KLAN LECTURER AT CENTER OF NEAR DISORDER

Denver Official Stops Meeting When Outburst of Opposing Sentiment Follows Priest's Objection

DENVER, June 27 (AP)—Protests of an unidentified man in the gallery and a Catholic priest who wore his arms unfastened, caused Dr. W. Means, manager of safety, to disperse a seething crowd of approximately 600 persons who had gathered in the Denver auditorium to hear Ku Klux Klan speaker, when sentiment for and against the speaker threatened to cause a serious disorder. The 150 persons who were detailed to the meeting were scattered through the dispersing crowd by Mr. Means in order to prevent what appeared to be an impending outbreak.

Acts as Climax. Springing to his feet when the excitement reached its climax, Mr. Means ordered the meeting stopped. "As manager of safety I promised not to allow this meeting if there was any objection," Means shouted above the noise. "Since there has been an objection, I request that each person here leave the auditorium in a quiet and orderly manner."

Priest Gives Position. There was a short pause. Then a man in the gallery arose, indicating his objection. The crowd cheered. Then the Rev. Father Francis M. Walsh, assistant pastor of the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

SHIPS BRINGING EXCESS LIQUOR MAY BE SEIZED

Government Prepares to Take Extreme Measures in Enforcing Supreme Court Ban on Alcoholics Imports

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The government today proposed to take the extreme step necessary to bring the supreme court ban against liquor imports, of seizing ships which bring to this country in cargo of other foreign government-owned vessels, custom seals.

High government officials, at a series of conferences today, discussed the situation and steps necessary to enforce observance of the nation's prohibition laws as applied to foreign vessels within American territorial waters. A new treasury regulation was reported to have been drafted providing for additional direction to customs officers to seize all vessels found bringing in beverage liquors, even under foreign custom seals, after adequate notice to foreign governments of the new and more drastic policy.

Such Ships Enters Conference. No official announcement of the government's plan was made today. Information of the consideration of the ship seizure policy developed from the official conference. It was said, however, that an official statement on the question might be expected in a few days.

THREE VESSELS DEFY DRY RULE. Total of Foreign Ships Testing Prohibition Mounts to 13; Seizures Delayed. NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Three more foreign flag vessels, the Chicago of the French line, the Olympic of the White Star and the Cauder Saxonia, arrived in port today with their return supplies of liquor under government seals. This brings to 13 the total of arrivals to test the recent treasury department ruling prohibiting the carrying of liquor into United States ports. Of these the seals of only four have been broken so far. They are the Baltic, the Bregarin, the Paris and the Celtic.

Up to Diplomats. Representatives of lines here said today that the problem would be left for solution to diplomatic agents in Washington. The refusal to comment reports from Washington that a regulation prohibiting the bringing of liquor into United States ports under penalty of seizure and arrest of the captain, had been agreed upon.

DRUG ELICITS TRUE STORIES OF PRISONERS

Use of Alkaloid in Experiments Proves Condemned Murderer Innocent and Solves Other Mysteries

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., June 27 (AP)—Scolomina, an alcoholic, was used in experiments on three inmates of San Quentin prison here Tuesday as a result of which John L. Farrar, convicted of the murder of a Chinese in Sacramento, was proved innocent; Eugene O'Leary, a former service man, sentenced from Sacramento on a grand larceny charge, proved author of information as to his identity, and John L. Johnson, negro, admitted his guilt and confessed to participation in other crimes, according to the experimenters. Dr. R. E. House of Parris, Texas, conducted the experiments before several prison officials and criminal investigators.

Dr. House declared the scolomina rendered the subjects incapable of mental inhibition and deprived them of reasoning power so that they were incapable of lying while under its influence. Other faculties however, remained intact, he said.

Names Actual Slayer.

Farrar, while under the influence of the alkaloid, confessed that he participated in the attempted robbery of a Chinese merchant in Sacramento, during which the Chinaman was killed. Farrar was convicted of the man's murder. According to his story told while under the drug's influence, the fatal shot was fired by Roy Carver, an accomplice in the attempted robbery.

Much mystery had surrounded O'Leary's case. His court testimony and war department records disagreed widely. In the course of the case he is said to have supplied discrepancies and told of having died first in the Canadian army before America's entrance in the world war and later with the American forces as a member of the artillery. He declared he had been wounded five times while fighting in the Argonne forest, and granted to spots on his body where he had received the wounds. Physicians examined him and found wound scars.

Tells Life Story.

Johnson proved more talkative than the others. He recalled details of incidents of his career and admitted other criminal acts, according to the experimenters. He also admitted, they said, having served a term of imprisonment in the Louisiana penitentiary.

DIVA WINS DIVORCE SUIT

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Miss Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, was granted a decree of divorce from Lou Tellegen, her actor-husband by Justice John Tierney of the supreme court today. The decree was granted on recommendations of Referee Mahoney, who conducted the divorce hearing. Under the interlocutory decree Miss Farrar was permitted to resume her maiden name and was given the privilege to marry again. This privilege was denied Tellegen, who was directed to pay the costs of the action.

