INDUSTRIES ON CREST OF PROSPERITY

Employment Record for Month Proves "Robust Condition"; Building Trades Show the Greatest Boom

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—An analysis of the industrial employment situation for the month made public today by the department of labor, indicates a "healthy and robust condition," marked by the prospect of a steady decrease in unemployment in every section of the country.

The iron and steel industry is exceptionally bright and in some of the large regions, shortages are reported with an increasing demand evident. Industries manufacturing vehicles for land transportation by a large increase in their output during March, materially decreased the number of these mechanics who were unemployed in February, the report stated.

Farm Labor in Demand.

One of the outstanding features of the employment situation in March, the department said, was the increased and widespread demand for competent farm labor resulting from the resumption of agricultural activities. In some sections the supply was short and from present indications the shortage may reach serious proportions, particularly in the far west.

Spring thawing and breaking up of winter has resulted in the resumption of road building with the employment of nearly all the common labor available. A shortage of this class of labor for some states as the spring advanced was predicted.

In a survey of 65 industrial centers, the bureau reported a decrease in unemployment over the previous month. The centers included: San Francisco, Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Los Angeles, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; Denver, Colo.; St. Paul and Omaha, Neb.; and Chicago, Ill. Unemployment in March as compared with February.

Raiders in Everglades Balk Efforts to Carry Provisions to Marooned Voyagers by Airplane

MIAMI, Fla., April 12 (AP)—Balked by new raider attacks in the Everglades, the land plane obtained by the Miami Herald to carry food supplies to the 22 members of the Tamiami trail blazers party in the heart of the vast swamp lands will make another attempt at dawn tomorrow to get away. The party is about 60 miles from Miami and their food supplies were reported to be very low. One of the pathfinders who made their way here early today.

Veterans Of Confederacy Hear Harding

NEW ORLEANS, April 12 (AP)—General William B. Lewis of Louisville, Ky., was elected commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans at the closing business session of the annual reunion here late today, and Memphis, Tenn., was selected as the 1924 reunion city.

Dr. George Harding of Marion, Ohio, father of President Harding, spoke to the veterans here today. He declared he considered Robert E. Lee the greatest of American generals, and Jefferson Davis one of the country's greatest statesmen. He said he felt especially kindly toward the south inasmuch as his grandmother was a cousin of the mother of Jefferson Davis.

After thanking the veterans for the manner in which he had been received, he added: "I want to thank the southern people, too, for the kindness with which they have treated my son. The only veterans I never had a better friend than Warren G. Harding."

Dr. Harding was called to the platform again later when a Daughters of the American Revolution, a huge silk Confederate flag, announced that he had expressed a desire for one. The emblem, the Stars and Bars, was presented to him and in expressing his thanks he told the veterans he knew they had stood by it and that "if I had been down there I suppose I, too, would have been loyal to it."

Klan Men Mention

It was feared this afternoon that the Ku Klux Klan would be injected into the proceedings as an issue. All week there have been vague rumors that a row over the Klan was being kindled and that it would be out in full force at the least provocation.

General Julian S. Crier of Durham, N. C., commander-in-chief of the term session, during a discussion of the term "rebel" as applied to Confederate soldiers, shouted at one point, "I am a rebel, and a Ku Klux Klan, too." At the afternoon session he loudly repeated the phrase and this time shouted "I am, too," came from all quarters of the auditorium.

J. M. Trout of Jackson, Tenn., stated that he was "opposed to anything but law and order." He did not mention the Klan by name, and the incident was over almost as soon as it arose.

Explorer to Munch 500 Miles from Nome to Point of Taking Off with Plane

NOME, Alaska, April 12 (AP)—Captain Roald Amundsen expects to leave Nome tomorrow by dog team for Wainwright on the Arctic ocean, 500 miles north of here, in preparation for an attempt to fly over the north pole to Norway. Captain Amundsen plans to fly from Wainwright to Point Barrow, 75 miles northeast of Wainwright, in the plane which he left at Wainwright through the winter with Lieutenant Oskar Omdal, aviator, and to hop off at Point Barrow for the trip over the pole.

LABORITES WIN IN CONTENTION

British Government Yields to Recalcitrant's Demands and Retrieves Defeat

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—The parliamentary crisis was quietly surmounted today. The government yielded to the laborite demands and undertook to appoint a committee to investigate the grievances of the ex-service men and the opposition then permitted a motion that the speaker leave the chair to be put without further resistance. Thereupon, in accordance with constitution usage that grievances should be heard before supplies are granted, the house began a discussion of various subjects, including the question of the serious hindrance placed upon British trade by the French action in the Ruhr. The discussions having proceeded about three hours, with only occasional interference from the labor benches, Sir Philip Lloyd George, for the government, moved closure, which was carried, 242 to 155, and the motion that the speaker leave the chair received unopposed assent.

Suffers Loss of Prestige.

The government has retrieved its defeat of Tuesday by a vote showing its normal majority, but is generally considered to have suffered badly in prestige. In this connection, Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, who, owing to the prime minister's loss of voice, is temporarily acting in his place, comes in for considerable criticism from his own side and in the press for unskillful and untactful handling of the situation, thereby playing into the hands of the laborites. The Ruhr debate tonight mainly concerned technical questions, but revealed continued strong dissatisfaction on the part of the opposition members with the government policy of benevolent neutrality relative to the French action.

