WAGE QUESTION GROWS INTENSE IN COAL FIELDS

Congressional Commission Rushes Work on Report to Meet Threatening Situation When Contracts Expire

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The coal commission is rushing to completion its report on wages, profits and costs in anthracite mining, in order that its findings may be brought to bear in a labor situation of increasing intensity now arising in the industry.

Miners' wage contracts expire August 31 and a strike is threatened unless negotiations for replacement are successful. In recent union elections supporters of John L. Lewis, present national head of the United Mine Workers, have met with a sharp defeat and it is considered certain that when elections of anthracite workers meet June 25 to frame new wage demands the element newly come to dominance in the official circles of the unions will at least set out to gain substantial wage advances.

The commission is required to make a report by July 1 and in the wage negotiators.

Harding Warned of Danger.

President Harding was advised of impending danger to the anthracite supply just before leaving for the west and he wrote a letter to John J. Hammann, chairman of the commission, stressing the necessity of keeping the mines in operation. The commission in behalf of the government is shaping its policy to take an active hand as soon as the miners' union representatives meet with the committee representing mine operators and will insist upon settlement.

While the commission's reports as to the facts of costs, profits and operating conditions in the anthracite fields will be preliminary and not conclusive as to public policy affecting coal production will be left to formulation in its final report on the bituminous branch of the industry, 100,000 members hope to have a considerable amount of data usually of issue in wage negotiations clearly defined and placed before contractors.

Digest Experts' Reports.

Chairman Hammann, with former Vice President Marshall, Clark Howell, Dr. George Otis Smith, Charles P. Neill and Dr. Edward Devine, the other commission members, have digested reports

TURKS DEMAND TROOP REMOVAL

Lausanne Conference Hangs Up on Question of Concessions; Mosul Question Clears

LAUSANNE, June 23 (AP)—The attempt today by the allies and Turks to clarify the critical situation which has arisen in the Near East at the conference was successful in one way, disastrous in another.

Toward the end of the session, which has been well in progress, it was announced that they could not discuss the problem of concessions at Lausanne until the question of the evacuation of foreign troops from Turkey and the question of the Ottoman debt were satisfactorily disposed of.

"I thank you for your frankness," declared Sir Harold Balfour, the British plenipotentiary, when the Turks made this disclosure, "and I will refer the matter to the British government."

The meeting got nowhere on the big unsettled questions.

Agree to Settlement

An agreement was reached on one important point today, namely that England and Turkey mutually engage to settle the Mosul controversy between themselves within nine months after the signing of a peace treaty which England will bring the controversy to the league of nations for settlement by arbitration.

He asked for a year's delay, but England wanted to limit the period of the private negotiations to six months, compromising finally on nine months.

The general impression was that the allies tonight in that they will be reluctantly compelled to frame the text of a treaty and present it to the Turks if they hope ever to reach an end of the Lausanne conference, the Turks tried to get something definite from the allies respecting the evacuation of foreign troops from Turkey, but the allies replied that the date of the evacuation could be arranged only when other important outstanding questions were settled, because evacuation depended on peace and peace hinged on an agreement over subjects such as concessions and the Ottoman debt. Thus today's meeting was whirled in a circle.

Turks Accuse French

The Turks today issued a communique stating that the Turkish army in Anatolia was not being strengthened but charging the French with reinforcing their army on the Turco-Syrian border. They allege that the French occupy dominating positions on the frontier and are using armored cars in military demonstrations along the frontiers.

Spokane Union Men Plan to Lend Hand in Wheat Harvest

SPOKANE, June 23 (AP)—The Spokane central labor council is planning a movement to obtain sufficient labor locally to harvest the wheat crop of the Spokane country, according to Carl Evans, president.

"We don't want to see thousands of men brought in and left jobless after the harvest," Mr. Evans said. "It would be better to tackle the harvest with workers of our own district. Reports indicate that the crops will be heavy and all of us want the harvest to be thorough and successful."

Arthur E. Lewis head of the labor committee of the Chamber of Commerce, recently told the city commissioners that ten thousand harvest hands will be required in the Inland Empire between July 10 and August 15 if the bumper crops in prospect are to be harvested. He asked that local contractors be allowed farther time to complete work so that laborers will be released for work in the harvest fields.

SCIENTISTS SET SAIL

WISCONSIN, Maine, June 23 (AP)—The 115-ton auxiliary schooner Howden, bearing Captain Donald B. MacMillan and his party on their way to resume scientific work and explorations in the Arctic, sailed from this port just before six o'clock tonight, eastern daylight-saving time.

COMMUNISTS IN PARIS CHECKED

Police and Republican Guards Scatter Big Concourse of Demonstrators

PARIS, June 23 (AP)—Several thousand communists and workers gathered in the Place de l'Opera tonight for an announced demonstration against fascism and the royalists, but the heavy force of police and mounted republican guards won to the scene, together with the great number of spectators, made the program impossible of fulfillment.

A few groups started singing the "Internationale" at which the police charged and the crowd fled, the demonstrators alike sprinting from the blueprints. "The only person injured was a man among the spectators, wearing on his breast the insignia of the Legion of Honor.

BUDGET BUREAU HEAD DEFENDS OWN DECISIONS

McCarll Refers to Clash With Attorney General in "Declaration of Jurisdiction"; Recognizes Congress

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Comptroller General McCarll, whose authority in the disbursement of public funds has been challenged several times by cabinet members and other officials, has informed President Harding that he regards his decisions as final, and appealable only to congress. He is willing to "pay outside" the views of interested officials at all times, but the opinion of none of them, he holds, is controlling his office.

The comptroller general's "declaration of jurisdiction" came to light today in publication of monthly rulings by the general accounting office. The statement here directly an opinion handed down in May by the attorney general's office, constraining portions of the federal agencies composition and contrary to a decision by the comptroller general. Mr. McCarll indicated he would decline to approve disbursement vouchers from the composition commission despite the ruling of the treasury department unless the payments were in accordance with the comptroller general's view of the law.

Woman Defies Ruling

Earlier in the day Mrs. Bessie D. Bruggeman, chairman of the commission, had announced that it would discuss cases dealing with occupational diseases as formerly." Mr. McCarll held that such payments were to be made only in cases where injuries were determinable in point of time while the department of justice had agreed with the commission that such a restriction was unnecessary.

The opinion of the attorney general's office was transmitted to Mr. McCarll late in May and he wrote the president that he follows such a ruling "would result in the unnumbered expenditure of public funds on unlawful awards."

Holds Opinion Advisory

"The opinion of the attorney general as to matters regarding which he may wish properly express an opinion," the letter said, "is entitled to most respectful consideration and great weight, but even such an opinion is advisory and lacks the force of a judicial determination."

Mr. McCarll continued that he could not regard the opinion as sanctioning payment by the commission since that meant the commission to disregard the decision of the comptroller general.

