

COURT MARTIAL IMPOSES LONG PRISON TERMS

Executive and Directors of the Krupp Works, Convicted of Inciting Clash with French Troops, Receive Sentence

WERDEN, Germany, May 8 (AP)—Dr. Krupp von Bohlen, head of the Krupp works, and his three directors, Bruhn, Oesterlin and Hartwig, heard their sentence in the Werden jail tonight. The penalties totaled imprisonment aggregating 55 years, the French court martial having convicted them of responsibility for the conflicts between the Krupp workmen and a French squad of soldiers on March 31, last, which resulted in the death of 14 workers.

Fines to the amount of $50,000,000 marks were also imposed upon the accused, who included others than the directors. There was a large crowd present in the court room when Colonel Purnell read the sentences, but no demonstrations occurred, the spectators apparently being unaware of what was going on, only a few of them understanding French.

The clerk of the court journeyed to the jail to notify Krupp von Bohlen and his colleagues that their sentences were not taken back to the court room for the verdict. The court martial deliberated two hours before reaching its decision.

Lenient With Workmen.

The head of the Krupp works and Directors Oesterlin and Hartwig were each sentenced to 15 years, and Director Bruhn to 10 years. Sentences of 20 years each by default were imposed on Hauser, Schneider and Kuntz, who were also defendants, but who are in flight. The court was lenient with Gross and Mueller, both of them workmen, while motorcycle thieves also drew penalties, who are in flight. The prisoners will be kept in the wooden jail until their appeal is heard in Paris, then if it is rejected, they will be taken to Strasbourg or Metz to serve their terms.

WINTER WHEAT CROP DWINDLES

Government Estimates 14.3 Per Cent of Area Abandoned; Condition Below Average

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Smaller crops than last year of winter wheat, rye and hay were forecast today by the department, according to its estimates on conditions existing May 1. Production, however, will be larger than the average of the last 10 years.

Winter wheat, sown last autumn on the second largest acreage ever planted to that crop, suffered heavy abandonment and on May 1 the area remaining to be harvested was 14.3 per cent less than sown.

The average abandonment during the last 10 years was 8.8 per cent, while the highest was 31 per cent in 1917. The crop's condition on May 1 was 80.1 per cent of normal, or 7.4 per cent below the 10 year average. Indications are for a yield per bushel of 40.5, or a total production of 578,287,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 586,204,000 bushels, and the average of preceding five years 568,965,000 bushels.

Production of rye was forecast at 74,510,000 bushels, compared with 95,407,000 bushels last year, and 63,419,000 bushels, the 10 year average. Hay production was forecast at 100,853,000 tons, compared with 112,791,000 tons last year and a 10 year average of 99,653,000 tons, while hay remaining on farms May 1 was 15,830,000 tons, or 2,561,000 tons more than a year ago.

Spring plowing and planting was more advanced than a year ago, but slightly behind the 10 year average.

Boundary County Committee Unloads 25 Unfortunates Across Montana Line After Dracting Promise

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, May 8 (AP)—Twenty-five alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World were unloaded across the Montana line, 10 miles northeast of here late last night by an organized citizens' committee. The men departed were said to have promised never to return to Boundary county.

One hundred of the town's leading business men met late in the day with an equal number of veteran employees of the Bonners Ferry Lumber company and organized a permanent citizens' committee, with the purpose, it was announced, of preventing the I. W. W. from making Bonners Ferry their northern Idaho headquarters.

Fifty of the men at the meeting then were selected and deputized as special officers by J. D. Foster of Boise, personal representative of the state government at Bonners Ferry. Foster spoke for the lumber company men, was chosen captain. It was the body which arranged the roundup of the alleged radicals and their deportation.

PURNELL'S WIFE NOW IS SOUGHT

Grand Jury Issues Subpoena for "Queen" Mary to Tell of Alleged Immoral Practices

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., May 8 (AP)—"Queen" Mary Purnell, wife of the mining leader of the Isanidic House of David, today was served with a subpoena to appear tomorrow before the grand jury investigating charges of immoral condition by Benjamin Purnell, her husband.

