HOTEL FIRE WIPES OUT $1,000,000

Falling Walls of Hot Springs Hostelry Kill One Fireman, Injure Two Others; All the Guests Make Escape

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 5 (AP)—One fireman was killed and two other firemen were seriously hurt when the walls of the Arlington hotel, noted hostelry, which was destroyed by fire late today, crumbled and fell upon them as they were working in the ruins with hose line. George Ford was the man killed.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 5 (AP)—The Arlington hotel, oldest hostelry in Hot Springs, and one of the most noted in the south, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin late today when about 300 guests escaped without injury, although dense smoke filled the structure.

The loss was estimated tonight at more than a million dollars with about half that sum covered by insurance. In addition, guests lost personal effects, including jewelry, money and clothing. Very little personal property was saved.

The escape of many guests and employees was facilitated by the mountain slope on which the hotel was built, the rear of the building making egress possible from each floor to the mountain side. The register of guests at the Arlington included Mrs. Don T. Robinson, wife of the United States senate minority leader, and William Pinkerton, head of the Pinkerton Detective agency.

Baffles Fire Fighters. The first was discovered in the basement of the hotel at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Efforts of the city fire department personnel were unavailing. Dense smoke interfered with the work of the fire fighters.

Fully 50 persons, unable to reach the rear, and blocked from stairs by the smoke-filled halls, were rescued by firemen who reached the hotel windows on hook and ladder equipment.

HEARST BUYS BALTIMORE PAPERS. BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—Announcement was made tonight to the effect that the Baltimore American and the Baltimore News, morning and evening publications, respectively, owned by Frank A. Munsey, of Evans York, have been purchased by William Randolph Hearst.

Baltimore is the fifteenth city in which Mr. Hearst has publications, the others being Atlanta, Fort Worth, Washington, New York, Rochester, Syracuse, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and Seattle.

KLAN'S FOUNDER FLAYS POLICIES

Emperor Simmons Says "Empire" Has Become Government by Blackmail

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5, (AP)—The "invisible empire" under the present administration of the Ku Klux Klan has become a government by blackmail, declared Emperor William J. Simmons here today. He said that he intended to see to it "the monies coming into the treasury of the organization shall no longer be diverted to the purpose of blacklisting klansmen."

About the same time as the emperor was making this statement, three to five thousand klansmen assembled in the lodge rooms of the Nathan Bedford Forrest klan number one, the first klan to be organized and proclaimed him imperial wizard of the order.

At the same time, that the influential mother klan swore allegiance to Simmons, it was announced that the klansmen, inner governing council of the order, had also swung into the emperor's forces.

It became known through the announcement of the mother klan that a rump convention had been secretly held here Monday night and that the majority of the members of the klans had voted support of Simmons.

Evans Likely to Fight

This, it appears, was done while Imp. H. W. W. W. Evans was engaged in a conference in New York, where plans were being laid to defeat the revolution from within, and it is believed to be certain that Evans will bitterly fight all efforts to put the action of the incomplete klans membership on official record.

Attorney J. V. Poole, representing Simmons, declared tonight that a quo warranto proceeding had been filed and that the action taken was perfectly legal. Simmons did not attend the meeting held tonight by the klan, but at first mention of his name a huge demonstration was staged. It was several minutes before order could be restored.

Washington's Oldest Cherry Tree Begins Seventy-Sixth Year

Spirs in the Multifarious Branches of Granddaddy of Northwest's Fruit Industry

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 5 (AP)—Washington's oldest living fruit tree, the "grand daddy" of the present fruit industry of the Pacific northwest, is getting ready to start on its fourth quarter century of activity.

The giant tree is the last survivor of 700 fruit trees brought across the plains in 1847 by Henderson W. Laulling, who located the first nursery at Milwaukie, Ore. In 1850 David H. Chambers purchased the tree, with three others, paying $5 for it, and carried it on horseback to Olympia.

In 1906 the aged tree is said to have borne 60 bushels of cherries. At that time it was 51 feet across the top and its trunk was three feet in diameter.

Conan Doyle Sides with Natives' View of Carnorvan Death

Titled Exponent of Spiritualism Says Ancient Priests May Have Placed Spiritual Element in Tomb of Pharaoh

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Did ancient spirits cause the death of Lord Carnorvan for disturbing the tomb of Tutankhamen?

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, exponent of spiritualism, asserted today that this was by no means an untenable theory—a theory which dispatches from Cairo assert is held by the native Egyptians.

Joining hands with Marie Corelli, the English novelist, Sir Arthur said that the priests of old Egypt knew much more of the occult than we, and that they might have placed a spiritual "element" in the tomb to strike down the man who disturbed the bones of their Pharaoh.

But Egyptologists and scientists read "insect bite" and nothing more. They scoffed openly at the idea of an avenging spirit remaining in a full 3000 years, and Sir Arthur himself was forced to admit that by now "old King"

RAILWAYS WILL SPEND BIG SUM FOR EQUIPMENT

Association Approves $1,540,000 Budget and Appeals for Co-operation in Meeting Traffic Burden

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The American Railway association today approved the expenditure by its members of $1,540,000,000 for equipment, the biggest aggregate railroad budget ever recorded, then issued a nation-wide appeal for cooperation in helping the roads through the heaviest transportation strain in history.

Being estimates on the unprecedented tonnage hauled in recent months, the association's experts forecast the smashing of all records in 1923 within at least 12 weeks when car loadings will exceed 1,000,000 a week and an estimated high mark of 1,080,000 cars predicted for the week of October 20, the height of the fall crop movement.

Speed Up Shop Work.

Realizing that, with existing facilities they were unprepared for such a year, the railroads contracted for $440,000,000 worth of new supplies in 1922, and $1,100,000,000 more for 1923. They also have speeded up shop repairs, reconstruction and maintenance of way departments to the point where they are beginning to fall to behind the transportation of railroad coal and supplies to the minimum and to have a high percentage of rolling stock available for their customers.

Public assistance to help early shipping and storing of all freights, including coal, or construction material, that might interfere with the movement of fall crops, was asked.

WEST END'S ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN NEIGHBORS

Members of the Rotary club of Twin Falls and their wives were guests Thursday evening of the Bull club at a social session and dance held in the Bull club hall. The Twin Falls club's minstrel troupe contributed to the pleasure of the occasion with a performance of about three-quarters of an hour's duration. Later hours of the evening were spent with dancing, and the Twin Falls delegation, making the trip in cars, returned after midnight.

Government Reports Give Additional Evidences of Nation-Wide Prosperity

Central and Western Parts of United States Making Rapid Strides Toward Recovery with Promise of Early Attainment of Better Conditions Than at Any Time Since War

TREASURY SECRETARY DECLARES EAST'S CONDITION SATISFACTORY

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Declarations were made in two official reports today that general business conditions throughout the east were nearly normal. The central and western parts of the United States were said at the same time to be making rapid strides toward recovery and the prediction was offered that those sections soon would be in better condition than at any time since the prosperity incident to the war.

Secretary Mellon asserted on returning from his first vacation since he became head of the treasury, that the industrial and financial situation in the east appeared "very satisfactory."

The federal reserve board declared in its official monthly bulletin, issued later in the day, that continued active business conditions in every section was shown by the maintenance of a high rate of industrial production.

