The register indicates, however, that the British Isles, on April 1, was building 52.2 per cent of the world's tonnage with Germany 12 per cent, her nearest competitor, and the United States 6.1 per cent, occupying fifth place, instead of the sixth since the war broke out.

PRESIDENT NOT YET READY TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

President Harding to Forego His Contemplated Western Trip Rather Than Make It a Political Tour

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—President Harding took occasion today to let it be known emphatically that he regards the present political discussions as to his candidacy in 1924 as most premature and furthermore that he will forego his contemplated western trip rather than make it a political tour.

Mr. Harding, it was said at the White House, has insistently adhered to the proposition that the present is not the time to discuss a possible candidacy in 1924. It was asserted that Mr. Harding regarded it as unfortunate that a president should not for at least for the first three years of his administration proceed without having to divert a portion of his time and energy to political matters.

While House officials in making plain and also more emphatic the attitude of the president clearly were endeavoring to throw cold water on the political discussions which during the absence of the president from the capital have been growing.

Depends on Talk.

Upon the diminution of political talk depends whether the president will make the trip he is planning to the Pacific coast and Alaska during the summer. He was said to be making all plans for the trip, starting about June 23, and reaching Alaska about July 10, but he also was said to prefer remaining in Washington in connection with Laddie Roy to a trip which would put him before the people as a candidate for re-election.

The discussion of the proposed trip brought out that the chief executive, feeling that his visit to Panama prior to his inauguration had aided him greatly in dealing with matters relating to the canal zone, was extremely anxious to get first hand information as to conditions in Alaska.

The first half of Mr. Harding's administration, it was added, demonstrated the need of this information in the solution of problems involving conflicts of jurisdiction.

Invitations Natural.

With respect to the portion of the trip from Washington to the Pacific coast, the White House spokesman said it was only natural that the president should yield to invitations to make a number of addresses. Decision has not been reached on how many addresses will be made, or where the president will speak, although the general belief is that from 15 to 20 speeches are contemplated.

The president was said to be determined to make his address of a non-partisan nature and although the subjects have not been decided upon, it was asserted to be safe to assume that they would include some of the more important national problems, such as the railroad transportation question.

TURKEY REASONABLE.

Investigation of Ogden Tragedy Is Not Yet Concluded

Marriner A. and John Browning, Jr., Still in Jail Although No Charges Have as Yet Been Filed in Case

SALT LAKE, April 10 (AP)—Marriner A. Browning and John Browning, Jr., prominent Utah business men, were still being held in the city jail to night in connection with the killing of Benjamin F. Ballantyne, former bank teller, while the county attorney's office and police continued their probe of the circumstances surrounding the tragedy.

Ballantyne was slain in his home during a controversy with the Brownings, who had gone to the Ballantyne residence, according to the police, to take the slain man's wife to the home of her father, John M. Browning, noted gun inventor, at Ogden, Utah, following a disagreement with her husband, the police announced.

Marriner confessed that he shot Ballantyne in self-defense, according to the police. Ballantyne in a dying statement to officials last night, denied he attempted to kill either of the Brownings.

No Charges Filed.

No charge has been filed against either of the men. County Attorney Arthur E. Martin confessed to-night, and they are being held under a technical charge of investigation. The county attorney asserted that he would know definitely tomorrow the character of the charges, if any, that will be filed against them.

Authorities tonight had not determined whether an inquest over the body will be held.

William Ballantyne, brother of the slain man, informed the police today that the man who shot him before he died that he was not sure which of the Browning boys shot him, the police declared.

Salt Lake police officials today went to Ogden, to question Mrs. Ballantyne in connection with the affair, but the interview was postponed at the advice of a physician, who said she was too ill from shock to undergo questioning.

Police Find Gun.

A gun which, according to police, Marriner Browning declared Ballantyne attempted to kill him with, was found by the police on a library table in the room where the man was killed. It was placed there by W. H. Reeder, Ogden attorney, who was in the Ballantyne home when the shooting occurred. Mr. Reeder said today. He declared that he picked it up from the floor where, he said, Ballantyne dropped it when he was shot.

Reeder said he was in a hallway next to the room in which the shooting occurred, but did not witness the actual shooting.

James Ballantyne, the slain man's father, explained today that his son and daughter-in-law had always lived happily together and that he had never known of their having quarreled. He said that a number of weapons were kept by his son, as he was fond of hunting.

