WORK EXPLAINS NEW PLANS FOR AIDING FARMER

Former Idaho Governor as New Head of Reclamation Service Is Expected to Help Settlers Pay Debts

ON BOARD President Harding's Special Train, Helena, Mont., June 29, (AP)—Secretary Work of the interior department explained today that his reasons for accepting the "resignation" of A. P. Davis, former director of the reclamation service, were to effect a reorganization of that service in a way that would eliminate the need for "the engineers" and replace one of them with a man who could "help the farmers on the reclamation of lands," as the department of agriculture has been aiding the farmers of the country for years.

Seeks to Aid Settlers. "I have Mr. Davis' resignation," Mr. Work said. "We don't need two engineers in charge of the reclamation service. In the future the service head will be known as the chief of the bureau of reclamation and will be qualified first to aid the farmers rather than supervise engineering works on the projects. D. W. Davis, former governor of Idaho, is the man who I have appointed him as the office of director and placed F. E. Weymouth, former assistant chief of engineer of the bureau."

Explaining the need for the reorganization, Mr. Work asserted that the government has expended in the reclamation project of the country $135,000,000; had received only $15,000,000 from the farmers in turn and there was $9,000,000 now due the government, which the farmers could not pay.

Protests to Wait. Regarding the protests filed at the interior department by engineers and water power interests and organizations, Mr. Work said he would not give them his attention until he received the "word" from the men where he is going as a member of President Harding's party.

M. S. BROWNING DIES SUDDENLY

Heart Affection Proves Fatal to Widely Known Utah Capitalist and Financier

OGDEN, June 29 (AP)—Matthew S. Browning, widely known Utah capitalist and financier, dropped dead today in an office in a downtown building, following an attack of heart trouble. Mr. Browning, who was 63 years old, was the brother of John M. Browning, Sr., and inventor of the first automatic rifle. Despite protests of his family and friends, Mr. Browning, who had been falling in health for several months, carried on actively in his business pursuits, and this served to hasten the attack which today brought his death, physicians said.

From a woman many years ago in the marriage of his father, which has grown into the establishment of Browning Brothers, gun manufacturers, which he operated jointly with his brother, Matthew Browning rose to a leading position in Utah industry. He received his education in the common schools of Ogden. His parents were members of one of the first handcart companies to cross the plains to the west. Sugar Company Director. Mr. Browning was president of the Utah-Idaho Central railroad, and a director in numerous western concerns, including the Utah Construction company, the Amalgamated Sugar company, the Oregon Lumber company, the Utah Power and Light company, and the Mount Hood railway. He was a leader in Ogden club circles. Mr. Browning was the father of Marjorie A. Browning, who with John M. Browning, Jr., was connected with murder in connection with the slaying of John F. Ballantyne, the gun inventor's son-in-law, in Salt Lake City last April 24. His estate is valued at about $25,000, which was signed by his father, was the first to reach his father after his death today. The late financier is survived by a widow and four children. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today.

Court Accords Wide Latitude to Dog as Moving Picture Star

Decides Animal May Wear Cap on Tail or Bend Trouser's Without Inciting to Crime

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—The supreme court today decided that a bomb may be tied to a dog's tail, that the dog may be thrown from an airplane, that he may land comfortably in a river and remove an important portion from a gentleman's trousers; and that he may do all this without incurring the crime of becoming a public nuisance—in the movies. The decision was rendered in the case of a picture owned by the state motion picture commission.

FREIGHT RATES PROBE ORDERED

Commerce Commission to Seek Information on Long and Short Haul Charges

WASHINGTON, June 29, (AP)—An investigation to determine to what degree and under what circumstances railroads have made freight rates which involve transportation of commodities over long distances at a less charge than is made on smaller shipments over the same lines for shorter distances was instituted today by the interstate commerce commission. The commission's action is in compliance with a resolution of the senate, passed in March, which requires railroads to report as to such rates.

Rates which result in the application of a charge greater for short hauls than for long hauls—over the same line and in the same direction—are declared unlawful by the fourth section of the interstate commerce act, except in such instances as they may be approved by the interstate commerce commission. Permission to disregard the section has been obtained by railroads in a number of cases, usually those in which a railroad system operates a circuitous route between two points which is also served by a more direct line. The longer line then has been permitted to make rates equal to those of its competitors on through traffic, even while its rates to intermediate points have been held up to higher levels.

