingers uncured; her body relaxed; the fire in her eyes bleended into a warm glow; her lips curved back from her white teeth in a smile that was unexpectedly youthful.

"Guess you can see this is a serious matter with me, Mr. Wopple. And you're dead right thinking I ain't got any man to lean on. Uncle Jerry ain't round 'nough to be counted on steady, and as long's you'd noticed,
I thought that I need a man's help. I yourself maybe you'd be that man."

Mr. Wopple coughed. "Why—or of course—"

"That's the idea," she encouraged.
"You could do it so easy, you know,
living so near and knowing Lettie already—and everything. You could kind o' praise her when she's doing well, and make a little suggestion now and then that'd start her in the right direction."

Apparently Mr. Wopple's shoulders grew half an inch broader, and Lettie's eyes were shining. "You mean," she admitted, "and as long's you stand up for her through thick and thin, blamed if it don't make me mad. But now you've come down from your high horse, I don't mind helpin' out what I can."

"Oh, thank you," she acknowledged with feeling.

"S' all right," he disclaimed, with a magnanimous wave of his hand.
"We're neighbors. All is, I didn't quite understand what a hole you was in."

"But I knew you would," put in Mrs. Penfield gratefully. "If I could only explain it to you right, I can't tell you how much I appreciate it."

the main reason we older folks are hanging on to existence is to look for the next one and try to help 'em go ahead of anything we've done. I figger that's the only way to keep the world moving ahead.

Mr. Wopple's lips snapped like a turtlet's. "I can tell you one thing straight, Mrs. Penfield. If you want to show the world along, you can get right in and show 'em. I don't pretend to be one of these here new-fangled social workers that thinks children is the first consideration. I do my part, and I ain't goin' to do no more."

"How part?" queried Mrs. Penfield sweetly. "What is that?"
 "Why, I don't ask nothin' from nobody. I work hard, and I earn everything I get."

"Land!" laughed Mrs. Penfield.
"That ain't so much! Ain't any cow
in the country that don't do more.
Why, there wouldn't no cow have any respect for herself if she didn't march her own living; and so long's you're a human being and belong to society, you got to do more. You got to do your part toward that society.
That's what I'm asking you to do toward Lettie. You got a social responsibility toward her."

Mr. Wopple twitched his head impatiently. "Ain't no subject that's specially intrus'tin' to me, and—"
 "Wait a minute," suggested Mrs.
Penfield good-naturedly. "We been kind o' skimming the edges, but we're near the meat of the matter now. I've made Lettie give you an apology, although goodness knows I think she's as much entitled to receive one as to give it. But that's all right, 'cause the feller that apologizes is the one that gets the benefit. Now I'll tell you what I'm going to do."

Mr. Wopple's eyes shifted nervously.
He was like a little fussy dog that barks and threatens when he is the only one in sight, but subsides cringingly if a powerful dog chalenges. When it came to a contest of wills, Mr. Wopple could measure himself with remarkable but silent

SUPPORT GIVEN NEW PLANS FOR SELLING SPUDS

Officials of Proposed State-Wide Organization Claim Big Increase Can Be Gained in Market Price

Plans for increasing profits to potato growers by shipping through a co-operative project were outlined to a representative meeting of Twin Falls farmers at Parish hall Monday night by representatives of the newly organized Idaho Potato Growers' Marketing association, organized at Burley last September.

The meeting was called by Attorney O. C. Hall, who presided until the floor was turned over to Attorney G. Phillips of Burley, secretary of the association, and who was the principal speaker. Havens Lugh, president, Anthony Peterson and Jack Schulze, members of the board of directors, also spoke.

Association representatives expressed the wish that the vice-president and two directors of the association be elected from Twin Falls county. Matt Schmidt of Twin Falls was elected a member of the board of 15 directors. A county board of representatives is to be named at a later date. Several dignified their willingness to support the organization and five signed membership cards. Contracts were distributed for the inspection of the growers.

Explains Purpose The purpose of the organization, as outlined by Mr. Phillips, is to combine the efforts of the growers into one body for selling potatoes direct and without the use of middlemen.

The organization was started originally to realize for the growers the benefits made by dealers and consignment companies through unfair distributing methods, according to Mr. Phillips.

According to the speakers the farmers who are members have received prices ranging from slightly over 42 cents to 56 cents per hundredweight for their potatoes and orders are on hand to consume the entire remaining crop of Colorado 2000's. Mr. Phillips predicted that the growers around Burley will receive $1 for No. 1 potatoes and $1.50 for Russets through the means of the association before the season is over.

Establish Agencies The association, which has recently been incorporated and which has no capital stock, plans to dispose of its product through its own representatives in the principal marketing districts. During the seven months of its existence the organization has sold a large part of its potatoes at Chicago where a warehouse was obtained and sales made by an association agent.

Mr. Peterson stated that the organization is making an appeal to "dirty farmers" and that mutual benefits is the only aim. He stated the primary principal of the association is to gain for the farmers the profits made by consignment companies. He was preceded by Mr. Leigh, who traced the history of the association.

A meeting of the association is to be held at headquarters at Burley, where the chamber of commerce of that place has donated free office space about April 14 to complete the by-laws and to permit the growers to discuss the organization from various viewpoints.