STORMY SCENES ATTEND VOTING

English Government May Resign as Result of Surprise Defeat on Technical Point

LONDON, April 10 (AP)—The government sustained a surprise in the house of commons tonight by a small majority, seven in a this house, on a mere technical point. This, in ordinary circumstances the government might ignore, but in view of the fact that once before during its brief life the ministry had a narrow escape at the house, in addition to several had reverses in bye-elections, it is impossible to say at the present time what attitude the members will take with regard to this defeat.

The debate on imperial trade had ended and a question arose concerning the salaries paid to former service men entering the civil service. The labor leaders were displeased at the government's stand on this question, and as a protest opposed the motion that the speaker leave the chair to enable a discussion of the estimates. This motion, usually carried as a matter of course, was, to everybody's surprise, defeated, 111 to 138. The figures were greeted with intense excitement and labor shouts of "Resign! Resign for the premier!"

Most of the ministers were absent. When the excitement subsided, J. Ramsay MacDonald, the labor leader, asked what the government proposed to do, and suggested that the proceedings "should be adjourned."

Excitement Runs High.

The members streamed into the lobby excitedly discussing the prospects of the resignation of the government. According to some liberal members an adverse vote on this particular question is unprecedented and must be fatal to the government. This opinion was expressed in the house by William M. Pringle on the motion to adjourn, he insisting that it was a vote of non-confidence and that the "crow of extinct volcanoes on the treasury bench must disappear."

The cabinet is sitting late tonight to discuss the situation. Even some of the supporters of the government admitted that a very awkward situation had been created by the defeat, but they declared it was largely due to a blunder on the part of the government, who told their men there would be no divisions.

The defeat of the government leaves a curious situation. By refusing to move the speaker from the chair to discuss the estimates, the house has practically refused supplies, and, according to parliamentary rules, a motion to move the speaker cannot be put again in the same session.

According to latest reports, the speaker, after consultation with the ministers, is prepared to accept another motion on Thursday, and thus the resignation of the government may be avoided.

Appt Expression.

In a recent story occurs the phrase: "The living room fairly leaped through the door to greet you." Living seems to be the correct word, in the circumstances.

MEXICO FINDS ABLE ADVOCATE IN COSTA RICA

Neighbor State Causes Stir at Pan-American Union Confer- ence by Proposal Touching on Recognition

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 10, (AP)—The Costa Rican delegation to the Pan-American conference Monday created a sensation in the political committee of the conference by proposing a plan for the reorganization of the Pan-American Union which would abolish as a condition of membership on the governing board a virtual requirement that a government must be recognized by the United States.

In place of the present rule, under which membership on the governing board is limited to diplomatic representatives accredited to Washington, Costa Rica proposes that the board be composed of representatives directly accredited to the Pan-American Union. According to Francisco Quiroz, the Costa Rican delegate, who submitted the plan, it is designed to obviate embarrassment such as that felt by Mexico with regard to purchasing in Pan-American conferences, or being represented on the governing board of the Pan-American Union by a diplomat of some other nation, as is provided in the present rule for these nations not diplomatically accredited to Washington.

As viewed by Senor Quiroz, a country situated like Mexico, which has no diplomatic relations with Washington could never be a member of the governing board and appoint whom pleases to represent it on the board.

Under the present rule, the chairmanship of the board is vested in the secretary of state of the United States. The plan was introduced at a private session of the committee and on motion of Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American Union, a discussion of it was postponed until a further meeting of the committee.

Causes Sensation

Neither Manuel Augusto Montez de Oca, of Argentina, chairman of the committee, nor the United States delegates were aware of the nature of the Costa Rican proposal prior to its introduction, which caused a big stir and was the subject of animated conversations among the delegates after the committee adjourned.

It was learned that the plan was "transcendental" that Dr. Rowe moved postponement of its consideration until a future date.

No report of the committee's proceedings was given out in the usual press bulletins. The newspaper men obtained their information of the proceedings from Senor Quiroz.

The committee adopted and will submit to the conference as a resolution a project of Dr. Rowe for enlarging the scope of the Pan-American Union and making it a more effective agency. The plan, however, retains all the fundamental features of organization under which the Pan-American Union is now functioning.

RUSSIAN WOMAN MAY NOT ENTER

State Department Withdraws
Permission to Lecture in America Granted to Kalanin

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—The American government again has made manifest its deep resentment and abhorrence at the political methods of Lenin and Trotsky.

