COLORADO REGION HIT BY DELUGE

High Waters Block All Roads Leading Into Greeley; One Hundred Families Are Driven From Homes

GREELEY, Colo., June 16 (AP)—All bridges over the Foudre river near Greeley were ordered closed to traffic tonight as the result of the highest water since 1884. Water from the river is flowing over Island Grove park, a tourist camp in the suburbs of Greeley, nearly three feet deep. Livestock is being removed from the lower sections near the city.

The Foudre river has risen one foot since eight o'clock tonight and is still rising. About one hundred families have abandoned their homes in the lower part of the city and are being cared for by the authorities. High waters have blocked all roads leading into Greeley.

Rains approaching the proportions of cloudbursts up Foudre canyon, near here, caused the present high stage of the Foudre river.

Reports from Timnath, Colo., below Fort Collins, say that the flood shows signs of subsiding.

Platte Rising Rapidly

The Platte river near Greeley is rising rapidly. The town of Evans, near here, is being deluged by an overflow from the Bartels reservoir, which is flooding farms and gardens east of the Union Pacific railroad right of way. No Colorado and Southern trains are operating between here and Fort Collins.

The main Cheyenne-Denver highway is blocked.

More Than Score of Flammeth Burned and Buried by Flames; Five Exporters Injured When Tank Buckles

PITTSBURGH, June 16 (AP)—The oil fire at the plant of the Atlantic Refining company, raging since late yesterday night, was believed to be under control.

More than a score of firemen were sent to hospitals suffering from injury and burn. Five exporters of oil were injured when the Franklin, Pa., plant of the refining company were burned about the face and hands when a large storage tank caught fire and buckled early this afternoon.

Company officials again tonight refused to estimate the loss but it was believed that it would exceed $200,000.

Maughan, who is beating the route for his proposed four stop daylight flight from New York to San Francisco, landed in North Platte at 7:15 o'clock this evening. The trip from St. Joseph to North Platte was made without incident. Lieutenant Maughan is expected to arrive in San Francisco about 6 a. m. Sunday for Salt Lake City and will arrive at San Francisco Monday night.

Says She, Not Mrs. Croker, Was Marone's Wife

Missouri Woman Feels Injustice Is Done Tammany Leader's Widow

BLAND, Mo., June 16 (AP)—Mrs. B. B. Kays, wife of a telegraph operator, sitting temporarily in the little town of Bland, eight miles from here, late today told the Associated Press she was the mysterious Mrs. Guy Marone mentioned prominently in the Richard Croker, St. Louis case.

Mrs. Kays stated she was married to Guy Marone in 1911 and they were divorced in 1915, but refused to say when or where the divorce was performed or who the divorce was granted. She asserted she and Marone had never lived together. Mrs. Kays rented an apartment at 607 E. C. Drive in Northampton, Mass., for six months in 1911.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies testified at the will contest hearing in Bland that Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of the former Tammany chieftain, was the woman known to them in Northampton as Mrs. Marone, but the jury in that case found the woman was undoubtedly in returning a verdict in Mrs. Croker's favor.

Mrs. Kays today said Mrs. Croker's attorney declaring she was the Mrs. Marone referred to. The message read: "I was the Mrs. Marone who lived with Davies, Northampton. Positive proof is merely sent that she is not because I felt that an injustice was being done Mrs. Croker and I felt sorry for her," she emphasized.

Mother of Thirteen Carries Appeal For Pardon to President

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 16 (AP)—In an effort to appeal personally to President Harding in regard to her most recent arrest on a charge of violating the liquor laws, Mrs. Anna Hozer, mother of 13 children, is today enroute to Washington.

She is accompanied by her six-month-old son, Warren Harding Hozer, whose expected birth caused the president to pardon her while she was serving a sentence for violation of the prohibition laws eight months ago.

Arrested last week on a charge of possessing liquor, Mrs. Hozer expressed confidence the president again would use his power of clemency in her behalf. Yesterday she complained to county officers of being ill and was released from jail to go to her home. When officers went to her residence today they learned she was on her way to Washington.

THREE PARTIES RACE FOR TOGA

Fourteen Candidates Wind Up Primary Campaign For Krute Nelson's Seat

ST. PAUL, June 16 (AP)—Candidates of three parties will be nominated for United States senator from Minnesota at a special primary election next Monday.

The fourteen candidates representing the various parties wound up their campaign tonight. The three nominated will seek the office left vacant by the death of Knute Nelson at a special election on July 17.

The republican senatorial committee plans to take a hand in the campaign prior to the July election and President Harding will make several appeals to Minnesota voters in speeches while he is en route to Alaska.

The republicans are Gov. J. A. O. Prew, J. A. A. Burquist, former governor, Representative Sidney Anderson, Representative Thomas D. Schall, Oscar Hallam, former justice of the state supreme court; Ernest Lundeen, former congressman; Halvor Skenection, former congressman; Victor L. Power, mayor of Hibbing; and Martin J. Martin, Minneapolis attorney.

The farmer-labor candidates are Charles A. Lindbergh, former congressman, Dr. L. A. Fritsche, mayor of New Ulm, and Magnus Johnson, former candidate for governor.

Two democrats are in the race—State Senator James A. Farley and Francis C. Carey, Minneapolis attorney.

CHINA HEADING TOWARD CLASH IN GOVERNMENT

Fight Over Spoils of Office Threatens Forces Credited With Upsetting Regime of President Li

PEKING, June 16 (AP)—The headless Chinese government is drifting into a factional fight over the spoils of office.

President Li Yuan-hung, who fled to his home in the foreign quarters of Tientsin a few days ago with the Chihli militarists at his heels, still is in seclusion there.

Premier Chang Shao-tseung, whose recent resignation President Li refused to accept, is reported to have fled from Tsao Kun, head of the Chihli party, to report him and discuss affairs. Chang's reply has not been made public.

Within the Chihli party which is generally credited with upsetting President Li in a plot to place Tsao Kun in his place, all is not harmonious, according to reports. The bone of contention—the spoils of office—is said to have produced a split between the Pan-hung and Tientsin wings of the faction.

