LAST FOREIGN CAPTIVES QUIT BANDITS' LAIR

Eight Aliens Held Prisoner Since May 6 by Shanting Brigands Who Held up Train Are Released

TSAOCHWANG, June 12 (AP)—Eight captives, the last of the foreigners kidnaped by Chinese bandits who held up the Shang Hai-Peking express near Szechow, May 6, and held at the Pantzui mountain headquarters of the outlaws since that time, were released today.

The eight released were: Americans: Major Roland W. Pinger, U. S. A. ordnance department, Manila, home, Berkeley, Cal.; Leon Friedman, Brovort hotel, Chicago, owner of China hotel corporation, Shang Hai; John B. Powell, Humbolt, Mo., publisher of Weekly Harrow, Birmingham, England, manager Rols and company, Tien Tsin. French: Emile Gensburg, broker, Shang Hai. Italian: E. D. Musso, Shang Hai, lawyer, capitalist, adviser to the Chinese government.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12 (AP)—"Oh thank the Lord," said Mrs. H. E. Pinger, mother of Major Roland W. Pinger, tonight, when informed by the Associated Press that her son had been released by his Chinese bandit captors. "I was praying for that tonight," she said.

TSAOCHWANG, June 11, (AP)—Final negotiations for the release of the Pantzui bandits' captives have been slightly delayed because of the brigands learning that a number of Italian detectives, ostensibly working under instructions from Italy, have been prowling around the mountain headquarters of the outlaws.

Relief workers here are confident, however, that the Chinese government officials and Roy Anderson, the American intermediary, will return tomorrow with the prisoners.

Increase Requirements

By observing the action of the Italian detectives, it was said the bandit chiefs learned that King Victor Emmanuel III and Pope Pius XI were interested in the fate of G. D. Musso, Italian lawyer from Shang Hai, one of the captives. The chiefs are then declared to have used this knowledge to exact better terms from the Chinese government.

The enrolling of the bandits in the Chinese army is virtually completed and the government is sending food supplies to the brigands' strongholds through American relief workers.

Railway Section Men Open Fight for Wage Boost

Employees Quote Labor Board Decision in Argument For Increased Pay

CHICAGO, June 11, (AP)—Quoting from a former decision of the railroad labor board that "wage scales which are insufficient to attract or support men of the character necessary for railroad work constitute waste and extravagance and not economy," representatives of the United States Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Shop Laborers today began argument before the board for an increase in wages.

Increases ranging from 8 1/2 to 15 cents an hour, effective February 15 last are sought for ten classes of employees of the brotherhood. The argument was presented by P. H. Flozda, grand president and other officers of the organization.

Among the roads involved are the Chicago and Northwestern; Chicago Great Western; Kansas City Southern and subsidiaries; Louisville and Nashville; Pennsylvania system; Southern Pacific company and Texas and Pacific.

The union leaders presented a compilation of answers to questionnaires sent to members which they asserted showed that for every employe having a bank account there are 6.14 employes without one; that nearly two-thirds of the organization's 300,000 members are in doubt that the average family for each employe is 5.33 persons and that the average cost per meal per person in each employe's family is 63 cents.

Crawling Army of Caterpillars Holds Up Oregon Railroad Trains

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 11 (AP)—The caterpillar army invading this region, threatened with defeat from its natural enemy, a parasite fly, has brought up its reserves. As a result, its strength is greater than at any time since its vanguard began delaying trains last week.

A train which normally requires twelve minutes to traverse a grade near Summit, Ore., required a hour and 15 minutes, so thickly did the reinforced besiegers invest the right of way.

The tracks literally were buried in caterpillars and uncounted thousands of them were found to death beneath the locomotive's wheels. Local trainmen went west to Portland headquarters asking help against the new onslaught, and 1. H. Burt, general manager of the department arrived to direct a campaign against the crawling army.

It was thought at first that a revolving brush would be effective in clearing the tracks but the experience of trainmen who went ahead of the train on a handcar and endeavored to sweep the wiggling army off the tracks with stiff brooms, caused the idea to be abandoned. They are too thick and too heavy for brooms.

The rain today tended to dampen the caterpillars' ardor, but the railroad company put on an extra engine in an effort to buck the line. Even with the two engines the train was delayed 12 minutes in traversing the incline.