The decree will not become final until three months from today.

FISHERIES TREATY APPROVED.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27 (AP)—Approval of the North Pacific halibut fisheries treaty between the Canadian and United States governments was voted by the house of commons today after a heated debate in which the authority of Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine, to sign the treaty without the British ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, also signing the document, was questioned.

A rider attached to the treaty by the United States senate making it applicable to the nationals and vessels of "any other part of Great Britain," also was assailed.

GERMANS FACE DILEMMA.

DEESSELDORF, June 27 (AP)—German bankers and money changers in the occupied area find themselves placed between two fires by the Berlin government's order forbidding any but official bureaus to deal in foreign exchange and a new decree issued by General Dettlaff today annulling this order in the Ruhr, and forbidding German authorities to interfere with foreign exchange operations under a penalty of five years imprisonment and a fine of 2,000,000,000 marks.

Williams of Los Angeles, claiming as heirs of the late Alexander, a one-third interest in the $2,000,000 estate of Captain James Alexander, was dismissed in supreme court here today on the ground that it was "frivolous, vexatious and an abuse of the process of the court."

ADDITIONAL PIECES OF HUGE SKELETON FOUND.

Parts of Mastodon Remains Unearthed by W. C. Syster Lead to Belief That More May Be Discovered

Discovery of additional parts of the mastodon skeleton, unearthed in the sand dunes near Twin Falls, in the Snake river, leads to the belief that the complete skeleton will soon be found and that others may be buried nearby, according to W. C. Syster, proprietor of the soft drink stand at Shoshone falls.

Mr. Syster discovered the first few bones some weeks ago when working his placer gold claim near Twin Falls. Since that time more of the huge bones, a tusk and four teeth have been found and the collector is sufficiently urged to permit reconstruction of the entire skeleton.

The discovery of the teeth definitely established the fact that the animal was a mastodon or extinct elephant which existed many thousands of years ago, as the scientific description of the mastodon's teeth corresponds exactly with that discovered at the site. The grinding surfaces of three of the molars are concave, while that of the fourth is convex. All of the teeth have parallel ridges on top and considerable enamel is still left.

Some idea of the size of the prohibitive animal is indicated by a huge bone, evidently from the shoulder or thigh, which was found last Friday. This bone measured five feet by three feet. A five-foot section of the tusk which is eight inches in diameter and weighs 100 pounds, has just been found. The teeth weigh seven pounds each. Besides these Mr. Syster's collection includes a piece of the huge jawbone and several smaller fragments and whole pieces including toe bones.

The remains were discovered by Mr. Syster about 12 feet below the level of the sand and were found from the river. They were packed by him 1000 feet up the canyon.

Mr. Syster has gotten in touch with the Smithsonian institute and informed them of his discoveries. He will continue his search after the level of the river recedes somewhat.

ELECTRICIANS TO MEET ELKS

Game This Evening Promises Plenty of High Class Baseball For Local Fans.

When the Elks and Electricians clash this evening in their regular scheduled game at Athletic park, the fans will get a taste of some real baseball.

Manager Boone of the purple and white team, sees a chance to get into a tie for first place by beating the wire men this evening, and will put forth his best efforts in trying to down the league leading Electricians.

Jimmie Hallman of the Electricians is one of the best teams in the league under his wing, and Jimmie is one of those fellows who thinks that his men should win every game. So when it is all said and done, it looks as though tonight's battle will turn out to be the settling of the question, "Can Boone out guess Hallman?"

Hallman used Krenzel last Monday evening in the Bankers' game, figuring on Laval Jarman for the Elks, and Boone will find some real competition in trying to beat the high school pitcher. Jarman will be on the receiving end for the juice artists.

Jay Hodgins, the lad who pitched such a pretty game last week, will be seen in the box for the Elks, and a real pitchers' battle should be the result when Jarman and Hodgins clash. "Grandpa" Thomas will wear the muck for the Elks.

There are four postponed games to be played off before the first half of the season ends, and next week the fans will have another extra game or two.

The first postponed game to be played off will be the Banks-Electricians game which was scheduled for May 29. The Legion-Elks game of May 31 is the second one on the docket. Then the Banks and Elks have a tie game of June 12 that needs attention, and the last of the postponed games is the one between the Elks and Legion which was scheduled for June 19.

All twilight games start at 6:15.

The season's three-year-old champion, Zev, was injured by a stone, and while the injury is not serious, his trainer said he probably would keep the colt out of competition for some time.

Money for Dempsey Declared in Sight

Great Falls Banker Expresses Confidence That No Last Minute Hitch Will Develop

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 27. (AP)—Expressing himself as hopeful that the $100,000 Jack Dempsey as the final installment of the $300,000 guarantee to fight Tommy Gibbons July 4 would be in sight tomorrow, George H. Stanton, a Great Falls banker, declared tonight that the money would be raised without a doubt before July 2, the date the amount is due Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

Stanton, who advanced $50,000 to help make the payment of the second $100,000 installment to Kearns 10 days ago, said that efforts were being made to have the money advanced by the Great Northern railroad. If this proposal failed, the business men and bankers of Great Falls would be asked to advance it.