First Attempt Fails

The first definite attempt of the dominant faction of the Chihli party to swing governmental power into its hands failed.

JUDGE LINDSEY LAUDS COLORADO'S NEW LAWS FOR MOTHER AND BABE

DENVER, June 16 (AP)—In a statement here tonight in connection with the four new laws for women and children passed by the last Colorado legislature and effective next Monday, Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver's juvenile court, "father" of the legislation, declared one of the laws—that providing for state financial aid for married or unmarried mothers six months before or after the birth of a child—"opens a way to do more for women and babies than any state has ever done before."

"The law," declared Judge Lindsey, "is an important step towards an acceptance of that duty of the state to guarantee that no child shall suffer because of the sin, ignorance or poverty of the parents."

Secretary Work Approves Contracts for American Falls Reservoir Construction

GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS DISTRICT ARRANGEMENT

Message From R. E. Shepherd Says Final Draft Makes Considerable Saving For Water-users; Bonds Not to Be Sold Until After Congress Approves Indian Land Sale

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—Contracts for the construction of a reservoir at American Falls, Idaho, by the interior department to extend irrigation of the Snake river valley were signed today by Secretary Work.

CARRIERS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Railroad Official Contrasts Conditions Now With Government Control

MILWAUKEE, June 16 (AP)—Railroads of the country will require about $1,200,000,000 a year for additional facilities to handle their business, having the estimate on the present cost of labor, materials and equipment. George A. Boardman, secretary of the Western Railway company, said in an address today before the National Association of Retail Secretaries. He gave figures to show the increase in office figures of management since the roads were returned to private operation after government control.

Three years ago, he said, the roads were turned back to their owners with more than 2,000,000 employees, or 277,000 more than before the government took over operation of the lines. Thus for this year, he added, the roads had operated with more than 200,000 employees less than at the close of federal operation, thus reducing those 200,000 workers to other fields. The average wage paid in 1919, during government control was $14.19, and the average wage this year is at the rate of $16.11. "For the first go forth 'hands off' the railroad," said if it is heeded they will not only save work but their own salvation, but also save the American people in their present cost of living," Boardman said.

The secretary's action followed notification that $2,700,000 had been raised by the water users of the American Falls irrigation district and $2,500,000 by the Empire Irrigation district, for their share of the cost of their entire project.

The contracts provide for the actual building of the reservoir by the government, the American Falls water users to pay $2,700,000 toward construction while the Empire group agrees to put out a $2,500,000 bond issue for the purchase of 103,000 acre feet of water. The contracts provide also for the purchase of the site of the Idaho Power company.

Long In Abeyance

Originally authorized by the late Secretary Franklin K. Lane, the project has been in virtual abeyance until arrangements for its financing could be made. Several acts of congress relating to the terms under which the extension of the Snake river irrigation should be completed. Completion was contingent upon the American Falls and Empire groups arranging for payment for a large part of the cost.

Shepherd Bonds Word

First word of the signing of the contracts for construction of the American Falls reservoir was brought to Twin Falls by telegram from R. E. Shepherd of Jerome, president of the American Falls irrigation district, received Saturday morning by James R. Bothwell, attorney for the district.

Important changes made in the contract in its final form will result in a considerable saving to the district according to the message and by Mr. Shepherd, who has been in Washington for some time in connection with Secretary Work's investigation of the big project.

The message follows:

"I have secured important changes in the contract making considerable saving to the district. It is now signed. Will be able to save present appropriations. Owing to the necessity for congressional action relating to Indian lands, we are not to sell our bonds until after this is done. We are to proceed, however, with the necessary proceedings and benefit assessments so as to be ready when the time comes.

"Arrangements have been so made as to cause no delay in the work. The new company contract will be signed.

"The president and party will visit American Falls on June 23. There should be no large attendance from the district."

Advertiser Speaker Arraigns Flappers and Lounge Lizzard

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 16 (AP)—Francis D. Stirling of Mountain View, Cal., speaking at the educational convention of Seventh Day Adventists here today declared "If our Anglo-Saxon forefathers should return to earth today and see the hotted-haired flappers and green-vested lounge lizards that infest the land, they would disown them as their children."

Mr. Stirling is editor of the Signs of the Times, a publication of the denomination.

"Because we shave twice a day and wear silk shirts and have a private bath in our house, doesn't prove that we have improved morally over the heathen ancestors," continued Mr. Stirling. "And because we have telegraphs, telephones, automobiles and a thousand other things that our forefathers have nothing to compare with that we are any nearer sprouting wings than they were. Men gamble by telegraph, curse by telephone and cheat by wire."

"Our inventions and discoveries make the race worse rather than better. Think of the times that the telegraph has been used by a gang of crooks. And the thing of beauty—the automobile—which ought to be a joy forever, how often it is but the handmaid of the professional crook."

"When people tell me that this is the golden age, I can't keep from thinking of the old adage: 'Everything that glitters isn't gold.' This is the tinsel age."

"What the world needs are reformers like Wesley and Moody, who will preach hell fire, instead of soft social welfare twaddle."

TAXATION AND ALIEN PROBLEM GET ATTENTION

Congressional Leaders Accord With President's View That Government Costs Should Be Cut to Bone

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—Taxation and immigration are two subjects to which congressional leaders now in Washington are giving attention in advance of the first regular session of the new congress. Some of them are convinced that there is a widespread demand for a reduction of the national tax bill and believe that the present temporary immigration restriction law should give way to one outlining a national immigration policy.

Just what changes should be made in the tax law, none of the leaders now in session is prepared to say, but there appears to be an accord with President Harding's view that there should be reduction all along the line, if possible. Whether the tax burden can be appreciably decreased will depend largely on the state of the national finances at the end of this fiscal year.

Treasury Studies Taxes

Treasury experts also have the whole taxation subject under consideration, but their work has not progressed to the point where they have formulated any different conclusions. The results of their study will be reported in the tax recommendations which Secretary Mellon will make to congress in his annual report early in December.