The bulletin also called attention to the unusually low number of commercial failures reported in February, which, according to its figures, was the smallest since September, 1920. The total number of failures that report showed was 44 per cent less in February, 1923, and 5 per cent below the record reached in December, 1922, near the height of the deflationary process through which the country passed.

There was a marked decline in the number of failures in February as compared with January and incomplete reports for March indicate another reduction.

Discouts Speculative Dressed

Some concern has been expressed by government officials recently regarding marked tendencies towards inflation but these were discounted by the treasury secretary. He said that while there undoubtedly was some speculation, as is true always during periods of prosperity and expansion, it need not be considered dangerous.

Mr. Mellon's views on this phase of the situation were substantiated by the bulletin which reported little in-

SOCIALISTS IN SWEDEN OVERTHROWN

Brantling Ministry is Defeated by Parliament's Vote on Its Scheme to Distribute Doles to Unemployed

STOCKHOLM, April 5 (AP)—The government headed by Hjalmar Brantling, premier and foreign minister, was defeated in the upper chamber of parliament tonight by a vote of 70 against 60.

The vote was on a proposal of the government to distribute doles among the unemployed. The formal resignation of the cabinet will be tendered tomorrow, but Crown Prince Gustave, who is acting as regent, will suggest that M. Brantling, according to the terms of state until the king, who is at present in Kiev, returns home.

The debate over the doles question was unusually bitter and the vote reflecting the government's proposal is considered by many persons as the result of a general reaction against the socialists and an alliance of the other parties against them.

GOVERNMENT'S FOES IN RUMANIA ATTACK PALACE

Sanguinary Fighting Marks Political Turmoil Resulting from Agitation for Revision of Constitution

BUDAPEST, April 5 (AP)—Violent opposition to the government yesterday attacked the palace of Princess Serbyia in Bucharest and five persons were slain in a general fight which followed the attack. The palace, according to reports, the interior of the palace was damaged.

P. RIS, April 5 (AP)—A Havas dispatch from Bucharest says the day's situation in Rumania remains very critical and that throughout the country agitation continues for a revision of the new constitution.

A state of siege is being maintained by the government which is resorting to a great display of military force to prevent manifestations in several cities. Disturbances have occurred with loss of life. The dispatch adds that King Ferdinand has sanctioned the new constitution, but that it is reported that he has refused to take the oath again.

MINNESOTA BANS MASKING

ST. PAUL, April 5 (AP)—The Minnesota senate today passed the anti-masking bill without a dissenting vote. The bill, which its proponents said, is the execution of the anti-mask law passed by the house early in the session and now goes to the governor.

PEASANTS RISE AGAINST SOVIET

Protests Against Persecution of Church Dignitaries Bring Wholesale Executions

BERLIN, April 5 (AP)—Serious conflicts in the Ukraine between Bolshevik troops and peasants are reported in dispatches received here by way of Lemberg. The Bolsheviks are declared to have executed 340 peasants, apparently because of protests against the soviet possession of high church dignitaries. Anti-Jewish programs are also reported from the Ukraine.

POLES STRIKE AT JEWS

WARSAW, April 5 (AP)—(Jewish Telegraph Agency)—The excitement among the Polish population, due to the execution of the anti-mask law in Butkavitch, apparently is growing. Poles today attacked Jewish funerals and dispersed the mourners, and students belonging to the anti-Semitic organization, "Hoswoj," interrupted a number of Jewish passers.

The newspaper Dwa Groshy, in an editorial today, declared the murder of Monsignor Butkavitch was committed by "the red Jewish tyrants" in order to destroy the Christian faith.

FRANCE SEES DELAY TO RECOGNITION OF SOVIET

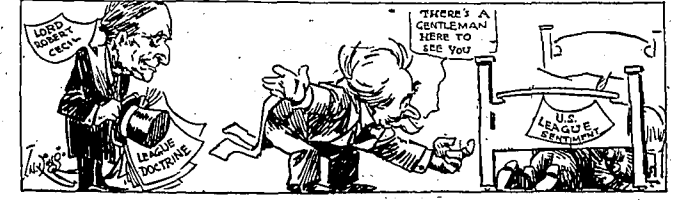

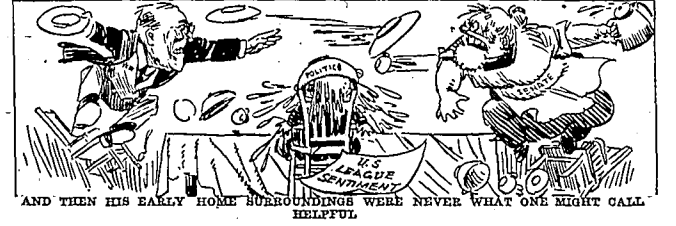

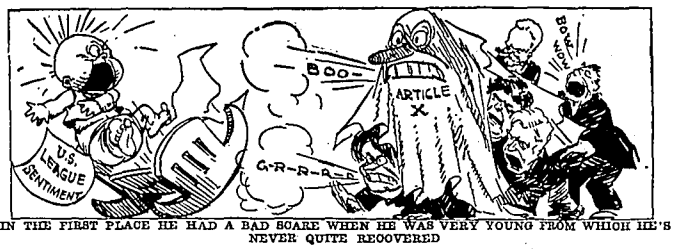

Nation Recalls from Slayings of Prelate; Would Lodge Protest but Lacks Diplomatic Channels

PARIS, April 5, (AP)—The execution of Monsignor Butkavitch in Moscow created a painful impression throughout France and has confirmed the feeling in representative circles that as long as the present policy of the soviet is continued, it can only serve to delay the time when the powers can think of extending recognition to the soviet regime.

The French government, it is stated, would have liked to add its voice to the chorus of protests from other nations seeking to prevent the execution but it is pointed out that France possesses no diplomatic channels by which it could have forwarded representations to Moscow.

DISAGREEMENT BRINGS END TO FOSTER TRIAL

Jury Fails to Reach Decision in Criminal Syndicalism Case and is Discharged After 31 Hours' Deliberations

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 5 (AP)—Hopefully doled out after 31 and a quarter hours, the jury trying William Z. Foster of Chicago, for alleged violation of the Michigan law against criminal syndicalism, was discharged by Judge Charles White at 5 o'clock this evening. The jury stood six to six during 28 ballots.

Five men and one woman voted for Foster's acquittal and six men for his conviction. Foster was the first to face trial of the 32 men and women arrested, as a result of the raid on the convention of the communist party at Chicago, held in the timely day country near here last August. Charles E. Ruthenberg, one of his defendants, will be placed on trial a week later in Detroit. The Berrien county circuit court room was almost deserted when Judge White called the jury in. Only Foster, his wife and attorneys were seated at the lawyer's table.

See No Crimo Committed.

After the court discharged the jury some of those who voted for acquittal explained the reason for the hopeless deadlock.

"We six were convinced from the start that the state had failed to make a case against Foster," Russell Dunn, a grocer's clerk, explained. "We did not feel that the evidence showed Foster had committed any crime in attending the convention and we so voted."

Foster accepted the jury's failure to agree as a victory. "It is remarkable," he told newspaper men, "that six people who were naturally prejudiced against revolutions and who voted against the things the state talked about here for days, could keep their conviction that a case had not been made and hold out for two days for their convictions."

Frank P. Walsh of New York and Washington, chief of counsel for Foster, and the defense's waiting trial, issued a statement tonight, congratulating the jurors and Judge White.

