PLAN ADEQUATE FUEL SUPPLY IF STRIKE OCCURS

Governors Invited to Take Part in Framing System of Distribution; Establish Central Agencies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Precedence of a system of distribution designed to secure an adequate supply of substitute fuel will be the first object of the government in the case of stoppage of production in the anthracite coal fields.

The initial step in this work was taken today when F. R. Wadleigh, the federal fuel distributor, invited governors of anthracite-consuming states to send representatives to a meeting at New York August 28, to assist in formulating an emergency distributing system.

The telegram, which went to the executives of 11 states forming the New England and Middle Atlantic tier, and including Maryland, was dispatched after a conference between President Coolidge, Acting Chairman Atchison of the interstate commerce commission and Mr. Wadleigh at the White House.

It was announced that the interstate commerce commission and traffic departments of the principal eastern railroads would be represented at the New York meeting in order that any plan adopted might be worked out to the last detail.

Tentative Plan Ready

A tentative plan for the institution of central distribution agencies in each state, with supervisory purposes in Washington, to insure priority of transportation, has been worked out by Mr. Wadleigh and will be laid before the conference.

Anouncing call to the governors, Mr. Wadleigh said: "An important subject to be discussed will be the matter of substitution of the coal in the use of fuels other than anthracite. It is felt that a systematic plan of public instruction can be made of great value to the public and that the use of such fuels will thereby reduce the actual cost of heating with resultant savings to the individual consumer and the community."

Store Crude Oil

A record surplus of crude oil supplies is believed by government officials to be the case. It was said to be the reserve of substitute fuel available for use in an emergency. It was said officially that the commerce department should be informed that an unusual number of inquiries as to the adaptability of oil for economical heating of dwellings had been addressed to commercial firms, distributing agencies for this purpose.

Will Protect Public

In the event neither side offers a suggestion, the government was said to be determined to be ready to protect the public, both as to individuals and industry.

BOARD DEFENDS PLAN TO FUND INTEREST CHARGES

American Falls Reservoir District Directors Reply to Objection Made by Attorney in Tentative Apportionment

Directors of the American Falls Reservoir district adjourned Wednesday evening after two days session of the board, leaving details of a tentative apportionment of the cost of constructing the big reservoir and purchase of storage water to be worked out by legal advisers of the district.

Objection was made at Wednesday's session by Attorney John W. Graham of Twin Falls, to action of the board in computing the apportionment on the basis of funding of interest charges for a period of years. Members of the board declared that electors of the district, when they voted the $2,700,000 bond issue last May, had understood that interest would be funded and that no payments were to be made until after lapse of several years. It was believed the directors generally, after a few years, would make it easier to pay a greater amount than that a lesser one now.

Big Berling Bomber Completes Rigorous Test Without Mishap

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Berling bomber, world's largest airplane, successfully completed its premier flight at 6:45 tonight, landing at McCook field after circling the city of Dayton.

The big ship maintained a speed of about 90 miles an hour and flew about 2000 feet in the air during its "spook making" flight.

FLOOD VOLUME IS INCREASED

Communication Lines at Pueblo Are Down; Waters Break Irrigation Reservoir

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 22 (AP)—Damage estimated at possibly $1,000,000 was caused by the breaking of the South St. Paul livestock exchange, 35 miles south of here, this afternoon following a cloudburst last night in the river's watershed.

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 22 (AP)—Telephone communication with all towns in the Arkansas valley except Fowler, Colo., was lost at 11 o'clock tonight.

Further reports from the flooded region were not available for several hours until newspaper representatives who have gone to the flooded region return.

At 10:30 o'clock tonight the lowlands around Rockyford and Manzanola were under water, according to the sheriff of Crowley county, who reported over the only telephone remaining at Ordway to Pueblo.

A large irrigation reservoir on the Alapha river, south of Fowler, Colo., has broken, according to information received here, and a great body of water is moving toward another reservoir at Rockyford. The water early tonight was running four feet over the dam at Rockyford and city officials expressed the fear that when the water from the broken reservoir reached the Rockyford dam the latter would break, causing a serious flood.

Hits Danger Mark

A 27-foot wall of water is reported to be headed toward Manzanola by telephone operators at that place, who said the water had 25 miles to go before reaching them. The river can.

TO SEEK PROBE OF DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Farmers' Council Director Alleges Irregularities; Claims Commission Men Robbed Farmers

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 22 (AP)—A demand of the next congress for an investigation of the federal department of agriculture is to be made by the Farmers' National council, Benjamin C. Marsh, of Washington, managing director of the council, declared in an address here tonight before the conference for progressive political action.