As an avowed protest against the execution of the prelate, Butchkevitch, put to death because he opposed the revolutionary regime of the soviet, the state department has withdrawn the authorization under which Ekaterina Kalanin, wife of the Russian president, had planned to pay a visit to the United States.

In announcing their action today department officials left no doubt of their aversion to any further thought of admitting to American hospitality an emissary even indirectly connected with the soviet regime. They took the position that even the ostensible humanitarian purpose of her visit would not "counteract the feeling of repugnance against her because of the execution of the vicar general."

Many Protests Filed.

Even before the death sentence of the prelate was carried into effect many protests against the admission of the Russian president's wife had reached the state department, organizations who have opposed dissemination of soviet doctrines in this country protesting that allowing her to make political capital of her proposed trip over the country in the interest of Russian "liberty." Administration officials could find no legal basis for her entry into the country, however.

Since the execution, carried out in disregard of an earnest request from the United States for its cessation, protests have greatly increased in volume.

Mrs. Kalanin's tour of the United States was being organized last week, during which time she was to address various meetings under the auspices of the American committee for the relief of Russian children. It was the understanding here that she was preparing to start for America in the very near future.

CAFE BOWLERS SET NEW MARK

Rogerson Team Chalks Up 2640 Pins Total in Three Games Won from Wright's

Shattering all alley records for the present season, the Rogerson cafe quintet of bowlers took three straight from the Wright's store five last night in the last series of the evening. The first record to go to smithereens was the 624 rolled by Bill Towan of the cafe team in the three games. This gives him an average of 208 for the evening. Bill had 181 in the opener, 225 in the second and 211 in the final game. The previous record of 598 was held by Charley Larsen of the same team. The next record to hit the wall was the 504 pins total for three games. This is 77 pins better than the previous. Not satisfied with these two records the cafe men clipped off 908 in the second game which is also high game for the league. Getting back to what really happened: The cafe men started hostilities with 807 in the opener. Wright's store team quit at 758. Bill Towan had high game in this canto, as well as the rest of them. Stunned from the 867 rolled in the first game, the Wright's store men got up as far as 790 in the second. This against 908 gave them a poor second. The last game showed the cafe team still going with a total of 865 to 749 for the counter jammers.

Bill Towan moved his average for the season up to 178. Two more nights of play and the first season of the Twin Falls bowling league will be a thing of the past. Tonight the Troy Laundry team will step around with the Alford & Mott team, in the curtain raiser. The second series of the evening will be Rogerson Cafe vs. the Hendahl-Wright quintet. Should the Rogerson team win they won't lose, and that holds for the mechanics.

HAS EYE ON TWIN FALLS

Kimberly Baseball Fan Expresses Interest in Plans Here for Formation of League Word from a fan at Kimberly indicates desire to see baseball in Twin Falls and wants to see a twilight league as well as a Sunday team. Following is the letter. Sporting Editor Twin Falls News, Twin Falls, Idaho. Dear Sir: I have been watching your paper very close of late to see if Twin Falls was going to show any baseball spirit this year. Will have to admit that we of the "high temperature" in Kimberly have not received much kick out of it yet. What Kimberly would like to see (and I feel sure the other small towns are of the same opinion) is for Twin Falls to have a six-inch Twilight League, but not a lopsided league as you had last year ago. Think you should have a meeting and pro rate the players to each team so they would be well balanced and play close games. If you have a league of this kind it will be started by an all-excellent team match Sunday games with teams in this league, which would cut our expense to a minimum. We have found that long trips are not profitable for amateur ball tossers. If Twin Falls forms one team and picks the best players they are too fast for the towns close in that they would play. A team of this kind would be very well at the end of the season for a championship series or, if they had a foreign game during the season, but no one wants to spend his money to see a Twin Falls team mop up these small towns 15 or 20 to nothing. I would sooner see our team lose a close, exciting game than to have them win four or five of the lopsided, dull variety. The Kimberly team organized last night and will start practice on Sunday. There are 20 to 25 players coming out to try for the team. They should say, "they have got to cut out the monkeyshines and get down to business or go to the showers." A KIMBERLY SUBSCRIBER. BRENNAN TO QUIT RING

Chicago Heavyweight Who Has Served as Trial Horse for Championship Aspirants, Will Retire NEW YORK, April 10 (AP)—Bill Brennan of Chicago, heavyweight pugilist, long known as a trial horse for fighters aspiring to a bout with Champion Jack Dempsey, is through with the ring game, his lawyer, Joseph J. Jacobs, announced today. The announcement was made when Mr. Jacobs was being interviewed about a summons against the Mail and Express company, publishers of the New York Evening Mail, filed on behalf of Brennan. Mr. Jacobs said Brennan was suing the Evening Post for publication of an article charging he "laid down" in his recent bout with Luis Angel Firpo, of Argentine.