Fence posts and ties were covered with the caterpillars so thickly that they looked as though they were overgrown with a thick coat of moss.

Utah Farmers Ask Aid From State In Fight on Crickets

Return of Plague Recalls Pioneers' Debt to Sea Gulls From Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY, June 11, (AP)—A plague of crickets is reported in Uinta county, eastern Utah, and adjoining counties in western Colorado, and farmers of the vicinity have appealed to the Utah state board of agriculture to help them save their crops.

A year ago there was a similar cricket horde but prompt action with poisons was successful in killing off a great majority of the pests.

The cricket has played an important part in Utah history. In 1848, a year after the first Mormon pioneers reached the Salt Lake valley, a plague of the crickets appeared and threatened to ruin all the crops. The pioneers were apparently helpless in combating the pests and when the outlook appeared darkest, sea gulls from the great Salt lake came to the rescue.

It is due to this fact that sea gulls are protected by the state government and that the Mormons have erected a monument to the birds on the temple grounds here.

APPROVAL GIVEN RAILWAY MERGER

Federal Circuit Court of Appeals Gives Sanction to Southern Pacific Acquisition

ST. PAUL, June 11, (AP)—Approval of the interstate commerce commission's action in authorizing the Southern Pacific railroad to acquire control of the Central Pacific was announced today by the United States circuit court of appeals.

Walter H. Samba, senior judge of the court, announced that the court "concluded the interstate commerce commission had the authority to issue and approve the control by lease and stock ownership of the Central Pacific railroad by the Southern Pacific company."

This conclusion, in effect approving provisions of the transportation act of 1920, is declared of far-reaching importance in that it tends to uphold the present railroad consolidation plan covered by the act.

"There will be no opinion filed now but caused for the department of justice and for the Southern Pacific were notified today to present arguments here Monday on the form the court's decree shall take. Appeal to the supreme court still is open to the government."

FRENCH SEAMEN DENIED LIQUOR IN DRY HARBOR

Reported Distribution of Wine Ration to Foreign Liner's Crew Stirs Dry Law Agents; Given Double Denial

NEW YORK, June 11, (AP)—Officials of the French line today denied reports that liquor was served yesterday to members of the crews of vessels of the line now in port, in violation of the treasury department's prohibition ruling. "Wine is being kept under seal and the men are being paid for the wine rations which, in accordance with French law, they receive under ordinary circumstances," it was stated.

Antion Borles, general representative of the line, declared he was certain that the ship's liquor stores were under seal. If liquor was in the possession of employes, he declared, it must have been of bootleg nature. Customs authorities ignored the reports and refused to discuss them beyond to say that the law is being enforced and nothing more. "This was interpreted to mean that ships stores were being sealed and that no releases from the seal were being permitted."

It was said however that no effort was being made to cut off from foreign sailors any other possible source of liquor supply.

TREASURY TO STAND PAT

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—The treasury will stand pat in its determination to enforce rigidly the supreme court decision barring beverage liquor from territorial waters of the United States, it is informed customs officers in New York tonight and issued an official declaration that further misunderstandings with foreign governments may be avoided.

The French government, through its embassy here, had suggested to the treasury that each member of the crew of the liner France, in New York harbor, should be allowed to have his wine ration of one half a liter a day as required by the French law, inasmuch as the ship had left her home port prior to June 10, the effective date of the regulations. Embassy officials took the position, liquor stores of a vessel had been sealed by custom authorities, the former practice of opening the stores

RUSH OF WATER HITS OKLAHOMA

Flood Damage in State Runs Into Millions; Jess Willard Exhibits Heroism

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 11, (AP)—Flood damage running into millions of dollars was reported tonight from northern Oklahoma as a rush of water swept down from "Southern Kansas." Hundreds of persons are homeless, various points along flooded rivers but there were no confirmed reports of loss of life.

Train schedules have been interrupted as a result of the washing out of important main line bridges, both in northern and western Oklahoma. Damages to state highways will run to nearly $1,000,000, officials estimated.

The Arkansas river was out of its banks from the Kansas border to the eastern end of the state, where it flows into Arkansas, flooding thousands of acres of farm lands. At Tulsa, the Arkansas was still rising. Tonight but warning from the weather bureau at Fort Smith, Ark., stated that a further rise might be expected.

