NEW PRESIDENT TAKES PLACE AT NATION'S HELM

Coolidge Quietly Assumes Office; Executives Discuss Funeral Plans; Hughes Orders Offices Closed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Calvin Coolidge grasped the helm of the ship of state as it fell from the helmsman's hand of Woodrow Wilson.

Quietly he took upon himself the duties of the thirty-first president of the United States. Then a visit to his mother's grave and he was off to Washington.

Then, before retiring he conferred with Secretary Hughes and Senator Curtis of Kansas, a republican. Tomorrow the new chief executive planned a busy day.

President Coolidge went directly to his suite in the Willard hotel where he and Mrs. Coolidge will remain until Mrs. Harding at her convenience moves from the White House.

Those who came with the president consider it unlikely that he will announce any important steps in his administration until after the country has recovered from the shock of the death of Mr. Harding.

The last leg of President Coolidge's trip from New England to Washington was made in fast time. Less than four hours and a half after he had been notified of the death of Mr. Harding, he was in New York, he was in the capital.

As he passed through the gates to the presidential entrance of the railroad station, which was used by Mr. Harding when he started on his Alaska trip, Mr. Coolidge raised his hat and bowed his head to the crowds waiting. There were no cheers, but spectators raised their hats. The reception throughout was marked by its dignity and silence.

Across the station plaza, newly washed by a shower, the president's party, led by motorcade, proceeded to Pennsylvania avenue and the White House. Quietly he walked along the famous thoroughfare recognizing the presidential party. An elevator quickly took them to their rooms, after another flashlight had been taken under the portico.

Before entering their apartments, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge greeted a few friends and acquaintances who had gathered. During the journey from New York to Washington the president remained the entire time in his observation car. Small crowds waited to greet him at West Philadelphia and Baltimore, and on each occasion he stepped out on the new platform with Mrs. Coolidge. At West Philadelphia he waived a friendly hand to the engineer of a passing freight.

Quiet Ceremony. The whole transition was made quietly and without flurry or confusion. None of the pomp and ceremony which usually welcomes incoming presidents.

Executive's Death Lamented by Borah

Idaho Senator Dwells on Passing of Harding; Respects Past Services

WINCHESTER, Idaho, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah, opening an address here this afternoon, spoke as follows of the death of President Harding:

"We meet under unexpected and distressing conditions. The chief magistrate of the nation has gone to the region from whose shores a traveler would have expected to find a death of his people. He was called at a time when he was mingling with those over whom he had been called to govern and at a time when he was anxiously studying their problems, hopeful of finding ways by which to relieve their economic ills."

"This is not the time nor is the occasion appropriate to place an estimate upon the public life and services of the deceased. At some other time those fitted for the task will recount his public services and pay just tribute to his great virtues."

Train Rushes Past Crowded Stations

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 (AP)—When President Harding came west to meet his fellow countrymen beyond the Rocky mountains the engineers who drove his trains had orders to go slowly through the towns wherever they could see people gathered to see their president.

Tonight the same train bears the same man east, but it will not slow down, though there be hundreds at every crossing. The president cannot greet them now.

ARRANGE RITES FOR PRESIDENT

Funeral Services to Be Held at Washington; Fitting Ceremony to Be Given

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Coolidge after a conference tonight with Secretary Hughes and other advisers authorized announcement of definite arrangements for the funeral services here of the late President Harding.

The plans, with those announced in San Francisco, call for the arrival of the presidential funeral party here on Tuesday afternoon, services in the capitol rotunda Wednesday, departure for Marion, Ohio, Wednesday night and burial in Marion Friday.

Upon arrival here, Mr. Harding's body will be taken to the White House where it will remain in the East room until it is removed to the capitol for services in the rotunda at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. A private service, if desired by Mrs. Harding, will be held at the White House before the departure to the capitol.

Will Meet Train.

The funeral train will be met here by President Coolidge, several members of the cabinet, supreme court justices and other high government officials. When the body is taken from the executive mansion to the capitol, it will be escorted by a squadron of cavalry, a battalion of field artillery, a brigade of infantry, a battalion of United States Marine Corps and a detachment of sailors.

After the service in the rotunda the body will lie in state until shortly before 6 p. m., when it will be taken to a train which will leave for Marion at 7 o'clock. The public will be permitted to pass through the rotunda and place wreaths on the catafalque.

Dial at Marion.

On leaving the capitol the body of Mr. Harding will be escorted to the station by President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft and justices of the court and members of the senate and house who will accompany the funeral party to Marion. The services in the capitol rotunda will be conducted by Dr. Otto Weidfelt, the German ambassador, today sent this telegram to Mrs. Harding:

"I beg respectfully to express to you, dear Mrs. Harding, Mr. Weidfelt's and my heartfelt sympathy for the sudden death of your husband. The late president of the United States showed sincere kindness to me."