SENIORS SCORE AT TRACK MEET

Athletes of Graduating Class Pile Up 61 Points as Against 59 for Juniors

Winning first place in the relay race the seniors of the local high school won the annual interclass track meet held at Lincoln field Tuesday afternoon, with 61 points. The juniors made 59, and the soph 15. The freelies failed to score. The feature events of all sprints, the 100-yard dash, was won handily by David Alford, who again won from his senior competitor, Patch. Patch showed great possibilities last year, and seemed to be going his 1922 record to take firsts. "D" Alford, like the proverbial snail, kept right on going, winning with yards to spare. Day was third in this event also. Time, 10:01. Patz, however, came back strong in the 440, taking first, with Young second and Sommersville third. This race was a corker, with Young starting off as though he was going to run a 50-yard dash. Patz stayed close to him during the entire trip, making a neat spurt at the last turn, although both runners were all in when the tape had been reached. Time, 57:1. In the 100-yard high hurdles Johnson, a senior, took first, with Frank Powers a close second. Swain was third in this event. Time, 24:2. Alford made a beautiful start in the 220, and took an early lead, holding it to the end. Bies was second, with Weaver third. Time, 24:2. Frank Powers took the lead in the 220 low hurdles, but the lead was short-lived, as the speedy Alford once closed up the gap, and took a commanding lead at the first turn. Weaver came in third. Time, 29:1. The surprise of the day, as far as track events were concerned, was the victory of Witham in the mile event.

FILER TAKES ON KIMBERLY

Piler high school's baseball team will cross bats with the Kimberly team this afternoon on the Piler lot, starting at 3:30. Piler, through its victory over Jerome, feels confident that today's game will add another scalp to its list, but Kimberly has some good material this year, and the Piler lads may hit a snag before the game is over. On Friday the Piler team will journey to Hagerman for a nine inning clash with high school team of that town. (Additional Sports News on Page Five)

ODD MATERIAL FOR SCULPTOR

How Canova, One of the World's Great Masters, Started on the Road to Fame. Antonio Canova, famous Venetian sculptor, first attracted attention by modeling a lion in butter. When nine years old he was placed in the household of a nobleman. His grandfather, a stonecutter, had taught him the rudiments of carving. One day the nobleman was giving a state dinner. The chief ornament for the table failed to arrive. The host was in despair. The boy set to work on a huge piece of butter and when the nobleman beheld a model lion he was well pleased. The result was that Antonio was sent to take lessons in sculpture. For four years he worked at his art in a cell underneath a monastery. At last he produced a statue which sent the art critics wondering. The Venetian senate sent him to Rome to study when he was twenty-three years old. He hit upon a new and daring style and for a time every one in Rome admired it. He worked for 20 years in extreme poverty but at last his work came to be recognized as that of a master. ACCUSED MAN ASKS FOR TRIAL AFTER 8 YEARS

Former Cashier of Pueblo Financial Institution Willing to Return After Nearly a Decade Spent in Hiding

PHILADELPHIA, April 10 (AP)—Plauding not guilty to the charge of embezzling more than $322,000 from the Mercantile National bank of Pueblo, Colo., Conny C. Slaughter, former cashier and a fugitive since the closing of the bank in 1915, today told United States Commissioner Mullaney that he was ready and anxious to return to trial and prove his innocence. He declared that his acts as an officer of the bank had been unwisely, but not dishonest, and said that he did not understand how he could be charged with embezzling such a large sum, when only $80,000 was involved in the transaction that caused his flight. Slaughter was held in a $25,000 bond and was sent to Moyamensing prison to await the necessary legal papers for his removal to Colorado. He waived the right of positive proof to return to trial and he was tired of the suspense that he had been under for eight years, and wanted to go back and "face the music."