ADOPT PLATFORM POLICY

Candidates for Election to City of Twin Falls Agree to Submit to Public; Hodgins Addresses Committee

The platform of Shad L. Hodgins, candidate for mayor, and W. T. Leslie and J. S. Keel, candidates for membership on the city commission, was adopted at a meeting of the candidates, volunteer campaign committee Monday night.

The platform is practically the same as the policy previously announced by Mr. Hodgins. Further plans concerning the campaign were discussed and Mr. Hodgins addressed a group of about 40 leaders who attended the meeting to outline the views and policies of the candidates.

Among other things, Mr. Hodgins routed certain rumors classifying him and the other two candidates on his ticket as being too liberal in their personal views.

Hot Lunches Prove Big Benefit at Lincoln School; Programs Are Interesting

The hot lunch committee of the Lincoln school with Mrs. O. H. Self as chairman, served hot lunches to 6750 children from December 4 until March 2, at a cost of $221.04. Of this number more than 750 were free lunches.

The menu consisted of mashed potatoes, brown gravy, apple sauce, graham toast, fruit, green peas, macaroni, noodles, vegetable soup, coleslaw, beef stew, with whole milk. One of the temporary school buildings has been equipped for a kitchen, and a woman was hired to do the cooking for which service $30 per month was paid. Four of the girls from the upper grade assisted in serving. Generous donations were received from the various country clubs, and from the merchants of Twin Falls. Programs for the Lincoln Parent-Teachers' association, made up by a central committee, consisting of one teacher and one parent from the school, are of much interest. The meetings are held every six weeks' period with a ten-minute children's program, followed by business and then one speaker. Those who have spoken this year are Miss Shottwell, supervisor of the school, and Mrs. J. C. Smith, subject of "Teacher's Point of View"; Mrs. Katharine Provost and Mrs. T. F. Warner on "Teaching Thrift," and Mrs. C. B. Scott on "Your School and Your School Board." The meetings have been well attended and at each meeting a silver tea was given to help the hot lunch fund.

Twin Falls Theatre Manager to Contribute to Public Library

The first copy of the story of the life of Wallace Reid received in Twin Falls is now in the possession of J. J. Scott on "Your School and Your School Board." The meetings have been well attended and at each meeting a silver tea was given to help the hot lunch fund.

Those who look for sensational disclosures in connection with the young man's unfortunate affliction will be disappointed. Broad leading up to the denouement are forefully pictured, but the details of the struggle as applied to the actor, are left largely to the imagination, a fact which goes far towards making the treatment of a work which might easily have been achieved successfully through a cheap appeal to the vicious.

JUDGMENT IS GIVEN IN SUIT ON SALE CONTRACT

Verdict Rendered in Favor of Wesley Foster in Case Involving Honey Contract with A. A. Warner

Verdict in favor of the plaintiff was returned late Monday afternoon by the jury in the civil case of Wesley Foster against A. A. Warner in district court. Mr. Foster was given judgment of about $500. The suit was brought on a contract for the sale of honey.

A jury was empaneled late in the afternoon to try the case of T. J. Lloyd against William H. Thomas on a note by agreement of both parties the jury was limited to eight members.

Alta Yelbar, arrested several weeks ago in front of the Lyman rooms on a charge of having liquor in possession, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Floyd Fowler waived his preliminary before Probate Judge O. P. Duvall and was held to answer to the district court at the next term.

CHILDREN HELP ON FARMS

Several Out of School to Assist in Annual Spring Work; Must Get Labor Permits from Principals

The beginning of spring work on the farms has resulted in an increase in the number of children kept out of school, according to John R. Ault, probation officer.

Such action is justified in many cases, but all reports of suspension of school work by farm boys and girls are investigated. Mr. Ault said. A few penalties have been returned. Parents must obtain labor permits from the principal of the school, their children attend school from the county superintendent before they can be kept at home to assist in farm work.

BURLEY PUBLISHER WILL HEAD STATE COMMISSION

Governor Moore Announces Appointment of S. D. Parke to be Idaho Commissioner of Public Investments

S. D. Parke of Burley, publisher of the Burley Bulletin, and a pioneer of the state, is making preparation to leave shortly for Boise where he will assume the position of commissioner of public investments by appointment of Governor Moore.

Mr. Parke is one of the best known residents of this part of the state. He came to Idaho from Salt Lake City with his parents in 1879, when less than a year old and was raised on an Idaho farm. He is a graduate of the state normal school at Albion and later was principal of the public schools there. He was principal of the city schools in Twin Falls from 1906 to 1909, leaving here for Burley in 1910 where he bought the Bulletin which, under his ownership, has developed into one of Idaho's best news weeklies. He was married to Miss Ida Cryder, daughter of H. A. Cryder of Twin Falls, in 1912.

In addition to his newspaper, Mr. Parke owns and operates two well developed farms near Burley. He was for eight years secretary and a director of the Burley irrigation district, and has been a most valuable exponent through the investment of funds for personal interests for a number of years past.

Mr. Parke expects to secure a manager to take charge of his interests at Burley during his term of service at Boise.

Kiwanis Club Voted to Hold Second Meeting to Promote Co-operation with Twin Falls Farmers

The Kiwanis club will hold its second farmers' meeting on April 9, as a result of a decision reached at the meeting Monday. Action looking toward the holding of the meeting resulted from the success of the farmers' meeting held some time ago.

The district trustees' meeting held last week at Penatello was described by C. E. Wright, who stated that considerable interest centers around the Utah-Idaho district meeting to be held here in August.