G. O. P. CHIEFS LAY PLANS FOR 1924 CONCLAVE

Treasurer's Report Shows All But $300,000 of Last Campaign Expenses Paid; Six Cities After Convention

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Preliminary discussion relative to the 1924 convention city of the republican party, together with the making of plans to wipe out the remainder of the deficit incurred by the republican in the 1922 campaign and a survey of the general political situation constitute the outstanding developments of a series of sessions which republican leaders concluded here tonight by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee.

Six Cities on List.

The discussions which have been in progress and which will be continued by Mr. Upham tomorrow in New York, with Charles D. Miller, republican national committee man for New York, and Will H. Hays, former republican national chairman, are understood from sources of those who favor the republican treasurer to have developed: That consideration now is being given to six cities, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Washington and Buffalo as the site for the 1924 convention. That the deficit of approximately $1,700,000 resulting from the 1922 campaign has been reduced to about $300,000, and that steps have been taken which it is hoped by party leaders, will wipe it out completely by June 1.

That party leaders expect that the fortunes of the republican party in 1924 may turn largely on the general business conditions obtaining during the next 10 months. President's Trip Figures. Mr. Upham, in his conference with President Harding, is understood to (Continued on Page Eight)

GOMPERS DECLARES REJECTED FORTUNE - BENEFITS RADICALS.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Charges that the fortune of more than $800,000 which Charles Garland of Boston refused to accept as an inheritance from his father is being used to "bring together an interlocking network of pacifist and revolutionary organizations of more or less extreme character," were made tonight in a public statement by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Along with the statement Mr. Gompers made public a letter from the American Fund for Public Service, Inc., to which Mr. Garland turned over the bulk of his wealth, refusing to contribute to the Workers' Education Bureau, a labor federation organization, because the bureau was not "definitely committed to a radical program."

BROWNING'S HELD IN MURDER CASE

Son of Gun Inventor and His Cousin Face Trial on Charge of Killing Salt Lake Banker

SALT LAKE, April 12 (AP)—Charged with murder in the first degree for the killing last Monday of Benjamin P. Ballantyne, former bank teller, John Browning, Jr., and his cousin, Morrison Browning, tomorrow will be given a preliminary hearing before City Judge Noel S. Pratt, it was announced today by County Attorney Arthur E. Moreton.

Information charging murder was filed today against the two Brownings, who are widely known throughout the state, by the county attorney with Roy L. Larson, a detective, who investigated the case, as the complaining witness.

PRIEST USES GUN TO SLAY COLLEAGUE

Assistant Rector of Kalamazoo Church Fires Four Bullets into the Body of His Superior

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 12 (AP)—The Rev. Father Charles Dillon, assistant rector of St. Augustine's Catholic church, shot and killed Rev. Father Henry O'Neill, rector of the church, as they sat at the dinner table tonight when calmly went to the telephone, notified the police and coroner. Dillon fired four shots, all of which took effect. As Father O'Neill fell, Dillon turned to the Rev. Father McCullough, the only witness of the tragedy, and handed him a pistol containing holy oils with the request that he administer the sacrament of extreme unction at once.

Alleged Hit Treatment

According to a statement the assistant rector is said to have made to police and county officers, he was "driven to fury" by alleged hit treatment of the hands of the dead priest. "He treated me with disrespect ever since I came here 13 months ago from Battle Creek," he is reported as having told the authorities. "He treated the attitude of a czar toward me."

"He treated me as a little boy, refusing to permit me to visit the families of the parish or take any part in the life of the parish. I protested in vain against his attitude and tonight when we quarreled, over the matter at the dinner table, he ordered me to pick up my belongings and get out. Father O'Neill's statement: "I got up from the table and went upstairs to pack up but it was a revolver, not a suitcase, I packed. I picked up a phial of holy oil and then went downstairs where Father O'Neill was. He told me to pick up my belongings and get out. I intended to give him a chance to confess and to repent before I killed him, but as I advanced into the room, he drew the revolver and the weapon extended, I saw him grab a salt-cellar to throw at me and I fired twice. After that I do not recall very well what happened."

FORD BOOM LAGS IN IDAHO

Progressive Party Chairman Admits Petitions for Automobile Maker are Being Circulated by Workers

BOISE, April 12 (AP)—"There is nothing to it," was the way Frank E. Johnson, progressive party state chairman, today characterized an Associated Press report that he would Saturday file nomination papers supporting Henry Ford for the national presidency in 1924.

Mr. Johnson admitted, however, that petitions were being mailed to party leaders throughout the state declaring "Ford and that 6800 of those petitions had been signed and returned by party members to date. County party leaders averred, however, that they could swing a large number to the Ford standard.

"We will not nominate Ford until he has made himself a client of certain planks in our platform," he said. POSTAL SAVINGS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The second increase in 25 months in the amount of postal savings over withdrawals was reported today by the postoffice department as having taken place in March. Postmaster General Newcomb said to the accounts of foreign banks and property acquired after the war had lost money in the failure of a paucity private bank.

The increase in deposits in New York was $222,000. For the entire country it was over $200,000, making deposits on hand $132,180,000.

