DEPUTIES VOTE CONFIDENCE IN FRENCH LEADER

Poincare Wins Triumphant Majority Along with Money Needed to Carry Out His Policy in Ruhr

PARIS, May 29, (AP)—Any doubts as to the solidarity of Premier Poincare's position were set at rest tonight when the chamber of deputies, by a majority of 438, expressed confidence in him and his government and voted him the money needed to carry out his policy in the Ruhr.

Only the extreme left voted against the premier. His other critics did not vote for the common practice of abstaining, but added their vote to the premier's triumphant majority.

PARIS, May 29, (AP)—The chamber of deputies today voted the appropriation of 2,000,000 francs for the expenses of occupation of the Ruhr for the month of April. The vote was 550 to 57.

Debate on the subject took on the appearance of an assault on the premier's cabinet. M. Tardieu severely criticized the government's methods and M. Lemaire declared that he would vote for the appropriation. The premier showed plainly that he interpreted this method of debate as an attempt to shake the cabinet, without immediately overthrowing it. He called on M. Tardieu and his friends to vote as they talked, and said he would not admit that orators from the speaker's stand shake the confidence of the country. He then came down and reassured him with their vote.

Takes Firm Stand

This summons to the opposition to come out in the open, put the chamber in a dilemma; many of the deputies showed by their applause that they approved of M. Tardieu's words, yet hesitated to attempt the overthrow of the Poincare ministry.

The premier declared flatly that he would change nothing in the methods decided on in common with the allies, but that he would not accept a soldier to reinforce the occupation troops, as demanded by M. Tardieu, asserting that any increase there would be added to the expense of the occupation with inefficiency. He challenged the chamber to decide between the government and the government's critics.

Some of the deputies interrupted with assertions of support. He declared it was impossible to make an issue of a veto on appropriations.

M. Poincare insisted that a way could be easily found.

BELGIAN IDEAS LEAK OUT

BRUSSELS, May 29, (AP)—The Belgian government's suggestions on German reparations, which have been submitted to France, permit of the formation of a practical program for the commercialization of the German debt which certain French circles are already discussing, notably in England, of wishing to maintain indefinitely as political debt. Official circles here do not seek to hide their discontent over what are declared by indications counted in Paris in divulging the trend of Belgium's proposition, which it was hoped to keep secret until the coming meeting of the premiers of France and Belgium.

Slack's Offer to Buy Fleet Stirs Village

Silver Creek Agog when Word Comes that Townsman Bids on Billion Dollar Deal

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., May 29 (AP)—The report from Washington that one of Silver Creek's business men, had made a bid of one billion dollars for the shipping line's merchant fleet, set this village agog. John A. Slack, the bidder, has been regarded as a substantial business man with a profitable industry, but no one here could understand how he expected to swing so stupendous a deal.

Mr. Slack was reticent about his plan. He confirmed Washington dispatches regarding the offer to Chairman Lancker. But that was as far as he would go. Asked as to his plans for financing the deal, and whether he represented others in the proposal, Mr. Slack had nothing to say about that. Just now he always made good on his obligations and I will make good on this.

Mr. Slack is president of the Columbia Postal Supply company, which makes and leases to postmasters stamp-cancelling machines and sells adding machines on the side. He has two small plants here. He also does a job printing business and issues a monthly paper in connection with his business.

Pet Dog Rescues Yakima Tot From Irrigation Ditch

YAKIMA, Wash., May 29 (AP)—Donald Conover, age three years, owes his life to his pet dog which has a fortunate habit of following Donald about at play.

When Donald was playing near his home recently he fell into the big, eight-foot-wide irrigation ditch, and was lashed against a grating where the auction made his struggles useless. The pet dog caught the younger's suit and tried to drag him out. He did not succeed, but did hold the boy somewhat above the water and managed to attract the attention of two passersby. It is believed the boy would have drowned quickly, as other youngsters have done in the same ditch, had it not been for the faithful pet.

$1,000,000 RUM PLOT IS BARED

Federal Grand Jury Returns Indictments Against Washington Attorney and Others

NEW YORK, May 29, (AP)—John W. Clifton, prominent Washington attorney, Thomas C. Craven, warehouse proprietor, and seven other persons were indicted by a federal grand jury here late today for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

The indictments were returned as a result of an alleged $1,000,000 rum conspiracy of which Craven and Clifton were charged with perpetration. All were arrested in April after a raid on the Cumberland Chemical company, a Tennessee corporation, in which 1,500 cases of whiskey and a quantity of alcohol were seized. A few days later prohibition officers raided a house in the Bronx where liquor valued at nearly $1,000,000 also was taken.

Others indicted in addition to Craven and Clifton were Emily R. Levy, Edward N. Pries, Frank Keller, Frank Dorion, Joseph Collins, John Lazarus and John Mortimer. The Cumberland Chemical company was also indicted.

Craven is at liberty on $20,000 bail; Miss Levy in $10,000 bail, the rest are still in jail.

DEAD MAN'S MONEY MISSING

NEW YORK, May 29, (AP)—Investigation into the mysterious sinking of the rum lugger John Dwight, off Vineyard Haven, Mass., with a loss of nine lives early in April has revealed that James A. Craven, of Lipidhurst, N. J., one of the victims, had $100,000.

GERMANS COUNT ON OWN POLICE TO END RIOTING

Municipal Authorities in Strike Zones in Ruhr Sector Predict Cessation of Trouble from "Reds"

ESSEN, May 29, (AP)—The arrival of trained police at Bochum and at other strike zones in the Ruhr today was welcomed by the German officials as being certain to liquidate the unrest among the large number of workmen now on strike. The officials predicted that there now would be little more to say from the "reds."

Sixty-five police from Dusseldorf were sent into Bochum to reinforce the firemen and white guards who since Friday night had been besieged in the headquarters of the firemen. On arrival of the policemen there was a rapid departure of all the wearers of red armbands.

French Give Consent

The local guards and firemen in the Ruhr have been reinforced by police from the Rhineland under an agreement with the headquarters of the firemen. The German officials express the belief that the situation will now take on the aspect of an ordinary strike and that the reign of terror attributed to the communist element in which nearly 50 persons were killed, will come to an end.

