PRICE FIVE CENTS

OPEN STRAITS TO PASSAGE OF U. S. FLEETS

Without Signing Convention Diplomats Win Points on Use of Sea Lanes and Resident Property Taxes

LAUSANNE, July 28 (AP)—The American and Turkish experts reached an agreement tonight whereby the United States receives the most favored nations treatment concerning the freedom of the straits for merchant ships and warships. The United States without signing the straits convention will receive all privileges. Also it will be restricted by all limitations imposed by that convention, which gives other signatory powers the right to maintain three warships, not exceeding 10,000 tons each, in the straits. There is a substituting privilege, that each power may have any number of ships as there are possessed by any country bordering on the Black Sea. This, of course, includes Russia, which has decided to adhere to the straits treaty.

Omit Details

The clause in the Turko-American treaty covering these questions does not go into details of the regulations code set forth in the straits convention, but refers to them in blanket form.

Another important matter agreed on tonight was that concerning the collection of taxes on American companies and American individuals in Turkey. A declaration in the treaty will apply the provisions contained in the allies' treaty. From May 15 of this year Turkey agreed not to collect taxes on American individuals, but back taxes have been paid Americans cannot claim a refund.

Continue Meeting

Another meeting of the experts will be held tomorrow. The American and Turkish experts probably will require additional advice from Ankara and Washington, respectively, before they are able to conclude the treaty. The treaty will cover the protection of Christian populations in Turkey and the question of claims for damages suffered by Americans in Turkey during the war.

Board Will Study Warehouse Project

Twin Falls County Commissioners to Be Represented at Pocatello Conference

Twin Falls county's board of commissioners will be represented by O. E. Carlson, Twin Falls, at a conference called by the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce to be held there Monday to consider the organization for a southern and southeastern Idaho of a terminal elevator and warehouse district under provisions of an act of the 1921 session of the Idaho legislature.

Under this law counties included in the proposed district must declare their intention in this respect by resolution adopted by their board of commissioners on or before September 1, 1923.

In its invitation and letter setting forth the purposes of the Pocatello conference addressed to members of the board, the chamber of commerce declares that neglect to embrace the opportunity for the formation of the proposed elevator and warehouse district will result in a loss to the farmers this fall that will amount to more than the entire cost estimated necessary for the elevator to hold the wheat until the price advances later in the season.

Members of the board Saturday were disposed to reserve comment on the proposition. Their attitude was one of desire to learn more of the law's operation and of the possible benefits to producers here that might be expected to result from the formation of the proposed district.

"We shall undoubtedly gather valuable information on the subject in the Pocatello conference," Mr. Carlson said.

Counties which may be included in the proposed district which is one of three provided for under the law, are Lemhi, Custer, Camia, Blaine, Gooding, Lincoln, Teton, Jerome, Minidoka, Cassin, Owyhee, Franklin, Bear Lake, Bannock, Power, Caribou, Blaine, Bonneville, Butte, Jefferson, Madison, Teton, Fremont, and Blaine.

The chamber of commerce invitation announces a regular luncheon meeting of the Pocatello real estate board to be held Monday at which the delegates to the conference will be honored guests.

IOWA SENATOR AIMS GUNS AT STANDPATTERS

Brookheart Threatens to "Clean" Opponents Off Committee; Denies Being Propaganda Victim on Trip

ELDON, Iowa, July 28 (AP)—"I am ready to fight and fight to the finish to clean every standpatter of every big committee in congress, and I don't care what party label he wears," Senator Smith W. Brookheart of Iowa, shouted to a grandstand full of members of the Iowa Farmers' union, their wives and their children, assembled on the fair grounds here for a state picnic of that order.

Making the most of the hub in the whirl of a low-flying airplane, squawking balloons and the shouts of the cold drink peddlers, Senator Brookheart managed to make heard a recital of his experiences and observations during his recent tour of 17 European countries. While the noise and clamor may have caused the crowd to miss a few statistics there was no indication of any lagging enthusiasm for Brookheart among the more than 5000 people assembled from southeastern Iowa to hear him.

Some of his address had the familiar ring of his primary and November campaign comments on the railroads and the federal reserve bank, but the travogue features predominated.

"Got Correct Views."

Russia, which the senator held up as the coming competition with the American farmer by the virtue of its agricultural comeback, he claimed to have seen through unimpaired glasses and to have heard through the lips of unprejudiced interpreters.

"I did not need an interpreter to see the 2000 miles of flourishing crops I saw in Russia, nor to talk to the American professors and librarians at several of the agricultural colleges I visited in the country," he boasted.

"When the unfair press of some czarist who has been kicked out of Russia tells you how the soviet government treats its farmers, you can believe it for the eyes of United States senators, tell them that I admitted seeing some agricultural colleges in which there were

Raiders Destroy "Wobbly" Flag; Toss Records Into the Streets

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Their headquarters raided and practically wrecked, their red organization flag torn down and burned and unable to get any action today out of the Hoboken police, officials of the marine transport workers' division of the Industrial Workers of the World tonight declared they were still "carrying on," with their strike of longshoremen, begun last Tuesday.

The Hoboken headquarters were raided around the noon hour today by a band of 50 men who tossed I. W. W. literature and records into the street, smashed the furniture and carried off the flag, which the I. W. W. had refused to lower yesterday despite the protests of indignant citizens who pointed out that no American flag was displayed.

John Gulanch, secretary of the Hoboken branch of the I. W. W., visited police headquarters seeking warrants, but was refused to come back Monday as there was no judge on hand to issue them.

The raid, it was alleged, was carried out by members of the International Longshoremen's association, who were declared to have been engaged by shipping board officials. The international brooking to break the strike, which some members first joined but later were ordered to return to work.

RAILROAD SEEKS REDUCED RATES

Northern Pacific President to Ask Lower Charge to Compete with Ships

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 28 (AP)—Application for permission for a reduction of rates on through business to the Pacific coast to establish rates which will make it possible for the railroads to compete with vessel lines for this business will be filed soon with the interstate commerce commission by the Northern Pacific railroad, according to Charles Donnelly, president, today.

Mr. Donnelly said that this is the advance step to permit the railroads to participate in part of the business which is now going through the canal. The rail officials also explained that a reduction on this freight to one Pacific coast would produce more volume and, in the end, higher net revenues rather than an increase in rates on farm products.

HARDING WINS OVER ATTACK OF POISONING

Slight Attack of Internal Illness Fails to Quench Zest for Trip Through the West

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, July 28 (AP)—Although still confined to his bed aboard the special train enroute from Seattle to Yosemite national park, President Harding was described today as recovering from the slight attack of poisoning from which he suffered last night and today. Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, his personal physician, said the president Commander Joel T. Boone, medical assistant to General Sawyer, who are in attendance upon the chief executive, said the president was responding to treatment and no complications were probable.

The day of complete rest, although it resulted in disappointment to thousands in a dozen or so Oregon cities through which the presidential train passed, was held by the two physicians to have been a great benefit to Mr. Harding, who had been slightly indisposed for several days or since he ate something which did not agree with him aboard the transport Henderson just before reaching the coast.

Work Explains.
Secretary of the furrier Work himself a physician, was summoned by the president to his compartment and instructed to explain to the people who gathered at the railroad station the reason for his inability to appear. This was done by the secretary at Roseburg and later at Grants Pass.

