

CALL HALT ON CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS

Representatives of Building Industry Put Out Resolutions Recommending Suspension of Activities to Cut Costs

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—A recommendation that all new building construction be deferred for a few months to relieve a "serious situation throughout the country" was contained in a resolution adopted today by representatives of virtually every branch of the building industry from various states, who met to discuss the situation at the home of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Calling a halt to new construction, it was declared, would bring down "steadily mounting costs" in the industry. It was urged, however, that projects under course of construction be carried to completion.

Decision is Unanimous.

The meeting was called to consider with the board of directors of the American Construction Council, of which Mr. Roosevelt is president, the present abnormal condition of the building industry and to take action that might possibly relieve the situation. Groups represented included bankers, architects, contractors, material dealers and manufacturers, bond and insurance interests, labor and federal, state and municipal authorities. The findings of fact in regard to present conditions were unanimously adopted and the meeting passed the following recommendations:

"First, that banking interests curtail the financing of speculative building until after the close of summer.

"Second, that wide publicity be given to the increasing trend of construction costs both of labor and material.

"Third, that governmental, municipal, state, county and town construction departments be urged to delay their work on such as much as possible until September or October.

"Fourth, that the cooperation of the newspapers and trade publications be sought to keep the public informed of the monthly increases in construction costs, and that they be requested to use their influence in curbing the demand for construction until the early months of fall."

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT SPURS MYSTERY PROBE

Offers Reward of $10,000 for Information Leading to Solution of Disappearance of Student CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—While the state hunted for new clowns, Northwestern university today offered a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the solution of the mystery surrounding the disappearance following a class rush 20 months ago of Leighton Mount, freshman. The reward was offered through Walter Dill Scott, president of the Northwestern university.

The university will pay the reward for information leading to the indictment and conviction of anyone for manslaughter in connection with his death, for information leading to a verdict of suicide in the inquest of a skeleton found under an Evanston pier and identified as Mount's, or for the discovery and return to Evanston of Leighton Mount alive.

Northwestern students at Evanston in a mass meeting adopted resolutions expressing their confidence in the university's head and criticized the attacks which they said were being made on the university and its leader.

President Walter Dill Scott tonight held a conference with Chicago newspaper reporters during which he asked for more cooperation from the press of Chicago in the investigation.

George Merrick, attorney for the university, termed the treatment of the case by the Chicago press a "damnable outrage." When reporters asked him what was to be done, he advised them to "tell the truth, not rumors, theories and imaginations."

DENIES BRANDY FOR PIES

Federal Court Refuses to Permit Removal of Liquor from Storage for Kentucky Pastry Project

CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—Mince pies will not retain their ancient flavor of brandy, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals returned today asserting that the Victoria Distilling company of Louisville, Ky., could not move 45 barrels of brandy which it has in storage in Chicago. The company said that the brandy was to be used in mince pies.

The case came up about a year ago in the lower courts which decided the liquor could not be moved—mince pies or not. The appellate court upheld this decision.

GEORGE J. GOULD DIES AT HIS VILLA IN FRANCE

American Financier Loses Stubborn Fight with Death Beginning With Pneumonia in March

CAPE MARTIN, France, May 16 (AP)—George J. Gould died at his villa here this afternoon, after an illness beginning with an attack of pneumonia in March. The American financier was conscious until the end and never gave up hope in his stubborn fight to recover.

To the last he opposed recalling to his bedside the doctors who brought such an improvement in his condition several weeks ago that he was at that time declared out of danger.

A few days before his final relapse which occurred on May 3, he sent in his application for renewal of his membership in the Mentone Lawn Tennis club, and it was accepted. His wife and two children were at his bedside when he died.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Marquard weakened in the eighth and ninth. Toporer made four errors.

TUNNEY SHADES DELANEY

Light Heavyweight Champion Goes Through with Bout After Injuring Hand in Second Round

COLISEUM, Chicago, May 16 (AP)—Gene Tunney, America's light-heavyweight champion, had a shade the better of Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, Minn., in a 10-round no decision contest here tonight, in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside.

Tunney injured his right hand in the second round and was unable to use it effectively for the remaining eight rounds. For the last three rounds the pain was so severe he did not even attempt to punch with it.

Delaney, a favorite of Mike Gibbons, the famous phantom, outpunched and outboxed Tunney in the second, third and fourth rounds, giving a remarkable exhibition of slipping punches with his hands as Gibbons used to do, and connecting with jolting right crosses to the chin and left hooks to the body.

