

HARDING TALKS TO CROWDS ON DELAWARE TRIP

President Tells Wilmington Assemblage It Is Good to Leave Capital and Breathe Free Air of America

MELFORD, Del., June 9 (AP)—The heart of Delaware was opened today to President and Mrs. Harding as they traveled the "del" from Wilmington in the north to Lewes in the south.

It was a great day for Delaware. To members of the president's party it seemed as though the state had been declared and the entire population of the commonwealth had crowded to the cities, the towns and the villages and along the highways to wave a greeting to the chief executive and the first lady.

It was a great day also for the president. He reached Wilmington by train from Washington shortly after noon, from in the declaration made yesterday that he positively would make no address during the trip.

After he had reached Wilmington, moved by the reception tendered him at a luncheon given by the Young Men's Republican club, he was making a speech, explaining to his men could remain dumb in the face of such a welcome.

Stresses Citizens' Duties.

Five other speeches followed before he located the speaker's chair. A flower brought at Lewes to cruise back to Washington, all briefly thanking those who gathered to welcome the president, but all concluding with some exhortation as to the duties of American citizens and the responsibilities of the American republic.

The longest of the half dozen speeches was made at Wilmington and in it the president, responding to a welcome extended by former Senator H. A. Purnell and Mayor Harvey, declared it was good to get out of Washington and breathe the pure air of America.

"I don't mean," he hastily added, "that the nation is so badly off, but wholesome air, but it does one good to get out and meet the representative citizens of this great republic, to see them at their homes, to get their views, untouched by political bias, and to realize that in them rests safely and securely the destiny of America."

Should Have Known Better

Physician's Small Daughter Felt Called Upon to Point Out Where Daddy Had Erred.

The secretary to a prominent physician and the woman were out riding. "Any interesting patients this week?" the woman asked.

"No. They were all really ill this week," said the secretary, "but Myra is more interesting than ever."

"Myra?"

"Oh, yes. I thought I'd tell you about her. She's the doctor's five-year-old daughter, and she's as pretty as a picture and has an angelic disposition. She's simply mad about her baby brother, who's not quite six months old. This morning she was having a terrible crying spell, and the doctor felt his office to go upstairs to see what the trouble was. I heard Myra at the foot of the stairs saying: "Daddy, brother's hungry, very hungry."

A few minutes later the crying ceased, and I heard the doctor coming down the stairs. Myra must have been waiting for him, for again I heard her little piping voice:

"Daddy, did you give him something to eat?"

"Sure!" laughed the doctor. "I gave him a ham sandwich."

"Oh, daddy, you shouldn't," shrieked the child. "Don't you know the mustard will burn him?"—Chicago Journal.

Girl Friends Had Become "Incompatible" During the Time That Short Skirts Had Reigned.

"Have you and Grace had a row?" asked Stella's friend while the boss was in a conference and work was slack.

"No," replied Stella. "What makes you ask?"

"I noticed you never go to lunch with her, and if you are in a party with her you never walk with her. You used to be such chums, too."

"Oh, we are still chums. She comes up to my house often. Grace is all right."

"Sure, she's all right. But why do you avoid her on the street?"

"I'll tell you. My legs are a trifle too plump and Grace's are a trifle too thin. Awe each suffer by contrast. Then my legs got out and Grace's got in. This makes the deflator from the straight line more pronounced when they are side by side. My brother told us we looked funny walking down the street. We got in front of a big interior and saw that he was right. Until we began wearing long skirts Grace and I agreed to avoid walking side by side. We feel we have given New York enough smiles already."—New York Sun.

Huge Sums Spent on Love, Nest.

Many thousands of dollars were spent during the last few weeks to make a beautiful love nest for Harold F. McCormick and his bride, Ganna Walska, before they returned to New York.

Mae, Walska's mansion on East Ninety-fourth street has been decorated from top to bottom, such of the 43 rooms have been entirely renovated, a beautiful Japanese garden has been built in the entrance hall, six van loads of costly furniture have been trundled in and the mansion has been given a new coat of battleship gray paint.

The lower floor of the mansion is a dazzling display of luxurious red and sea blue draperies and throughout the mansion are scattered beautiful and priceless gifts of the former husband's and admirers of her beauty and of her voice.

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

Taken From the News, June 6, 1908.

Not since Ramesses opened the historic valley of the Nile to settlement under the pioneer irrigation project of the world has there been such a notable land opening as that which occurred in Twin Falls on Monday, June 2, when 80,000 acres of the Salmon river tract were placed within reach of those who wish to secure homes for themselves and families. The weather was abominable. The morning broke cheerless and mist and when the drawing commenced a drizzling rain still fell. The footing around the drawing stand was inches deep in mud and it became necessary to spread a coating of straw on the ground to prevent spectators from taking root. Application was made for half a million acres and a million and a half dollars was put up by those who wanted land. Before the last man in the line had made his filing, 70,000 acres, or practically 90 per cent of the entire tract had been taken.