"Of course, we are somewhat disappointed," Mr. Walsh said. "We had expected an acquittal, for at the close of the testimony we were convinced beyond all question that the presence of Mr. Foster at the Bridgman convention was in no sense a violation of the law."

First Test of Law.

The case against Foster grew out of his attendance at the communist convention. The state maintained that he was there as a speaker and paid official of the communist party. The defense, however, asserted that Foster was not a member and went to the convention at its invitation to deliver a speech on industrial conditions.

The trial was the first test of the Michigan law against criminal syndicalism, passed during the war. The statute makes it a felony punishable by ten years imprisonment and up to $5000 fine to advocate sabotage, crime, terrorism or other means of force and violence as a method of accomplishing political or industrial reform.

The sole question before the jury, Judge White said, is this: Just as it was whether the communist party had advocated crime and whether Foster had voluntarily attended the convention, knowing that it did advocate such forbidden activities.

Other Well Known Radicals.

With the trial of Ruthenberg, set for this month, the question of trying the others alleged to have attended the communist convention remains in abeyance. The defendants include such well known radical leaders as Rose Pastor Stokes, Robert Minor, William F. Dunne, Earl Browder, Alex E. Goetzman, Max Lerner, Max Bedacht, Edgar Owens, Rebecca Sackarow, Ella Reeve Bloor, Gustavo Schulenberg and Jay Lovestone. In addition to the 32 who have been arrested or who surrendered, 43 who are alleged to have attended the convention have never been apprehended.

RAID MANHATTAN RESORTS

Federal Prohibition Agents Take 25 Prisoners Including One Woman, 12 Widely Scattered Operations

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Federal prohibition agents carried out a series of widely scattered raids in Manhattan today and took 25 prisoners, including one woman. The prisoners were charged with violation of the Volstead act and with being bartenders or proprietors of illicit liquor resorts.

Palmer Canfield, state prohibition director, directed the raids. Mr. Canfield said he would seek permission to make a tour of the Long Island and New Jersey coast in company with newspaper men to learn if there actually was a rum fleet in existence there.

WAR ROMANCE WRECKED.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (AP)—A romance of years' standing ended at the immigration station here today when Mademoiselle Adolphe Edouard, 22, of Auxerre, France, refused to marry her soldier lover, Louis G. Dean, of 21st St., N. Y., a captain in the 52nd engineers in France, and now a sergeant attached to the engineer corps at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

SEE RECORD ENTRY FOR HAY AND GRAIN SHOW

Experts and Chicago Grain Men in Conference, Complete Plans for International Farm Exhibitions

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Farm experts from 12 states and Canada meeting Chicago grain men tonight completed plans for the International Grain and Hay show for which the Chicago board of trade for the fifth time contributed $10,000 in cash prizes to go to farmers growing the best grain and forage crops.

Speakers at the conference and dinner given by the board, declared practically the entire agricultural world will take part in the show this year held with the International Livestock exposition and that the 1922 entry record of 4039 samples will be shattered. George B. Riddle, chairman of the board's grain and hay show committee, is touring the world, interesting foreign nations.

Twenty-two representatives of state farm colleges submitted reports.

I. W. W. TO TAKE STAND

Prosecution Nears Close of Its Case in Trial of 15 Men on Charge of Criminal Syndicalism

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—The prosecution failed to close its case today as expected in the trial of 15 alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World on charges of criminal syndicalism. Jack Diamond, an investigator in the district attorney's office and a former member of the I. W. W., was still on the witness stand when court adjourned. He is the state's last witness.

The defendants who are acting as their own counsel, are expected to commence the introduction of evidence in their behalf tomorrow.

OIL MEN BUY OSAGE LEASE.

PAWBUKSKA, Okla., April 5 (AP)—Leases on 148 tracts of Osage Indian lands were bought in by oil men at the twenty-first Osage lease sale here today for a total of $8,200,000. Ten tracts located in the Burbank pool sold for a total of $7,577,000.

YAKIMA ADOPTS PLAN TO BOOST SHEEP FEEDING

Commercial Club, State College and Wool Growers Corporation Unite Efforts to Increase Livestock on Farms

YAKIMA, Wash., April 5 (AP)—A plan for increasing the number of livestock on farms in Yakima valley was launched recently by the Yakima Commercial club, Washington State college and the Wool Growers' Service corporation.

Financed by the Wool Growers' Service corporation, the proposition is to place 50,000 freeter lambs on the farms in the valley in small units numbering from 50 to 5000, to be fitted for market this fall and next winter. The lambs are to be bought in quantity by the corporation and distributed among the farmers who will agree to fit them for market.

The corporation buys the lambs, turns them over to the farmer for feeding and charges him 5 per cent interest for the money advanced for the 6 or 8 months or less covering the operation. The corporation assembles the lambs, then ready for market, in trainloads and takes them to Chicago or the coast, charging a commission of 10 cents a head for this service, as well as 10 cents a head for buying. The farmer gets the net returns over and above these charges.

J. P. Sears, manager of the wool buyers, emphasized that the proposition offers the investor a safe and sure market for his surplus crops and would stabilize the market for his stable crops. At the present time he explained, a ewestorm on the Sound sends hay up $5 a ton and a return of warm weather sends it down $6 a ton. This would not be true if the farmers were engaged in feeding operations on the scale proposed, said he.

In making the proposition to buy the raw material and market the finished product, Mr. Sears said the corporation is offering a valuable service to the farmers who are producing themselves with a home market for their products and taking no risk.

GIRL CARRIES GERMS IN HAIR.

PASADENA, Cal., April 5 (AP)—Jewels valued at $15,000, half of which were concealed in her hair, were found today on the person of Ann Edmondson, 19-year-old wife of Harry E. Edmondson, of Lincoln, Neb., who was fatally shot as a daylight burglar during a running fight in a police here last Tuesday, it was announced today.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Luster to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—adv.

STRICKEN TOWN COUNT LOSS CAUSED BY STORM

Red Cross and Klan Contribute to Relief Fund for Tornado Victims at Alexandria and Pineville

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5 (AP)—Alexandria and Pineville today took stock of the damage caused by the tornado late Wednesday which swept this city and Pineville across the Red river from here, taking a toll of 13 lives and injuring more than 60 persons. Meantime a relief fund for the homeless was launched here and the authorities were advised that the Red Cross had forwarded from its depot in Memphis a supply of tents, cots and blankets for the destitute in the stricken areas.

Pineville and the section across the river were hit hardest, all of the dead and injured being found there. A check of the damage showed that 142 buildings in this county were destroyed. The relief fund launched today passed $12,000 within a few hours, one of the largest subscriptions being $1000 from the Alexandria Ku Klux Klan. Red Cross headquarters in Atlantic, in addition to ordering material sent here, telegraphed $500.

FRANCE READY TO SEND FLEET TO SCRAP HEAP

President of French Senate Naval Committee Offers to Suppress Entire Navy if Other Powers Will Do Likewise

PARIS, April 6.—The president of the naval committee of the French senate, Gustave de Kerqueuze, in a statement to the Associated Press today, advocated the summoning of a further naval armament conference which would have for its object the actual scrapping of the big navies of the world.

"I guarantee, in the name of the French parliament," he declared, "that France will suppress her entire fleet if the other powers will do likewise."

For six years preceding 1921 M. de Kerqueuze was a member of the chamber of deputies and served on the committee directing the naval budget. In his statement he said: "When I am coming to it another Washington treaty which makes an honest revision of naval armaments. What I would propose is a conference for scrapping the big navies. If the world does not look out it will destroy itself totally in a new war."