Another source of violations of the section has been found in the reduction of rates by railroads to meet water competition, at seacoast and river terminals, intermediate points being left with rates which are in some cases higher for partial hauls than those charged on shipments which move much farther.

FRANCE BITES DEEPER INTO GERMAN FLANK

Tri-Color Is Hoisted Over Hohen-Sysburg as Penalty for Sniping of Troops from Unoccupied Territory

ESSEN, June 29 (AP)—The French tri-color was flying today over Hohen-Sysburg, one of the foremost historical points in the Ruhr situated at the confluence of the Louisa river. This occupation of additional territory was taken as a penalty because of the frequent sniping from unoccupied German points French troops and sentries near the frontier.

Hohen-Sysburg's promontory is topped with a castle built in 1247 and a huge monument to German victorious army of 1871. It commands the surrounding country for a mile around and the rivers Ruhr and Lene for several miles. The French say it was used as a snipers' nest.

halt Wedding Festival. The French entered the town this morning while a big wedding was in progress. The chief of police, one of the principal guests, was arrested by the French, causing a halt in the festivities. Hohen-Sysburg has no industries or manufacturing plants.

The scene of the French extension of the occupation area is far removed from the Ruhr, being along the eastern edge of the Mayence bridgehead, the southernmost of the three bridgeheads established along the German border under the armistice and the treaty of Versailles. It results in the pushing forward slightly of the French line northeast of Mayence town and the big city of Frankfurt, which the French military front now closely approaches both on the north and south.

POINCARÉ STIRS ENTHUSIASM FOR OCCUPATION PROGRAM. PARIS, June 29 (AP)—Enthusiasm such as is seldom witnessed was aroused by President Poincaré today when at the end of a stirring speech asking the Ruhr occupation, he informed the "general" and "spiritual powers" that, although France had been left to live recourse to force, "now that measures of coercion have been instituted, they will be continued until Germany surrenders."

The members of the august assembly arose and cheered loud and long and voted the credits for 207,000,000 francs without a dissenting vote. With much emotion, the premier referred to Germany's financial status as "becoming more grave daily." "The reich," he said, "is turning (Continued on Page Five)

Harding Gives Credit for America's Business Revival to Policy of Co-ordination

Expresses Pride in Results Attending Post-War Mobilization of Business, Labor and Government to Overcome Depression; Contrasts Other Nations' Portion of Excitement

BUTTE, Mont., June 29 (AP)—Presenting here in Butte today a report on the post war revival of business President Harding declared that national mobilization by business, labor and government forces to overcome depression, "was no less accomplished than the great cooperation to win the war." Outlining the steps taken under government direction to wipe out unemployment and to restore confidence in business, the president asserted "if our procedures have been their plain and that we have not yet produced results that justify pride and require no apology."

"If we are accused of getting nowhere in particular," he added, "we may very well reply that at least we have been able to stay right here, that we regard it as a good place to stay, and that day by day we have been getting better and better. I am disposed to freely admit that some other folks have had more excitement than we have had; but a good many people in this world would be glad to exchange their stock of excitement for a modest share of our American accumulation of simple contentment and dinner table necessities."

Reveres Natural Order. Declaring he had been impelled by the thought that the United States should lead its strength and its power to measures of insurance against war, Mr. Harding explained to his audience that he had reversed the natural order and instead of negotiating a compact for senate approval had asked the senate to approve initiation of negotiations to bring about American adhesion to the world court.

Enumerates War's Costs. The president laid tribute to his ministers at the conclusion of his previously prepared address and enumerating the costs of war, launched into an appeal for the world court in such the same manner as he did at Salt Lake three nights ago.

"It is in the heart of all America that we never want war again," he declared, "and this sentiment was loudly applauded by the audience which more than filled the Shriners' hall to its 3000 capacity. "Let me say in all sincerity that America ought to give fully of her strength and power to make sure that war will not come again. "I want you of Montana to give your influence so that this and so that we of America can step into the fulfillment of God's highest intent for the human race. "The president in his prepared address declared, and had been applauded (Continued on Page Five)

BROTHERS MEET DEATH BY BOLT FROM LIVE WIRE

Death of Three Youths With Hay Derrick Under Power Line Witnessed by Mother and Bride of Eldest

Three brothers, Glen, Tom and Lloyd Aken were instantly killed Friday when 40,000 volts of electricity carried by the transmission line of the Idaho Power company passed through the bodies of the three as they drove a hay derrick underneath the power line from a farm home a mile southeast of Turteltaub, about four and one-half miles northeast of Hagerman.

