Montana Boom Town Seems Congested but Cash Customers in Arena Will not Exceed 10,000

SHELBY, Mont., July 3 (AP)—This pile-up town of Shelby, situated far away on the prairies of Montana, today became the scene of a title contest for tomorrow the battle for the world's heavyweight championship between the title holder Jack Dempsey, and contender, Tommy Gibbons, to take place in an arena constructed to accommodate 40,000 fans.

While the town seems rather congested on the day before the battle, Shelby citizens are disappointed in the attendance. While Main street, on the shady side seems like Broadway on a busy Saturday night, the sunny side of the thoroughfare is dead.

BARRISTERS OF AMERICA SOUND WARNING NOTE

Bar Association Independence Day Message Points Out Danger in Slip Away from Essential Principles

DALLAS, Tex., July 3. (AP)—The government of the United States can endure only through a reasonable amount of thought and time devoted to its requirements by citizens who love it and wish to be preserved in all its force and integrity, declared an Independence Day message made public tonight by the citizenship committee of the American Bar Association.

The message was issued over the signatures of R. E. L. Sauer, chairman of the committee, Dallas; Walter George Smith, Philadelphia; Andrew A. Bruce, Chicago; Wallace McDermott, Portland, Ore., and John Lord O'Brien, Buffalo. It asserted that since before the world war there have been tendencies and elements creeping into American life and government which would undermine the foundation stone of liberty. It continued: "In the one hand there has been a tendency to depart from the republican or representative form of government to legislation by popular vote in such ways as are represented by the initiative, referendum, recall, the primary system of selecting candidates for office, insidious attacks upon the Supreme Court of the United States and other forms of hasty legislation whereby special agitation of public opinion tends to undermine and overreach the system of government which the makers of the declaration of independence and the constitution so carefully devised.

Expression of Solidity

"Independence Day, sanctioned by statute in every state of the Union is the day of the nation's birth, an expression of the solidity and unity that this country has achieved. It is a day for rejoicing and glad for the thought, it is a day for rejoicing in the past, a day for looking forward to the future with historical and contemporary significance of the day, for re-establishing the ancient landmarks of American constitution government which our forefathers erected and to which our allegiance to the principles and aspirations of those courageous souls who dared to declare their independence from the mother country and to vow anew in the words of him upon whom the mantle of our revolutionary forefathers visibly descended, that government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"The Declaration of Independence is the expression of that passion for individual and political liberty which is the heart of our nation's life," the message continued. Asserting it first declared the doctrine of equality, the message set forth that equality "does not mean social equality or equality of ability, but equality of inherent ability." The declaration referred to political equality, which means equal opportunity under the law and equality in this sense is an essential of American ideal of government.

Right of Life

Next speaking of the "right of life" the message said: "If the government and the ignorance of parents place undeveloped children in factories and mines, the American idea of the right of all to life is gone. Against this trend the public school system is the best proponent of the national purpose to give to all the people a chance to live a rounded intelligent, complete, American life."

"After stating the meaning of 'Liberty' as used in the declaration of independence the message said: "The American principle is that all power rests in the people as a whole. The government of the United States is a Republic and not a Democracy. A tendency to depart from this system in various ways in recent years has been the cause of much discussion. By many thinking men it is strongly urged that only as we hold steadfastly to the representative form of government as established by our forefathers can our Republic endure. This is a question that demands serious thought upon the part of each and every citizen today."

DES MOINES, July 3. (AP)—Des Moines has completed preparations for the entertainment of more than 25,000 visitors during the 29th international Christian Endeavor convention, to be held here July 4 to 9. The convention, it is said, will be one of the largest religious gatherings of the year. The delegations alone will number nearly 15,000. William J. Bryan, William G. McAdoo, James J. Davis, secretary of labor; Sherwood Eddy, Gipsy Smith, Dr. Francis E. Clark and Sir Lionel Batcher are among the widely known speakers slated to address various sessions. ## MILITANT MEXICAN BEAUTY DIES OF HER WOUNDS

MEXICO CITY, July 3. (AP)—The Joan d'Arc of the Mexican revolution, Ramona Flores, is dead from the effects of a wound she received during one of the battles in which she was engaged against the troops of Victoriano Huerta, in 1913.

Known popularly as "La Coronella," Ramona first saw active service in the ranks of General Juan Carrasco. She was born in Sinaloa, about 40 years ago, and was a striking example of Mexican Indian beauty. During the last three years she was a patient in a local sanitarium, the federal government meeting the cost of her medical treatment.