HOME FOLKS RECALL DAYS OF CAMPAIGN

MARION, O., Aug. 3 (AP)—The famous Harding front porch, the focal point of the 1920 campaign, today presented a sorrowful contrast to the summer afternoons of three years ago when President Harding, then only a candidate for his high position, enunciated his policies to thousands of voters, seated on the porch or stood flanked by his wife, greeting well-wishers with the quiet smile which became one of his marked characteristics as chief executive.

All was quiet around the spacious gray structure and the placid reaches of Mount Vernon avenue some, even more tranquil than usual. Only a flag which fluttered idly at half-mast gave indication that the man who left the home he loved to accept the greatest honor a country may give, was dead.

WORLD STONNED ON RECEIPT OF DEATH MESSAGE

Passing of Nation's Chief Strikes Severe Blow to Foreign Nations; Statesmen Send Condolences

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Harding's death in France as an event of first importance. It even has placed the grave political crisis which may lead to an end of the entente in the background for the time being.

The president of the republic and other officials and public bodies today transmitted expressions of sympathy to Mrs. Harding and to the United States. In the message there was evinced a realization that France had lost a true friend.

A man who commanded respect, and a perfectly upright man" was the phrase used in an afternoon paper, and words of similar import, were to be found in each column of the newspapers touching on the demise of the American chief executive. Dispatches from the provinces show that the feeling of regret is not limited to the capital. One from Havre may be quoted as typical: "Flags have been half masted on all buildings and the cotton exchange has voted to close tomorrow as a sign of mourning," it says.

FRANCE SHOCKED

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—Premier Poincare this afternoon sent the following cable message to Secretary of State Hughes:

"Painfully shocked by the cruel loss of the United States has just suffered, I want to assure you, Mr. Secretary, of the most feeling sympathy of the French government. "With President Harding there disappears not only a grand figure, eminently qualified to lead the nation to which we are bound by so many ties, but also the generous and enlightened friend that all Frenchmen have learned to like and respect. "All France partakes in the bereavement of the United States."

HARVEY OVERBORE

ALLENSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—George Harvey, ambassador to Great Britain, a close friend of President Harding, was so overcome with the news that he had to be asked to be excused from making a statement today. He sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Harding, but it was not made public.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Dr. Otto Weidfelt, the German ambassador, today sent this telegram to Mrs. Harding:

"I beg respectfully to express to you, dear Mrs. Harding, Mr. Weidfelt's and my heartfelt sympathy for the sudden death of your husband. The late president of the United States showed sincere kindness to me."

Burial Will Be In Beautiful Spot In Marion's Cemetery

Body of Dead President to Rest Near Town to Which He Hoped to Return

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 3 (AP)—The spot in the Marion cemetery where all that is mortal of Warren G. Harding will be consigned to final rest, is one of the most beautiful in the vicinity of the quiet town to which he often said he hoped to return as a "ordinary citizen."

Situated at almost the exact center of the shady expanse of the old burial ground, the Harding family lot, where a president of the United States will resume his place among the kindly folk he knew and loved as neighbors, lies capped in a gray valley.

Two giant oaks cast deep shadows over slabs of granite which mark the resting place of the president's mother and of his sister, Mary Clarissa, and only a few steps away a gleaming gravel roadway winds through a perfect archway of foliage fashioned by the interlocking branches of virgin pines.

To the rear, where the tiny depression levels itself out, stretches a quiet vista of gently rolling grassland dotted here and there by the gray blot of a tombstone, all deepened into sombre tints by the shade of forest trees— a fitting background for the shrine of a dead president.

Saddened Journey Homeward Is Started; Cortège Viewed by Misty Eyed Throngs

Mourning Party in Black-Shrouded Cars Will Reach the National Capital After a Ninety-Hour Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 (AP)—An avenue of mourning stretched tonight across a land of sorrow. It began here at the Golden Gate and it ended in the nation's capitol, and over it for four days and four nights will travel a funeral train bearing the body of President Harding.

When the train, draped in black, drew out of the black-draped station here tonight, there began the saddest transcontinental trip in the history of the nation. There have been funeral trains bearing the bodies of chief executives of the republic before, but no such train ever passed over so long a route.

Ninety and a half hours will be required for the trip. When it is added at 100 p. m. Tuesday, the body of Warren G. Harding will rest in the White House, where he arrived the American people for nearly two and a half years, and then in the capitol, where as senator from Ohio he represented his native state for six years. Funeral services will be held in the capitol grounds late next Wednesday after the body has lain in state all day, and then will begin the final journey to Marion, Ohio.

Funeral Friday

Arriving on the morning of Thursday at Marion among home folks the president loved best, the body will be given the tender and loving care of neighbors and friends until the following day, when funeral services will be held and a national day of mourning observed. Then it will be laid to rest in the Marion cemetery.