A new kind of profiteering has made its appearance. At Essen, Gelsenkirchen and other towns where the workers' commission of control compelled storekeepers to reduce prices, stocks were sold out at the new rate to persons who took them elsewhere and disposed of them at handsome profits.

BOMBER SUSPECT IS HELD

Mexico City Authorities Arrest Heino Lopez on Charge of Gauding Explosion Near American Consulate

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, May 29 (AP)—Officers have arrested Heino Lopez, on a charge of bombing the lawyer's office adjoining the American consulate in Mexico City May 18, a telegram received here today at the headquarters of the Mexican consul here states. Lopez, it is charged, attempted to bomb the American consulate under instructions from the opposition to the (obscure) government in an effort to arouse indignation in the United States to prevent recognition of the republic.

Chinese Army Authorities Meet Brigands' Spokesman

Official Circles See Hopeful Turn of Affairs in Direct Negotiations for Release of 14 Foreign Captives

PEKING, May 29 (AP)—Chinese military authorities and representatives of the Shanghai-Peking brigands met today for the first time since May 6, are proceeding in direct negotiations for the release of the captives, according to advices received today by the foreign legations here.

This new and hopeful turn of affairs is considered significant in official quarters in Peking and the departure of the international military commission for investigation for Tso Chwang has been postponed until Thursday.

Connor Postpones Trip.

The commission, headed by Brigadier General W. D. Connor, American commander at Tsin Tsingliang, intended leaving today but the foreign diplomats considered it advisable, in view of the negotiations now pressing, to refrain from injecting any new element into the situation and thus complicating the policy. It is understood also that Marshal Tso Chuan and General Wu-Pei-Fu, military chiefs of the "Chili" army, were opposed to the presence of the commission at Eshe Chwang on the ground that it might interfere with conferences now going on there.

GIVES BANDIT'S TERMS.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Specific terms of the Chinese bandits for the release of American and other foreigners still held captive, were called to the state department today by Minister Schurman at Peking, who said that the bandit leaders had created their five demands to the Chinese officials on the night of May 26. The terms presented are as follows:

1. Withdrawal of soldiers.

2. Central government to furnish the bandits regularly with food and clothing.

3. Two thousand bandits in the western district to be formed into four mixed brigades under the direct control of the central government, which should furnish arms and ammunition.

4. The central government to give six months pay in advance, also arrears of pay not to exceed a total of six months' pay.

"Upon consent of the central government to the above terms an agreement to be drawn up between the central government and the bandit chiefs to be signed in the presence of a representative of the diplomatic corps who is to act as guarantor of the proper execution of the agreement."

The announcement issued by the state department made no comment upon these terms.

BANDITS PUT NATIVE CAPTIVES TO DEATH AS FOOD RUNS SHORT

SHANGHAI, May 29, (AP)—Shortage of food in the bandit stronghold at Paotauku before the kidnapping of a number of foreigners from the Shanghai-Peking express May 6 caused the brigands to throw 80 Chinese prisoners to death from one of the mountain cliffs, according to information received from Father William Loufas, aged German priest, who had made several trips to the outlaw headquarters.

UTAH WELCOMES WAR SECRETARY

Head of United States Army Inspects Military Establishments in Bee Hive State

SAIT LAKE, May 29, (AP)—Military properties at three points in Utah were surveyed today by Secretary of War John W. Weeks who is here on an official visit in his capacity as head of the United States army. The three military reservations inspected were the Ogden arsenal, Fort Douglas and the training camp grounds at Jordan Narrows.

Secretary Weeks arrived in Ogden at 2:05 o'clock this afternoon from San Francisco. As he might not have time to make an official visit to the military salite by a delegation of army officers headed by Brigadier General U. C. Alexander.

A committee of women who had organized a reception for Secretary Weeks was disappointed when Secretary Weeks informed them that he would not stop in Utah but was going on to Chicago due to the condition of his health. The secretary said she was convalescing from an attack of ptomaine poisoning.

Profit Sharing Enterprise

In a brief address at a luncheon where the war secretary declared that he considered it important "to show that the army is a profit sharing enterprise" that its actual operations represent an inconsiderable cost to taxpayers.

Extremists of various shades, he said, are investigating any subordination of our military program and calling attention to fancied dangers of militarism and extravagance in the upkeep of the army.

Death Record Draws Scrutiny to Sanitarium

Illinois State Official Believes Two Women Patients Died as Result of Treatment

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—John W. Pullmer, inspector for the state department of registration and education, expressed a belief tonight that one, and probably two, of the deaths which were the result of treatment received at a private hospital at Lombard, Ill., conducted by Dr. George E. Hoffmeyer.

Inspector Pullmer's statement was made after a day spent at the hospital investigating the deaths of two former women patients after relatives had charged that the women had been starved and had submitted to the "vacuum cure" administered with a garden hose with high nozzle pressure.

Mrs. Anna Koller of Hinsdale, Ill., died May 25, after being removed from the hospital, a death certificate signed by a doctor who was summoned after she had been removed, attributing her death to starvation. Miss Gertrude Klages entered the hospital January 11, and remained seven or eight weeks. Relatives declared she died as a result of the severe treatment, she received.

Mr. Pullmer said the information he has gathered will be submitted to A. M. Shelton, state director of education and registration, who, he said, will transmit the information to a medical board for consideration. Mr. Pullmer said he found nothing wrong with the exterior conditions at the hospital. Ten patients are now being treated under going treatment, he said, adding that the conditions of those he saw "was not good."

Dr. Hoffmeyer, Mr. Pullmer said, told him that he had accepted cases of many kinds for treatment but specialized in stomach trouble in which he had his patients abstain from food for 30 to 35 days.

The longest a patient had gone without food, Mr. Pullmer said he was informed by Dr. Hoffmeyer, was 43 days. Mr. Pullmer said the doctor told him he had not summoned other physicians for consultation in the cases which resulted fatally because he considered that was his best method of treatment to decide.