SIKI IS BITTEN BY LION

Senegalese Pugilist, in Role as Animal Trainer, Suffers Injury to Arm that May End Fistic Career

PARIS, May 16 (AP)—Batting Siki, the Senegalese pugilist, has been bitten in the arm by a lion, and therefore the bout between him and the British middleweight, Moore, which was to have been held May 27 in Marseilles, has been postponed. The promoters said the wound had become infected.

PARIS, May 16 (AP). Of late "Batting" Siki has deserted the square circle for the circus side shows in an endeavor to carry out his ambition to become a trapeze artist as a jumbo animal tamer as he has been a man-mauler.

A few days ago the Senegalese was severely bitten by a lion cub which he had dragged into a cage from a nearby menagerie. He was said to have been attempting to force refreshment down the beast's throat. Siki this evening was carrying a man's swollen arm in a sling.

The opinion seems to prevail among the boxing experts in Paris that Siki's career as a fighter is about at an end.

Harold Lloyd Safety Last. See him climb a twelve story building! You'll get a spine thrill and a big howl each step of the way. The sky's the limit on laughter! Wonderful, That's All!

Caldwell started the run going in the first inning, when with two men out, and Kim on first by grace of a fielder's choice, Lovell singled in field, Jerry Jarman taking time in fouling the ball. Bardeley sent an easy one to G. Jarman, who muscled things up long enough to allow Kim to score, and Lovell to coast on Jarman's error.

Five home runs in one game always give the fans a thrill, and yesterday was no exception. Earwood is some chucker, and as cool as a cucumber. Next season will find him hard to beat.

The game was fast and clean from this period on to the last of the fifth when Selek opened the inning by waiting for wide ones; and then stealing second. Crom singled to center scoring Selek, and stole second, going to third when Smith's third strike sent Selek to center field. Laval Jarman sent a creeper to left scoring Crom, and politely stole second. Jerry Jarman sent a single to left sending Laval to third, and both players moved up a peg when Albertson let the ball get away. Musell sent a long sacrifice to Jensen, Jerry stopping at third from where he scored a moment later when Smith missed Hammond's third strike and then threw wild to first, Hammond going around to third before the Caldwell infield finally decided to hold onto the pill. Garriety ended this frame by going out Kim to Lovell.

Atkinson made a beautiful running catch in the third of Bardeley's short fly to center, and received a big hand. Crom made a neat catch of Smith's foul in the fifth, going to the players' bench to get it.

Caldwell tied the score in the sixth when Hammond missed Crom's throw of Lovell's roller. Jensen hit one to Jerry Jarman who booted the ball, Lovell going to third. Morris picked out one of Garriety's fast ones, and sent it far over the right field fence, going Lovell and Jensen ahead of him.

Musell made a neat play at the third when Earwood ran into him, and putting Earwood holding, went to second on a wild pitch, out, and to third when Bardeley fumbled. Laval Jarman's roller and scored! Smith failed to catch the third strike for Jerry Jarman fanned, all hands going Lovell and Jensen ahead of him.

BUYERS' STRIKE IN BUILDING.

A "buyers' strike" appears to be developing in the building industry, which has been enjoying a tremendous boom. A survey of 242 American cities and towns shows that April orderings fell off 16 per cent from the March figures, and May is expected to show a greater decrease.

Recent developments in New York City have shown the tendency in a striking way. Within a few days big projects involving more than $50,000,000 of construction work have been postponed indefinitely because of high costs. They include a $1,000,000 orphan asylum, a $10,000,000 addition to Columbia University, a $2,000,000 Y. M. C. A. building, an $11,000,000 extension of the New York Telephone Company and other enterprises of similar nature.

Public buildings, public utilities and charities are first to yield from the pinch of high building prices. Office structures and homes may follow. It is inevitable with materials and wages soaring. Philanthropy cannot afford the cost and investment cannot take the risk of building at the peak and losing through a subsequent slump.

It may be that nobody is to blame for the return of war boom costs. There has been such a great demand for construction that builders have been bidding eagerly for labor and materials, and in the case of labor at least, often paying big bonuses to get what they needed promptly. This kind of competition is bound to raise costs.