San Francisco started the first opportunity to pay respects to the dead leader when the body was taken from the Palace hotel, where it had rested since the end came last night, to the Third and Townsend street station. But before the long trip across the continent is ended almost countless thousands of people will have the privilege, though to a lesser degree, for the train only will be stopped to change engines and for other operating purposes. It is expected that people will gather along the route the entire way and, with uncovered heads, pay not only their own personal respects, but those of the whole American nation.

The arrangements for this trip to Washington were made by the grief-stricken members of the president's party today while literally thousands stood about the hotel or walked slowly through the lobbies. The plans all were submitted to Mrs. Harding for final approval, and she was able to give them her attention, for she still was bearing up well under her load of sorrow.

Mrs. Harding obtained some rest last night, sleeping fitfully until morning. Throughout the day she moved about the presidential suite, always, according to those who met more mindful of others than of herself. Her determination made last night not to break down, but whether she could continue to do so during the long trip ahead only time will tell.

Supporting Mrs. Harding in withstanding her sorrow were messages of sympathy from all parts of the world. Telegrams poured into the hotel all through the day. They came from two former presidents, Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft; from members of the cabinet; from governors and mayors; from rulers of foreign countries, and from citizens unknown beyond the borders of their communities.

Expresses Sympathy

Late in the day Colonel George F. Pierce, past president of the Myrtle Shrine, called to present the sympathy of San Francisco shriners, and Mrs. Harding stood for five minutes talking to him, showing the effects of her grief only in a few tears that trickled down her cheeks. This was but one example of how she was courageously standing the strain.

Much of the making plans for the future was done by George B. Christian, Jr., who had served as Mr. Harding's secretary for years. Mr. Christian was in Los Angeles when the chief executive passed away, having gone there to read to the Knights Templar of Hollywood what proved the president's last public expression, and he was hurriedly returned to San Francisco by special train. The four cabinet members in San Francisco—Secretaries Hoover, Wallace and Work, and Attorney General Daugherty—assisted in the task.

OREGON GOVERNOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 3 (AP)—Governor Pierce announced tonight that he would proclaim Friday, August 10, as a day of mourning in Oregon for the late President Harding. On that day all public offices in the state will be closed.

SILENCE GREETING PASSING TRAIN

States Along Route to Pay Respect as Presidential Funeral Train Passes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Commander of corps arose through which President Harding's special train will pass were ordered today by the war department to arrange for appropriate military honors in cities where units of their commands are located. The corps commanders were directed to see that "all regular troops of the nation along the route of the president's train be turned out to render appropriate honors."

ON BOARD HARDING FUNERAL TRAIN, AT TRACEY, CAL., AUG. 3 (AP)

From the Third and Townsend street station in San Francisco, where the special train bearing the body of Warren G. Harding, started its transcontinental run to Washington, and out of the metropolitan district, a distance of 20 miles, people stood tonight along the railroad line by the thousands.

The stood silent and with bared heads in respectful reverence to the memory of their late chief executive and shared so far as they could the grief of his bereaved wife. Mrs. Harding began the long journey as calmly and bravely as she has from the time her husband was taken from her.

She retired early, seeking the sleep she so sorely needed after the many hours' vigil in the sick chamber on the upper floor of the Palace hotel in San Francisco, and after the strain and sorrow of the past 24 hours.

UTAH TO PAY HONORS

SALT LAKE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Coated with the nation in the mantle of mourning at the passing of its head, Warren G. Harding, Utah citizens, through the state's chief executive, tomorrow will honor and pay tribute to the late president when the train carrying his body from San Francisco to the national capitol passes through the state.

The Utah presidential bier will stop at Ogden, 30 miles north of here, where a delegation of state officials, headed by Governor Charles Mabey, will meet it. A wreath is to be placed upon the president's casket by the state's chief executive.

Expressing profound sorrow on the death of the president, Governor Mabey said tonight that "we are still reeling too much from the shock to sense fully the blow that has befallen us."

"We have lost a great leader, one who was charitable, just and fearless; a man whose noble business instincts guided his actions and made him one of the best loved characters of his history."

SIXTH PRESIDENT TO DIE IN OFFICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Harding, the twenty-ninth president of the United States, was the sixth president to die in office, and the third executive from Ohio to do so.

William Henry Harrison was the first to die while president. He died April 4, 1841, at Washington, after serving but one month of his term.

Zachary Taylor died at Washington July 9, 1850, after serving one year, four months and five days. Abraham Lincoln was shot by an assassin at Ford's theatre, Washington, April 14, 1865, dying the next day. He had served four years, one month and 11 days. James A. Garfield was shot while in the Pennsylvania station at Washington, July 2, 1881, and died at Elberon, N. J., September 19, 1881. He had served six and a half months.

SIMPLICITY MARKS FUNERAL CEREMONY

Nation Waits in Sorrow as Harding Funeral Train Leaves on Sad Trip Following Brief Services

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 (AP)—In sorrow unutterable, San Francisco tonight bade good-bye to all that was mortal of Warren G. Harding, who until a few hours ago was president of the United States.