The restriction of immigration is to be continued on a drastic policy of congress, with indications that the 1890 census, instead of the 1910 census will be adopted as the basis for the quotas from the various European countries. The percentage these quotas are to bear to the number of the nationals of the various countries, in the United States at the time of that census, is another question, however.

Cuts South Europe's Quota

The bill, reported by the house committee just before the close of the last session provided for two per cent instead of the present three per cent with a basic quota of 400 for all countries.

The change of the census basis will operate to increase the quotas from northern and western Europe and decrease those from the Balkans and other Mediterranean countries, in addition President Harding is expected to insist on a cut in the "squeezing" of aliens into the country and to provide for registration of aliens as an aid to immigration authorities.

BANDITS SEIZE PAYROLL

PLANT CITY, Fla., June 16 (AP)—Three men with shotguns held up the cashier at the Cumber Lumber company here, according to Lt. Woodson, 30 miles north of here, today, and secured $11,000 of the company's payroll, according to a report received here by local police.

Shotgun Fire Scatters Rum Running Boats

Coast Guards Loose Volley at Close Range to Drive Off Motorized Fleet

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 16 (AP)—Sixteen motorized rum running boats coast guards with saved-off shotguns early today sent scattering seaward a small fleet of power boats, many according to the federal officials, by rum smugglers. Captain Louis Smith in charge of the government men, said he thought none of the shots had taken effect and that the occupants of the flutilla had not returned to the coast.

Coast guards yesterday saw several launches leaving Atlantic City. By daylight the boats had not returned and a detail of officials waited their return in a government boat. Suddenly a flash of lightning revealed the returning boats a few hundred feet distant. The government launch started in pursuit and its occupants commenced firing in the direction of the suspicious craft.

"When lightning again illuminated the scene the suspicious boats had scattered and had gained a quarter of a mile on their pursuers. The coast guards ceased firing and returned to port."

EXCHANGE HIT BY FAILURE OF BROKING HOUSE

Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne Go to Wall as Result of Unsuccessful Oil Promotion and Fall of German Mark

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—Wall street, in the midst of a many-sided "cleanup" campaign directed primarily at racketeers, was hit today by another failure—that of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne, a member of the New York stock exchange, and of the New York curb market.

Basings a record of 70 years in the street, 25 of them as members of the stock exchange, the supposedly powerful house with strong German connections was forced into receivership with $1,100,000 liabilities. A statement of the firm, however, declared its assets were ample to meet its obligations, provided they were liquidated wisely, although it was admitted that a large portion of them were "slow" assets.

The failure was the first involving a stock exchange house in more than six months, although there have been a string of such and consolidated failures.

Unlike most of the recent failures there appeared no suspicion on the part of the authorities that Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne had engaged in the popular business of bucketing. Their failure, it was indicated, was due primarily to unsuccessful oil promotions, and to a lesser degree to the fall of the German mark.

Besides stock broking and dealing in the foreign exchange, the firm did a large international banking business and it was this and other failures that appeared to give members great concern. It was admitted that a number of travelers abroad had put their funds into letters of credit issued by the company and it was feared these travelers would find themselves embarrassed for funds and European banks no longer would honor their notes in which too many such cases there were could not be ascertained.

Leaves Travelers Stranded

District Attorney Stanton rushed three of his staff to the firm as soon as news of the filing of a bankruptcy petition reached him and they obtained assurances from M. St. Borland, the receiver, that he would make no stipulations with the firm that would prevent disclosure of their books for his scrutiny, as they had nothing to conceal.

Another development in the tangled brokerage situation today was a statement by Mr. Stanton charging that the stock exchange and the curb market had passed "a law" which recently adopted resolutions providing suspension or suspension for any member who refused to disclose his records for examination in a civil or criminal action.

Expects Ties to Be Sifted

The "crutch" that were omitted, he said, was a provision for discipline of members who refused to waive immunity in so disclosing their records. He indicated how that the two exchanges would rectify the omission.

The bucketing situation is expected to come to a head Monday when Edward M. Fuller, former head broker, appears at a referee's hearing before the authorities here, to tell all he knows about irregular operations in the street. There have been rumors that Fuller, hoping to gain leniency when he comes up for sentence Tuesday, would make a "clean breast," involving a ring of higher ups who are reported to control most of the city's bucketshops. Fuller was silent in his cell today, as to how far he would go in his testimony.

MICHIGAN ATHLETES WIN

Wolverines Carry Off Honors at National Collegiate Track and Field Meet; Stanford Comes in Second.

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Seventeen men from the University of Michigan nailed the leaders' flag to their masthead today by sweeping the championship track and field games of the National Collegiate Athletic association from a fighting array of picked men from 62 institutions of America.

The Wolverine stars, with 31 points, far outdistanced the field, often beating out in the eyes of competitors with teams twice her size pitted against her. Behind Stanford, with another haul of 17 masters, followed Michigan in the scramble for points with 14-1/2, taking second position by a slim margin of a half a point.

The University of Iowa and Johns Hopkins tied for third place with 14 markers each. Pennsylvania State college was next with 13-1/2. The University of Illinois and Mississippi A. and M. tied for sixth with 13 each, and the University of Southern California was number eight with 12. Chicago, Kansas State Agricultural college, the University of Iowa and Washington followed in order with 11-1/2, 8-1/2, and 8 in points.

PADDOCK FELLS MISTREATED.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—Charles Paddock, champion sprinter, who returned from Europe yesterday after having competed in an intercollegiate track meet that left in dejection, declared today that he felt his disqualification by the union was unjust and that he expected to be restored to good standing.

"If, however, I have automatically disqualified myself as an amateur with in the jurisdiction of the A. A. U. by participating in an international intercollegiate track and field meet abroad," said Paddock, "I am prepared to turn in my A. A. U. registration card and await A. A. U. competition in the future."

BIGGEST SUBMARINE LAUNCHED.