The bride of a few months of Glen Aken and the mother of the three boys witnessed the accident. They were nearby and their lives were saved only by the fact that a passerby rushed to them and stopped them from an attempt to reach the bodies.

According to reports given S. R. Gwin, postmaster at Hagerman, the boys were driving the hay derrick under the wire in some manner the cable on the arm of the derrick came in contact with the bare wire carrying the deadly charge of electricity.

Youngest Dies First. Lloyd Aken, 12, who was riding on the derrick, was the first to lose his life. His two brothers, Glen, age 21, and Tom, age 18, who were walking alongside the derrick driving the four horses, were killed at the same time, apparently unharmed of the danger involved, and they were both killed instantly as were the four horses. The bodies of the victims were buried here today.

The current from the high voltage wire passed down along the arm of the derrick, through the body of the horses, and with their feet raised by means of water in a shallow pool directly under the wire and in which the derrick stood. Passing down the wire, a current killed a cow 100 feet away.

Crash Alarms Neighbors. Instantly upon the contact of the iron cable on the derrick arm with the live wire a thunderous crash followed which was heard by neighbors living on nearby farms. The neighborhood was shocked with the flash of the fatal current which was the one running from Main to Buhh. The accident occurred at 10:30 a. m. by a slight and momentary disturbance of the electrical power transmission system but interruption of service was avoided by switching to another line.

MINERS WORKERS FRAME DEMANDS

Hard Coal Diggers Renew Claims for Which They Waged Fight Last Year

SORANITO, Pa., June 29 (AP)—The mining union in Soranito, Pa., today, unanimously adopted a set of demands to be presented to the coal operators in the coming negotiations for a new wage contract. They formally presented these demands at the convention in Shamokin, Pa., in January, 1922, and for which the miners fought for five and a half months the men finally won a new contract. It was announced the new demands will be presented to the operators as soon after July as possible.

Handle Demands Hardly. The morning session was marked by a disturbance due to the presence in the balcony of Joseph Masley, son-in-law of William Z. Foster, and identified with the Trades Union Educational League, and P. J. McCarthy, representing the labor defense council, who were bitterly denounced as enemies of the United Mine Workers and other trades unions and ordered "to remove their carcasses from the hall." McCarthy was accompanied by his wife. The men were accused of being back of a strike in the coal fields of the United States to set up a dual organization, in the coal fields of the country for the purpose of wrecking the mine workers' union and, negatively, other trades union organizations. Call for Wage Boost. The principal demands call for an increase of 20 per cent in the contract wage; two dollars a day increase for men paid by the day; a two year contract with full recognition of the union; uniformity and equalization of all day rates; the eight hour day for all men employed in the mines; where coal is paid for by the car the system be changed and it be paid for by weight; and a number of other demands of a technical nature.

BEGINS TO LOOK AS THOUGH WE'D BEEN UNNECESSARILY WORRIED

Aviators Forget Failure in Hope of New Attempt

San Diego Flyers Pick Orwash Out of Mud Following Orwash Ready to Go Again

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 29 (AP)—The first words of Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter, army aviators, this morning when the airplane in which they hoped to remain aloft four days and four nights crashed on the mud flats near Rockwell field, "When can we try again?" The crash came as the result of a thick fog which swept in suddenly from the ocean and made further flying impossible at the moment when the second 24 hours of their flight seemed about to be opened under perfect flying conditions. The fliers' question had not been answered officially today, but officers at Rockwell field took it for granted that the aviators would be given permission to try again. The special airplane which they used turned over in the mud and its propeller all but completely damaged. Another flight in it will be impracticable until the next full moon period. The aviators received much praise for their courage in attempting another return early for the day. While flying less than 100 feet from the ocean, Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter came down at 4:40 a. m. They took off at 4:45 a. m. yesterday. IDAHO WEATHER Saturday—Fair and cooler.