Harding Pays Tribute to Memory of Oregon Pioneer

MEACHAM, Oregon, July 3. (AP)—President Harding stopped here today on his western trip to pay homage to the memory of the sturdy pioneers who founded Oregon and saved to the nation the great northwest.

Speaking the pleasant commemorative of the eightieth anniversary of the blazing of the Oregon Trail, the executive declared the American people owe to those pioneers a debt of gratitude which they never can repay. Their victory, he asserted, proclaimed the strength of resolute purpose to do for themselves, not asking the government to do, but for government only to sanction or permit.

"We may reasonably do more today," he said, "than rejoicing in possession of the imperial domain which they revealed, and the life they made possible to the fertile, springing and confident Northwest. I find new assurance in recalling the heroism, the resolution, the will to conquer of these pioneers."

"I wish I might more effectively visualize them. Not very long ago I saw the covered wagon in the moving picture. I sat enthralled. There was more than the picturesque, more than sorrow and discouragement, more than appealing characters, and more than heroism. There was more than the revelation of the irrevocable, who failed in fitness to survive more than tragedy and comedy in their inseparable blend. There was more than the

ELECTRICIANS WIN FAST GAME

Hullhans Tribe Takes 3 to 2 Tilt from Ex-Soldier Lads in Fine Exhibition

In one of the best games of the season, the Electricians won from the Legion boys Tuesday evening in a regular, scheduled twilight game, the final reading showing three for the Electricians and two for the Legion.

Lyons and Laval Jarman engaged in a beautiful pitching duel, with Lyons having a slight shade the best of the argument, although he was not returned the winner. The hits were evenly divided, each chucker allowing five; each walked three men, and Laval Jarman hit four batsmen.

In ability to hit when a hit meant a run is the quickest way to tell who is the best pitcher. Several times during the game they had chances to forge ahead, each time to be left stranded on the bases.

Ray Brown of the Legion team brought out his line and the team looked like the real goods now with Selk on second, and Stan Cron on third.

Laval Jarman, Ostrander and Yoch divide the hitting honors with two hits each, while the fielding features go to "Slim" Hammond and Ollie Taylor; Slim by virtue of a spectacular stop of Jerry Jarman's high throw to first in the sixth inning, and Ollie for throwing Jerry Jarman out at first in the second frame on a clean hit to right field.

"Slim" was initially nooked for a marker in the initial nook when, with one out, Laval Jarman tripled down the first base line. Whitelz fouled out to Mussell, and then Kluft popped one in back of first base that went as a hit as Ray Brown refused to try for it, Laval scoring.

Everything was set for both teams about the third when the Electricians gathered their last two runs. Laval Jarman opened the inning with a clean smash to center, and made the complete circuit when Atkinson led Whitelz's single get away from him. Whitelz tying up on second. Whitelz stole third, and Mussell threw the ball to left field, Whitelz scoring on the error.

The Legion boys didn't do anything until the fifth. Lyons opened the inning by getting hit and stealing second. Ostrander singled to center, scoring Lyons, and going to second on the throw. Whitelz led off with a center, scoring Ostrander with the second and last run of the game.

Ostrander started the last inning with an infield hit to Whitelz who threw wild to first base on a second. Ostrander went to third on a passed ball, and there he remained as Laval Jarman fanned the next three men to face him.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Just as good as you will see any where.

One error for the Electricians, and two for the Legion.

Brown has a real team now, and will bear watching.

Laval Jarman hit two batters and walked two in the third frame and wasn't scored on.

That catch of "Slim" Hammonds in the sixth was a dandy, the elongated first baseman jumping high into the air and spearing the ball with one hand.

Jerry Jarman sent a hot one to right in the second, Taylor getting it on the pickap, and throwing Jerry out at first. It was a fast piece of work.

Only one fly ball sent to the outfield during the game, that being a show fly by Henry in the second that Atkinson took care of.

Mussell made two nice catches of foul balls.

Thursday's game should be a hum-dinger.

Dempsey Will Take No Chances in Ring

Champion Confident but Cautious; Will End Fight in First Round if Possible

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 3 (AP)—Jack Dempsey rolled into his bed at his Missouri-river training camp early tonight for his last sleep before he travels into the ring to defend his world's heavyweight championship against Tommy Gibbons.

Dempsey, while refusing to make a flat statement that he will knock out the St. Paul challenger, declared that he expected Gibbons to prove one of the toughest opponents he has ever met.

"I am not one who regards him lightly," Dempsey said. "I regard every challenger as dangerous. They are all dangerous until they are on the floor. I am not going to take any chances. I will be ready to meet every effort to beat him in the first round if possible. Anything is liable to happen to a champion any time he goes into the ring. I will do my best, and if my best fails, I shall be the first to welcome Gibbons as the new champion."