Facing "Queen" Mary will be Hazel Wade Wuerth, ex-member of the colony, who told Judge Harry Dingsman, the one-man grand jury that she was mistreated by Purnell while a child in Shiloh, his home. Mrs. Wuerth, who is assisting the grand jury, will check up the testimony of Mrs. Purnell.

Assistant Attorney General Homer Quay, conducting the inquiry, plans to ask "Queen" Mary whether she knows the whereabouts of her husband who has been missing for months, and also what she knows about the alleged practices indulged in by "King" Benjamin in the guise of religious rites, and a score of more school girls who live in Shiloh.

Own Marriage Questioned.

The grand jury is also expected to question Mrs. Purnell in regard to her marriage to the cult leader. Judge Dingsman said he had received reports that Purnell deserted his wife and child at Portsmouth, Ky., before he and "Queen" Mary appeared at Detroit in 1920.

Three school girls from the House of David were questioned by the grand jury today, and from their testimony it was reported investigators connected parts of the story told by other witnesses.

The three child witnesses were Hazel Jaykiss, 12; Bessie Boruff, 15, and Curtis Edmunds, who gave her age as 17. Mrs. Isabell Prichard, a former member of the colony who left after her two daughters confessed impropriety with Purnell, was another witness. She was reported to have said that Edith Meldrum, private secretary of Purnell, had offered her $500 when she left if she would sign an affidavit that she knew nothing derogatory concerning him. She said she refused.

Implicates Women Aides.

Mrs. Prichard also described a scene in which she said Mary Ranger, former custodian of the younger children of the colony, and Ada Ross, another of Purnell's assistants, admitted they knew of improper conduct on his part. Miss Ranger and Miss Ross are still members of the colony and will be called later.

Logging Operators in Washington and Idaho Refuse Employment to Known Members of Striking Organization

SEATTLE, May 8 (AP)—Known members of the Industrial Workers of the World are being refused employment by lumber camps and mills in Washington and northern Idaho, logging operators announced today. The ban does not affect men who joined the general strike through fear. Some of the mills that were forced to close down because of the strike are re-employing strikers who are known to have taken a passive attitude during the strike. Mill men said the strike had affected the log supply to a greater degree than was at first reported, but they expected no acute shortage.

electricians, glaziers, tanners, plumbers and awning men have been very busy the last six weeks helping us to make this store a bigger and better place to trade, and we now ask you to judge how well we have succeeded.

With pardonable pride we can point to the store which is larger, brighter and more airy, with new, attractive merchandise arriving daily, we can point to greater selections in every department.

Sixteen Years Ago

the Hood Sisters founded the Twin Falls Golden Rule on sound business principles, at that time the cash way of doing business was established, eliminating the losses of bad accounts, the expense and labor of keeping records, thus-making it possible to give more for the money.

Better values was from the beginning one of the fundamental principles of the Golden Rule, not the biggest price that can be gotten, but rather the greatest value that can be consistently given, has been the Golden Rule aim.

Another policy which was born with this business was the policy that every customer must be absolutely satisfied with every purchase made, a policy which has won for the Golden Rule a huge army of satisfied loyal customers who know that they can depend upon fair and square treatment at all times.

Under New Management

The Golden Rule passes it's seventeenth milestone and with increased vigor starts on another year of service and fair dealing, adhering strictly to those cardinal principles which have been a big factor in Golden Rule growth.

So Today

we pledge ourselves anew to work and plan harder than ever before, to make this store worthy of your confidence, to make it a better store, a more helpful store, and above all a store that enables you to secure at all times the best merchandise for the least money; we are determined at all times to keep the interests of the customer foremost in mind, that every transaction must be above all satisfactory to the customer.

New Merchandise

is arriving daily, men's and young men's clothing, shoes, shirts, hats, caps and underwear, as well as ready-to-wear, and much new wanted merchandise for the women, the miss or the child, which in quality and assortments commends itself to thrifty shoppers.