George Pooler and Fred Kesson, who are employed by the Board of Great Camp on the north side, spent Sunday in the city visiting friends.

780 Studebakers Are Shipped on Banner Day for Corporation

When the whistles of the mammoth Studebaker plants at South Bend and Detroit sounded on the evening of May 29 and 29,008 Studebaker employees started homeward, a new record for a single day's production and shipments had been made for on that day 780 Studebaker cars were forwarded to Studebaker dealers throughout the country. Of the total, 189 were driven overseas.

Advises to this effect were received by J. A. Barrett, local Studebaker dealer.

This record represents a single day's production and was achieved without permitting cars to accumulate purposely to establish a new mark. The only extra incentive involved was an effort to more adequately meet the insistent demand for every section of the country for more Studebakers, but this is a daily endeavor because of the thousands of unfilled orders on hand for immediate shipment.

While the production of 780 cars in one day establishes a record for Studebaker, the total is only a little above regular, daily shipments since the additional facilities provided by seven new Studebaker factory units completed and trolled and opened early this spring, reached capacity production.

Although Studebaker's present output is 15,000 cars a month or at the rate of 180,000 cars annually, the demand is far in excess of production and additional factory facilities, begun this spring, and to cost $5,000,000, are being rushed to completion.

Nineteen hundred and twenty-one, the year of general business depression, was the biggest in Studebaker's history (up to 1922) when sales reached a total of 68,645 cars. Stated otherwise, the sales of Studebaker cars in 1921 were 29 per cent greater than in 1920, notwithstanding the fact that the total number of cars sold of all other makes, except Ford, was 40 per cent less than in 1920. Studebaker again established a new record in 1922 with the sale of 110,250 cars. This year will see another Studebaker record established. Up to July 1 Studebaker will have produced and sold about 50,000 cars, or an increase of 50 per cent over the same period in 1922.

ZEV VICTOR IN TURF CLASSIC

Winner of Kentucky Derby and Withers Carries Rancocas Silks to Victory in Belmont

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Zev, son of the Finn-Miss Kenney, carried the Rancocas silks to victory today in the old Belmont stakes, among the best known American turf classics, and established himself at the top of the 1923 three-year-old division.

The same courage and dash that marked his triumph in the Kentucky derby and in the Withers carried the sturdy Rancocas colt under the wire an easy winner over as likely a band as ever faced the barrier in a hunt of more than 50 years of Belmont stake history.

Harry Payne Whitney's Chickevale finished second a length and a half behind Zev, and Rialto of the Greenleaf stable, who ran couplet with Chickevale, was third, four lengths away from Chickevale. Zev's time, two minutes and 10 seconds, was exceptionally good for the mile and three furlongs as the track was slow and draughts were increased $28,000 by the victory.

Earl Sunde maneuvered Zev in front of his field in the opening strides of the race. Martinus started Chickevale, which ran second to Zev in both the derby and the Withers, attempted to force the early pace. August Belmont's Messenger started Rialto, but Chickevale with the field was back entering the stretch. Martingale cracked, Chickevale saved ground by hugging the rail and moved into second place while Rialto moved ahead of Messenger for third position.

KIMBERLY TEAM AT HOME TO TWIN FALLS PLAYERS

Brisk Struggle is Forecast When Local Cross Bats With Easy End Aggregation

Kimberly and Twin Falls at Kimberly in the dusk that will be served to the fans of this section this afternoon.

These teams, both in tip-top condition, have decided to win today's encounter, and it will be the first of the season to determine the superiority of the two teams.

Kimberly is blessed with "Nig" Lomp, and when Nig is right the words that can get to him. He has a nice assortment of curves, and mixed with his fast one, his working in the box looks ill for his enemy. At Kimberly has a real backstop, and an able assistant to Sir Nig.

Bob Whitzel of the Twin Falls team was undecided as to whom he would use in the box, but he can be relied upon to put his best bet into service, as Kimberly is going to offer stubborn resistance during the afternoon.

Pix, who has been going great guns this season, may be called upon to drive the eastern neighbors. Pix's round-house curve has developed into one of the fastest here, and took balls used by any of the local twirlers, and Whitzel may use Pix to open today's game.

The local skipper has several good backstops and a number of good pitchers. Edna, with Clarence Garrity to do the chauling, is in prime condition to take a shot at the first aggregate team. The latter team, Shoshone will clash with Hansen at Shoshone, and another hot game is looked for.