Roundup, Mont., Red Lodge, Mont., Duluth, Minn., and Great Falls, Mont., also reported increases. Roundup and Red Lodge both reported deposits of more than $100,000.

WOMEN VOTERS Demand Equal Share In Cash

DES MOINES, Ia., April 12 (AP)—Laws should be enacted compelling women and men to share equally all money and property acquired after marriage, the National League of Women Voters decided here today after the most heated debate of the convention.

The recommendation that the league urge the enactment of such laws was contained in the unified program of activities and policies for the coming year. It was the only measure in the entire program which occasioned debate. The other recommendations, including the one on international affairs, were unanimously adopted in what a few of the delegates declared was "steamroller" fashion.

Opponents of the proposed uniform laws, concerning women, argued that there were too many inquisitorial women married to less worthy husbands for the league to urge the enactment of such laws in the various states.

Supporters of the recommendation declared the proposed laws would be more beneficial than injurious to women and after an hour of debate had the measure through with the rest of the program intact.

BORAH ADVISES PEACE GOSPEL FOR OLD WORLD

Senator, Replying to Cecil's League of Nations Address, Says Europe Chooses War that Must Be Outlawed

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho, replying here tonight to the recent lecture of nations speeches of Lord Robert Cecil, declared his conviction that no peace league can "function for peace" until war has been outlawed as an institution.

The present league, said the irreconcilable leader, not only had failed to make war a crime, but had been dominated by governments which convince the American people they do not "want peace upon any terms compatible with equality and justice." He added that the proper field for dissemination of a gospel of peace was the old world and not the new.

"It may seem harsh," said Senator Borah, who spoke at a banquet of the American Paper and Ink Association, "to say that the governments of Europe do not want peace upon terms compatible with equality and justice because the records in their hands and anyone can read it. It is easily read for it is written in blood. Let us recur to recent history, pass by the distant past and speak only of events since the war."

Ignores American Efforts.

"Against the persistent efforts by the American republicans, the Versailles treaty was made an instrument of war—of dismemberment, misery and ruin. Upon three different occasions the two leading nations of the world financed an invasion of Russia in violation of every precept of peace and in the face of the solemn pledges in favor of the principles of territorial integrity. Greece was incited to war and Turkey was nursed back into power—arms and money were poured by gallop and the result was no other apparent object in view than that of material gain and domination."

"When two courses were open relative to reparations—either a combination and adjustment either through the league of a special conference of friendly powers, the other course, that of force and war was chosen, chosen in disregard for all consequences to peace and in defiance of the dictates of humanity. And tonight, the awful cry of hate, of destruction and crime proceeds from the lips of the speaker of the foreign office in all Christendom is willing to record even a moral protest."

Twelve Powers Choose War.

"During the last three years 12 countries of Europe have resorted to war to settle their disputes at the time they were pledged to arbitration and peace. In all the disputes since the continent during the last three years we have seen arbitration and conciliation and league pledges passed by and the deliberate, unhesitating, unvarious choosing of force, of war. We have seen every conference, from Versailles to Lausanne break down over the question of material gain and domination, of rule over territory, or else turn into secret conclaves for war."

"The place, it seems to us, for missionary work for peace, is not the United States, but Europe, where the record and the people of the United States know it well. They know that a league for peace made up of governments with such policies become an inevitable league for war, for spoilation. They know that councils of peace will inevitably become councils of war. They will say to the advocates of peace: If you really want to eliminate war, why not start by putting the brand of crime upon the institution. Write into the law of nations that war is a crime, and into the laws of the respective nations that those who violate the law of nations in this respect shall be punished, and then there can be cooperation for peace."

At Mercy of Mantle.

"As things stand today, a ruler, an irresponsible adventurer, a royal mannequin may start a war, engulf a continent in blood and sacrifice the lives of millions and yet never pass under the denunciation or the lash of the law. Until that standard is changed, no league of nations can function for peace. It is up to you to make it for peace, but those who execute it will execute it for war."

The association closed its convention by electing Henry W. Stokes, Philadelphia, president.

D. C. Everest, Rotaschield, Wis., was elected president of the United States Pulp Producers' association.

FASHIONS IN HORSES' TAILS

Odd Designs That Have Been More or Less Popular at Various Periods of History.

Horses' tails have been subjected to curious changes of fashion. In the time of the Stuarts the English coach horse's tail was long and flowing and was cut square. It was adorned with ribbons on gala days, and strapped up in a leather case in winter weather; thus a certain harmony was preserved between the wig of the master and the tail of his horse.

By the time of George II a short wig and a plumed hat took the place of the flowing curls in which the cavaliers of Charles I and the rakes of Charles II court delighted.

The brilliant idea occurred to Lord Cadogan, a cavalry officer of that period, to reduce the tails of his dragoon horses to a short dock. Possibly this was done with the view of saving his soldiers the trouble of cleaning those long tails and avoiding the nuisance of the splashes uniforms and accoutrements must have received from such hair streamers. Or it may have been the debased taste of the age made him think the appearance of his regiment was really improved by bobbed tails. This is a question which history does not decide.

Bird Colorings.

