History of First Troops From United States to Arrive at Front in France Includes British Officer's Tribute

BOSTON, June 22 (AP)—The saga of the first volunteer troops of the United States to arrive at the front in France—a regiment of engineers recruited from the operating staffs of the New England railroads—has just been written. It is entitled "A History of the Fourteenth Engineers, United States Army, from May, 1917 to May, 1919," and dedicated "To the Memories of those members of the regiment who died in France."

Incorporated in the volume is a tribute to these 1200 railway men of New England. General Sir Harold G. Parker, who commanded the sixth British corps while the fourteenth engineers were attached to that body from August, 1917, to May, 1919, writes in the preface to their allies affectionately as "The Fourteenth American R. E. S. (Royal Engineers)."

At the time the fourteenth engineers came under my command our failure to recognize earlier the urgent need for light railways was being repaired, but the personnel necessary to operate them was lacking." General Haldane writes. "The arrival, however, of our comrades from across the Atlantic speedily changed the aspect of affairs in this respect, and soon in many directions trains were carrying men, supplies and material from the railroad at Bouleux amounting to the vicinity of the forward trenches."

The sixth British corps at that time was holding the line just south of Arras. Early in 1918 came the tremendous effort of the Germans to break through the British line, and the fall share of the sixth corps, and the fall share of the front of the March and April days. Of the part played in this activity by the Fourteenth engineers, General Haldane writes:

Prove Ability With Rifle

The oncoming wave of Germans bore down for a time all endeavor to oppose it, and when at length it was brought to a standstill the light railways on the front of the corps, from railroad to the German trenches had changed hands. Now was the opportunity for the fourteenth engineers, who at this critical moment proved that while they could operate railways with all the skill required, they could as readily handle a rifle and share in the greater dangers of the firing line. I can vividly recall the engineering Brigadier General Harvey, reporting to me how valiantly the fourteenth engineers had taken part with the British infantry in helping to stem the onrush of the German troops, and my pride in having those gallant New Englanders under my command."

The regiment included two companies from the Boston and Maine railroad and other smaller New England lines; two from the New York, New Haven and Hartford, and one each from the Maine Central and Boston and Albany. The lieutenant colonel was Albert T. Perkins, a railroad executive from the middle-west, and the battalion commander Major P. W. Fugate, bridge engineer of the Boston and Maine, and Major D. S. Brigham, then trainmaster of the Boston and Albany.

Army Develops New Gunpowder Without Flash

War Department Announces Production of Explosive With Many Advantages

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The war department today announced the successful development of a new powder for use in small arms and artillery, which possesses all the driving power of the type now used, and at the same time is smokeless, flashless and impervious to moisture.

"The new powder may be exposed indefinitely to any atmosphere saturated with moisture without effect on its properties," the department's announcement said. "During tests it has been completely submerged in water without any absorbed moisture being found."

In its power to drive bullets or projectiles, the new explosive is understood to be the equal of powder now in use. It is developed for use in the 75 MM gun of the field artillery, but is now being applied to other types of field artillery and will be adapted for rifles and machine guns.

The statement said the explosive would eventually replace entirely for all arms the type of powder now in use. Work has been in progress in the United States and other countries for years and in the effort to produce a flashless powder in order that in night firing the same invisibility might be accomplished for troops as was made possible in daylight operations when smokeless powder was developed to replace the old black powder charges that left great puffs of white smoke in the air. With the new powder enemy marksmen will be unable to locate American machine guns or rifles by the flag from the muzzle, and many developments in night operations when the flash will be rendered unnecessary.

L. V. Graves Named Assistant Professor of Rural Economics at State University

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 22—Creation of a new position on the university faculty, the position of assistant professor of rural economics, and the appointment of L. V. Graves to fill it, are announced from the office of President A. H. Upham.

Continued investigations in problems of rural economics, together with the offering of university courses in agricultural products, will be made possible by this appointment, says Professor H. C. Dale, head of the department of economics. Professor Graves will also speak in various towns of the state next winter, appearing on the program of the mobile schools annually conducted by the university, and dealing with problems of farm economics.

Continues Costs Studies

Professor Graves will continue each summer in the investigations of farm costs that have been conducted for the last several year under direction of Byron Hunter, farm management specialist, especially in the Twin Falls section and the Palouse district.

His winter courses will include courses in auditing and cost accounting will be made possible by his appointment. Creation of this position increases the personnel of the faculty of the business department to six.