Mr. Pullmer said he understood relatives of the woman who died expected to apply to the state's attorney's office for an immediate request for investigation. Dr. Hoffmeyer, Mr. Pullmer said, denied that either of the patients died as a result of treatment received at the sanitarium.

FOREST FIRES STILL MENACING IN MINNESOTA

Steadily Increasing Wind Offsets Hopes for Early Rain to Stop the Spread of Flames Bringing New Dangers

ST. PAUL, May 29, (AP)—Hopes for an early rain, when storm clouds overcast the sky through the north woods country this afternoon, were offset by steadily increasing wind, which brought new dangers in many quarters, where forest fires are burning, according to reports reaching the office of State Forester W. T. Cox tonight.

On the whole, the fire situation remained about the same, new fires breaking out here and there, and many of the old ones reported out.

Flames Travel Swiftly

Assistant Ranger Linn, called from Montevideo, Minn., declared that the fires in the swampy country around Red Top, were the worst he had ever seen.

The swamps are wet, he reported, but have been smoldering in the water through which the fires run at express train speed.

Most of the fires in this vicinity start from hang-over ditchbank fires, which have been smoldering in the soil for the last two or three weeks, since the settlers burned their stacks.

WISCONSIN FIRES CONTROLLED

SUPERIOR, Wis., May 29, (AP)—Forest fires in Douglas county are now under control unless a strong wind should blow up, according to P. A. Macdonald, state fire warden, with headquarters at Solon Springs. Fire in adjacent counties in northwestern Wisconsin are also believed to be beyond danger.

HUNDRED MEN FIGHT FIRE

ALABAMA, N. M., May 29 (AP)—A forest fire which had been burning for several days in Pecos county in the Sacramento mountains, is still uncontrolled, forest officials announced tonight. The fire is reported to have burned over an area of 1200 acres. One hundred men are engaged in fighting it.

OKLAHOMA FLOOD LOWERS

Damage in Stricken City is Estimated at $300,000; Relief Organizations Care for Homeless

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 29 (AP)—With the swollen North Canadian river emptying into the Arkansas river, state officials tonight were mapping out plans for a campaign of sanitation throughout the flooded section in the southern part of Oklahoma.

Flood damage within the city was unofficially announced at approximately $300,000. The citizens rendered homeless were being provided for by relief organizations.

Efforts to recover the body had been unsuccessful late today.

Finds People Occupied with Home Problems

Senate Whip Says Westerners are Thinking More of Transportation than World Court

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—People of the west are thinking more of transportation and other home problems than they are of the international court of justice, in the opinion of Senator Curran of Kansas, republican whip of the senate, as expressed today after a visit to the blizzard-ravaged regions in central Kansas, the senator said, the court was not mentioned in his presence by more than 15 persons. He added that if the opportunity were presented he would vote for American participation in the court, provided there were adequate reservations to keep this country out of the league of nations.

URGE SYMPATHETIC STRIKE

BERLIN, May 29, (AP)—The communists here are conducting the miners' strike in the Ruhr are attempting to have it extended sympathetically to the blizzard-ravaged regions in central Germany according to a dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung from Bochum. The communists are said to have organized a central strike bureau which sent a delegation to the central German coal districts for the purpose of instigating such sympathy. It also sent a delegation to Berlin for wage negotiations.

CLARA PHILLIPS PROMISES PROOF OF INNOCENCE

Los Angeles "Hammer Murderess" Tells New Orleans Interviewers State's Star Witness is Guilty Woman

LOS ANGELES, May 29. (AP)—Clara Phillips, convicted hammer murderess, who escaped from the Los Angeles county jail December 5 and was tonight in New Orleans en route to California, will spend exactly 41 minutes in this city on Friday night before leaving for San Quentin to serve a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows. It was announced tonight by Sheriff William T. Treagar.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Clara Phillips, who escaped from jail in Los Angeles last December after her conviction of the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, returned to this country today from Honduras in the custody of California officers and tonight was resting in the Orleans Parish house of detention preparatory to starting tomorrow on her long journey to the Pacific coast.

The former Waco, Texas, girl, who stepped from the bus at the Orleans Parish house of detention, was not the Clara Phillips Orleans had expected. They were prepared for a woman desperate over her recapture after one of the most sensational escapes ever accomplished in this country. Instead, she seemed to be in buoyant spirits and lost little time in telling newspapermen that she was returning home voluntarily to establish her innocence and to become a citizen. This end would be accomplished.

Poses for Photograph

Mrs. Phillips, attired in a brown coat and dress and becoming hat, was on deck when the Cohan drew into her pier, surrounded by her sister, Miss Etta May Jackson, Under Sheriff Eugene Hiscobitz of Los Angeles, and Hiscobitz and Deputy Walter Hunter. She looked at the hundreds of curious people with little interest and when newspaper men and photographers crowded the vessel she merely smiled. Officials did not hesitate to pose for innumerable photographs.

She was immediately subjected to a barrage of questions, but Mr. Hiscobitz and Superintendent Malone of the local police department, ended the interrogation by saying she would receive interviews at police headquarters. Mrs. Phillips did not make the journey from the pier to headquarters in a police patrol. Instead, Superintendent Malone placed his personal car at the disposal of the California officer and his prisoner.

Prisoner Talks Freely

The prisoner talked freely with reporters but was careful not to say anything that might tend to hamper her fight for freedom. At the time of her escape she was in jail pending the outcome of an appeal after she had received a sentence of 10 years to life imprisonment. Mrs. Meadows was beaten to death with a hammer and Mrs. Phillips was convicted largely on the evidence of Mrs. Peggy Caffee.

In stating that she was returning home voluntarily to fight for her name, honor and freedom in the right way, Mrs. Phillips was emphatic in answering her questions and equally emphatic in her statement that "Peggy Caffee was the slayer of Mrs. Meadows. She said that had she told all of her story at the trial she would have been acquitted. She maintained silence on the advice of her attorneys and as a result only one side, that of the prosecution, was told. She charged that her conviction was a "frame up" and that she had obtained sufficient new evidence to prove it. Asked if men or women were implicated, she declined to answer.

