FLOOD AND FIRE SWEEP HOT SPRINGS

Meagre Reports from Stricken Arkansas Resort Town Tell of Loss of 17 Lives; Communication Lines Down

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 14 (AP)—Reports were carried here shortly after midnight that a total of 17 lives were lost last night at Hot Springs by flood and fire, following a deluge of rain and a heavy wind storm which broke upon the city shortly after six o'clock.

The reports of the loss of life came through railway men in communication with the repair men seeking to open a line of communication into Hot Springs, and from a Hot Springs resident married at Benton, 25 miles west of here, between Hot Springs and Hot Springs, endeavoring to reach his home.

Hot Springs lies at the foot of and between two mountains in such a way that the principal streets form a natural stream bed for any torrent originating on either slope. Heavy rains always result in water entering lower floors of dwellings and stores in the central part of the city.

SOVIET'S REPLY IS CONCILIATORY

Russia Expresses Surprise and Regret Over British Ultimatum; Proposes Conference

MOSCOW, May 14 (AP)—Soviet Russia's note to Great Britain, the text of which was given out here today, is couched in conciliatory terms. Expressing regretful surprise at the ultimatum, it proposes a conference at a time and place to be arranged with England, at which responsible representatives of both governments shall discuss not only the disputed secondary question raised in the British note, but shall also regularize fully the relations between Russia and Great Britain.

The note sets forth what it declares are certain errors in the British charge with regard to propaganda by Russia in the east. While admitting that Russia naturally sent money to the Russian representatives in Poland, it says the British are overemphasizing in thinking that Russia has no use for money in the east other than for propaganda.

Peace River Land Operator is Held on Larceny Charge

LOS ANGELES, May 14 (AP)—A man who said he was James M. Clark, 65 years old, was arrested here today on charges of having defrauded many persons in a number of American cities by the alleged sale of land in the Peace River district of Canada. He was held to answer grand larceny charges.

Police declared Clark's operations had netted him in excess of $100,000 and that he not only did not own the land he was purported to have sold, but never had even seen it.

The officers said Clark had operated in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Duluth, Miami, Superior, Wis., Kansas City, Mo., Fort Dodge, Kansas, Seattle and Spokane, and various cities in Idaho and Indiana.

It was alleged he had represented himself as a personal friend of W. W. Cory, deputy commissioner of the Interior, Ottawa, but Commissioner Cory was said to have denied the asserted friendship.

Storm Strikes Western Texas County in Early Morning Hours and Deals Death and Devastation for 30 Miles

COLORADO CITY, Texas, May 14 (AP)—Seventeen known dead, about 100 injured, seven seriously, and at least 300 homeless, was the toll of the tornado which cut a swath through Mitchell county in west Texas early today.

Reports late tonight from the stricken area, while not complete, were believed to fairly indicate the extent of the damage.

The injured are being cared for in the hospital here, the Methodist and Baptist churches and many private homes. Some were hurt so seriously their deaths are expected.

A special train from Big Springs brought doctors, nurses and medical supplies. Others came from Snyder and Sweetwater.

Five Children Killed

The tornado struck between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning and caught most of its victims in bed. It leveled buildings and left death and injury in its wake for a distance of 30 miles.

All the deaths were in more or less isolated places on farms. Due to the distance between farms and demoralization of wire communication it was expected that it would be many hours before the entire district could be heard from.

Citizens of towns near the storm-swept area rushed first aid, provisions and relief supplies for the victims. The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce started a relief fund to care for the destitute.

Californian Talks Bandits into Granting Him Liberty

A. Henley Capitalizes Popularity to Obtain "Leave of Absence" and Loan of $20 and Mule from Robber Chief

SHANG HAI, May 14 (AP)—A. Henley of San Francisco, one of the prisoners captured by the Suchow bandits, who arrived at Lanchow two days ago from the bandits' stronghold, was not granted his unconditional release by his captors, but had obtained 24 hours' "leave of absence" from the robber chief, from whom the American also borrowed $20 and a mule to make his trip down from the hills, according to reports brought here today.

Henley, according to Marcel Jovet, of the British-American Tobacco company staff, who arrived on the midnight express from Tanchow, became popular with the bandits and was permitted to pass through the lines to visit the relief camps in the foothills.

The San Franciscan came down from the brigands' lair Saturday, clad in a pair of pajamas, carrying $20 he had borrowed from the robber chief, riding a donkey he had obtained from the same source, and was given instructions from the bandits to return by Sunday night, or the remainder of the captives would be shot.

Foreigners in Ticklish Position

Jovet said that squads of coolie pack carriers are taking supplies to the bandits' headquarters and that all the hostages are well, according to last reports which he left Tanchow. He added, however, that any hostile movement by the troops in the district would result in the immediate execution of the foreign prisoners. Officers in command of the troops have reiterated their previous assurances that the soldiers would be withdrawn, but whether this promise has been kept is not known in Tanchow.

Many Chinese Captives

It is now pretty definitely established that 15 men are being held by the bandits, together with Senora Verca, wife of one of them, who has repeatedly refused to abandon her husband. It is also believed that upwards of 100 Chinese are held in the brigands' stockades, many of them wealthy and prominent.

TELLS BANDITS' OBJECTIVES

TIENTSIN, May 14 (AP)—Reiteration of the authority they formerly enjoyed in the territory they had been raiding and not ransom is the principal condition for which the Suchow bandits are holding out before they would release their prisoners, according to the latest advices received here.

J. A. Henley of San Francisco, one of the captives, who arrived at Lanchow Saturday, said that during the Day of Ridgewood, New Jersey, was captured, but was released and sent to Shanghai with a demand for ransom for the captured prisoners.