A scientist, in discussing color in birds (reds, yellows and greens as due to pigments, and blues and whites as due to air spaces in the feathers), says that a person who admires color without some of the intellectual background gets little more enjoyment out of such things than an infant playing with his building blocks of glass. This is a little severe, but we must agree that both are limited to emotional enjoyment only, and that to one whose mind is stimulated, such color associations enrich his experiences manifold.

INDIANS TORE OFF UNIFORMS

Pawnee Scouts Preferred the Naked Hide to Soldier Garb That Had Been Provided.

In the sixties Major (then first lieutenant) Frank J. North of the Pawnee reservation was authorized to raise a company of the Pawnees for scouting services on the plains against the Sioux and Cheyennes. Eventually a battalion was formed, each company under a chief and all under the white commander.

An earnest effort was made to drill and discipline the scouts; and they really performed splendid evolutions very well. As fighters of their hereditary foes they were whirlwinds. Further to impress upon them their role of soldiers, they were issued uniforms—obsolete Civil war black hats, blouses and the old sky-blue trousers.

Upon the first march thereafter a fight for red and men was presented. The square felt hats had been transferred to the ponies' heads with the ponies' ears sticking up through holes. The blouses were worn like sheet mantles, with the arms tied about the scouts' necks, or else had been discarded in favor of moccasins. And the entire soles of the pants had been cut out, so that the two sections were retained, merely by the belt at the waist.

In the first charge away went the hats, away sailed the blouses, the scouts' pants defied holding and the plain was strewn with carcasses while the yelling Pawnee rode striped for action—stripped to breech-cloth, and moccasins.

DRY LAW CAUSES BRITAIN WORRY

Foreign Office Deliberates the American Representations Bearing on Liquor Smuggling

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—The British government is giving due deliberation to representations made by the United States government concerning the smuggling of liquor to the American mainland from Nassau and other West Indian ports, the house of commons was informed tonight by Ronald McNeill, under secretary for foreign affairs.

The question of the liquor houses when numbers asked whether attention had been called to the participation of the traffic by ships flying the British flag and whether steps were being taken to prevent "this action against the law of a friendly power."

Mr. McNeill in confirming that representations had been made by the United States, said that the liquor appeared to be introduced subsequently into the United States by small craft from the American coast manned by United States citizens.

"It is very difficult," he added, "for his majesty's government to interfere with the legitimate export of any articles from British territory, especially as action by the British government alone would merely drive the trade into other channels."

"The government, however, deplores any complicity of British subjects in the infringement of the law of the United States and is considering, on any articles from British territory, especially as action by the British government alone would merely drive the trade into other channels."

AMBASSADOR TO RETURN

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—American Ambassador Harvey and Mrs. Harvey, together with their daughter, Mrs. Marcellus H. Thompson, and their grand-daughter, Dorothy, are planning to leave London shortly for a trip to the United States, it was said at the embassy Wednesday. The exact date of their sailing will not be fixed until the ambassador, who is at present in Norfolk, and Mrs. Harvey, who is in Paris, return to London next week.

Society of Dunkards.

The first society of Dunkards or Dunkards, a sect of German Baptists, was founded in Schweitzernau, Germany, 214 years ago by Alexander Mack and seven others. The name "Dunker" was originally given them as a nickname, and was derived from the German word meaning "to dip." They were also called "Tunklers" from their mode of baptism—putting the person while kneeling head first under the water. The members prefer to be known by their official name of Brethren. The church in America is divided into four sections, the conservatives being by far the largest branch, the others being the old order, the progressives and the seventh day. The original Dunker societies in Germany were cruelly persecuted and about two centuries ago they were forced to leave the fatherland, emigrating to Holland and Friesland, and later coming to America. Most of them settled in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, later dispersing themselves throughout the continent.

DEMAND GROWS FOR STORAGE IN BIG RESERVOIR

Irrigation Units Outside American Falls Reservoir District Raise Funds to Buy Interest in Giant Project

POCAHELLO, April 12.—(Special to The News.)—Reports received at the headquarters of the Idaho Reclamation association reveal that various irrigation units are meeting with success in their efforts to finance themselves in order to contract for storage in the American Falls reservoir. These units are outside the American Falls reservoir district and are being financed independently.

Included in the various units are the Empire Canal company, centered at Bannock, which is voting sufficient bonds to take 100,000 acre feet of storage; the Michael, requiring over 120,000 acre feet, and other smaller projects that, combined with those mentioned, require a storage in the American Falls reservoir of 271,700 acre feet.

In addition thereto the Snake River Valley irrigation district, Blackfoot canal system, and others are arranging for storage in the American Falls reservoir, so that it is indicated that not only will the contractors in the reservoir, including the big district and the department, require enough capacity to make up the initial reservoir unit of 1,000,000 acre feet, but in all probability there will be demands beyond that capacity.

All the projects mentioned in the foregoing will acquire storage in the American Falls reservoir and transfer their rights in that storage, acre foot for acre foot, for storage in Jackson Lake reservoir, the major portion of which will be released by the transfer to the government and the upper reservoir to the American Falls reservoir.

At the present time there is actually contracted for in the American Falls reservoir 900,000 acre feet, and the bond issue for the big district legally contemplates only a reservoir that size. As these other units come in, however, up to a million, five hundred thousand acre feet capacity, the amount of bonds to be issued will be reduced proportionately, until the actual amount issued will be the same as originally considered and referred to during the campaign to organize the big district.