Obtains New Evidence

The new evidence, she said, was obtained during the five weeks she remained in and about Los Angeles after her escape. She demanded all film and spectacles and went upon the streets on numerous occasions, while police were searching for her from Canada to Mexico. What she learned she refused to say, adding that she would await a conference with her attorney in Los Angeles. Mrs. Phillips would say little concerning the

Flo Leeds Threatens To Sue Stillman

Mrs. Anne U. Stillman Mrs. Florence Leeds Baby Jay Leeds

A new turn in the Stillman divorce scandal—which shook the nation when James A. Stillman, then head of the National City Bank, the greatest financial institution in America, charged that Fred Beauvais, a Canadian-Indian guide, was the father of Guy Stillman, youngest son of his wife, Mrs. Anne U. Stillman—has been reached. Mrs. Stillman was vindicated, and she in turn charged that Stillman was the father of Jay Leeds, son of Florence Leeds, former stage beauty, and that Stillman was maintaining Mrs. Leeds in luxury. Now Mrs. Leeds declares she is contemplating suit against Stillman for the $1,200 a month he formerly paid her for the support of the child. She alleges Stillman paid this sum all during the divorce suit and then cast her off. Mrs. Stillman, in a remarkable interview, declared her children had been brought up to believe Jay Leeds was their half-brother and offered to rear the child herself if Mrs. Leeds has to give it up.

GROWING TASTE FOR PRODUCTS OF DAIRY SEEN

Expert Attributes Healthy Condition of Industry in United States to Increasing Domestic Demand

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Only the healthy and growing condition of the American dairy industry has enabled it to withstand the drop in exports which came with the world readjustment. This also has been aided by a growing taste of the American people for dairy products, says Dr. H. E. Van Norman, president of the World's Dairy Congress Association which is preparing for its international meeting here in October. "The United States has reached a point where the production and consumption of dairy products are almost equal," Dr. Van Norman said, "as is indicated by the fact that its exports and imports of dairy products nearly balance."

Foreign Business Small

"While our foreign business in butter and cheese does not reach a great volume, our domestic markets are constantly influenced by the conditions that obtain in the world markets. The foreign business which we do carry on in dairy products also frequently has an importance out of all proportion to its size in the stabilizing of our domestic conditions. A few weeks ago, when our cheese market was particularly slow, an opening for cheese occurred in England. Our owners of stored cheese immediately unloaded as much as they could on the English market. The deficit was caused by the failure of New Zealand, where the creameries are equipped to manufacture either butter or cheese, to pay the usual attention to cheese.

"That the American merchants grasped the opportunity just in the nick of time is evidenced by a cablegram from the American Agricultural Trade Commissioner, stationed at London, recently received by our Department of Agriculture, stating that the American cheese now on storage in England amounts to 14,000 boxes, against about 31,000 boxes a year ago, and that the Australian cheese on storage amounted to 21,000 crates, against a trifle more than 73,000 crates a year ago; but that Australia had 122,000 crates of cheese afloat and bound for England, against 11,000 crates more than she had on the water at this time last year. If we had needed to unload butter on the English market, we would not have had the same fortune; for the cablegram states that England has in storage 423,000 boxes of Australian butter, an increase of 39,000 for the year.

Shipping Less Butter

"It is noteworthy that, in spite of increased production, the United States is shipping less butter today proportionally than it did in the five-year period before the war. "While the American dairyman is finding a tremendously important market at home, a new group of dairy nations is rising to grasp the international markets. Equipped with a large proportion of American machinery ry and to a very great extent directed by graduates of American agricultural colleges, New Zealand, Australia, Argentine Republic and Canada—all countries with small populations of milk consumers and large populations of dairy cattle, are proving themselves mighty competitors of the historic dairy countries of Europe. While these countries are in their youth, with unlimited possibilities ahead, the older dairy countries have reached very nearly the limit of their productivity."

LESTER WRIGHT WINS HANDICAP CHAMPIONSHIP

Local Trap Shooter Wins State Title, with Seckel of Boise Taking Title in Singles

Lester T. Wright of the Twin Falls Gun club, won the state handicap championship Tuesday afternoon, breaking 93 out of 100 from the 16-yard line. Alvin Harbour of the same club won the runner-up cup, after shooting into a tie three times.

At the end of the 100 birds in the handicap match, Sweeley, Gove, Apgar and Harbour were tied with 89. On the shoot-off Apgar and Gove were eliminated, with Sweeley and Harbour tied again with 22 each out of 25. The second shoot-off was the most exciting feature of the day, with Harbour winning, 21 to 20. It was neck and neck throughout the citing of 25 until Sweeley missed on his twenty-fifth in-line.

Ferry Seckel of Boise, took the state championship in the singles in handy fashion, Kieffe of Boise, being his closest rival with 181. Seckel shot consistently during the two days of the singles, breaking 91 on the first day and 95 on the second. This is the second time that Seckel has won a championship, the first time being in 1919 at Waha Waha, when he broke 200 out of a possible 400.

Everett Sweeley of Boise, proved to be the best all-around marksman with a total of 215 out of 320 in the championship events.

Mrs. H. L. Streeter of Boise, won the cup for being the best shot in the women's department with 18 out of 25.

Sam Sherman of Salt Lake, did some clever shooting during the day with 97 out of 100 in the singles and 93 out of 100 in the handicap affairs.

The Day for Remembering

Through the hushed music of our devotions today comes the faint clamor of forgotten guns

Those guns once menaced our country, our homes, ourselves, but heroes stood between

Young lives, laid down at Gettysburg, on Juan hill and in the Argonne, paid for peace and liberty

LESTER WRIGHT WINS

Sharnum of Salt Lake, has the birds scared; they drop out of sight the minute he shoots his gun.

Keefe of Boise, runner-up of the singles, figured that he would have won the championship if he could have secured up more birds than anyone else.

Ernie White and Ev Sweeney reached 184, which is considered "much better than 100."

Everybody had their picture taken, which was the only target of the day that everybody hit.