Harding Brings Message of Optimism to Nation's Farms

Declares Worst of Post-War Depression Is Passed and Gradual Improvement Is To Be Expected

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S TRAIN AT DODGE CITY, Kansas, June 23 (AP)—President Harding, in a rear platform address made here tonight while enroute from Hutchinson, Kansas, to Denver, declared that "every one concerned with the affairs of government is refreshed and more consecrated to his duty by coming in contact with those in the great open spaces."

"I have found in my travels," the president added, "that we all have common habits, common customs and common devotion to the republic. I am not here campaigning; I just want your help in making our country the greatest in the world."

HUTCHINSON, Kansas, June 23

(AP)—President Harding became a farmer today while in Hutchinson for an eight-hour visit. He drove a binder, he shocked wheat, he talked with farmers about their problems and he delivered an address on the agricultural situation.

In his address, made to an audience largely composed of farmers at the state fair grounds, he spoke as the president of the United States, but with an understanding that comes only from having lived and worked on a farm. To the farmers who heard him he brought a prediction of a better day, declaring that "clearly we are through the worst of the depression and can reasonably expect gradual improvement."

Go to Work in Field

The chief executive's real contact with farm life came after he and Mrs. Harding and their party arrived here at 10 a. m. from Kansas City. The party was taken on an automobile ride into the country and was shown the famous Hutchinson wheat district.

Arriving at an especially large wheat field, Mr. and Mrs. Harding left their car and soon the highest official of the nation was putting sleeves of wheat in their shirts, talking with the country boys and holding in his arms the babies, conversing earnestly with the owner of the farm and joking with the farm hands, and finally perched on the seat of a farm tractor, he drove a binder around the section of the field which was being harvested.

Talks to School Children

Earlier he spoke briefly to several thousand school children. After his

HARDING'S BOYHOOD SWEETHEART GREETED HIM AT HUTCHINSON

HUTCHINSON, Kansas, June 23 (AP)—Forty-five years ago, Warren G. Harding, then a boy of 12, had a love affair with a small girl, certainly. Warren would marry Mattie, the school companions of each said.

Today, the same Warren Harding, now president of the United States, met and recognized the same girl in Hutchinson. She had matured more than a hundred miles across Kansas to see him.

The president told of the boyhood romance in his address before 7,000 persons assembled to hear his discussion of the agricultural problems of the country at the state fair grounds. He described her as "my first sweetheart; married, happy, a grandmother and doing her part in the citizenship of this great country."

Members of the president's party said later that the president did not know Mattie by her married name, but only remembered her as Mattie Meil of Calcutta, Ohio, who he had not seen for forty-five years.

BORAH TO STAY IN PARTY RANKS

Idaho Senator Declares He Is Not Presidential Candidate; Not Third Party Leader

SPOKANE, June 23 (AP)—Unqualified assertion that he "will not be a presidential candidate, and "will not lead a third party," was made by Senator Borah today while he was sitting in a barber's chair. He was on his way to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, where he was to address a farmers' convention.

He expressed the opinion that President Harding will be nominated by acclamation in the republican national convention, but said the democratic situation in his opinion "was perplexing." He mentioned William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith of New York, Henry Ford and Oscar Underwood as "likely democratic nominees," and said Ford should not be regarded as a joke as a presidential possibility.

Appraises Ford's Strength

"Ford has a power of popular support among all classes of people, especially the laboring classes and the agriculturalists," Senator Borah declared. "He also has the support of many eastern business interests."

If there is a third party movement, Mr. Borah said, he regards Ford as the most likely man to lead it.

"It would cost money and much time to develop a third party organization and Mr. Ford is a man with both," he added.

Declaring that the public ownership of railroads, coal mines and other public utilities probably would be the issue upon which a third party would be formed, Senator Borah continued:

"These are all questions which the old parties can settle if they see fit to do so. If we don't find a solution for the present conditions I believe there will be a new movement for public ownership."

Satisfied With Party

"There is much talk about reading me out of the republican party," the senator said with a smile, "but that is a difficult task. I am well satisfied with the party and I am sorry that others are not. I never found much trouble in the party. I am putting forth my best efforts on the inside."

STATEMENTS HARMONIZE

POCATELLO, June 23 (AP)—Senator Borah's statement that he will not be a candidate for president on a third party program harmonizes perfectly with his expression in Pocatello that day by action on the same day. The senator stated that he would be in Idaho until October, that he would visit every section, and that he was desirous that the unity of the republican party be made secure.

Fifty Thousand to Greet Harding on Arrival in Idaho

POCATELLO, June 23 (AP)—Extensive preparations are being made to entertain President Harding during his brief stay in Pocatello, and a crowd of 50,000 people will greet him. Special trains from every section will be here and he will speak from his coach, afterward going to the various schools to address the children. Indian speeches have been arranged to his benefit and trust will be provided for his train and party.

CENTRAL WEST HELD IN GRIP OF HEAT WAVE

Weather Observers See No Immediate Relief For Sweltering Region; Storms and Snowfall in Salt Lake Area

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—The heat wave which has tarred the central section of the country into a hot-house since last Monday, probably will go into its second week of torrid temperature, continuing what weather observers declared today was an unprecedented heat wave in point of duration.

The heat is still intense over the central, west central and southern districts, according to the weather bureau. Readings exceeding 90 degrees occurred over a wide area. The government thermometer at Decatur, Ill., registered 101 degrees.

No moderation is indicated for the middle and middle western sections but local thunderstorms are probable in the northern and western lake region and the upper Mississippi valley. In the south and southwest fair weather will continue until Sunday night and probably longer.

Casualties Toll Increases

Chicago's high temperature continued today, raising the toll of deaths to 23 and increasing the number of prostrations to more than 200 during the six hot days. In several suburban districts have been reported a possibility of arrest to refrain from sprinkling lawns and to use water only for essential needs, the shortage of water having become acute.

Executive heat was predicted again for the Atlantic coast after a day's respite. In Ohio the week's heat had taken 41 lives and caused numerous prostrations. No immediate relief is reported there. New Orleans with no relief in sight. Several points in Nebraska reported 93 degrees.

President Harding, traveling through Kansas, has expressed some hope that this year's hottest weather this year but should find a welcome change when he arrives in Salt Lake City about which thunderstorms and snowfall are reported.

ERUPTION PAST SERIOUS STAGE

Lava Still Flowing From Mount Etna But at Diminishing Rate of Speed

CATANIA, June 23 (AP)—All indications are that the worst of the Mount Etna eruption is virtually over. Naturally, this does not mean that the flow of lava, stones, ashes and cinders will cease immediately, but the flow has lessened considerably from early in the week when the people of the surrounding country fled from the lava.

Lava was still flowing from the crater of Mount Etna late today, but the speed of its descent was perceptibly slowing down in the morning.

While thick clouds of ashes, cinders and smoke are still emitted at intervals, the most serious phase of the eruption seems to have passed.