It was legally necessary in the contract between the big district and the government to state only the actual storage already contracted for, and to base the total bonds to be authorized on that minimum storage.

Meets Previous Estimates.
The facts here stated are contained in a bulletin issued by the Idaho Reclamation association for the purpose of showing the ultimate storage in the first unit to be built at American Falls, and to emphasize the fact that because the present contracted storage is only 900,000 acre feet that the additional storage to come in will make the situation as to the actual amount of bonds to be issued in the big district the same as had been previously contemplated, which means the issuance of only enough bonds to cover the total cost of storage for the big district plus the funding of the interest for five years, so that no money will have to be paid by the land owners during that period.

CATCHING FISH WITH POISON

Along the tributary streams of the Belang river, in the independent state of Sarawak, on the island of Borneo, the native Sedowans and Dyaks have a unique method of taking fish, and one which is superior to dynamiting. Near the mouth of a creek a barrier of rat-trapwork is erected. In this space is left an opening wide enough to permit the canoes to pass through. After the boats go up the stream a net is placed across the opening. From 20 to 30 canoes engage in fishing. When the point is reached where the water begins to begin, two small dugouts which have been towed, are emptied of their liquid contents. This muddy-looking concoction is tuba poison, from the plant cocculus indicus. The poison is made by pounding the root to shreds and then mixing with water in certain proportions known to the fishermen. Quick results are obtained. In about five minutes stupefied fish begin coming to the surface gasping for breath. The numbers increase with every passing minute. Standing up in their canoes the natives spear the stupefied fish with great rapidity. In half an hour the boats are generally filled to capacity. How potent the tuba poison is may be realized by the fact that within half an hour after a few gallons have been poured in a gook-sized creek, half a mile or half a dozen stream are brought to the surface in considerable numbers. Where the tuba poison method is good is that the poison does not kill the fish—only stupefies them temporarily. Thus all is not taken for food soon are normal again.

DALZELL GETS DIPLOMA HE MISSED IN WAR

Private J. M. Dalzell.

PRIVATE J. M. DALZELL, known to Grand Army men all over the country, has just been presented the degree of Bachelor of Arts by the Washington and Jefferson university, 60 years after he left his studies there to join the Union army at the outbreak of the Civil war. The presentation took place at the Washington (D. C.) Soldiers' Home, of which Private Dalzell, now 85, is an inmate.

ODD NICKNAME FOR SENATOR

Oliver Morton Was Long Known Among Colleagues as the "Devil on Two Sticks."

"The Devil on Two Sticks" was a nickname given to Oliver F. Morton, American senator. For many years he was afflicted by a dangerous and probably incurable disease. He visited Paris for the best medical advice, and submitted to the most treatment. It relieved him "considerably, and doubtless prolonged his life, but did not restore the paralyzed leg. He was compelled to use a walking stick in each hand. In the ordinary course of debate in the senate for the last few years he generally read and spoke in a sitting posture, the courtesy of his brother senators admitting that position. When dealing with questions of national importance he spoke standing, supporting himself against his desk and on one of his canes, but sometimes against a standing support, consisting of an iron standard surmounted by a small wooden reading desk.

During the fierce partisan debate in the senate near the close of the Civil war, and especially while the reconstruction measures were being discussed, he was a stalwart and excessively pugnaeus fighter on the Republican side, and earned the appellation of "The Devil on Two Sticks."

Work Without Proper Aim.
I respect the man who knows distinctly what he wishes. The greater part of all the mischief in the world arises from the fact that men do not sufficiently understand their own aims. They have undertaken to build a tower, but spend no more labor on the foundation than would be necessary to build a hut.—Goethe.

Dampness Ruins a Piano.
Most people know that a piano should never stand in a draught; but it is not always possible to place the instrument in an ideal position. A piano is frequently regarded as a piece of furniture, instead of a somewhat delicate arrangement of the wire and hammers which are very susceptible to changes of temperature. Damp is the greatest enemy that confronts the piano, but if the lid is raised frequently and allowed to remain open for a time a current of air can circulate inside. Damp also causes the hammers to swell, which, in turn, makes the keys hard to depress. It is never advisable to have a valuable piano in a cold room in winter for more than a day or two at a time; and if possible a small oil stove should be placed near it for an hour or so each day, if it is not desirable to light a fire occasionally.

Preventative Medicine
The tendency of medical science it toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is fully as risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifling sum.—adv.

TWO BRIDES BY LAW

The Journal Debates, one of the most highly esteemed daily papers of France is an authority for stating that the Turkish national assembly is so anxious to regard the population of the new Turkey, now in course of formation, that it is preparing a law to render matrimony a duty which, like compulsory military service, must be enforced on all.

No conscientious objectors will be tolerated. When a man reaches the age of twenty-five, the police will take note of him and medical authorities will examine him. If he is physically fit, he must marry; if he refuses, he will be treated as a deserter and deprived of all his civil rights and employment.

If he has private means a quarter of the amount will be taken and given to the poor.

Should a recalcitrant husband seek to avoid his obligations by traveling, he must obtain special permission; and, if he remains away too long, he must marry a second time and bring his second wife home when he returns.