"You should know at this point," Secretary Work said of Grants Pass "that it comes about that during our last day at sea, many of us were attacked by a temporary indisposition, not so serious, but due to the fact that food put up in a can. I will not say what the item of food was. The indisposition was temporary. All have recovered almost at once, and the president has about recovered."
"Had he been able yesterday to take care of himself he would have been in his usual vigor at this morning, but the reception at Seattle was so cordial and so overwhelming that the hours consumed in a street parade entailed a great physical hardship. He was up two hours in the sun, in the heat, and afterwards spoke to more than 100,000 people at three different times."

President Overtaxed.
"The president was overtaxed. So this morning he called me to ask me to say these things in a confidential way to you, feeling that you who have come in here to welcome him are entitled to his confidence."
"Since leaving Washington," Dr. Work continued, "the president has not appeared himself. He has made many addresses from this platform in his dressing gown. If we come to a town before there was time for him to dress he appeared and he would remain up late at night to greet and speak to the people who came out to meet him."
"While I was getting my instructions I noticed him looking at the dressing gown, and I had a feeling for the moment that he would appear in it before you in it. Even as I looked, the wise and trusty physician sitting in his door keeping the people out and the president in, seemed to put his veto on it and I gave up hope that he would be allowed to meet you at this time."

Expresses Regrets.
"I wish to express the regret which the president feels very keenly at not being able to say to you and to give you the assurance which we all feel that his ailment is merely a temporary one such as we all went through, and we are sure that he will promptly be restored to his normal splendid health."

Several times during the day and tonight President Harding told Dr. Sawyer that he desired personally to greet the people of Oregon, his indisposition notwithstanding, but was hindered from leaving his bed or in any manner interrupting his rest and process of treatment. The doctor's orders even prevented a telephone call which Senators McNary and Stanford of Oregon had requested with the president.

The two senators boarded the presidential train at Eugene early this morning and Senator McNary had brought with him a number of telegrams and petitions from agricultural organizations, which, as chairman of the senate agricultural appropriations sub-committee, had been asked to place before Mr. Harding. Most of these communications urged that congress be called in special session to enact additional farm relief legislation, notably the Gooding wheat price stabilization bill, and measures designed to bring about reductions in freight rates on agricultural products.

The two Oregon senators conferred with Secretary Hoover and were the guests of Mrs. Harding at luncheon. Mrs. Harding throughout the day endeavored as much as possible to take the place of her husband, appearing on the rear platform at the various brief stops. Secretaries Hoover, Wallace and Work also were pressed into service as substitute speakers.

COUZENS SEES CHANGE IN PROHIBITION LAWS

Michigan Senator Lists Three Important National Problems and Predicts Sale of Wine and Beer

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Senator James Couzens of Michigan, called for a vacation trip to Europe today, declaring "railroads, agriculture and the Volstead act" were the three greatest issues before America today. European affairs, he declared, ranked behind these.

Asked to comment on the chances of Henry Ford, his former business associate, for president, Mr. Couzens replied: "Mr. Ford is not an issue and I never discuss anything but issues."
He predicted modification of the Volstead act to permit light wines and beer.

"The handwriting is on the wall," he said.

Girl with Home in Piggery Found by Texas Detectives

EL PASO, Texas, July 28 (AP)—Bared in a pigsty for 10 years through the malice of a vengeful stepmother, a 13-year-old girl was found asleep in the pen, located near the home of her parents, here today, by detectives Ivy Peuley and Ira Ellis.

The child, stunted by the experience to scarcely the stature of a three-year-old, could answer only simple questions.

She said that she always lived in the little pen as far back as she can remember and that her food was always given to her through the bars of the pen.

Neighbors told the officers that her food consisted principally of scraps. Some of them have been taking milk to her pen.

Neighbors told the officers that the child sat with folded hands facing the detectives as if in an attitude of prayer.

The stepmother said the child was put in the pen only to play. County Probation officer, Mrs. Emma Webster, took charge of the child and is hunting a home for her. She is investigating the case further.

Theatres

Lois Wilson, Paramount featured actress, is getting quite a "kick" out of the remark of a woman she met in New York while filming scenes for "Only 28," a William de Mille Paramount picture, which will be the feature at the Idaho theater next Monday and Tuesday. When Miss Wilson was introduced the other (a newspaper woman), looked at her in astonishment.

"Why," she said, "you're young—and pretty."
Miss Wilson has played so many parts in which she sacrificed her natural attractiveness to art that it was perhaps not surprising that this remark should startle her a bit.

In the William de Mille production, "What Every Woman Knows," she was plainly attired and her hair never touched—used probably 28, in "Miss Dulu Bett" she was almost a drudge, possibly 30, also with no concessions to beauty; in "Only 28," in which she plays one of the featured roles, she is—38.

BERLIN GRIPPED BY FOOD CRISIS

Respect for Value of American Dollar and Turn to Speculating Are Causes

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Greater Berlin's food crisis is viewed as one of the direct results of the "dollar cut" whose most ardent devotees may be found in the rural sections, where not only the large agrarians, but the modest truck gardener and dairy farmer have now become "boursa fans."

Ever since the market began its present tobogganing there has been a noticeable interruption in the shipments into Berlin of potatoes, grain, dairy products and beer, and the municipal authorities at first failed to grasp the cause of the hiatus.

The German agrarians now view a pound of butter or a quarter of beef as a "gold value" to be computed on the dollar basis. The extent to which the fluctuation of the mark is reflected in the capital's retail trade is illustrated in the varying price levels named for identical commodities by different dealers in the same neighborhood.

They are explained on the ground that one dealer succeeded in buying in his day's supply before the bourse reports Berlin's mark depreciation, while his competitor across the street is forced to ask higher prices because his purchases were made later and on a less favorable wholesale market.

These price discrepancies form one of the numerous causes for complaint among the shopping public, although the retailers insist there is no remedy in view of the growing practice of estimating food products on the dollar basis.

DEMPSEY-FIRPO CLASH SET FOR SEPTEMBER 14

Champion Will Meet Argentine Brawler at Polo Grounds in 15-Round Fight for Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The next heavyweight boxing bout is on the way.

A Champion Jack Dempsey will meet Luis Angel Firpo of the Argentine at the Polo Grounds on Friday, September 14.

Promoter Tex Rickard announced the place and date today. Early next week he promised to make known the purse and the percentage each boxer would receive.

Under the laws of New York state the match will be a fifteen-round decision fight.

According to figures dropped today from Rickard's office in the Tower of Madison Square Garden, the latest heavyweight fray will have fewer spectators than massed on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City for the Dempsey-Carpentier and Firpo-Willard bouts.

The promoter announced that when he had constructed new stands around the ring which will be erected on the Giants' home diamond, 80,000 persons will be able to witness the battle. Rickard estimated that more than 90,000 persons watched the Dempsey-Carpentier go and more than 100,000 the recent fray in which the former drug clerk in Buenos Aires knocked out the giant former champion from Kansas.

Tickets Cheaper

Tickets will cost less than those for any other previous heavyweight championship bout of recent years. They will range from $2 to $10 to $25, about half the price that Rickard collected on the pasteborders for the Dempsey-Carpentier bout.

"But since that 'famous battle of the century' in Jersey City, law fixing $15 as the maximum price— which may have been a small factor in bringing the present bout across the Hudson.

Rickard's choice of the Polo Grounds was not unexpected. Firpo wished to fight in his native city, and at first the promoter indicated that his ambition was to settle details. But doubts as to the financial prospects awaiting a bout in the Argentine caused him to sidetrack the South American's desire.

Head Promise

Firpo, before he went into the ring against Willard, had Rickard's virtual promise for a crack at the heavyweight crown. Several days, however, were required to settle details of the bout. These conferences Firpo attended for himself, while Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, looked out for the interests of his protégé.