Rich Tankman and Burbank oil fields are cut off.

Kay County Hard Hit

Damage to property, crops and livestock in Kay county, is estimated at $2,000,000 according to advices. The Chickasha and Salt Fork were rising tonight but the Arkansas was still rising.

At 101 ranch, near Ponca City, Colonel Joe Miller estimated the damage to his property at $100,000. Much livestock was lost. All employes on the ranch sought refuge in the warehouses, the only building not inundated.

Thriftless scenes at the ranch were effected by Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion. He waded into many pools rescuing women and children and livestock, where smaller men would have given under. In one instance he stripped himself of his clothes and went down deep into the water to cut loose two horses that had become entangled in barbed wire. Willard plowed through the waters from three a. m. yesterday until after midnight.

The business district of Kaw City was under water as was the greater part of the residence district. Six feet of water flowed down the main street today, while citizens huddled on a hill top.

At Antwine residents took refuge last night in grain elevator roofs. They were rescued with boats.

Heavy rains last night near Pawhuska sent all streams up. Lowlands in the eastern section of Pawhuska were flooded. Many persons in that place who fled to higher ground last night returned to their homes today.

KANSAS FLOODS COSTLY IN LIFE AND PROPERTY

Seven Dead; Many Missing; Thousands Homeless; $5,000,000 Damage Known Results of Deluge

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11 (AP)—Seven dead, many reported missing, thousands homeless and property loss exceeding $5,000,000 were the known toll tonight of floods which have sent virtually every stream in Kansas to the highest stage in years.

The Kansas river and some of its tributaries, tonight were reported falling, removing the immediate danger of threatened disastrous floods in northern Kansas. In southern Kansas, however, the valleys of the Verdigris, Neosho, Walnut and other streams were being inundated. Thousands of acres of rich farm lands were covered with water.

Arkansas City and Winfield, in south central Kansas, the cities hardest hit, tonight were under partial of American Legion and Kansas national guardmen. Ray Cross and other agencies are endeavoring to care for the homeless.

The chamber of commerce of Arkansas City appealed to other cities for $200,000 to aid the flood sufferers. The chamber estimated the damage there at more than $300,000. At Winfield the damage was estimated at between one and one-half million.

BULGARIA QUIET UNDER NEW RULE

Official Word to Washington Reports Overthrow of Peasants' Government

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—An official report on the overthrow of the agrarian government of Bulgaria and of the appointment by the king of the provisional government headed by Premier Zankoff, a moderate socialist, to succeed the Stamboulsky cabinet, was received at the state department today from the legation at Sofia. The provisional government, the message said, was supported by the army and order prevailed in the capital under martial law with regular troops patrolling the streets. Reports from the provinces, it was added, indicated that the coup had been successful also in large centers.

The provisional ministry has issued a manifesto, the message said, declaring any purpose for weakening vengeance on the deposed cabinet. Members of former ministries held in prison under the agrarian government awaiting trial, have been released, it was added.

Accepts Reparations Agreement. "The new government will accept the reparations agreement and continue negotiations with the inter-allied commission," the state department's announcement said. "There has been no discontinuance of administrative functions or public service and the coup d'etat was of an essentially fascist character."

An official dispatch to the Bulgarian legation here said quiet prevails in Bulgaria and the new ministry is representative of all parties, including the socialists, but minus the communists.

The report of mobilization having been ordered was declared untrue. The aim of the new government, it was said, was believed to maintain the internal peace while in foreign policy it will be guided by a loyal conduct towards all powers, with due regard to international treaties, and by efforts to improve the relations of Bulgaria with her neighbors.

The Home of the Soul.
In often times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.—adv.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly causes a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.—adv.

SUNDAY'S RESULTS.

Twin Falls 6, Kimberly 4.
Elden 0, Jerome 7.
Hansen 2, Shoshone 12.

Twin Falls won a close game from the Kimberly baseball team Sunday afternoon, 6 to 4, in which everything (that goes to make a real baseball game was represented.