G. C. Hillhouse of the Winchester Arms company, acted as cashier of the meet and proved that as a shooter he was a clever cashier.

P. J. McGanney, who tells 'em about Hercules Powder, assisted Hillhouse to grab in the kopeks, besides breaking 185 out of the last 200.

Let Wright was so tickled at winning the state handicap championship that he refused to leave the grounds until everyone had congratulated him. Let stated that he could have won the singles, too, but didn't feel that a Twin Falls shooter, while acting as host, should try and hog all the titles.

Bruce Gove, who hails from Emmett, missed more than he had figured on and thus the championship slipped away for a year at least.

A tender is more to be pitied than censured.

C. G. Elton, who explains why the Marlin gun should be used, proved that he wasn't kidding by breaking 181 out of 200.

Strickfaden gave the old timers a treat by breaking 182 out of 200. Not so worse for a first year man.

Bill Bailey, the lad who has been trawpoholing since Grant took Richmond, turned in a score of 181.

Alvin Harburn showed that he was a native of Alaska during the shoot-off of the ties of the handicap event with Sweeley.

All aboard for Lewiston. HANSEN BALL PLAYERS COMING HERE FOR GAME

East End Team Will Open Twin Falls' New Park if Weather Permits, on Memorial Day

Weather permitting, the baseball game scheduled for this afternoon between Hansen and Twin Falls will be played at the new ball park at three o'clock according to Bob Whitzel, manager of the Twin Falls team.

Owing to rain, the opening of the Twilight league has been postponed until Thursday, so today will be the real opening of the baseball park.

Hansen has a team "this year" that looks like a winner, and is going to make considerable trouble for the rest of the teams in the Southern Idaho Baseball league. They are reinforced with four real good chuekers, in Walton, Hill, Thompson and Frank Fuller. Hansen has been playing about two weeks longer than has Twin Falls, which also helps.

The game this afternoon is not a league game and the result will not count on the league standings of the two teams.

LEONARD WINS WITH KNOCKOUT

Lightweight Champion Defeats Pinky Mitchell in Bill That Will Test State's Law

CHICAGO, May 29, (AP)—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, knocked out Pinky Mitchell of Milwaukee, in the first round of a scheduled six-round fight here.

Leonard floored the challenger with a right swing and Mitchell was counted out while on one knee in the center of the ring. The fight ended in a technical knockout.

Leonard floored the challenger with a right swing and Mitchell was counted out while on one knee in the center of the ring. The fight ended in a technical knockout.

Mitchell claimed Leonard hit Pinky while the Milwaukee boxer was resting on one knee while referee Miller was counting over him.

Miller was swarming with frantic spectators and 30 or 40 fights set in before the police could clear the ring.

Just before the bout, James C. Muller, promoter of the fight, was arrested by Captain Russell of the Stock Yards precinct station on the charge of violation of the anti-prize fight law.

Mullen's bonds of $5,000 were signed by an attorney and approved by Judge Barasa, a former candidate for mayor, in the ring.

The Dexter Park pavilion was packed with approximately 9,000 spectators apparently hungry for boxing, an illegal sport in Illinois, when the first bout was started, and the gate receipts, with the first $5,000, were about $85,000.

The fighting Irish from the stock yards district hemmed in the fashionable gamblers from the city.

Society's first introduction to boxing was full of thrills, police cars attendant to tea table gossip were shocked with the shouts of "but him in the bezel, Benny," and similar cries from the frantic boxing fans.

Chicago's society gathered up their skirts and invaded the famous stockyards to watch the bout, which was for charity.

Intensive dragging and watering of the barack's "skin" field, supplemented by today's rainfall, has put the playing ground in good condition, and although the weather man prophesies showers, the season's opener is calculated to bring out a huge crowd of followers of the sport.

Teams are this year from Boise, Camp Lewis, Wash., Monterey, Calif.; Fresno; Fort Douglas, Utah, and Vancouver, B.C. The players' free boosters and the officers of Troop A, 11th Cavalry, Idaho National Guard will play an independent series.

AUTOMOBILE RACE DRAWS

List of Starters in 50,000 Speedway Event is Increased to 23 by Last Day's Qualification Runs

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29 (AP)—The list of certain starters for the 50,000-mile race at Indianapolis, Ind., when a French car, driven by Raoul Biaggi, qualified by maintaining an average speed of 95.5 miles an hour for a busy day of it in first place.

The general public was not admitted to the race course today. Drivers, mechanics and pitmen, however, made a busy day of it in first place.

The drivers of all the machines—American, French and German—were lined up in the pits for the start.

Antoniottes began lining up around the speedway fence as early as noon today and before darkness parking spaces were a premium.

The race drivers will compete for prizes totaling $85,000, it was said today. The speedway divides $50,000 among the first 10 to finish.

Occasional thundershowers with a drizzle were a nuisance. Tourists of degree above zero was the official forecast for Indianapolis tomorrow.

The race is scheduled to begin at ten o'clock in the morning.

Members of a committee dealing with this phase of the preparations reported that a number of other places had withdrawn advance price lists.

SPECIAL TRAINS CARRY SHRINERS TO CAPITAL

Washington Prepares to Entertain at Least 100,000 Visitors at Convention of Fraternal Organization

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—While the movement of special trains bearing Shriners from distant points toward Washington for next week's convention was beginning today, plans were completed for handling the arrival of at least 100,000 visitors in the 48-hour beginning Saturday night.

About 200 special trains averaging 10 Pullmans each, are expected to reach the city in the period. Many will stop in the cars during the convention and a number of restaurants will be established adjacent to railroad yards for their benefit.

Protests over advancing food prices brought results in the form of notices in some restaurants that their menus were free from "overcharges to Shriners."

Members of a committee dealing with this phase of the preparations reported that a number of other places had withdrawn advance price lists.

Local Construction Work Indicates Confidence of Better Business

Building and remodeling activities, although not extraordinary in extent at present, indicate confidence of the approach of better conditions.

A crew of workmen is engaged on foundation work at the site of the Benoit warehouse on Shoshone street south, which is to be occupied by the Idaho Lumber company when completed at $25,000.