His confident feeling that he never was in better shape; he felt better than he has in many years on the day before a fight. His training period has been handled with perfection that he has benefited by it.

The huge 21-room house just over the hills on the edge of the city that has been Dempsey's training camp for eight weeks, today was deserted. Dempsey spent most of his time away from camp, walking out in the air or riding with a party of Chicago admirers who called on him today. Soon after breakfast Dempsey pulled on his frayed sweater and went for a walk over the rough country adjoining the camp. He returned in time to take a short rest before luncheon and then went for a short automobile ride, returning about 5 o'clock for dinner. Dempsey looks as fit as a fiddle, his manager, Jack Kearns, has declared of him, perfectly trained, and ready for Gibbons. The champion is tanned to a deep brown as the result of long exposure to the sun. His face and body glow with health, and he does not appear to have an extra pound of weight on his trim frame.

Gibbons Counts on Plan for Victory

Challenger on Eve of Battle, Seems Least Disturbed of Any Man in Shelby

SHELBY, Mont., July 3, (AP)—Agog with excitement and packed with surging crowds of fight fans, Shelby tonight was anxiously awaiting the great pugilistic event which tomorrow will focus the eyes of the entire sport world on this little Montana cow town.

Inured of the title bout between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons, after one of the most hectic and despairing financial battles ever waged by community-proud citizens in the history of pugilism, the residents of this crowded, congested city of shacks and concession stands, fight officials and trainers were drawing to a close the elaborate preparations which have been proceeding busily for the last three weeks.

Gibbons Seems 'Care-Free'

Only a few details remained to be completed tonight. Apparently the least disturbed of any man in Shelby, Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul contender, romped with his three children in his little green-roofed cottage, went for a short walk over the nearby hills in the afternoon and saw cow punchers and rough riders perform at a rodeo in his honor this evening.

"If I am defeated tomorrow, I will know I am not fit to hold the heavyweight title," Gibbons said this afternoon. "This is the opportunity of my life time. It is the goal toward which I have been working for three hard, busy years. It finds me near the absolute perfection of condition. I could have done no more to bring myself to a finer point physically."

"I am more than confident I will win. I have a plan of campaign mapped out in my mind. A single punch will not disturb my plans. I will enter the ring sure of myself, entirely confident of what I can do and certain of the outcome."

"This is no idle boast of braggart. I am determined to win, for much for which it will mean to my family, as for the title itself. When I fought Harry Greb, I slipped back a year in my progress toward the title. I will not slip, now that I have my chance at it."

"The financial details of the bout have not bothered me. I am here to fight and it will be no disappointment to me if I do not get a postage stamp out of the bout."

Fast Holiday Game Promised for Fans

Kimberly and Twin Falls League Teams to Cross Bats Here in Afternoon Clash

Kimberly and Twin Falls will fight for supremacy this afternoon at Athletic park, in what promises to be a ball game from start to finish.

"We'll let you see," Walter, who is slated to do the pitching for the Kimberly outfit, and these two checkers, if in the tip top form, should force the locals to play real ball throughout the nine innings.

Kimberly, although losing to Twin Falls, always offers the most stubborn resistance, and this afternoon's game should prove no exception.

Fight returns of the Dempsey-Gibbons match will be given at the ball park about 7 o'clock, it was announced by R. J. Letch, secretary of the ball club. These reports will be given between innings.

The game this afternoon will start at 2:30 sharp.

In the morning, the fans will be treated to an eye opener when the Eden and Hansen teams clash at Lincoln field in exhibition. There is considerable rivalry between the two teams, and a wide margin is considered to their team. This game will start at 10 sharp.

HARTS BEAT FAST PACE

KANSAS CITY, July 3, (AP)—Harry Harts, averaging 110 miles an hour, made his fastest time among the qualifiers today for tomorrow's 250-mile race at the speedway here. Edley Hoopes and Earl Cooper were second, both averaging 115.3 miles an hour.

To qualify, cars were required to make an average of 100 miles an hour for more than ten miles.

ment to me if I do not get a postage stamp out of the bout."

In Prime Condition

The challenger will tip the scales at about 178 pounds when he enters the ring tomorrow, Eddie Kane, his manager, said tonight. His eye and judgment of distance, on the face of his showing in his recent sparring matches will be better than they ever have been before in his ring career.

While Gibbons has not revealed the plan of attack with which he expects to defeat the champion, ring experts here are freely predicting that he will depend upon his speed to stay away from the hard hitting mauler from Manassa, Colo., and his ability to beat the titholder on the counter, using his left hand, being into the midriff with the twisting punch with which he has stayed away other fighters and looking for the opening through which he can reach a vital spot.