Kearns today wired Dempsey, who is in Los Angeles, to come east at once. The champion's manager announced that Santiago Espinosa had been tentatively selected for training quarters and that Dempsey would begin preparing himself for action as soon as he arrived.

Firpo may train at Atlantic City, according to Rickard. Firpo is scheduled to return to this city about the middle of August, after a barnstorming tour of the west.

Battle Royal

Rickard today expressed himself confident that a battle royal would be waged at the Polo Grounds. Both men, he asserted, were in wonderful shape. If anything, he said, Firpo was in better physical condition because he had been fighting right along whereas Dempsey had had only the Gibbons bout since knocking out Carpentier in the fourth round.

Experts today indicated that at present the champion was their choice. They pointed out that he was a hard, aggressive fighter with a diversity of blows. Firpo, while a grim and gritty fighter, still is green.

SPEAKER'S CATCH FEATURES GAME

Leaping Catch by Indian's Leader Fails to Stop Onslaught of Red Sox

BOSTON, July 28 (AP)—Boston scored seven runs in the seventh off Pitchers Boone and Metcower, today, defeating Cleveland 10 to 5. All the visitors' runs were made off Pierce in the first half of the seventh. A leaping glove-hand catch by Speaker off Pingstead in the last of the seventh cut off what looked like a home run. Speaker made five hits in five times at bat. Rain made necessary the calling off of the second game of a scheduled double header.

NO GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Fans Will Have to Journey to Kimberly for Exhibition of National Pastime

Owing to the fact that several of the ball players of the local team are taking their vacations, there will not be a ball game in Twin Falls this afternoon.

There is a movement on foot to have the fast Emmett team here next Sunday, and if plans materialize the fans will see two of the best teams in the state in action.

Emmett is going to win the pennant in the Southwestern Idaho Baseball league, which means that it beat the best team in the state.

Stivers, their shortstop, is the lad who beat Sid Kleeffer out of the short stop position at the University of Idaho this year, the reason being given that Stivers is much faster than our Sid.

If this is the case it will be well worth the price of admission to see this clever player in action.

In the Southern Idaho Baseball league Hansen will play at Jerome, and Wendell will be entertained by the Kimberly team. This game promises to be a real clasher, as Lee Vernon will be in the box for Wendell, which means that Kimberly hits will be few and far between.

On the other hand, the Kimberly team has "Big" Lemp and "Slim" Miller, Walter for slab duty, and Wendell will find that it has a pretty hard row to hoe also. Eden will journey to Shoshone for their game.

TWIN FALLS NET STARS TO COMPETE FOR TITLE

Phil King and Henry Graham to Leave for Salt Lake to Try Conclusions with Best in Section

Twin Falls will be represented this year at the annual intermountain tennis championship matches at Salt Lake by Philip King and Henry Graham.

Both artists are well known to the local followers of the racket game, and high hopes are entertained for them bringing at least one title back to the Magic City.

The tournament starts Monday, July 30, and ends August 3, the local lads playing their first game on Tuesday.

As far as is known these two experts are the only two entries from Idaho, although Mrs. Robertson, co-holder of Idaho's champion and co-holder of the United States title in the women's doubles, has been entered in the women's events.

Studebaker presents its complete line of 1924 models, announced a week ago, with the conviction that they will increase the prestige of the name Studebaker which, for 71 years, has stood for the best in transportation, quality and value of product.

Into these 1924 cars are built every proved feature in design that makes for the comfort, convenience and safety of passengers, and many refinements that further enhance the value of a line of cars already highly perfected.

It is common knowledge in the steel industry that Studebaker uses only the highest grades of the finest steels. And the same is true of the electrical equipment, instruments, bearings, batteries, upholstery, finishing paints, tires and accessories used in Studebaker cars.

It is equally well known that Studebaker, with $90,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plant facilities, is unsurpassed in ability and resources to manufacture economically and give maximum intrinsic value for a given price.

Produced under these favorable conditions, the 1924 Studebakers are distinctly the finest cars and greatest values Studebaker ever offered.

These are not careless statements. They are facts that reflect the honesty and integrity of the manufacturer and its product just as they do the truth of Studebaker advertising.

The public has placed its confidence in Studebaker by accepting these facts, supported by the performance of Studebaker cars in owners' use. That's why Studebaker sales for the past six years have increased progressively each year and sales for the first six months of 1923 of 81,880 cars broke all six months' records.

Studebaker never cheapens quality to meet competition. The name Studebaker stands for satisfaction and service.

CHARGE THREE WITH LARCENY

Investigate Reports of Tips by Employees of Ill-Fated Denver Bank

DENVER, July 28 (AP)—With $41,733—nearly one-third of its entire resources—gone, virtually snatched from under the noses of its officers and directors through an alleged conspiracy, for which three men are now under arrest, the Hibernia Bank and Trust company of Denver remained closed today, while stockholders investigated the possibility of rehabilitating the institution and while the district attorney's office here probed a report that many "favorite" deposits evaded loss by withdrawing their deposits just before the bank closed yesterday morning on "tips" from persons connected with the ill-fated bank.

Information charging grand larceny and receiving stolen property were filed today against Maurice Mandell, Denver broker; Leo P. Floyd, secretary of the bank, and John Harrington, teller, and son of M. C. Harrington, vice president, by state bank inspector after an investigation showed the shortage to be $41,733. Mandell's bond was fixed at $25,000 each.

Signed Statements.—Having obtained signed statements from Floyd and the young Harrington admitting their parts in the alleged conspiracy, the district attorney's office turned its attention to a review of the withdrawal slips made yesterday morning. Two persons are said to have admitted to the district attorney's office that they were warned that the bank was about to be closed and that they acted on the advice and withdrew their money.

A meeting of officers, directors and stockholders of the bank will be held Monday as the result of the arrival here today of E. P. Ryan of Spokane, president of the institution, at which it will be determined whether or not the shareholders will be able to meet the shortage and seek a permit for the reopening of the institution.

Reopening Unsettled.—Whether or not the bank will reopen depends upon the attitude of the stockholders on assuming more than their legal share of responsibility for the shortage. Mr. Ryan has indicated that legal steps will be formed until after the arrival of Mrs. J. F. Leonard, one of the heaviest stockholders, who will reach Denver tomorrow afternoon from Washington, D. C.

Floyd and Harrington received "practically nothing" for their alleged participation in the conspiracy against the bank, investigators said today at the district attorney's office, after they had submitted the two to a two-hour grilling. It is alleged that Mandell received all but a few dollars of the lost asset that he has invested or spent in his business projects.

Rescued Wife Means.—Mrs. Edna Floyd, wife of the secretary of the bank, visited her husband in jail tonight. She told her mother, Mrs. Sarah Floyd, Leo's mother, and Father Joseph E. Hyde of St. Regis college.

"Go to jail, Leo," was the sobbing advice of Mrs. Floyd's mother-in-law. "Accept whatever sentence they give you. Make right the wrong as far as it lies in your power, and we'll be just as happy as we can be. When it is all over we can go some place and start again, just you and I and the babies."

Mrs. Sarah Floyd, mother of the prisoner, did not say a word to her son, but held him in embrace sobbing her grief upon his shoulder. The authorities allowed the Floys and Father Hyde to visit for nearly an hour.

In statements made to others, Mrs. Edna Floyd made no attempt to excuse the actions of her husband.

Lived Within Means.—"I know he has done wrong," she said, "but he did not benefit one cent by it. We never had more than the regular salary and we have always lived within our means. That man Mandell got it all. My husband told me so and I believe it."