All games of the Southern Idaho Baseball league start at 3 o'clock.

Cheetah Used for Hunting.

One of the few savage animals which, after being caught, can be made to serve man is the cheetah. If he is caught well he can be taught to hunt for his master, but he cannot be made to do this if he has been born a capitalist. Some princes in India keep cheetahs just as many men in England keep packs of hounds for hunting foxes. When it has been trained the cheetah is taken near to where any deer or antelope. At first the head is covered with a hood. When this is taken off the animal creeps away to where it sees the deer, and springing upon one, catches it for its master. It is like the leopard in appearance, having a spotted coat. It cannot climb trees.

STATZ' SINGLE WINS FOR CUBS

Famous Merkle Bonehead Recalled When Hartnett Trys Same Stunt Giants Win

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Arnold Statz' hard smash to left field sent Heathcote across the plate in the ninth inning, breaking a tie score and giving Chicago its second straight victory over Boston today, 4 to 3. Hartnett, however, narrowly prevented the victory by almost repeating the famous Merkle play of falling to touch second base.

With Heathcote on third and Hartnett on first and two out, Statz shot a fly to left field, setting Heathcote, but Hartnett, thinking the game was over, started for the clubhouse. He had almost reached the third base line when the Chicago players rushed toward him, waving, shouting and pointing to second base. VOTE TO DECIDE CITY FINANCING

Question of Added Levy to be Paid From Surplus to be Settled Thursday

Since the decision to be made by the Twin Falls voters at a special meeting Thursday night at the high school auditorium on the question of a five mill levy is virtually one that means either that the city is to be permitted to continue to operate in a normal way or is to cut down its departments and public service practically in half, it is vitally necessary that all the voters realize the significance of the meeting and be ready to take a stand on one side of the question or the other, according to J. S. Koel, city commissioner in finance.

Having his judgment on interpretations given the city commission by City Attorney A. J. Myers, Mr. Koel said:

"First of all, it must be understood that this five mill additional levy which is asked will really not be made and it will not increase the taxes of the city property owners. The object of this meeting is simply to get authority from the people of Twin Falls to spend out of an estimated surplus of $12,000 which is now available to be classified as revenue, but which cannot legally be spent by the city commission under the present law. The situation is simply this: It has been established that the city is entitled to a surplus credit of about $12,000 which has accumulated during recent years through income attached upon taxes, most of the surplus being in delinquent taxes, penalties and unpaid interest. At the same time there is a surplus of about $12,000 which the city can spend money on the strength of this surplus, except by vote of a special mass meeting to raise the levy. If the levy is raised, the surplus will be appropriated by the city from the surplus and the levy will not be added for collection in the 10 mill levy fixed at the last session of the state legislature.

"The amount of revenue so made available will be about $2,000 which, added to all taxes that will be levied from the 10 mill levy together with the miscellaneous receipts, such as licenses and permits, will make a total of more than $75,000 and which will permit the city to meet necessary expenses for the coming year.

"If the five mill levy does not carry it will simply mean that appropriations cannot be made to sustain all city departments and consequently some of them will have to be dispensed with. In this case it is the intention of the city commission to the best of their ability to make the necessary appropriations to the departments which wish to have discontinued."

FIRST DEGREE MURDER CHARGED TO BROWNING'S

Utah District Attorney Sets New Precedent by Disregarding Magistrate's Findings

SALT LAKE, June 9, (AP)—Marriner A. and John M. Browning, Jr., were again charged with murder in the district court here today by District Attorney E. A. Rogers. They are held for the fatal shooting of Benjamin P. Ballantyne, husband of John Browning's sister, at the Ballantyne home here April 9 last.

Defense counsel today applied to district judge G. A. Iverson for a writ of habeas corpus of the time for arraignment. This was granted.

The defendants will temporarily continue at liberty under the bonds of $25,000 each, fixed by Judge Pratt. In filing the first degree murder charge, District Attorney Rogers set a new precedent in criminal procedure in the state, it was said in legal circles. Heretofore, the district court information has been based on the finding of the justice before whom the preliminary hearing was held.

HYLAN ATTACKS

His kind way of course, would the salary which they derive from contributions paid in by well-intentioned people. For this reason, the city authorities in stopping liquor at its source, the people would get an honest enforcement of the Volstead act. "We realize that if liquor was stopped at the point of entry and we had an honest enforcement, there would be no need for contributions. The city would have these private organizations and Anderson and a few of his ilk would not be continued longer on the payroll. Consequently it may be advantageous to allow liquor to seep in along the Athabasca coast and the Canadian border."

Mayor Hylan said his letter was in reply to one he had received yesterday from District Attorney Rogers. He was for public condemnation in an endeavor to shift the burden of the enforcement of the Volstead act from the shoulders of the citizenry.