The result is so unwholesome and unsafe that a relaxing of the demand is a good thing, if it does not go too far. The labor unions, building material men and contractors can keep it from going too far if they want to, by concerted effort to give reasonable value in goods and labor, for money paid

Indeed, he bore some faint resemblance to a thunderbolt as he approached the porch; but the greetings

"Miss Majesty, sure I'm a Sad Demoralized Old Cattleman," he said Presently.

he got from Madeline's party, especially from Helen and Dorothy, chased away the blackness from his face and brought the wonderful writhing smile.

"Miss Majesty, sure I'm a sad demoralized old cattleman," he said, presently. "Ah! I'm in need of a heap of help."

"Very well; unburden yourself." "Wal, the cowboys have gone plumb hatty, jest plumb crazy over this heah game of golf."

A merry peal of mirth greeted Stillwell's solemn assertion.

"Oh, Stillwell, you are in fun," replied Madeline.

"I hope to die if I'm not in add earnest," declared the cattleman. "It's an amazing strange fact. Ask Flo. She'll tell you. She knows cowboys, an' how if they ever start on somethin' they ride it as they ride a hoss."

Florence being appealed to, and evidently feeling all eyes upon her, lookedly replied that Stillwell had entirely misstated the situation.

"Cowboys play like they work or fight," she added. "They give their whole souls to it. They are great big simple boys."

"Indeed they are," said Madeline. "Oh, I'm glad if they like the game of golf. They have so little play."

"Wal, somethin's got to be did if we're to go on raisin' cattle at Her Majesty's Ranch," replied Stillwell. He appeared both deliberate and resigned.

Madeline remembered that despite Stillwell's simplicity he was as deep as any of his cowboys, and there was absolutely no gagging him where possibilities of fun were concerned. Madeline fancied that his exaggerated talk about the cowboys' sudden craze for golf was in line with certain other remarkable tales that had lately emanated from him. Some very strange things had occurred of late, and it was impossible to tell whether or not they were accidents, mere coincidences, or deep-laid, skillfully worked-out designs of the fun-loving cowboys. Certainly there had been great fun, and at the expense of her guests, particularly Castleton.

So Madeline was at a loss to know what to think about Stillwell's latest elaboration. From mere force of habit she sympathized with him and found difficulty in doubting his apparent sincerity.

"To go back a ways," went on Stillwell, as Madeline looked on expectantly, "you recollect what prattle the boys look in fixin' up that golf course out on the mesa? Wal, they worked on the job, an' though I never seen any other golfer, I'll gamble yours can't be beat. The boys was sure curious about that game. You recollect, also how they all wanted to see you an' your brother play, an' how caddies for you? Wal, whenever you'd quit they'd go to work tryin' to play the game. Monty Price? he was the leadin' spirt. Old as I am, Miss Madeline, an' used as I am to cowboy excitement, I nearly dropped dead when I heard that little bobbed-headed burned-up Montana cow-puncher say there wasn't any game too swell for him, an' golfer was just his speed. Serious as a preacher, mind you, he was. An' he was always practicin'."

When Stewart gave him charge of the course an' the clubhouse an' all them funny sticks, why, Monty was tickled to death. You see, Monty is sensitive that he ain't much good any more for cowboy work. He was glad to have a job that he didn't feel he was happy to kindness. Wal, he practised the game, an' he read the books in the clubhouse; an' he got the boys to do the same. That wasn't very hard, I reckon. They played early an' late an' in the moonlight. For a while Monty was coach an' they stood it. But pretty soon Frankie Slide got puffed on his game, an' he had to have it out with Monty. Wal, Monty beat him bad. Then one after another the other boys tackled Monty. He beat them all. After that they split up an' began to play matches, two on a side. For a spell this worked fine. But cowboys can't never be satisfied long unless they win all the time. Monty an' Link Stevens, both cripples, you might say, joined forces an' elected to beat all comers. Wal, they did an' that's the trouble. Down at the bunka in the eventin' it's a shame mortifyin' the way Monty an' Link crowd over the rest of the outfit. They've taken up on superior airs. You couldn't reach up to Monty with a trimmed spruce pole. An' Link—well, he's just razin' awful. I want to say, for the good of ranchin', not to mention a possible fight, that Monty an' Link hev got to be beat. There'll be no peace round this ranch till that's done."

Madeline could hardly control her mirth.

"What in the world can I do?" "Wal, I reckon I couldn't say. I'm only come to you for advice. All I'm sure of is that the conceit has got to be taken out of Monty an' Link."