Premature Explosion at Ruhr-ort Discloses New Tack in German Sabotage

DUESSELDORF, May 14 (AP)—Floating mines, similar to those used by the Germans in the North sea during the war, are being brought into play in efforts to hinder coal and coke transportation from the Ruhr. It was announced at French headquarters here.

At least one of the largest inland ports in the world, efforts were made to destroy the gates of the canal, which, if successful, would have drained the canal and the great Ruhr lock. The mine exploded prematurely and the damage was slight.

Several German canal officials have been arrested.

Chinese Steamer Falls into Hands of Pirates Disguised as Passengers

HONG KONG, May 14 (AP)—European passengers were among those terrorized and robbed when the Chinese steamer Taihsun was seized near Swatow Saturday by pirates, who, disguised as passengers, overpowered the crew, sailed the ship for nearly 24 hours, at night without lights and finally left her yesterday at the mouth of a small creek, transferring to a junk boat valued at $60,000.

The Taihsun, which was bound from Hong Kong for Shanghai, returned to Hong Kong yesterday afternoon. The chief officer, wounded in the forenoon by a pirate, was taken to a hospital. Most of the passengers had lost all their money and personal effects. The vessel's cargo, a valuable one, was not disturbed.

Shantung Governor Tells the American Consul He Has Met Suchow Bandits' Demand by Calling Off Troops

SHANG HAI, May 15 (AP)—Unless the foreign diplomatic representatives in China guarantee by tonight that the Chinese government will carry out all the terms fixed by the Chinese bandits in the Shantung hills, the foreigners held captive will all be killed, Father William Lenfers, an aged priest, was conferred with the bandit chieftain Sunday, reported to the American consul at Lanchow today.

Father Lenfers described the chieftain, called Wang, as "a young man, clean, well dressed, wearing eye-glasses." The priest persuaded Wang to extend for one day the limit of his ultimatum, which had been fixed at two days from Sunday. Wang told him that the pledges of Chinese officials meant nothing to the bandits and hence the word of the foreign diplomats must be given.

GOVERNOR ASKS MORE TIME

PEKING, May 14 (AP)—General Zeng Kuo, inspector general of the Civil Shantung and Honan forces, at the request of the Chinese government of Shantung, has asked the Peking government to secure from the diplomatic representatives in the capital an extension of the time for the release of the prisoners in the hands of the bandits. The members of the diplomatic corps here seem to be fully impressed with the urgency of the situation and have agreed on them and have requested instructions from their respective governments. It is understood at present there is no possibility of completing the negotiations in time for the release of the prisoners. Other as train guards or in other capacities, the government foreseeing the possibility of greater international complications than those brought about by the Lanchow affair.

It appears likely that the government will be requested to appoint a commission of foreigners to traverse the region of the Chinese frontier to check against the preparatory arrangements of the government against holdups similar to the Lanchow affair.

HARDING TURNS ATTENTION TO SPEAKING TOUR

President, on Western Trip, Will Report on Stewardship and Outline Future Policies of Administration

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Having virtually decided on the itinerary of his western trip, President Harding has begun to give considerable thought to the addresses he will make en route to the Pacific coast and in the coast states.

The itinerary as now arranged provides for speeches in about twelve cities, the first in St. Louis and the last probably in San Diego, Cal.

Although Mr. Harding has indicated in regards these addresses somewhat secondary to the real purpose of the trip—his visit to Alaska—he, nevertheless, proposes to prepare them with care. Through them he intends to report to the American people on the stewardship with which he was entrusted two years ago and also to outline the future policies of his administration.

Assigning Topics

The first step toward preparation he has begun to select the topics he desires to discuss and to assign them to the various addresses of his principal addresses. In doing this the president is understood to be following a policy of speaking upon a topic of special interest to the community of which the particular city is the center.

The initial address in St. Louis, it is understood, will be of a general nature, somewhat of a preface to the others to come, but devoted in the main to a presentation of the president's views on the proposal for American membership in the permanent court of international justice. These views are expected to follow along the lines laid down by the executive in his New York address last month with the addition of new arguments in support of the proposal.

Traffic Problem at Kansas City

Passing on to Kansas City, the president, according to some of his advisers, will speak upon the transportation problem. In this address it is considered likely that he will touch the line, at least in a preliminary way, the recommendations with respect to railroad legislation which he will make to congress next December. He also will discuss water transportation, a phase of the transportation question which was discussed by him today with Representative Newton of Missouri, a republican member of the house rivers and harbors committee.

The next address will be made at Hutchinson, Kansas, and from present indications will be devoted to the general agricultural question. The president outlining what his administration has done for the farmers with particular mention of the Fordney-McCumber tariff and credits legislation.

Speeches to be made at Denver, Salt Lake City, Boise, Idaho, and Helena, Mont., likewise will be upon subjects of particular interest to those communities.

As for Seattle, some of those who have talked recently with the president understand he desires to announce in that city his new policy for Alaska as based on observations made during the more than two weeks he will spend there. This is contingent, however, on whether he returns to that city after his Alaskan trip or lands at Portland, Ore.

One of the questions contemplated by the executive will deal with the results of the arms conference, and he is said to feel that the logical place for such a speech would be a Pacific coast city, the coast being particularly interested in the four power treaty as well as many of the other conventions which resulted from the conference.

The president was formally invited to Utah today by Governor Mabey who, with Senator King, called at the White House. Another caller, W. H. Gooding of Lovelock, Nev., invited him to visit Reno. He was understood to have explained that his itinerary as now arranged would not permit such a stop on the outward trip, but that he might be able to visit Reno on Nevada point on a side trip from Yosemite National park, where he hopes to spend two or three days.