At 5:57 p. m. the body of President Harding was removed from the sitting-room of the presidential suite in the Palace hotel here and was started from the eighth floor to New Montgomery street, where it was to take its place in the funeral procession to the Southern Pacific depot en route for the national capitol.

Thousands of people with uncovered heads lined the streets along the line of march from the Palace hotel to the Southern Pacific station at Third and Townsend streets, where the presidential party's special train was in waiting. The line of escort was led by Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien and a detail of police. A specially picked guard of sailors, soldiers and marines walked beside the hearse. Mayor James Rolph, Jr., army, navy and marine officers, and members of the cabinet followed.

At 6:18 p. m. the body was placed in the hearse and started for the station, while airplanes from Crissy field, at the presidio, flew in battle formation overhead as an aerial escort.

Military Escort

Troop E of the 11th cavalry sat at attention before the hearse. After the band played "Lead Kindly Light" the buglers sounded "right wheel" and the cavalry troop swung into column at the head of the cortège. Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien had gone ahead in his car to see that the line of march was kept. The march started Chapin's Funeral March and the procession began its slow march to the train.

All traffic had been stopped. All public offices and stores were closed. The only sounds were made by the army of men and horses. There was no hysteria or audible weeping or commotion of any sort. Only once was the silence broken by a wail of sorrow. That was when the chimes of St. Patrick's Catholic church, a block from the hotel, played "Weaver My God to Thee," as the cortège got under way. Before the body was removed from the hotel brief services were held in the presidential suite, conducted by Father J. W. West, pastor of the First Baptist church here. Mr. Harding was a member of that denomination.

The casket, before it left the hotel, had been heaped over with flowers, loving tributes from friends. Telegrams and messages by the hundreds vied with the flowers for space. But when the casket was removed its only drapings were the American flags and a wreath of ferns.

Behind the hearse came the notables of the escort which included the honorary pall bearers and high city and state and national officials. Among them were Secretaries Hoover, Work and Wallace and Attorney-General Daugherty, cabinet members. The attorney-general got up out of a sick bed at the Palace Hotel to take his

Momentous Events In Administration

Review of Harding's Term in Office Shows National and World Accomplishments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—These constituted the high spots in the events of the Harding administration: Re-establishment of peace with Germany and Austria. The calling of the arms conference which approved the naval limitation treaty and the four-power peace pact. Ratification of the treaty with Colombia resulting from participation of Panama. Revision of the tax and tariff laws. Restriction of immigration. Former aid legislation with particular reference to cancer credits on more liberal terms. Establishment of the budget bureau. Vote of the soldiers' bonus bill. Extension of the program of aid for wounded, sick and disabled veterans of the world war. Advancement of American participation in the world court.

ABILITY FOUND AS QUALITY OF NEW EXECUTIVE

Coolidge Arrived at Vantage Point in Public Career After Long Struggle; Was Diligent Student

There is much about John Calvin Coolidge, former vice president of the United States, and who has now automatically become the nation's leader because of the death of President Harding, that resembles the distinguished man whom he succeeds.

Both men were of hardy stock and both made successive victories in the field of public life after beginning in comparative obscurity.

John Calvin Coolidge, of Calvin Coolidge, as he is better known, was born in Plymouth Village, Vt., on July 4, 1872.

Yankee Ancestors

He came from a long line of Yankee ancestors, who had engaged principally in farming. His father was John C. Coolidge and his mother Victoria Moor Coolidge.

John Calvin Coolidge (as he was christened) attended the public schools of his village and then went to Amherst college.

In his college days Coolidge was known to his fellow students principally for his prolonged silences and his scholastic ability. He was a raw country lad, with his trousers tucked into his boots and the marks of rural Vermont still plainly upon him.

He was graduated from Amherst in 1895 with an A. B. degree and highest honors.

He then studied law in the offices of Hammond and Field, Northampton, Mass., was admitted to the bar within 20 months and entered the practice of law in his own office.

Gets First Office

Coolidge's entry into politics came when the county clerk died. He was appointed to serve the balance of the term. When this expired, the republicans wished to nominate him for the office, but Coolidge refused.

In 1899 he was elected a member of the city council and for the following two years was city solicitor. He then returned to the practice of law.

Coolidge married Miss Grace Goodhue of Burlington, Vt., October 4, 1905. His Godmothers were then teachers in the deaf and dumb school at Northampton.

Coolidge's upward climb in the political world was steady and certain, owing to his sure decision and the mastery his quiet manner exerted over men. He held various offices, including the mayorship of Northampton. In 1911 he was elected state senator. Here he remained four years, holding the position of senate president during the latter two.

In 1915 Coolidge was elected lieutenant governor, an office which he held until he was chosen governor in 1918.

Wins on Strike Issue

He ran for re-election as governor in 1919, on a platform of performance, including reduction of working hours for women and minors, increase in the compensation law allowance, such high cost of living legislation, and a provision of $20,000,000 for compensation for world war veterans.