CHATHAM, England, June 16 (AP)—Submarine N-1, the largest and most powerful underwater craft in the world, was launched here today. The "midget ship" displaces 2700 tons on the surface and 3600 tons submerged, which is greater by more than a thousand tons than any similar craft now afloat.

Precious American Relics.

Rank in the Salvation army is denoted on the bonnets of women soldiers. A red string means that the wearer is an officer. If she has reached the rank of ensign the name on the ribbon appears in white instead of gold letters.

Bridging of 5,000 Miles Between Spain and Argentina Foreshadows Further Aerial Development

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—Details of the first Atlantic airship service between Spain and Argentina have just been made public by the London Daily Chronicle, which says that it may soon be possible to bridge the 5,000 miles between the two countries in three and a half days. The service will operate between Seville and Buenos Aires, and Zeppelin aircraft will be used.

There will be terminal airports, mooring masts, repair sheds and hydrogen factories at Seville and at Buenos Aires. In addition, emergency landing grounds will be laid out at the Canary islands and at Cordoba, in the Argentine.

On the American side of the Atlantic the language will be made on a revolving principle, because of the variability of the winds. Four airships, already being built to inaugurate the scheme, and it is anticipated that service will begin next summer. It also is probable that arrangements will be made to link up Seville district with London by an airbus service.

The airships, fitted with nine engines, each developing 400 horsepower, will carry 40 passengers and 11 tons of mails and merchandise. There will be two simultaneous flights a week in each direction, and the time taken to cross the Atlantic will be three days and 16 hours. Passengers will have all the comforts of an Atlantic liner, without the disadvantage of sea sickness.

The ships will have a speed of 22 miles an hour. Zeppelin pilots who have not less than 1000 successful flights to their credit will be engaged to operate the craft. Each airship will carry six pilots and a commander.

Powerful wireless sets will be fitted into each ship, thus it will be possible to keep in touch with 45 weather stations on the coasts of Spain, Africa,

America, the Canary Islands, Cape Verde and Fernando Noronha, as well as with ships at sea.

The Screen

FEATURED CAST.

One of the finest casts ever assembled in a motion picture is seen in George Melford's Paramount production, "You Can't Fool Your Wife," which comes to the Idaho theater next Monday for a run of three days. Leatrice Joy, Nita Naldi, Lewis Stone and Pauline Gordon, all prominent leading screen players, are in featured roles. The supporting cast includes Paul McAllister, John Daly Murphy, Julia Swayne Gordon, Tom Corrigan and Benj. Parrell. "You Can't Fool Your Wife" was adapted for the screen by Waldemar Young, who wrote the scenario, "Java Head." The picture is said to be absorbingly interesting and deeply appealing.

The comedy is "Ocean Swells" a shipful of the happiest sort of mirth, a rollicking Christie comedy that rolls and tosses about in the high waves of hilarity until one fairly roars with laughter. The Pathé News shows in show motion the winner of the $50,000 Belmont stakes.

THE NINETY AND NINE.

Gertrude Astor, who plays a leading role in Vitagraph's special, "The Ninety and Nine," is one of the screen's most beautiful women and has appeared in many of Vitagraph's productions. She played the lead in "The Rogues' Romance," in which Honolulu Valentino made an of his first screen appearances in support of Earle Williams. At the Idaho Monday.

BELL BOY 13.

That the number thirteen holds no terrors for Douglas MacLean has been proved in his two latest Thomas II. films, "The Hottentot" and "Bell Boy 13," an exhilarating comedy farce now running at the Orpheum theater.

In "The Hottentot" MacLean had to ride in a steepchase with thirteen horses, in which he was the thirteenth rider and the day was Friday, the thirteenth. In his latest picture he again proves himself immune from superstition by donning brass buttons and answering to the knock number.

Both of his recent pictures have won such big popularity that MacLean has become superstitious about the inkblotting powers of "13" and says that he intends to begin his next production on the thirteenth day of the month and have thirteen scattered all the way through the picture.

Miss Celia Belle Ture, who will be a June bride, was guest of honor at a shower at the home of her parents Friday afternoon. Pink and white peonies were used in profusion. The gifts for the bride-to-be were piled on a table banked with flowers, each guest pulling a ribbon and drawing a flower, and the guest of honor drawing many beautiful and practical gifts. Origin of the Ring.

One of the earliest examples of the use of rings in statuary was in the statues of Prometheus, who, when released from bondage on the intercession of Venus, wore a ring with a small piece of the Caucasus in it to show that he was still chained to the Caucasus. The idea of a ring being a sign of bondage has continued since those days. Diviners and doctors wore rings by right because they had signed away their independence in order to benefit mankind.

Ruth scored his fifteenth home run of the season, being the first player in either league to do it. Gerber hit Shawkey for a home run and three singles in four times up.

POOR LITTLE CHILD PRODIGES.

The child prodigy may be just as much a misfit as the backward child. This fact is insisted on by Dr. Fred T. Baldwin, professor of educational psychology of the University of Iowa. "We find that it is as important to grow physiologically as mentally," he says, "and that a child is usually a misfit if allowed to pass through school far ahead of those of his own age."
"Shall the precocious child, then, be held back and forced to keep pace with those mentally slower? Not at all, says Dr. Baldwin. He should be kept with the class where his companions are nearest to his own age and physical and social development. But instead of holding him back mentally, the school should "enrich his course with additional work."
"It is possible for one child to leave school at the end of the regular period, knowing several times as much as some of the other graduates. All that he learns will be useful to him. He will have gained knowledge and mental power, which are real things, instead of gaining mere years, which may mean little. And he will do it without any violent wrenching of natural human associations."
Any normal human being who has seen poor little child prodigies crowding their way through school, mere freaks and strangers among older and bigger pupils, may be sorry for such children, rather than admiring or envying them.