Steps preparatory to the Alaskan part of the trip already are being taken by some of the branches of the government having jurisdiction there. Commissioner Tigert of the bureau of education will leave in a few days for Alaska to make some arrangements with respect to school exhibits.

URGES FOREIGN RELATIONS BODY

Banker Would Relieve President and Secretary of State of Power as to Other Nations

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—The existing system of handling foreign relations, he said, fails utterly to give expression to popular opinion. No president, he asserted, was even elected because of his knowledge of foreign affairs, and the same rule applied to the senate.

Mr. Vanderlip addressed the general convention of the New Jerusalem, the Swedenborgian church in America.

Hailing the world court, as advocated by President Harding, as a move in the right direction, Mr. Vanderlip said that although it has been opposed hardily as a step forward, it has encountered the most widespread opposition. We hear again the old cry of 'national sovereignty.' Nothing must be done to interfere with 'national sovereignty.' We must have none of international justice, international morality, if it interferes with our national sovereignty, which must have its way, right or wrong.

SEES BLOW AT RUSSIA IN-BOMB PLOT ARREST

Kuzbass' Representative Says Charges Against Suspect are "Framed" to Destroy Value of His Testimony

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—The charge that Neph Lermer, youthful electrician, held on a charge of murder in connection with the Wall street explosion of 1920, had been "framed" to destroy the value of his testimony in defense of the officials of the Kuzbass colony in Russia, indicted for grand larceny from Americans, was made today by Thomas Reese, American representative of Kuzbass' managing board.

Lermer was arrested Saturday on a statement attributed to Mrs. Thomas Doyle of Butte, Idaho, to the effect that he had boasted in Russia that he either drove, or knew who drove the "little red wagon" that carried to Wall street the bomb that killed more than 40 persons and wrought property damage running into the millions. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle were the complainants in whose testimony Reese and P. Pascal Cosgrove were indicted in connection with Kuzbass industrial project. Lermer for a time was employed by Kuzbass in Russia. "We charge," said the Reese statement, "that the attempt to pin Lermer with the Wall street bomb explosion is a frame-up to discredit one of our best witnesses. Lermer returned because he has consanguinity. The Doyle's know he was an enthusiast for the Kuzbass project. They had a personal grievance also because he had been detailed to watch their movements in Kuzbass. We shall demonstrate in due time the connections and influence back of the Doyle's. It is clear that they are being used to the limit by political enemies of Russia—the National Civic Federation; the department of justice, Samuel Gompers, and the New York city bomb squad, among others."

Reese's statement added that Assistant District Attorney Weller, who handled the Kuzbass indictments, and now is handling the Lermer case, "overworking his staff witnesses, the Doyle's, who returned from the Kuzbass colony in violation of their contracts and charged us with having set them on misrepresentations of conditions there."

"That charge, like this against Lermer," he said, "is preposterous and ridiculous, as will be proved."

TWO AMERICANS KILLED IN FRENCH PLANE WRECK

Six Persons Meet Death when Paris-London Passenger Ship Crashes; Identification Proves Difficult

COXON, France, May 14 (AP)—Six persons, including two Americans, were killed in a wreck of a passenger airplane on the Paris-London route this afternoon at the village of Monsureux. One of the Americans was Laurence von Post Schwan of New York, and the other is believed to have been Miss Yvonnita Bates of New York.

There appears to be no doubt about the identity of Mr. Schwan, but there is some uncertainty respecting the woman, the only means of identification being papers found in the charred debris, which were hardly decipherable.

Mr. Schwan was a member of the firm of Oelrichs and company, wool dealers of New York. He had just completed a business trip to Europe and was flying to London with the intention of sailing from Liverpool Saturday on the Mauretania.

Trapshooting Teams Shoot into Tie Score

Twin Falls Victory Brings Total to Three Rounds Won by Each Team

Twin Falls trap shooters shot into an even break with the Boise club artists Sunday morning, when they won the telegraphic shoot with the capital city men, 147 to 141.

The first round of the seven game series will be shot next Sunday. Result of Sunday's Shoot

HITTING THE BULL'S EYE

May weather kept the crowd down to a minimum but the web-footers did the best shooting of the season.

Pop Fisher held a handkerchief in one hand and his gun in the other, and after each shot would wipe his noble brow.

Let Wright again hogged the honor for the day with 92 out of 100, this is Class A shooting, and if such work continues, Lester will be right up among 'em when the state tournament is over.

Three visitors from Salt Lake took a whirl at pulverizing the elusive tar babies, Harry Luff breaking 43 out of 50.

Boise may ask for a recount after sending a score of 147.

Case and Hamilton of Piler shot at 125 birds, Case breaking 91 and Hamilton 77.

John Irons looked like a big league breaker 47 out of 50.

Havens, he of the double barrel blunderbuss, broke 24 out of 25, and missed because he thought that some of the old timers would get jealous if he went the 25 straight.

Our weekly aid to trapshooters: Don't forget that the score with Boise is now a tie, and everybody that can hold a gun is now tied Sunday to take the series from the capital city shooters.

MATTISON AND BRACKEN OUT OF CUE TOURNAMENT

Snook and Goldwater qualify for Later Rounds in Three Cushion Billiard Matches

Two more cue artists fell by the wayside last night in the three-cushion double elimination billiard tournament at Haseley's billiard parlor.

The second game of the evening, between Goldwater and Bracken, was by far the most exciting of the tournament to date.

This game ran 67 innings, due to the fact that both players resorted to safety play during the entire game.