Confined Urges Self-Help
Director Carfield yesterday wrote the mayor thanking him for his assurance of cooperation from local police and pointing out that failure to enforce the prohibition would result in a more severe and more effective enforcement of law enforcement at one point would mean the entire structure.

Mayor Hylan's letter today was headed with an appeal for "common sense" and urged and declared unless liquor was prevented from coming in there would be no honest enforcement of the Volstead act.

BIG LUMBER YARD BURNS
PORT ALBERT, Que., June 9, (AP)—Fire which raged for two days in the lumber yard of the Bay Sulphite company, destroying 2,000,000 feet of lumber and threatening to sweep the town, was controlled today.

DID JESSE CARSON KIDNAP HAMMER SLAYER?

Jesse Carson

WAS Mrs. Clara Phillips, "hammer murderer," kidnaped from her cell in the Los Angeles jail, as she asserted following her return from Honduras? She has accused Jesse Carson, convict, of forcing her to flee with him after cutting the bars of her cell, but all his advances were repelled. The "tiger woman" told the authorities, Carson was recaptured by the police in Honduras and is again in jail.

has started. Ships in distress may seek refuge in American ports under the same condition and there is total exemption for medicinal, "diplomatic" and sacramental shipments. But in all other cases ships which cross the maritime boundary into Bays' zone" and wherever intoxicated they have aboard.

Under the regulations, customs officials are authorized along with prohibition agents to seize and condemn outlawed liquor. A ship's owner and her master are alike amenable to the full penal sanctions of the Volstead act on conviction of violation.

Most officials agree enforcement will continue to prove embarrassing to international commerce for some months to come, but the treasury has only one hope of alleviating the condition, and that, is by congressional action.

Profits Outweigh Objections.
There have been some threats that the ships of some foreign nations, whose laws require the serving of wine as a part of the crew ration, would judge American ports heretofore. A Spanish company has announced such a purpose to do so. It is said, make only monthly callings in American waters. Consumption of changes in other shipping company schedules has not been completed and most officials here are inclined to the belief that the small profit lost by ships through operation of the law will be insufficient to tempt many to cross entering American waters with remunerative cargoes.

Some latitude has been given by the treasury in dealing with medicinal liquor, but the regulations require reports of a character and quality sufficient to provide this government with a definite check as to the amount of liquor so handled. Medical officers of the public health service become under the regulations, the official representatives of the United States in dealing out liquor supplies for medicinal use, but any act of theirs finally must come to Washington for final review by the prohibition commissioner.

Interesting News of Hosiery Fashions

MATCHING STOCKINGS IS NO LONGER A FASHION PROBLEM

Stockings don't need to match any more. And stockings don't want to. But hosiery that harmonizes with the costume is a fashion necessity. And stockings of this springtime, like the costumes of this spring, keep on playing difficult and delightful harmonies in wood brown.

Beige and nude stockings are still worn by many, many women. They are worn by all the women who are wearing colored kidskin shoes now. Beige stockings are ahead in the selling at Saks', Gimbel's and Macy's.

But the demand keeps growing steadily for the more colorful brown shades, for cork and otter and cocon and all the rest—those browns with a pinkish cast or a golden glow—browns that change with changing lights. Tomb tan, a tan with a tawny cast, is already Peck and Peck's most popular color, as is a similar shade at Miller's, Hanan's and Henning's. Franklin Simon's sell many fawn-colored hose. The majority of Lord & Taylor's stockings are these medium brown tones.

Medium brown stockings are worn with dark brown shoes and with more and more black slippers. Black patent leather slippers with otter brown stockings are a fashion given more and more importance by well dressed women now—in New York and in Paris.

Gray stockings go with gray shoes and a few black slippers. Dark brown stockings, even with dark brown shoes, grow fewer and fewer. And black stockings, except in the sheepest of chiffon webs, no longer figure in fashion at all. So the story of silk stockings for street wear is the story of their color, and that color is first of all a warm light brown.

RIVAL "BIBES" IN RUSSIA.

A visitor to Russia explains the present business situation there rather simply. The Soviet government still maintains an absolute control over public utilities—railroads, street cars, electric light plants, water works, etc.—with much of the mineral, forest and oil lands. The export trade, too, is a government monopoly, but domestic trade in Russia is now free. There are no government stores and private stores, competing with each other. The private stores are heavily taxed, but are able to hold their own by superior management and personal interest. Almost every kind of merchandise, he says, is abundant.

Here is an interesting example on a big scale, of Socialism and Capitalism operating side by side. The former, having failed in its pure form of Bolshevism, has had to yield little by little, in order to keep the economic machinery running at all and save the nation from ruin and starvation. The great compromise goes on steadily. And it is not necessary to assume that either side will win over the other, as a complete national policy.