Several new oil storage tanks recently erected come under the heading of new building. Work is nearly finished on the Allen service station at Shoshone and Second avenue west and several other service stations are reported to be contemplated by the various oil companies represented here.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day, observed on May thirty in the greater part of the United States, was set aside originally for commemorating the dead soldiers and sailors of the Civil War.

It is nearly sixty years since the first of these wars closed. Today most of the wounds of the Civil War are healed. Where there is still partisan bitterness, it is little more than a tradition.

The World War, waged on a vast scale and more of an upheaval of world affairs than the Civil War was of national affairs, is not yet five years behind us.

THE BIGGEST AIRSHIP

Germany is building the largest aircraft in history—but not for Germany. That is forbidden by the Versailles treaty. It is for the United States navy.

There is a thrill in that fact, even though the repute of German airships is not what it used to be. The Zeppelins were at the height of their fame early in the World War, when they carried devastation to Paris and London.

Much will be expected from this great vessel, nearly 1,000 feet long and 130 feet high—a veritable Leviathan of the air. Buoyancy is a great asset. Yet it can never be forgotten that such big, light, craft, with a speed of only 60 miles an hour, are always more or less at the mercy of air currents.

Hope springs eternal. A Zeppelin that succeeded fully would be a wonderful thing, in peace or war. May the United States navy have better success than Germany had, and better than it has had itself with previous dirigible ventures.

The Limit. No man should live beyond what he can reasonably expect to borrow.—Boston Evening Transcript.

ELIMINATING WAR MISTAKES

If the nation should be forced into war again, it is hoped to avoid some of the blunders which were made in industrial mobilization for the World War. War department officials are drawing up plans to this end.

The people of America will be interested in the elimination of these costly mistakes in conducting a war. They would be still more interested in the elimination of the most costly mistake of all—war itself.

The Light of Western Stars A Romance By Zahne Grey Illustrations by Irwin Myers

They're going to switch off at the holder that hangs near the wall a few miles down. Nels was saying, as he tightened his saddle-girth. "That hole leads into a big canyon. Once in there, I'll be every man for himself. I reckon there won't be anythin' more than a rough ride."

Nels smiled reassuringly at Madeline, but he did not speak to her. Monty took her canteen and filled it at the spring and hung it over the pommel of her saddle. He put a couple of biscuits in the saddle-bag.

Once in the trail, Stewart's horse broke into a gallop. Majesty changed his gait and kept at the black horse's heels. Stewart called to him to slow down. The low wisps of smoke followed Stewart. Madeline looked back to see Nels already up and Monty handling him a rifle. Then the pluck hid her view.

Before long Stewart entered at right angles off the trail and wheeled a horse back to the camp. Madeline saw tracks in the open patches of ground. Here Stewart's horse took to a brisk walk.

The sense of duty is the fountain of human rights. In other words, the same inward principle which teaches the former bears witness to the latter. Duties and rights must stand and fall together.—Channing.

It draws between. Soon night shadowed the deeper gullies. Madeline was refreshed by the cooling of the air. She took a long breath. The black streaks of coyotes seemed to startle him. Often he stopped to listen. And during one of those intervals the silence was broken by sharp rifle shots.

Stewart came back. He slipped the bridle of both horses, and he led them. Every few paces he stopped to listen. He changed his direction several times, and the last time he got among rough, rocky ridges. The iron shoes of the horses cracked on the rocks. That sound must have penetrated far into the forest.

Stewart halted again. In the gloom Madeline discerned a log cabin, and beyond it spear-pointed dark trees reaching the sky line. She could just make out Stewart as he turned his head and looked at her horse. Either he was listening or debating what to do—perhaps both. Delicately he went inside the cabin. Madeline heard the scratching of a match; then she saw a faint light. The cabin appeared to be deserted.

Madeline had to feel round in the dark to locate the saddle and blanket. She then saw a light. It was with a grateful sense of ease and relief. As her body rested, however, her mind became the old throbbing noise for sensation and thought. All day she had attended to the alert business of helping her horse. Now, what had already happened, the night, the silence, the proximity of Stewart and his horse, she could not shut out.

Stewart's soft steps sounded outside. His dark form loomed in the doorway. Probably it was the thump of a gun that he had heard beside him on the sill; then the thump of another as he put that down, too. The sounds thrilled her. He turned his ear to the wind and listened. Motionless he sat for what he deemed hours.

Then the stirring memory of the day's adventure, the feeling of the beauty of the night, and a strange, deep-seated, sweetly vague consciousness of happiness portending, were all burned out in hot, pressing pain at the remembrance of Stewart's disgrace in her eyes. Something had changed within her that what had been a danger at herself was sorrow for him. He was such a splendid man. She could not feel the same; she knew her debt to him, yet she could not think him. She could not speak to him. She fought an untellable bitterness.

Then she rested with closed eyes, and she seemed to wander short ways long. When Stewart called her she opened her eyes to see the gray of dawn. She rose and stepped outside. The horses whinnied. In a moment she was in the saddle, aware of cramped muscles and a weariness of limbs. Stewart led off at a sharp trot into the forest. They came to a trail into which he turned. The horses traveled steadily; the descent grew less steep; the first thinned out; the gray gloom brightened.

When Madeline rode out of the first she had arisen and the foothills rolled beneath her and at their edge, where the gray of valley began, she saw a dark patch that she knew was the ranch house.

CHAPTER XVIII The Sheriff of El Cajon. About the middle of the forenoon of that day Madeline received the ranch. Her guests had all arrived there late the night before, and wanted only her presence and the assurance of her well-being to consider the last of the camping trip a rare adventure. They reported an arduous ride down the mountain, with only one incident of excitement. On the descent they had fallen in with Sheriff Howe and several of his deputies, who were considerably under the influence of drink and very greatly on edge of the Mexican girl Bonita. Howe had used insulting language to the ladies and, according to reports, had once unconsciously convulsed the party on some pretext or other if he had not been sharply silenced by the cowboys.