Traces War's Progress.

"People insist in ignoring the lessons drawn from the recent war, but it is not to be pointed out that the comparatively recent history of humanity the wars were between clans, then between countries, then nations and now they are between continents.

"And each day I am informed of more dreadful arms of warfare which will lead not only to the remaking of the national maps but the extinction of untold millions of combatants and civilians alike.

"Long before the Washington conference the French parliament had adopted a pacific attitude and a resolution that we saw our members in the Washington conference demanding capital ships."

France Faces East.

Defining France's general attitude, M. de Kerqueuze said:

"France has recovered her lost provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, so now she must keep guard on land with her face to the east and with free seas at her back. For commercial reasons her colonies and for this defense she does not require big ships. It is only nations with offensive plans who need capital ships."

This policy has been attacked by the English, who hitherto we want submarines to attack enemy commerce.

Lord Lee, first lord of the admiralty, has declared submarines are unable to cope with capital ships. The truth is that the sinister attacks launched against submarines at the Washington conference were in the purpose of giving dominion of the sea to one or two nations.

"The motto of the partisans of capital ships is: 'The sea shall be free for all.' For this motto substitute ours: 'The sea shall be free forever, for all.' It is very curious that the world speaks of 'imperialistic France.'"

Sees Britain in Error.

As to the Washington treaty itself, the senator said: "I was favorable to the treaty because in it I saw the possibility of limiting the arms race. The armaments, but the French doctrine was unfairly represented there (in Washington) by the demand for capital ships, the error coming from M. Briand's unfamiliarity with the subject."

M. de Kerqueuze set forth that France's need of submarines was an essential feature of her strategy. Only by the use of this type of war craft, he said, could she adequately protect her coasts and her communications.

"Today France is obliged to remain armed because of one of the greatest injustices in history, namely, the withdrawal of the guarantees given her in the Versailles treaty. The French people would ask nothing better than to lay down their arms and live happily and peacefully."

For International Fleet.

"Better still, if the allies will follow my proposal for an international fleet, of which the world's fleets and replace with an international one, we shall be the first to agree to let the United States furnish this international fleet of 10 ships, 10 from the United States and Italy six. Then the world will have peace and not war."

"If I spoke English I would go to the United States to outline to the people this road to liberty. Let me give warning that the peoples of the world are strongly set against any more wars. The governments and the bankers do not hear, but there are voices rumbling around the world demanding peace, and we to those who cannot or will not listen."

"Let us create, while there is time, a real league of nations. The present one is useless because it is unarmed. Arm a new one and it can command peace."

VETERAN SEA CAPTAIN COMPLETES LONG SERVICE RECORD

DOUKHOBORS HAPPY IN CANADA

With a record of 289 round voyages between Canada and Europe, or 578 Atlantic crossings during which he conveyed 247,923 passengers, Captain G. B. Evans, O. B. E., of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited, bows to time's advance and retires from active service, having reached the age limit. Capt. Evans is now making the last professional voyage of forty-eight years of sea service, taking the S. S. Metagama to Glasgow where he gives up his command. Born in Wales sixty-four years ago, Capt. Evans began his sea service when 18 years old, as an apprentice on the Brockton Line of Calcutta. From 1885 to 1894 he sailed the seas under the billowing canvases of wind-jammers, that life so romantically describes in fiction, but so often fraught with danger and distress in reality. From a sailing vessel he stepped into the berth of 3rd officer of a steamship and three years later won a temporary command on the S. S. Ontario. He soon received a permanent command, the S. S. Lake Winnipeg and later, the S. S. Lake Huron.

While commanding the last named, he had the unique experience of transferring 4,500 Doukhobors from the Black Sea district and fearful persecutions, direct to Canada where they found peace and plenty on its fertile prairie. From 1901 to 1906, Capt. Evans commanded four steamships. His war record dates from the outbreak of the close of hostilities. He carried both war materials and troops; the latter, including both A. E. F. and C. E. F. to the number of 70,000. In 1914 he assumed command of the Mississauga and continued in command until he was sunk in war service in 1915. He later commanded the Melita and Minnedosa, then after a Mediterranean cruise on the Empress of Scotland, received his last and present command, the Metagama.

Long service of both rail and boat staffs are a feature of the Canadian Pacific's regime and explain the loyalty of its employees which is evidenced in their pride of service.

DEFENSE RESTS ITS CASE IN HERRIN RIOTS TRIAL

Calls Nearly 100 Witnesses to Testify to Alibi for Six Defendants Charged with Taking Part in Massacre

MAHON, Ill., April 5.—The defense in the second Herring riots trial rested its case today after having called nearly a hundred witnesses to testify to alibi for the six defendants charged with the murder of Antonio Matkovich, one of the 22 non-union men slain during the outbreak. Final arguments were expected to begin tomorrow.

Before resting the defense directed all of its efforts toward establishing a complete alibi for Hugh Willis, state executive board member of the United Mine Workers and one of the defendants. Testimony also was introduced to show that Robert Tracy and Otis Lawrence, witnesses for the prosecution, were in jail at the time when they claimed they had seen the tragedy take place.

Tracy and Lawrence testified that they were working at the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company and described how the 48 workers and guards in the mine were marched out by an armed crowd after they had surrendered. They said they had escaped when the prisoners were lined up between a barbed wire fence and 11 of them shot down.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority. Because the acids created excite the kidneys, they become overworked, sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, including backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fast. This same salts is made from the acid of citric and lemon juice, combined with biblic, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to actively; also to neutralize acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone, makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

Too many people who need glasses put off getting them with the excuse that they can't afford them. Now, these people ought to have glasses or their eyes will get worse and since our mission in this world is to correct defective eyesight and remove eyestrain it doesn't seem right to look on and allow these conditions to exist.

can think of only two remedies for the above: One is to see that everyone has plenty of money so that they can't say "I can't afford it," and the other is to reduce the price of Optical Service to bring it within reach of all.

Would that we were in a position to bring the first remedy about, but we are sure, with the wonderful prospects that this tract has, it will not be long before prosperity will be with us again. But in the meantime we can—and will—for the balance of this month, make prices on optical work so low that there will be no excuse for anyone to neglect their eyes.

One word more before we quote prices—Please do not think that because the price is reduced that we will cut down the quality of our optical work, for the past three years we have worked real hard to establish a reputation for the highest class optical service in the city of Twin Falls, that we have accomplished it is evident by the hundreds of testimonials we have on file from satisfied patients, to which anyone who is interested, has access. We mean to keep up our hard earned reputation at all cost, and we make this sweeping guarantee that we give one year's care and guarantee of satisfaction, irrespective of price. And now with the above explanation we trust that you will take advantage of the following wonderful offers—

Kryptock Glasses

In all shell, gold filled, or rimless frames (these are the invisible one-piece bifocal glasses without seam or hump far and near in one lens) $17.50
Visible bifocals, any frame $12.50
Toric lenses, any correction to fit your eyes, in finest either rimless shell covered, or heavy gold filled frame. (spectacles or eye-glasses) $10.00
Reading glasses with large periscopic lenses, including case, etc.:
Alurim frame $8.50
Gold filled frame $7.50

This is not a gag or a stunt but an honest-to-goodness effort to bring the price down so that you will not put off having your eyes taken care of, but do it now!