"We raised the second $100,000 for Dempsey without much effort and it is my belief that you will not have much trouble getting the final installment," Mr. Stanton said. "All we need to make the show a success is the final installment for Dempsey."

Dempsey Continues Work

With Manager Kearns in Shelby in the interest of the motion pictures and other financial engagements, Dempsey continued training today, boxing six rounds with a trio of light sparring partners, and doing other exercises that made up a workout equivalent to nine rounds.

The champion drove his feet at the flying punching bag for two rounds and then went through a round of shadow boxing before pulling on the gloves with Billy Wells. Dempsey tried hard to keep his punches elastic and confine himself to defensive work, but several times the furious attacks of the British welterweight drew counter blows.

Wells attacked from every angle, flinging swings and hooks with either hand. He tried to come on under Dempsey's guard and resorted to jabbing apparatus when the swings failed.

Much of the time Wells was successful in reaching Dempsey's right crosses and left hooks, but the title holder nailed him six times in the two rounds with solid punches to the chin and rights to the body which made him hang on for a few seconds.

Beats Wells to Punch

Dempsey attempted to make Wells lead, and catching him off balance, would beat him to the punch with a sharp cross to the chin or shoot his right to the body.

Two rounds with Lee Moore, a 126 pounder from Los Angeles, and another two rounds with Connie Curry, the Sioux City heavyweight, comprised the rest of Dempsey's boxing. While boxing Moore, Dempsey cut loose several times, driving him into the ropes. A right hand knocked Moore's left eye in the first round, opening a wound in the lid a half inch long. Dempsey wanted Moore to quit at the end of the round, but he insisted on stepping two rounds with the champion, and emerged with another cut under his chin.

Due to the downpour of rain last night, the canvas covered floor of the outdoor ring was heavy and slippery, and Dempsey, as well as his sparring partners, had difficulty in retaining their footing.

Fight Pictures Contract Closed

Los Angeles Firm Pays $5,000 to Film Championship Contenders in Action at Shelby

SHELBY, Mont., June 27. (AP)—The contract for taking the pictures of the Gibbons-Dempsey fight was sold for $5,000 to a Los Angeles company tonight, it was announced. After haggling all day with local officials, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, turned his interest in the film announced as 35 per cent of the proceeds into the hands of Mayor Loy J. Mohrby, American Legion commander, Eddie Kimo, Gibbons' manager, and Mike Collins, matchmaker, for disposal as they saw fit. Kearns said he believed it was "still uncertain" at this time, whether the money would be available. Until there is a break of contract, which does not provide for payment of the third $100,000 until July 2, he will go ahead with plans for the fight, he declared.

Displays Skeptical Smile

Kearns came to Shelby, ostensibly to settle the question of motion picture rights, which had been hanging over the fight since it was announced that no agreement had been reached as to the price the picture rights are to be sold for, to whom the contract is to be awarded and when the deal is to be consummated. In response to a point blank question, Kearns said, Johnson had told him the final $100,000 of the guarantee would be paid. The champion's manager smiled skeptically, however, and asserted that he had not been informed as to what sources the money was to come from nor how it was to be raised.

Curtains for Herman

For the first time since he began training, Gibbons knocked a sparring partner into semi-consciousness, Timmy "Kid" Herman, Los Angeles pugilist, stepped into a short right that crashed squarely on his jaw. He threw out his arms and clinched as his knees sagged and he dropped. Gibbons held him up for a moment until his head cleared and in a few seconds the round ended. Jimmy Delaney was missing badly against the "Kid" in the eighth round. A final light heavyweight gave Gibbons considerable action, knocking a left into the latter's face repeatedly. The challenger, however, doubled back after blow after blow, and in the second round he backed Delaney against the ropes and hooked a left that sent him reeling backwards.

COUNTS ROAD OUT

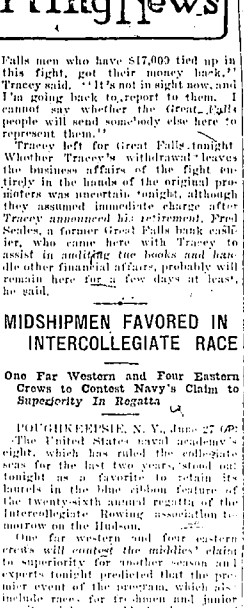

ST. PAUL, June 27. (AP)—Published reports that the Great Northern railroad "probably" would come in the region financially by the "Big Money" Gibbons fight at Shelby, were met tonight by a statement from William B. Kenney, vice-president, that he regarded such action "as altogether improbable."