STORM BREAKS HOT SPELL

Terrific Wind Accompanied by Rain and Electrical Display Hits Twin Cities and Vicinity

ST. PAUL, June 23 (AP)—A terrific wind, rain and electrical storm early tonight brought some relief from a prolonged heat spell to the Twin cities and vicinity.

Trees were blown down and telephone and telegraph communication was broken, but early reports indicated that damage was not extensive. The fashionable south side in Minneapolis was in darkness tonight. Power transmission lines from Chippewa Falls, Wis., were torn down.

STORM HITS DAKOTA AREA

PIERRE, S. D., June 23 (AP)—A heavy storm hit Pierre township last night causing considerable damage, according to word received here today. One school house was taken from its foundation and the outbuildings at the W. A. Burtorff ranch were torn down, the reports said.

The wind blew light pine poles down and put East Pierre in darkness during the night. Damage to the crop east of here were light, according to advices.

FOREIGN SHIPS GIVE UP EXTRA LIQUOR STORES

American Dry Law Agents Break British Government Seals to Confiscate Alcohol- ics In Test Case

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—After two days' reflection and two false starts, the United States today smashed the British government's attempt to keep the liquor stocks which the steamships Baltic and Berengaria brought into this port yesterday to test the treasury department's new liquor law.

By nightfall there has been removed from the Baltic all liquid supplies which Dr. E. K. Sprague, chief of the United States public health service, considered in violation of the new law, and it was announced that surplus wet goods would be taken from the Berengaria Monday morning. The liquor seized was trucked to government warehouses.

Captains of both vessels entered formal protest at the breaking of their government's seals, but put no obstacles in the path of executive officials.

Delivers Delayed Punch.

Uncle Sam was slow in delivering his punch. Twice he raised his fist against those who defied his prohibition laws and twice he lowered it while his executive held steady. The conflicting orders rained on the waterfront before the seizure was made, and in the meanwhile the French liner Paris steamed into the harbor with a maritime collar well stocked for her homebound voyage. Indications were that even more trouble would accumulate next week when more liners will arrive carrying liquor across the three-mile limit.

Customs officials and prohibition enforcement agents massed this morning on the pier occupied by the White Star liner Baltic, which yesterday mysteriously slipped into port ahead of the Cunarder Berengaria, heralded as the first liner to test the treasury department's new ruling. The announced purpose of the American officials was to sweep down on the two vessels and promptly confiscate their stocks.

This is what happened: 1—Deputy Surveyor Sanders marched aboard the Baltic shortly after 9:26 a. m.; the British seals were smashed. Captain John Rogers' protest before the federal prohibition director Canfield began taking an inventory of the wet goods.

Phone Call Interrupts.

2—Proceedings were suddenly halted by a telephone call from the White Star house while Washington wondered. Collector of the Port Elting later explained that this call was called because Dr. E. K. Sprague, chief of the United States public health service, had not yet issued permits for medicinal liquor supplies. Meanwhile Mr. Elting conferred at the customs house with treasury department officials and Surveyor of Port Whittier dashed aboard the White Star liner majestic which sailed at noon with the Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, for an unexplained parlay with his chief.

Early this afternoon, federal agents who spent the day on the Baltic pier, resumed their work of seizing her liquor.

3—This work was halted by a telephone call from Dr. Sprague, after Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Moss from Washington, sent him drastic orders, and it was reported from the customs house that Dr. Sprague had secured a permit for all the Berengaria's stock, listing it for medicinal purposes. This report Dr. Sprague denied, but he declined to discuss the Washington orders.

4—Dr. Sprague issued permits for a certain amount of medicinal liquor—considerably in excess of the Mettlesie, a larger vessel, carried on her outward voyage.

5—The surplus liquor was taken from the Baltic and the Berengaria's seals were broken.

Statistics of Seizure.

The official statistics on quantities of liquor brought into port by the two vessels, left and seized, follows: The Baltic brought: 2736 bottles of beer, ale and stout; 225 bottles of spirits, 118 bottles of wine, 38 bottles of liquors, 701-2 bottles of brandy, listed as regular medicinal supply. The Baltic lost 510 bottles of beer, ale and stout, 30 bottles of spirits, 38 bottles of liquors. The Baltic had left: 277 bottles of beer, ale and stout, 245 bottles of spirits, 118 bottles of wine, 213 bottles of brandy, her regular medicinal supply.

The Berengaria brought: 3888 bottles of beer, 120 gallons of spirits, 45 gallons of wine, 30 bottles of brandy, 2038 bottles of beer, ale and stout, 21 gallons of spirits. The Berengaria had left: 850 bottles of beer, ale and stout, 99 gallons of spirits, 471-2 gallons of wine.

Neither the White Star liner nor the Cunard liner instituted and injunction proceedings to prevent removal of the liquor. The Berengaria, in the case of the Berengaria applied for a permit for all her liquor as medicinal supplies, the White Star in the case of the Baltic did not apply but lost her stock on her manifest.

In explanation of the permits which he granted, Dr. Sprague said that the amounts he allowed were required by British law and declared he would be guided in fixing the medicinal liquor needs of incoming vessels by the laws of the country from which they came.

SEES CASE FOR HAGUE.

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Commenting on the seizure of sealed liquor on the Baltic in New York today, the Star says that the seizure is obviously a point of international law ultimately for consideration of The Hague tribunal.

The Evening Standard says:

"It is the business of the diplomacy of Europe to represent to Washington quite courteously but with perfect firmness that when America has the right to pass the laws she wants for the control of foreigners while on her soil, she has not the title to legislate when in the fact it is a restriction of the rights of foreigners on the high seas."

BABSON PREDICTS GOOD BUSINESS FOR AUTUMN

Statistician Takes Readings of Current Barometers and Draws Optimistic Conclusion

WELLSLEY HILLS, Mass., June 23.—(Special to The News)—Roger W. Babson was questioned today as to a concrete analysis of the business barometers that determine the degree of future activity.

"Business and the stock market have been suffering from psychological depression during the past six weeks," says Mr. Babson, "and are expecting a repetition of the decline of 1920 in general activity, while others are certain that security values are going in pieces. It is not at all hard to gather such impressions if you listen to current comment and market gossip. If we turn to the actual facts on the situation, however, we find things are not as bad as reported. Let us examine the leading barometers of business."

Commodity Situation Sound.

"1. Prices: Commodity prices climbing rapidly reached a point about 200 points above their 1920 level before they broke in 1920. Their present position is only 75 per cent above normal, and this level has been reached by prices of most orderly raw material products but 75 per cent above the 10 year average, 1900-1910, compared with the inflation of 250 per cent made in 1920. The shortage of raw materials in the commodity situation, there is certainly no ground for fear of another decline such as we suffered during the year beginning 1920."

"2. Failures: Contrary to popular belief a minimum of failures is a bad sign, while a large number of failures show that business is declining. House and plants to better times about 1919 and early in 1920 the percentage of business failures ran at their highest level recorded since they have been recorded. Both number and the liabilities of failures at present are running heavy. This, together with the fluctuation of the past two years is pretty good evidence that fundamental business conditions are growing more sound."

