HOOVER FAVORS PROTECTION OF SALMON SUPPLY

Secretary Asserts Number of Fish Taken Must Be Reduced and Measure Adopted for Propagation

ABOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON, July 24. (AP)—Declaring "scientific statements, scientific discussion and political oratory will not save salmon," Secretary Hoover as head of the governmental department having to do with Alaskan fisheries, asserted in a statement today that there must be a temporary reduction in the number of fish taken from Alaskan waters and that the same time there must be constructive measures for enlarging propagation. Otherwise, he said, salmon fishing, now one of the largest of Alaska's industries, will be lost in a few years.

Mr. Hoover, in his statement, which was based on close range study given the Alaskan fisheries question while in the territory a member of President Harding's party, expressed hope that congress would act at the forthcoming session to give federal administrative agencies more constructive powers. Any new legislation, he added, must be of the broadest scope possible as the method of regulation must vary with each of the various methods of dealing with problems of wide human and property interest, should afford a method of appeal to some independent commission or authority. The secretary said he had found support among Alaskans for action taken by federal government in creating fish reserves in western Alaska by executive order, and in order to obtain advice as to the administration of those reserves and as to the best form needed legislation should take, he proposed to create in Alaska an advisory board.

JOHNSON HOLDS SECRET CONFAB

California Senator Meets Mayor Hylan But Refuses to Comment on Presidential Race

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—An informal call of Mayor Hylan and an equally informal luncheon at the national republican club were the principal events of today on the program of Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, whose return from Europe yesterday was heralded by his friends as the launching of his candidacy for the presidency of the United States.

Senator Johnson refused to discuss with newspaper men either his views on the 1924 political situation or on the present European situation. After his conference with the mayor he returned to his hotel, where he said he would work until late tonight on a speech he will deliver tomorrow night at a dinner given in his honor by admirers who were recalled as "Bull Moose" supporters in the campaign.

Mayor Hylan has accepted an invitation to attend this dinner.

Bolshew Hylan Is Aide

The conference with the mayor aroused considerable comment in political circles today, in view of the fact that Mayor Hylan in a recent speech at Ogdenburg gave observers a start when he declared voters were drifting toward a third party and away from the ranks of the democrats and republicans. It was also recalled that Senator Johnson and Mayor Hylan, whose administration is supported by newspapers owned by William Randolph Hearst, held frequent conferences two years ago when New York City retained the senator as special counsel in a legal battle over the transit situation.

Senator Johnson refused to comment on his talk with the mayor, however, and George Henry Payne, city tax commissioner and active in state republican politics, who accompanied the senator to the city hall, denied the meeting had any political significance. Mr. Payne was a campaign manager for the late Theodore Roosevelt when he ran on the Bull Moose ticket.

Renewed Acquaintances

Mr. Payne also denied that politics had been discussed at the republican club luncheon. There was only a handful of guests, and newspaper men were not admitted. Senator Johnson said he merely had renewed old acquaintances and had, of course, talked informally of his trip to Europe, where he conferred with statesmen of many countries, including soviet Russia.

The senator was adamant to requests that he outline his political and European opinions. Hence political New York waited with interest the dinner tomorrow night when it was expected both these subjects would be touched upon in Senator Johnson's address.

Federal Judge Accepts Bid of $3,500,000 for Willy-Overland Paper; Protective Clause Inserted

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Federal Judge John O. Knox today accepted a bid of $3,500,000 for 730,800 shares of Willy-Overland corporation common stock, with a clause which protects 6000 holders of first preferred stock.

The action was taken at the resumption of yesterday's hearing in the suit in equity receivership of the Willy-Overland corporation of Toledo. Today's bid presented by Thomas H. Tracey, was an increase of $500,000 over the bid offered by the same interests yesterday, and on which Judge Knox reserved decision.