Bracken started out as though he was in a hurry. Goldwater led to the 11th inning, the score reading 6 to 5.

Bracken failed to score from then until the 43rd frame, when he rang the bell once. Goldwater made one in the 34th inning, one in the 39th and one in the 40th.

In the 43rd and 44th Goldwater made one, needing three to win. Bracken continued his safety play as did Goldwater, which seemed to bother the contestants more than the making of the billiards.

Bracken left a set-up which Goldwater picked up, falling into two more and ending the game.

The opening game of the evening went to Doc Snook in handy fashion in 69 innings, Mattison being off color with Snook, waiting patiently for the contestants more than the making of the billiards.

This evening Bailey and Logan will play the opener, with Epler and Larsen playing the night-cap.

HARD FOUGHT DIAMOND CONTESTS IN PROSPECT

Caldwell Team, Fresh from Victories in West Division, Comes Here to Oppose South Central Leaders

When Caldwell and Twin Falls play their three game series for the inter-scholastic baseball championship of Idaho here starting on Wednesday.

Fresh from their three game victory over Pocatello the Twin Falls players have started practice for the Caldwell series with a dash, and have shown enough pep to even call forth praise from the sphinx like Coach Evans.

As has been the custom in three game season ticket for the price of two games.

Caldwell has been winning all its games in the west and will no doubt come down here to try and repeat its feat of last year and take back the state championship.

Twin Falls is represented this year by the best team that has ever played for the blue and white, and the only way to arrive at a definite conclusion as to the superiority of the two teams is to hike to Lincoln field Wednesday and see for yourself.

The Wednesday, Thursday and Friday games will start at 3:30.

RITCHIE WOULD COMEBACK

Former Lightweight Champion Announces Purpose to Challenge Benny Leonard, Title Holder

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 (AP)—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, announced tonight he would essay a "comeback" in the pugilistic world and will shortly challenge Benny Leonard, the WBO holder.

Since his retirement from the ring nearly eight years ago Ritchie has been in business in San Francisco. He is 32 years old.

Ritchie lost the lightweight championship to Freddie Welsh in a 20-round fight in London in July, 1914. He won the title in San Francisco in November, 1912, by defeating Al Volgast. Ritchie came into fistic prominence at Los Angeles in 1911, when, substituting for the Welter, who was suddenly taken ill, he stayed through 20 rounds with Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight.

Arrangements for Firpo-Willard Bout to Determine Challenger for Heavyweight Crown Almost Complete

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Negotiations for a match between Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo on June 30 at a special place probably at the Yankee stadium, as a final step in the elimination process to select another challenger for Jack Dempsey's throne, reached a stage of completion today.

Willard and his manager, Ray Archer, accepted the suggested date for the match at a conference with promoter Tex Rickard, while Jimmy De Forest, the South American ring promoter, also put his stamp of approval on preliminary plans.

Discussion of financial terms was deferred until tomorrow at another conference between the principals and Rickard.

But the comedy is not all thrills. There is a real story—a delightful story with pretty little Mildred Davis—now Mrs. Harold Lloyd—the young lady in the case. We don't like to tell too much of it, but Mildred is the cause of everything—has been with woman through the ages.

INVESTIGATORS UNCOVER CLUES IN MOUNT CASE

Statements of Former Roommate of Missing Student Assume Prominence in Efforts to Solve Mystery

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—While the search for the missing student, the disappearance twenty months ago of Leighton Mount, Northwestern university student, spent only a short time today in questioning witnesses and no important information was divulged. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney said tonight, that investigators were on firm ground finally, and predicted that the mystery soon would be solved. Roscoe Conkling Fitch, a reporter and a former roommate of Mount, who broke down under questioning on Saturday after saying that he knew "a lot about the missing case," when he retracted the statement, will be questioned further, Mr. Crowe said, adding that he believed Fitch knows more facts than he has divulged.

The Mount case was temporarily sidetracked by the state's attorney's office today to concentrate on the investigation of the death of Louis Auro, another freshman, in an automobile accident following a chase which lasted about three weeks ago and a week before a skeleton identified as that of Mount, was found under an Evanston pier.

Pier Party Under Cloud

Fitch made a detailed statement today about the missing case, which was killed when an automobile loaded with freshmen struck another machine. Fitch said he was a member of a student group in another case. As a result of his statement, Crowe said that the grand jury might be asked to indict the boys in the two cars for manslaughter.

Mr. Crowe was advised today that District Attorney Banton of New York has located Miss Katherine Hitchcock, a friend of J. Allen Mills of Akron, Ohio, a former student at Northwestern. She was arrested about three weeks ago and a week before a skeleton identified as that of Mount, was found under an Evanston pier.

Girl Delays Appearance

Mrs. Aubrey Louquist Scott, bride of Fred Scott, nephew of Walter Hill Scott, president of Northwestern, failed to appear today to tell about telephone calls which came from young Scott, who her father asserted, asked the girl to tell Mr. Louquist "not" to talk about the case. Mrs. Louquist, a wealthy real estate man who is suing for annulment of his daughter's runaway marriage, told the state's attorney office that he would have his daughter's name in the Fitch's story of the Auburn case as given out by Mr. Crowe revealed that all the principals had entered into an agreement to keep completely silent with the episode which led to the fatal automobile accident.

Proachers Beafirm Confidence

The Methodist Episcopal preachers meeting in weekly session today, in a resolution, passed unanimously, declared that "Northwestern University is being subjected to damning criticism" in connection with the disappearance of Leighton Mount, freshman, in 1932, and reaffirmed their confidence in the university and its trustees.