Banks' Position Strong.

"3. Credit Conditions: At the peak of the recent boom, the national banks had over $12,415,000,000 on loan. Today they are loaning a little more than $11,000,000,000. In 1920 they were borrowing heavily from the federal reserve banks and were straining all resources to the limit. Whereas their discounts were $2,270,000,000 in 1920, they are today borrowing but $730,000,000. Money is plentiful. Reserves are strong. There is no danger that banks will be forced to cur down loans and close up business in order to protect their reserves."

"4. Imports: Though not as great as in 1920, our imports are gaining momentum rapidly. For the immediate outlook this is an unfavorable factor. From a long swing point of view these purchases abroad constitute a favorable factor. Eventually Europe can pay interest and principal only in goods. Increasing imports at this time tend to relieve the situation in Europe which is the weakest link in the business chain today.

"5. Exports: The export situation, though better than 1913 or 1915, is not particularly favorable. Although better than last year I should still classify the export situation as one of the two unfavorable conditions.

Money Is Plentiful.

"6. Money Rates: A business man can now finance his needs at 5 per cent compared with as high as 8 per cent which ruled during a part of 1920. It looks as though plenty of money can be available on this basis for some time to come."

"7. Transportation: The situation is more favorable than it has been for several years. In 1920 there was a car shortage which amounted to a peak which ruled during that time either for 147,000 more cars than were available. Today we are breaking all records in the number of car loadings. The shortage of last fall has been practically eliminated. There should be no immediate serious congestion of freight."

"8. Wages: Wages have shown some advance, particularly in the building trades. This is due largely to immigration restrictions. Wages in general, however, are much below the 1920 peak. Certainly there is less efficiency than there was at that time. Any increase in cost due to wage advances will, of course, handicap business."

"9. Steel Production: The unfilled tonnage in the United States Steel corporation now stands at 7,000,000 tons, compared with 13,000,000 in 1920. The present level is very satisfactory and shows that buyers are not prying orders but are following the conservative policies."

Gold Movement Favorable.

"10. Gold Movements: The increased imports probably will necessitate some movement of gold from this country, but our present reserves can stand the drain of the present two years if it is not, in fact, the tremendous gold supply which really does not belong here, is a constant temptation toward inflation."

"11. Building: The combined ground under contract and under way in the building trade has set the braces on the building boom. From the point of view of immediate volume of trade, this is an encouraging factor. From a long swing point of view, however, it is not at all discouraging. The industry was rapidly becoming inflated and the slowing up process merely postpones the necessary building to a time when it will be more needed."

"It does not take a statistician to foretell our future. A lot of our barometers may be considered unfavorable. The majority are not unfavorable. General business," concluded Mr. Babson, "is in a healthy position at about 1 per cent above normal. The figures clearly indicate good business for the next 12 months." Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls.

From The News Files June 19, 1908.

The Jerome Country club gave its first dance in the new Chapin building last Sunday night and those who accepted the club's hospitality will long remember it as one of the most pleasant evenings of their lives. Guests were present from Minner, Wendell, Shoshone and Twin Falls. It was a delightful family party at which friends met friends and formalities were discounted. The committee consisted of Mrs. J. M. Smith, Miss Evelyn Covell, C. H. Chapin and Gilmore Kinney. The patronesses were Mesdames Becker, Bloom, Hale, Kartze, Piper and Reed.

The Goose Creek Irrigation company has applied for the segregation of 52,000 acres of Carey act land south of Harley to be irrigated by the waters of Goose creek. While it is possible the segregation may be achieved, it will nevertheless incur an exceedingly rich tract of land which will add greatly to the wealth of Cassia county. The contract for construction of the reservoir has been awarded to R. W. Paris and work will be hurried as fast as the restriction of the departmental rules will permit.

Poles have been set on the Salmon river bridge for an Filer and distributed four miles beyond Heilister. There are 38 men on the line and the work is being crowded as fast as possible.

Last Sunday at the Methodist church the entire day was devoted to the observance of Children's day. In the morning the pastor, Rev. Parker, preached a sermon especially for children. In the evening a special program was given under the direction of Superintendent Ashton, assisted by the teachers of the Sunday school.

The annual memorial services of the K. of P.'s will be held in their hall Sunday afternoon, June 24, at 2 p. m. A central invitation is extended to the public to attend. The address will be given by Everett M. Sweeley.

TWIN FALLS TO JEROME TODAY

Local Team to Play Northsiders; Hansen-Kimberly Game Postponed

Bob Whitlow and his gang of ball players will cross the canyon this afternoon to battle for nine innings with the fast Jerome team.

Jerome has strengthened up considerably of late, and even before they started plugging up the weak spots were the only team that was able to beat Twin Falls.

To counteract Jerome's strengthening powers, the local team will have the best team that has represented the town this year.

Manager Whitlow will take 14 men with him, and will start off with Phil Fix in the box. Phil has had a good long rest, and should perform in big league style.

Hoala Linville will be on the receiving end, with Walter Kregel, who showed up in nice fashion last year, at first base.

Second base will be taken care of by Jim Selley, and here let it be said that Jim is fast running into a trap and will make life miserable for those passing his tracks.

At shortstop Twin Falls is blessed with Sid Kieffer. Not a bad third base will be handled by Bruce Watson, which means that the north side fans will see a real third baseman in action, as Bruce makes them all sit up and take notice.

In left, Manager Bob Whitlow will pull in the high ones, with Gene Ostrander gobbling up the flies in center, and Jimmie Hultman will be seen in right, and if the fans can figure out a nifty team to represent the town, they will have to hound the Giants to do it.

Jerome will use "Lefty" Erickson on the mound, which means the Twin Falls players are up against a real tough proposition.

On account of the funeral of Cleve Hughes, members of the Hansen-Kimberly team, the Kimberly-Hansen game has been postponed, while the Eden players with Clarence Garity and Ed Mussell as the main points, will journey to Shoshone to tangle with the tail-enders.

The game will start at 3 sharp, and a large delegation of fans are planning on following the team.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE GOSSIP.
Well, the boys are all home now, and the fans are due for some real baseball.

Providing, of course, that the sun shines once in a great while.

Syd Kieffer looks like the player of old, but shows more flash to his play. The work of a college coach is made manifest in his actions on the field.

Gene Ostrander is another of the old-timers who looks good, although he was forced to the infield last week, when he should have been used in the outfield.

Lost of ball this coming week, as the management of the Twilight League is going to try and catch up with games that were postponed earlier in the season on account of wet grounds.

Monday evening the Bankers and the Electricians will play off their game of last Thursday, and a hot tilt is looked for.

Jimmie Hultman, who guides the destinies of the wire nippers, will use Laval Jarman in the box against the money jugglers, while Hoala Linville, the head of the Bankers, refuses to divulge the name of his pitcher for Monday night's game.