PICNIC RUBBISH.
Picnic grounds and city parks, no matter how freely patronized, need not be made unsightly with newspapers and picnic garbage. Education is all that is needed. This has been proved by Vassar college authorities.
Every summer for the last six years the people of the township have held a picnic and athletic meet on the college campus. For the first three years only a general request was issued that picnickers be careful. In spite of it, the grounds were dreadfully littered and cleaning up was an expensive and painful process.
The fourth summer committees of women were appointed to make the rounds of the various groups, show them where the rubbish containers were and warn them that if the grounds were left unsightly again the privilege of the campus would be withdrawn. It was necessary to go back to some of the groups repeatedly that day, but the result was cleanliness. The next year only one warning was needed. This year not even the first warning was issued, yet over 1000 people had picnicked and rumped all day.

Every locality has the problem, and surely it involves no more trouble or expense to employ the preventive policy than it does to clean up after the crowd. And all the while the public is having valuable training in picnic decency which should make the rubbish question less troublesome year by year.

ENDORSES INVESTMENTS IN POWER DEVELOPMENT
Roger W. Babson Tells How to Get Safety in Placing Funds; Service Rendered Important Factor
(Special to The News.)
Recent brokerage failures have tended to emphasize once more the continual loss suffered by the investing public. Losses from unsound practices in brokerage concerns can be overcome by proper regard for the following investment in power securities, however, only when the investor becomes more skillful in the selection of his securities.
Roger W. Babson says that the investor needs the service of an expert.
"The reason people lose money on many of their investments is due to the fact that they select them with an eye only to possible profits without considering the service rendered," says Mr. Babson, "If you will be sure instead, to put your money where it will tend to grow, the profits will come almost automatically. I have just been visiting the sites of some proposed water power developments in the Adirondacks and water power to me, constitutes the most fascinating field for investment."
In New York state alone there is $200,000,000 worth of available water now going to waste. The development of this idle water power would, in a year, save in coal the equivalent of a train of loaded engines extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back again. The Panama canal was ten years in building. During this time the available water power wasted in New York state would have been sufficient, translated into dollars, to have built five Panama canals. This is figuring horse power worth $50.00 a year.
"In Terms of Broad."
"Someone has figured this waste in the terms of bread and found it equivalent to 4,500,000 loaves of bread a day. Thus when this waste in one state of New York alone is translated into commodities it is found to be sufficient to supply the bread requirements of that entire state. When you consider that the population of this state is nearly one-tenth the population of the United States, you gain some idea of how enormous this waste is; a waste which needs only capital and government cooperation to develop for the service of man."
"Water power is a comparatively permanent investment. In the case of railroads and even steam power plants, there is a high rate of depreciation. If this depreciation is allowed to continue the efficiency of operation is greatly reduced. In a water power plant the depreciation is a comparatively small item. Water power plants are almost independent of the fluctuations in the labor and commodity markets. This means that when profitable rates are

HOUSING ANTI-BOLSHEVISTS.
There is said to be suddenly renewed activity among the leaders of the Russian exiles who have their unofficial capital in Paris. They seem to feel that the end of the Bolshevist regime is near and that soon they may have an opportunity to return to Russia and help in some sort of reorganization.
The prevailing belief is that the fall of the Red government will come through its faulty financial policy. The government has been unable to establish credits abroad, and it is said the money raised by taking over the treasures of the churches and museums soon will be gone.
Thus far, unfortunately, the various anti-Reds in Paris, although united in opposing Bolshevism, have been unable to unite on the sort of government which is to supplant it. Until they are united they can accomplish little for themselves or Russia, no matter what happens to the Lenin outfit. If they only would forget their factional differences and unite on a just and practical policy, there is no doubt that in the event of a Bolshevist collapse they could play a prominent and helpful part in forming a new Russian government.

Milton's Childhood Verses.
Verses by Milton written when he was fourteen years of age have been found in a Seventh-century copy of Ovid picked up in a second-hand shop in London. Handwriting experts have identified the manuscript poems as Milton's, and the date in the book indicates the great poet wrote them when he was but a child.

T. N. Williams was a business visitor in Twin Falls on Monday. He closed a deal for the sale of his ranch near Hansen, the selling price being $100 per acre.
Pin Oak Favored.
Among the oak first choice for street planting is usually, though undeservedly, given the pin oak, says the American Tree Association of Washington. With fair soil this tree grows well in small area, and it yields to pruning in a way that makes it possible for the tree to be kept of relatively small size or be allowed to attain considerable development.
His Grade in Friendship.
Jimmie wanted to go to Donald's house, but mother hesitated giving permission, because Donald was a new boy in the neighborhood. Whereupon Jimmie said: "He's all right. He liked me the third best of all the boys in school."

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

(From News Files June 12, 1908)

Cards are out announcing the marriage of J. W. Voorhees and Miss Myrtle McManis, on June 24, at Pocatello.
Mrs. E. B. Williams and daughter, Miss Wesley Williams, departed on Tuesday evening for a visit of several weeks to the Atlantic coast. They will visit relatives of Mr. Williams in Maine and will also make brief stops in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston before they return.
Since June 1, 3820 acres of Carey net land in the vicinity of Bull has been sold by the Twin Falls Investment company. The company has also sold town lots in Twin Falls aggregating in value $50,000 since the Sabson opening and the demand for both land and lots is as keen as ever.
J. W. Banbury, an honest farmer from Box Canyon, came up to see the sights yesterday. Mr. Banbury has put out 25 acres of orchard this year and he has one of the grandest farms in the state.

"A GOOD PLACE TO BUY HARDWARE"—TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

MONTANA OPENS PURSE TO SAVE SHELBY FIGHT

Kearns Accepts $100,000 Payment One Day Overdue Removing Snag in Path of Title Bout

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 16 (AP)—The Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, angking at the lower end ready to collapse, was shoved back on its feet tonight with new executives in charge and Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion, happy with the receipt of a $100,000 draft, the second installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee. The fight will be staged at Shelby, the cow town, before the sun sinks in the west on the fourth of July afternoon.

Payment of the $100,000 to Kearns was made by George H. Stanton, president of the Stanton Trust and Savings bank, shortly before 6 o'clock tonight in the offices of the banking institution. Kearns accepted the money with offers in his pocket to take the match elsewhere, but he declared he wanted to go through with the fight at Shelby at any cost.