"Secretary of Agriculture Wallace," declared Mr. Marsh, "has turned the administration of the stockyards act, passed by congress in 1921 over to the packers and commission men to enforce, with results highly satisfactory to the food trust. Under this administration, irregularities have occurred upon which we will demand an investigation."

Will City Cases One of the cases of alleged irregularities, Mr. Marsh said, was at the South St. Paul livestock exchange. Other instances, he declared, also would be cited if a congressional investigation committee is appointed.

"Commission men, according to the admission of the president of the South St. Paul livestock exchange, have been guilty of irregularity in robbing farmers of large sums of money," Mr. Marsh declared.

"When the secretary of agriculture found that 10 St. Paul firms had been guilty of robbing the farmers who sold them livestock," Mr. Marsh continued, "the secretary, instead of forcing the firms to make restitution to the farmers, turned over the facts secured by the federal auditor to the directors of the exchange, although he has the power to order or compel the directors of the commission, who makes public any information obtained by the commission without its authority unless directed by a court, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to punishment."

Offenders Fined "The St. Paul livestock exchange subsequently fined the offending firms sums ranging from $50 to $750, and suspended seven firms, so serious were the charges admitted against its members."

"The secretary of agriculture, instead of enforcing the law on the livestock commission firm, sent his auditor to honor the co-operative livestock commission."

Two Lose Lives in Crash in Mid-Air

Student Aviators Killed in Drop of 3,000 Feet After Machines Come Together

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 22 (AP)—Undergoing combat practice which would have completed their aviation training course, Captain George F. Hill and Flight Lieutenant Cornelius McCullough, both of the United States marine corps, were killed when a plane in which they were flying collided with another machine piloted by First Lieutenant A. Richel, in mid-air and fell more than 3,000 feet at the naval air station here today.

An investigation of the accident has been ordered by the navy department at Washington.

Richel miraculously escaped death when his machine went into a long glide after all tail controls and the rear portion of the fuselage had been severed by the impact with the other plane. His ship, a Vought type land plane, was upside down during the long fall of 3,000 feet and was in that position when it landed on a paved highway leading from Pensacola to the naval air station.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22 (AP)—A harpoon, believed to be over a century old, was found in the body of a 60-ton whale killed off Humboldt county, California recently. It bore the inscription "Bedford, 1820," which was taken to indicate that one of the old New England whaling crews had captured the monster cetacean out-had failed to take him.

WEATHER HITS LOWEST MARK

Mid-West and East in Shivers as Coldest August in Many Years Is Recorded

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The coldest August weather in years, in some parts the coldest in the history of weather bureau records, sent shivers today through readers of news dispatches from Washington telling of an impending coal crisis and a probable resultant coal shortage.

The cool weather, gathering in the northwest, spread throughout the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys last night and today, light frost being reported from several Minnesota and Michigan points which caused little or no damage to growing crops.

The cold area was spreading eastward tonight up the St. Lawrence valley, and fair weather with rising temperatures is promised for tomorrow.

The drop in temperature to 48 degrees this morning at Omaha, Neb., was the coldest August 22 on record there. Sioux City, Iowa, reported 43 degrees, the coldest in 32 years.

STORM AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—An electrical storm accompanied by a 52-mile an hour wind swept over New York today. The coldest August weather it experienced in nearly 50 years. RECORD AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP)—Detroit set a new record for August 22 in the history of the weather bureau here, Norman B. Conger, meteorologist, said today. The thermometer touched 44.8 degrees, 1.4 degrees below the mark on August 22, 1876.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Northwest winds following the trail of the storm which swept over the plains states and the St. Lawrence valley yesterday brought some of the coldest weather on record for August to the territory east of the Mississippi river.

The cold wave extended over the Ohio valley and into the eastern and New England states, its effect being felt as far south as Kentucky and Arizona.

However, rising temperatures which developed during the day will continue tomorrow and Friday, it was forecast tonight by the weather bureau.

WHY NOT A LITTLE SELECTIVE SUPERVISION AT THE SOURCE?

NEGOTIATION ON WAGE CONTRACT APPEARS FUTILE

Union and Operators' Representatives in Anthracite Industry Still Deadlocked; Strike Seems Certain

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Officials of the miners' union and representatives of anthracite coal operators whose break-up of wage negotiations yesterday raised almost certain prospect of a stoppage of coal production September 1, kept fruitless vigil in separate hotels here today.