His opponent, Richard H. Long, made the issue the Boston police strike of 1919 by promising to restore the strikers to duty and to oust the police commissioner.

"So be it," said Coolidge. "Our issue shall be law and order." On this platform Coolidge polled a majority of 130,000 votes. His firm handling of the strike situation, which brought it to a rapid conclusion, made him nationally famous.

Coolidge was nominated for the vice presidency of the United States at the 1920 republican national convention, and was elected to the office at the November 2 elections.

Coolidge throughout his career maintained the simple habits which he formed in his early lawyer days. When elected to the vice presidency he still lived with his family in the half of the two-story frame building where he had taken his bride in 1905. His rent was $32 a month.

The Coolidges have two sons, John and Calvin, Jr., both still in their teens.

Religious Cursing

The present movement in connection with prayer book revision in the Church of England for the removal of the imprecatory psalms from the services of the church is not really anything new. So long ago as the Fourth century St. Paulinus of Nola was troubled about these psalms, and said that they must be interpreted allegorically. Thus in the one hundred and thirty-seventh he said of the words: "O daughter of Babylon . . . happy shall he be that taketh thy little ones and dasheth them against a stone," he wrote that by the children of the daughter of Babylon the Christian must understand his sins, which are to be torn up and dashed against the Rock of Salvation.—Exchange.

Great Danes Tear Boy to Death

Great Dane Murderers.

Nine-year-old Joseph, Genatt, Jr., of West Hoboken, N. J., with his brother and another boy, threw stones at these two huge Great Danes, belonging to Ott Bentz, who own Floral Park, a picnic ground, at North Bergen, N. J. With terrible swiftness the dogs bore down on Joseph and tore him to death, a hundred terror-stricken eye-witnesses being unable to drive them away. Bentz, shown here with his dogs, was arrested on a manslaughter charge, but says he will not kill his dogs unless the authorities force him to do so.

Massive Figure Attracted Admiration; was "Good Mixer" and Lover of Children; Enjoyed Golf

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Massive in frame and feature, a figure that attracted a second look in any crowd, that was Warren G. Harding, the man.

Although slightly less than six feet in height, he carried his 210 pounds without any hint of obesity, and his unusually broad and high forehead and heavy, square jaw rounded out an impression of force and distinction.

Contrasting sharply with his almost silver-gray hair, were markedly thick black eyebrows which almost masked a pair of calm gray eyes. In repose his face took on the aspect of severity so often seen in his photographs, but when he talked or listened the lines were broken by a smile that radiated cordiality.

Good Listener

Mr. Harding was both a good conversationalist and a good listener, and loved to rub elbows with his fellow men. His first official order was that the gates to the White House grounds be thrown open and at the start he received visitors at almost any hour of the day. This took up so much of his time, however, that the establishment of a fixed hour for this purpose was decided upon.

Each day after he had cleared his desk and was ready for lunch he received groups of visitors in the executive offices, shaking hands and exchanging smiles and a word with each individual. White House officials estimated that an average of 1000 persons called upon him daily. He revised also the more formal functions, such as the New Year receptions and the state diplomatic dinners.

Mr. Harding was very fond of children though he had none of his own, and Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn was made an annual event. He and Mrs. Harding mingled freely with the little tots and appeared to find much enjoyment in watching them play.

Had Many Friends

In his rest hours, Mr. Harding liked to have around him his personal friends and intimates in whose company he could put aside the dignity and cares of state, and with whom he could swap stories and reminiscences. It was not surprising, then, that like Cleveland before him, he frequently slipped away from the White House in the evening to pay informal calls upon former associates in the senate and other close friends.

Golf was Mr. Harding's favorite recreation, and whenever public affairs permitted he sought the links of a Washington country club. His friends of the senate frequently were his opponents and in such matches there all days developed a keen, though friendly rivalry. By virtue of his position as an editor and publisher he participated also in the golf tournaments of the Washington correspondents.

Millions Killed for Fur

It is estimated that nearly 70,000,000 wild animals are killed yearly for their fur.

GRANT WAGE INCREASE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Increases ranging from 3 to 3 1/2 cents an hour were granted employees of the American Express company and the Southeastern Express company in a decision of the United States railroad labor board made public here today. The employees had requested an increase averaging 10 cents an hour.

World's Largest Pencil Factory

The largest pencil factory in the world is in the German city of Nuremberg, which has been the great center of the pencil-making industry since 1700.

SHORTAGE IS EVIDENT IN HORSE POPULATION

Farming Institute Makes Pleas for Increased Interest; Prices and Numbers at Low Level

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—The tendency toward decreased horse breeding because of small financial returns promises a shortage in the horse population of the country unless measures are taken to rekindle interest in that business, the National Institute of Progressive Farming has asserted in announcing a survey of the horse situation. It quoted figures of the United States department of agriculture to show that there has been a decrease of about 60 per cent in the number of stallions in service in the United States since 1915, a decrease of 913,000 horses on farms between January 1, 1920, and January 1, 1922, and a decrease during 1922 of 203,000 horses.