TRACEY QUILTS PROMOTERS

Great Falls Man Chooses to Handle Business Management for Shelby Battle, Expresses Disaffection. SHELBY, Mont., June 27. (AP)—Dan Tracey, pioneer Great Falls mining man and hotel owner, withdrew suddenly tonight to identify himself as executive in charge of the business management of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. Tracey said his withdrawal was due to his inability to identify himself as executive capital put into the promotion at the time the $100,000 installment was paid. Mayor Jim Johnson, treasurer of the fight, said Tracey's withdrawal would not prevent the holding of the bout. Tracey was placed in charge of the business management of the fight 15 days ago at the request of Great Falls business men who contributed to the $100,000 installment due Dempsey at the time when it appeared that the money would not be raised.

"I came here to see that the Great Falls men who have $17,000 tied up in this fight, got their money back," Tracey said. "It's not in my nature and I'm going back to report to them. I cannot say whether the Great Falls people will send somebody else here to represent them."

FLYERS FALL TO DEATH

Hundreds of Denver Residents Witness Crash That Costs Lives of Bert Cole and His Mechanic.

DENVER, June 27. (AP)—Bert Cole, widely known aviator, and George Lacey, his mechanic, were instantly killed here this evening when their plane crashed from a height estimated at 2,500 to 3,000 feet. The plane was in flight when spectators and the police ambulance arrived at the scene of the crash in the eastern part of the city. The bodies of both men were crushed beyond recognition. The two flies had been in the air about an hour, having started from the Curtis-Humphrey landing field. They had been doing smart flying and had headed back toward the field when the pilot evidently decided to try one more stunt. Hundreds of residents who were watching the plane as it came upward, then one wing was seen to break loose and the machine began a sudden dive earthward. It turned over twice in mid-air and landed on its nose at the edge of a small corn field in a sparsely inhabited part of the city.

The correspondent adds, but is prepared to do his best.

MINE CONSPIRACY CASE TO BE TAKEN IN COURT

Attorney General Daugherty Announces Purpose to Obtain Hearing on Charges Against Operators and Men

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27. (AP)—An indictment charging 127 mine operators and mine union heads and 99 corporations with conspiracy in restraint in the production and sale of bituminous coal, returned by the federal grand jury in the United States district court here on February 24, 1920, to February 25, 1921, will be taken in federal court tomorrow before Judge A. B. Anderson. It was announced tonight by Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States. While Mr. Daugherty declined to state what action the government would take, the opinion was advanced in federal circles that the case will be dismissed, perhaps with some action to prevent the government's should it desire to take action in similar cases later.

Kindness in Business.

It is a great privilege to have an opportunity many times a day, in the course of your business, to do kindness which is not too paid for. In ancient times star lore was handed down from one nation to another. Where it started no one knows, for astronomy was the first groping of man for truth. "I was thinking of a noodle."

AVIATORS TAKE FUEL IN FLIGHT

Army Flying Team Is Forced Down Early In Course But Scores Notable Feat

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 27 (AP)—Forced to descend today after less than six hours in the air, but having accomplished the notable feat of refueling twice in mid-air, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter, army aviators, will start tomorrow morning in another effort to break or establish a aviation record. The burning out of a generator caused the aviators to bring them to the Hawaiian Islands after flying five hours and 41 minutes after taking off.

Hardly had the machine touched the ground, before the two officers were in consultation with Major Henry Arnold, commandant at Honolulu, regarding a new effort to stay aloft four days and four nights.

Second Attempt Scheduled.

The second attempt is scheduled to begin about 1:30 a. m. tomorrow. Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter are confident they will succeed, that they will be successful. They base their hopes largely on the work that was done today in taking 80 gallons of gasoline aboard their plane from another airplane while both were racing through the air at the rate of 80 miles an hour.

Gasoline was taken aboard the new plane twice. Lieutenants Virgil Richter and Frank Seifert took the refueling machine off at 9:15 a. m. and a few minutes later it was returning along the course of the De Havilland in which were Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter.

Tense Moments For Watchers.

The racing plane flew beneath the refueling ship and then came a tense moment for the spectators. The suction of air from the heavy propeller of the racing machine tilted the fuel ship dangerously. Its pilot, however, soon righted the plane and Lieutenant Richter, in the lower machine, seized an end of the 45 foot hose which dangled from the refueling tank. At the first attempt the hose was torn from his hand, but he soon had it again in his grasp and a second later he had inserted it in the De Havilland reserve tanks. In less than two minutes about 20 gallons of gasoline had been taken aboard and the machines quickly separated.

Leak Involves Danger.

The second refueling was accomplished about 15 minutes later and with as much ease, apparently, as the first. It was learned later, however, that as the hose was taken from the reserve tank a shower of gasoline, possibly several quarts, whirled back in the terrific current created by the propeller. It sprayed all over the back of the racing ship, but did not come near the engine of the motor, and there was no sign of fire.

was not conducting a campaign against a burst of cheering and applause followed shouting, cat-calls and cries of "down."