SCHWAB APPEARS IN MORSE TRIAL

Famed Steel Magnate Injects Bits of Humor into Testimony in War Case

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—One of a number of notables summoned at one time or another by the defense, Charles M. Schwab went on the witness stand today to testify for Charles W. Morse and others, charged with conspiracy in connection with war-time ship-building operations.
 Mr. Schwab, describing himself as a manufacturer and an "engineer in human endeavor," was a jovial witness, and more than once during his testimony the strict decorum of the courtroom was broken by laughter at some of his expressions.
 This was particularly true when he pointed some good-natured quips in the direction of the three sons of Mr. Morse, who are on trial with him.
 "I told Charles W. Morse," said the witness describing his efforts while head of the Emergency Fleet corporation to speed up ship-building, "that relatives were no good in business."
 "Most rich men's sons," said Mr. Schwab, "won't work like I want people to work for me."
 The witness said the Morse ship yards never had intentionally delayed work on government ships; that the plants were in excellent condition, and that he at one time had urged a government loan of $750,000 to Morse. No risk dangerous methods had stood in the way of getting ships when they were vitally needed. When he left the fleet corporation, he testified, he took the Morse, along with other shipbuilders, for their co-operation in furthering the war aims.

EXPLORER ASKS ANNEXATION OF NORTHERN ISLE

Stefansson Urges British Officials to Take Over Wrangell Island, Involved in Several Controversies

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—As a cooling receipt from heated common debates on subjects of international moment, British officials are occasionally occupied during the unusually torrid summer in hearing Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, urge British annexation of Wrangell island, the bit of controversial land in the north polar seas to which the United States, Great Britain and Russia have claims at different times during the last century.

There is yet no indication that Stefansson is likely to succeed in his object. The foreign office is extremely reluctant in discussion of possible annexation, its semi-official statement being limited to the declaration that the British government has not formulated a policy. Russian officials in London, however, are not so backward. They assert with great positiveness that Wrangell island is theirs and that the soviet are well prepared to protect their lands from British territorial ambitions.

Stefansson told the Associated Press that his mission to England is really to get a proffer of importance than the annexation of Wrangell or any other bit of land to the British empire.

North Lands Valuable.

"In fact," he said, "I have undertaken the arduous task of teaching my fellow Britons that the world is really a fact generally accepted but rarely visualized—and that within a few decades one of the most valuable regions on the earth's surface will be the northern polar islands which will be bases for air routes crossing the poles of the world in courses from America to Europe and Asia.

"When aviation across the northern sea is developed, as it is certain to be, all lands bordering the sea will assume immense strategic importance and it is only natural to wish for Wrangell, for which I established British claims in 1914, and again in 1921, to become part of the British empire."

U. S. Has Next Claim.

If the British renounce their claims Stefansson considers the United States will have the best title to the islands because of the landing there of Americans in 1881, but if neither nation asserts ownership the islands may go to the Japanese, who he says are aware of its future importance.

Russia's claims on Wrangell are dismissed by Stefansson as worthless. He believes, the man after whom the island is named, although a Swede in the service of the Russian government, never approached closer than 30 miles to the island, and no authoritative claim has ever been established since.

"What Road's This?" "Dunno."

The limited horizon of childhood was illustrated aptly for a motorcar load of explorers who found themselves at a crossroads a few miles east of Holiday, Kan., without more than a general idea which way to turn. Two boys each about eight years old, were trying to catch a turtle in a middle. "What road's this?" the driver asked, pointing to the crossroad. After a moment of frowning concentration, in chorus: "I dunno."

"Well, where does this one go straight ahead?"

"Oh," said the taller, "that goes to the store and the schoolhouse!"

And both severed relations by grabbing again for the turtle.

RADIO HELPED BALLOONIST WIN BIG RACE

LEUTENANT E. F. OLMSTEAD, winner of the Indianapolis balloon race.

LEUTENANT E. F. OLMSTEAD, winner of the Indianapolis balloon race to determine the three entries to represent the United States in the James Gordon Bennett race in Europe this fall, gives the radio credit for his victory.

Equipped with a light-weight set, he was able to listen to weather reports of upper air currents broadcast from five of the principal stations of the country, night and morning, while the balloons were in the air. Another use he found for his radio was in approaching thunder shower areas, the most dreaded interference after a balloonist leaves the ground. Long before lightning strikes could be seen the cracking of the static in his receiver warned him of the approach of the storm. Lieutenant Olmstead's radio-equipped balloon is shown in the air.