TWO LINERS TO TEST DRY RULE

British Vessels Deliberately Bring Excess Liquor Inside Three-Mile Limit

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Two ocean liners flying the Union Jack steamed into New York harbor today with excellent stocks of liquor for the trip home, despite the fact that Uncle Sam had said they must cross the three-mile limit bone dry.

All day long the waterfront waited to see federal agents pounce on the liquor, breaking the British government seals with which the lockers were stamped, and carrying away the wet goods. But late today the liquor remained untouched. Officials at the custom house announced that the seizure would be made tomorrow morning.

If this is done—and tonight there was every indication that it would be—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who promulgated the dry ruling, may learn of his orders being carried out before he sails for Europe tomorrow on the Majestic. He is expected from Washington early tomorrow.

Horror Intentions

One of the British vessels to defy the American dry edicts and force a test was the Cunard liner Berengaria. The fact that she intended to carry liquor across the three-mile limit had been well heralded and treasury agents in New York had been deluged with orders from Washington as to just how to act.

The other was the White Star liner Baltic. She took the waterfront by surprise. Shipping officers—except her own—were ignorant of the fact that she contemplated a show-down.

Both the Berengaria and Baltic were permitted to pass through quarantine unimpeded and proceed to their docks. Then came from the customs house word that nothing would be done until the captains had appeared with their manifests and applied for permits to retain enough liquor for sanitary purposes. After this, it was said, any surplus would be seized.

It was learned that at least in the case of the Baltic, which had the Berengaria in part, the manifest had been presented and the medicinal liquor permit obtained. It was stated authoritatively that there remains aboard the vessels a substantial surplus of liquor. Surplus Goes Overboard.

Davy Jones stowed away many quarts in his locker as a result of the treasury department's ruling, however, for Berengaria and Baltic had botched overboard at the three-mile limit all the liquor provided for the west-bound voyage which the passengers could not drink. This was done with appropriate ceremony aboard the Berengaria. Passengers lined the rails at midnight and with bowed heads lowered into the deep a bottle of champagne wrapped in crepe and inscribed, "To the three-mile limit."

Further contributions were received by Davy from the hands of the United States liner Boland, flying the Panama flag, which arrived bone dry after tossing overboard her last six bottles. Passengers on the Landmark, a Red Star liner, succeeded in emptying the bar before the limit was reached.

With two wet Brits already on their hands, customs officials tomorrow face another deluge. The first part of the French government, before she set sail it was announced that she carried in her hold many a cocktail shaker, and the homeward voyage and then on this select locker had been placed the seal of the French government.

And after tomorrow more deluges for this arriving today confirmed as a report that following in their wake were many other foreign craft, all anxious to test the decision of the United States government.

WOLF OF MOSCOW AND WIFE GO TO EXECUTION

Ivan Komarov, Former Cabinet Officer and Self-Confessed Slayer of 33 Persons, Pays Death Penalty.

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—Ivan Komarov, known as "the wolf of Moscow," convicted of murdering 33 persons since 1921, and his wife, were executed Monday night by a firing squad.

Throughout his trial Komarov had affected bravado, but after his conviction he endeavored in every way to save his life. First he appealed for a new trial, and when this was denied, he pleaded with the government for clemency.

The man showed surprising knowledge of the technicalities of the criminal code. He contended that he had been wrongfully convicted and also that the law provided for only a sentence of ten year's imprisonment instead of death.

Komarov made a special plea for clemency for his wife. The central executive committee, however, declined.

to change the sentence, and Komarov and his wife were put to death.

Komarov was a former Moscow cabinet officer. He was arrested last month on a charge of having murdered 33 persons; 25 of the bodies were found in the cellar of his home, tied in sacks. When arrested he escaped by jumping from a window and was at-large for a while. Later he was taken into custody while writing a confession of his crimes. The confession involved his wife and other persons. He said all the victims were killed while attending tea parties in his home, where they had been invited for the purpose of robbery.

YELLOWSTONE'S HOSTS PREPARE FOR BIG SEASON

Rangers, Hotel Employees, Auto Drivers and Others at Their Posts Ready to Serve Thousands of Visitors

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyoming, June 22.—The great machine which during the summer of 1923 will serve an expected total of one hundred and twenty-five thousand visitors to the greatest of the national parks is in readiness for the opening of the season.

Rangers, hotel employees, automobile drivers and a great variety of miscellaneous employees in the park have arrived and taken up their posts. Managers of the hotels, camps, transportation, stores and photographic establishments catering to the needs of travelers all have made arrangements for a banner year, and without exception have increased their facilities.