Race Men Want Bout.

Kearns had received an offer from Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Polo Grounds Athletic club in New York, from Tex Rickard, pug promoter in Uniontown, Pa., who, he said with a smile, wanted the match to be staged in connection with the speedy automobile races scheduled there tonight. While Kearns was considering these offers, Great Falls business men notified Kearns that the $100,000 was ready to be turned over to him in accordance with the agreement reached in the conference last midnight.

Mayor Steps Into Gap.

The story of the raising of the $100,000 the Kearns is one of the rare tales of finance in the history of boxing. Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, 60 years old, with appearance of a man under 50, was individually responsible for raising $75,000 in less than 24 hours, while Great Falls business men raised the balance.

Johnson, who is treasurer of the American Legion committee at Shelby, promoting the fight, loaned the banker to advance $50,000 of the $75,000 while he raised the remaining $25,000 from life-long personal friends in Shelby. Peterson, a local newspaper editor, seized all day carrying messages authorizing Johnson to draw on his friends for amounts they pledged.

Stakes Entire Fortune.

Johnson, a former cow puncher, before he became wealthy with the development of oil fields near Shelby, declared he sunk every dollar he possessed in the enterprise and would see it through even if he went flat broke.

Don Tracy, a hotel owner and mining operator, was selected to be the executive head in charge of the fight, with Fred H. Storrer, former assistant cashier of the Great Falls National bank, as assistant treasurer. The original executives, Johnson and Loy J. Molander, state commander of the American Legion, will not be implicated, it was announced, but will work under the direction of Tracy, who declared he would not accept the responsibility unless he could have absolute authority. Tracy does not have that authority, Tracy does not have that authority, Tracy does not have that authority, Tracy does not have that authority.

Collins to Be Retained.

"I told these men," Mr. Tracy said, "that I'd be boss or I wouldn't have anything to do with the fight. I'm going to Shelby Monday to take complete charge and do reorganizing where necessary. Mike Collins, the original matchmaker, undoubtedly will be retained because of his experience in the boxing business.

"I am confident we can put the fight over with the backing that is behind us and the needed support from the people of this section," of this section, of this section, of this section.

Tracy is a life-long personal friend

GIBBONS NEVER FLOORED IN TEN YEARS' FIGHTING

Challenger Boasts Unique Record for Experienced Fighter; Scores 30 Knockouts in Last 34 Bouts

ST. PAUL, June 15, (AP)—When Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul enters the ring at Shelby, Mont., July 4, to meet Jack Dempsey in a 15-round decision contest, he will carry with him a rare honor for a fighter of his experience: he has never been knocked off his feet.

In ten years of his professional career, the St. Paul challenger has successfully withstood all efforts to knock him out or even down, while he in turn has counted 30 knockouts in his last 34 bouts.

It was back in 1913 that Tommy counted his first knockout, flooring Johnny Shaw in the third round.

For several years Gibbons was merely a successful boxer, and it was not until 1921 that he began to show a punch that sent opponent after opponent down for the count. It was the start of his successful march toward a championship bout.

Gibbons won 29 straight contests via the knockout route, then was outpointed by Harry Greb in a 15-round bout in New York, in March, 1922, which went to Greb on the referee's decision and with it the lightweight title Gibbons was striving for.

In the list of knockouts that preceded the Greb affair, there were such names as Al Reich, Tony Meleher, Clay Turner, Jack Ilerman, Willie Meekas, and others who lasted less than one round. Paul Suter, Jack Gifford and others succumbed to his driving punch in a few rounds.

Since the Greb bout, Gibbons has fought again with more powerful and decisive victories. In his last encounter he met Chuck Wiggins, a mean perfection in the light-heavy division, and Gibbons floored him six times before the referee stopped it in the tenth round.

Financial reward, at least immediate, had little to do with Gibbons' eagerness in signing with Dempsey. The title bout has been his ambition for three years, and before he comes into the money at Shelby, he said, attendances in boxing will be over $500,000 mark. For his end, Dempsey is assured of $300,000 regardless of the attendance.

WASHINGTON CREW WINS

Westerners Defeat Wisconsin in Duel Race on Lake Mendota; Sensational Sprint, Overcomes Lead.

MADISON, Wis., June 16 (AP)—The University of Washington crew won from the University of Wisconsin here today in a dual race on Lake Mendota. The Badgers commenced to gain at the two-mile point and had the lead of Washington out to a length and a half at the sprint. Wisconsin's stroke was increased to 16-40 with the full eight pulling strong.

The western crew, by a sensational sprint during the last half mile, increased its lead to two and one-half lengths, crossing the finish far in advance of the Badgers.

The two and one-half mile course was rowed in 22 minutes and 8 seconds by the western crew.

SIKI DISQUALIFIED.

PARIS, June 16 (AP)—Battling Siki was disqualified in the sixth round at his match with Morelle here tonight. Morelle was fouled, being carried from the ring in an unconscious state.

DRESS COMPLETE INSIDE ONE HOUR WOMAN'S TREAT

Method of Making Will Be Explained at Wright's, Starting Monday

Is it possible to design a dress so simple that the average woman can make it in an hour—a dress that conforms entirely to the prevailing styles and carries some of its attractiveness to the ankle of mere speed?

This question will not only be answered in the affirmative, but thoroughly demonstrated through window displays and explanatory literature next week at the Wright's store. In arranging for the display of the "One Hour Dress," the local store adds its weight to a nation-wide effort now under way to promote interest in home dressmaking.

The dress to be shown, a sensational combination of simplicity and style, is the creation of the Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, of Scranton, an institution that has earned nearly 200,000 women in all parts of the world for its courses in dressmaking, millinery and cookery. It is in close cooperation with the Woman's Institute that the local display is being arranged.