CONVICT CAMP LEADERS HELD

Whipping Boss, Superintendent and Sheriff Charged with Conspiracy and Kidnaping

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 14 (AP)—Walter Higginbotham, convict whipping boss, and William Fisher, superintendent of the Putnam Lumber company, are expected to arrive here late tomorrow in the custody of a United States deputy marshal, following federal indictments being returned against them and A. P. Jones, former sheriff of Leon county. Jones was arrested here today and released on bail. Higginbotham and Fisher will be served with warrants at Cross City tomorrow morning. District Attorney Fred Culbertson said today, countering his order not to arrest Higginbotham until after his trial in the state court for murder, that the whipping boss taken into custody along with Fisher.

Jones, Fisher and Higginbotham are to go on trial here in June, they having been indicted for conspiracy and kidnaping. The indictment followed the death of Ned Thompson, 64 years old, negro, who was alleged to have been whipped by Higginbotham after he had been unlawfully taken to the convict camp of the Putnam Lumber company. Thompson died shortly after the whipping.

The state senate today concurred in the house measure to abolish the whipping of prisoners in this state. The senate vote came on the question of concurring in a house amendment to a bill introduced by Senator Turnbull last week. This bill would expressly direct the state officials to suspend the whipping of prisoners struck on the experimental camp and made an outright abandonment of the whip.

SEARCHERS FIND BODY OF MURDERED OFFICER

Shallow Grave Gives Up Corpse of Patrolman Griffin, Believed Slain by Man He Held Under Arrest

CLEVELAND, May 14 (AP)—A make shift grave, a shallow, two-foot hollow at the roots of a fallen tree between the ashes of tree logfires in which the charred remains of Patrolman Dennis Griffin's clothing were found near Chagrin Falls, east of here, today gave up the body of the murdered policeman who had been missing since early Friday morning.

"Get him—dead or alive," was the grim order that went forward through the police department for the capture of John Leonard Whitfield, Griffin's abductor and alleged slayer, almost immediately after the body was found. A warrant issued today formally charged Whitfield with the murder. The hunt for Whitfield is on throughout the nation. Posters bearing his picture have been sent to every police chief in the country, but no trace of him has been found since 4 p. m. Friday.

Griffin arrested Whitfield as the alleged leader of a band of automobile accessory thieves at Whitfield's home early Friday morning. Whitfield went into the house to change his clothes, and a search of his pockets by a police officer slipped a revolver into his pocket. Griffin searched him before permitting him to go into the house, but not after. The law was broken by the fact that when he and Whitfield left the latter's home in Whitfield's automobile for the police station.

SEATTLE'S FARES RAISED

City Council Advances Charge to 10 Cents to Meet Deficit of $5,000 at Year-End 5-Cent System

SEATTLE, Wash., May 14 (AP)—The city council today passed an ordinance raising an emergency clause, raising fares on the municipal street railway system from two cents to five cents, or three metal tokens for 25 cents. The five-cent fare was established March 1, in the hope that the additional patronage under the lower fare would increase earnings of the line.

A recent survey of earnings of the system under the five cent fare showed a deficit of nearly $5,000 daily. Negotiations are under way for an extension of the life of the bonds by which the system was purchased from the Stone and Webster interests in 1919.

Major Henry Arnold, commander of Rockwell field, said today there would be no formal inquiry into the fatal crash, as an official report declaring the two officers had not died was submitted to the war department last February and the names of Colonel Marshall and Lieutenant Webber were struck from the army register soon after.

Lieutenant Webber will be buried in Denver and Colonel Marshall at Arlington national cemetery.

Warren, speaking today for the United States delegation at the inaugural session of the mixed commission which has before it the task of endeavoring to bring about a resumption of friendly relations between Mexico and the United States.

"To do so," continued Mr. Warren, "is only to invite a situation that will prevent economic cooperation which will be beneficial for the two countries. INCREASED PRODUCTION CALLED PRESENT NEED

National Bureau of Economic Research Bares Optimistic View of Business Future on Wide Studies

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Increased and stabilized production is the key to national prosperity, in the opinion of speakers at the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers today. M. C. Rorty, president of the national bureau of economic research, declared that three years investigation of the present day economic problems of the United States had led the bureau to conclude that the primary need is for increased production.

Mr. Rorty declared that, while all the ordinary economic signs pointed to the recovery of the business, the lingering depression, the great cure exercised by the average manufacturer and distributor against repetition of the troubles of 1929 and 1932, pointed in the opposite direction. "It would be a miracle," he said, "if the present business cycle failed to follow the same course as the others that have preceded it. It is quite possible that the complications resulting from a superabundance of credit facilities and from a continuing instability in price levels may deflect our best efforts to avoid the usual alternations of business feast and business famine. But personally I am more optimistic."

refuges. Hotels, private homes and rooming houses have browned over their doors, and the situation is gradually taking on a semblance of order. Trains are running regularly, but roads are still out of commission, soggy and this is hampering to some extent the work of the rescue parties. At least 50 houses are reported destroyed and damage to crops could not be estimated.

Tears Up Railways.

The wind tore and twisted down everything in its path. Telephone and telegraph poles were snapped off at the ground, and a number of transcontinental wires were cut out of commission. Where the tornado crossed a railroad track, rails were torn up and twisted blown away.

Heavy rains had made the roads soft and relief workers had trouble visiting the demolished farm houses.

This city has a population of approximately 2000. The country hit by the storm is mostly prairie land, dotted with farms.

REPORTS OF FIRE ERRONEOUS.

ABILENE, Texas, May 14 (AP)—Reports of a fire at Colorado City today proved to be erroneous, the rumor having started when Sweetwater rushed medical supplies to Colorado City by a fire truck. Rumors of a second conflagration at Colorado City also proved false.