The official administration of the Yellowstone national park is under control of the national park service, of which Stephen T. Mather is director. This service is a branch of the department of the interior. The actual administration is directed by Superintendent Horner at Albright, now serving his fifth year in this important post. He is assisted by Assistant Superintendent Leroy Hill, purchasing agent and district ranger at Mammoth Hot Springs, where there are twenty-two ranger stations scattered through the park, where seventy-two rangers and assistants already are on duty. This large and well-trained staff assures not only the care and protection of the park, but also the service to visitors in the park in many matters. The ideal of service has been impressed upon every park employee, and all look forward to the summer of 1923 with eagerness to cater to the happiness of the people who visit it and to guide their actions accordingly.

A large organization under direction of the chief engineer is devoted to the maintenance of park highways. There are twenty-seven road camps and sprinkling stations. During the summer 107 miles of roads are sprinkled twice daily at hours which cause the least inconvenience to travel. Equipment includes two motor-driven and eighteen horse-drawn sprinkling wagons. Roads maintained are 298 miles within the park and 53 outside. There are about 350 men engaged in the upkeep of park improvements besides the administrative and protective forces. About 1800 men and women are in the employ of government and public utilities within the park in the season.

Big Motor Fleet About two hundred and fifty of the great yellow tourmenets of the Yellowstone Park Transportation company will serve visitors to the park this summer. Thirty-five of these cars were added to the fleet this season, and the older cars all have been thoroughly overhauled and painted during the winter. The big fleet was mobilized at Mammoth Hot Springs last week but has been split up, various cars being assigned to the various routes. All the big hotels of the Yellowstone Park Hotel company are in readiness for the opening. There are hotels situated at Mammoth Hot Springs, Old Faithful, the Lake, and the Grand Canyon. Extensive additions have been made at the Lake Hotel, where there were 119 additional rooms this year. A new employee dormitory at Old Faithful will permit the accommodation of fifty-eight additional tourists. Management of the hotels has predicted a substantial increase in attendance at the park this summer.

The Yellowstone Park Camp company also is facing a big season optimistically. The chief addition to the plant of this company the present year is the beautiful new hundred thousand dollar Mammoth camp, which has just been completed, facing the Jupiter Terrace of Mammoth Hot Springs. This new building is approximately 350 feet in length, and 175 in width, and its rustic architecture is in harmony with the natural features of the park. Immense verandas permit fine vistas of canyon and mountain.

Interior in Rustic Style The interior of the building is finished in rustic fashions with paneling of white pine and spruce. There is a huge stone fire-place in the sitting room. Both sitting-room and dining-room are lighted with attractive Chinese lanterns. On the ground floor of the Lodge are a large ballroom and dancing floor, to accommodate 400 couples; and stage and other facilities for the shows which are a feature of the camp life.

The Camp company also has camps at Old Faithful, the Lake, the Grand Canyon, and Roosevelt Camp near camp. Except Roosevelt, these camps this year are facilities for 600 tourists each. A number of new cabins have been built at Roosevelt, and this camp will easily accommodate 1500. Other camps will be maintained at Mammoth, Old Faithful and Canyon camps.

A new feature of the Yellowstone Park camps company activities this year will be the feature of horse-drawn back tours, over the new Howard Eaton Trail. Two of these horse-drawn back tours were started July 1st and August 15th. The maximum number of twenty for the first tour already has been fully booked.

The Forest and Trail Camp for Boys, with headquarters near Camp Roosevelt, again has been conducted this year under supervision of Dr. A. G. Whitney of Syracuse University. This institution is partly supported by Roosevelt endowment. An impressive attendance is expected this summer.

Many Motorists Expected A great number of automobile parties traveling independently are expected in the park this year. The pre-season travel records are much greater than those of last year, and reports from all well-maintained camping grounds at all important points of interest in the park, with new modern sanitary conveniences, facilities for handling and firewood. The park is well equipped with all possible encouragement to automobile camping parties. There are stores conveniently located at important points in the park where camping parties can purchase gasoline, blankets, and all miscellaneous supplies that are likely to be required. Delicatessen shops where cooked foods such as soups, biscuits, pies and fruit are available. The camp maintained at Old Faithful and Fishing Bridge near the outlet of Lake Yellowstone.