The Caribou Metals company's mine and property, 22 miles west of Coeur d'Alene, which was sold to the bank's trustees, Mandell is treasurer of the Caribou company, which mines silver, gold, lead and zinc. Earl Cooley, former lieutenant governor of Colorado, and vice president of the Caribou company said the closing was only temporary to "let us get our bearings." He predicted the mine would be reopened next week.

you care, you are only working for wages." "Burke explained that Diem was financially interested in the company and that I was interested in managing the ship in an efficient manner for my employers," Putta continued.

On July 18 another surprise came to us in the form of the military commandant of the red military expedition with six heavily armed soldiers and the chief of police. They came on board, crowded all my crew and myself into the pilot-house of the Oskum with their rifles, and read us an order of confiscation in Russian and translated it for our benefit. They took all our firearms away from us and our cargo the next day and stated that the charges would be presented to us.

"Next thing two armed guards were left on board and we were all given to understand that the schooner Klum was no longer property of the Russian government, but that the engineer probably would have to remain on the vessel, but that the rest of us could send a wireless for an American vessel to come and get us.

"We wrote wireless messages and tried to send them out by the Bay Chimo, but were informed that for some reason or other the messages could not go through. We waited until the next day, and then we wrote a letter to the new governor, Burke had translated into Russian, and we went to talk with him.

Charge Is Read.—"With the aid of an interpreter he charged us with having entered the country without proper clearance from a Russian consul in the United States and said he would have to wait for orders from Petropavlovsk. At the same time the governor continually tried to find out my experience in connection with navigation."

Continuing, Captain Putta said: "We had information from inhabitants of the village who had attended a meeting of the soviet that the schooner Klum was assessed for the express purpose of transporting troops into Kolyva, which is now under a White government."

"It appears the soviet engineer and myself would have been forced for the purpose into navigation of the vessel. It would have been bad policy for the reds to let the United States know anything about this. Therefore I believed the safety of the balances of the crew was in very serious doubt. And when one looks at the large cemetery there and hears gruesome stories about people who have mysteriously disappeared through holes in the ice one begins to feel less and less sure.

Overtpower Guards.—"I believed, and all my crew unanimously believed, that we had better not wait for the next surprise which was then rumored. Therefore on July 23 we overpowered the guards and went into a howling gale and fog, knowing no launch or ship could follow us.

"I sincerely believe this action was indisputable for the safety of the crew and property and I believe I have violated no laws, either written or unwritten, by taking this action. "We were forced to bring the soviet guards to Nome, it being impossible to land on the Siberian side for fear that the steamer Bay Chimo might have been seized by the reds and might have given us a chase. These boy guards are conscript soldiers. They gave us no resistance and they prayed on their knees to be taken to the United States. I have no doubt but that they would lose their lives if they were returned to Russia."

Americans in Danger.—"There are quite a number of American citizens at Anadyr who are daily living in fear of their lives," Captain Putta continued, "and praying each day that an American revenue cutter will come and take them away."

"Mr. Lampe, the local agent of the Senon company trading post at Anadyr, daily expects confiscation of his store by the reds, with its thousands of dollars of American goods. American trappers had their fox skins confiscated and the American miners and prospectors are extremely anxious to get away for fear of their lives."

The overpowered guards were brought ashore at Nome by customs officers.

EXPLANATION GIVEN

SEATTLE, Wash., July 28 (AP)—A radio message received in Seattle today from the United States coast guard cutter Bear reported the flight from Anadyr, Siberia, of the trading schooner Klum which Thursday arrived at Nome, Alaska, with two Russian soviet guards in irons.

The message from the Bear explained why the Klum and three other American schooners had been detained by soviet authorities of the Whalen district. It said: "The present Russian regulations designed by Petropavlovsk and Vladivostok as ports of entry on the Siberian coast. All vessels are therefore required to obtain licenses at those places. Otherwise vessels are subject to seizure if touching elsewhere on the Siberian coast."

Russia Has Surplus.—"But Russia has a surplus of crops and some of that surplus which was stored away for famine years is already on the markets of Europe," Senator Brookhart retorted. The history of the collapse of agricultural prices in 1920 and reiterated that the restriction of credit which hit the farmer to the tune of several billions of dollars had been tipped off in advance to most big business interests and that big business did not fail to take advantage of the tip.

Festive Event to Mark Celebration of Founding of One of the First Normal Schools in United States

CONCORD, Vt., July 28 (AP)—The centennial of the founding of what is believed to have been the first normal school in this country will be celebrated in this little Vermont town August 14 and 15. A pageant of education, in which 300 residents of the town will participate, will be given on the evening of both days, and in the afternoon of the second day a monument will be unveiled at Concord Corner, on the site of the school.

Rev. Samuel Reed Hall, who was born in Croydon, N. H., in 1795, was called to the pastorate of the Congregational church at Concord Corner in 1823. He accepted on condition that he be allowed to establish and maintain an institution for the training of teachers for the common schools. In the same year he opened what was variously known as Concord Academy and Columbia Academy, and later as the Essex County Grammar school, with the principal object of training men to be teachers. In 1829 Dr. Hall published a treatise on education said to have been the first printed work on pedagogy in this country. He also introduced the use of blackboards in schools.

FILIPINO SPRINTER WINS

Catalon Will Go to Far Eastern Olympics by Virtue of Setting Pace in Dashes Approximating Records

MANILLA, July 28 (AP)—By winning the 100 and 220-yard runs at the recent Far Eastern Olympiad at Osaka, Japan, Fortunato Catalon, Filipino sprinter, won the honor of representing the Philippines at the Olympic games to be held in Paris in 1924. Catalon has covered the century in 9.45 seconds, within one-fifth of a second of the world's record held by Charles W. Paddock, H. P. Drew and D. J. Kelly.

Catalon, who is a farmer boy from the interior of the Island of Leyte in the Philippine archipelago, failed in his first attempt to make a school track team, and was relegated to the kitchen as a cook's helper in order to defray his expenses. His failure was in 1916 during the East Visayan athletic meet held in the province of Cebu.

The little Filipino continued his training and the next year made the district team in the inter-district meet. His showing was good and he was given his second chance for the provincial track and field team. This time he did not disappoint his coach. He won the 100 and 120 events. It was not until 1917, however, that the Leyte boy won permanent recognition as a sprinter.

In 1919, during the Far Eastern games, in Manila, Catalon defeated Madone, the crack Japanese sprinter, and in the Far Eastern meet in 1921 in Shanghai he won every event in which he started, earning the reputation of being the meet's greatest individual star. This year, while he won both his events, the time was poor, due to a heavy, muddy track. Catalon's time for the 100 was 10.25 seconds, and his time for the 220 was 22.14 seconds, which lowered

EBERT REGIME. URGES PEOPLE TO SACRIFICE

Support of Government During Economic Crisis Its Play Ministry Attempt to Allay Growing Apprehensions

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—In a fervent appeal to the German people, the Ebert-Cuno government pleads for national unity, maintenance of law and order, forbearance with the prevailing economic difficulties and for nationwide demonstration of the spirit of patriotic sacrifice. The appeal, manifested by the population of the Ruhr and Rhineland in the face of overwhelming persecutions and privations. The proclamation, drafted at a full session of the cabinet today, at the President Ebert also was present, sets forth the genesis of the economic collapse which now is reflected acutely in the worthless inflation and other currency, deranged business conditions and disorganization of the food supply, all of which, says the statement, are directly traceable to the intervention in the Ruhr basin, which proved a mortal blow to the nation's economic and financial organization and which is primarily responsible for the monstrous drop in the value of the country's currency.