Good pitching, good fielding, glaring errors, rain, a wind storm, and umpire errandizing made up the afternoon's entertainment, which was called in the first of the ninth with two men out, when rain came down in torrents. For six innings both teams displayed some real baseball, with Kimberly leading 3 to 2 at this stage. "Nig" Lemp on the mound for the Kimberly team went great guns up to the seventh frame, when he lost control and allowed four runs to score with the aid of one hit.

"Snading" Don Liville occupied the box for the Twin Falls team, and did fairly well, although nicked rather hard at times. He gave way to Lave, Jarman in the eighth, after allowing the base to become loaded with no one out.

The feature of the day's play was the work of Bruce Watson, third sacker for the Twin Falls team. Bruce fielded in elegant style, and out the ball hard, getting two out of five, being robbed of the other two. Kimberly drew first blood in the third. Lemp fielded one of Liville's errors, for a double to deep center, Claborn and Mitten were easy victims, but Stowe singled infield, sending Lemp to third, Jim Seilly habbled Davidson's roller and Lemp scored with the first run of the game.

The second Kimberly run came in the fourth when Riley sent a parking triple to center and scored on a sacrifice fly to center by Haskins. Twin Falls applied the platter for the first time in the fifth. With two men out C. Liville was granted a life on Emerson's error. Don Liville sent a flip snorter to center, but Stowe let get away from him long enough to let Carl Liville score.

Whitzel's cohorts tied the score in the sixth. Watson opened the inning with a triple to left. Whitzel popped out to James, but Jimmie Holihan delivered the necessary swat to center and Watson scampered home.

Kimberly refused to allow even a tie, sending one across in their half of the sixth. Riley fanned, but Cunningham errored on Whitzel's throw of Haskins' roller, and the Kimberly fielder perched on first. Emerson brossed, James sent Haskins to second with a Texas leaguer to center. Haskins pilfered third, and scored on Lemp's single to left. The seventh was the big inning for Twin Falls. Lemp lost the location of the plate, and Sniffle meandered to first. Cunningham patiently waited for four wild ones. Liville, taking advantage of Lemp's wildness, refused to strike at any, and was rewarded with free trans-

Hard to roll your own? Not really. Give yourself a chance to learn, this way:

Carry a sack of "Bull" in your pocket all the time, as well as your regular cigarettes. Every time you think of smoking a cigarette pull out your sack of "Bull" and try rolling one.

KIMBERLY LOSES TO TWIN FALLS

Kimberly came back in their half of the eighth with a marker. Riley sent a long double to right. Louie walked. King, batting for Emerson, sent an infield fly to Scully, and when the Twin Falls second baseman failed to hear the umpire call the batter out he stepped back, letting the ball bounce, and then Riley cut it. Wheeler threw to second, but Empire Whitel called Louie safe. James walked, filling the bases. Manager Whitel yanked Livette and Leach down from the burden. Wheeler sent a runner to Watson, who threw Louie out of the plate. Jarman made a wild pitch and King scored. Chasman got the runner on who threw a hit. Empire Whitel called Chasman out, but Empire Givens reversed the decision, saying that Chasman had his foot off the bag. A real passover resulted, and after ten minutes of usual training, play was resumed, and he interrupted after two. The game had been out when his rival high jumper, Jupiter Phynix, sent down enough water to float a battleship.

moved an asset to the team after another game or two. Cunningham was another new player on the Twin Falls team, and he had himself fairly well. New grounds and new surroundings seemed to hold Cunningham back.

Hence Watson looked mighty sweet out there Sunday.

The argument in the eighth inning over Empire Whitel, had called Chasman out at first, didn't help the game any.

Wrangling usually disgusts the crowd, and the best way to win when a mistake occurs, is to finish the game, and then enter a protest to the president of the league.

To satisfy the many fans who were unable to find out what the trouble was when Empire's decision in the eighth, and insisted on Twin Falls kicking the field again, a copy of the rules on this particular instance may not go astray.