They were waiting, leaders said, without any idea of altering the positions which ended the joint conference, but at a matter of courtesy to the federal government, from some agency of which there might possibly come a communication that would make conference desirable. No direct message came either from the United States coal commission, at the instance of which wage scale negotiations were renewed this week after a previous suspension, or from any other source.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said he had nothing to add to the announcement of yesterday that the union would "administer to the operators the trouncing of their carcasses" in the mine stoppage he expects to see September 1. Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' policy committee, remarked only that press comment and public reaction today all appeared to him to support the employers' attitude of refusing wage increases, but offered arbitration of every disputed issue.

HOUSE BUILT ON REDWOOD STUMPS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22 (AP)—A house with a foundation six times as old as the United States of America is one of the show places of the little forest town of Mill Valley, northeast of here. The foundation is the stump of an immense redwood tree and the two room structure is built upon it light-house fashion, a dining room on the first floor and a bedroom above. The house was built 20 years ago for P. F. Ferguson of San Francisco, along original lines. Judging from its state of preservation, the foundation at least is due to last many more years.

SILVER PRICES TO BE TOPIC AT RENO MEET

SALT LAKE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Transfer of the control of silver prices from London to America, formation of a new export association and establishment of representation of silver interests in congress on farm bloc issues will be among the topics discussed at the Reno meeting to be held under the auspices of the United States gold and silver commission, consisting of Senators Oddie, Pittman, Walsh, Sterling and Gooding. An especially large delegation is expected to attend from Utah and Idaho.

The three Americas of the western hemisphere produce 90 per cent of the world's annual silver output, ranging from 175,000,000 to 200,000,000 ounces, it is said. Mexico, the United States and Canada, in the order named, mine the greatest part, exceeding 100,000,000 ounces. American miners hold the opinion that with most of the silver produced in this hemisphere, New York and not London, should be the center where the price is fixed.

We don't watch nobody's clothes for security-five cents a night. If then pants cost you five cents a night, you should put 'em in the safe." Doug got such a kick from the hotel clerk's comments that he worked them and the pants incident into the story of "The Sunshine Trail," now at the Orpheum theater.

FRENCH PRESS PLEASED WITH REPLY TO NOTE

Poincare's Answer to Curzon's Policy on Reparations Draws Favorable Comment from Leading Editors

PARIS, Aug. 22 (AP)—Premier Poincare's reply to Marquis Curzon's French note seems to suit the French press and to strike a popular chord in public opinion. The members of parliament are in Paris, most of them being occupied in meetings of the general councils of the various departments, but those who were in the lobby of the chamber today united in approving the premier's stand.

The part of the note that appealed most to the political leaders was that in which M. Poincare asked Lord Curzon whether France should be treated by her allies more severely than Great Britain wanted to treat Germany, their former common enemy.

Great stress also was laid on the assertion that if the British theory prevailed, the Germans would emerge from the calamity of the war with a credit, no interior debt and a foreign debt of only fifty billion marks, with an annual interest charge much less than that France is obliged to bear. At the same time, it was declared, Germany had profited from the stoppage of work in the Ruhr by putting her industries in such shape that, when a settlement finally was reached, she would be able to compete more sharply than ever with those countries which suffered damage at her hands.

Comments of official quarters indicate plainly that Premier Poincare anticipates continuation of the discussion with the British cabinet. In political circles outside the government there is not so much confidence that London will desire to go on with the discussion, but nowhere among public men or in the press does there appear any great apprehension as to the consequences of eventual separate action by the British government.

American participation in any international expert conference to fix Germany's capacity to pay is regarded altogether unlikely, and it is not thought the British will desire to take the risk of proposing a reduction of the Ruhr occupation question to the international court at The Hague in the face of France's refusal to accept the jurisdiction of the court in the question.

They also know that when they buy Valtex they are doing business with an Independent Company that handles independent products. Their money does not leave the country. It helps build home enterprises.

Minidoka County's Cattle Set Record

Only Five Out of 5800 Animals Tested Are Found to Be Tubercular

Federal and state veterinarians conducting a tubercularis drive in Minidoka county, up to Saturday night had found, out of 5800 cattle submitted to the tests, only five infected animals, according to Dr. W. A. Sullivan, representative in Idaho of the federal bureau of animal industry, who came Wednesday from Rupert to attend a sale of Duro-Jersey swine on the Dr. R. S. Arnes farm at Filer.