MONTANA MEN PLEDGE FUNDS TO SAVE FIGHT

Great Falls Banker's Appeal to Save "Honor" of State Brings Subscriptions Sufficient to Assure Contest

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29 (AP)—The Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, twice threatened with collapse within the last two weeks because of financial crises, has cleared the last hurdle and will be held in Shelby July 4, as scheduled. The final $100,000 of Dempsey's $200,000 guarantee was raised tonight from 20 individual business men of the state, who pledged $5000 each.

George H. Stanton, president of the Stanton Trust and Savings bank, who personally advanced $20,000 to make Dempsey's second $100,000 installment 10 days ago, made the positive announcement that the final installment had been raised and that it would be available in time for the fight on tomorrow night. Mr. Stanton said that the money, however, would not be turned over to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, until Monday, the date on which the payment falls due.

Remarkable Financing. The raising of the $100,000 is one of the most remarkable financing achievements in the history of glove fighting. After all plans had failed, Mr. Stanton contacted a list of 20 men appealing to 20 men throughout the state, most of them life-long friends, to save what he termed "the honor of Montana," meaning the heavyweight championship title at Shelby.

Going into conference with R. E. Ayres, a former circuit judge of Livingston, and Major J. E. Lane, in a hotel room, Stanton and Ayres began the task of sending out telegrams and in five hours after the work was started had received pledges amounting to $100,000. The telegrams were begun this morning when it became evident that immediate action was necessary to dispel the doubt that had surrounded the fight. The completion of the finances was disclosed last Wednesday through the resignation of Dan Tracey as business manager.

Fuels State's Obligation. "The committee authorizes me to announce," Mr. Stanton said, "that the $200,000 due Jack Dempsey next Monday has been raised and will be in cash in the bank here not later than tomorrow night. Much of it has been subscribed in cash from our loyal citizens in Great Falls. The money subscribed in other cities of the state cannot reach here before tomorrow.

"We felt that Montana owed it to the world to stage a fight, and we simply went out to raise the money at all costs. It would have been a disgrace to have had the fight called off after so many thousands of dollars had been invested and Dempsey and Gibbons had reached the end of their training. There would have been no possible way to have staged a fight except from coming here from distant points and reflection that would have been cast upon the state would have been far-reaching in effect.

"It is my understanding that several hundred automobile parties are already in the state enroute to Shelby, having come for the express purpose of seeing the fight.

Northwest Rekind Fight. "It is our judgment that the northwest will put the fight over. The Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and western Canada will send at least 25,000 fans to Shelby. It is quite possible that the fight will result in a loss, due to the turn of events of the last two weeks. We expect it, but it cannot be helped. The people who are interested in the fight are game enough to stand a loss just to see it through.

The twenty men subscribing to the $100,000 fund will receive their money from the first cash received from seat sales and will take over one-third interest in the moving picture rights which was surrendered by Leroy S. Mumby, the original promoter, and Meyer Johnson of Shelby, treasurer of the fight. The reason why we decided not to give the $100,000 to Kearns was because some of the men who contributed are disposed to follow the lead taken by the champion's manager and the publicity to the conditions of the contract.

"It is our opinion, judging from Kearns' attitude, that Kearns is not overly anxious to have the fight with Gibbons, and would get out of the fight if he could. Dempsey is under contract to fight Gibbons on July 4 and we are going to see that he does just that."

Kearns Sports Smile. Kearns' face was wreathed in smiles when the word was brought him that the $100,000 had been raised. "I felt confident all along that the money would be ready for Dempsey and I turned down every offer to make me to take the fight elsewhere because we are anxious to make good on the Shelby fight," said Kearns. "These people deserve a great deal of credit for their generosity in raising this money, and I am glad that the last obstacle has been removed from circumstances affecting it."

At his training camp on the banks of the Missouri river, Dempsey was just sitting down to his evening meal, surrounded by his staff of sparring partners when the news reached him.

and down another, that the fight was on. Jim Johnston, the 60-year-old mayor of Shelby, who has financially backed the fight from the start, having pledged another $100,000 in the enterprise, was as happy as a boy.

Dempsey did no boxing today because Kearns considers that the champion is at the peak of his form and he wants him to finish boxing tomorrow and Sunday. The champion took a pair of rounds at the light punching bag, shadow boxing for two rounds, and hitting dummy for two rounds.