STUYVESANT FISH

when one of his lieutenants, James Theodore Harahan, went over to the Harrison side in the controversy over control of the Illinois Central and retained him as president of the road. There was a stormy moment at the directors' meeting in Chicago when Mr. Fish stepped out, declaring his rushing in between Fish and Harahan, alone prevented a fist fight.

Retained Old Interests

Although Mr. Fish retired as head of the Illinois Central, he was understood to have retained a heavy stock holding interest in the road. He served as a director of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, but in later years he chiefly was interested in banks, serving on several boards.

In the last year Mr. Fish became interested in the fight against prohibition. He was one of the leading spirits in the Association Against the Enforcement of the Prohibition amendment.

Mr. Fish was born in this city in June, 1854, just as his father was retiring from the governorship. He was educated at public schools and Columbia university. His first employment was in the New York offices of the Illinois Central.

Competition Threatened

In 1909 Mr. Fish, testifying in a suit to dissolve the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger, declared that the Harriman consolidation was a competition destroying organization.

As head of the Illinois Central, Mr. Fish had a reputation for being strict and strict discipline, but he was described by his friends and associates as a man with a kindly disposition.

Aside from his connection with the Illinois Central, Mr. Fish was engaged from time to time in large financial ventures. He was vice-president of the National Park bank until 1906.

WESTERN ROLLING STOCK MUST BE STARTED BACK

American Railway Association Insists Policy to Forestall Possible Car Shortage This Year

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—An order requiring all eastern railroads to return box cars of western roads to home lines without delay was issued today by the car service division of the American Railway Association after a conference attended by traffic and motive power officials of most of the principal eastern carriers. The arrangement is intended to forestall possible car shortage in the west during summer and fall months and is part of a general program agreed upon by the American Railway Association last week to prepare for heavy traffic during 1923. Roads operating east of Chicago and the Mississippi valley will be required under the order not to hold any box cars which they receive loaded from western lines for the purpose of taking on freight. The cars must not be moved, either loaded or empty, in any direction away from the western districts from which they came, and western cars now in the east must be started back to the lines of origin. The Illinois Central and Wabash systems are to be considered as western roads in the application of the ruling.

Republicans and Democrats of California Pledge $250,000 to Bring Party Conventions to San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10 (AP)—A joint meeting of prominent republicans and democrats of California here today pledged $250,000 for campaigns to bring the national conventions of both parties to this city next year, according to details of the meeting made public by County Supervisor Warren Shannon, who presided. William H. Crocker, San Francisco republican, anti-leader Dockwiler, Los Angeles, democratic national committeeman, were requested to urge on their respective committees the merits of San Francisco as a convention city. The committee is to draft a letter to all national committeemen asking that San Francisco be selected. This letter will be presented to the next meeting, set for Tuesday, April 17.

Foreign Derivative. The word booze has found its way into the dictionaries, although some of them mark it "colloquial." Its derivation is probably from the German word bausen, which means to drink, therefore booze might be regarded as a word adapted from a foreign language rather than as a slang word.

LIVABLE CITIES

Now is the time for towns and small cities to look to their zoning. A time will come in their development when zoning will mean the relaying of sewers, water mains, gas and electrical conduits...

Residential districts not menaced by encroaching factories or business blocks could maintain their own value and beauty if proper zoning were undertaken early in the town's career.

On January 1, 1922, only fifty-five municipalities had zoning regulations. There are now one hundred ten cities with some sort of zoning plan in effect.

FARM HANDS

The following ad appeared in a single issue of a Chicago daily newspaper: "Wanted: Family man to work on farm. Intelligence and willingness to work of more importance than experience..."

Forty-four replies from residents of Chicago and its suburbs were received by the Chamber of Commerce which had run the ad.

With a shortage of farm hands in the community referred to, the number of replies was most encouraging.

ONLY PART OF BONDS TO SELL

Securities Authorized by Irrigation District to be Disposed of as Cash is Needed

POCATELLO, April 10 (AP)—The fact that the directors of the American Falls reservoir district authorized a vote on an issue of $2,700,000 of bonds on May 15th does not mean that bonds will be actually sold, according to a statement by Guy Plesner, managing director of the Idaho Reclamation association...

"It was necessary legally to state in the contract with the U. S. government only the amount of storage actually signed up at this time and to harmonize the amount of bonds set up in the fall election with that total of storage."