"To this day," the statement adds, "France willfully is interfering with every effort to achieve a solution of the reparations problem which would concede to Germany a chance to live. Until such time as the reparations is definitely adjusted, the German people must and will sustain themselves by virtue of their own powers and resources."

It then enumerates the measures adopted and the preparations for taxation, currency stabilization and other laws calculated to meet the exigencies, and makes special reference to the plans to adjust wages and to make them conform to currency depreciation and legislative safeguarding necessary food supplies.

Flourish Apprehension

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Obviously with the intention of allaying the growing apprehensions among foodstuffs, the ministry of food today issued a statement declaring that the apex of the crisis has been reached, that the situation is improving daily and that within a fortnight the danger will be over.

Except for hoes and potatoes, the ministry declares, there is no real lack of foodstuffs in Germany. It explains that the scarcity is due to the general economic position and the rapid fall of the mark, which has made it impossible to import goods from abroad to the same extent as formerly.

The grain crop this year is very good, says the statement, and the bread supply is assured.

In greater Berlin there was a conspicuous improvement in the food situation today due to the government promise of relief measures both with respect to insuring regularity of supplies and determination to prevent price juggling.

DEMONSTRATIONS

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Government headquarters tonight appeared not to be worrying over the anti-fascist disturbances in connection with Sunday's anti-fascist demonstrations by the communists.

Barring Saxony, which has declined to accommodate the federal government by issuing a prohibitive order, the bolsheviks at all points in Germany will be forced to celebrate in honor of the demonstrators their proletarian solidarity, however, their purpose to march to the meetings in groups of 10, hoping thus to dodge the provisions of the riot ordinances.

The authorities held the German reds either have lost heart or run out of funds, as their chief organ, the Roto Fahne, has revealed considerable modifications in the program since the federal government and the Prussian authorities expressed their determination to suppress any attempt at political capitalization of the present disturbed situation.

The reds have been instructed by their leaders to conduct themselves in a disciplined manner tomorrow and to abstain from provoking the minions of the law into blood-spilling.

"Our hour has not yet come, but it is nearer at hand than most people assume," is the comfort held out by the Roto Fahne to its followers.

SEVEN THOUSAND WORK ON HUGE POWER PLANT

MUNICH, July 28 (AP)—Bavaria will have one of the world's greatest power plants when the canalization of the Middle Isar river is completed.

Seven thousand workmen are engaged in constructing a new dam on the river which will make it possible to develop an electric current aggregating 480,000,000 watt hours yearly. This will result in a saving of 500,000 tons of coal annually, the cost of which has been estimated at 400,000,000 paper marks.

TURN FORTS INTO PARS

TOKYO, July 28 (AP)—Several of the ancient island forts, upon which Tokyo and the bay towns depended for their defense in days long past, are to be turned into parks. The islands were built by the government and guarded the entrances to Tokyo and Shingawa, adjoining the capital, and, while in later years the forts were which the forts were manned might have withstood an attack, modern guns have made them quite useless for defensive purposes.

CITY'S GUESTS ASK QUESTIONS

Information Is One of Commodities Most in Demand at Tourist Park

Three things are needed to make our tourist park one of the best in the country, and they are shower baths, another electric trolley, and some one to answer questions. Our visitors are not satisfied to just ride through the country, but they want to know: Where does Lost River go? Where does the water from Thousand Springs come from? How high is that wonderful Hansen bridge? What is land water, and what are the current wages for farm hands?

It is up to the business men of Twin Falls to supply this information, and, incidentally, do a bit of advertising. A large number of tourists are looking for homes, and the least they can do is to show them what we have to sell, or tell them where they can find what they want.

At 6 o'clock Saturday evening there were 20 electric trolleys in the park, from 12 states. Massachusetts and New York were represented by one car each, while Nebraska had four, and Washington and Idaho three each.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moritz, Fred Moritz and Walter Landbeck are on their way from Detroit to Oakland, California, to make their home.

E. Walker of Buffalo, N. Y., have been doing Yellowstone park, and are going to Long Beach for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Battard, who have been visiting in Denver and exploring Yellowstone, are returning to their home in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kendall and children and John Ferguson of Powell, Wyoming, made a short stop at the park on their way to Buhl, where they expect to locate.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blake of Seattle are going to Cuba by way of Chicago, New York and Florida. They speak highly of Idaho roads.

Howard Rathwell, James Tranter, James Kerton and Edward Elchert of Taunton, Mass., have been seven weeks on the way, talking in the sights in and around Yellowstone park. They say it was a great relief to strike Idaho roads after several days of the Wyoming brand.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Harding and children, from Lawrence, Kansas, are going to Welner to visit relatives.

J. H. Ellis and family are making the grand rounds. They left Marmar, Oklahoma, May 10, and have visited Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Washington, Vancouver, B. C., and Montana. From here they go to Salt Lake City, Yellowstone park and Colorado Springs. Mr. Ellis is the champion checker player of Oklahoma, and he is anxious to meet any player who knows the game.

GIRLS PASS TESTS

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Yet another profession which has hitherto been regarded as exclusive to men has received women into its membership. Two English girls, Miss Gladys Gregory and Miss Dorothy Davis, both of them young, are the first women to become qualified actuaries and members of the British Institute of Actuaries. They passed successfully a very stiff examination in arithmetic and the technique of insurance.

Ends Visit Here—Miss Margaret Adams, who has been the house guest of Miss Constance White, returned Saturday to her home at Chillis, Idaho.

A POSSIBLE CAUSE

That the German people are seriously short of foodstuffs and that the rehabilitation of Europe would put an immediate end to the troubles of the grain farmer in America, is set forth in an interesting analysis of the production, imports and exports of that country as of 1913 and 1922, put out by the Institute of Economics a few days ago.

This shortage is clearly shown by the statistics of Germany's food imports and exports and of her productions, says the analysis. Her net imports plus her production of important foodstuffs for 1913 and 1922, stated in thousands of metric tons, were as follows:

Table showing foodstuff statistics for 1913 and 1922, including Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oats, Potatoes, and Sugar.

Thus Germany's consumption of wheat in 1922 dropped to about 65 per cent of the 1913 figure, rye to 60 per cent, barley to 30 per cent, oats to 48 per cent, potatoes to 93 per cent. On the other hand, sugar consumption increased materially, the production dropped from 2,841 thousand in 1913 to 1,297 thousand metric tons in 1922, but the imports in 1922 amounted to 220 thousand tons as contrasted with exports of 1,123 thousand tons in 1913.

In 1913 Germany slaughtered more than 26 million head of livestock of which more than 10 1/2 million were hogs; in 1922 she slaughtered a little more than 15 million head of which less than 7 million were hogs. The United States Department of Agriculture reports that Berlin consumed about 475,500 quarts of milk a day during October, 1922, as against 2, 114,000 quarts a day before the war.

The institute concludes that the present food consumption in Germany is wholly inadequate to keeping her people up to the working capacity they had before the war, and it estimates that they require further annual food imports to a value of 1,700,000 million gold marks (more than $400,000,000).

In commenting on the above, the Drovers Journal of Chicago comes out with the flat statement that evidently our Government has so far failed to realize the importance of the European situation to the American Farmer.

The foregoing tends to bear out what we have frequently asserted, this paper continues, that the greatest service to American agriculture could be performed by the stabilization of European conditions. Europe needs the surplus of food that we have on hand, in spite of the somewhat glowing statements of certain government officials regarding the volume of our agricultural exports the past year.