Capital has won already in agriculture, and seems destined to win generally in manufacture, trade and finance, but Socialism as represented by the present governmental policy may survive in public utilities and in the handling of some important public resources.

If so, then Russia may lead by being just a little more Socialistic than some respectable European nations are now. In any event, Bolshevism is a thing of the past, however its oratorical defenders may pretend to be keeping it alive.

MORE PLAY, BETTER CHILDREN.

The Playground and Recreation Association of America decided recently to check up on playground benefits with reference to juvenile delinquency. It sent out nearly two thousand five hundred questionnaires and received more than one thousand replies. A few of the facts disclosed are worth study.

In one district in St. Louis the establishment of a playground was followed by a seventy-five per cent reduction in the number of juvenile court cases. The manager of a light company in Duluth reported a thirty-seven per cent decrease in the breakage of street electric lights on a Halloween when the city held a municipal program, as compared with the preceding year when there had been only private and individual celebrating.

In St. Paul, seventy-five boys, saved from the reformatory and from repeating their offenses, owed their happy fortune to the activities of playground directors. Yakima, Wash., reports a decrease of fifty per cent in its child delinquency, since the opening of the playgrounds. Newark, N. J., has a recreation hall in which sixty-eight basketball teams have their games, and the judge of its juvenile court has so much less to do than formerly that he is considering ending that branch of court work.

And so the story goes. These are only a few of out of five hundred and five cities now maintaining one or more play centers. The establishment and maintenance of playgrounds and recreation centers call for the expenditure of cash. They are paying investments, however, not passing luxuries.

Babson Believes Advertising Important Business Stabilizer

Statistician Puts "Constructive" Publicity For Trade on Same Plane With Banking

ATLANTIC CITY, June 9.—(Special to The News).—Roger W. Babson, guest of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in convention, addressed the main body of the meeting on Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Babson is much interested in the latent power of advertising both in connection with the distribution of goods and as a factor in studying business conditions.

"When the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World was formed, there was a great need for systematic vigilance and guidance," says Mr. Babson. "The condition of the advertising world was far below average business in usefulness and morality. Advertising was largely confined to patent medicine manufacturers, theatrical troupes, and bogus stock promoters. Advertising was considered a gamble in game. The old saying, 'Everything is fair in war and love,' was extended to read 'Everything is fair in war, love and advertising.'"

"The first task of the new organization was to form vigilance committees and bring about honest advertising. It deserves the greatest credit for the work it has done and is doing along this line.

Three Development Fields.

There are, however, other things which are equally important, and perhaps more important when all possibilities are considered. If one looks ahead to the future of advertising he sees three additional fields of development.

"The leading advertisers are each year giving more thought to the question of competitive advertising. By competitive advertising I mean advertising which does not benefit the country as a whole. There is nothing dishonest in both the Standard Oil company and the Texas company erecting large sign boards at the same point on a country road. Moreover, I am not criticizing either company for doing this. If one company does it, it is probably necessary for the other company to do it. I, however, am sure that these signs do not increase the sale or use of gasoline and it, no way benefit the country as a whole.

"The end of such competitive advertising is ultimately borne by the consumers. From an economic point of view such advertising is a direct loss to the nation as a whole. The people of a country are best off when they get the largest amount of goods for the least amount of labor. Therefore, we all should strive to eliminate, so far as possible, unnecessary labor and to use our labor for the actual production and distribution of goods. Instead of erecting competitive sign boards, carpenters should be building houses for working men; instead of using electric power for competitive advertising, it should be used for productive industrial purposes; instead of wasting newspaper on competitive advertising, the same space should be used for constructive advertising.

"Every sensible man recognizes the value of constructive advertising. Statistics show clearly that most goods can be sold more cheaply and efficiently through advertising than in any other form. Advertising, when properly used, is considerably cheaper than selling through salesmen and clerks. Not only is the cost per sale less, but when selling through the newspapers or the mails the maker knows just what he promises. The firm, however, who depends upon a crew of salesmen does not always know what the salesman promises. There are many other economic advantages gained through the intelligent use of constructive advertising.

Ultimate Advertising.

"Finally we shall have what I like to call 'ultimate' advertising. The history of the advertising agent will be similar to the history of the banker. Banking as you know, started with the pawn shop. The loaning of money in its early stages was looked upon as a most illegitimate business and carried on under cover by questionable people. Usury was not only banned by the church, but by legislation. It was only comparatively a few years ago, considering history as a whole, when banking was recognized as a legitimate business.