A smaller proportion of infected animals has been discovered in Minidoka county than in any other county in Idaho in which similar drives have been made, Dr. Sullivan said. The drive there will be completed this week and the veterinarians next Monday will begin a similar drive in Cassia county.

After the completion of the drive, Dr. Sullivan said, a quarantine will be established and only animals that have been tested for tubercularis will be admitted.

Commissioners of five other Idaho counties have made arrangements for conducting similar drives in their counties, Dr. Sullivan said.

Australian Davis Cup Combination Gire High Quality Doubles Exhibition at Brookline

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Australian Davis cup team James O. Anderson and John B. Hawkes gave followers of tennis an exhibition of championship doubles play today in defeating the Pacific coast combination, William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, in a third round match of the national doubles tournament. The galleries at the Longwood Cricket club at Chestnut Hill saw the team which many expected would represent America in the challenge round against Australia next month, go down to defeat by the score of 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

TAXI-DRIVER HELD FOR PROSECUTION OF LIQUOR

F. S. Cobb Must Answer in District Court to Charge Prescribed After His Arrest Following Three-Car Smashup

F. S. Cobb, taxi driver, was held Wednesday under $500 bond to answer to the district court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, which was preferred against him following his arrest on the evening of August 11, when he crashed his car driven by H. A. Briscoe and C. W. Strigga on Main avenue west, causing considerable damage to both machines.

Testimony introduced by the prosecution at the preliminary hearing Wednesday before Probate Judge O. P. Duvall, to show that Cobb, after the collision, removed a sack containing a quantity of liquor from his car and deposited it among weeds on a nearby residence lot. No testimony was introduced on behalf of Cobb, who was represented by Attorney W. P. Guthrie.

COURT ADVISES WOMAN TO TAKE UP HOME TIES

Suspends Sentence on Wife and Mother Who Carries Illegal Liquor Possession, If She Rejoins Husband

Sentence of 30 days in jail and $100 fine imposed Wednesday by District Judge W. A. Babcock upon Mrs. Olive Lantry, who pleaded guilty to charge of illegal possession of liquor, was suspended on condition that she leave Twin Falls with her two daughters to join her husband in California. In passing judgment, the court advised Mrs. Lantry to make a sincere effort to live in harmony with her husband. Mrs. Lantry was arrested Sunday as a result of a police raid on her home on Blue Lakes boulevard north, which revealed a quantity of moonshine.

FLOOD VOLUME

stand only about a five-foot raise, observers said tonight.

Heavy rains last night raised the water and formed a lake five miles back of the Apishapa river from the Fowler dam, which is half a mile higher ground. The water's speed is estimated variously at from seven to 11 miles an hour.

The entire dam went out soon after the end was washed away. A wall of water is descending on Olney Springs, Mancanola, Rockyford and La Junta, Colo.

This water will empty, is already bank full from the rains in Pueblo and surrounding territory yesterday and fears are felt for the safety of the towns in the flood's path. Residents in all the lowlands are moving to high ground.

The Apishapa river dam cracked in the center Tuesday afternoon and all night Tuesday and Wednesday morning a crew of 20 men labored in vain to repair the break. When the one end crumbled, people along the river's course who had been warned to be ready to leave began their trek to higher ground. The water's speed is estimated variously at from seven to 11 miles an hour.

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVES
George B. David Co., Inc., 171 Madison Ave., New York, A. R. Kantor, 1411 Hartford Building, Chicago.

An annual convention of the Kiwanis clubs of the district composed of Utah and Idaho, is bringing to Twin Falls this week some hundreds of members of the organization including its international president and secretary.

Kiwanis is not a secret order, and although its membership is limited, anyone may subscribe to its articles of faith—and be the better for it. Kiwanians have learned that the golden rule works in business and they are moulding their business and private affairs to conform to this rule. This is the foundation principle of the organization, and its goal is expressed in its motto, "We Build."

Twin Falls citizenship as a whole joins with the members of the entertaining club in a most cordial welcome to the visiting Kiwanians.

A WONDERFUL WORLD
"Telephone Rate Cut" is the announcement in the Chicago News. We rubbed our eyes twice and read it again. It seems to be true.

"Gasoline Going Down" is a headline in papers in a score of states. Incredible, but a fact.

Mary Miles Minter is only 21. She loved Mr. Taylor, all innocently and sweetly and far too romantically for any season but late summer just before the film fans crowd in from hills and benches to the movies.