Government figures, as quoted by the institute, show that the monetary loss for horses last year was $29,180,000, and for mules $5,843,000; that horses under one year old had decreased gradually in value from an average of 147.95 in 1914, to $26.12 in 1923; and under two years from $74.87 in 1914 to $49.98 in 1923, and two years and over from $119.77 in 1914, to $75 in 1923. This depreciation, in value, and high costs of breeding, according to the institute, have been largely responsible for the fact that many importers, breeders and showmen are seeking other lines of business.

There were 10,766,660 horses on farms and ranges in this country in 1920, with a per capita value of $98.51 and a total value of $1,067,046,000, the institute pointed out, against government figures again, compared to 18,853,000 head in 1923, with a per capita value of $69.75 and total value of $1,314,956,000. The aggregate value of both horses and mules in 1922 was $1,826,000,000, compared to the 1919-20 average of $2,758,909,000.

Better Than Riches

Under the dome of the Board of Trade in Manchester, England, is this inscription: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." The thought is considerably more than mere sentiment. It is good business.

A good name is recognized as the biggest individual asset a business can have. It is the very keystone of modern industry. Business today is done on such a broad scale—every merchant and every manufacturer has such a long list of customers—that it would not do to have a reputation for "slipping something over."

Advertising has standardized almost every article you can buy. You don't have to bargain and dicker and haggle to know that you are getting as good as you give.

That's why it pays to read the advertisements and to buy advertised goods. A product's advertising is the best guarantee of its faithful performance and lasting usefulness or of its definite value. The advertiser would not dare to risk his good name by advertising an unworthy product.

If you value constant satisfaction—if you want to get your full money's worth every time—read the advertisements and buy advertised merchandise.

BUSINESS MEN SPECULATE ON TRADE EFFECT

Death of President Comes as Severe Shock to Finance; Express Confidence in New Chief Official

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Its first shock at President Harding's death, New York, the financial and business center of the nation, tonight turned to speculation on the effect the president's passing is to have on the nation's material welfare. In clubs, hotels and other places where business was discussed, particular interest centered on tomorrow's opening in the exchange markets, if not always accurate ones of business trends. All exchanges were closed today in tribute to the dead president. They will open for half day sessions in the morning for the first trading since the president died.

While all the important financial and industrial men interviewed expressed confidence in Calvin Coolidge, the new president, characterizing him as amply qualified for the arduous task to which he has been called, there is some difference of opinion as to how the sudden shift of power would affect business.

GARY DISTURBED.
 Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, was one of those who thought that business would suffer temporarily. "I am terribly disturbed," he said when first apprised of the president's death. "President Harding's removal at this time is a calamity. He had the confidence and affection of the whole people. The business world will suffer temporarily."

On the other hand, Charles E. Mitchell, president of one of the greatest banks in America—the National City bank—asserted that the change in presidents should be accomplished "without the stirring of a ripple upon the economic and business surface."

Another optimist was William Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and company. He left for a week-end visit in Maine tonight, giving no sign that he expected anything untoward in tomorrow's market.

Predict No Change.
 Many brokers in the street declared the exchanges would have been orderly had they opened today and predicted that tomorrow morning would find them steady, with investor confidence squarely behind President Coolidge.

But the turn to speculation did not mean that New York had ceased to mourn for the late president. Messages of sympathy continued to go forward to Mrs. C. Harding from the patriotic, civic, business and religious organizations and private individuals vying in their efforts to couch in tenderest phrases their admiration for her exalted husband and their sympathy for her in the hour of grief. Plans were set on foot for a city-wide memorial in the city's churches Sunday.

WENDELL

WENDELL—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Spencer and children left Tuesday for their home in Lawrence, Kansas. Mrs. C. A. Foster is having the Aaron Eaton store building remodeled. She will run a restaurant and ice cream parlor in this building, her present location being too small to accommodate her customers.

The Catholics of Wendell and vicinities enjoyed a picnic at the home Sunday. Mrs. R. J. Ring, who had been in poor health for some time, died last Friday evening. The funeral was held from the home Sunday morning and burial was in the Wendell cemetery.

Clyde Utterback and family and Mrs. Bookstool and children were shopping in Twin Falls Wednesday.

Elizabeth Williams left for Salt Lake Thursday to be gone two weeks. Little Carmen Best was operated on for the removal of her tonsils Thursday at St. Valentine's hospital in Woodfall. This was her first operation that has been done in the new hospital. Dr. Simonton had charge of the case.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Davis and son, Johnnie, returned Wednesday from a two weeks' visit spent in Ogden.