Minor attempted to still the crowd, but in vain. Fifty more in the audience jumped to their feet. Among them was the Rev. Father Thomas F. Kelly, also an assistant pastor of the cathedral. Father Kelly also was in uniform. He was a chaplain of the seventh seventh division cavalry.

Father Walsh attempted to proceed with a speech but was drowned out by the crowd. Minor left the stage. At that point Means ordered the meeting stopped.

Stink Bombs Used.

Father Walsh explained afterward that he intended to give the speaker if the Klan holds a cathedral, house and negro should be denied the rights of American citizenship.

Minor explained at what was to be the beginning of his address that he any race, creed or color, and that his address would not be "anti anything."

An offending odor filled the auditorium, the crowd clamored out over the seats. Those well toward the stage jammed the outgoing hundreds as the odor was intensified. "Stink bombs" were said to be scattered through the hall and to be scattered through the hall.

The use of the auditorium was granted to the Klan speaker by Mayor Stapleton over the protest of Governor Sweet, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and several other delegations which visited him this morning.

Ample Notice To Be Given.

If the new treasury regulations ample notice will be given foreign should be promulgated, it was stated, government and foreign shipping lines.

The Valstead law's ship seizure provision, it was explained in official quarters, has not been invoked for several reasons, among them a reluctance to act in any way which might precipitate serious disputes with foreign governments.

If ships of foreign lines, officials declared, continue to come to American ports with liquor aboard, they will be ordered to return to the court to protect their alleged rights, some effective step to deal with the situation is necessary. A ship, seizure, it is believed, would provide promptly the first case deflected by foreign owners to be desired.

Only one protest from a foreign representative has been forwarded to Washington and no test case has been brought despite the almost daily docking of vessels carrying liquor in violation of the supreme court ruling.

FRANCE TAKES PHILOSOPHICAL VIEW OF LIQUOR SEIZURE

PARIS, June 27. (AP)—Officials of the French line are awaiting further details from their New York agents regarding the seizure of liquor aboard the steamship Paris before deciding what the next step shall be. The only report thus far received is that the seizure took place, but that enough wine was left for the crew. It was stated at the foreign office today that the government probably would make no further representations unless asked to do so by the French line directors.

The directors met this afternoon but took no action. The general manager of the line said he had received no further details and did not expect any until the Paris returned to Havre, when the captain evidently regarded the matter as of too little consequence to report by cable.

The directors and management generally appeared to take the seizure philosophically.

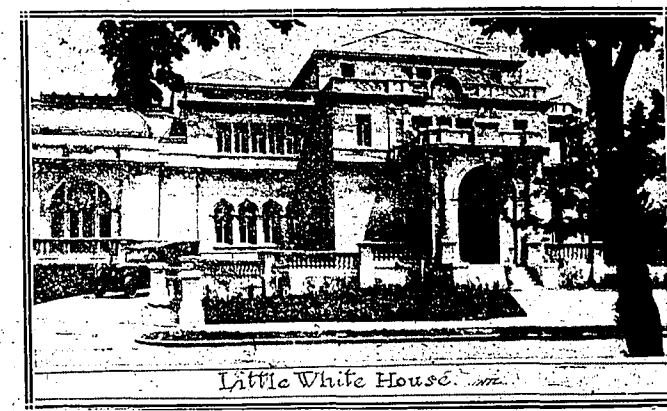

JAPANESE SHIP CAPTAIN PROTESTS AGAINST SEIZURE

HONOLULU, June 27. (AP)—Captain K. Watanabe of the Toyo Kisen Kai-ka liner Korea Maru, from which American customs officers removed 225 quarts of liquor yesterday, under the "dry ship" ruling of the United States supreme court, today protested vainly against the seizure.

The captain indicated a certain word of international element in the situation when he called attention to the fact that, although his vessel was a Japanese registry, she had cleared for a British port, Hong Kong, for San Francisco and that, under British board of trade regulations, she had to carry as part of her clearance certain gallons of brandy and eight gallons of wine for each 100 lives aboard.

Dr. E. A. Sweet, chief quarantine officer at Honolulu, ruled, however, that 25 quarts of liquor was sufficient medical supply to carry the vessel to San Francisco, and in doing so he said that he had taken full cognizance of the 779 persons aboard, the tonnage of the ship, the race of her passengers, the race of her surgeon and possible emergencies such as shipwreck in which medicinal liquor would be a necessity.

Following Dr. Sweet's decision, the Korea Maru cleared for San Francisco with her 25 quarts of liquor aboard. Captain Watanabe took a receipt from the customs officials for the 225 quarts that had been seized.

The jury also recommended the police continue their search for the male companion of the "smiling" bandit, who is arrested, hold him on a similar charge.

DECLARES AMERICA IS HELD UP FOR NITRATES

Investigator Reports Combination of British and Chilean Interests Controls Prices and Output

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—A combination of British and Chilean interests is controlling prices and production of nitrate and forcing the United States, which buys half the nitrate exported from Chile, to pay higher prices than are warranted, according to Charles J. Brand, marketing specialist of the department of agriculture.