Throughout Fashion Service Week for Home Dressmaking the windows of the Wright's store will be unusually attractive. An elaborate display will present graphically the steps taken in making the dress, and will indicate the time required for each operation. Another display, the reproduction of an oil painting in full color, will also show the completed garment as it appeared on Mae Marsh, the famous screen star, when her likeness was painted by W. G. Krieghoff, a noted American artist, whose works include portraits of Cardinal Mercier, Marshal Foch and King Albert of Belgium. Grouped about the display will be an assortment of materials from which the dress can be developed.

Recognizing the significance of the "One Hour Dress" in the development of dressmaking, the Wright's store has prepared for crowds of interested women to show and explain the garment. Every woman attending the display will receive as souvenirs of the occasion an attractively printed copy of "A Guide to Correct Dress" and complete printed instructions for making the "One Hour Dress."

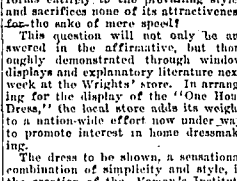

Fashion Service Week for Home Dressmaking will continue at the Wright's store throughout all next week.

If your property is desirable and is advertised in the classified—you'll find your buyer.

The Secret Adversary

By AGATHA CHRISTIE

CHAPTER III

Mr. Julius P. Hershelmer. Tommy indulged in a chuckle.

"My word! I don't wonder Whittington got the wind up when Tuppence plumped out that name! I should have myself. But look here, sir, we're taking up an awful lot of your time. Have you any tips to give us before we clear out?"

"I think not. I have information that the big coup was planned for early in the new year. But the government is contemplating legislative action which will deal effectually with the strike menace. They'll get wind of it soon, if they haven't already, and it's possible that that may bring things to a head. I hope it will, myself."

Tuppence rose.

"I think we ought to be business-like. What exactly can we count upon you for, Mr. Carter?"

Mr. Carter's lips twitched slightly, but he replied succinctly:

"Facts within reason, detailed information on any point, and no official recognition. I mean that if you get yourselves into trouble with the police, I can't officially help you out of it. You're on your own."

Tuppence nodded sagely. "I'm sure I don't want to be rude about the government if you've got anything to do with it, but you know you really have the devil of a time getting anything out of it! And if we have to fill up a blue form and send it in, and then, after three months, they send us a green one, and so on—well, that won't be much use, will it?"

Mr. Carter laughed outright.

"Don't worry, Miss Tuppence. You will send a personal demand to me here, and the money, in notes, shall be sent by return of post. As to salary, shall we say at the rate of three hundred a year? And an equal sum for Mr. Beresford, of course. Good-by, and good luck to you both."

He shook hands with them, and in another minute they were descending the steps of 27 Carleton terrace with their heads in a whirl.

"Tommy! Tell me at once, who is Mr. Carter?"

Tommy murmured a name in her ear.

"Oh!" said Tuppence, impressed. "And I can tell you, old bean, he's T.P!"

"Oh!" said Tuppence again. Then she added reflectively: "I like him, don't you? He looks so awfully tired and bored, and yet you feel that underneath he's just like steel, all keen and flashing. Oh!" She gave a skip. "Then me, Tommy, do pinch me. I can't believe it!"

Mr. Beresford alighted.

"Ow! That's enough! Yes, we're not dreaming. We've got a job!"

"And what a job! The joint venture has really begun. Let's have lunch—oh!"

The name thought sprang to the minds of each. Tommy rolled it first.

"Julius P. Hershelmer!"

"We've never told Mr. Carter about hearing from him."

"Well, there wasn't much to tell—not till we've seen him. Come on."

On inquiring for Mr. Hershelmer, they were at once taken up to his suite. An impatient voice cried "Come in!" In answer to the page-boy's knock, and the lad stood aside to let them pass in.

Mr. Julius P. Hershelmer was a good deal younger than either Tommy or Tuppence had pictured him. The girl put him down as thirty-five. He was of middle height, and squarely built to match his jaw. His face was pugnacious but pleasant. No one could have mistaken him for anything but an American, though he spoke with very little accent.

"Get my coat," he said down and tell me right away all you know about my cousin."

"Your cousin?"

"Sure thing. Jane Finn."

"Is she your cousin?"

"My father and her mother were brother and sister," explained Mr. Hershelmer meticulously.

"Right," cried Tuppence. "Then you know where she is?"

"No!," Mr. Hershelmer brought down his fist with a bang on the table. "I'm darned if I do! Don't you?"

"We advertised to receive information, not to give it," said Tuppence severely.

But Mr. Hershelmer seemed to grow suddenly suspicious.

"See here," he declared. "This isn't Silly! No demanding ransom or threatening to crop her ears if I refuse. These are the British Isles, so quit the funny business, or I'll just bug out for that beautiful big British police man I see out there in Piccadilly."

Tommy hastened to explain.

"We haven't killed your cousin. On the contrary, we're trying to find her. We're employed to do so."

Mr. Hershelmer leaned back in his chair.

"Put me in," he said succinctly. "Tommy fell in with this demand in so far as he gave him a guarded version of the disappearance of Jane Finn, and of the possibility of her having been mixed up unwittingly in some political show." He alluded to Tuppence and himself as "private inquiry agents," commissioned to find her, and noted that they didn't seem able to hear of her over this side. That gentleman nodded approval.

"I guess that's all right. I was just a little wary. Just trot out your questions and I'll answer."

For the moment they analyzed the young adventurers, but Tuppence, recovering herself, plucked boldly into the breach with a reminiscence culled from detective fiction.

"When did you last see the deceased, I mean?"

"Never seen her," responded Mr. Hershelmer.

"What?" demanded Tommy, astonished.

"No, sir. As I said before, my father and her mother were brother and sister. Just as you might be—Tommy did not correct this view of their relationship—but they didn't always get on together. And when my aunt made up her mind to marry Amos Finn, who was a poor schoolteacher out west, my father was just mad! Said if he made his pile, as he seemed in a fair way to do, she'd never see a cent of it. Well, the upshot was that Aunt Jane went out west and we never heard from her again."