Rule 63 of Spaulding's rule book says: There shall be no appeal from any decision of either umpire on the ground that he was not correct in his conclusion as to whether a batted ball was fair or foul, a base runner safe or out, a pitched ball a strike or ball, or on any other play involving accuracy of judgment, and no decision rendered by him shall be reversed, except that he be convinced that it is in violation of one of these rules. The captain shall alone have the right to protest against a decision and seek a review on a claim that it is in conflict with a section of these rules. In case the Captain does seek a reversal of a decision, based solely on a point of rules, the umpire making the decision shall, if he is in doubt, ask his associate for information before acting on the captain's appeal. Under no circumstances shall either umpire be criticized or interfere with a decision unless asked to do so by his associate.

Empire Whitel made a candy catch in the second with a new running catch.

Some peddled Cunningham of a hit in the second with a new running catch.

California took Hillman's hard ground in the fourth and three hits and out at first. It was a nice piece of work.

Whitell made a swell catch at Scowen's fly in deep short, in the fifth frame.

Minton made a nice catch of Hillman's high ball in the seventh.

And then it rained.

HANSEN AND SHOSHONE STAGE WIERD BALL GAME

Northsiders Lose 23 to 13 Contest After Three Hours of Baseball

SHOSHONE, June 11.—(Special to The News)—Hansen and Shoshone staged an old-fashioned track meet here Sunday afternoon when the Hansens took the long end of a 20 to 100 yard race.

Hansen had 41 men at bat, while Shoshone registered 45. Hansen made 13 errors and Shoshone 11. It was the wildest game ever witnessed on the local grounds.

Captain Lowery of the Hansen team leading the attack with five hits out of seven trips to the plate, Piper did the heavy work for the home team with four hits out of six efforts.

Captain Pettie of the Shoshones was

LEAVING OTHER PEOPLE ALONE

It is a sad tale that is unfolded by Frederick C. Howe, former commissioner of immigration in New York, writer on national affairs and known, himself, at one time as a "professional uplifter."

He laments the increase of uplifters, especially in the metropolis. They are, increasing so fast, he says, that soon half the people there will be trying to uplift the other half.

They are a queer breed, as he describes them, "suffering from a kind of word mania, and making a constant chatter with their tongues."

Here, then, is one thing at least for which other American cities have to thank New York—it absorbs their professional busybodies and keeps them all in a state of perpetual agitation.

Reformers there must be, if there is to be progress, and it is sometimes well to insist on an inert public doing something for its own good. Nevertheless Mr. Howe is doubtless right in the main.

ELECTRICAL ALCHEMY

The electrical wizards of the General Electric Company, making artificial thunderstorms that rival the genuine products of Jove and Thor, have finished the experimental work started by Ben Franklin a century and a half ago.

There is no longer any mystery about thunder and lightning. But they have passed on to tackle another problem that represents a greater mystery. It comes as a by-product of the lightning experiments.

When their artificial lightning, made by a million or two of electric volts, strikes a block of wood, the scientists find that it makes a hole in the wood, but does it without burning. There is no flame nor smoke nor charring.

What has happened to that vanished wood? They think it may be transformed into a new substance—a new element. And if the man-made lightning-spark can change one element into another, the electrical experts may learn how to control the operation and make such changes at will.

The electrician becomes the present-day alchemist. Already he has found how to break up atoms, by tearing their "electrons" loose from their "protons," which is something like breaking up a solar system by tearing the planets loose from the sun.

THE BABY PLANE

That "baby monoplane" brought from France by Georges Barbot looks more like flying for everybody than anything else that has appeared. In his first demonstrations in New York, with the plane that carried him across the English Channel, he is reported to have made two flights of twenty minutes on one pint of gasoline.

Yet there is no magic about it. Stenmetz, the electrician, has found that there is as much energy in a unit of gasoline as there is in an average lightning stroke. It is merely a question of utilizing more of the latent power in the fuel.

Cost is as interesting as power and design. He built his demonstration plane for twenty thousand francs, or about one thousand five hundred dollars. He says now that it can be built in quantity for less than four hundred dollars.

How long will it be until the air is as full of flippers flying home in the evening as it is now full of gnats or mosquitoes?

THE PERFECT CANDIDATE

"What we need," says Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, referring to the next campaign, "is a man like Wilson. He says now that it can be built in quantity for less than four hundred dollars."

So here we have the specifications for the perfect presidential candidate. All that any party has to do now is to find the superman measuring up to them.