Madeline would have welcomed any excuse to procrastinate; but, as it happened, a letter from Alfred made her departure out of the question for the present. He wrote that his trip to California had been very profitable, that he had a proposition for Madeline from a large cattle company, and, particularly, that he wanted to marry Florence soon after his arrival home and would bring a minister from Douglas for that purpose.

Stewart went so far, however, as to promise Helen and her friends that she would go East soon, at the very latest by Thanksgiving. With that promise they were reluctantly content to say goodbye to the ranch and to her. Helen's eyes had a sweet, grave, yet mocking light as she said: "Madesty, bid Stewart say when you come. He'll be the rage."

Madeline treated the remark with the same merry lightness with which it was received by the others; but after the train had pulled out and she was on her way home she remembered Helen's words and looks with something almost amounting to a shock. Any mention of Stewart, any thought of him, displeased her.

"What did Helen mean?" mused Madeline. And she pondered. That mocking light in Helen's eyes had been simply an ironical glint, a cynical gleam from that worldly, somewhat suspicious and teasing, in its wisdom. The sweet gravity of Helen's look had been a deeper and more subtle thing. Madeline wanted to understand it, to divine in it a new relation between Helen and herself, something like and sisterly, that might lead to a truce. She thought, however, revolving around a strange suggestion of Stewart, was poisoned at its inception, and she dismissed it.

Upon the drive in to the ranch, as she was passing the lower lake, she saw Stewart walking listlessly along the shore. When he became aware of her presence, the car had just awakened from his aimless sauntering and disappeared quickly in the shade of the shrubbery. This was not by any means the first time Madeline had seen him avoid a possible meeting with her. Somehow the act had puzzled her, though affording her no aid. She did not want to meet him face to face.

It was annoying for her to guess that Stillwell had something to say in Stewart's defense. The old citizen was evidently distressed. Several times he had tried to open a conversation. As for Madeline, she had never said a word. She had ended him until the last time, when his persistence had brought a cold and final refusal to hear another word about the foreman. Stillwell had been crushed.

As days passed Stewart remained at the ranch without his old faithfulness to a word. Madeline was not moved to a kinder frame of mind to see him wandering dejectedly around. It hurt her, and because it hurt her she grew all the harder.

A telegram from Douglas, heralding the coming of Alfred and a minister, put an end to Madeline's brooding. She shared something of Florence Kingsley's excitement. The cowboys were as eager and gossipy as girls. It was arranged to have the wedding ceremony performed in Madeline's great fall-chamber, and the dinner in the cool, flower-scented parlor.

Arrangements for the wedding brought Alfred's delighted approval. When he had learned all Florence and Madeline would tell him he expressed a desire to have the cowboys attend; and then he went on to talk about Florence on the trip. On the following day Alfred and Florence were married. Florence's sister and several friends from El Cajon were present, besides Madeline, Stillwell, and his men. It was Alfred's express wish that Stewart attend the ceremony. Madeline was amused when she noticed the painfully sufficient excitement of the cowboys. For them a wedding that had been an unusual and impressive event. She began to have a better understanding of the nature of it when they cast off restraint and pressed forward to kiss the bride. In all her life Madeline had never seen a bride kissed so much as happily, nor have one so flushed and disheveled and happy. This indeed was a joyful occasion.

him they greeted him with a roar. Stillwell was now one huge, mountainous smile. He was so happy that he appeared on the verge of tears. He rambled on ecstatically till he came to raise his glass. "An' now, girls an' boys, let's all drink to the bride an' groom; to their happiness an' prosperity; to their good health an' long life. Let's drink to the union of the East with the West. No man full of red blood an' the real breath of life could resist a Western girl an' a good boss an' God's free hand—that open country our tree. So we claim Al Hammond, an' may he be true to him. An' friends, I think it dritta that we Actly-Ah his sister an' to our hopes. Heeds to the lady we hope to make our Majesty's health to the man who'll come ridin' out of the West, a one, big-hearted man with a fast hoo-an' a strong rope, an' may he win an' hold her!"

A heavy pound of horses' hoofs and a yell outside arrested Stillwell's voice and halted his hand in midair. The patio became as silent as an unoccupied room. Through the open doors and windows of Madeline's chamber burst the sounds of horses stamping to a halt, then harsh speech of men, and a low cry of a woman in pain.

Rapid steps crossed the porch, entered Madeline's room. Nels appeared in the doorway. Madeline was surprised to see that he had not been at the dinner-table. She was disturbed at sight of his face. "Stewart, you're wanted outdoors," called Nels, bluntly. "Monty, you slope out here with me. You, Nick, an' Stillwell—I reckon the rest of you had better shut the doors an' stay inside."

He Was So Happy That He Appeared on the Verge of Tears.

THE MARKETS

WHEAT PRICES FALL BACK

Bears Rule Day's Trading with Persistent Selling by Holders of Contracts for Early Delivery.

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—Persistent liquidating sales on the part of holders of contracts which call for delivery of wheat this month had a decided bearish effect today on the wheat market as a whole. Prices closed unsettled, 34 to 2 1/2-cent lower, with July 31-12-7 1/2 to 1 1/2, and September 31-11-7 1/2 to 1 1/2. Corn, finished unchanged at 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents up, and old to 1 1/4 to 3 1/2-cent down, and provisions at the same as yesterday's finish to 7 cents higher.

Except that in the early dealings wheat responded temporarily to some pre-holiday covering by shorts, the market was without support and the course of prices was down grade. Speculative demand appeared to have been reduced nearly to the vanishing point owing more or less to bearish sentiment engendered by government regulative measures.

It was current gossip that to a large extent the daily deliveries during the present month had covered up the short interest here and that the liquidation of the shorts would have to do the major part of the liquidation on Thursday. About the only bullish news which had some effect was an unofficial estimate that the Kansas crop would fail to exceed 88,000,000 bushels, a total of 112,000,000 bushels less than was suggested by the state report handed out last week.

Removal of hedges here against shipping sales gave comparative strength to the corn market. Oats chiefly followed wheat and moved lower.

Although at first easier in line with hog values, provisions rallied, helped by the action of the corn market.