After a study of the situation in Europe, Mr. Brand has made a report in which he asserts that control of prices for Chilean nitrate practically rests with a London committee made up of representatives of British nitrate houses.

"In consequence of the existence of a producers' association controlling about 97 per cent of the output, and the methods of operation pursued thereunder," says Mr. Brand, "competition which might force efficiency and economy and the production of the fertilizer is virtually eliminated, and the United States is left without any say as to the price. The present method of price fixing affords no incentive to efficient production and thus keeps prices higher than they need be."

STABILIZED PROFITEERING

Bricklayers in New York have won their strike to stabilize wages at $12 a day for the next two years.
Suppose this example were followed in other cities, and in other building trades. Suppose all building wages were fixed at their highest point level with a guarantee of keeping them there until the summer of nineteen twenty-five.

Suppose, then, that capital took its cue from labor, and prices of all building materials were likewise stabilized at their peak for the next two years.

The result is easy to forecast.
People are having difficulty enough in paying for houses, and other structures at present wages and prices.
With a prospect of no alleviation for two years, what would they do?

The consuming public, which is to pay the building public, which provides the money for the labor and materials, would go on strike itself.
That strike would last for two years, and as such longer as might be required to bring costs down to a reasonable level.

The building industry, on both sides, has done too much profiteering already for its own good, not to mention the good of the public.

MORE FARM COMPETITION

Russia will have wheat to export this fall, but the American farmer need not worry him.
The complete breakdown of the country's railway system will militate against any great volume of sales to other European countries, and those whose government are reasonably stable are not particularly anxious to deal with the Reds. The news from India means more.

The British government has just approved the Sukkur Barrage, a fifty-million dollar irrigation project that ranks as one of the greatest undertakings of this nature ever considered. It will add three million acres to the wheat lands of the Punjab and will treble the available cotton acreage of the district within the next decade.
Inasmuch as that section is free from the boll weevil and is adapted to the cultivation of American, Egyptian and other long staple varieties, the development is particularly significant.

Farming is next to home-making,
the biggest business in the nation, and we should hope that it always will be. But farming, like every other industry, must become always more and more efficient if it is to be profitable.
In manufacturing and commerce we can reasonably expect to hold our own against all comers, in view of the barren land on Europe by the war.
The backward lands, however, promise to be increasingly serious competitors in the production of the world's food for the next generations.

HEAVY TAXES

Taxation, national, state and local,
is costing the American people one dollar out of every seven they earn.
It is a staggering burden, to a people not accustomed to such levies. And a good deal of it is doubtless unnecessary. Yet it may be questioned whether most of the kicking is justified.

The real question about taxation is not how much it amounts to, in total or in percentage of income, but what the taxpayer gets for his money. Consider that for a minute.
Is one-seventh of a family income really too large a proportion to pay for schools, police and fire protection, improved streets and roads, sewers, water mains, courts of justice, librarpostal facilities, the protection of an army and navy and state militia, the support and administration of various kinds of public works and charitable enterprises, such supervision as is necessary over public service corporations, weather reports, agricultural reports and advice and all the other useful activities of government!

Ask the man who earns seven thousand dollars a year whether he would willingly dispense with all of these public services and keep his one thousand dollars of tax money.
Of course he wouldn't. For what use would any of his seven thousand dollars be to him?

Sound criticism of the nine billion or ten billion a year that the nation pays for government would deal with appropriations for foolish and unnecessary purposes, and with the wasting of money by executives through unbusinesslike methods. It is a question of efficiency. Efficient government is worth whatever it costs.

IS THERE PRACTICAL WAY TO GET RATE REDUCTIONS?

In our labors for reclamation and allied developments including railroad, we have had in mind not only reclamation of the desert but of the dollar as well. With that thought, we have made a study of marketing and transportation problems in the hope of aiding those who have come onto our land, to stay there profitably.

At we view it, one of the surest ways not to seek—

- 1. Needed lowering of costs of transportation to our agricultural products.
2. Needed additional transportation already planned for Idaho, is to adopt one or all of the following policies with relation to the railroad system serving us:
a. Antagonism and anger.
b. Political propaganda, either personal or party.
c. Organization of public opposition.

On the other hand the surest way to secure what we need is represented by the following combination:

- 1. Cooperation.
2. Temperate and constructive criticism and suggestion.
3. Recognition of all the elements involved in rate making.

It seems to be entirely business-like, before shippers of Idaho enter into any organized rate activity, that they have a clear conception of what can be done, so their cash and efforts will not be placed against the performance of the impossible. They should know what is possible. They should know how it may be accomplished and how it may be brought about in order that they may move allegiantly against success and gain without approval and support from any activity likely to be unsuccessful. They should know the prospects of pulling some other interests' chestnuts out of the fire, and possibly produce great injury, for—
1. The shipper must pay the rid-dler who is not in their behalf.
2. The shippers must pay the cost of resistance on the part of the carriers, which becomes part of their expense of doing business.