The going will send contender and champion on their way at 3 o'clock, Mountain time.

Preliminaries Scheduled

Preceding the title bout in the semi-windup, Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, contender for the light heavyweight title, will clash with Jack Burke, one of Dempsey's sparring partners, in a 10 round bout; Bud German, Bache heavyweight, will box Harry Drake, who has been working in Dempsey's camp, eight rounds, and Ernie Sayles of Minneapolis, and Jack McDonald of Seattle, light heavyweights, will tangle in a six round opener. Delaney and German have been sparring partners of Gibbons.

The Screen THROUGH THE FLAMES

Conceded by experts to be one of the most thrilling scenes ever flung upon a screen, in which a veteran fire horse plunges through a seething wall of flames with a rider on its back, the vividly dramatic climax in the great fireman's melodrama, "The Third Alarm" is an enthralling highlight of local theatergoers.

The horse which takes part in this stirring episode is none other than "Bullet," oldest horse of the fire department of the City of Los Angeles, from which, he was borrowed especially for this production by Mr. Emory Johnson, the producer.

"Bullet" has been more than a thousand times in his day. He is now more than twenty years old and has been retired and pensioned on an old farm for almost five years. When he was required by the script of "The Third Alarm" to plunge through a wave of flames with a rider on his back—in the person of Ralph Lewis—and then haul with a rope about his neck until he pulled a huge safe out of the blazing ruins and liberated a girl and a boy from their perilous position, he went right about his job and no questions asked.

As a result this scene is one of the most stirring of the annual production, which is conceded to be by all odds the greatest fireman's picture ever created. The horse, of course, was uninjured.

"SMUDGE" NEW THRILL FILM

In his latest production, "Smudge," released by First National, which is coming to the Idaho Theatre today for a two day engagement, Charles Ray appears as a democratic young Californian who, in the face of heavy odds and opposition, defeats a practice which has caused much trouble in one of California's orange belt towns.

The scenes are laid in the beautiful orange and lemon groves, and Ray has a fine characterization to add to a most-lovel story, from the pen of Rob Wagner. There is enough excellent comedy to balance the exciting incidents which nearly thwart the young man's purpose.

A love story runs through the picture, which Ray regards as one of the best in which he has ever appeared.

HARDING LIVES FOR ONE DAY IN PIONEER TIMES

spring drawn by a team of six horses, waited beside the train and the president and his wife were placed within it for a ride through the valley and through a little creek to a reviewing stand erected on the hillside. Dignitaries of the state, Governor Pierce and Senators McNary and Stanford, with Governor Hart of Washington and the other members of the presidential party, followed in autos.

Minuties with Pioneers

Arriving at the reviewing stand, the president found seated about him pioneers who entered the Oregon territory prior to 1853, and before him those who came immediately after. These about came into the eyes of the president as he shook hands with some of the older ones and listened to their stories of their pioneer days. Soon over the hill tops appeared a strange sight. It was the beginning of a pageant which depicted the early days beginning with Captain Gray, who discovered the Columbia river in 1792, John Jacob Astor, founder of Astoria, and the Wilson and Hunt party which left St. Louis in 1810 and blazed the Oregon trail.

Then followed in succession a series of episodes depicting the coming of the first missionary, Jason Lee and his Methodist band, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus Whitman, who laid down their lives in the Whitman massacre, the Spanning party, the first settlement of the Oregonians, led by Bishop Scott. A dozen or so of covered wagons, representing the first train of immigrants to cross the spine mountains passed before the president and then came the outstanding pioneers, Buffalo Bill, Kit Carson, John O. Fremont and a host of others.

The pageant ended the Concord coach again drove up. This time Mrs. Harding insisted on riding with the driver, and after being helped to the high seat rode away while the hills ebbed with applause.

Women Serve Bakket Dinner

Luncheon was a basket dinner served by the women of the surrounding country in a big tent.

Chicken, big red strawberries, large angel food-cakes and roast bear meat were among the viands set before the visitors.

The president then went to the reviewing stand to deliver his address in which he paid tribute to the spirit and the achievements of the pioneers.

Universally Millions Guaranteed

Forecasting millions of listeners, the bank of them of college age, the national radio chamber of commerce is developing a plan to establish radio extension courses in American colleges and universities.

England and Germany, it is said, are planning to broadcast university extension courses. Several prominent institutions of learning in the United States have made a beginning in this direction, the announcement continued, and their reports of the encouraging success attending their efforts show us that the possibilities of the new method are not underestimated.