We Will Be Pleased to have you look over our new store whether you buy or not, we firmly believe that you will be impressed with the noteworthy values we are offering, and convinced that our chain store purchasing powers, cash buying and cash selling furnishes us with a real supremacy in value giving.

COMMON SENSE

Circumstances over which nobody now has any control have so fixed things that but fifty-six thousand dollars is available for the operation of the municipality of Twin Falls for the current year.

If the people decide that the expense shall be held within this sum the Commission promises to hold it right there. But because of the fact that a degree of economy which will make all previous retrenchment plans pale into insignificance by comparison must ensue, it has been decided to put the question up to the people of Twin Falls to decide.

Frankly, we like the idea. If a majority favors getting along as best we can with the cash on hand, well and good. It will be done. If, on the other hand, the idea that there can be a too rigid economy for the best interests of the City prevails, a special levy will be provided for and the money raised to pay the piper.

It is a problem which can be settled in only one way, namely, by putting the matter squarely up to the voter. But having once decided let's abide by the result. Majority rule goes, whether we like it or not and the time to do our kicking is before, not after the election.

RICH MEN

Henry Ford, it appears, is now the richest man in the world. John D. Rockefeller holds this distinction for many years but the Rockefeller fortune has been cut almost in half by its owner's donations to various charitable foundations.

Mr. Ford has endowed no colleges, founded no new professorships, established no new funds for scientific research, therefore his money remains his own and the sum total of his dollars tops Rockefeller's.

Rockefeller has never inspired confidence, politically or any other way, among the rank and file of the American people and the radical group has for years used him to point the moral to its tales of the evils of predatory wealth.

Yet the same people who regard Rockefeller as a synonym of all that is evil except Henry Ford as the great emancipator when it comes to settling the ills of the world from the standpoint of the common people. Not that there is anything particularly wrong with either the one or the other, but as between the two it would appear that the Rockefeller cash has done more for humanity than the Ford dollars, not just recently, but ever since either one of them commenced to make money on a wholesale scale.

NO LET UP IN BUILDING

Bradstreet's Report Shows Continuing Activity Despite Increased Costs of Material and Labor

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Increased labor and material costs had little effect on building operations throughout the country during April, Bradstreet's report today.

While New York city showed a decrease of total expenditures during April of 17 per cent as compared with March, the total expenditures of 138 cities showed a decrease of only 6.4 per cent in April as compared with March.

The greatest decreases reported for April were from the middle Atlantic section. There were 27 working days in March as compared with 25 in April, the report pointed out.

Stewart and Alfred, disengaged themselves from the crowd to take up positions in front of Madeline and Florence. Pat Howe leaned against a post and insolently ogled Madeline and then Florence. Don Carlos pressed forward. His searching face showed dark lines, like cords, under the surface. His little eyes were exceedingly prominent and glittering. To Madeline his face seemed to be a bold, handsome mask through which his eyes piercingly betrayed the evil nature of the man.

He bowed low with elaborate and sinuous grace. His smile revealed brilliant teeth, enhanced the brilliance of his eyes. He slowly spread deprecatory hands.

"Senorita, I beg a thousand pardons," he said. "How strange it was for Madeline to hear English spoken in a soft, winningly sweet accent! The gracious hospitality of Don Carlos has passed with his house."

Stewart stepped forward and, thrusting Don Carlos aside, he called, "Make way, the crowd fell back to the tramp of heavy boots. Cowboys appeared straggling out of the corridor with long boxes. These they placed side by side upon the floor of the porch.

"Now, Howe, we'll proceed with our business," said Stewart. "You see these boxes, don't you?"

"I reckon I see a good many things round here," replied Howe, meaningly. "Well, do you intend to open these boxes upon my say-so?"

"No," retorted Howe. "It's not my place to meddle with property as come to express an all accounted for regular."

"I'll open them. Here, one of you boys, knock the tops off these boxes," ordered Stewart. "No, not you, Monty. You use your eyes. Let Booby handle the rest. Rustle, now!"