Dempsey, Kearns said, weighs about 190 pounds, and will do only light training tomorrow and Sunday to keep himself on edge.

GIBBONS OUTS LOOSE WITH STIFF PUNCHES IN WORKOUT

SHELBY, Mont., June 29 (AP)—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul's challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, today entered the final stages of his training with a curtailed but fast workout under the rays of a burning sun.

Gibbons' one round bout with Tillie "Kid" Herman, was one of the best since he began training here. Gibbons cut loose with a terrific attack of lefts and rights, apparently that stopped Herman's aggressive offense and beat him backward around the ring. Three times in the single stanza Gibbons walloped Herman with a right to the jaw and poked his left into Herman's face with extreme ease. In the infighting he landed effectively with his right.

Red Gorman, Jimmy Delaney and George Manly were ineffective against Gibbons.

Delaney, fast and skilful, was missing badly in the second round of their two round session.

Gibbons boxed only six rounds today, preceded by a round at the stationary bag and the swinging dummy, use with the pulley, at home, and skipping. He worked hard, extending himself to the limit. At the end of the session "he was perspiring freely but breathing with little effort.

Shelby was plunged into a whirl of excitement today when a telegram signed "Lou W. Hill" was received at the office of Mayor Jim Johnson, mayor of the town, stating "I am leaving St. Paul tonight with sufficient cash and securities. Assure you Gibbons' friends and fight fans will not see the fight plans to fall," concluding with a disparaging reference to Dempsey.

At fight headquarters it was supposed the signature was that of Louis Hill, the railroad attorney. The word that the fight had been saved by the intervention of Hill spread throughout the town like wildfire and the town was on virtually every tongue by the time the authenticity of the telegram had been investigated and found to be anonymous. LIQUOR PROBLEM UP TO CONGRESS

Legislative Branch Holds Key to Relief From Complication With Foreign Ships

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Blocked by objections from abroad in its effort to negotiate a prohibition treaty with the maritime powers, the administration is preparing to leave in the hands of congress any further move to relieve the foreign shipping lines of their embarrassments under the American dry law.

Whether an effort is taken the provisions of the law will succeed in conceding generally to be doubtful. The possibility of an international conference to deal with the 12 mile limit plan has already been considered in American official circles, where some have taken the view that such a step is unnecessary and undesirable.

NAVAL TREATY TERMS FAVORED

France Asks Ratification of Agreement as to Rights of Neutrals and Use of Gas

PARIS, June 29 (AP)—In conformity with Article 8 of the French constitution concerning the powers of the legislative executive in the negotiation of treaties, the government today deposited with the chamber of deputies a bill asking for ratification of that part of the Washington naval agreement which deals with the protection of neutrals on the high seas and the use of asphyxiating gas in war time.

The measure, which is signed by the president of the republic, the premier and the ministers of foreign affairs, justice, finance, war, marine and public works, who are entrusted with the task of presenting it and sustaining it before the chamber, calls for only one reservation, namely, that the treaty "should not be interpreted as modifying rules previously established between the signatory powers concerning surface ships, or as imposing upon submarines navigating in conformity with such rules a regime other than that applied to surface ships."

Article 1 of the bill reads: "The president of the republic is authorized to ratify and have executed, if need be, the treaty signed at Washington February 6, 1922, between France, the United States, Great Britain, the British empire, Italy and Japan relative to the protection upon the high seas in war time of the lives of neutrals and non-combatants, the use of asphyxiating gases in war."

Stresses Humanitarian Aims

The government announces that it is "desirous above all to proclaim the principles of humanity to which all civilized nations should subscribe and which inspired the resolution adopted at Washington upon the generous initiative of Elihu Root," but that, on the other hand, anxious to furnish parliament with all explanations necessary, the government has inserted in the bill an article designed to prevent errors in the interpretation of the Washington treaty.

Ratification of the bill will take its regular place on the chamber agenda. While there is an element of its coming up for discussion and ratification, the French signatories of the Washington treaties, Premier Briand and M. Sarrot, feel that the first effective step toward ratification of the treaty has been made.