"During the past hundred years banking has gone through various changes. The first campaign was to eliminate dishonest banking; the next step was to eliminate competitive banking; and the present generation has been engaged in constructive banking. The country is now learning, however, that the banker has a great opportunity in studying business conditions, thereby eliminating reckless loans and preventing needless panics. It has been learned that by increasing the bank rate, during periods of over expansion, a panic can be prevented. Then by lowering the rate during periods of depression, prosperity can be brought back. It has been learned that the bank rate bears the same relation to business that the governor bears to an engine. Hence, the banks have been recently united in the Federal Reserve system, which can control the discount rate with the sole object of eliminating reckless loans and preventing needless panics.

"If, however, you will talk with any banker man, thoroughly informed in economics, he will tell you that the goal cannot be reached except with the help of the advertising man of the country and the transportation systems. The three great factors affecting business are money rates, advertising rates and transportation rates. Given control of these three factors one can go a long way in eliminating the hills and valleys of business. The federal reserve board is doing as well as it can with only one of these tools, but at present it is like a carpenter with only a hammer, without saw or chisel. The interstate commerce commission, which controls the rates of transportation, have the saw; but the advertising men have the chisel. Some day your 'Associated Advertising Clubs of the World' will take up the question of using advertising rates as a tool in connection with the steadying of business conditions.

Business Barometers.

"When business is recklessly expanding, advertising rates should be materially increased; so that when business is depressed advertising rates may be correspondingly reduced. One of the best barometers of business is the size of our daily paper. I do not want to reduce the size of our papers over a period of years. Rather I want to see them continue to increase in size. I, however, do object to a big paper one year and a small paper the next year. Business conditions will become steady and gradually increase only when the amount of advertising becomes steady and gradually increases. Violent fluctuations in advertising are not merely the result of fluctuations in business; but are largely the cause.

"A concern stops advertising because its business has fallen off, but the fact of its stopping advertising makes business still worse than it otherwise would be. To speak statistically, advertising begins to fall off because business begins to decline, but business declines to the depth which it would otherwise would because advertising is decreased. The changing of advertising rates and railroad rates in accordance with the Babsonhart would not only greatly benefit business as a whole, but would benefit those who have advertising space to sell and those who have transportation to sell. Business in every way will be helped by what I call this 'ultimate' advertising. May we hasten the day when it will be used."

General business as reflected in the Babsonhart continues in satisfactory volume, running this week at 2 per cent above normal.—(All publication rights strictly reserved.)

The Wedding Bunch.

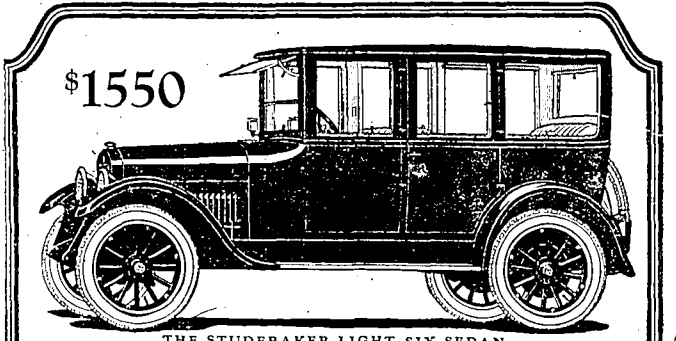

One of the new suburban churches has a built-in bridal nook. This is a dainty little canopy and pillared affair and is meant to serve for weddings where the full church is not needed. It has a separate entrance for the bride and groom and space for a small company of guests. There are lots of girls who would like a church wedding, but the groom balks at the show and parade when there is a church full of people looking on. This tabloid cathedral effect will have its appeal in such cases. The happy couple can turn up at the pastor's study with a suit case and a vanity box and have all the satisfaction of a church wedding, in a few minutes. Anything that will make our weddings more genial will be welcomed.—Los Angeles Times.

THE STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX SEDAN

Where Quality Counts Above Everything Else

Quality is more important in an enclosed car than in most any other product in daily use.

Regardless of price, it is not economy to buy a makeshift job in which the quality is skimmed and cheapened at every turn. Paint, imitation leather and fibre board too often cover serious structural defects and cotton-and-wool trimming cloths are short lived. The chances are that the buyer will more than pay the difference later—in higher upkeep cost, frequent repairs and excessive depreciation.

The price of the Light-Six Sedan is the lowest at which it is possible to obtain a substantial, high grade hardwood and steel body, upholstered in mohair, in combination with a chassis of proved dependability and performance.

Studebaker's South Bend plants build more high quality closed bodies than those of any other automobile manufacturer and consequently overhead costs are reduced and the price to the customer is low.

The in-built quality of the Light-Six Sedan is evident the moment one gets behind the wheel, and is appreciated far more after twenty-five or thirty thousand miles of service.