Complete facilities for all photographic reports will be available in the official park photographer. Besides the shops at all the hotels and camps, Mr. Haynes has his own photo-shops at Mammoth Hot Springs, Old Faithful and Tower Falls. An automobile studio, to travel about the park, with full equipment and facilities to meet all photographic needs, will be conducted by E. W. Hunter, veteran photographer, who gained fame as the photographer of the great animal picture of Mother Bear Nursing Two Cubs.

Predicts 125,000 Visitors Superintendent Albright predicts over 125,000 visitors to the park this summer. Total number of visitors last year was 98,223.

The total automobile traffic in the park last year was 10,979 cars carrying 53,108 persons. Montana was the first state in point of automobile traffic, 2947 cars carrying 10,599 passengers. From Wyoming came 1340 cars carrying 4751 passengers; from California 1235 cars carrying 3391 passengers.

His Lack of Judgment

"Bud Backover didn't get a sense worth mentioning," said a citizen of Sandy Marsh, Ark. "After evening he got into a fuss with his wife and 'bout suthin' or other didn't suit him, he began to yell and slush around with his revolver. Then he looked out of the door and fired his gun in the air. Probably he figured his wife would think he'd shot himself, and he sorry. But, about that time, Hump Sockeye came in at the gate and, unclearly 'a'posing Bud was shooting at him, pulled his gun and let drive and shot Bud through the shoulder. If Bud had had any sense he'd recollected that a family row is like the feller and of charity—it begins at home, and ort to stay there."—Kansas City Star.

Compressed Air Runs Locomotive

A device for running a locomotive with compressed air, with a 90 per cent saving in fuel has just been completed by the Italian engineer, Tabanelli. It has just been tested out successfully and it is said government officials are convinced that the invention is practical. The machine, which can be adapted easily to the type of engines now in use, requires only small quantity of crude oil, substituting heated compressed air for steam.

Packer Gives Comparative Figures In Reply to Statisticians' Statement That Living Costs Soar

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—The recent announcement from one of the statistical bureaus of the United States government that the cost of living is approximately 67 per cent higher today than it was ten years ago has brought a statement from F. W. Waddell, vice president of Armour & Co., to the effect that wholesale selling prices for meat are in some cases lower than they were in 1913, and in others at almost exactly the same level.

Mr. Waddell submits the following comparative prices based on an average of the trading in May, 1913, and May, 1923.

Pork loins 16.34 14.12, Boston butts 12.12 13.2, Spare ribs .08 .10, Beef carcasses 43 .42, Loose lard 10.13 10.69, Ham 21 .23

"It must be understood there are certain grades of products that sell for higher prices than those quoted, and other grades that sell at lower prices," says Mr. Waddell, "but the general standard of prices is just about on the level of 1913."

OH THAT MAN! HE'S SHUT EVERY DOOR OUT OF THE HOUSE AS TIGHT AS A DRUM. HE SPENDS HIS WHOLE LIFE DOBBING FRESH AIR - HE'S JUST A TENDER-HEARTED FLOWER - HE'S GOT TO KEEP ALL THE KEY-HOLES TO KEEP THE NAUGHTY ZEPHYRS FROM WITHERING THIS FRAIL HUMAN ORCHID.

HIS IDEA OF A HAPPY HOME WOULD BE A CYCLONE CELLAR - YOU COULDN'T GET HIM TO WEAR SECOND-HAND CLOTHING - BUT THERE'S NOTHING HE LIKES BETTER THAN TO LUNG WITH SECOND-HAND AIR AND CIGAR SMOKE - IT'S GETTING SO I'LL HAVE TO WEAR A GAS MASK IN MY DREAM TO KEEP FROM BEING OVERCOME BY POISON GAS.

OLD KING TUT HAD FIVE OFFINGS TO PROTECT HIM FROM A DRAFT - AND THERE'S ONE IN HIS HOUSE - HE WONDERS WHY HIS HEAD ACHES - IT'S A WONDER TO ME HE DOESN'T WEAR A DIVER'S HELMET AND DO ALL HIS INHALING THROUGH A RUBBER HOSE.

I NEVER SAW SUCH A MAN - HE'S A MOTH AT HEART WITH THE INSTINCTS OF A MOLE - HIS IDEA OF A NICELY VENTILATED SPOT IS THE INSIDE OF A VACUUM BOTTLE - I'D LIKE TO TIE HIM TO A WIND-MILL AND LET THE FRESH AIR BLOW SOME OF THE OLD-FASHIONED AIR OUT OF HIS BRAIN.