Linville's gang met at the head of the heap at the present time, but there are a few rough spots during the coming week that will keep the proteges of Rockefeller busy.

On Tuesday evening the regular scheduled game between the Bankers and Legion will be played, and Ray McGraw Brown's even's vengeance after the whipping he and his teammates received from the Elks last week.

Ray McGraw Brown is grooving Garity for Tuesday's fence, and when Ray gets down to business, and starts "grooving" it is all off with his opponents.

The Banker-Legion should be a hum-dinger.

Lloyd Whitlow, who was hit by a batted ball Thursday, is getting along nicely, and will officiate the coming week.

There is a possibility that there will be a game played Wednesday, but the two teams have not been chosen as yet.

All Twilight games start at 6:15, and with a little crowding, the games should be over not later than 7:30 which gives everyone a chance to get home before the sun sinks in the west.

Gibbons Attains Peak of Training

Challenger Mixes With Five Sparring Mates in Ten Lively, Ruthless Rounds

SHELBY, Mont., June 23 (AP)—"Electric shocks" are warping Tom Gibbons as he tries to put on the brakes in his training for his championship contest with Jack Dempsey here July 4. The challenger said that he had begun to experience the dizziness sensations in his back, which indicated to him that he had reached the top of his form.

Gibbons will not work Tuesday or Wednesday of next week and he will close his conditioning camp a week from Monday.

There was no evidence of any decision to lighten his workout, in the work out the challenger went through his usual afternoon, however. Another rain storm kept him indoors, but it did not dampen his hitting order. He danced and feinted about five stretching partners in ten rounds of punishing punishment that was the liveliest and most ruthless Gibbons has indulged in since he started training.

Shifty Boxer Gets Champion's Goat

Dempsey Loses Temper When Burke Dodges Hooks; Godfrey Gives Good Workout

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 23, (AP)—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, after a strenuous workout tomorrow, his twenty-eighth birthday, plans to enjoy a full day of rest Monday, and then begin the process of tapering off for the defense of his title against Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4.

The champion went through the equivalent of seven rounds of training this afternoon, in addition to his usual hike in the morning and brick calisthenics. He boxed six rounds, going two each with his heavyweight sparring partners, taking George Godfrey, Jack Burke and Harry Drake, the English light heavyweight on in order. While he failed to score a knockout, he was struggling in a clinch with Godfrey, Dempsey almost slipped to the mat.

Johnson, of Philadelphia, and others in which W. Evans, imperial wizard, William J. Simmons, emperor and members of the klanshiyam are named as defendants.

Johnson Says England Will Prohibit Liquor

PROHIBITION ATTRIBUTED TO FORMER PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE IS QUOTED BY "PUSSYFOOT" ON WAY TO LONDON

NEW YORK, June 23, (AP)—A prediction that England would prohibit the sale of liquor in ten years was made by Lloyd George, "a friend of mine," William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson said last night, on the eve of his sailing for London.

Johnson will remain in London three weeks and will go to South Africa at the invitation of the South African Temperance Alliance. In Cape Town he will journey overland from Capetown to Egypt and from there to Palestine, Turkey and other countries, where he will speak in the interests of prohibition.

"The outlook for world prohibition is much brighter today than the prospects of prohibition in this country were twenty years ago," Mr. Johnson said.

"Some of Great Britain's business men realized that England cannot compete with America with the burden of drink upon her."

Mr. Johnson arrived here yesterday after a tour of five months through America. He said he thought the dryest part of the country was the middle west and the wettest part New York and Maryland.

SEPARATION OF GERALDINE FARRAR AND LOU TELLEGEN IS ORDERED IN DECREE ON FILE, HER ATTORNEY SAYS

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Geraldine Farrar was granted a divorce from Lou Tellegen, it was announced tonight by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Miss Farrar. A referee's report, commencing a decree was filed today, he said.

Action by Miss Farrar was begun two years ago and by her candidate she charged her actor-husband with infidelity with three women.

It was reported that Referee Harrison's report held that the opera star had sustained her allegations on two counts. The counts recently ruled out charges that Miss Steele Larrimore and Tellegen had been intimate.

High Temperature Record

The maximum temperature of the year was reached here today when the thermometer reached 91 degrees shortly after noon. It remained above ninety mark throughout the greater part of the afternoon despite clouds which sent a few drops of rain over sections of the city. These soon cleared away and indications were that there would be a little drop in temperature during the night.

Shoemen Assembling

POCATELLO, June 23 (AP)—Twenty-eight cars of the local shoemen left Pocatello today to take part in the convention of shoemen of the Great Short Line held in Salt Lake. Two special trains of 11 cars each composed of the convention people, and from a community proposition indefensible.

Bating Through Tube

"Big Red" Wray of Sayre, Okla., with his seven-foot two inches of pugilistic ambition, will do his cutting and throat taking tonight only as a result of the disastrous 28 seconds he was in the ring with Dempsey yesterday.

Wray, whose right jaw was broken through the edge of the mouth, from the force of a crashing left hook that knocked him out, was removed to a hospital today under instructions of the physician attending him. The broken jaw was encased in a plaster cast and two teeth were removed to allow for the insertion of a tube through which Wray must be fed. The boy found he will be able to consume for possibly two weeks he fed soups and milk.

The Oklahoma giant, propped in bed, accepted his fate with a smile, joking with callers by words he was forced to mumble because of the cast which held his jaw in place.

Johnson Says England Will Prohibit Liquor

PROHIBITION ATTRIBUTED TO FORMER PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE IS QUOTED BY "PUSSYFOOT" ON WAY TO LONDON

NEW YORK, June 23, (AP)—A prediction that England would prohibit the sale of liquor in ten years was made by Lloyd George, "a friend of mine," William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson said last night, on the eve of his sailing for London.

Johnson will remain in London three weeks and will go to South Africa at the invitation of the South African Temperance Alliance. In Cape Town he will journey overland from Capetown to Egypt and from there to Palestine, Turkey and other countries, where he will speak in the interests of prohibition.

"The outlook for world prohibition is much brighter today than the prospects of prohibition in this country were twenty years ago," Mr. Johnson said.

"Some of Great Britain's business men realized that England cannot compete with America with the burden of drink upon her."

Mr. Johnson arrived here yesterday after a tour of five months through America. He said he thought the dryest part of the country was the middle west and the wettest part New York and Maryland.

TREASURY SITS TIGHT ON RULE

Authorities Responsible For Ships' Liquor Seizure Hold to Fixed Course

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Disclaiming all responsibility for the delay which complicated seizure of the Baltic and Beregrin's sealed liquor stores in New York, treasury and prohibition officials here set light today in their determination to confine all bar liquor brought into America's waters and reiterated their previous announcement that it was up to the officials in New York harbor to carry this policy promptly into effect.