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 24 (AP)—"Intruder," a little sloop, owned and manned by three brothers, won the sixteenth annual Mackinac cup race, longest fresh water yacht contest in the world.

She was driven to victory over the 331-mile course from Chicago to Mackinac island in weather and seas that at various stages were almost ideal for every one of her 16 competitors.

Dorello, the big Milwaukee sloop, which showed her heels to the rest of the fleet throughout nearly the whole race, the first across the finish line, despite the fact that she lost a topsail during yesterday's squall. She went over the line at 4:30 a. m., after 60 hours and 20 minutes actual sailing time. The Intruder went over at 5:23 a. m. The winner, however, had a six-hour time allowance, which gave her an easy victory.

COMMUNISTS GAIN IN GERMAN LABOR ELECTION

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—In the elections held throughout Germany of delegates to the forthcoming Metal Workers' congress at Cassel, the returns show that the communists are winning all along the line and that the Social Democrats everywhere are in the minority. There have been many abstentions from voting, however, particularly in Berlin, where only 40 per cent of the metal workers cast ballots.

LEAGUE DENIES INDICTED MAN WAS FAITHLESS

Anti-Saloon Organization Unanimously Reaffirms Confidence in Anderson; Pledge Support in Coming Trial

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—The board of directors of the anti-saloon league of New York today unanimously returned confidence in the integrity of William H. Anderson, state superintendent of that organization, indicted last week for forgery and grand larceny, in a statement issued by the administration of the league's affairs.

The directors pledged the league's support to Mr. Anderson in his coming trial. A statement issued by the directors said in part:

"In the face of facts known to us, we denounce the indictments against Mr. Anderson as a monstrous perversion of justice, apparently perpetrated to destroy this man because he has been true to the interests of the church and to represent and apparently also designed to crush the influence of these churches in the direction of the enforcement of the supreme law of the land."

Authorized Payment
"We admit that Mr. Anderson received the money mentioned in the indictments for grand larceny, but this money was received by its legal power had previously unconditionally authorized its payment, has since ratified it, now approves it and upholds it, and squarely denies that the league has been robbed of a penny."

LAUSANNE PACT

played across from the surrounding hills.

The British delegation left for home tonight, the others will go tomorrow, leaving only the Americans and Turks, who are still engaged in negotiations over the Turco-American treaty.

MAY SETTLE TURK TREATY.

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Signing of the Lausanne peace treaty today may be followed by final agreement on terms of the Turkish American treaty. A family tomorrow or Thursday, it is believed here, although unofficial reports from Lausanne earlier in the week indicated that obstacles had arisen in the negotiations between Ismet Pasha and Joseph Grew, representing the state department.

Officials were reticent today as to the negotiations and a lengthy interchange by cable with Mr. Grew but it was apparent that they would not be surprised if the treaty was in shape for final agreement before Ismet Pasha leaves for Angora on Thursday, as he has announced intention.

Action Not Urgent.

In view of the fact that the most important matter under consideration at Lausanne was the restoration of peace in the Near East through the treaty signed today, there has been no disposition in Washington to press for urgent consideration for the Turk fish-American pact. There is no compelling reason, in the American view, why the separate treaty must be completed at this time.

In some of the matters still to be adjusted, it is understood, the question of the exact formula to be applied is the only one not to be settled. There are other points, however, on which postponement of the negotiations would not be of material importance, desirable as it would be to clear up all subjects susceptible to treaty adjustment at this time.

SOCIETY GIRLS ARE VICTIMS OF ARTIST

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Joseph Sweeney, an art photographer, was fined $200 in police court today after he had admitted that he had induced about 50 girls of Oak Park, Ill., many of them from the same family, to pose for photographs thinly draped, or undressed, and had then sold the pictures. Two girls who appeared in the pictures said they had consented to pose after he had flattered them, offering to obtain positions for them in the movies if the pictures were satisfactory.