Just as a courtesy if it is possible for you to make an appointment we will appreciate it—our phone number is 1255-J. Dr. Davis will personally examine every case.

LAVERING.

He thought that she worshipped the memory of her dead husband despite the fact that she was married to him. She thought that he failed to make love to her because he was tired of the bargain he had made, and, all the time, she was falling in love with him. And it might have had a disastrous ending but for the fact that he discovered he had made a deal without any regard for memory, was making love to his wife and that he had not started toward a happy solution of all their affairs.

That's a hurried statement of the big Vincent Lawrence New York success that is to be presented by E. Forrest Taylor and Miss Anne Berryman at the Laving Theater, Tuesday, April 10.

The Screen

HAD THRILLING JOB.

Gilbert Warrenton, screen camera man, who photographed Alice Brady's latest Paramount picture, "The Leap," which will give us the Idaho theater today, experienced thrills galore during the filming of that production. How would you like to stand in the path of a charging leopard and grind a camera until it was almost on top of you? Well, that was one of Warrenton's many perilous jobs, but he did his work well as the picture evidences. Edward Langford and Montagu Love have the principal male roles. Katharine Swinton built wrote the original story, which was adapted for use on the screen by J. Clarkson Miller. Henry Kuller directed.

THE DANGEROUS AGE.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

"Change" a "middle aged man's" and you will have the theme of the latest John M. Stahl production, "The Dangerous Age," a First National attraction now showing at the Orpheum theater.

How the middle aged man sought romance—and found it low he worried of it and returned to home and family, sadly disillusioned, make capital drama and you will find "The Dangerous Age," a picture that will urge your friends and neighbors to see.

Lewis S. Stone is cast as the seeker of romance.

NAMPA HUMBLER BLUE AND WHITE

Visitors Win Loosely Played Game From Twin Falls, 11 to 8, Opening Series

Nampa's baseball team won a loosely played game from the Twin Falls high school boys Thursday afternoon by the score of 11 to 8.

Laval Jarman, pitching ace of the blue and white, was given a beating during the six innings that he performed on the mound. As early as the first inning, it was plain to be seen that Jarman was doomed.

Woodie, Nampa's curve ball pitcher, checked a fair brand of ball outside of his wildness, no less than 11 men being passed by the visiting twirler.

Garry, who took Jarman's place after one man was out in the sixth, pitched great ball, striking out 6 men in the innings he worked, and showing wonderful control. Garry had a hook ball that completely baffled the hard hitting railroaders.

Nampa started the scoring in the opening inning, when Spriggs sent a long triple to the barn in left center. He scored a moment later on Smyth's infield hit.

Twin Falls came back in the second with two. Hammond took one of Woodie's slants in the ribs; Seleck wiffed the ozone, but John Nye came through with a timely three base hit to the left field fence. Nye scored when Ord muffed Jamison's high fly.

Twin Falls took two more in the third inning. Jerry Jarman waited for four wild ones. Muscell tripled to the center field fence scoring Jarman, and Muscell scored a moment later on Hammond's infield hit.

Nampa Finds Jarman Things looked rosy for the locals until the visitors found Jarman in the fourth frame. Jerry Jarman muffed up Burd's easy roller. Woodie doubled to the center field fence, sending Burd to third. Seleck booted Gray's roller, and all hands were safe with Burd over the rubber. Schwesinger went out Seleck to Hammond, Woodie scoring on the play, and Gray moving to third. Neither singled to left, scoring Gray. Ord doubled along the right field line, and sending Keith to third. Smith fanned, but Spriggs picked one Jarman's offerings for a triple to the barn scoring Keith and Ord. Spriggs was called out for cutting second, his hit counting for a single.

To put the game on ice, the visitors turned into Jarman again in the fifth, scoring three more. Smith struck to left but was forced at second on Burd's fielders choice to Jarman. Woodie singled to left. Gray sent the ball over the center field fence for a home run, scoring Burd and Woodie ahead of him. It was a healthy sweat and cleared the fence easily.

Not satisfied with the damage already done, the Nampa boys tore into Jarman for two runs in the sixth. Smith opened the inning by sending a hot shot to center. Spriggs sent a long drive to deep left which Jamison muffed, Smith scoring, and Spriggs going to third. Jarman was yanked at this stage, and Garry sent in. Smyth sent an easy one to Jerry Jarman, who fumbled long enough to let Spriggs score. Burd was an easy victim, Garry to Hammond, and Woodie, hit the breeze.

Garry pitched airtight from then on, not a visitor getting to first in the next three innings.

The Evans sent a run across when Woodie lost control in the seventh. Three walks and an infield hit did the work.

Darkness Intervenes

With darkness rapidly gathering over the diamond, the ninth Woodie again led the location of the plate, and walked three men in a row, and then Stan Cron sent a low double to left field sending in three runs. Woodie, who hit Jerry Jarman in the fifth, was too much for Coach Harrington, and Woodie went behind the bat, and Johnson went in the box. Muscell ended the agony by forcing Cron at third, Smith unassisted, and the third side of the eternal triangle was made of soap.

Although the game took three hours there was plenty of excitement and many clever plays. Jerry Jarman took a hot liner in the first off Burd's hit and doubled Smyth off first in big time.

Moroni Jamison made a beautiful catch of Smith's long drive in the first inning, and then came back with a show striking each of Woodie's line drive in the second.

Spriggs' hitting was an outstanding feature of Nampa's play, the left fielder making three out of five, his fourth being a long drive to left field that went as an error against Jamison. Gray at second base also played a nice game, accepting nine out of ten chances.

Ed Muscell catching his second game for the locals, gave a big league performance, having 12 put outs without a bobble. Muscell looked better than any member on the Twin Falls team yesterday.

These two teams will battle again this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Johnson and Woodie as the main attractions for Nampa, and Hodgkin and Muscell for the locals.

IDAHOANS LOSE TO KANSAS CITY

Weston Basketball Team Puts Up Nip and Tuck Fight Against Elimination

CHICAGO, April 5, (AP)—In a nip and tuck game that was twice tied in the second half the Kansas City high school entry in the national scholastic basketball tournament today eliminated Weston, champions of Idaho, by a score of 33 to 30. Schmidt, Kansas, left forward, won the game for his team when he made three baskets in a row within three minutes of the final whistle.

Kansas City led the Idaho team 15 to 12 at the half, having been able to give Schmidt chances for short tosses to baskets under the goal as they did in their game yesterday, owing to the close guarding of G. Gaffman.

Proffitt, Kansas right forward, scored four baskets and nine free throws out of 16 chances, three of his baskets being from very difficult angles. Merrill, Idaho right forward, scored four baskets and eight free throws out of nine chances while G. Gaffman proved strong on the defensive and scored three baskets for the losers.

In the last half the score was twice tied, 24 all and 26 all. The Kansas City team won the championship of Kansas.

Springville Is Eliminated New Trier high school of Chicago eliminated the Springville, Utah, quintet, defeating the western team 27 to 18. The Chicago team spurted near the close of the game after it had been tied at the half 16-all and again during the second half 15-all.

The forty teams which last Tuesday played the first round in the tournament tonight, had narrowed to eight high schools which tomorrow will go to the final round preceding the semi-finals.

Four games will be played tomorrow, on Saturday the semi-finals and finish will be run off. Rockford, Ill., and Charleston, S. C., were favorites with the fans tonight to fight the final battle.