Here we have a law enforcing not only matrimony but bigamy, the re-population of Turkey being the one and only social duty recognized.

THINK IT IBERIAN LIQUOR

Natural Smoke Screen. The artifice, a deep-sea snail, has a method of lighting that gives the appearance of a multitude of smoke chugs. When excited by the nervousness of an enemy the snail ejects respiratory water in tiny squirts and into this stream the luciferin is forced from countless glands opening into the stream by fine ducts. As the chemical combines with oxygen, clouds of luminous particles float in the sea. This is the "smoke screen" provided by nature.

The species of luminous fish, called "photophorus," has a luminescent system in an inside chamber that burns continuously. When the fish wishes to shut off the light, he causes a black pigmented curtain to slide down over the light cell opening like an eyelid. The light organ preserves its luminescence even when removed and is used by fishermen of the islands of Banda, about 800 miles southeast of the Philippines as bait for night fishing—Indlanapolis News.

Objects of Charity in Old Age. Bachelor and spinster in the United States make up the larger part of those who in their old age are obliged to depend on the town or state for support. Figures show that of men who have a trade only one in a hundred thousand has to go to the poorhouse, and that of men with a college education the proportion is smaller still.

Old Spanish Wine Recently Found in Ruins of St. Joseph City, in Florida.

Whipped almost the ruins of a forgotten city for almost a century, and apparently kept in a state of almost perfect preservation, a quart of rare old Spanish wine in the curio collection of George A. Patton of Port St. Joe is gradually evaporating.

The liquor was unearthed from the ruins of the old city of St. Joseph, Florida, two years ago, when an irrigation ditch was being dug through the Patton farm. Then it was rich and mellow and had a deep amber hue. But now its kick is going fast, according to the Florida Times-Union.

Although having a reputation as a teetotalist, Mr. Patton has cherished the liquor as he would a long-lost friend. Great care has been exercised to prevent its evaporating, but all efforts have failed. It was poured from the black glass decanter, in which it was unceremoniously, into a bottle of transparent glass. The glass stopper in the original bottle was substituted with a rubber stopper.

When the bottle was found it was surrounded with a mass of debris which evidently had been a wicker case. Very little of the liquor had found its way out, if any. It has been viewed by thousands of tourists at Port St. Joe.

Judging from historical facts surrounding the old city of St. Joseph, the liquor probably is one hundred years old. St. Joseph was abandoned in 1841, and for more than eighty years only the crumbling ruins have marked the spot where it stood. It was the terminus of the St. Joseph and John railroad, second steam railway line constructed in the United States. In 1838 the first constitutional convention of Florida was held at St. Joseph, which then was one of the leading cities of Florida. Recently the state erected a monument costing $15,000 on the spot where the convention was held.

Carlo connoisseurs declare it probable that the quart of liquor of Iberian vintage adorned the shelf of some long-vanished barroom in the historic old city.

"Better Late Than Never." Mathew Henry, in his commentary on the Gospel of St. Matthew, used these words of the laborers who went into the Lord's vineyard at the eleventh hour.—Evangelist.

SIDE LIGHTS

With the Rogerson Cafe, Shoe Market and I. D. Store teams tied for first place an extra two games will be played next week.

On Monday evening at 8 the Rogerson Cafe bunch will tangle with the I. D. Store quintet, the winners to play the Shoe Market on Tuesday evening for the third prize.

After the game Tuesday evening the prizes will be given out to the victorious teams.

BURLEY COMING FOR GAME

Cassia County Baseball Team, Counted Formidable Contenders to Cross Bats with Blue and White Squad

Burley's baseball team will arrive today for a nine inning tilt with the blue and white at Lincoln field this afternoon at 3:30.

The Cassia county lads come here unknown as a team, although reports from the eastern towns say that Burley ranks with the best of them.

For a pitcher, Coach Underwood has in Durfee an old timer who knows the ropes. Bates, remembered for his activities in baseball is the hot batsman. Bateman stands guard at first base, having played this position two years ago.

Holms is stationed at second base, Egan is listed as the short stop, and Worthington holds down the hot corner.

Shaw takes care of the fly balls in left field, with "Slim" Griffiths holding down the fort in center. Taylor is the right fielder.

One of the most delightful affairs of the spring season was the reception given by Mrs. C. A. Fones, Mrs. R. G. Tait and Mrs. J. H. Masters, Thursday afternoon at the Ema's home on Fifth avenue east, in honor of Miss Maupin of Salt Lake. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. H. P. Logan, Mrs. M. G. Bailey, Mrs. H. C. Giffert and Mrs. Arthur K. Seaver. The rooms were charmingly decorated in yellow and white, a profusion of pussy willows and lusterly orchids being used. Refreshments carrying out the yellow and white color scheme were served from a beautifully appointed table having for a centerpiece a bowl of French marigolds resting on a chiny lace cover over yellow satin. Yellow candles in crystal candlesticks stood at either end of the table and the other services were presided over by Mrs. H. W. Clouch and Mrs. C. J. Schroeder from 3 to 4, and Mrs. Kennedy Packard and Mrs. M. J. Sweitzer from 4 to 5. Miss Maupin delighted the guests with several happy solos at intervals during the afternoon and vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. W. H. Daigh, Mrs. O. F. Russell and Mrs. M. G. Master. Alfred Flechtner played a number of violin solos. About 100 guests called during the afternoon.