Situation at American Falls

"It is planned to secure options on the balance of property at American Falls which will be submerged if the dam is built. As the big end of the cost is represented by the amount to be spent for the town property, for removal of the building and the railroad tracks, acquisition of power rights and of the 50,000 acres of land for reservoir site, or floor, it is necessary to secure the same at the lowest possible figure which will not advance the total cost."

First "Trust" in United States

The Custard Cup advertisement featuring an illustration of a woman and a child, and the text "The Custard Cup" and "Florence Bingham Livingston".

It was a wonderful evening. The three young Penfields went through it as in a happy dream. They could no more believe in its reality than the caged bird can believe in sudden freedom.

As for Lettie, she was not the same child she had struggled into Mrs. Penfield's kitchen three months before, undernourished, blindly resentful against the harshness of an unthinking world...

And then the presents! For every child: a pictorial eggshell, a picture puzzle, a net bag of popcorn and candy; for every adult, an appropriate gift and very, and a picture puzzle!

touch. A long-drawn "Oh-h-h!" expressed the complete gratification of all the Penfields. From that time on, fairyland was an open book. That's blue eyes were unobscured wide, and he tipped about in an awed and silent ecstasy.

As for Lettie, she was not the same child she had struggled into Mrs. Penfield's kitchen three months before, undernourished, blindly resentful against the harshness of an unthinking world, ready to fight anything and anyone to keep her starved soul in her starved body—a creature forced by the indifference of society into reverent elemental tactics, to primitive pungency.

"Tonight Lettie was radiant. She might later know joy that would be broader and deeper, but it could never more fully inundate her capacity. Her thin cheeks were beginning to take on the curve of youth; her black curls were neater and glossier; and she was wearing the new serge dress presented by Mrs. Sanders.

"We'll have to play sit-down games," decided Crink, surveying the tight rows of chairs which he had borrowed for the occasion.

"Yes, Crink," laughed Mrs. Penfield, "but you can see how lucky it is that this was a barn. If it hadn't been built big enough for horses, we couldn't never have this grand party."

Even so, the only thing that made the space sufficient was previous engagements on the part of several tenants. In consequence, there were only thirty-five who gathered and squeezed happily into the borrowed chairs; but they all brought their most dithering exclamations and used them freely.

All this time the tree stood waiting, but its return came at last. Impressively Dr. Drake read off the names; with prodigal flourish the little Penfields made distribution. Surprise was unparalleled. Exclamations were doubled, trebled.

And even this was not the end. Rather it was the prelude. Because immediately thereafter, refreshments were served. They were Crink's contribution and his pride in this scene of hospitality was well-nigh suffocating. A few days before Mr. Drake had given him a large tin box of cakes which a wholesale delivery boy had dropped on the floor. The cakes, as asserted to begin with, had been further and unsaleably assorted by the fall; but there were a few whole ones, and these had been skillfully arranged as top layers on the plates which were now passed. Mr. Drake's Christmas to Crink had been a small package each of sugar and raisins and a dozen oranges. Crink, in an embarrassment which had all but choked him, had asked if he might have lemons instead of the oranges. The exchange had been made, and the one dozen had become two, a marvelous piece of fortune, because everybody knows that one lemon is equal to two oranges any day when it comes to favoring a given amount of water.

It was a long time after the paper plates and cups had been gathered up before the party dispersed and left the Penfields to happy memories. Not alone memories, either! The tree was still there, and Christmas day was yet to come.

"My laddy goodness!" cried Lettie. "I don't never want to see anything sweeter than that party was. It sure hit the stars for class."

"I guess we're pretty rich," piped Tina, shining a finger of fire to determine exactly how sticky it was. "We sure got rich feelings," agreed Mrs. Penfield. "And that's as much as millions of money can put inside you."

"Yes, I s'pose so," corroborated Lettie, politely but with evident reservations. "Say, Penzie, wouldn't Mr. Wopple beat you stick? He visited me a Merry Christmas."

Mrs. Penfield laughed. "Lend, Lettie, what do you think folks are—hard-and-fast little sticks of wood? They mostly ain't nothing 't all except what you think they are. Chances are, if you think a fellow is more, you're just confessing the way you acted to him first."

"My patience!" sighed Lettie. "Life is awful hard to get used to." "Well, by George!" broke in Crink. "I'm glad this here Christmas ain't over yet. There's still them roast ducks to be or tomorrow."