Exports of foodstuffs during the fiscal year 1923 showed a decrease of nearly $115,000,000 as compared with the previous 12 months, according to the annual foreign trade figures just issued by the department of commerce. In 1923 the total shipments of foodstuffs were valued at $798,306,171, as compared with $904,287,573 for the fiscal year 1922. Increases were shown in the shipments of meat, which advanced by $11,000,000 during the year; in animal oils and fats, which advanced by $20,000,000; in fruits, which advanced by $6,000,000, and in canned vegetables, which advanced by $1,000,000, but the grain exports slumped by $140,000,000.

HONEST LABOR NEEDED BY YOUNG GENERATION

Babson Sounds Warning in Citing Apathetic Attitude of Workers and Too Much Reckless Spending

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 28 (Special to The News)—Roger W. Babson was today asked why it is that he is not so optimistic on the general business situation when so many of the barometers of business indicate great prosperity. The optimistic forecasts of prominent bankers, manufacturers and financial advisers were called to Mr. Babson's attention and he was frankly asked why a warning was needed under present static conditions. His reply was as follows:

"It is true that a number of the barometers of business are distinctly favorable at the present time. In order to be absolutely fair to everyone I even took pains to enumerate these in a published statement only a month ago. The merchants are not over-looked; manufacturers have not been speculating in raw materials; banks have good resources; check transactions are normal; railroad earnings are exceptionally good; and our great industry is apparently on a sound basis. My critics are correct in their statement that surface indications point to a wonderful business this year, and perhaps two or three years of rising prices. I realize that these figures as well as anyone and it is very hard for me to sound a warning when so many are so optimistic and so contented.

Warning
" My reason for sounding a warning is two fold. First, the Babsonchart of business conditions shows clearly that the period of readjustment is only about 60 per cent completed, and that further readjustment is inevitable. Second, that the attitude of the younger generation is distinctly harmful to the present situation. That is to say, my warning is based both on statistics and on a study of the spiritual forces underlying business. Of moral forces are by far the more important as they really determine what statistics and the chart will later show. The attitude of the younger generation in raw materials, banks and to statistics that the temperature bears to the thermometer.

If European nations could have taken the grain needed during the past fiscal year, the agricultural situation in this country would be entirely different. In view of this fact it would seem that our government might have done more than it has done to help Europe get straightened out. Evidently it was not realized what it would mean to American agriculture to accomplish this.

IT'S COMING
Again the stage is set for a strike of coal miners in the anthracite or hard coal mining districts. To date there is no evidence of impending trouble in the bituminous fields, yet there is no doubt but what it would be well for consumers everywhere to begin thinking about next winter's coal supply.

As long as the so-called "check-off" system obtains there will be plenty of funds in the union coffers wherewith to supply the sinews of war in the coal fields. The more miners employed the larger the income the union chiefs will handle. Obviously the number of miners must not be permitted to diminish, yet just as long as the unions insist on the employment of more men than the industry requires just so long will trouble exist between the operators and their employes. The situation in the anthracite fields is a very simple one in the last analysis. Present wages would be perfectly satisfactory to all concerned were it not necessary to spread the work among so many miners and pay to each a living wage.

ter, or as carloadings bear to railroad earnings.

Buying Recklessly
" I have offices in twenty-six large cities and correspondents in hundreds of other cities. In every locality I find that the average man today is interested only in spending. People not only want to get rich quick but they want to buy recklessly without any thought where the money is coming from with which to pay. Our young people seem to get on trees and all they have to do is to pick them off. Almost no one wants to work. Very few want to produce. Earnest and industrious manual laborers, such as we had 25 years ago, are almost an unknown quantity. Everyone wants to ride in the car and no one wants to pull. Our percentage of producers is steadily decreasing and the percentage of middlemen is steadily increasing.

"Such conditions cannot continue forever. A dog may live on his tail for awhile, but it cannot continue this process indefinitely. People may for a while get a living doing one another's washing, but after the clothes are worn out there will be no washing to do. A certain number of people can exist as middlemen. Middlemen are a necessary and even a valuable economic function, but America's great need is producers, especially men and women filled with the desire to produce and with the joy of production. America's great need is a revival of the joy of work. America's great need is a revival of the habit of saving.

Wrong Attitude
" I am not fearful for America in the long run; but rather I am a great optimist on this country and the people of this country. My love of America causes me to issue the warning that the attitude of the average young person today is not right toward his or her work. A doctor is not friendly to his patient if he blindly shuts his eyes to his patient's disease. One cannot be a true friend of the United States by blindly shutting his eyes to the wrong attitude of the new generation toward industry, service and thrift. It is this wrong attitude which has already caused business—as indicated by the Babsonchart—to decline. The chart today shows at 3 per cent below normal compared with 1 per cent below normal at the beginning of the year."

John Solomon, Incognito. By H. Bedford-Jones. Copyright by H. Bedford-Jones. CHAPTER IV

During twenty-four hours, Jack Fortier devoted himself to delving into the past of David Macarty and son. With the father, this was not difficult. Macarty had been well known in the business world for a score of years, and was something of a politician.

With Felix Macarty, however, it was another matter. The father bore by no means a bad reputation, as the term goes. He was known to be a shrewd man, in many ways a hard man; he was not a big man either in his operations or in his successes. From all he could learn Fortier concluded that David Macarty had worked in devious ways, in the by-paths of small politics. If not upright, he had at least been very careful of his name. He was connected with a number of notional business enterprises.

With the son it was otherwise.

Felix Macarty was a punger, and one who succeeded. There were dark rumors about him—whispers and shrugs, bits that connected him with the putrid corners of the Vieux Carré. He was a cross, men said, between vulgure and fox. Yet he had his share of the carillon, always.

Thus, Jack Fortier really got no where in his search for information. He gained no definite knowledge against David Macarty, although he comprehended that Felix was a black-guard to the backbone.

Upon the afternoon following his second interview with Allice Lavergne, Fortier received a call from no less a person than the honorable Mr. Gray, of the firm of Gray & Fortier. Gray was an elderly man, carefully groomed, prominent in legal circles, with a cold eye and humorous mouth. He was a criminal lawyer, a good one.

"I am glad to make your acquaintance, Mr. Fortier," he began cordially, when Miss Smith had left the two men alone. "I have heard much of you—the similarity in names, you know, has frequently caused errors!"

"Sure, I know," and Fortier laughed. "Have a cigar?"

"Thank you, no. I dropped in on a business. We picked up a bit of business that was not quite in our line, and I thought I might, as it were, return you to handle it."

"Delighted, Mr. Gray!" returned Fortier, and meant the words.

"It's like this. A very promising concern down on the coast, the Cypresport Power company, is in need of the services—"

Fortier started slightly. His face changed. Under the steady brightness of his eyes, the other man's words died out.

"You're wasting time here, Mr. Gray," said Fortier coldly.

"But, my dear fellow! You don't understand! Here is the opportunity to solidly build your future—"

"Devil take my future, if it lies with you and your blackleg clients!" roared Fortier, in a sudden burst of temper. "You—a scoundrel, get out!"

He advanced on Gray. The latter seized his hat, backed hastily to the door, and fled. Fortier slammed the door after him with a jar that shook the room.

A moment later, Miss Smith tapped and looked into the room.

"Was that the blackjick?" she inquired, a twinkle in her eye.

Fortier broke into a laugh.

"No, Miss Smith—that was the produde to it."

The typist wisely withdrew and left Fortier to himself.