About 40 ladies attended the meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society in the parlors of the church on Thursday afternoon. There was the usual business session and the program featured the observance of Easter. Roll call was responded to with quotations on "Peace." Devotionals were led by Mrs. C. H. Krampf; there was a vocal duet by Mrs. F. E. Bracken and Mrs. O. P. Davall, and an interesting book review of Van Dyke's "The Lost Boy" by Mrs. Charles F. Dwight. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. C. Beachamp, Mrs. F. E. Bracken, Mrs. Leo Bracken and Mrs. David Brown.

Mrs. H. E. Barbour entertained at Bridge Thursday afternoon at her home on Seventh avenue north. Favor for high society was given by Mrs. A. P. Senior and consultation by Mrs. J. F. Johnston. Quantities of spring flowers decorated the rooms and a delicious two-course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the games. The guest list included Messdames S. H. Graves, Ralph Pink, Wilton Peck, Leonard Smith, Edward Cooper, F. W. Brumbaugh, A. B. Colwell, Earl E. Holt, Wendell Allen, Charles Mearns, De Witt Young, Arthur Vincent, Leonard Vincent, L. T. Wright, C. E. Wright, L. E. Salladay, Mrs. T. Lewis, M. F. Mitchell, Elmer Harstad, W. H. Elridge, E. A. Walters, Z. H. North, Donald McLean, W. A. Patrick, J. S. Russell, Ray Logan, Hal Bicker, James Hill, George Green, Doran-Johnson, W. C. McFarland, E. H. Stowell, W. Orr Chapman, J. A. Walker, A. P. Senior, J. F. Johnston, H. C. Alexander, Lem Chapin, A. G. Scherer, G. G. Marzag and Merline Hutley.

The Unity club met in regular session Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Nall, with Mrs. Smith and Miss Hixouhall as assistant hostesses. The new president, Mrs. T. Reese, presided at the business session, which was followed by a short musical program. Twenty members were present and during the social hour dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. V. B. Fulton entertained the Addison Avenue Social club on Wednesday afternoon. Fifteen members responded to her quotations from James Whitcomb Riley. A most delightful program of readings and dialogues taken from Riley's works was conducted by Mrs. W. P. Rado, with each lady dressed as a little girl, according to the character portrayed. After the program a short time was spent sewing cards, and the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Frank Taggart, who was a guest, and Mrs. Virgil Williams. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. J. A. Hontch on Wednesday, April 25.

Mrs. D. D. Alford was hostess to the Episcopal Guild Thursday afternoon. There was a brief business session with the president, Mrs. C. C. Siggins, in the chair. Mrs. George Easley read an interesting paper on "Isiah." A social hour followed and Mrs. Alford, assisted by Mrs. George Leopold, served refreshments. Mrs. Kellar of Iduh, who is a guest at the home of Mrs. James Smith, was a visitor.

Spiders Mostly Deaf and Dumb.
Whether insects can hear is a disputed question. Early writers say this sense would seem to be highly developed in spiders and certain other insects because some species not only make musical sounds, but also are great lovers of music. However, no truth can be accredited to these old romantic stories in which the hero, confined in a dungeon, charmed spiders with sweet music and prognosticated weather by observing their behavior. Recent experiments show that spiders are not only deaf, but most of them are dumb, only a few being able to make sounds. Much has been written about the sense of hearing in insects, but critics still contend that it has never been demonstrated beyond a doubt that any insect can really hear.

THE VIEWS OF ONE Waiting For Something To Happen.

Patience at times ceases to be a virtue and this is one of the times. George E. Hill, citizen of Highby and one well familiar with this section of the country, in an interesting interview published recently, stated that the people of this agricultural region, who along with other similar agricultural regions suffered reverses and have been waiting in a sort of expectancy for something to happen to bring things back. Legislation was waited for and of a certain sort, both national and state, has been effected and will be a help and contributing factor. Then the talk of prosperity on the east of us and prosperity on the west of us was expected to meet, and with our state in between, for the waves to overlap and bring a flood of prosperity to help us out. The waiting for legislation and for overlapping prosperity has not produced much result other than the conviction that waiting is a vain hope and it is only by digging in and by hard and consistent effort will a result worth while be obtained.

From all appearances and indications the people of the community have reached the conclusion that nothing phenomenal will happen, and no miracles will be worked over than those self-performed. The conditions and people, or most of them, at least, which contributed towards making this section of the country outstanding in its prominence, growth and prosperity are still existent, same soil, same water, same air and from all accounts an increased demand and market over that of the past few years; a market ready and demanding that it be satisfied. Some one will meet the demand and this community will prosper just in the same proportion that it helps meet the demand.

Prophecy is that the price of farm production will increase fully forty per cent before the season is over, owing to limited production and increased demand. This will enable the producer to meet the demands made upon him for there is no gainsaying the fact that what the producer has to buy will cost him more.

Senator Hefflin, whose flights of in-appropriate oratory are more widely than favorably known, alone stands the taxpayers in approximately $2,500 for the printing of his remarks during the session, and almost half of those remarks never were delivered on the floor of the senate at all, but were added under the cloak of "extension," after dark.