Sixty other educational institutions are broadcasting educational and musical programs, forty-seven of them being colleges and universities. The combined area nominally covered by these institutions has been estimated to be seven or eight times the total area of the United States.

Poet-Laureate of the New York Rotary Club To Be Heard Here Soon

"Jamie" Heron, Scotch Humorist, Lecturer and Poet Comes to Chautauqua Sixth Night.

When "Buntz Falls the Strings," the famous Scotch comedy, was playing in New York, Jamie Heron was selected to play the lead (Weelum), and played that character for three seasons in nearly every state in the Union and Canada. During the war he served with the U. S. Shipping Board as a spirited speaker among industrial plants and shipyards, and did much to arouse the spirit of patriotism and speed of Uncle Sam's industrial army. Today he is spreading the gospel of service-in-business throughout the country, addressing Rotary and other community clubs, schools, colleges and industrial plants. He has the wit of the Scot on the edge of his tongue, the art of a real entertainer, and a message of vital import in the present-day awakening of the social conscience in industry. Natural, lovable, able and sincere, Jamie Heron reflects the spirit that dominates him, and his created a wonderful impression in his lecture, "Building Better Business by Building Better Men."

SIZING UP NATION'S WEALTH

Middle Atlantic States Have Largest Income, With Nevada at the End of the List.

What is the richest part of the United States—the richest? That is, in the sense of having the largest income? Probably most people would have no difficulty in answering this question. That the Middle Atlantic states have the largest amount of liquid cash would naturally be expected from their great population and industrial development. And from this standpoint the Middle Atlantic states are the richest, and, as would be expected, Nevada is the poorest.

Yet there is another way in which to gauge prosperity and perhaps, upon the whole, it is a more satisfactory test. That is the per capita distribution. Is that section the richest which has the largest aggregate income or that in which the individual income is the largest? Probably most philosophers would incline to the latter view. And in this regard the Pacific states have a slight advantage over the Middle Atlantic—$700 as compared with $673. Yet New York state, with an average income per person of $874, is still at the head of the list.

This study also discloses the earnings of farmers, which, in some parts of the country, are high—as incomes go. In 1919, farmers in the Pacific states averaged $2,500 a year and in the West North Central states, $2,300. The few remaining agriculturists who are attempting to scratch a living from the discouraging hills of New England are obliged to content themselves with $1,100, while Alabama and Mississippi yield their farmers less than $900 a year.—World's Work.

Increase Shown in Book Circulation

Monthly Library Report Shows Gain of 300 Volumes; New Works Are Put on Shelves

Total circulation of the public library during June showed an increase of 300 volumes over the total figures for the same month last year, the monthly report of Miss Jessie Fraser, librarian, indicates.

The total circulation during the last month was 5308 volumes. Fiction works proved by far the most popular, the total number of books in this class taken out by subscribers being 3845 in both adult and juvenile classes. Heavy demands were also shown for works of literature and sociology and for philosophy. There were 46 members registered and 246 new collections.

Miss Fraser states that plans are being considered for the resumption of the story hour features for children this year. Story hours will be conducted in the city park with Miss Edith Dyer in charge, and the first one will probably be held into this week or some time during next week.

The following books have been added to the library this week: "Fairly," the author, who is principal of one of the New York schools, is a recognized expert on child training. "Principles of Salesmanship," by Whitehead. "Dance of Life," by Havelock Ellis, English psychologist and essayist. In this work he sums up the philosophy of life. "The Skyline Inn," "Haines," "The Swan and the Mule," "Maceo," "Stella Darras," "Presty," "Gullible Travellers," by Whitehead. "Dance of Life," by Havelock Ellis, English psychologist and essayist. READ THE DECLARATION

Ask a grown-up on the Fourth of July what the day commemorates and he will probably say it was the throwing off of the British yoke. Ask a small boy and he will say it's the day to shoot firecrackers—if he lives in a community not yet blessed with the sine Fourth—or the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. He'll probably know more about the lad who shouted to his grandfather to ring for Liberty, than he will know about the declaration document itself.

If there are 10 minutes to spare before the family starts to park or country club or to picnic in the country, it wouldn't spoil the day at all to gather them together to read aloud the first two and the last paragraphs of the Declaration of Independence.

What lies between is a concise statement of specific wrongs and is of less importance today than it was when written. But the rest is so clear a presentation of the fundamental ideals of the United States of America and of free freedom-loving democracy, that it's mere reading renews one's faith in ourselves as a nation. It should also inspire us to work out today's problems in accordance with the principles of that Declaration.