The Charleston, S. C., team was the first team to come through today and it went into tomorrow's play by eliminating Walla Walla, Wash., by a score of 36 to 25 in a game that was marked by its speed.

Westport high of Kansas City, Mo., eliminated Bellevue, Ohio, 21 to 16, in one of the fastest contests of the day.

Muskogee Defeats Windsor Rockford, Ill., considered as an almost sure semi-finalist, eliminated the Scott high quintet of Toledo, 34 to 28.

The Chicago district championship was decided tonight when Tilton, Chicago city champions, defeated Marton of Cicero, Ill., suburban champions, 35 to 24.

The Muskogee Mich. team tonight defeated the Windsor, Colo., quintet, Rocky mountain champions, 29 to 25, in one of the greatest upsets of the tournament thus far.

MINNESOTA STOPS BOXING MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 5, (AP)—All boxing bouts are halted in the state of Minnesota until the state athletic commission revokes its rules against bouts between white men and negroes. BITTER STORMS CAUSE FAMINE IN NORTHLAND

New Foundland Government Bends Efforts Toward Relief of Suffering Population on Ice-Bound Coast.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 5, (AP)—Determined efforts are being made by the New Foundland government to send food supplies to starving settlements along the south coast, isolated many weeks by the ice fields that checked their efforts. The mail steamer Kyle, plying between this port and Sydney, N. S., today was taken off that route, and will leave tomorrow for the southern settlements laden with provisions.

Already six vessels have put out on similar errands of mercy, but all are held ice-bound in southern harbors, some of them having been unable to move for six weeks. The Kyle is last of a more powerful than the others, and more powerful than the others. Tales of terrible suffering in many south coast villages have filtered through to the New Foundland capital. The winter's early freezing in the herring fleet and thus leaving many fishermen without their usual means of winter sustenance. Later a series of bitter storm built thick rings of ice along the coast, shutting out supplies that would have relieved the suffering of the people.

Tut's spirit may be far enough along not to care a tuppence what happens to his bones.

A member of the department of Egyptology at the Metropolitan museum of art declared that if the threats of the Pharaohs were efficacious, all the scientists who had worked in the Valley of the Kings would have been dead years ago.

Mrs. Caroline Williams of the New York Historical society, former assistant curator of Egyptology at the Metropolitan, was among those who scouted the ancient superstition. Unlike the others, however, Mrs. Williams was interested in finding its origin and tracing its growth and in doing so effected some of the most interesting which have given rise to and strengthened the belief.

"One of these," said Mrs. Williams, "was found on a rock about 2500 B. C. and read: 'After any man who shall enter this tomb to usurp it, I will receive him like a wild bull and he shall be judged for it by the great God.'"

TRAIN PLUNGES FROM ITS RAILS

Passengers Escape With Minor Injuries in Minneapolis-Kansas City Train Wreck

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, April 5 (AP)—Chicago Great Western passenger train No. 3, enroute from Minneapolis to Kansas City, went into the ditch three miles west of here about 9:30 o'clock today. The train was made up of seven coaches and sleepers and first reports were that all the cars had left the track and that one coach was overturned. A relief train from Marshalltown with doctors and nurses was started for the scene of the accident. Communication was cut off. It was reported that the survivors are being cared for by delegates returning from Waterloo where the ladies auxiliaries of the Macabees had closed a state convention today.

First word from the scene of the wreck said that no one was killed, and that it was not believed anyone was seriously hurt. Three women who were in the overturned car arrived here by automobile ahead of the relief train. The suffered minor injuries. A broken rail or a broken truck was believed to have caused the accident, according to those at the scene of the wreck.

Later reports from the scene of the wreck said that no one was fatally injured, although a number were painfully cut or bruised.

TEACHING SPORTSMANSHIP

Scrooge doubtless would refuse to have his heart strings touched by any recollection that this is marble time. The rest of the world will not. As long as there is youth left in us we shall respond to the appearance of mystic diagrams on the warming earth and cries of "knuckle down."

A year ago a youth of 50 or so watched a crowd of boys playing marbles in the streets of Jersey City. Now marbles is a grand game; it makes for skill and judgment and it is capable of developing the same fine spirit of sportsmanship that characterize scholastic and collegiate competition.

The old Jersey City boy conceived the idea of realizing every possibility in marbles by organizing a competition to determine the city's premier player. His contest substituted for the winnings and losses of the ordinary game and the mild stigma of a game of chance the opportunity to win one of several prizes and the quite imposing honor of being Jersey City's best marble player.

National interest was aroused instantly. Presently contests were held in other municipalities. That is not strange since the spirit of such a contest is undiluted amateurism. It eclipses the old game of win if you can with the finer aspiration for a hand or a token of honor. It places the game above the winnings. So it spread astonishingly and the Jersey City competition is magnified now to include the country, culminating this spring in a national meet at Atlantic City to determine America's best marble player.

The man can truly say his soul is dead who would not himself wish to be a boy again for a day to compete for this honor, and who does not regret that in his day the same chance was not open to him. The national contest this spring gives every evidence of being the birth of something peculiarly fine and precious in the history of American sport.

THE MENACE OF THE ROAD

When the first railroad was built and trains were run at the therefore unheard-of speed of 10 miles an hour, folk stood aghast and declared it was an instrument of the devil.

Fortunately the number of persons still viewing the automobile from this angle is not as large as it once was. Fifteen years ago the man who owned a horse thought the automobile was an abomination conceived to make the roads hideous for horsemen. Now he owns an automobile and thinks horses should be barred from the road.

But the other day a member of the Pennsylvania state senate cast a long glance back toward the good old days of prosaic tranquility on the roads and introduced a bill to limit mechanically the speed of automobiles to 35 miles an hour. Ho! Hum.

He would stop on the gas only with progress in reverse.

Everybody knows—that is, everybody except the Pennsylvania senator—that a small car of popular make traveling at 35 miles an hour is a far more dangerous vehicle than a huge six, eight or twelve cylinder car traveling at 50 miles an hour, because the driver of the former does not have the control the driver of the latter has. Yet the Pennsylvania Solomonian would limit the speed of the $5,000 car to that of the $298 one.

Everybody knows also—that is, everybody except the aforesaid senator—that a good driver is far less of a menace on the road driving at 50 miles an hour, than a poor driver "jiggling" along at 10 miles an hour. Incompetent drivers, not speed, are the menace of the road.

CHAPTER XVI

Lettie the Inventor.
The young Penfield was in council with the Christians from whom full information as to the situation was obtained. It was no longer to be ignored. They had been earnestly watching for signs of mystery, but the testimony of all three was flat and without hope.

"It hasn't never had a Christmas," contributed Thud.
"It hasn't, neither," countered Lettie shortly. "I'm twice as old as you—nobody more. We hadn't none of us had a Christmas."

"Yes, I had one," admitted Crink, proud of the fact and yet regretful to detract from the record of woe. "I was with Penzie last year, and we had a pretty good time, but there wasn't no tree. Seems as if," he added, with a sidelong glance at Lettie, "seems as if now there's three of us, we'd oughter have a tree. It had the greatest faith in Lettie, having seen her put through more than one scheme that gave little promise of success."

And immediately she caught the inevitable connection between three children and the spreading branches of a fir. She shook her black curls violently. "We gotta," she declared.