That evening Fortier dined as usual at the humble pension in the old quarter where he made his home. It was a sweetly romantic old house, very cheap but very clean, kept by a prim old dame who lived largely in the past. Once inside the place, there was the sense of home. Outside it was different. The Italian quarter encroached all about. The old houses of the city, the old buildings, the old streets were falling into disrepair and ruin. Despite the touch of sunlight romance, this section of the city was becoming little better than a slum. It was even outside the usual run of tourists.

After dinner, Fortier went forth. He was perplexed and disturbed in mind, unable to obtain any surety of thought. Here inside of two days he had flung away profers of money and fame. To most men, this would have been the perplexing feature. To Fortier, the uneasy thing was the hidden menace in the background. He realized that he had meddled with forbidden things.

"Twice they've tried bribery—now they'll try something else," he reflected as he strode along. "By George, that girl must have been watched, followed! Or else my friend at Baton Rouge sprung a leak. Well, that it was there must be some reason for it—that's the very ticket! They're afraid to have me get into the game!"

This thought was consoling. With a new spring to his step, Fortier walked to Canal street and sought out a moving-picture palace, where he invested "two bits" in as many hours of mental relaxation.

None the less, in the back of his mind remained the thought of the Cypresport Power company. Were they really afraid to have him come down there, to have him in charge of Allice Lavergne's interests? He began to doubt it seriously. After all, he was only a very obscure and young attorney, wholly unknown. Such men as Macarty would not be afraid of his probing. They would be too carefully armored and guarded.

No, they were hardly afraid of him. He was congratulating himself too soon. More likely, they simply wished to save themselves future annoyances. He was no more than an insect to them.

"I should bear by the end of the week from Philbrick," he reflected, as he walked down Royal street on his way toward home. "He may have pertinent information. I don't like his attempted poisoning—looks bad. Young Macarty must be in league with the champagne outlaws. When there's that Chinaman! I can't quite get Allice Lavergne's line-up on the chap."

It never occurred to Fortier that he might have been drawn into a net of fate whose meshes reached across the world. He never dreamed that there might be other factors in this affair—factors as yet dimly sensed, yet very powerful.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN PRICES DECLINE

Heading Sales of Newly Harvested Wheat Given as Cause of Fresh Turn to Lower Level

OHIOGAGO, July 28 (AP)—Fresh downturn in the value of wheat took place today largely as a result of heading sales of newly harvested wheat and in line with weakness of stocks and cotton. Wheat prices closed heavy 1 1/8 to 1 7/8 net lower; September 95 3/4 to 1 1/4 to decline and provisions 5 to 8 cents off.

From the outset the wheat market gave evidence of strain toward a lower price level, with the buying demand at least temporarily insufficient to bring about any important rally. Aside from the depressing effects of liberal receipts here today and of expected big arrivals Monday, buyers put emphasis on the indirect influence of a financial difficulty and on talk which was current that further cancellations of export purchases of wheat from America were being attempted by Great Britain.

Meanwhile, reports of crop damage by rust and blight continued from the spring wheat belt both north and south of the Canadian line, but attracted little notice. Selling here from growers who benefited in Winnipeg and much to do with increased weakness of Chicago prices for wheat as the day drew to a close. Final quotations here were the lowest of the day with July delivery scoring a new low record for the season.

Liquidating sales on the part of holders was in progress at the last especially in the wheat and corn. End of the month bidding on the part of shorts lifted the July corn to the longest price yet this season, 39 3/4 to 40 cents, and wheat, however, and gaining of the Missouri tended also to ease the market. Oats declined with corn.

Provisions were affected by grain weakness, despite a rise in hog values. OHIOGAGO CASH MARKET. OHIOGAGO, July 28 (AP)—Wheat—No. 2 red 97 1/4 to 97 1/2; No. 2 hard 99 to 99 1/2.

REACTION HITS MARKET

Discouraged Holders of Long Stocks Liquidate; Twenty Leading Industrials Drop One Point

Total sales 373,000 shares. Twenty industrial averages 87.33; net loss, 1.04. High, 1923, 105.38; low, 87.33. Twenty railroads averaged 77.40; net loss, .72. High, 1923, 90.03; low, 76.85.

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Heavy liquidation by first and discouraged holders of long stocks, particularly oil shares, and a renewed "yesterday's" short selling, brought about another sharp reaction in prices in today's stock market. Industrials were the hardest hit, the average of 20 leading issues dropping more than one point to a new low record for the year.

Reports from Chicago that midwest oil refiners were preparing to shut down their plants for the month of August inspired the selling of the oil. Houston and the Pan-American issues each yielding about three points on the day, while Marland, Sinclair, Condon, Producers and Refiners, Royal Dutch and the Standard Oil issues showed net losses ranging from small fractions to 1 1/2 points.

Much of the stock thrown into the market today was purchased 5 to 15 points above present quotations. Establishment of new lows for the year by such pivotal stocks as United States Steel at 80 3/4 and Baldwin at 112 1/2 also attracted considerable attention.

Speculative fear of political disturbances in Germany, the declining tendency of some of the principal commodity prices and the uncertainty of the trend of oil business also influenced today's selling.

Liquidation of the hard coal carriers such as Lehigh, Reading and Delaware and Hudson, all of which dropped a point or more was the direct result of the breaking off of wage negotiations by the conference of operators and union miners.

Foreign exchange rates were reactionary. Demand sterling dropped about a cent to 84.38. French francs receded three points to 5.88, and the Belgian, Italian and Dutch quotations also registered recedings. German marks showed moderate improvement, again getting above the 2001 cent mark.

The weekly clearing house statement showed a contraction of $25,030,000 in loans, discounts and investments, an increase of $1,800,000 in the reserve of member banks in the federal reserve bank, and decreases of $44,040,000 in net demand deposits and $15,202,000 in time deposits. NEARING WHEAT HARVEST TURNS TALK TO PRICE

Twin Falls Country This Season Will Reap Crop from Area Almost One-Third Less than That of Last Year

With the near approach of the wheat harvest in the Twin Falls country, interest hereabouts is heightened in the daily market fluctuations and in factors on which will be based the price at which the local market will open.

While the Twin Falls mill has been operating 24 hours daily since early last week, grinding the wheat to hand, and making ready for the new crop that will be coming within the next few days, it is temporarily out of the market, and no local price quotations are available.

Buyers at Kimberly are quoting a price of $1.20 a hundred.

Whether this price will stand as the opening price when the new crop begins to come in is a question about which there are ranging these days numerous debates, with the preponderance of opinion, apparently, on the side of those who anticipate a lower price.

Washington Growers Holding Out

Reports from the wheat growing regions of eastern Washington indicate that the "opening" price there will be slightly above 80 cents a bushel, or about $1.05 a hundred. Reports from Pullman indicate that 4000 bushels and 2000 bushels at 83 and 85 cents on the basis of No. 1 wheat.

Farmers in that region generally are reported to be refusing to contract, and it is considered unlikely that there will be any rush to sell in the opening market.

Incidentally, in connection with the wheat marketing situation in the Twin Falls country, it is noted in some quarters where reference is made to the annual crop report issued by the Federal Cereal company that there is to be harvested this season almost one-third less wheat than from fields under the canal system than was harvested a year ago. The figures show an average devoted to the crop this year amounting to 24,421 acres, as compared with a total of 31,100 acres last year.

Production per acre this season is expected to exceed somewhat the average for last year's crop.