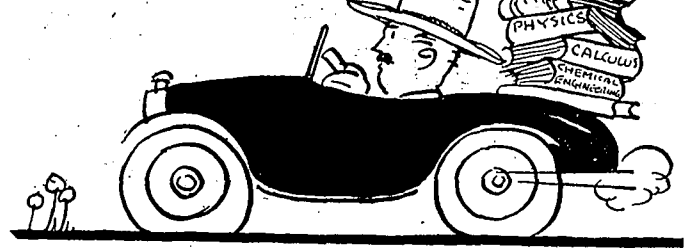

The Light-Six Sedan, with its sturdy four-door body, its improved L-head motor, and the excellence of its chassis, combines distinction of appearance with a reliability of performance, a degree of comfort and economy of operation unknown in any other car at anywhere near its price.

REVELATIONS OF MR. CONOCO
—the most contented motorist in six states!

"A little knowledge"

IS a dangerous thing—especially when the average man like myself picks up a few fancy words and phrases about gasoline.

"For instance, 'high gravity' sounded good until I sat down to figure it out—and then I learned that the specific gravity of gasoline, alone, didn't indicate any quicker starts, snappier pick-up, greater power or more miles per gallon. In fact, I was just a little ashamed to think I'd ever taken the term seriously—or a lot of similar terms, for that matter.

"Two things brought me to the Conoco habit—first, the assurance of dependable and uniform gasoline, due to the rigid specifications and improved processes under which it is produced and, second, the plain peace-of-mind fact that wherever I traveled in these mountain states I didn't have to look far for the CONOCO sign."

STATE HIGHWAY WORK TO BRING MORE TOURISTS

Twin Falls District Pays Off Final Obligation Toward Big Graveling Project; Await Action by the State

The final financial obligations of the Twin Falls highway district in the graveling of the state highway beginning at the end of the paving at Hansen and extending to the Cassin county line, were disposed of Saturday when the highway board in session here ordered payment to the state of $53,872.14 as the proportionate share of the Twin Falls district in the construction of the project which is known as Federal aid project No. 72.

The project, which is made possible by the recent amicable settlement between the Murtaugh and Twin Falls highway districts, is estimated to cost $90,207.50. Of this amount the government will contribute 58 per cent, or $52,328.15, the state $25,000 and the Murtaugh district will pay $12,879.35 provided in the terms of the settlement by which the latter amount was turned over to the Murtaugh district. The project, which will be completed by the state covers a stretch of 11.78 miles, of which 2.21 miles are in the Twin Falls district. The Burley district is understood to be arranging to gravel several miles further into the county.

T. D. Nash, secretary treasurer of the Murtaugh district, was in Twin Falls Saturday, stated that the warrants of this district are being appraised by the attorney general before being turned over to the state highway department.

The completion of this project, together with considerable work outlined by the roads bureau of the chamber of commerce will tremendously increase the benefits to Twin Falls from tourist travel. The stretch in the state highway is the only large gap without a hard surface and its completion will mean a continuous hard surfaced road across the state and the consequently greater inducement to tourist travel to come over the Old Oregon Trail through Twin Falls.

Start Drive for Scout Executive

Local Committee to Seek Funds Tuesday as Share to Maintain District Office

In order to assure the maintenance of a paid Boy Scout executive to have charge of troops in Twin Falls, Robert Burley and Bill, a committee from various local organizations will begin canvass Tuesday morning to raise Twin Falls' proportionate share of the expense, according to announcement by J. H. Seaver.

The district executive will have his headquarters here and will devote his entire time to the troops in this district.

"The Boy Scout movement in our community has gone entirely beyond the time when it can be given voluntarily and it is necessary to have it levied on someone who does nothing else but," said Mr. Seaver. "Robert, Burley and Bill are going to give their share and participate proportionately, but Twin Falls' quota is $200 to be raised Tuesday, so that we may secure an experienced man at once."

"The summer season is one of long days and little money for some of our youngsters, and a Scout master who has majored in 'theology' is the best investment we can make at this time. This is in the nature of a direct tax. If we choose to call it a tax but we pay much higher indirect taxes to our corrective institutions to repair young lives which will never have been earned had constructive work been done. J. R. Ault is authority for the statement that it is an unheard of thing for a Boy Scout in good standing to be in the juvenile hall, and only occasionally does one appear who has ever been under Scout influence."

"It is the price of the same old ounce of prevention that is being asked for now instead of the pound of cure. It costs $650 to keep a boy at St. Anthony for one year. So let us all greet these contributions with a glad heart and that we can contribute to a work which promises such big dividends in citizenship."