"Yes, we gotta," echoed Crink, with strengthened tone. "We gotta," pleaded Thud joyously. "What's the big plan, children?" inquired Mrs. Penfield, coming in with a delicate basket freshly brewed, which she adjusted on a newspaper hanger tied to a line across the corner.

"Christmas!" exploded Lettie. "Oh! Mrs. Penfield, rested—her weight wearily on one foot and gave the children a lot of troubled reflection.

"We Want a Tree, and Presents, and—And Everything!"

"We want a tree and presents and—everything," explained Crink. "Oh, my dears!" The words were heavy with distress. Then Mrs. Penfield pulled herself together and became expansively optimistic. "I'll tell you what I thought. I'm planning that we'd have a fine day, and I'm going to make us a grand bread pudding. Uncle Jerry brought us a whole sack of staid bread last night; he got it to a bakery cheap, and I'm tickled to death. I'm going to try out a lot of it in the oven, and I'll keep for weeks. We'll have bread pudding and codfish sculp and—"

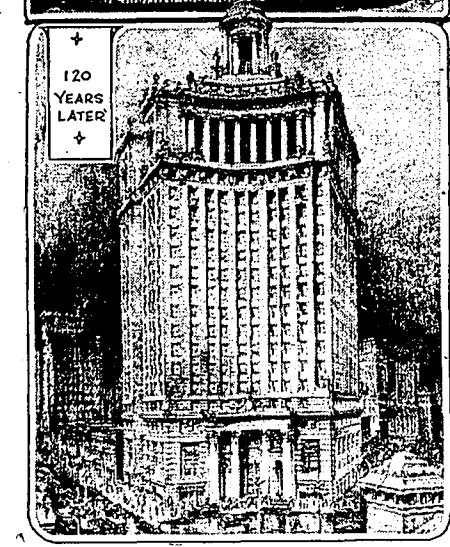

"It would make stuffing," put in Crink eagerly.

"In some families it would, Crink, but we don't have nothing to stuff—except ourselves. But 'bout Christmas—I thought we'd play games and tell stories and teach Filibuster a new trick and pop some corn. You see, we'd have an awful busy day, just chuck full of pleasure."

Thud scrambled to his feet and approached her with reiteration. "We want a tree, Penzie. All of us wants one."

"Bless your sweet heart!" Mrs. Penfield caught him into her arms and kissed him; then set him down, again. "Now, children, I'll tell you how 'bout a tree. This year we got a heap of things to buy. Ain't one of you got a decent shoe, and Crink's got to have a new suit, or he can't hold up his head in school. Yes, I know you'd go without, but you got to remember that Christmas is only one day, and life

SYMBOL OF NATION'S FORWARD STRIDE RISES ON SITE OF INDIAN MASSACRE

Where one hundred and twenty years ago stood the brave little stockade known as Fort Dearborn, nucleus of the present Chicago, today a modern twenty-story office building is nearing completion. The Garrison of Fort Dearborn was massacred in 1812. This site is now the American home of the London Guarantee & Accident Company. Much public interest centered in the design as civic organizations demanded that the historic site, an irregular plot of eleven acres, should be dignified by something more than a new building. It had to be of a beauty and permanence suggesting a monument. Finally the present plans, by Alfred S. Alschuler, were accepted, and the historians were satisfied with the placing of a memorial tablet over the entrance to the building. The monument idea was further strengthened by making it solely of Indiana Limestone, which has the peculiar quality of hardening under exposure to air.

In three hundred and sixty-five of 'em a year. Besides, we'll have the best time."

Crink took a turn. "I think, Penzie, we'd be lost rustle a tree. My dear, it ain't the tree; it's the things to go on it. And it takes a good while to save for extras."

With a spring, Lettie stepped up to the front line. "Get away, babies!" she commanded, with a scornful wave of her arm. "This is where we get down to business. Now, Penzie, darling, how much would it cost to get a tree and everything you know—the whole shooting match?"

Mrs. Penfield considered. "You mean a tree and trimmings and presents—"

"Yes, and presents for everybody in The Custard Cup," supplemented Lettie. "Everything well—a big party."

"Why, Lettie, if you was to do it on a big scale like that and have everything grand, it'd take—I'm afraid it'd take a dollar."

Gravely Lettie reflected upon this huge block of solid finance, as yet unnegotiated. "If it'll be a dollar," she stipulated slowly, "lowest-to-goodness earn it, will you show us how to have a big blow-out Christmas—lots of presents and fixings—and strings of things all over the trees—and candles—and a big party?"

"I'll do that very thing, Lettie," promised Mrs. Penfield. "But—"

"It's as good as done," shouted Lettie. "Oh, Penzie, I love you harder all the time." She flew at Mrs. Penfield, strangled her for a moment with a thoroughness that was fortunately brief, and dashed through the big door into the driveway, to "utilize her exuberance in the open air."

Crink followed. "Say, Lettie," he inquired anxiously, "how you going to do it?"

She turned on him disdainfully. "Landy patience, Crink, how do you 'pose I know?"
"Well," he returned, in deep disapproval, "you told her sure, just as if—"

"Golly, won't you never grow up, Crink? Don't you know you have to be sure of a thing first, and then you go ahead and do it afterward? I'm doing the sure part now, and pretty soon I'll think over the plans could begin. She could not allow herself more than three days. It was appalling. The window money had been raised by picking up wood, washing steps, running errands. The rewards had been in reverse ratio to the intensity of efforts and had ranged from one cent up to a dime per job. The latter had been the insurmountable limit.

It was painfully evident that these slow methods must be abandoned in favor of a gigantic financial plan. Lettie discouraged the society of Crink and Thud, and withdrew to her favorite vacant lot for purposes of meditation. Throwing herself down in the shade of a weeping willow, she proceeded to translate her outburst of assurance into plans for concrete whereabouts.

"By jingo!" she said to herself. "I gotta get that money in a lump. This ain't no dime-a-bank. It's a raco 'tween me and Christmas, and I'm going to get there first." Miss Penfield leaned over and pummeled the ground with her fist. "I'm gontal 'D you hear? You gontal!"

Having registered her determination both verbally and physically, she felt considerably relieved. Lifting her eyes, she shook off her tenseness and surveyed the world in a wholly receptive mood. A boy was whistling around the corner. He came in sight, distributing handbills. Lettie watched him climb steps, slip a dodger under the door, run down again, climb other steps.

Her gaze ceased to follow the boy, became fixed, dreamy. Her body was motionless. "By George!" she murmured. "I'm getting an idea. I can 'most see it."
It developed that this particular idea was not to be captured in the space of ten seconds, but Lettie stayed by her incredible patience. Finally the mental visioning was clarified. She sprang to her feet, wild with excitement and hope, and dashed off several blocks, to one of her hunting-grounds, the free edge of a lumber yard. Here she rummaged until she had collected a number of long, light pieces of wood, which she bound together with an old wire and dragged home.

The afternoon and all of the following day were spent by Lettie in the most secluded corner of the Penfield back yard, and no time in his watch was ever more unapproachable. Crink and Thud were left in no doubt regarding her desire for isolation. The beloved Ft. Dearborn was fended off with an active coldness that wounded his affectionate nature. Bonnie Gerstle thumped about the yard without exciting even the fleeting compassion of her mistress.