The only instructions issued from Washington during the day, it was asserted, were intended to tighten rather than to mitigate the holding force of the confiscation program. Assistant Secretary Moss ordered Dr. E. K. Sprague, public health officer of New York to revoke a permit the secretary heard he had given for the liner Beregrin to retain all liquor it carried as for medicinal purposes. The action which Dr. Sprague was reported to have taken officially, was the principal reason for a restatement of the treasury's interpretation of the embargo court ruling barring leverage liquor from territorial waters of the United States.

Stocks Called Excessive.

The Beregrin's stocks were reported to the treasury as "out of all proportion to any possible need," the ship could have for medicinal liquor. Mr. Moss called especial attention in a telegram to Dr. Sprague, Assistant Collector Stewart and Palmer Canfield, prohibition director of New York, that in the recent letter of Secretary Mellon dealing with medicinal liquor and crew rations, "it was not intended, and it was expressly so stated by the secretary, to allow any liquor to be brought into territorial waters of the United States except such as were intended for medicinal purposes."

Mr. Moss called attention to the exemption granted liquor for crew rations, but this exemption constituted a restriction also in his opinion, and he informed the federal authorities they were obligated to relax the regulations no more for other medicinal purposes of nations than was required by the laws of the flag under which the particular ship operated. The telegram concluded with the mandatory paragraph that the federal agents "will immediately make seizure of such liquor stores as do not fall within the exemptions authorized by the regulations and the supplemental letter by Mr. Mellon."

address at the state fair grounds he visited the salt mine on the edge of Hutehinson and played a few holes of golf.

He also during the day met his "first boyhood sweetheart," as he described her in a preface to his fair grounds address. The president, in making this speech, said he had not seen her for 45 years, but did not give her name.

The special train bearing President Harding and his party on their western trip left Hutehinson early tonight for Denver, the next scheduled stop, where the president will rest Sunday and on paired address, speaking on law enforcement.

Praises Rural Credits Act.

In his address here devoted to discussion of the agricultural situation, the chief executive reviewed the measure taken by the government to assist the farmers, placing at the forefront the farm credits legislation enacted by the last congress. This legislation, which was passed by the government in the form of the Agricultural Credits Act, is capable of furnishing the American farmer, for the first time in the history of agriculture in any country, adequate investment and working capital on terms as favorable as those accorded to commerce and industry.

Furthermore, he said, it will tend to restore fair prices for farm products and aid the farmer by paying debts incurred during the period of depression.

Credits Cooperation.

"I confess a frank pride in the government's part in bettering a situation against which you justly complained and which will be the pride of the nation and the pride of the world," the president declared in this agricultural state. "The cooperation of all the government agencies, and with them the cooperation of the fine forces of leadership which the great national farm organizations have developed, made it possible to secure a measure of helpful results in this department which will be the pride of the nation and the pride of the world."

Moreover, he has found prompt reflection in the improved status of every agricultural concern. We have been officially informed that the average price of farm products of the country for 1932 were worth $2,000,000,000 more than they were in 1921. Clearing our farms of debt is the first step toward recovery and it is a reasonable expectation of gradual improvement."

Internal Balance Restored.

"The balance within the industry, as between livestock and grain production, has been restored. While the war had created the possibility of overproduction of such staples as wheat and cotton, for example, and when peace suddenly burst upon the world, the farmer had plans for a long future which he could not realize instantly. No human wisdom could possibly have foreseen the course that would be taken by supply and demand and it is as futile as it is ordinary to say that what would have been dictated at least a less precipitate policy in removing the war time restrictions and guidance in dealing with some aspects of production and distribution."

Taken at Low Ebb.

"When the present administration came into responsibility agriculture was in the lowest ebb of depression. The immediate need was for measures to meet an emergency. There was an urgent call to keep open and so far as possible enlarge our foreign markets for our products by arranging and reopening the drastic restriction which had the seeming effect under the former administration of being aimed especially at the destruction of agriculture's prosperity by recalling the war finance corporation from its state of suspended animation, giving it a credit of $1,000,000,000 in government bonds, and recommitting it to afford relief to the American farmer. The wisdom of this action was demonstrated by results.

Tariff Saves Home Market.

"Four hundred millions of dollars have been loaned by this institution, three-fourths of it to the farm and livestock interests, by the American emergency tariff measure was passed, by which to secure the farmer's market against the flood of competing articles from distant corners of the earth. The new tariff schedules saved for the American farmer a vitally important and gravely menaced home market."

Other Government Acts.

The president enumerated other measures taken by the government to aid the farmer, including the re-establishment of an active basis of the federal grain loan fund, reduction of freight rates on farm products and legislation to facilitate cooperative marketing of farm products; to prevent harmful gambling in agriculture; to regulate and control the packing industry; to remove restrictions upon the operation of the joint stock land banks; to authorize formation of irrigation districts; and to bring about the bringing together in associations to conduct their relations with the federal government, and to extend the time on payments of irrigation farmers to the government.

Serves Entire Nation.

"If the recital of this long list of accomplishments in the farmer's behalf shall have seemed to suggest that Washington has been devoting itself with a special and narrow partial sympathy to the agricultural interests," Mr. Harding asserted, "I shall reply that the farmer has received nothing more than was coming to him, and nothing that was so good for all our national interests, bound up as they are in the nation's economic vitality of dependence and interdependence. I tell you frankly that I am proud to be able to come to you today and tell you of what has been done, because in doing it we have served not only the farmer, but everybody else in this land."

Praises Credit Measure.

"But that is not all. I have reserved till the last what we may well appraise the crowning achievement of the entire list. I refer to the code of agricultural credit legislation known as the Agricultural Credit Act of 1923, which became law in the closing days of the last congress. It has not been possible yet to perfect machinery for administering this act, but I do not hesitate to express confidence that this scheme of agricultural credits, taken in connection with the other measures I have described, furnishes the basis for the most enlightened, modern, sound and efficient scheme of agricultural finance that has been set up in any country and that it will be able in no distant future, to free himself from obstacles which have made it difficult heretofore to conduct farm operations upon a sound business-like basis."

Prices Directly Affected.

The president explained the provisions of the credit act in detail, and added: "Many people have been inclined to be skeptical of benefits which might follow the enactment of legislation to give the farmer a better system of credit. They have said that the farmer needs better prices for his crops, and livestock, rather than for ways to borrow money. That is true, but these friends did not seem to understand that prices of crops and livestock are directly influenced by credit facilities."

"In the past farmers have been obliged to finance their production expenses by borrowing money for short terms. What if these are good they have no difficulty in renewing the loans, but in periods of financial stress too many farmers have found themselves under the necessity of pushing their crops or their livestock on the market, not infrequently before the latter is fully fitted for the market. In order to pay notes which they had expected to be able to renew, this at times flooding the market and seriously depressing prices. Under a system of intermediate credits, administered with reference to the farmer's seasonal requirements they should be able to market their crops and livestock in a more orderly fashion and this in itself will be potent in raising the prevailing prices more stable and reasonable.

Meets Day Requirement.