There are tyrannies today as bad as anything the British government of the 18th century inflicted on its American colonies. There are injustices within our own borders and denial of the rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. They are harder to throw off than was George III, but when they are gone we will have achieved a higher degree of independence than heretofore.

THE NEW FLAG

Atlantic liners of British registry are carrying a new flag, unrecognizable by most seagoing people. It is green, white and yellow. It is the emblem of the Irish Free State, and the liners display it in honor of Ireland when entering the port of Queenstown, on their way to or from America.

But before long there will be Irish ships at sea, no doubt, flying that flag regularly in home and foreign waters alike, as our ships fly the Stars and Stripes. It is evidence to tourists, and to all the world, that Ireland at last is a self-governing nation.

MORE WAR REFORM

From Washington comes word that the United States government is working on details of a treaty which, through the most drastic regulations, will attempt to curtail the use of airplanes in time of war. A committee of jurists at the Hague, working in accordance with resolutions passed at the Washington arms conference, is helping to draft the document. It aims, in effect, at an amendment to the laws of war.

This latest amendment, like so many others since men first undertook to lessen the horrors of international conflict, is primarily designed to mitigate the suffering of non-combatants. The development of the airplane and of gases of almost unparalleled lethal qualities has led to the well-grounded fear that, since modern wars are wars of peoples as well as of armies, the destruction of whole cities and the extermination of populations may be undertaken as a plausible defensive measure.

It is perfectly true that another war may well result in the wrecking of what we call civilization, spiritual as well as material. We must hope

THAT OUGHT TO HOLD HIM FOR A WHILE

But Sir James interrupted him. "Mr. Brown's methods are not so accurate. The message we must send for a dog, but before we do so, is there anything in this room that might be of value to us?"

Exactly, the three searched. A charged mass in the grate indicated that Mrs. Vandemeyer had been bringing papers on the eve of her flight. Nothing of importance remained, though they searched the other rooms as well.

"There's that," said Tuppence suddenly, pointing to a small, old-fashioned safe set into the wall. "It's for jewelry, I believe, but there might be something else in it."

The key was in the lock, and Julius swung open the door, and searched inside. He was some time over the task.

"Well," said Tuppence impatiently. "There was a pause before Julius answered, then he withdrew his head and shut the door.

"Nothing," he said.

In five minutes a brisk young doctor arrived, hastily summoned. He was deferential to Sir James, whom he recognized.

"Failure, or possibly an overdose of some sleeping-draught," he smiled. "Rather an odor of chloral in the air."

Tuppence remembered the glass she had upset. A new thought drove her to the washstand. She found the little bottle of chloral. Vandemeyer had poured a few drops.

It had been three parts full. Now it was empty.

CHAPTER IX
A Constellation

Nothing was more surprising and bewildering to Tuppence than the ease and simplicity with which everything was arranged, owing to Sir James' skillful handling. The doctor accepted quite readily the theory that Mrs. Vandemeyer had accidentally taken an overdose of chloral. He doubted whether an inquest would be necessary. Sir James and his young friends had been paying a call upon her, when she was suddenly stricken down and they had spent the night in the flat, not liking to leave her alone. Did they know of any relief? They did not, but Sir James referred him to Mrs. Vandemeyer's solicitor.

Shortly afterward a nurse arrived to take charge, and the others left the ill-omened building.

"And what now?" asked Julius, with a gesture of despair. "I guess we're down and out for good."

Sir James stroked his chin thoughtfully.

"No," he said quietly. "There is still the chance that Doctor Hall may be able to tell us something. The chance is slight, but it must not be neglected.

I think a spin you that he is staying at the Metropole. I should wonder if that was the place you had in mind as possible."

It was arranged that Tuppence and Julius should return to the flat, and call for Sir James in the car. This program was faithfully carried out, and a little while after they drove up before the Metropole. They asked for Doctor Hall, and a page-boy went in search of him. In a few minutes the little doctor came hurrying toward them.

"Can you spare us a few minutes, Doctor Hall?" said Sir James pleasantly. "Let me introduce you to Miss Cotter, Mr. Harshelmeier, I think you already know. Can we have a word with you in private?"

"Certainly. I think there is a room here where we shall be quite undisturbed."

He led the way, and the others followed him. They sat down, and the doctor looked inquiringly at Sir James.

"Doctor Hall, I am very anxious to find a certain young lady for the purpose of obtaining a statement from her. I have reason to believe that she has been at one time or another in your establishment at Bournemouth. I hope I am transgressing no professional etiquette in questioning you on the subject?"

"I suppose it is a matter of testimony?"