M. Briand has made it known that he will lead the government aid assistance to secure ratification of the bill.

Governor Partially Lifts Martial Law from Okmulgee and Turns Attention to Scene of Reported Outrage

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 29 (AP)—After lifting martial law from Okmulgee county, with the exception of a 10 mile area around the city of Henryetta, Governor Walton today turned his attention toward Ottawa county in northeastern Oklahoma, where several nights ago a miner being seized at Picher by members of a mob and subjected to an operation.

National guard troops relieved in Okmulgee county were being held in readiness for possible duty in Ottawa county. The governor said he would not decide what action he would take with regard to the situation in the latter county until receipt of an official report.

George Thompson, 38 years of age, miner, is in a Miami hospital as the result of an operation alleged to have been performed on him by members of a mob who seized him at Picher. Thompson had been acquitted on a charge brought by a girl. Thompson's condition is said to be improving. A man familiar with surgery wielded the knife. He is reported as saying that the man who performed the operation was called "Doc" by members of the mob that held him.

The citizens unanimously adopted resolutions commending the conduct of the military forces.

SUPER-POWER PLAN FOR NATION PROPOSED

Gen. Guy E. Trapp

PLANS are under way, it has been ascertained, for the development of a huge, unified, privately-owned electrical system, capable of supplying the power needs of the entire country. They are being backed by the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Guy E. Trapp, chairman of the company's Board of Directors, has admitted. Fulfillment of the plans, requiring years, would entail an investment of five billion dollars and an increase of probably a billion a year in money spent for electricity. It would offer a practicable method of electrifying all of the country's steam railroads, however.

Frank G. Baum, consulting engineer of San Francisco, has developed the idea beyond the theory stage.

FRANCE BITES DEEPER

In a most frightful, vicious circle, without making any attempt to emerge, she is banking upon a miracle to save her from actual ruin, but miracles are rare, and a single day's news without German industrialists attempting to meet their own business men and politicians.

France Grows Wary.

"I am invariably informed of these moves. We shall fall into no more traps."

"At times Germany is hoping for allied intervention. When the events on France's discouragement and hesitancy she is making a grave mistake. She has conceived her essential demands; we will not modify them in the slightest."

"At Brussels, the Belgian government, in agreement with us, has proposed to examine the German proposals until Germany abandons her resistance. We will not evacuate the Ruhr until Germany begins to pay. The only means of making Germany pay is their desire to recover the Ruhr. We have no thought of annexation; we soon accept the principle of indemnities."

"We don't want to confiscate the Ruhr; we hold it only so long as Germany does not pay her debt. The last day's contracts are not serious and do not deserve reply."

Clings to Guarantee.

"If Germany fails to understand, so much the worse for her. Never will we give up the previous guarantee until she settles. Should we renege the terms of the guarantee, Germany will have accomplished her revenge and our humiliation."

"We have met with resistance which is called passive, but is really active, insidious and criminal. The resistance has come from the large industrialists and from the Berlin government. This has not always been realized abroad, especially at the Holy See—where errors may also be made."

RUSH BUILDING PLAN.

LIQUOR ISSUE HAS NO PLACE IN PARTY PLANS

Republican National Committee Head Says Liquor Issue and Beer Will Not Figure in Either Platform

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Light wines and beer will not be made a national issue by either Republicans or Democrats in the 1924 campaign, in the opinion of John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee, expressed in a statement here today. Mr. Adams, who is here arranging for one of a series of regional conferences with state chairmen, said he did not believe that there would be any "swept" planks in the political party platforms.

Regarding republican prospects for 1924, Mr. Adams said:

"There is no doubt President Harding will be re-nominated. The sound economic policy of the Harding administration will be the chief issue with the republican party in 1924. The platform will be based on that. We believe the country realizes the worth of the Harding administration and that the president can win on the record of having redeemed the party's pledge to the country."

The Chicago conference, he said, will be held July 11 and will be attended by state chairmen from mid-western states.

States and found four million five hundred thousand or five million jobs without jobs. That was bad, but since then matters have been reversed and the problem of unemployment, which used to be considered a vice and means to fill a half million or a million jobs which went unneeded and can't find them. This is the simplest picture of the individual evolution of the last two years. That is the backbone foundation on which American business and American administration have erected their confidence that this people will not be led into the paths of dubious experiments, the maze of untried economic theories, the labyrinth of doctrinaire training."