"Stillwell, listen," said Madeline, brightly. "We'll arrange a match game, a foursome, between Monty and Link and your best picked team. Castleton, who is an expert golfer, will umpire. My sister, and friends, and I will take turns as caddies for your team. That will be fair, considering yours is the weaker. Caddies may coach, and perhaps expert advice is all that is necessary for your team to defeat Monty's."

"A grand idea," declared Stillwell, with instant decision. "When can we have this match game?"

"Why, today—this afternoon. We'll all ride out to the links."

FLORENCE Oil Stoves & Ranges

More Heat Less Care

Don't give needless hours to the cook stove

With a coal or wood range to fill and refill and drafts to fuss over, it takes a long time just to get ready to cook a meal.

With a Florence Oil Cook Stove in the kitchen, you just put a lighted match to the asbestos kindler and soon have a hot blue flame. You are ready to start cooking at once.

The Florence burns kerosene—a clean fuel and a cheap one. This stove boils, bakes, fries and roasts.

In this stove a Florence stands ready for use. Experiment on it here, and then count up the extra hours of leisure a Florence in your kitchen will give you.

Is a good-natured husband worth a trip to the store?

NOTHING irritates men folks more than late meals. The only things that are almost as bad are high fuel bills.

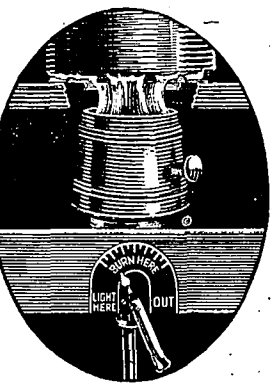

You can time your meals with exactness, and cook for less money than you ever have before, if you will look into the matter of the wickless Florence Oil Range. This means merely a trip to a nearby furniture or hardware store, where you can see for yourself how this most modern of ranges does its work.

Easy as lighting a match

All you do is turn a lever and touch a match to the asbestos kindler. The result is a clean blue flame that you can lower or raise as you please. The heat, close to the cooking, is intense.

More Heat Less Care

Vapor from the oil is what burns. The Florence is smokeless and odorless.

The economy of kerosene

Kerosene is easy to get, and far cheaper than gas or coal. You use the Florence only when you need it, for the heat turns on or off quickly. And it is so easy to regulate the heat that meals just naturally happen on time.

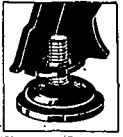

For the modern kitchen

Beauty is not the most important thing about a stove, but why not have an object that is a credit to the most modern kitchen? The mantel back and chimneys of the Florence are lustrous porcelain enamel. The rest of the stove is finished in hard-baked enamel with nickel trimmings.

It is not necessary to take our naturally enthusiastic word for the Florence Oil Cook Stove, because you can prove it for yourself by going to the store—almost any good furniture or hardware store. You might even get your husband to go with you, for he is interested in the matter of your comfort as well as his own meals.

The Florence Leveler

All kerosene ranges must stand level to do their best work. This new Florence Leveler is attached to each leg of the Florence. By turning this the Florence is easily and quickly made to stand firm and level, no matter how uneven the floor.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN VALUES MAKE GAIN

Trade Reacts to Strength of Corn Following Reports that Seed is Rotting in Ground

CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—Complaints that planted corn (rotting) in the ground because of continuous cold wet weather had much to do today with a general advance in grain values. Wheat closed firm 1.5-8 to 2.18-2 net higher, July 1.17-14 to 1.17-8, and September 1.15-34 to 1.15-7-8. Corn finished strong 17-8 to 21-2 net up, oats 18-10 net up, and provisions at a rise varying from 10 to 25c.

At first the wheat market had a moderate downward tendency on account of prevalent opinion that general rains in the West and heavy rains had furnished ample moisture for some time to come. Word that spring seeding had about all been done was accepted as a bullish factor in the market.

With notable strength in the corn market, wheat having to conform to liberal proportions and brought about ascending prices during the last half of the day.

The corn market throughout the day was influenced by reports of seed rotting in the ground in the West. Data reflected the corn advance. Provisions were higher with legs on account of bullish showing of corn.

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—The raw sugar market continued quiet. The price was easier on sales of 5000 bags of Porto Rico at 7.78 for centrifugal, or on the basis of six cents for Cuban cost and freight.

The raw sugar futures market was easier under scattered liquidation prompted by the easier tone in the spot market and uncertainty as to the outcome of the government's appeal to the supreme court in connection with the injunction proceedings. The close was 2 to 3 points net lower.