Sir James hesitated a moment, then he replied: "Yes."

"I shall be pleased to give you any information in my power. What is the young lady's name? Mr. Harshelmeier asked me, I remember. He half turned to Julius.

"Zooey?" she said. "It's going to be a gorgeous day. And we shall find Tommy. And Jane Finn. And everything will be lovely. I shall ask Mr. Carter if I can't be made a Dame!"

At seven o'clock Tuppence volunteered to go and make some tea. She returned with a tray, containing the teapot and four cups.

"Who's the other cup for?" inquired Julius.

"The prisoner, of course. Perhaps you'd both come, in case she springs on me, or anything. You see, we don't know what mood she'll wake up in."

Sir James and Julius accompanied her to the door.

"Where's the key? Oh, of course, I've got it myself."

She put it in the lock, and turned it, then paused.

"Supposing, after all, she's escaped?" she murmured in a whisper.

"Plumb impossible," replied Julius reassuringly.

But Sir James said nothing. Tuppence drew a long breath and entered. She heaved a sigh of relief as she saw that Mrs. Vandemeyer was lying on the bed.

"Good morning," she remarked cheerfully. "I've brought you some tea."

Mrs. Vandemeyer did not reply. Tuppence put down the cup on the table by the bed and went across to draw up the blinds. When she turned, Mrs. Vandemeyer still lay without a movement. With a sudden fear clutching at her heart, Tuppence ran to the bed. The hand she lifted was cold as ice.

"Mrs. Vandemeyer would never speak now."

Her cry brought the others. A very few minutes sufficed. Mrs. Vandemeyer was dead—must have been dead some hours. She had evidently died in her sleep.

"If that isn't the cruellest luck," cried Julius in despair.

The lawyer was calmer, but there was a curious gleam in his eyes.

"It is a luck," he replied.

"You don't think—but say, that's plumb impossible—no one could have got in."

"No," admitted the lawyer. "I don't see how they could. And yet—she is on the point of betraying Mr. Brown, and—she dies. Is it only chance?"

"But how—"

"Yes, how! That is what we must find out. He stood there silently, gently stroking his chin. "We must and out," he said quietly, and Tuppence felt that if she was Mr. Brown she would not like the tone of those simple words.

Julius' glance went to the window. "The window's open," he remarked. "Do you think—"

Tuppence shook her head.

"The balcony only goes along as far as the balcony. We were there."

"He might have slipped out—"

OUR DAY OF INDEPENDENCE

The Eagle, tearing its nest from high in the crag and dashing it into the abyss below that her young may learn to fly, or die—that is the dauntless symbol of our Nation.

TODAY, Earth's Greatest Nation celebrates its birthday.

One Hundred Forty-seven years ago America's forefathers flung free to the world the Eagle's challenge—then Liberty was born.

Since July Fourth, that distant day, garments of glory have been woven for America's Sons; great victories have been won on the field of industry, commerce and finance; from out the crucible-of-our wars great spirits sprung.

But the deeper significance of the day smolders in American hearts, and when the sound of blowing horns, ringing bells and revelry dies down, the whole Nation thrills with its sense of Independence and lives again the scenes that have made possible our life-long Liberty and Freedom.

Twin Falls was "all set" Tuesday evening for the Fourth of July in fitting style and the members of the celebration committee put the finishing touches on arrangements, in preparation for record crowds expected for the big free program.

The downtown streets Tuesday evening were filled with automobiles and people of interest gathered in all activities under way at that time for the celebration. The national colors were much in evidence. Workmen were busy employed on a dam and construction stands on Shoshone street north from Main avenue, and the merry-go-round at Shoshone and Third avenue east of the new business district during the evening.

No admission charges will be made for the feature attractions. The committee in charge give notice that the various events will be held absolutely according to schedule and that one event will not be held up awaiting the completion of the one preceding.

Begins at 10 A. M.

Following the band concert the first attraction will be the baseball game at Lincoln field. The game will be between the Eden and Hanson teams with both teams in fighting trim.

The swimming contests will be staged under the supervision of Central Bledsoe at the Natatorium and expectations are that this event will again attract the record crowds that witnessed the event last year. The same schedule and same prizes as last year will be on the program. The contest begins at 11 o'clock.

The bicycle races for boys and girls of all ages will attract many to Shoshone street, near the city park, at 11:30 o'clock. Both fast and slow races will be run.

At noon the shady places at the city park will beckon to the visitors bringing picnic lunches and at 12:30 o'clock a special concert will be given by the Twin Falls band.