Monty Price had jumped out of the crowd into the middle of the porch. The manner in which he gave way to Booby and faced the vaqueros was not significant of friendliness or trust.

"Stewart, you're dead wrong to bust open their boxes. That's all the law," protested Howe, trying to interfere.

Stewart pushed him back. Then Don Carlos, who had been stunned by the appearance of the boxes, suddenly became active in speech and person. Stewart thrust him back also. The Mexican's excitement increased. He stilly gesticulated; he exclaimed shrilly in Spanish. When, however, the lids were wrenched open and an inside packing torn away he grew rigid and silent. Madeline raised herself behind Stillwell to see that the boxes were full of rifles and ammunition.

"Here, Howe! What do I tell you?" demanded Stewart. "I came over here to take charge of these contraband goods!"

"And, suppose they are? I don't see any call for such all-fired fuss as you're making," Stewart, I can't believe you're some stuck on your new job and want to make a big show before."

"Have, stop slinging that kind of talk," interrupted Stewart. "You got too free with your mouth once before! Now here, I'm supposed to be consulting an attorney of the law. Will you take charge of these contraband goods?"

"Say, you're holdin' on high an' mighty," replied Howe, in astonishment that was plainly pretended. "What're you drivin' at?" Stewart muttered an imprecation. He took several swift strides across the porch; he held out his hands to Stillwell as if to indicate the hopelessness of intelligent and reasonable arbitration; he looked at Madeline with a glance eloquent of his regret that he could not handle the situation to please her. Then as he wheeled he came face to face with Nels, who had slipped forward out of the crowd.

Madeline gathered serious import from the steel-blue morning flash of eyes whereby Nels communicated something to Stewart. Whatever that something was, it dispelled Stewart's impatience. A slight movement of his hand brought Monty Price forward with a jump. In these sudden jumps of Monty's there was a suggestion of restrained ferocity. Then Stewart and Monty lined up behind Stewart. It was a deliberate action, even to Madeline, unmistakably formidable. Pat Howe's face took on an ugly look; his eyes had a reddish gleam. Don Carlos added a just face and extreme nervousness to his former expressions of agitation. The cowboys edged away from the vaqueros and the bronzed, bearded horsemen who were evidently Howe's assistants.

"T'p slinkin' at this," spoke up Stewart presently; and now he was slow and caustic. "How's your contraband war! Howe, do you get that? Arms and ammunition for the rebels across the border! I charge you as an officer to confiscate these goods and to arrest the smuggler—Don Carlos."

These words of Stewart's precipitated a riot among Don Carlos and his followers, and they surged wildly around the sheriff. The crowd around Don Carlos grew louder and denser with the addition of armed vaqueros and bare-footed stable-boys and dusty-booted herders and blunketed Mexicans, the last of whom suddenly slipped from doors and windows and round corners. Shriek cries, evidently from Don Carlos, somewhat quieted the commotion. Then Don Carlos could be heard addressing Sheriff Howe in an exhortation of mingled English and Spanish. He denied, he avowed, he proclaimed, and all in rapid, passionate utterance.

It seemed to Madeline that Don Carlos denied knowledge of the boxes of contraband goods, then knowledge of their real contents, then knowledge of their destination, and, finally, everything except that they were there in sight, damning witnesses to somebody's complicity in the breaking of neutrality laws. Passionate as had been his denial of all this, it was as nothing compared to his denunciation of Stewart.

"Senor Stewart, he keel my vaquero!" shouted Don Carlos, an avowed ing and spent, he concluded his arraignment of the cowboy. "Elin you must arrest! Senor Stewart a bad man! He keel my vaquero!"

"Senor Stewart, He Keel My Vaquero!" Shouted Don Carlos.