GUARD CUTTER PREPARES TO BATTLE RUM RUNNERS

Commander of New York Coast Guard Headquarters Sends Fast Prohibition Boat to Dock for More Guns

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Any rum runner who opens fire on United States coast guard cutters is going to get it back.

Captain Byron L. Reed, commanding United States coast guard headquarters, made this quite plain today when Commander A. J. Ahearn of the Seminole reported to him that he had withdrawn his craft from the British schooner Thoradyke off Rum Row last night after an alien had threatened to "kill the prohibition agents full of lead."

Ahearn, however, did not depart before seizing a motor dory with 20 cases of liquor which, he said, he had withdrawn his craft from the British schooner Thoradyke off Rum Row last night after an alien had threatened to "kill the prohibition agents full of lead."

The case of the Thoradyke has been referred to Washington. The Seminole will be well able to obey Captain Reed's orders in the future, for she went into the Brooklyn navy yard today to be equipped with eight new type guns and a powerful radio set.

STATE ALLEGES

Mr. Maloney devoted much of his brief to describing the intimacy which he alleged existed between Maxwell and Mrs. Ryan.

According to Maloney, Maxwell, who, he said, began life as a piano tuner on the Isle of Wight, traveled to London in 1914, where he met and married Mrs. Ryan, who was then the wife and later visited her at York Harbor, Maine. She, Maloney set forth, had in turn visited him in his New York apartment.

In support of his allegations, Maloney quoted radiograms which he said had been exchanged between Maxwell and Mrs. Ryan at one time when he was in New York and she was on the high seas. One of these messages, quoted by the prosecutor, and which he alleged to have been sent by Mrs. Ryan, read in part:

"I am counting the hours. I will be there to meet you in Paris. Love, love, love. Love of life."

Altogether, Maloney charged Maxwell with writing 135 poison pen letters.

Maddened Swordfish Pursues Fisherman to Port of Safety

MONTAUK, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—A 900-pound swordfish, lanced by a lance cast by Royce Amman, sent rambos and fishermen scampering to all parts of Montauk bay yesterday afternoon. Amman spied the monster when he was within 300 yards from shore. Cutting half the bottom of his boat away with a saw for the lance, the huge fish ignored the crew it had sent floundering into the water and rushed around seeking more boats to scuttle. Elsie Amman put out in a power trawler, rescued his brother, who was having difficulty in keeping his head above water, and succeeded in killing the monster after 10 minutes of shooting.

COULD MAKE PROFIT BY FEEDING WHEAT TO HOGS

Report from Agricultural Colleges of Middle West Claim Low Prices Leave No Margin in Market Sales

KANSAS CITY, July 24 (AP)—At present prices wheat could be advantageously fed to hogs instead of corn, according to reports from the state schools of agriculture of Missouri and Kansas, made public today. With corn worth 85 cents a bushel, wheat is worth $1.11, when fed to hogs, L. A. Weaver, head of the Missouri agricultural experiment station, said. Feeding of wheat to hogs would enable the farmer to get his hogs to market early, said H. Umberger, head of the extension service of the Kansas state agricultural college.

THREATEN LIVES OF MOVIE FOLKS

Police Investigate Anonymous Letters Associated with Slaying of Director

MARTINEZ, Cal., July 24 (AP)—Albert Sans, said by the police to have written threatening letters to Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, and to Mack Sennett, motion picture producer, in connection with the slaying in 1921 of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, was arrested here today. He is being held at the county jail while officers are investigating assertions made in letters to Cecil Hitchcock of Oakland, that the writer knew "all about the Taylor murder."

In Sans' cabin, where he was captured, officers found a suit case full of newspaper clippings relating to the Taylor murder. They also found penciled letters addressed to Miss Normand and Bennett. He told officers that it had been his custom to write the letter in longhand and then to copy them on a typewriter.

Sans had been employed as a railroad section hand for the past year. He is about 45 years old. After officers had read many of the letters found in Sans' possession they declared Sans was suffering under an hallucination that he was the slayer of Taylor and that he was engaged to marry Miss Normand. Hitchcock swore out a warrant of insanity against Sans. The case will be heard tomorrow morning.