At 1:30 p. m. celebration activities will give way for a time to the observance of the real meaning of Independence Day, following graduation from the Kansas university in that year. He came to Twin Falls in 1913 and two years later joined in partnership with Judge Walker, with whom he has remained continuously.

Then comes the big event of the day, the wild west bucking contest at Lincoln field. The committee was informed that will be composed of five men on each side, each team representing some town in this vicinity.

Bough Riding to Feature.

Then comes the big event of the day, the wild west bucking contest at Lincoln field. The committee was informed that will be composed of five men on each side, each team representing some town in this vicinity.

In the evening the fireworks display will take place near the high school building. Arthur Peters, formerly assistant chief of the fire department, will set off the display. He has presided in this event for the past four years.

Free motion pictures will be shown during the day and in the evening at the Lavinger theater.

The decorations committee is requesting the merchants to leave the lights on in front of the stores during the evening to add to the brilliancy of the occasion.

Decline Shown in High Temperature

High temperature declined considerably on Tuesday as compared with the record high marks of the previous days.

Eighty-two degrees, a drop of about 10 degrees, was recorded as maximum for the day. Minimum remained at 54 degrees, practically the same as the low mark of the two previous days.

Way Cleared for Granting Permit

The protest against granting the certificate of convenience and necessity for the Rogerson-Wells railroad withdrawn Tuesday by E. V. Ahern on behalf of the Idaho-Nevada-California company, cause for further delay on action by the interstate commerce commission was placed at a minimum and it was expected that but few days more should pass before the certificate is granted, enabling the Union Pacific to begin construction.

Mr. Ahern withdrew his protest from the interstate commerce commission Tuesday and signified his intentions of pleading the claim in the district court. His attorney, E. V. Larson, stated that the complaint would probably be filed late this week in which Mr. Ahern will seek $15,000 for engineering services in connection with the early survey of the proposed road. Apparently the Idaho Central will be the defendant in the suit.

"The withdrawal of this protest removes the last obstacle in the way of granting of the certificate," said Congressman Addison T. Smith. "In view of the assurance recently given me by the chairman of the commission, favorable action should be taken by that body very soon. The certificate will no doubt be granted within a few days after the questionnaire is returned to the commission by the railroad company."

D. D. Bonis was the honor guest at a dinner given Tuesday by his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Aull, at her home, in honor of Mr. Bonis' eightieth birthday. The informal affair was greatly enjoyed and was attended by a few close friends and relatives. Mr. Bonis, who is a member of the O. A. B., is one of the few local veterans of the Civil war.

Mrs. Henry J. Wall entertained at a charmingly appointed luncheon Tuesday in honor of Miss Beatrice Ostrander. The centerpiece for the table was a big, Junco bird, filled with pale pink roses, at either end of the table crystal candlesticks hold black and white candles. Covers were marked by black and white place cards and a pink ribbon hid the heart of which was placed the just cup. Following luncheon needlework and conversation made the hours pass pleasantly. Those present were: Miss Ostrander, Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mrs. Merrill Batley, Mrs. Zach North, Mrs. William Macaulay, Mrs. Sidney Graves, Mrs. Dorman Johnson, Mrs. Harry Alexander, Mrs. J. E. Aull, Mrs. Edna Filer, Mrs. Harry Benoit, Mrs. Wilton Peck and Miss Florence Costello.

The Henry W. Walling Circle No. 36, Ladies of the G. A. R., met with Mrs. Joseph Kooser at the Rogerson hotel on Monday evening, the president, Mrs. Peck, presiding.

Mrs. W. W. Humphrey gave a report of the department convention at Eau Claire in June and thanked the ladies for their contributions toward the benefit of the department president's jewel presented to her at the state convention.

She stated it was a very pleasant surprise to her to be given that honor at the convention in the presence of the national president of the organization, Mrs. Eva J. French of California, who was present during the three days of the convention. The most ladies entertained the convention royally and in appreciation Miss Katherine Mann of Emmett was elected state president, although she had her first appearance at a state convention.

The circle sang "Guard the Flag," and "America" with Mrs. Bert Macari and Mrs. J. E. Aull. Mrs. Aull accepted Mrs. Laird's invitation to hold the next meeting at her home.

After the meeting adjourned Mrs. Keefe invited the ladies to the dining room, where they were seated around a beautifully appointed table, having for a centerpiece a bouquet of red roses and had red candles in crystal candlesticks. At the end of the table a delicious three-course luncheon. With the ice cream came favors, small silk American flags. A good attendance was present.

Mrs. F. C. Patterson, who baked the cakes for the Idaho, and Alford & McGowan, who gave the demonstration, will bake cakes at her home. Phone 609W.—adv.