"I thoroughly agree that what is needed is fair prices; and I very well know that the farmer wants to get out of debt rather than to get further into debt. But it is my opinion that both these ends will much more quickly be accomplished through this new system of agricultural credits."

Utah CAPITAL LAYS PLANS FOR PRESIDENTIAL VISIT.

SALT LAKE, June 23 (AP)—Details of arrangements for the reception of President and Mrs. Harding and his official party on their visit to Utah next Tuesday and Wednesday were moving ahead with smoothness today, it was reported by the local central committee in charge. After his address here Tuesday night, the president will go by train to Cedar City, Utah, and thence sixty miles by automobile into Zion national park. After a scenic trip, the presidential party will leave for Idaho, making its first scheduled stop at Pocatello. City officials of Ogden will have charge of the details in Ogden when the president arrives there. Davis county commissioners will supervise the demonstration and routing of the official party through that county to Salt Lake City. They will arrive here about 11 a. m.

Simple Parade Scheduled.

The scheduled parade here on the president's arrival will be a distinctly simple affair. At the chief executive's own instance, only the automobiles of the official party itself and those officials representing the city in the welcome will participate. There will be about 15 automobiles in the line with a military escort; there will be no bands and no one on foot.

Governor and Mrs. Mabey will tender a luncheon to the party on the roof garden of the hotel Utah in the afternoon. The president will tour the city sometime during the afternoon. In the evening, the official party will go to the Mormon tabernacle where an organ recital will be given at Mrs. Harding's request. The president's address will follow, starting at 8:15 p. m. in the tabernacle.

Time For Sightseeing.

After his speech, the president will rest at his hotel quarters and then leave for Cedar City with his party. In the morning they will be well on the way to Zion national park. Luncheon probably will be held at a camp grounds in the park and several hours may be devoted to sightseeing. President Harding is expected to give a short address from the rear of the train before he departs for the north. The party will arrive in Pocatello the next day and a two-hour stay is scheduled in that city. Idaho Falls will be the second city in the president's Idaho itinerary. From there, he will go to Montana, where speeches are scheduled at the larger cities.

OGDEN PLANS RECEPTION.

OGDEN, Utah, June 23 (AP)—Arrangements for President Harding's visit to Ogden were completed this afternoon. The president's special train will arrive from Denver over the Union Pacific at 8:45 o'clock a. m. (Mountain time). There will be an automobile trip which will take the president and Mrs. Harding around Lester park, where the children of the city will be gathered. There is no promise of an address by the president in Ogden, but the committee hopes that the presence of several thousand children in the park will inspire the chief executive to say a few words.

The arrangement for the president's visit here calls for his presence in the city only 55 minutes. He will journey from Ogden to Salt Lake by automobile over the 38 miles of paved highway connecting Ogden and Salt Lake. The Salt Lake welcoming committee will meet the president at Ogden.

You Can Buy More Weight— But You Won't Find a Better Car.

In the Studebaker Big-Six you get all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car can give—at a price that smaller producers cannot even approach.

The Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car with a seven-passenger motor and seven-passenger dimensions throughout. It distinctly is not a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.

The Big-Six will take the steepest hills on high. It will maintain a high rate of speed over long stretches hour after hour. No car provides more restful riding—none is easier to operate. None is freer from frequent repairs.

Equipment is complete, even to an extra wheel with tire, tube and tire cover.

Its low price is due to large volume and to the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models—all sixes. Then, too, only one manufacturing profit is included in the Big-Six price because all vital parts are manufactured in Studebaker plants.

If you spend more than the Big-Six price you can buy more weight and bulkiness and pay more for overhead and operation, but you will not get a better automobile.

Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 71 years.

ly believes in "croons" for women—all women. She does not believe they are incompatible with happy marriage. For instance, she has been married to a musician for as much as eight years running. And she insists that she can write a book and her husband can compose a sonata without either irritating the other.

"Feeding the male," she says, in a confidential interview, "is important, but is not an absorbing task. If there are children, they can occupy the whole horizon. But what of that dead silence that comes when the children cease to demand every moment of one's time? What will the woman do then?"

"I can't see this ennobling of dishwashing. Dishes must be washed; all well and good. But there's nothing noble or poetic about doing it. If a woman is clever enough to do some other sort of work and have her dishes done for her, why should she do them?"

Why, indeed? Unless it is that the vast majority of men have to drudge somehow or other, and go through life without having any noticeable "careers," and the majority of women can hardly hope to do otherwise, unless they are really as superior to the male sex as poets represent them.

In that case, possibly the men will feed the women and do their dishwashing for them—in electric dishwashers, of course. No woman with a career would think of neglecting to provide her house husband with the very best labor-saving appliances.

THE SECRET ADVISORY By AGATHA CHRISTIE

An idea was dawning in Tuppence's brain. She thought a minute or two, then tapped Albert on the shoulder.

"See here, son, my brain's got busy. How would it be if you mentioned that you'd got a young cousin, or a friend of yours had, that might suit the place. You get me?"

"You there," said Albert instantly. "You leave it to me, miss, and I'll fix the whole thing up in two ticks."

"Some lad!" commented Tuppence, with a nod of approval. "You let me know, and if it's O. K. I'll be round tomorrow at eleven o'clock."

"Where am I to let you know to?" "Ritz," replied Tuppence laconically. "Name of Cowley."

Albert eyed her enviously. "It must be a good job, this tee business."

"It sure is," drawled Tuppence, "especially when old man Ryndale hacks the bill. But don't fret, son. If this goes well, you shall come in on the ground floor."

With which promise she took leave of her new ally, and walked briskly away from South Audley mansions, well pleased with her morning's work.

"She went straight back to the Ritz and wrote a few brief words to Mr. Carter. Having dispatched this, and Tommy not having yet returned— which did not surprise her—she started off on a shopping expedition. Starting with a cheap clothing store, and passing through one or two second-hand establishments, she had finished the day at a well-known haberdresser's. Now, in the seclusion of her bedroom, she unwrapped that final purchase. Five minutes later she smiled contentedly at her reflection in the glass.

With an actress' pencil she had slightly altered the line of her eyebrows, and that, taken in conjunction with the new luxuriant growth of fair hair above, so changed her appearance that she felt confident that even if she came face to face with Whittington he would not recognize her. From hospital experience she knew only too well that a nurse out of uniform is frequently unrecognized by her patients.

"Yes," said Tuppence aloud, nodding at the port reflection in the glass, "you'll do." She then resumed her normal appearance.

with a handling to the fastnesses of the ladies' waiting-room. Ten minutes later a metamorphosed Tuppence walked demurely out of the station and entered a bus.

It was a few minutes past eleven when Tuppence again entered the hall of South Audley mansions. Albert was on the lookout, attending to his duties in a somewhat desultory fashion. He did not immediately recognize Tuppence. When he did, his admiration was unbounded.