F. G. Thompson, Alleged 'Smiling Bandit' Who Shot Teemer, and 'Husband' In New Entanglement

ESSEN, June 22 (AP)—Three Germans were killed today in different parts of the Ruhr. The first one was shot by French soldiers when he was caught being damaged to railroad tracks in the town of Louprou. The second, one of a party of five or six Germans who attacked a German who was working for the French, was killed near Bocklinghausen, when French soldiers fired on the attacking party. The third was one of two Germans who killed a Belgian corporal and a private and wounded another private near Bocklinghausen yesterday when the Belgians tried to search them.

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—If Fred G. Thompson, charged with being the "Smiling Bandit," who shot and killed Richard Teemer, successfully eludes the murder warrant sworn out for him today to thwart attempts to release him on a writ of habeas corpus, he still faces the probability of federal prosecution for draft evasion. Frank Carriek, "husband" of Thompson for 14 years, and arrested with him in the apartment in which police also found Marie Clark, said by Thompson to have been his wife for two years, today was remanded to the sheriff when habeas corpus proceedings were continued until tomorrow. Federal officials have declared they contemplate filing charges against Carriek for claiming exemption because of his wife.

Champion Topples Giant with a Blow

Oklahoman's Ambition Is Satisfied In Less Than 60 Seconds After Entering Ring

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 22 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, today won a "Big Boy" Wray in less than 60 seconds after the Sayre, Okla., giant, with his seven feet two inches of pugilistic ambition, to satisfy his craving to try himself out against the heavyweight champion. Wray, a former cowboy and oil rigger down in Oklahoma, was stretched on the second floor of the ring, completely knocked out and with a possible fractured jaw in less than a minute after he came out from his corner to box Dempsey, even against the wishes of his manager, Tex McCarthy, an old-time heavyweight.

Gibbons' Friends Believe Dempsey Will Be Outboxed

ST. PAUL, June 22 (AP)—When Jack Dempsey answers the bell in the prize ring at Shelby, Mont., July 4, to defend his heavyweight title, he will meet a man of opposition somewhat different from that he has faced since he took the crown from Jess Willard.

In Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, the champion will find a boxer of consummate skill, a man with a "mean punch," not afraid to mix in a tangle exchange, and a ring veteran who has never been knocked off his feet. Gibbons fans recognize the power of the champion, the danger in his terrific rushes. They look to Gibbons' boxing ability to go a long way toward offsetting Dempsey's rushing tactics. "These same boxing fans, who have been fighting the Dempsey-Gibbons battle in the clubs and other places of congregation ever since the word came that the fight was "on," are not, as a whole, boasting of what Gibbons will do.

Third Sweep Lands Dempsey

Dempsey missed a left hook for the jaw and Wray's face assumed a serious stare as he heard the swish of the glove past his ear. The title holder floated for the body and then reached for another left to the body, missing for the second time, with Wray blinking nervously. The giant Oklahoman laid a light left on Dempsey's body and with a step the champion's left foot landed flush on the chin. Wray stiffened back on his heels, his long arms flew over his head and he fell back on his side as if he had been picked up and attempted to bring him erect, but Wray's knees would not support him and Dempsey had to drag him to the front of the ring. The giant's knees scraping the canvas he crod ring.

YALE DEFEATS CRIMSON CREW

Elis, Under Homebred Coaching, Row to Smashing Victory Over Harvard

BEGATTA COURSE, New London, Conn., June 22 (AP)—Yale won the fourth "varsity eight" rowing race this afternoon from Harvard by five lengths. The official time was Yale, 22:10; Harvard, 22:35.

Flashing across the fifth line fully six lengths ahead of a gallant but badly beaten Crimson eight, the Blue shell closed its 1923 season with an undefeated record and gave the Elis their first clean sweep since 1915 in the annual rowing struggle with their ancient rivals.

This morning the Yale freshmen and junior "varsity eight" added triumph measure to the Blue tinge of triumph that settled tonight over the fifty-sixth annual regatta between the two universities. The Elis enjoyed sprang something of an upset by walking away from the Cambridge yearlings to win by five lengths while the New Haven junior "varsity," led by Captain R. B. Kelly, scored even more decisively over the Crimson second crew leading the way by five and one-half lengths.

REDUCE SHEEP RATES.

RENO, Nev., June 22 (AP)—Substantial reductions in freight rates on sheep from Carson valley to Sacramento, San Francisco and other California points effective June 23, have been announced by the Reno Chamber of Commerce. The new rates are $130 for a double-deck rate from Reno to San Francisco and $120 to Sacramento.