Tremendous Energy Bottled

Walter S. Josephson, a mechanical genius of New York, is the first man so far as is known, to store a highly explosive liquid for every day use. He is shown here in his laboratory releasing from a steel bottle a vapor which is powerful enough, when turned into a cylinder jack, to lift a street car in a few seconds. Josephson's development has been acclaimed by his scientific associates as one of the foremost discoveries of the day, and in its own field, it will rival radio in its scope, they say. He has been offered a fortune for his device.

Murtaugh District Arranging Finances

Executives to Confer with California Interests on Bonds Voted by Property Owners

In the interests of arranging matters concerning the sale of the bonds voted by the Murtaugh irrigation district, T. T. Henderson, engineer for the district, and T. D. Nash, secretary of the board, will leave for points in California Sunday or Monday morning.

An informal meeting of the Murtaugh board of officers was held Saturday in the office of Porter & Witham, attorneys for the district, at which arrangements were made for the trip, which will take Mr. Henderson and Mr. Nash to San Francisco and other places where they will confer with financial interests relative to the disposition of the bonds.

Some cash which is now available will be used for preliminary work, which will probably start about July 1, and which will include work on test pits, according to Attorney J. W. Porter. The district will make its initial payment to the government for American Falls, but also sponsor a test pit at the junction of Hook creek with the Snake river. The sale of power is expected to reduce maintenance charges to an unusually low figure.

"Projects look very favorable, and I believe construction work will begin very soon," said Mr. Porter.

CHARGE BOYS WITH THEFT

Youngster Appropriates Tennis Net for Youngster Appropriates Tennis Net for His Own Use; Second Lad Takes Risk

Appropriating a tennis net and setting it up in the back yard for his own use cost a Twin Falls boy a fine of $10 in probate court Saturday, and another lad also spent several anxious minutes trying to square himself in the eyes of Probate Judge O. P. Davall for stealing a nozzle from a garden hose.

The boy who took the tennis net made rather a neat job of it, the net being ready for use when the authorities interrupted the plan, according to their report. The second boy who is already under commitment to the state industrial school, is said to have sold the hose nozzle for 15 cents.

"Did you think you was worth your while to take a chance on going to St. Anthony just for 15 cents?" the judge asked the boy. "Well, honestly, judge, it was just an old worn out nozzle and I didn't think it would make much difference," the boy replied. He will appear again next Saturday while other reports concerning him are being investigated in the meantime.

Historical Hotel Was Once Property of Local Merchant

F. W. Dumke Recalls Days When Lincoln and Greeley Registered at Old Edgar House

The name of a Twin Falls merchant, F. W. Dumke, of the United States, is intimately connected with an interesting piece of early day history in Missions through the sale recently at St. Joseph of the first three-story building erected there, the old Edgar house built in 1845, and for many years owned by Mr. Dumke and his affected.

The record of the famous old history is replete with incidents and episodes of an almost forgotten day, every phase of which is reviewed by Kansas City newspapers in commenting on the sale.

At the time the hotel was built it was held by the finest collection of land in all that section of the west yet it maintained this prestige for only four years, the old Occidental hotel, built in 1841, being a most pretentious affair. This was in the steamboat days and because of the fact that the Edgar house was a block closer to the river and steamboat landing, its popularity for years was its affected.

Gold Rush Begins.

The hotel was but four years old when news of the great California gold diggings set the business world afire. Thousands of travelers passed through St. Joseph every year and the hotels of the town were inadequate to care for the multitude of guests which sought entertainment.

It was the current belief in those early days that the operations of the hotel bar, together with the gambling games of every description, easily paid the operating expenses of the institution, added to which the hotel business proper was a highly profitable one. Lavish entertainments were supplied to all with money to pay for it and a host of money was made available to the patrons of the institution.

The hotel was one of the first brick buildings to be erected in St. Joseph. The bricks were manufactured along the river just south of town, the late John B. Stetson being one of the pioneers in the brick industry. Stetson's entire plant was washed away by the Missouri river and the famous ant manufacturer to be joined a gold seeking expedition to California, and while in camp in Colorado, made the first Stetson hat. Later the hotel was known as the Planters' and some years after the name was changed to the Tremont house, by which title it was known for many years.

Famous Guests.

In the year 1850 two famous guests registered and were entertained at the Edgar house. They were Abraham Lincoln and Harage Croder, editor of the New York Tribune. The old hotel for years was a popular center of public entertainment and from year to year numbered among its guests many notable men of the nation.

Mr. Dumke states that there is one asset which goes with the property of which he hopes again to gain possession through the sale, a register, which for years adorned the hotel desk and which today constitutes an autograph album of an unique and extraordinary kind.

The driver of the car remained with the child until the doctor's opinion was given.