Weather conditions during the early spring and early summer were very favorable for wheat production, and the extent of damage by storms over the district as a whole, is believed to be small. A larger acreage compared with that in past years was sown last fall to winter wheat, it is reported, and this crop, of course, will be first on the market.

LAND DEALERS GIVE BOND

Realtors Charged with Failure to Obtain State License Will Answer to Accusation in District Court

Under nominal bond required by Kennedy Packard, justice of the peace, before whom they were arraigned Saturday, 11 out of the 14 Twin Falls real estate dealers were held in district court to charges of failing to obtain current licenses required of realtors by state law. Three of the accused land dealers were out of town and did not receive notice of the charges against them.

All of the 11 pleaded guilty to the charge except C. W. Parks, who declared that he had not been engaged in the real estate business for several months, but was pursuing another line of work.

Conviction under the realtors' license law involves drastic penalties, with maximum fine of $500 or jail term for not longer than 90 days or both, or, in case of corporations, $1000 fine may be imposed.

STRING QUINTETTE SCORES

New Twin Falls Musical Organization Formed to Tour South Idaho, Win Prizes in First Public Appearance

Twin Falls String quintet, composed of Paul G. Hanft, pianist, formerly of Brooklyn, and four talented young musicians under the management of Cedric Seaver, violinist, at the Idaho theater Saturday evening conferred a successful two-day engagement, his first public appearance. Appreciation of the audience of both classic and familiar airs rendered by the quintet found expression in a generous measure of applause. In addition to the instrumental numbers, Mrs. Hanft gave a vocal solo.

Other members of the organization, which has been formed to tour southern Idaho, are Lucila Coe and Dorothy Carmen, violins, and Julian Booth, cello.

Sees Neglect of Alfalfa Growers

Noted Entomologist Says Weevil Must Be Combated by Its Natural Enemies

The alfalfa weevil problem in this country will never be solved satisfactorily until natural enemies of the pest, certain fungi and insects that are to be found only in foreign lands, are brought here, according to Ralph H. Smith, widely known entomologist, who left after two days' visit here Saturday evening for Grand Junction, Colo.

"Certain parasites and certain insects are the natural enemies of the alfalfa weevil," Mr. Smith said. "They will solve the problem that is becoming an increasingly serious one for alfalfa growers, and the problem can be solved when agencies of the federal government are brought to a realization of the need for their action in this direction. Until that time, spraying is about the only recourse that the grower will have in combating the pest."

"It is in alfalfa, the way alfalfa growers have been neglected by agencies that can and ought to help solve their problem," Mr. Smith added.

Mr. Smith, while working in Twin Falls some years ago, in the employ of the state university, made extensive investigations in an endeavor to work out a solution of the alfalfa weevil. In the employ of California creamery interests now, he is engaged in research investigations regarding the proper eradication and control of orchard pests.

TAKES TEXT OF SERMON FROM WORDS OF CHRIST

Colonel Davis, Salvation Army Crusader, Bases Appeal on Incident in Saviour's Life

What is termed to be "one of the greatest sermons ever preached," was the subject of Colonel Davis at the Lavender theater last evening. Taking for his text the words of Jesus to the woman at the well, "If thou knowest the gift of God and who it is that saith to thee give me to drink, thou wouldst have given this me, and I would have given thee living water," the colonel stated that "Jesus did not always preach to large congregations."

"Some of the greatest sermons Jesus preached were to the Jews and to the Samaritans, and there is no doubt, no inspiration for a preacher to be at his best before a large congregation," he stated. "Results often come from small numbers. Another thing to be considered in connection with this incident is the fact that the Samaritan woman was addressed was a Samaritan and a woman. Women in the day of Christ were not considered as they are today. It is a fact that Christianity has done for women, it has given her a proper place," the colonel continued.

Colonel Davis will preach at the Lavender theater on Friday, at 8 a. m. his subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin." Captain Houghton announces.

Ape That Keeps His Keepers Busy

One of a group of man-ape acts, who demand constant care and attention, with the greatest of wild animal shows, the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which will give two performances and grand free street parade in Twin Falls, August 10.

Anticipation One of Circus Thrills

Hagenbeck-Wallace Aggregation Guarantees Against Disappointment

There is something about the knowledge that a circus is coming that gives practically everyone, be it man, woman or child, a thrill not produced by any other attraction. And during the past few years in many portions of the country, there have been movements started to censor the moving pictures of the drama, there has been no cry about a censor for the big circuses. Circus men say the reason is "there is no Hollywood among the big shows, like the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace."

Lovers of good clean amusement, who are also interested in the youth of the nation, realize that circus day is the day of all days for young America. Particularly is this true when the Hagenbeck-Wallace, known for many generations as the peer of white top shows, makes its coming known. The very name is synonymous with cleanliness and tented delight. And when the big parade, more than a mile in length, comes down the street there is no resisting the circus atmosphere. It is just as much American as the national pastime, baseball. Red-blooded and clean to the core, both of them.

That is why when the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus comes to Twin Falls for two performances and a gorgeous free street parade on Friday, August 10, it is safe to say that a majority of the residents of this city, as well as surrounding towns and villages will "answer the call."

Many new features, never before offered the public, have been engaged for the 1923 transcontinental tour, and the management claims to have the best program in the history of this great wild animal show.

Dead Man Leaves Explaining Letter

Evidence of Suicide in Death of Dr. J. M. Sisley of Buhl Is Deemed Conclusive

Evidence of suicide that is regarded as conclusive was announced Saturday in the case of Dr. J. M. Sisley, veterinarian formerly connected with the federal bureau of animal industry activities in Idaho, who was discovered late Friday in his room at a Buhl lodging house with a bullet wound through the head from which he died a short time later in the county hospital here.

Funeral services for Dr. Sisley, it was announced Saturday evening at Buhl, will be held there at 10 o'clock Sunday morning under auspices of the Masonic lodge.

Conclusion that the case is one of suicide is based on the discovery in Dr. Sisley's room of a sealed and stamped letter addressed to his bride of less than three months, who had left a few days previously for her former home at Preston, Idaho, to visit a sister coming from the east.

"I want you to know that you are in no way to blame for my action," the letter said. "I have lost ambition and I cannot face life any longer. I hope that some day you may meet a man with whom you may find happiness."

The letter contained also directions as to where to locate papers and money in Dr. Sisley's possession, with the hope that the bride might realize something out of the estate.

The letter was opened, under instruction of Coroner Grossman, upon the arrival early Saturday morning of Mrs. Sisley, her brother and sister, at the end of an all night motor trip from Preston.

Discovery of the mortally wounded man was made by Mrs. Jacoby, and her daughter, a short time after he had returned from a trip to the country and entered his room. Mrs. Jacoby had heard the shot. He was found in a sitting position in a large armchair. The gun, a 32-caliber revolver, had fallen from his hand. The bullet had entered the head just above the right ear and emerged just above the left ear.

Dr. Sisley was about 30 years of age. He had no known relatives except a cousin in New York. His parents are known to be dead. His brother was killed in action in France, and Dr. Sisley himself was in military service during the world war, but was not overseas.

Dr. Sisley resigned his connection with the federal bureau some months ago and about two months ago returned upon the practice of his profession in Buhl.

Mercury's Ascent Escapes Attention

Reports of the government weather observer here showing a maximum temperature Saturday of 90 degrees—exactly the same as Friday's high—caused pretty general agreement among unofficial observers that they had missed their guess that Friday was much the warmer day. Prevalence of a breeze during most of the day, together with diminishing humidity, produced the impression that the mercury Saturday had made a shorter climb. Low for the 24-hour period was recorded at 55 degrees.