FILM ACTRESS SEEKS DIVORCE.

LOS ANGELES, May 14 (AP)—Carmel Myers, motion picture actress, today filed in superior court another suit for divorce from Pauline P. Korshak, attorney from New York. She charged desertion and abandonment. They were married in New York July 16, 1919, and separated May 9, 1932, according to her complaint. A suit brought by Miss Myers several months ago was dismissed by the court.

GLASS MAKES IMPROVEMENT.

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Montague Glass, author and playwright, was reported tonight as slightly improved and to have a "fighting chance" for life at Roosevelt hospital, where yesterday he underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Glass during the afternoon lapsed into unconsciousness for a time and physicians believed he would die.

ATTITUDE OF ITALY AND ENGLAND SUITS FRENCH

Paris Official Circles Stress References to Propagation that Germany May Make New Offers

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Premier Poincaré will acknowledge receipt of the Italian and British replies to the German reparations proposals without comment, it was said, at the foreign office today.

There is little disposition in French official circles to discuss these documents, but the expressions thus far heard indicate there is considerable satisfaction that the notes from London and Rome did not vary so radically from the Franco-Belgian standpoint as was thought might be the case from the previous declaration by Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary. Stress is laid on the fact that both Lord Curzon and Premier Mussolini claim credit for drawing the Germans out, and this is taken as an indication that both think the proposals made by Germany may prove to be the starting point for new negotiations with chances of success.

Not Eminent.

A judge was once passing sentence on a man, and in the course of his preliminary remarks he referred to him as "a professional burglar." The prisoner raised loud protests from the dock. "Here," he exclaimed, "I dunno what you mean by callin' me a professional burglar. I've only done it once before and I've been nabbed both times." The judge beamed upon him. "Oh, I did not mean to say," he remarked in his suave manner, "that you were eminent in your profession."

TRANSPORTATION SHORTAGE

According to Secretary Hoover, the greatest waste in our national economic machine at the present time is the shortage of transportation. This shortage, he says, "imposes burdens upon us which I believe every year create commercial losses equal to the entire capital cost of bringing the transportation system up to the national need."

and one-half per cent have to be educated. Unfortunately, he says, the sellers of fake securities have devoted a great deal more ingenuity and effort to reaching the small, ignorant investor than has legitimate business. This is natural. The crooks reap a far higher percentage of profit out of the money invested than do the honest men. Often it is all profit except the selling expense. It is to be remembered, however, that honest business enterprise and its honest representatives stand to gain more, in the long run, from wise cultivation of the investment field, than do the blue sky promoters who exploit public ignorance.

The investor who is fooled may be through with investment forever, and so may his relatives and friends. The investor, who is taught how to invest profitably, becomes a constant source of new investment capital.

THE FORUM

CONGRATULATIONS

Boise, Idaho, May 13, 1923.

Dear "News":

When, in the winter of 1861-2, General Grant broke the first Confederate line of defense by the capture of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson, the legislature of Tennessee, then sitting at Nashville, was in grave doubt as to what other Tennessee city they could go and be safe from the capture that was about to befall the state capital.

The House, a majority of whom were secessionists, was in a ferment. Suggestions were being made and objections offered, when one of the members arose and gravely moved that the House adjourn to meet in Heaven.

At a moment of deep silence a tall mountaineer from a Union constituency slowly roused himself in his seat and said: "Mr. Speaker, if that motion should prevail, this House will never be able to get a quorum through all eternity."

This true story is only pertinent to the present situation in Twin Falls by contrast! In the face of the leading but assured capture of that community by General Prosperity, a member thereof would wish to go anywhere—not even to Heaven!

Yours Truly, C. L. LONGLEY.

"I've done the service. Only don't mention my name. But there's one thing I'd like you to know, and I find it hard to say. It's prompted, maybe, by what I know you think of me and what I imagine your family and friends would think if they knew. I'm not prompted by pride or conceit. And it's this: Such a woman as you should never have come to this Godforsaken country unless she meant to forget herself. But as you did come, and as you were dragged away by those devils, I want you to know that all your wealth and position and influence—all that power behind you—would never have saved you from hell tonight. Only such a man as Nels or Nick Steele or I could have done that."

Madeline Hammond felt the great leveling force of the truth. Whatever the difference between her and Stewart, or whatever the imagined difference set up by false standards of class and culture, the truth was that here on this wild mountain-side she was only a woman who had been simply a man. It was a man that she needed, and if her choice could have been considered in this extremity it would have fallen upon him who had just faced her in quiet, bitter speech. Here was food for thought.

"I reckon we'd better start now," he said, and drew the horse to a large rock. "Come."

Madeline's will greatly exceeded her strength. For the first time she acknowledged to herself that she had been hurt. Still, she did not feel much pain except when she moved her shoulder. Once in the saddle, where Stewart lifted her, she drooped weakly. The way was rough; every step the horse took hurt her; and the slope of the ground threw her forward on the pommel.

"Here is the trail," said Stewart, at length.

Not far from that point Madeline awoke, and but for Stewart's support would have fallen from the saddle. She heard him swear under his breath.

"Here, this won't do," he said. "Throw your leg over the pommel. The other one—here." He slipped behind her and lifted and turned her, and then held her with his left arm so that she lay across the saddle and his knees, her head against his shoulder.

As the horse started into a rapid walk Madeline gradually lost all pain and discomfort when she relaxed her muscles. Presently she let herself go Madeline they were in order with all the rest of her changed life. There was never a day that something interesting was not brought to her notice. Stillwell, who had ceaselessly reproached himself for riding away the morning Madeline was captured, grew more like an anxious parent than a faithful superintendent. He was never at ease regarding her unless she was near the ranch or had left Stewart there, or else Nels and Nick Steele. Naturally, he trusted more to Stewart than to any one else.