An Alarming Mistake

After a whole day of golfing and an evening of motoring Ruth's skin was irritated from the combined effects of sun and wind; so she liberally applied "cold cream" to her face and settled herself for a good night's rest.

Her nervousness increased when her skin began to crack and snap. She hastily turned on the light and found her face alarmingly white and shiny.

Electric Dogs

The electric dog that will follow a lantern in the dark—the mechanical curio invented by Hays Hammond, Jr.—has a rival in French electric dog that will jump out of its kennel when a whistle sounds.

The Hammond dog is controlled by selenium cells. The amount of electricity that will pass through selenium varies with the amount of light shining on the metal. With a selenium cell for each eye of the dog and a small electric gun inside the toy the dog will steer its course so as to have an equal amount of light on each eye.

Corn Money

Boxes of American grits are passing as currency in Georgia, Armenia, Azerbaijan and the Russia of the Caucasus. The holders of these countries will not take a job to be paid in currency of the country, but 100,000 of them are laboring earnestly on roadbuilding, farming and stock raising for two and a half pounds of grit a week.

Refugees Saved by Aircraft

Refugees were rescued from Suldamnash in southern Kurdistan by aircraft. This is the first time in history the evacuation of a town has been carried solely by this means. In all, a force of three aircraft, with 120 men, women and children and transported them to a place of safety.

Astor's Action Appropriate

Vincent Astor of New York city, a direct descendant of John Jacob Astor, who founded Astoria, Oregon, as a fur trading post in 1811, wired the Astoria Hotel, commission $5,000 for the fire relief fund.

Republican Head Raises Ructions

Chairman John T. Adams of the republican national committee, has called upon Cordell G. Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee, to "set forth accurately and positively the organization's position on the League of Nations question. He has asked whether the party's views on the matter are those of Woodrow Wilson or of Senator James Reed of Missouri."

The Secret Adversary by Agatha Christie

Like a spider in a web, but more subtle, more concealed and more dangerous to humans than the spider to the fly, sits a secret foe plotting for loot or power and even for the destruction of nations. An intelligence as subtle as it is clever and efficient, a brilliant mind—the mind of a natural leader, a statesman—turns by deliberate choice to criminal activities and the undoing of social good.

The individual who possesses these powers and dark purposes is doubly dangerous from the fact that his identity cannot be traced. He controls criminals and conspirators of various sorts, he manipulates their plans, but never openly. His organization is subtle and powerful in the extreme, but no one in that organization has the faintest idea of who he is, or even, knowingly, has looked upon his face.

When the heads of his organization—and there are many in number and international in their operations—and it necessary that the force controlling them be in suspicion that he is one of them, but they do not know which one. When a member breaks a vow or betrays a trust, his vengeance is swift and terrible and always from an unexpected source.

PROLOGUE

It was 2 p. m. on the afternoon of May 7, 1915. The Lusitania had been struck by two torpedoes in succession and was sinking rapidly, while the boats were being launched with all possible speed. The women and children were being lined up awaiting their turn. Some still clung devotedly to husbands and fathers. One girl stood alone, slightly apart from the rest.

Powerful Steam Engines

The most powerful high-pressure steam engine in the world was built for the Cargo-Fleet Iron company of England and develops 25,000 horsepower at 140 revolutions a minute, with steam at 190 pounds.

Birds as Watchdogs

The trumpeter crane of Venezuela, a long-legged, powerful bird, is trained by the natives to guard sheep. All day it keeps an eye on its charge, and at night brings them back safe to the fold.

(The ambassador's own hands. Is that clear?)

"Then he ready—I'm going to say good-by." He took her hand in his. "Good-by. Good luck to you," he said in a loud tone. Her hand closed on the oilskin packet that had lain in his palm.

THE YOUNG ADVENTURERS, LTD.

"Tommy, old thing!" "Tuppence, old bean!" The two young people greeted each other affectionately, and momentarily blocked the Dover Street Tube exit in doing so.

"Not seen you for simply centuries," continued the young man. "Where are you off to? Come and chew a bun with me. We're getting a bit unpopular here—blacking the gangway, as it were. Let's get out of it."

"The girl assenting, they started walking down Dover street toward Piccadilly. "Now, then," said Tommy, "where shall we go?"