3. The shippers of Idaho are not in position to advance their coin merely for the "fun of a fight," although justified in joining in any legitimate effort, sane and unselfishly premised, giving promise of results.

It is obvious, therefore, that every agitation must be scrutinized closely to avoid the possibility of preventing the success of plans under consideration that will work to our advantage if not agitated out of business or sidetracked by hasty and undigested action.

No Locality Can Settle It

This is unanswerable—the carrier structure on rates is knitted together that any adjustments affect territory far removed from local consideration. Whatever Idaho may secure will be general in scope and application.
Our markets are touched by a variety of railroad systems. The connecting lines can be reached, as to rates, either through the interstate commerce commission or through the friendly action of the system directly concerned. Whatever Idaho may secure will be general in scope and application.

It must also be remembered that the interstate commerce commission is limited in its powers. It cannot depress rates to a point that would diminish volume and thereby deny a fair return. A fight for lower agricultural rates would invite opposition of all other classes of shippers who realize they might be called upon to bear the difference. Such a fight would be prolonged and costly. Railroads, cooperating with lines that directly serve us would naturally fight for their own localities to the last ditch.

Such a fight may be forced upon us, but because of the effort and expense, if their is any other way available from appeal to the interstate commerce commission at this time, is it not the part of wisdom to adopt it?

An outstanding reason is that after such action is started no concession or negotiations can be entertained until that action is disposed of.
It is undoubted that the railroad systems directly serving us are seeking adjustments so they can lower rates on farm products.
They hope to be able to do this without incurring the risk of subjecting their whole revenue base to the decision through the activities of other shippers of class commodities in behalf of establishment of their rates on the relatively low base.

Profit In Sitting Tight

In view of all the conditions, wisdom seems to dictate that this is the best of all things for sitting still. Instead of precipitating the political agitations, pending the development of conferences now proceeding, any fight with the carriers themselves, if not actually preventing fulfillment of plans, will be sure to call into full play the opposition to us possibility of suspension of plans now under consideration. There is, indeed, a very real danger that in an effort to accomplish rate reductions we will call into being an opposition that will effectively prevent or delay us. It is always easier to start a fight than it is to be patient, and there are times when it is necessary to himself something quite different down here, but was doctor answered at once. Mr. Whittington perhaps?

'That's the fellow,' replied. 'What's he doing down here? Don't tell me, his nerves are out of order'
'Doctor Hall laughed. 'No. He came down to see one of my nurses, Nurse Edith, who is a nice girl, all right. It was funny that I exclaimed, 'Is she still here?' 'No, he went back to town almost immediately.' 'What a pity!' I ejaculated. 'But perhaps I should speak to his niece—Nurse Edith, did you say her name was?
'But the doctor shook his head.
'I'm afraid that, too, is impossible.
Nurse Edith left with a patient tonight also.' 'I seem to be real unlucky,' I remarked. 'Have you Mr.
Whittington's address in town? I guess I'd like to look him up when I get home. I don't know his address.
I can write to Nurse Edith for it, if you like.' I thanked him. 'Don't say who it is I want it. I'd like to give him a little surprise.'

'That was about all I could do for the moment.' Of course, if the girl was really Whittington's niece, she might be too cut up to fall into the trap, but it was worth trying. My foot soon got all right. I said goodbye to the little doctor chap, asked him to send me word if he heard from Nurse Edith, and came right away back to town. Six weeks later, I saw you're looking mighty well.
'It's Tommy,' said Tuppence.
'What can have happened to him?'
'Buck up; I guess he's all right really. Why shouldn't he be? See here, it was a foreign-looking guy he went off after. Maybe they've gone abroad—to Poland, or something like that.'

Tuppence shook her head. 'I've seen that man, Boris, sometimes, since.
He dined with Mrs. Vandemeyer last night.'
'Mrs. Who?'
'Of course you don't know all that.'

'I'm listening,' said Julius, and gave vent to his favorite expression.
'Put me wise.'
Tuppence thereupon related the events of the last two days. Julius' astonishment and admiration were unbounded.

'Bully for you! Fancy you a manial. It just tickles me to death.'
Then he added seriously: 'But say, now, I don't like it, Miss Tuppence, I sure don't. These crooks were up against you'd soon croak a girl as a man's doing business.'

'Oh, bother, me!' said Tuppence impatiently. 'Let's think about what can have happened to Tommy. I've written to Mr. Carter about it,' she added, and told him the gist of her letter.

Julius nodded gravely.
'I guess that's as far as it goes. But it's for us to get busy and do something. I guess I'd better get on the track of Boris. You say he's been to your place. Is he likely to come again?'

'He might, I really don't know.'
'I'll see. Well, I guess I'd better buy a car. Carters, you know, is a chauffeur and hang about outside.
Then if Boris comes, you could make some kind of signal, and I'd trail him. How's that?'

'Splendid, but he mightn't come for weeks.
'You've a chance that. I'm glad you like the plan so far.
'Where are you going?'