ENGLAND IN MOURN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Great Britain was the first foreign power to pay its respects to the dead president. C. H. Cane, vice consul general of Great Britain in San Francisco, called at the presidential suite on the behalf of Gerald Campbell, consul general. Mr. Campbell was out of town, he said, but would arrive in time to pay formal respects on behalf of Great Britain.

TRIBUTES ARE PAID BY WORLD PROMINENT MEN

Members of Permanent Court Among First to Express Respects; Senators Send Condolences

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Members of the permanent court of international justice were among the first to cable their sympathy to Secretary Hughes when word of President Harding's death reached European capitals. The message came from The Hague, and read:

"The permanent court of international justice, having heard of the death of President Harding, desires to express its sense of the loss sustained by the United States of America and by the world, and begs you to convey an expression of sympathy to the family."
 (SIGNED)

"LODER, President."

AMERICA MOURNS

"Please, let there be no music; America is in mourning today." These were the first words of General Henry Gouraud, military governor of Paris, and one of the world war heroes of France, when he stepped from his train today to be the guest of the city of New Orleans, and saw a band ready to play the "Marshallaise" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

August Hermann, president of the Cincinnati National league club, said today that baseball loses one of its truest friends in the death of President Harding.

Director Hines of the veterans' bureau, issued a statement on the president's death in which he said:

"The veterans of the world war and the veterans' bureau have lost a very staunch friend in President Harding. No one can appreciate as I his interest in the veterans and his great desire to make sure that every possible assistance is given them."

HULL FEELS LOSS

Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee, has issued a statement in Washington characterizing President Harding's death as a great loss to the country.

"I join with the great body of Americans," he said, "in deploring the sudden and untimely death of President Harding, which has shocked his fellow citizens everywhere and is a great loss to his country. The heart of the nation will go out to Mrs. Harding, the devoted and devoted wife, and to the other members of his family."

WILL PAY RESPECTS

Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado issued a proclamation today urging that at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at which time the funeral train bearing the body of the dead executive will pass through a corner of the state, all traffic and activities cease for one minute, "and all patriotic citizens, wherever they may be, stand in silent meditation in token of our universal loss."

Elihu Root said he was deeply shocked and grieved at President Harding's death.

"It is a great calamity for the country," he said.

"Regardless of political affiliations, your husband was the most popular man in public life in America. His death comes as a personal loss to each of us. Mrs. Copeland and I extend to you our deepest sympathy, and we pray that God may sustain you in your hour of trial."

Governor Smith, in a proclamation today, paid tribute to President Harding and directed that the flags on

EULOGIZES PRESIDENT

Tribute was paid to President Harding by United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, when he arrived in Indianapolis today from Washington. Senator Watson said:

"The president was a remarkable combination of heart and conscience and brain. He was a man of the noblest impulses and the purest purposes and no person was ever actuated by more beautiful sentiment or sustained by loftier consideration of right and justice. He never entirely divorced his head from his heart in his estimate either of men or measures, and his decisions were right."

STEAM USEFUL ON FARMS

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Steam power is taking the place of stork right arms and "elbow grease" in west farm mile west farm, according to the Boiler Code committee of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The use of steam for scalding milk pails, cream separators, churning machinery and other dairy apparatus is fast becoming general. Steam power is being used to pump water and saw wood.

EUROPEAN MOVIE FIRMS SEEK 'PRETTY HEROINES'

BERLIN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Young women with graceful hands and feet are now being sought by European film directors in their efforts to compete with American films. American picture stars long ago made it difficult for the film studios of central Europe to market pictures abroad, or even at home, if the heroines were not young and beautiful.

The practice of featuring famous actresses regardless of their looks has gone into the discard. For a long time the German and Swedish movie-producers clung tenaciously to the theory that historic art was the chief feature of a film, but today they are looking for youth and beauty of figure, as well as beauty of face.

There has been also a marked change in the types of footwear popular on the German stage. Long, slender shoes on American and English models are making their appearance. The short-vamped shoe, which central Europe used to believe made the foot look small, has been abandoned.

Since shops everywhere are advertising light American styles, and it is no longer possible to identify American men and women immediately by their shoes.

Russian women have beautiful hands and feet, and have found great favor with the film photographers who are constantly on the lookout for grace, even in the humblest members of their ranks.

LIVE IN ONE-ROOM "HOMES"

Probably no other city in the world dominates the country of which it is the capital as Buenos Aires dominates Argentina. Into it is poured all the wealth from the estancias, the great ranches of a great country. There are five cities large towns and cities. Unfortunately all this wealth, from some aspects, it certainly has made a wonderful capital which can be surpassed by few in the world for wealth and magnificence.

On the outside there is nothing remarkable about these conventillas, but as you open the outer door you find that you are in the courtyard, and around the courtyard are a multitude of smaller doors. If there are two stories, then a balcony runs around the second story, and as many more doors open upon that. Each of these doors leads to a single room, and in the room live a man, a woman, a father and mother and children, perhaps son-in-law and grandchildren. Five or six, it is said, sleep in the same bed, and the cooking is done over a charcoal brazier in the courtyard.