Mrs. Penfield, glancing from the window occasionally at the small figure busily working with hatchet and nails, sticks and old wire, was moved to pity over the disappointment which she feared was in store. It was evident that the child's whole being was set on success and that she was risking everything on one venture. And yet how could she make anything out of her little old scraps that anybody would buy? The tears gathered in Mrs. Penfield's eyes as she imagined the probable crumbling of Lettie's hopes.

Every little while there would be a splashing of steps through the yard, a flash of black curls through the door, a furious beating on the temper kong.

"Take that, will you!" Lettie would cry, addressing a spirit within herself, often addressed before. "Lordy, I'll be you. You make me—tired—all time trying to—get me! Now how do you feel?"

The temper kong had long since ceased to be a thing of wood. Lettie's imagination had endowed it with a fraction of her own nature, the undesirable freedom, and she scolded and threatened and toward it with a fury that was sharper because of the personification.

Mrs. Penfield traced the frequency of these demonstrations to undue exertion. "Lettie dear, don't work so hard," she remonstrated.

"Eenie, fanning, I gotta," replied Lettie firmly. "You ain't much time, and the old thing balks on me."

But in the middle of the second forenoon Lettie came into the house with impressive triumph. Her steps were measured, her head high.

"She waltz!" announced the child, with a brief nod toward the entrance where she was carrying. It was a long, slender stick with wires at one end, but Lettie gave no explanation of its purpose. Instead, she took it into the bedroom and hid it jealously behind her own sleeping box.

She scrubbed her face and hands to the full capacity of soap and water, brushed her black curls with conscientious vigor, and put on her better ginghams dress. For a moment she stared at her shabby shoes. Mrs. Penfield had bought them when Lettie first arrived, but they had necessarily been cheap ones, and the inevitable had happened.

"I don't care!" decided Lettie, with a toss of her head. "The upper part of me's as good as anybody's and I'll keep folks busy looking at that. Some day I'll have lots of shoes—lots of 'em."

Upheld by the redundant luxury of the future, Lettie set forth. Her objective had been in mind from the first. Part of the information which had been picked up in her open-air life was the system by which advertising material is distributed. She had known more than one boy who was employed by The Wideawake Advertising agency, and her present visit was to headquarters.

The office was an informal affair, a narrow room on the ground floor. The company consisted of one man and an office boy. It was the latter who stepped forward when Lettie entered. She hugged tight to the counter the way of concealing her shoes from the view of the critical, but her head was very high.

"Is the manager in?"
"The manager—was undeniably in, Lettie herself could see him, a stout man with heavy eyebrows, sitting at a desk behind the counter. But the young man was a person of evasion.

"What can I do for you?" he asked, with the least smile.
"You can let me see the manager," informed Lettie, coolly. "I got business with him."
"Have you?" drawled the young man. "Whod' I tell him?"
Lettie considered swiftly. This was a business matter. It was time for identity. One could not be too careful. "Tell him Miss Penfield," she replied, proudly.

Preventative Medicine

The tendency of medical science toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is fully to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifling sum.

KEEN INTEREST CENTERS ABOUT BIG RESERVOIR

Visitors from Distant Points Make Trip to American Falls to Inspect Site for Big Irrigation Dam

One of the outstanding events in the history of the American Falls irrigation district, considered from the standpoint of educational value and the interest shown occurred at American Falls Tuesday and Wednesday when approximately 100 persons, including district and government representatives, and other interested parties Idaho and as far away as Salt Lake, inspected the reservoir site and adjacent territory.

Large Attendance

Prominent persons were present from Pocatello, Salt Lake, Blackfoot, Idaho Falls, Twin Falls, Jerome, Kimberly, Buhl, and numerous others. The two days were spent principally in the nature of a get-together affair and the building of the reservoir, the moving of the town of American Falls and the district in general, and the manner in which it is to be operated furnished ample material for discussion.

The attendance included, besides the board of directors, prominent business men, government reclamation officials, newspaper men and several whose names are contained in the district. With the other visitors were surveying the reservoir site and discussing the project from various angles the board of directors, with Chairman R. E. Shepherd of Jerome presiding, spent most of the time during the two days in official sessions considering the government contract. Wednesday afternoon the board members spent some time in going over the site.

Will Meet Here

A special meeting will be held here Friday when the board will discuss the situation in the district. The district is located in the Springfield-Alberden district in the district. Several land-owners in that district whose lands were largely non-irrigated are petitioned to be segregated from the district hereafter. The meeting will be held in the afternoon. The manner of handling the right of way and possibly the amount of the bond issue are also to be discussed Friday.

Railroad Officials to Be Guests of Business Men

Chamber of Commerce Arrangements for Supper for Union Pacific Executive During Brief Stay Here

The special train bringing President Carl R. Gray and other Union Pacific officials to Twin Falls Friday evening will probably arrive here about 7:30 o'clock, according to telegram received Thursday evening from Mr. Gray in reply to a wire sent by the chamber of commerce.

Arrangements are to be made for an informal supper at which the railroad executives will be guests immediately after their arrival. Mr. Gray stated that he would be glad to attend. The time available during the visit of the officials in Twin Falls is very limited, however, according to telegraphic information, which states that it will be impossible for them to remain here over night.

Others in the party besides Mr. Gray are Judge Lovett, chairman of the board of directors; H. V. Platt, vice president of the Oregon Short Line; E. E. Calvin, vice president of the Union Pacific; and W. H. Armstrong, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line. The party is returning from San Francisco, where Judge Lovett participated in the consolidation hearing. The return trip is being made by way of the coast. President Gray expects to stop at his headquarters at Omaha, while Judge Lovett will go on to New York.

SETS HEARING DATE FOR INCREASE IN VALUATION

State Public Utilities Commission Will Hear Application of Power Company at Boise April 30

Notices have been received here by members of the Idaho Light and Power utility association that the hearing on valuation of the Idaho Power company relative to rates will be conducted before the state utilities commission at Boise on April 30.

The hearing concerns the application for an increase in valuation over the amount fixed in the order of the state utilities commission in December 1919, for rate making purposes. Local delegates to the meeting have not been announced.

Deaths

John E. Buchanan.

John E. Buchanan, age 63, died early Thursday morning at the county hospital here. He had been in the hospital for some time. The body was taken to the Grossman parlors and will be shipped Friday to Mr. Buchanan's former home at Lewistown, Kansas. Mr. Buchanan was well known to residents in this district and had lived here for about 15 years. He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Nelson Jarvis and Mrs. H. A. Giese; four sons, Owen, Walter and Henry Buchanan of Twin Falls, and Joseph Buchanan of Boise, and four brothers.

FUNERALS

Baby Hitting.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hitting will be held at the De Witt parlors, at 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon. The Rev. E. L. White will officiate.

Mrs. Charles Flowerdew.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Flowerdew will be held at the Grossman parlors Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. A. G. Pearson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

Mrs. Allen Benning.

The funeral of Mrs. Allen Benning, who died Wednesday, was conducted Thursday afternoon at Jerome by the Rev. E. L. White. The services were attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Mrs. Benning resided near Twin Falls about 15 years when she moved to the north side.

Visit of Union Pacific Executive Calls Forth Suggestion for Completing Gaps

That an extension of the Nevada Northern railroad from Ely to Pioche, a distance of approximately 100 miles, would create a rail route to the markets of southern California is among the suggestions in current circulation in connection with the visit of President Gray of the Union Pacific on Friday.

The distance from Rogerson to Cochrane is practically the same as from Rogerson to Wells, with the latter route having the advantage of the Central Pacific into San Francisco.