"Miss Majesty, it's sure amazing strange about Gene," said the old cat-lemme, as he tramped into Madeline's office.

"What's that the matter now?" she inquired.

"Wal, Gene has rustled off into the mountains again. He's engaged off, an' Nels, who was down to the lower trail, saw him meet somebody that looked like Pedro Marcos. Wal, I went down to see if I could find out what Pedro Marcos is gone. What do you think of that, Miss Majesty?"

"Maybe Stewart is getting religious," laughed Madeline. "Let him take his mysterious trips into the mountains. Here, Stillwell, I have news for you that I want you to know. I want to have letters from home. And my sister, with a party of friends, is coming out to visit me. They are society folk, and one of them is an English lord. Let me read you a few extracts from my mail."

Madeline took up her sister's letter with a strange sensation of how easily sight of a crested monogram and scent of delicately perfumed paper could recall the brilliant life she had given up. She scanned the pages of beautiful handwriting, Helen's agonized words, and the words of the letter, not even popular novels of the day. She was absolutely ignorant of the West as the Englishman, who she said, expected to hunt buffalo and fight Indians. Moreover, there was a sardonic note in the letter that Madeline did not like, and which roused her spirit.

When she finished reading aloud a few paragraphs the old cat-lemme snorted and his face grew redder.

"Did your sister write that?" he asked. "Does she think we're a lot of fools?"

"Evidently she does." "I rather think she is in for a surprise. Now, Stillwell, you are clever and you can see the situation. I want my guests to enjoy their stay here, but I do not want that to be at the expense of the feelings of all of us, or even any one. I don't want any of our friends to be disappointed. Let us see that they are not disappointed. You take the boys into your confidence. Tell them what to expect, and tell them how to meet it. I shall help you in that. I want the boys to be on their feet when they are off duty. I want them to be on their most elegant behavior. I do not care what they do, what measures they take to protect themselves, what tricks they contrive, so long as they do not overstep the limit of their duty."

"I want them to play their parts seriously, naturally, as if they had lived no other way. My guests expect to have fun. Let us meet them with fun. Now what do you say?"

Stillwell rose, his great bulk towering, his huge face beaming.

"Wal, I see it's the most amazing fine idea I ever heard in my life." "Indeed, I am glad you like it," went on Madeline. "Come to me again, Stillwell, after you have spoken to the boys. But, now that I have suggested it, I am a little afraid. You know what cowboy fun is. Her Majesty's word was produced which is a vital element of the modern Hawaiian music. The air was carried on dutes of bamboo and rude clarionets, the whole comprising the orchestra to which the hula-hula girls danced at the religious celebrations in honor of their great god Waken."

On the afternoon of the ninth of May, perhaps half an hour after Madeline had received a telephone message from Link Stevens announcing the arrival of her guests at El Cajon, Florence called to her at the porch. Stillwell was there with his feet on the table, and his eyes riveted upon the distant valley. Far away, perhaps twenty miles, a thin streak of white dust rose from the valley floor and slanted skyward.

"Look!" said Florence, excitedly. "What is that?" asked Madeline. "Link Stevens and the automobile!" "Oh no! Why, it's only a few minutes since he telephoned saying the party had just arrived."

Florence took up the glasses," said Madeline. "One glance through the powerful binoculars convinced Madeline that Florence was right. And another glance at Stillwell told her that he was speechless with delight. "Wal, as Nels says, I wouldn't be in that other-possible right for a million pesos," he remarked.

"Why? Is Stevens driving fast?" "Good Lord! Fast? Miss Majesty, there hadn't ever been anything except a streak of lightning! run so fast in this country. I reckon I'd like to be hyper with the boys down by the bunk. I'll be some fun to see Nels an' Monty when Link comes flyin' alone."

"I wish Al had stayed to meet them," said Madeline. Her brother had rather hurried a shipment of cattle to California; and

It was Madeline's supposition that he had welcomed the opportunity to absent himself from the ranch.

"I am sorry he wouldn't stay," replied Florence. "But Al's all business now. And he's being snelly. It's just as well, perhaps."

"Surely. That was my pride speaking. I would like to have all my family and all my old friends see what a man Al has become. Well, Link Stevens is running like the wind. The car will be here before you know it. Besides, we've only a few moments to dress. But first I want to order many and various and exceedingly good refreshments for that approaching party."

Less than a half-hour later Madeline went again to the porch and found Florence there.

"Oh, you look just lovely!" exclaimed Florence, impulsively, as she gazed wide-eyed up at Madeline. "And somehow so different!"

Madeline smiled a little sadly. Perhaps when she had put on that exquisite white gown something had come to her of the manner which had effected the wearing of it. She could not resist the desire to look fair once more in the eyes of these hypocritical friends before she returned to the days that were gone. "FOR ONE knew that what society had once been pleased to call her beauty had troubled since it had last been seen in a drawing-room. Madeline wore no jewels, but at her waist she had pinned two white feathers against the deep redness of the desert.

"Link's hit the old round-up trail," said Florence, "and oh, isn't he riding that car?"

With Florence, as with most of the country, the car was never driven, but hidden.

A white spot with a long trail of dust showed low down in the valley. It was now headed almost straight for the ranch. Madeline watched it growing larger, more rapid by moment, and her pleasurable emotion grew accordingly. Then the rapid beat of a horse's hoofs caused her to turn.