"I should think I'd! Wasn't the old cat in a funk when she found out? Not that she was a bad sort really, old Mother Greenbank! Good old hospital—demolished like everything else, I suppose?"

"Tuppence sighed. "Yes. Lou too?" Tommy nodded. "Two months ago?" "Genuinely?" hinted Tuppence. "Spent."

"Oh, Tommy?" "No, old thing, not in riotous disposition. No such luck! The cost of living—ordinary plain or garden living—nowadays is, I assure you, if you do not have a very big income."

"My dear child," interrupted Tuppence, "there is nothing I do not know about the cost of living. Here we are at Lyons, and we will each of us pay for our own. That's that!"

"And Tuppence led the way upstairs. She unlocked the door, and she wondered about looking for a table, catching odds and ends of conversation as they did so.

"Fanny scraps one does over here," murmured Tommy. "I passed two Johnnies in the street today talking about something called Jane Plan. Did you ever hear such a name?"

But at that moment two elderly ladies rose and collected parcels, and Tuppence dutifully enounced herself in one of the vacant seats.

Tommy ordered tea and buttered toast. "And mind the tea comes in separate tuppences," she added severely. Tommy sat down opposite her. His bare head revealed a shock of exquisitely streaked red hair. His face was pleasantly ugly—non-descript, yet unmistakably the face of a gentleman and a sportsman.

They were an essentially modern-looking couple as they sat there. Tuppence had no claim to beauty, but there was character and charm in the dim mind of her little face, with its determined chin and large, wide-set gray eyes that looked mistily out from under straight, black brows. She wore a small bright green tunique over her black bobbed hair, and her extremely short and rather shabby skirt revealed a pair of unsumptuously dainty ankles. Her appearance presented a valiant attempt at smartness.

The tea came at last, and Tuppence, rousing herself from a fit of meditation, poured it out. "Now, then," said Tommy, taking a large bite of bun, "let's get up-to-date. Remember, I haven't seen you since that time in hospital in 1910."

"Very well," Tuppence helped herself liberally to—buttered—toast. "Abridged biography of Miss Prudence Cowley, fifth daughter of Archdeacon Cowley of Little Missendell, Suffolk. Miss Cowley left the daylight and drabness of her home life early in the war and came up to London, where she entered an officers' hospital. First month: Washed up six hundred and forty-eight plates every day. Second month: Promoted to drying five hundred plates. Third month: Promoted to peeling potatoes. Fourth month: Promoted to cutting bread and butter. Fifth month: Promoted one floor up to duties of ward-maid with mop and pail. Sixth month: Promoted to waiting at table. Seventh month: Pleasant appearance and nice manners so striking that am promoted to waiting on the 'diners!'"

"The light of the moon is the time from new moon to full moon, and the dark of the moon is from full moon to new moon, or through the waning period.

"I should like the colonies—and I'm perfectly certain they wouldn't like me!" "Right, dear!" "You got an old uncle who's more or less rolling, but he's no good."

"I think I remember hearing about it," said Tuppence slowly. "You're a beauty of your mother—"

"Yes, it would have been a bit rough on her. As you know, I was all she had. Old boy hinted her—wanted to get me away from her—'just a bit of spite.'"

"Your mother's dead, isn't she?" said Tuppence gently. Tommy nodded. Tuppence's large gray eyes looked mistily.

CITY WARRANTS OF 1922 FOUND TO BE PAYABLE

Final Opinion of Attorney Expenditures of Last Administration in Legal Limits; May Sue on Water Main

Warrants issued by the last city administration during the year ending April 30, 1922, were legal, according to City Attorney A. Myers, who presented a written opinion to that effect to the city commissioners at their regular meeting Monday night.

As the issue which his opinion was based Mr. Myers stated that the commissioners were within their rights when they based the 1922 appropriations on the city valuation of 1921, which was approximately $6,000,000, and which gave them authorized revenue in the sum of $1,049,677.

Total expenditures for the last year were $96,491.92, thus leaving a past administration well within its limit of appropriations. The opinion of Mr. Myers was regarded as a point of view at all apprehensions concerning the legality of last year's warrants, is upheld, he said, by a supreme court ruling.