STOCK MARKET STAGNATES

Pre-Holiday Dullness Characterizes Trading; Price Movements Irregular, Reflecting Traders' Indecision

Day's total sales 674,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 47.60; not gain. J. I. High, 1923, 105.38; low, 92.77. Forty railroads averaged 53.00; not loss. 47. High, 92.3; low, 48.10.

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—Pre-holiday dullness characterized today's stock market. Price movements were irregular in reflection of speculative indecision over the next definite market.

Professional interest was confined largely to about a dozen individual stocks, reports of an early resumption of slight fractional losses at the close brought heavy buying orders into that stock which was run up to 73 and then eased off to 72, where it was up 3 on the day.

Buyers were also active in the above stock at 143 1/2 and then slipped back to 141 on final trading. Baldwin touched 135 1/4 and then eased to 134 1/2. Standard Gas paid for the above mentioned stock and was run up to 113 1/2 on large volumes of stock were offered at the top prices and it finally dropped back to 112 1/2, up 3 1/2.

Sales of copper metal at 15 cents a pound, or 2 1/2 cents below the year's high, brought some selling into the metal shares, most of the coppers showing slight fractional losses at the close.

American smelting, however, closed nearly 2 points higher and National Lead showed a net gain of 5 1/2. American Lead and National Lead showed marked activity, the former closing unchanged on the day and the latter raising 3/8 of a point.

First of California Petroleum also showed moderate success in the railroad shorts although there were a few heavy spots.

Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent and declined to 4 1/4 in the close. Time money and commercial paper continue on a 5 per cent basis.

SUM OF $22,000 PAID FOR BEETS

Sugar Company Distributes Checks to Over 400 Growers in This District

Checks totaling about $22,000, representing an advance payment of about 75 cents a ton, were distributed Monday to the growers of sugar beets in the district adjacent to the Twin Falls factory by the Annapolis Sugar Company.

Between 400 and 500 growers shared in the payment, making an average of more than $50 to each grower. Another payment is to be made about October 1.

"The payment distributed Monday was not due until June 15, but on account of present favorable conditions and the price of sugar we decided to advance the payment," stated James Scilley, district manager of the sugar company.

The plan of the company for employing men boys and girls in the beet fields met with immediate response Tuesday, Mr. Scilley stated. "We took about 45 youngsters out to the fields and they all seemed to like the work. There were eight girls included and they all were apparently pleased. All of them did very good work."

Interest Growers in Marketing Plan

Hope Sapiro May Visit Here; Berry Association Gets in Operation

Local persons interested in cooperative movements among farmers are hopeful that Twin Falls may be included in the visit of Aaron Sapiro of San Francisco, nationally known as a promoter of farm organization, and Walton Peete, manager of the department of cooperative marketing of the National Farm Bureau Federation.

The two officials will be in Idaho June 7, 8 and 9. Idaho Falls and Blackfoot have been included in their itinerary and on June 9 they are expected to be at Burley.

The organization of a state-wide plan for cooperative marketing of potatoes is believed to be one of the purposes of the visit, the officials plan to be operated in conjunction with the national organization.

The cooperative marketing idea appears to be gradually getting a firmer hold on the farmers of the Twin Falls district. The latest group to organize is the berry growers and although the first meeting was held only a few weeks ago, it is stated that 75 per cent of the berry growers in the county have signed up or are interested in the movement.

At the initial meeting a committee composed of E. N. Henderson, W. D. Averitt and J. A. Walters was named and their first meeting held recently at Filer at which the organization was completed. L. S. Otto of Filer, prominent in cooperative activities, has given much assistance.

As a result of the efforts of the growers, berries will be marketed through the new plan for the first time about two weeks, when the first strawberry crops will be placed on the market through Patrick & Johnson, the marketing agency for the association that was formed last year. The plan will be sold through the same plan. The berry growers are affiliated with the Idaho Producers' union.

GRASSHOPPERS MENACE TO LOCAL FARM CROPS

Must Begin Poisoning at Once to Prevent Spread of Pest; Brossard Gives Successful Formula

"The significant fact in regard to the grasshopper pest this year is that they are hatching out in unusually large numbers just at this particular time and that they are to be saved from this menace this year the farmers should at once begin laying poison while the hoppers are still small and before they begin to travel," says R. E. Brossard, county farm agent.

Grasshoppers threaten to be a serious menace in the upper district, especially around Burley, Toot and Rupert, and the same condition may prevail here as there is every indication that the pests will be considerably more numerous here this year than last year, according to Mr. Brossard.

While the insects are small they are voracious eaters and do not travel far and the best poison but is composed of 25 pounds of coarse bran, an ounce of amyl acetate, a pound of white arsenic and two quarts of cheap molasses. The county agent gives the following directions for mixing: Mix bran and arsenic together dry. Then mix the molasses and acetate and about two gallons of water and mix with the bran and poison. This mixture should be just enough to slowly cover ground when squeegeed in the hand and should be spread in the early evening.

This formula is enough to cover from three to five acres of ground. The white arsenic and amyl acetate can be obtained at cost at the county agent's office. For further advice concerning methods of combating the pests is also available.

SET DATES FOR SPRAYING

Horticultural Inspector Approves of Applying First Cover Spray for Oodling Moth June 3 to 6

From observations and studies made by Harry Heller, horticultural inspector, an emergency of overwintering oodling moth from the cocoon, the first cover spray has been designated as June 3 to 6 in the districts adjacent to Filer, Twin Falls, Burley, Hansen, Eden and Jerome, excluding the orchards lying directly in and along the Snake river canyon, where, Mr. Heller states, the first cover spray should be applied by June 1.

Fruit crops mature earlier in this section along the canyon, making necessary the earlier spray, according to Mr. Heller. Dry arsenate of lead used at the rate of 4 pounds to 200 gallons of water is recommended.

"While some orchardists use five to six pounds to this amount of water," said Mr. Heller, "yet if the four pound strength is thoroughly applied control is usually secured. The use of a caustic spreader in this and all subsequent lead sprays is advised.

"The date for the next cover spray will be given out later."