Stewart was riding in on his black horse. He had been absent on an important mission, and his duty had taken him to the national boundary line. His presence home long before he was expected was particularly gratifying to Madeline, for it meant that his mission had been brought to a successful issue. Once more, for the hundredth time, the man's reliability struck Madeline. He was a doer of things.

Madeline advanced to the porch steps. And Stewart, after taking a parcel of papers from a saddle-bag, turned toward her.

"Stewart, you are the best of cowboys," she said, "if not pleased." "Dusted it. His dark face seemed to rise as he straightened weary shoulders.

"Here are the reports, Miss Madeline," he replied.

Muscle of Hawaii. One of the earliest musical instruments of the Hawaiian Islands was made from two hollow gourds fastened together in the form of the figure eight. The seeds inside the gourd rattled as they were pointed on a palm mat, making a noise something like that of a tambourine. A rhythmic sound was produced which is a vital element of the modern Hawaiian music. The air was carried on dutes of bamboo and rude clarionets, the whole comprising the orchestra to which the hula-hula girls danced at the religious celebrations in honor of their great god Waken.

(Continued.) She broke off, sorry that she had spoken. His blush was not pleasant to see. Suddenly he lifted his head, and she felt scorched by flaming eyes.

"Suppose I was drunk. Suppose I had met some ordinary girl. Suppose I had really made her marry me. Don't you think I would have stopped being a drunkard and have been good to her?"

"Stewart, I do not know what to think about you," replied Madeline. Then followed a short silence. Madeline saw the last bright rays of the setting sun glid up over a distant crag. Stewart rebuked the horse and looked at the saddle-firths.

She got off the trail, about Don Carlos' feet. "I don't know what Nels and Nick think, but what I know. Don Carlos hoped to make off with you for himself, the same as if you had been a poor poor slavegirl down in Sonora. Maybe he had a deeper plot than my friend told me. Maybe he even went far as to hope for American troops to chase him. The rebels are trying to stir up the United States. They'd welcome intervention. But, however that may be, the Greaser meant evil to you, and has meant it ever since he saw you first. That's all."

"Stewart, you have done me and my family a service we can never hope to repay."

and lay inert, greatly to her relief. For a little while she seemed to be half drunk with the gentle swaying of a hammock. Her mind became at once dreamy and active, as if it thoughtfully recorded the slow, soft impressions pouring in from all her senses.

She could not believe the evidence of the day's happenings. Would any of her people, her friends, ever believe it? Could she tell it? She remembered the shuffling staves of those starved rebels, and marvels at her blessed fortune in escaping to her. Stewart's arrival in the glade, the courage with which he had faced the outlawed Iron, grew as real to her now as the iron cast that clamped her. Had it been an instant which had impounded her to save this man when he lay ill and hopeless in the shack at Chribacuan? In helping him had she heard round her forces that had just operated to save her life, or if not that, more than life was to her? She believed so.

A heavy languor, like a blanket, began to steal upon her. She warred and drifted. With the last half-conscious sense of a muffled throbbing at her ear, a something intangibly sweet, deep-toned, and strange, like a distant calling bell, she fell asleep with her head on Stewart's breast.

CHAPTER XII Friends From the East. Three days after her return to the ranch Madeline could not discover any change in the developed her own adventurous experiences. If it had not been for the quiet and persistent guardianship of her cowboys she might almost have forgotten Don Carlos and the raiders. Madeline was assured of the splendid physical fitness to which she had attained. It was a relief to be that she was assimilating something of the Western disregard of danger.

A hard ride, an accident, a day in the sun and dust, an adventure with outlaw-eyes these might once have been matters of large import, but now few went early under renewed liquidation, prompted by the earlier ruling on the spot market and continued talk of a boycott against sugar.

Prices at the lower end of the market, but after the early selling movement had subsided, prices rallied sharply on covering and renewed trade buying, prompted by reports of a better European demand in the spot market.

July, which had sold down to 6.90 rallied to 6.24, or 2 points above the previous close, while September rallied from 6.60 to 6.28.

There were no changes in refined sugar with light, overvalued listed at from 5.75 to 9.00.

The domestic demand was fine, owing perhaps to the continued unfavorable weather, but there was a good export inquiry.

There was trading in the spot market in refined futures at 3.65, or 15 points below the previous close.

Talk Improvements to Lincoln School

School Board Takes Action Toward Installing New Furnaces in Building

Action toward installation of two new furnaces in the Lincoln grade school building and an appeal by Miss Anna Brakel, in charge of Junior Red Cross work in Idaho, were features of a rather lengthy meeting of the school board of independent district No. 1 in the office of Superintendent M. C. Mitchell on Monday night.

A resolution was passed authorizing the property committee of the board to advertise for bids for the installation of the furnaces at the Lincoln school, which is estimated will represent a total expenditure of between $3000 and $4000. The date for the receipt of bids will be set probably in the next few days.

Miss Brakel addressed the board in connection with the financing of the Junior Red Cross work. Since financial drives are not permitted by the district, money will probably be raised among the pupils. No action was taken on the request for a contribution.

A meeting was otherwise featured by routine business, including the acceptance of the bookkeeper's report, the report of Mrs. Scott, secretary, on mortgaged property and the absence of bills for the total sum of $1383.07. All of the members of the board were present.

The Earth's Energy. It has been estimated that the power developed by a million Niagara's in a million years would not equal the energy expended by the earth in a single second as it circles around the sun. And yet so perfect is the mechanism that, flying around its axis at an equatorial speed of more than a thousand miles an hour and around its orbit at more than 1,100 miles a minute, all the mundane influences of which astronomers know could not change the length of its day as much as a second in a hundred thousand years.