PRESIDENT RENEWS

for so declaring, that those who had imagined that his administration would sympathize with projects for "the deflation of labor and the overthrow of labor organizations" had come "to realize their error."

Crowds Pack Hall.

The president made his address to-night in the smallest auditorium in which he yet has made a night address, but every seat was taken and almost every inch of standing room was occupied. The greeting extended him was the partaking of a characteristic of the far western country.

Governor Dixon, who had traveled through the state during the day with the party, introduced him with brief remarks.

The president prefaced his prepared address with a word as to the almost boundless expanse of Montana, noting that some counties of the state were larger than whole states in the east.

Noting that he was speaking in a Shrine temple, the president said it recalled to his mind the recent convention of Shriner in Washington, D. C.

"There were Montana Shriners there at that time," he said, "and Shriners from many other states—so many, that for a week we were all Shriners; there was nothing else to do."

"But," he declared, "they gave the country a new concept of American fraternalism, and American fraternalism were newly impressed upon the American people."

Needs More Fraternity.

"We need more of fraternity in Montana and in the United States as well. The need exists throughout the world for fraternity and the brotherhood of man."

The declaration of the president early in his prepared address, for universal participation in event of another war, was applauded several times.

Breaking into his prepared address, Mr. Harding declared that "experience has deplored the tendency to turn over to the schools and colleges, the control, the training and the spiritual and intellectual guidance of children heretofore performed by the mother."

The president's declaration that he never approved the action of well-to-do families in taking their children from public schools to place them in exclusive schools received the approval of his audience and it was applauded.

Touches High Point.

The audience listened intently as the president proceeded, and except for bursts of applause the meeting resembled a religious meeting. This was due in part perhaps to the small hall and also to the nature of his address.

The high point of the prepared speech, as judged from applause, came when the president asserted that the administration now in power tried "to prevent on the one side, the destruction of organized labor, and on the other side to frustrate those programs which looked to the ultimate destruction of private capital and the nationalization of all instrumentalities of production."

"There is no doubt the present opportunity will survive. Mr. Harding is correct in the federal reserve discount rate, inauguration of the budget system, lightening and more equitable distribution of the tax burden, the more successful revival of the federal farm loan board and the finance corporation and the national conference on unemployment and housing."

Bound for Yellowstone

President Harding arrived in Helena late this afternoon for seven hours stay and an address tonight on the subject of social justice, women and labor. When he leaves here late tonight he will be taking special trains for two days and give himself up to the enjoyment of the wonders of Yellowstone national park.

Arriving at the station here, the chief executive and Mrs. Harding were taken for a drive about the city and to the United States Veteran's hospital where they shook hands and spoke kindly words to the soldier patients. A public reception followed at a hotel and after dinner the presidential party went to the Shrine hall, where Mr. Harding delivered his address.

Time Short at Butte

Steps were made at three Montana towns enroute here from Butte. At Basin the president shook hands with several hundred who gathered at the station and at Boulder and at Clancy, he made brief addresses, speaking a few words of thanks for the greetings extended.

Lack of time and inability of his audience to hear him at the open air address at Butte earlier in the day caused the executive to shorten his remarks and it was regarded as likely by members of his party that he would take occasion at some future date while en route to the Pacific coast to discuss more fully the subject selected for his Butte address, "national business conditions."

WIFE SHOTS ARMY OFFICER.

The Point of Contact

THERE'S a simple catch in the familiar phrase that tells how the world beats a path to the door of the man who makes a better mouse-trap.

The maker of anything, if he is to win the plaudits of the world, must not only manufacture a superior product, but must also let folks know of his achievements. He must point out just why his mouse-trap, his automobile or his shaving cream is better than his neighbors'. He must advertise.

Advertising is the point of contact between the man who makes something and the man who wants something. Through an advertisement, a manufacturer can tell you in a few short minutes all you want to know about the article or the service he has to offer.

This newspaper is constantly full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your personal benefit. Fail to read the advertisements and you remain in ignorance of countless products that would make life easier, happier and more interesting for you and your entire family.

Advertising gives you news of the latest and best things made—with word as to what they will do, what they cost and where to get them. Think of all you miss when you overlook the advertisements.

Read them regularly—every day.
