

DE VALERA IS ARRESTED WHEN MAKING SPEECH

President of Irish Republic Taken in Custody by Free State Officers; Denies Destructive Intentions

ENNIS, Aug. 15 (P)—Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," at last is in the custody of the free state authorities. He was arrested here today as he was starting an election speech to his constituents. He had boldly announced his coming, and when he took his position on the rostrum in Market square, free state troops threw a cordon about him.

The crowd that had gathered had given Mr. De Valera a tumultuous reception, and he had just started his address in Gaelic, when a shout arose, "The soldiers are coming." Simultaneously armored cars rattled loudly up to the vicinity of the platform.

The crowd fled in all directions as the soldiers fired shells over their heads. Many women fainting.

Faints From Shock. As several soldiers rushed toward the platform De Valera was seen to sway and then collapse. At first it was thought the republican leader had been hurt, but it turned out that he had only fainted, probably from a blow he received during the stampede.

When he recovered, he was nasled down the steps by troops. He waved aside a number of persons who seemed desirous of trying to rescue him and surrendered to an officer who received him with a kindly "come along."

When the first panic had subsided the people returned to Market square. Many of them hurled insulting remarks at the troops. The troops, however, took things calmly, fixed their bayonets and soon restored a degree of order. Mr. De Valera was then taken to the county jail.

"Stood for Enemy's Game." In a few remarks he was able to make before he was arrested, Mr. De Valera said:

"When we would not come to you to tell you the truth, they said we were anarchists, out for destruction. I come here to tell you I never have stood for the enemy's game, which is to incite one party to fight another party."

"Since the beginning I have preached one gospel, which is the gospel I preach to you today."

Several Injured. The arrival of the military cut off further remarks. A dozen persons were treated for injuries in the local hospital. Two of them suffered from bullet wounds and the others from cuts or bruises.

According to the report, current here the free state cabinet was earnestly divided over the wisdom of arresting De Valera. A strong feeling prevails that today's event will insure his election to the dail.

Meteors and Steel. A study of the great collection of meteorites in a European museum has led to the interesting conclusion that meteoritic iron, as it falls from the sky, and the various steels produced in our modern steel works are the results of essentially similar chemical and physical causes. One of the most striking characteristics noted in meteoritic iron is the presence of a considerable quantity of nickel.

Five American and Three British Stars Remain in the Running for Women's Singles Championship Games

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Five American and three British stars remained in the running for the national women's singles championship when third round plays were completed on the turf courts of the Westside Tennis club.

Competition for the national doubles title was narrowed down to one British and seven American pairs at the end of the second round.

Misfortune struck the ranks of the British players when the illness of Mrs. Geraldine Beamish obliged her to default to Miss Helen Hoaker of Greenwich, Conn., in the singles and also contributed later to her defeat in the doubles paired with Mrs. R. C. Clayton, by two youthful Americans, Miss Corlie Baker of Orange, N. J., and Miss Lillian Beharman of New York.

hauled to the surface in trip cars and then loaded upon motor trucks for transit to the two morgues at Kemmerer. The last body of the 87 recovered late last night was identified shortly after 2 a. m. and immediately upon arrival in Kemmerer today they were prepared for burial.

In one of the small rooms of the I. O. O. F. building, undertakers and volunteers worked until late this morning. Leaders experienced no difficulty in getting the men to perform the duty of washing the bodies and otherwise preparing them.

One man about 80 or 70 years old came to the I. O. O. F. building soon after the first bodies arrived on the scene of the disaster. He told newspaper men he worked faithfully until after 7 a. m., but had to cease which it came to preparing the body of a very dear friend.

"I loved that man like a brother," the old man said. "When his body came around I just couldn't muster up courage to go ahead and had to leave."

The bodies of the dead miners—stripped of all clothing—have all been marked, arranged in rows, covered with burial shrouds to which are attached identification cards.

The majority of the corpses are in excellent state of preservation and not disintegrated as is usually the case in mine disasters. Several of the bodies are somewhat burned, but none beyond the point where identification was a comparatively easy matter.

CONCESSION BY MINERS TO AVERT COAL STRIKE

Union Officials Propose to Abandon Demands for Check-Off of Dues; Conditions Are Attached

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A way to prevent suspension of anthracite coal mining after September 1, was opened today by the intervention of the United States coal commission in the deadlock which has hitherto prevailed between the miners' union and the operators.

Officials of the miners' union proposed to the commission to abandon their demand for check-off of union dues if the operators would consent their practice of collecting explosive and fuel accounts by the same method and after conference tonight the operators agreed to the proposal in full.

Wago negotiations, which broke off today by the intervention of the operators and miners may be resumed, the operators said in accepting the union proposal. Both miners' union officials and operators representatives, however will meet again tomorrow with the coal commission to confirm the situation before going ahead.