'To buy the car, of course,' replied Julius, surprised. 'I'll be round in it in half an hour.'
'You're awfully good, Julius. But I can't help feeling that it's rather a forlorn hope. I'm really pinning my faith to Mr. Carter. By the way, I forgot to tell you of a queer thing that happened this morning.'

And she narrated her encounter with Sir James Peel Edgerton. Julius was interested.
'What did the guy mean, do you think he asked?'

'I don't quite know,' said Tuppence meditatively. 'But I think that, in an ambiguous, legal, without prejudicial lawyer's way, he was trying to warn me.'
'Why should he? See here, we don't want any lawyers mixed up in this. That guy couldn't help us any.'

'Why not? He could,' reiterated Tuppence obstinately.
'Don't you think it. So long. I'll be back in half an hour.'
Thirty-five minutes had elapsed when Julius returned. He took Tuppence by the arm, and walked her to a window.

'There it is.
'Oh,' said Tuppence with a note of reverence to her voice, as she gazed down at the enormous car.
Friday and Saturday passed uneventfully. Tuppence had received a brief answer to her appeal from Mr.
Carter. In it he pointed out that the Young Adventurers had undertaken the young houses, were risk, and had been fully warned. 'If anything had happened to Tommy, he would have regretted it deeply, but he could do nothing.'

This was cold comfort. It seemed to the girl that, for the first time, she realized the sinister character of the ed in vain. Tuppence gave herself over to new meditations. 'Whilst admitting the truth of Julius' objection, she had nevertheless not entirely relinquished the idea of appealing to Sir James Peel Edgerton. Indeed, she had gone so far as to look up his address in the Red Book. Had he meant to warn her that day? If so, why? Tuppence decided, with her usual shake of the shoulders, it was worth trying, and try it she would.

Sunday was her afternoon out. She would meet Julius, persuade him to bring the lion in his den.

When the day arrived, Julius needed a considerable amount of persuading, but Tuppence held firm. 'It can do no harm,' was what she always came back to. In the end Julius gave in, and they proceeded in the car to Carter's house.

The door was opened by an irreproachable butler. 'Tuppence felt a little nervous. She had decided not to ask if Sir James was 'at home,' but to adopt a more personal attitude.
'Will you ask Sir James if I have an important message for him.'

The butler retired, returning a moment or two later.
'Sir James will see you. Will you step this way?'

He ushered them into a room at the back of the house, furnished as a library. The collection of books was a magnificent one, and Tuppence noticed that all one wall was devoted to works on crime and criminology.
There were several deep-padded leather arm-chairs, and an old-fashioned open-hearth. In the window was a big wicker desk, strewn with papers at which the master of the house was sitting.

He rose as they entered.
'You have a message for me?
Ah?'—he recognized Tuppence with a amilo—'It's you, is it? Bring a message from Mrs. Vandemeyer, I suppose?'

'Not exactly,' said Tuppence. 'In fact, I'm afraid I only said that to be quite sure of getting in. Oh, by the way, this is Sir Herschelmer, Sir James Peel Edgerton.'

'Pleased to meet you,' said the American, shooting out a hand.
'Won't you both sit down?' asked Sir James. He drew forward two chairs.

MONTANA BANKER-FREED

Federal Court Jury Acquits G. L. Ramsey of Charge of Making False Reports to Comptroller

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 27, (AP)—George L. Ramsey, head of the Helena bank corporation of Montana, was acquitted by a jury in the United States district court here today of the charge of making false entries in reports to the comptroller of the currency.

Otto Hamstead, former cashier of the First National bank of Poplar, Mont., was acquitted, Ramsey, also was acquitted, and a second charge against Ramsey was dismissed, on motion of the United States district attorney.

The charges were based upon a loan of $15,000 made by the Helena bank corporation to the Poplar bank, with the stipulation that a credit balance in the banking business be maintained in the Helena bank. The government maintained that the transaction did not involve actual passing of the money and was a subterfuge to build up the apparent reserve of the Poplar bank.

The indictment of Ramsey was a sensation in Montana where he had engaged in the banking business for 25 years and was one of the best known men of the state. At present he is treasurer of the Central Copper Co. of New York.

ROYALISTS GO TO JAIL

Leader of French Camelots, Draws Four Months' Term For Ordering Attacks on Socialists

PARIS, June 27, (AP)—Charles Maurras, chief lieutenant to Leon Daudet, royalist leader, was sentenced to four months in jail today for his alleged responsibility in ordering the recent attacks by members of the Camelots du Roi (king's peddlers) on the socialist deputies, Camille Sanguier and Maurice Viollette, former minister of justice.

M. Maurras, who was chief editor of the royalist newspaper, L'Action Francaise, was recently an unsuccessful candidate for a seat in the French assembly, being defeated by Charles C. A. Jonnard. The sentence pronounced upon him came as a great surprise to political and legal circles, which were expecting merely a severe warning or suspended sentence.

Three members of the Camelots, charged with the actual assault upon the socialists, were given three months each.