The report of John H. Hoff, accountant, at the meeting of the council last week gave rise to the expression that about $8,000 in illegal warrants had been issued last year. Hoff stated that was caused, however, by the fact that Mr. Radloff based his report on the 1922 valuation, which was considerably under that of the 1921 year.

Following another discussion of the hospitalatorium water main situation it appeared that the only solution was a revision by the city of the responsibility for giving both institutions a normal supply of water.

The question has resulted itself into one of the legal rights of the city and county and as to which can be held responsible for maintaining or changing the water supply to the two institutions.

O. E. Carlson, county commissioner, participated in the discussions at the close of which he stated that he would inform the commission as to the report given by the county commissioners by the county attorney and would advise the city officials hereof of what action the county decides upon.

The commission voted to reimburse the Childs Bond and Mortgage company of Boise for the $25,000 work done in connection with the recently proposed sale of city bonds for warrant funding purposes.

The commission also gave warning that it intends to enforce the ordinance requiring a permit for the distribution of samples of merchandise.

High Water Rates Appear Necessary

City Commissioners Believe Present System Discriminates Against Tax Payers

Radical increases in rates to local water users appears imminent. In the opinion of the city commissioners increased rates are necessary as representing the best means of placing the burden of maintaining the city water works where it is believed to rightly belong.

At present the interest on water works bonds is being paid out of the general fund in other words, out of the money paid by all taxpayers, whether or not they use city water. There are now something like $500,000 in bonds against the water works on which the interest is $25,000 according to A. S. Kroll, county commissioner of finance.

Other big items of expense in connection with the department have been paid from the general fund and the present system in general is regarded as discriminatory against the taxpayers.

In order to accomplish the change the plan as favored at present is to increase the water rates—possibly doubling them and establish such a system and methods as would tend to make the water works self-sustaining.

BANKERS AND ELKS ARE READY FOR HARD GAME

Another classy baseball game is on the docket for this evening when the Elks and Bankers will battle for supremacy at Athletic park in a regular scheduled game.

Ray Hedgin will be on the mound for the Elks, with Thomas on the receiving end. The Bankers will be led by the leg and Captain Heola Vanille will wear the mask.

This game should prove to be as good as any of the Sunday games, as both teams have good lineups, and the players are in fine condition.

With Syd Kleffner due to arrive home any day, and Jim Selley ready to join the Portland league, the fans of Twin Falls are promised some real high class baseball during the coming weeks.

The game this evening will start at 6:15 sharp.

BELIEVE CAR THIEF SHOT

Auto thieves believed to have passed through Twin Falls met with one usually in an encounter with the sheriff at American Falls Monday morning, according to reports given the sheriff's office here.

SPECIAL LEVY NOT TO INCREASE CITY TAXES

The granting of authority by vote at the special mass meeting Thursday night in the high school auditorium to make a five mill additional city tax levy will in no way increase the amount of taxes to be paid as the levy will not be made but will simply be taken out of a surplus of about $12,000 which already exists as legal revenue.

This is the agreement of the city commissioners which was reached at their regular meeting Monday night after it was ascertained that each member of the commission definitely understood the situation as stated above.

The special mass meeting is made necessary to obtain authority of voters to make appropriations against the surplus mentioned above for the money here available to the commissioners to spend any part of the surplus.

SURVIVES DROP WITH CAR INTO SWIFT CURRENT

Children Watch as Hansen Man Swims Safely to Shore After Car Plunges Him Into Head-Gate Ditch

After the automobile he was operating had plunged over an embankment of about seven feet into nine feet of water in the ditch of the Twin Falls Canal company just below the head-gates at Murlough lake Sunday, a Mr. Hall of Hansen, extricated himself and swam to the bank without sustaining injury other than a slight scratch.

His two small children watched the accident from the edge of the bank. Mr. Hall was attempting to turn his car around on a dangerous stretch of road alongside the bank after having removed the two children, the only other occupants, from the car.

The accident took the turn successfully and the light seven passenger car toppled over the bank and into the water. The water was shut off for a time in an effort to recover the automobile. The attempt proved unsuccessful and the car was still lying under the water Monday night.

The ditch is about 15 feet in width and 11 or 14 feet in depth in the middle.

A meeting of the general celebration arrangements committee will be held tonight this week to talk over the details of the program.