Rebelling against this state of affairs Senator Moses echoes a popular emotion. The United States Constitution provides for the publication of the record, but does not authorize enlargement. It prescribes, in fact, a record of what goes on in Congress and not of what goes on inside the heads of congressmen.

WHEAT BUILDS BUSINESS

Business competition is coming back into the world with a vengeance, and the merchant, manufacturer or banker who expects to get ahead from now on must fight his way upward, declared George Woodruff, Chicago banker, in an address before the South Dakota Bankers' Association.

Business men will profit by reading what this clever banker and business man had to say. Advertising, Mr. Woodruff asserted, is the most effective of all weapons in the fight for business and among the various kinds of advertising, the newspaper advertising is unquestionably the "big Bertha" of them all.

"First, you must secure interest," he continued. "Your advertisement must be so well laid out, so attractively worded, so compelling in appearance, it will secure the reader's interest."

"Secondly, you must create in the mind of your prospect the desire to patronize your bank and make use of the service it offers. You must show how and why it is advisable from the reader's viewpoint to save money."

"Granting that your advertisement has aroused interest and created desire, if it is to obtain maximum results, it must breathe and inspire enthusiasm over saving money, over paying bills by check or protecting their valuables by a safety deposit box that they will be ready to put their desire into action. Before your advertisement may be considered a success it must compel action."

Furthermore, the same rule applies as in all other fields of endeavor. Don't advertise spasmodically. Regularity and continuity of purpose in advertising pays the highest dividends.

Dispensed but conquered, she took the package back and dropped it in her old suitcase. She was in far too great a hurry to do anything else at the moment. It crossed her mind that Mrs. Bosley's nerves must be going back on her, but in that case, the safety box was the logical solution. She hurried to the yard and quickly gathered the stolen articles from the lines. She could not go downtown and leave them outside, even with the children watching them. As she came back, she glanced to see what time it was—nearly eight, her breath in dismay. The bank was closed!

reasoned. She was therefore left the habit of giving Mrs. Bosley frequent promenades around the driveway, which not only afforded healthful exercise but also exhibited the young Plymouth Rock to any admiration that might stray through the windows of the Custard Cup.

She was startled by the sound of a motor, rapidly approaching. Glancing up, she saw a beautiful limousine chugging into the Custard Cup, a circumstance which had probably not happened before since the earliest time had taken possession. Lettice was so certain that everything was everything else, starting, open-mouthed, till the limousine stopped beside her.

The big car contained only one person, a lady in a dark-blue suit and a small hat cunningly formed of dark-blue wings. She was tall and slender, with red hair cut in the latest style, and wore a shapely scarf, a creamy skin. She wore a shapely scarf, a creamy skin. She wore a shapely scarf, a creamy skin.

"What?" she gasped. "What?" "Bonnie Geraldine," repeated Lettice. "Wait till I wind up her rope and kind of pull her in. If you was to tip in it, you might throw her."

"The lady appeared to be having trouble about breathing. Her gloved hand fluttered at her throat, loosed the shapely scarf. She stepped to the ground. "Don't you think you might all you're something more—more appropriate" she inquired, with greater composure.

Lettice shook her head violently. "Suits me. They're the swellest folks I know, and—"

"Oh, then you know these people?" Lettice tossed her head in disdain at the first. "I haven't seen 'em, that's what you mean; but kolly, I've seen their clogs. Swellest clogs you ever saw. I have to hang 'round the yard and watch 'em when they're drying, 'cause somebody might snatch 'em; and if they should—Landy gets Goshens. It's but The Custard Cup."

"The lady's interest had waned. She was looking freely at the child's ragged blue chamber. Lettice, with lightning reaction, resented the scrutiny. "What's the matter with this here rig?" she asked feelingly.

"It's familiarity," murmured the lady, "Oh, yes, I know you, but not the name! Will you tell me where Mrs. Penfield lives?"

Lettice, now cuddling the cawk-cawking Bonnie Geraldine in her thin arms, sprang forward, her great black eyes shining with excitement. "Jiminy, do you mean it? Are you real going to see us in Great gum, ain't that the darndest good luck! Everybody 'round'll be jealous when they see what a caller we roped in. Follow me."

With an air of importance as expansive as a drum major's, Lettice darted in front of the limousine lady and led the way toward Number 47. But at the entrance to the alley they ran into a youngster with auburn hair and big blue eyes that opened wide and wider in delighted amazement. He was wearing the pink plaid which had been inside down from a garment once worn by Mrs. Bosley Weatherstone.

BENEFIT SEEN IN COMMUNITY BOOSTER PLAN

Local Business Men Take Initiative Toward Campaign to Bring More Farmers to Twin Falls District

Plans for a Twin Falls community advertising campaign to be carried on in the middle west were decided upon and put under way at the meeting of real estate men in the chamber of commerce rooms Thursday night.

The proposition as finally outlined consists of conducting a comprehensive advertising campaign, beginning in May, to include space in farm publications, some of which are in the matter and individual correspondence.

The campaign is to be centralized in the best farming sections of Wisconsin and Iowa, with a view of reaching successful farmers of those states to appreciate the advantages offered by the Twin Falls district over their own, and to finally persuade them to become established here.