The mild climate, too, allows one to be in the open air at all times. Of course, the well-to-do, or even those in fairly moderate circumstances, do not live in a conventilla. The outside of their homes usually presents no remarkable architectural glories, but when you open the outside door you find yourself not in the hallway or in the sitting-room, as often with us, but in a beautiful patio, or miniature garden, into which all the rooms open. For this climate there is nothing so delightful as such a home as this; a little garden bordered with bright flowers and a little fountain often playing in the middle of the garden, the universal architecture of the homes of the rich and the well-to-do—Llve, Francis E. Clark, D. D., in the Christian Herald.

RAISE SUNKEN WARSHIPS

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The German fleet scuttled at Scapa Flow in June, 1919, is to be raised, cut up and sold for junk. The admiralty has signed a contract with a private company which has purchased part of the vessels sunk and will start operations at once to raise them.

The company is said already to have found a market for the hulks. If the operations are successful, a contract will be signed for the remaining section, which includes the largest of the ships.

The vessels sunk comprise ten battleships, five battle cruisers and 29 destroyers, their total tonnage being 416,000. The contract already agreed to covers 20 destroyers and one of the battle cruisers.

The vessels were sunk by their crews opening all the sea-cocks and flooding the ships. This will, however, make the work of the salvagers much easier, as it is planned to shut the cocks and pump the water out of the holds.

BOISE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Slight improvement was reported tonight in the condition of Klendon Walsh, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walsh, who received serious injury when he was struck by a large rock thrown by an unknown person in South Boise, late Wednesday night.

His injury, according to attending physicians, consists of a deep gash over the cheek bone and resulted in his bleeding considerably from the ears and nose, indicative that he is in a dangerous condition. It is thought by physicians that there is a fracture at the base of the skull.

Walsh was driving an auto stage at a speed of about 40 miles an hour when he was struck by the rock that caused his injury.

TOURIST FINDS LOST PUP HERE

Iowa Woman Makes Successful Appeal to Sister on Tour to Locate Missing Pet

The adage that the world is growing smaller was verified at the tourist park Thursday evening. Mrs. Clarence Saook of Grand Junction, Iowa, missed her little dog, Toodles, which was in the habit of going to the tourist park near her home, and so thought that some traveler had stolen him, so she wrote to her sister, Mrs. Egli, who is touring the west, to look out for him.

Among the many interesting people that we meet in the park, probably the most interesting is a party from two young brothers, Fridtjof and Hagen Mils, from Copenhagen, Denmark, who have just graduated from an agricultural college in Denmark and are touring the United States studying our ways of farming.

Mr. and Mrs. Brouillett of Sioux City, Iowa, are journeying to Los Angeles to make their home. Mr. Brouillett has been practicing law in Iowa for twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ballou and Mrs. Sue Gunner and daughter from Ashland, Nebraska, have been passing over the country as far as British Columbia, and expect to reach Pomona, California before cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Jacobson are on their way from Chicago to Glendale, Cal., to make their home.

T. W. Reed and family are returning from Yellowstone park. They went through Spokane and Montana but very wisely are returning through our country. They were surprised at the change from sagebrush to fine farms, and said they had no idea that such a fine country existed.

Frank Saook and family are going to the Green Mountains to visit the old home and friends.

It seems that a majority of the people passing through the park are enroute to Los Angeles. In this group we note Lewis Blank and family from Roselle Park, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. A. Milne and two daughters, and F. Ford and Niagara Falls, N. Y.; H. G. Wischard and family from Geneva, Illinois; R. E. Sutton and family from Pueblo, Colo.

AUTO DRIVER ACQUITTED

A. H. Kulper, Accused of Overtaking Horse-drawn Vehicle on Highway, Is Set Free by Jury

A. H. Kulper was Friday acquitted by verdict of a jury in Justice of the Peace Kennedy Packard's court on charges of reckless driving preferred by the prosecuting attorney's office at the instance of G. C. Glazier, attorney for Hanson, who testified that Kulper driving a Ford bug had overtaken a horse-drawn vehicle on the highway at Hanson, endangering the lives and persons of his son and daughter and a child companion. No testimony was introduced by the defense, Attorney Orr W. Chapman contending in his argument that the prosecution had failed to identify Kulper as the driver of the machine.

Consumption of Poisons Used in Combating Grasshopper Reseach Big Figure

Success attending the use of arsenite poisons in combating the grasshopper pest that has made itself evident to a greater or less extent in all parts of the county this year, is producing a strong demand for the poison that is being handled by the farm bureau, according to R. E. Broadard, county agent.

A shipment of 110 pounds of white arsenic and 500 pounds of sulfum arsenite was received Friday at the farm bureau office, bringing the total amount handled by the farm bureau here this season to 600 pounds of arsenite and almost 200 gallons of white arsenic. The latter product is used also in combating noxious weeds.