"The old man old pile it up. He went into oil, and he went into steel, and he played a bit with railroads, and I can tell you he made Wall Street sit up!" He paused. "Then he died—met fall—and I got the dollars. Well, would you believe it, my conscience got busy! Kept knocking me up and saying: What about your Aunt Jane, way out west? It worried me some. You said I figured it out that Amos Finn would never make good. He wasn't that sort. End of it was, I hired a man to hunt her down. Result, she was dead, and Amos Finn was dead, but they'd left a daughter—Jane—who'd been torpedoed in the Lusitania on her way to Paris. She was saved all right, but they didn't seem able to hear of her over this side. I guessed they weren't hustling any, so I thought I'd come along over, and speed things up. I phoned Scotland Yard and the Admiralty first thing. The Admiralty rather choked me off, but Scotland Yard were very civil—said they would make inquiries, even sent a man round this morning to get her photograph. I'm off to Paris tomorrow, just to see what the Prefecture'll thing. I guess if I go to and fro-hustling them, they ought to get busy!"

The energy of Mr. Hershelmer was tremendous. They bowed before it.

"But say, now," he ended, "you're not after her for anything? Contempt of court, or something British? A proud-spirited young American girl might find your rules and regulations in war time rather irksome, and get up against it. If that's the case, and there's such a thing as graft in this country, I'll buy her off."

Tuppence reassured him.

"That's good. Then we can work together. What about some lunch?"

Oysters had just given place to Soup Colbert when a card was brought to Hershelmer.

"Inspector Japp, C. I. D. Scotland Yard again—Another man this time. What does he expect I can tell him that I didn't tell the first chap? I hope they haven't lost that photograph. That western photographer's name was burned down and all his negatives destroyed—this is the only copy in existence. I got it from the principal of the college there."

An unformulated dread swept over Tuppence.

"You—you don't know the name of the man who came this morning?"

"Yes, I do. No, I don't. Half a second. It was on his card, Oh, I know! Inspector Brown. Quiet, unassuming sort of chap."

A veil might with profit be drawn over the events of the next half-hour. Suffice it to say that no such person as "Inspector Brown" was known to Scotland Yard. The photograph of Jane Finn, which would have been of the utmost value to the police in tracing her, was lost beyond recovery. Once again "Mr. Brown" had triumphed.

The immediate result of this setback was to effect a rapprochement between Julius Hershelmer and the Young Adventurers. All barriers went down with a crash, and Tommy and Tuppence felt they had known the young American all their lives. They abandoned the discreet reticence of "private inquiry agents," and revealed to him the whole history of the joint venture, whereas the young man declared himself "tickled to death."

He turned to Tuppence at the close of the narration.

THE STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR

A Real Achievement in Dollar-for-dollar Value

The thousands of Studebaker Light-Sixes in daily use are the best possible assurance of what may be expected next year—or several years hence—of the Light-Six you buy today.

For after all, the best way to judge a new motor car is by what it has done—how it has stood up in service—the satisfaction it has delivered.

We sincerely believe that the Light-Six Touring Car, with its improved all-steel body, is the sturdiest, handsomest, most comfortable, most dependable and economical low-priced car built.

The machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods, to which is largely due its practical absence of vibration, is a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price and is found only on a few other cars whose selling prices are from three to ten times as high as the Light-Six.

The one-piece, rain-proof windshield with parking lights set in the base, is a joy to the driver—nothing to mar his view of the road ahead. Deep, fat cushions are upholstered in genuine leather. Curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with the doors and provide closed-car coziness in bad weather.

The most seasoned driver will find a new thrill in the smooth, quiet, steady performance of the Light-Six—and in its ease of handling, and in the way it performs in high gear at low speeds—eliminating constant gear shifting.

The name Studebaker has stood for high grade transportation, quality, value and integrity for 71 years.

REVELATIONS OF MR. CONOCO—the most contented motorist in six states!

"I'm sittin' pretty—"

EVER since I began looking a bit more carefully when the time came to pull up alongside a gasoline pump.

"Never bothered much about whose pump it was—thought gasoline was just gasoline and took the rest for granted. Right there was where I made a common and sad mistake.

"In my travels over the state I noticed one sign in particular and next thing I knew I had the Conoco habit—it was easy to get but, man! how much easier to keep it up.

"This old car of mine took on a new lease of life right from the first tank-full of Conoco—a poor stretch of road or a sharp, winding grade means nothing these days. There always seems to be enough extra 'kick,' or reserve power, to pull us over the rough places."

WHEAT RECEIVES SETBACK

Leaders Fluctuate Within Narrow Limits; Oil Shares Hit by Failure of Exchange Member

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Notwithstanding temporary advance that resulted from unfavorable reports of crop conditions in Missouri and elsewhere, especially Kansas, the wheat market today underwent a material setback in price. Death of speculative buying formed the chief apparent reason. The close was heavy, 5.10 to 5.13 1/2 cent lower, July $1.10 1/4 to 1.10 3/8, and September $1.00 to 1.00 1/8. Corn finished up 1/8 to 7/8 to 7 1/2 cent varying from 1 1/8 off to a shade advance, and provisions at a range that extended from 7 to 10c decline to 7c gain.

Wheat started with a moderate downward tendency while in some quarters was ascribed to selling based on opinions expressed by Secretary Wallace that low prices for farm products were largely due to over-production. Crop damage complaints from Missouri, however, and from other places that have been sending good reports led some to a rally which lifted September delivery and December to above yesterday's finish. July, meanwhile, continued to be influenced by spreads between on July and the later months. Aside from the laying involved in such spreads, though, general demand was small and a downward bias of prices which became more and more pronounced as the day drew to an end. Word that the first car of new wheat from this year's harvest in Oklahoma was on ship and was expected to arrive in Kansas City on Monday, appeared to exercise a bearish influence. On the other hand, forecasts of additional rains Sunday over the northwest, and the virtually liquidated after the market started down grade, and so, too, were dry weather reports from the northwest—North Dakota and Montana in particular.

Corn and oats weakened with wheat. Firmness of hog values tended to steady the provision market.