SEES PROMISE

"impossible" and at the same time would "make sound finance possible for expansion."

Harmonization Is Difficult

"There now appears to be no difficulty about any constitutional inhibition to the necessary consolidation as authorized by congress," the executive continued, but the problem of reconciling the interests of the hundreds of different ownerships and managements of lines to be merged into systems has proven a problem for which no solution has been found.

There are some roads—many of the smaller ones in fact—whose continued operation is absolutely vital to many thousands of people, to considerable towns or large areas of country whose revenues simply cannot provide financial facilities through earnings, pending a considerable growth in community population, to say nothing of carrying any other kind of capital investment. No ledger-drama of court processes, receivers' certificates, or financial juggling, can save them. They must get more revenue or stronger support or quit operating until the country is ruined.

Gives Government's Aim

"The railroads have been publicly sponsored institutions, and government must find a way to avoid confiscation, avoid starvation, and maintain service and a proper return upon capital invested. It is a growth commensurate with the country's development."

"There is another particular reason which urged the early adoption of the larger system plan. It would be a long step toward solving the problem of keeping the railroad equipment adequate. Many financially weak roads are unable to provide all the rolling stock they need."

Toward Industrial Peace

"I fully recollecting my vote in the senate in favor of the anti-strike provision of the railroad act of 1920. That was not a provision denying men the right to strike. It was merely a requirement that before the men should strike or the employer should lock them out, both sides should submit their differences to a properly constituted and impartial tribunal empowered to consider the facts, determine the merits, and make an award."

Economy In Waterways

"There is another highly important phase of the transportation problem very much worth our attention. I believe the use of our inland waterways offers the one sure way to reduce the carrying charges on basic materials, heavy cargoes, and farm products."

"The federal government has expended approximately $1,130,610,000 on river and harbor improvement. The millions expended on inland waterways, on rivers and canals, have brought small returns because we have put them to no practical use. We have failed in coordinating service and have allowed the railroads to discourage every worth while development.

"I believe we should encourage our water agencies, we should coordinate and enforce consolidated service; we should see to an equitable division of rates and exact rate reductions whenever practically to operate successfully under rate reductions."

KLAN HOLDS UP

"I wish the railway leadership of the country could see the need of this employment of our water routes as an essential factor in perfecting transportation and in joining the feasible plan of coordinating service and cheapening charges, not alone as a means of popularized and efficient public utility, but as a means of averting the peril of their own fortunes."

CANADA BALKS

and to make regular clearances to parts in the United States, thus complying with the Canadian law, which prohibits the sale of liquors to persons in Canada but allows the exportation to a foreign country.

Lacks Legal Basis

The reply of the Canadian government through the British ambassador received Tuesday said it had carefully investigated the matter and had ascertained that the provisions of the law were being properly observed. It was further stated that the export of liquor from Canada was not prohibited and there existed no provisions in the customs laws or regulations warranting refusal of clearance papers to vessels carrying liquor destined for a foreign port simply because its entry without special permits, is prohibited.

packed to capacity the hall, which holds 12,000, arose in mass, waving the flag and cheering.

Street Crows Listen In

On the streets the crowd gathered to hear the address by means of an officer which had been installed for that purpose. The meeting was opened with prayer and then Mayor Frank H. Conwell introduced the president.

Mr. Harding began speaking at 8:10 o'clock. He seemed to have virtually recovered from the severe case of pneumonia contracted during a ride about the city early in the day and which caused him to remain at his hotel during the afternoon while his physicians treated his swollen lips and blistered face with ice packs. His face, however, still was redened from the effects of the rays of a burning sun.

Biggest Demonstration

A burst of cheering that lasted four minutes occurred when the president arose. It was the biggest demonstration that had greeted the executive during his trip and the applause and shouts echoed re-echoed throughout the vast hall.

"Millions Now Living Will Never Die"

God has invited us to use our reasoning faculties (Isaiah 1:18), and if we believe the great truths taught in the Bible, we can reach no other reasonable conclusion than that restitution is the great objective of the human race, and that restitution blessings are near because the kingdom of heaven is at hand, even at the door (Acts 3:10-21). Let those who are cast down look up now; let the sorrowful be glad; let the sad hearts be comforted, and the broken hearts be bound up.

Lift up your heads and rejoice in the fact that the day of deliverance for mankind is at the door!

Come and hear the evidence presented by J. W. Cope of Brooklyn, New York. He will prove every point by the Bible.