ASSURES AID TO MURTAUGH PLAN FOR PUMP UNIT

Federal Commission Secretary Says He Will Recommend Allowance of Permit for Project's Construction

Aid toward the success of the Murtaugh irrigation district is represented in a communication received by Shad L. Houlgin from Commissioner of Reclamation Swenson in which was enclosed a letter from the executive secretary of the federal commission. The letter from the executive secretary stated that he would present to the commission the application of the district for a permit to establish a hydro-electric power plant at Augur falls for the pumping of irrigation water for the district. He stated that he would recommend the commission that the permit be granted.

The Murtaugh district embraces more than 27,000 acres in the vicinity of Murtaugh. The land was originally the Shad L. Houlgin estate, but was released by the land and water company and taken up by settlers who took up the project and worked toward its completion. Plans were formulated by H. T. Henderson of Murtaugh, engineer for the district.

Bonds have been voted by the Murtaugh district and it is understood that Denver interests have been waiting to take up the bonds, their action being dependent largely upon the outcome of the American Farm bond election and the action of the federal commission on the permit to establish the power plant.

COUNTY BOARD ACTS ON PROJECT APPROPRIATION

Pass Resolution to Pay $300 to Murtaugh District; Ask Aid in Destruction of Thistles and Weeds

Appropriation of $300 to the Murtaugh irrigation district and passage of a resolution asking cooperation in ridding the county of noxious weeds constituted features of the meeting of the board of county commissioners Tuesday. The appropriation to the Murtaugh district was made in response to a petition signed by property owners. Members of the board stated they understood the money would be used toward paying the Murtaugh district's part in the general program on behalf of the American Falls district. It is to be paid from the current expense fund.

The commission passed a resolution urging active cooperation of farmers and property owners in the destruction of noxious thistles and other noxious weeds. Flooding during the months of July and August was given as an effective means of weed destruction. The commission refers interested persons to R. E. Brown, county farm agent, for further suggestions.

Routine Business Occupies Regular Session of Board Members; Discuss Water Share Transfer

Transfer of water shares within the district and similar routine business occupied the attention of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Final bill of $16,000 for installment on the 1923 water maintenance has been paid up, a condition which has not prevailed for several years, according to company officials.

New Tax Measure May Be Success

Fears of Disastrous Conditions in County's Finances May Not Materialize

With payments of the second installment of county taxes coming in at a rather favorable rate, present indications encourage the belief that the effects of the new tax law known as house bill No. 49, passed at the last session of the legislature, may not be as severe as they were at first anticipated, according to Mrs. Emma Warren, county treasurer.

"On the face of present conditions, as regards the payment of taxes, it appears that the law may not have the effect that was feared," said Mrs. Warren. "However, it is still too early to tell exactly what the results will be, but taxes are now being paid on the second installment at a good rate and some delinquent taxes are being paid up."

At the time the law was passed there resulted a general impression that it would have an extremely unfavorable result on county finances throughout the state and on the consequent developments was the beginning of a test suit in Ada county.

It was thought that the fact that the bill does away with the penalty on 1921 and 1922 taxes reduces the interest from 12 to 7 per cent and changes the provisions relative to tax deeds that taxpayers would be inclined to withhold payment. The new law provides that property on which a tax deed has been issued can be redeemed at any time by paying all back taxes and providing that it has not been sold by the county.

Launch Drive for Tourist Park Fund

Chamber Directors Decide on Campaign; City Unable to Make Appropriation

The board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday night decided to conduct a drive for funds with which to maintain the Twin Falls tourist park this year, this action being taken in recognition that the city will not be able to sustain the park this year on account of the necessity of cutting down expenses, according to announcement following the meeting.

The drive will be in charge of L. Cloz, chairman of the parks bureau of the chamber of commerce, and it will be conducted among those who are most directly interested in the continuance of the tourist park. The quota has been set at $800 and the maintenance of the park this year, it was stated, depends on whether or not this amount is raised.

The directors recommend that a luncheon at which Dr. Bryan, state commissioner of education, will be the guest, and which will be open to the public, should be given when Dr. Bryan arrives here for the high school commencement exercises Thursday of next week. The affair will be under the direction of Superintendent M. C. Mitchell, chairman of the educational bureau.