"Your voice, too," cried the delighted boy. "It's as English as anything! No, I said to a friend of mine, 'I know a young gal. Annie wasn't best pleased. She's stopped on till today—to oblige, she said, but really it's so as to put you against the place. Are you going up now, Miss? Step inside the lift. No, 20 did you say?' And he winked."

"Tuppence nodded him with a stern glance and stopped inside. As she rang the bell of No. 20 she was conscious of Albert's eyes slowly descending beneath the level of the floor.

"A smart young woman opened the door. 'I've come about the place,' said Tuppence.

"It's a rotten place," said the young woman without hesitation. "Regular old cat—always interfering. Accused me of tampering with her letters. Me! The flap was half undone anyway. She's a wrong 'un, that's what she is. Swell clothes, but no class. Cook knows something about her—but she won't tell—scared to death of her. And suspicious—I can tell you—"

"But what more Annie could tell, Tuppence was never destined to learn, for at that moment a clear voice with a peculiarly steely ring to it called: "Annie!"

The smart young woman jumped as if she had been shot. "Yes, ma'am." "Who are you talking to?" "It's a young woman about the situation, ma'am."

"Show her in then. At once." "Yes, ma'am."

Tuppence was ushered into a room on the right of the long passage. A woman was standing by the fireplace. She was no longer in her first youth, and the beauty she undeniably possessed was hardened and coarsened. In her youth she must have been dazzling. Her pale gold hair, owing a slight assistance to art, was coiled low on her neck, her eyes of a piercing electric blue seemed to possess a faculty of boring into the very soul of the person she was looking at. Her exquisite figure was enhanced by a wonderful gown of indigo charmeuse. And yet, despite her swaying grace, and the almost ethereal beauty of her face, you felt instinctively the presence of something hard and menacing, a kind of metallic strength that found expression in the tones of her voice and in that glint-like quality of her eyes.

For the first time Tuppence felt afraid. She had not feared Whittington, but this woman was different. As if fascinated, she watched the long, cruel line of the red, curving mouth, and again she felt that sensation of panic pass over her. Her usual self-confidence deserted her. Vaguely she felt that deceiving this woman would be very different to deceiving Whittington. Here, indeed, she might expect no mercy.

Mrs. Vandemeyer motioned to a chair. (Continued in Next Issue.)

To the Contrary. One evening, while waiting for my fiancé to take me out to dinner, some friends called. We began to discuss critics of clothes, and I said I never would marry anyone who was inclined that way; that my fiancé never criticized my clothes.

I always made my own hats, so had several to choose from. I was adorned in one of my own creations when the bell rang. I rushed to the door, all smiles. Homeo stepped in, took one look at me and, not seeing my guests, exclaimed: "I'll certainly not marry a woman who can buy your hats. That is the third one I have seen you wear in the last few weeks and each one homelier than the other, if such a thing is possible."

That certainly was my most embarrassing moment.—Chicago Tribune.

REVELATIONS OF MR. CONOCO —the most contented motorist in six states!

"Far be it from me— TO boast about the quick pick-up and mileage I'm getting these days. Naturally, I think pretty well of my car but candor compels me to hand a fair share of credit to the gas I'm using.

"If you haven't tried Conoco—well, your car hasn't had the chance to show itself, that's all!

"Conoco has a constant horsepower equivalent that you can rely on. It gets the full power your motor was designed to give. What's more, it does all the other things you expect of a good gasoline—instant start, quick pick-up and the full quota of miles per gallon.

"No fancy frills about Conoco, either—just clean, dependable, nicely balanced fuel that keeps the carburetor happy even on a thin mixture.

"One point, particularly, that I appreciate about Conoco is that it's available in practically every town and city in these mountain states."

WHEAT SUFFERS SETBACK

Word of Rain in Northwest Displeas Favorable Reports From Europe

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—Rain in the northwest tending to dispel fear that drought would damage the spring crop had a bearish effect on the wheat market today.

At first the wheat market showed something of an uptick in consequence of reports that likelihood of abundant crops in Europe had been nearly dropped by unfavorable weather.

Slowness of export demand acted as an additional handicap to the bull side of the wheat market. This was especially the case after receipt of a Paris dispatch that buyers in France were passing up the best wheat.

Readiness of hog buyers sustained the provision market.

DATE SET FOR HEARING UTAH SHERIFF'S APPEAL

Official Made Defendant in Ouster Case Based on Alleged Religious Intolerance Appeal

SALT LAKE, June 23 (AP)—Hearing set for July 9 by the supreme court of Utah on the special appeal of Sheriff Ben H. Harris from a decision by Judge William M. McCreary under which the latter assumed jurisdiction over the election held on behalf of a number of citizens who contested the election of the sheriff on the ground of religious intolerance contrary to the state laws.

The proceedings before the supreme court came in the form of a petition for a writ of prohibition to prevent the sheriff from taking further action in the case.

This was filed in time for hearing at the regular May session of the court, but owing to the illness of Justice J. E. Erick and the desirability of having all the justices pass on the important issue involved the case was continued until Justice Erick might be able to sit with the court.

Railroads Sag With Best of List After Early Strength Resulting From Harding's Speech

Day's total sales, 275,500 shares. Twenty railroads averaged 82.43; Dow Jones, 25. High, 1923, 105.38; low, 90.18.

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Irregular price movements characterized today's dull half holiday session of the street market.

Several large operators, who have been active recently, were away for the weekend, and those who remained appeared to be in the market for a few stock lots to buy them.

President Harding's Kansas City speech on transportation problems brought some buying power into the railroad group at the opening, but the list soon sagged with the rest of the market.

Some of the strong spots were Woodworth, Houston Oil, Harlow Corp., Atlantic Refining and West Pennsylvanian Power, up 2 to 3 points.

Tourists Encounter Difficult Highways

Parties Travelling Through Twin Falls Report Damage Being Done by Recent Rains

Touring the country in an automobile with all necessary camping equipment and stopping wherever and whenever one wishes, may be an enjoyable and valuable experience when roads are dry, but when it rains—that's a different matter.

Such is the unanimous opinion of a score of motorists who were at the Twin Falls tourist park Saturday. Most of them were carbound and had come either from the northwest or from the northeast. Their report was that roads which have fallen steadily in the Twin Falls district for more than a week have been equalled or far exceeded all over the state.

Expect Granting of Permit in Few Days

Await Action by Commission on Certificate For New Road; Local Report False

Developments concerning the Rogers-Wells railroad situation have been few and of little importance, at least in Twin Falls, during the last few days and indications are that the community has settled down for the present to await word from the interstate commission.

In the opinion of those who are most closely connected with the project word should be received from the commission next week, and it is firmly believed that the certificate will grant and that the Oregon Pacific will start to work at once, or as soon as the progress of the surveying work will permit.

In the opinion of Congressman Addison T. Smith, the questionnaire required by the commission will be filed by the railroad company probably on Monday.

Interest concerning the proposed highway work on the new road increased suddenly Saturday night when local citizens were informed that construction crews had left Twin Falls for Wells, where they would start work on the right of way.