I. W. W. STRIKE CALLED.

HOBOKEN, N. J., July 24 (AP)—Officials of the marine transport workers' division of the Industrial Workers of the World today called a strike of longshoremen along the Hoboken waterfront, which, they asserted, had tied up eight ships. Fourteen hundred men went out, the I. W. W. officials said, 900 of whom were members of the I. W. W.

Blank shirts included. Americans spend 16.6 per cent of their income for clothing.

FAIL TO SOLVE MYSTERY OF MISSING CONTRACTOR

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Search for Frederick Siebold, Jr., missing president of the German Building corporation, was continued tonight despite statements of business associates that the affairs of the construction company were in good financial condition. Siebold at first reported that between $100,000 and $150,000 of the construction concern's funds were missing. Tonight, however, it was said that while Siebold might have left a personal shortage of $75,000 or $85,000, there was no shortage of the company's accounts.

There were reports today that the missing construction contractor was in Chicago and had called up one of his foremen. Other reports were that he was in Wisconsin. Mrs. Siebold declared that he had no reason for running away and expressed a belief that he would soon reappear.

A search also was made for a young woman with whom Siebold was said to have been friendly and who disappeared at the same time. Friends of hers, however, said she was at her home in Eldorado, Ill.

Robinson, general manager of the association. The plan, whereby but one-third of a farmer's wheat will be placed in the pool without reservation, was agreed upon by directors of the organization in session yesterday. Mr. Robinson announced.

The action was taken as part of the attorney general's crusade under the blue sky law against alleged fraudulent stock brokers, under the authority of the Martin act, alleged to have made that the defendants had not sufficient funds to back the issuance of securities to the public as contemplated.

SHIPPING RIVALRY

One of the features of the Levathan's first trip across the Atlantic as an American passenger ship was a luncheon given at Southampton to 500 English shipping men and public officials.

So they will. All good Americans hope that the government, in operating ocean shipping, will give no cause of legitimate complaint to other countries.

CHAPTER I

In the old French quarter of New Orleans, there sits a house built by the great Marigny, who once owned all this portion of the town. This house has sheltered princes. Men numbering their slaves by the thousand have sat beneath its tapestries and sconces. Now it is a ruinous hovel.

CHAPTER II

As one of these tables sat two men, under the broken clock on the wall. One was a Chinaman, or passed for such. In reality he was a Manchou who made his living by distilling illicit spirits down on the Gulf coast.

It is a pleasure to turn from the scientific investigator with his array of chemical test tubes and a measuring device and a process and a peripatetic deductive method into the detective of fiction who is to police methods in the man and not the man in the method.

John Solomon is an author who has written a very thrilling and interesting story and gives it the exact amount of truth that a man of the experience and travels. There is wonder in his very exciting tale. It is a story that is not only a piece of the world, but is largely a story of the world.

He popped into the cab and lighted his pipe. "For a space he sat motionless, while the car took the route out to Metairie, then he removed his shabby cap and shook his head.

"So she is up 'ere with 'er blessed uncle, is she?" asked Solomon. "Yes, for a week of the opera. I understand that she is fighting the Macarty's. They have great influence. I imagine that the girl was brought here for a time so that Felix Macarty, who remained at the island, might remove Philbrick. The old fool is a dreamer, is drunk most of the time, and is terribly afraid of the Macarty's."

"I have met her often. We have talked much together. She is a flower whose petals have not been touched by any harsh wind. I would do much to save her, Mr. Solomon."

"I am not sure," the Manchou leaned forward. He dipped his fingers in the dregs of his tea and upon the dirty tablecloth drew a faint outline. "Here is Oypemont island on the bayou. The larger portion, so, is the Lavergne plantation. This thin strip, across the bayou, is the Macarty plantation. During the war, David Macarty made much money. When ever Miss Lavergne comes to New Orleans, she comes in the Macarty steam yacht, with David or Felix Macarty as escort. She would believe no ill of them. Yet they have ruined her, and hold her in a net from which she cannot escape."