There's going to be more coal this winter. Even with an anthracite strike, there's going to be more, because there already is more. And maybe some of the light and warmth inherent in the stuff they handle may percolate into the minds and hearts of the warring bodies, getting them together as friends, to plan their work before the glowing grate, in peace and friendship. Stranger things have happened, and the day of miracles is not yet past.

Steel is on an eight-hour basis, for instance. Against which, however, is the other marvel that De Valera is in jail and Bergdoll isn't.

The Germans who haven't any money for food or reparations have managed to salt down $500,000,000 in American currency, mostly yellow-backs, good as the gold in the collars of the U. S. Treasury.

It's a queer world and a wonderful world, with lots of marvelous things going on in it, and on the whole it looks like a comfortable winter. There is even a word of cheer for mothers—the children who had measles and scarlet fever last year aren't going to have them again this year.

"All right, come up," he cried hoarsely. "What's done can't be helped. Come here!"

They suspected some ruse, beld off, watching him. Petit Jean cursed them, and began to make a cigarette; he walked to the rail, eyeing the shore and the water, then turned and beckoned.

They perceived that the madness had left him, and suddenly approached, albeit with much precaution. Now it was seen that a new change had come into the face of Petit Jean; the heretofore glittering eyes had become bloodshot, with a crimson murk.

"I shan't hurt you, little ones," he said, and laughed. "Come and do what papa says! You, too," and he stabbed at two of them with his finger, making them start back, "get into the boat, row up to the Lavergne place, and bring me down a launch. If those niggers ask any questions, say that everybody has gone for a cruise, say anything you like! Better bring a canoe for yourselves, too."

"I'll be off as soon as you get back. Then you can look what you want from the yacht here, and set fire to her. Understand?"

They assented, gradually regaining confidence in him.

"You other three," he went on, "stay aboard. Do what you like, but see that one of you remains on watch. If any boats pass and ask questions, say that we ran ashore and that M'sieu Macarty has gone to Latouche to get a large boat to pull us off. Let no one aboard. You understand?"

They assented again. Petit Jean watched them shrink from his lurid eyes, and smiled.

"I shall sleep for an hour; at the end of that time, waken me. The boat will heel over a little as the tide goes down. When the tide comes in again this afternoon, she will float

Do what you like with her—she's yours. But I advise you to loot and burn her at once. That is all. Off with you now!"

He turned, walked back to the companionway, and vanished there. The five men looked one at another, exchanged a shrug and a muttered word, and obeyed his orders in a species of dumb terror. Two got down into the trailing boat, and began to row her upstream. The other three conferred for a moment, then two of them went to their own quarters, for they gained little sleep the preceding night. Alceé, chosen to stay on watch, seated himself on the deck, took a fishing line from his pocket and cast it over the rail, and began to smoke his pipe.

The eastern sky broke into a flame as the new day arrived. The consulting hand dragged its slow length along without incident. The only busy man aboard the yacht was the steward, to whom the brooding Alceé paid no attention.

John Solomon, indeed, went about his work in an unconcerned and placid manner as though no sequence of tragedy had invested this yacht with a tragic veil of horror. He carried a tray to Aline Lavergne's cabin, and was in there a long while, talking with her. When he came out, he was puffing at his clay pipe, and appeared quite satisfied with himself.

A little later, he returned for her tray and bore it to the galley. Then he went down the companionway again, but this time he was not smoking; this time he went directly to the cabin that had been occupied by David Macarty. The door was locked, but for a little the steward worked softly at the lock. Presently the door opened under his hand. He saw Petit Jean stretched out in the bunk, snoring lustily, and beside him was the automatic pistol taken from Felix Macarty.

After a time he was on deck again. Alceé, the man on guard, paid him no attention.

When the appointed hour had gone, Alceé went below and wakened Petit Jean by pounding at the door. Bennequin opened the door and came out, sleepily.

"Not back yet with the launch? Tell that fool steward to fetch me some coffee, here in the saloon cabin. Then stay on watch."

The man departed. Petit Jean went into the saloon and dropped into a chair at the table. He did not observe that the place had been tidied up, nor that the scrum of paper had disappeared from the floor. He was thinking of something else.

With the falling of the tide, the yacht had heeled over quite a little, so that her decks were inclined. The skylight above the saloon was pointing toward the eastern sky, and all the glory of the morning sunlight came through the clouded glass, filling the place with a diffused glare of light.

From his pocket, Petit Jean drew out the two little boxes, and set them on the table before him. He left them unopened. A moment later Solomon appeared, with a tray, and set coffee and fresh-made toast before the outlaw.

"Fetch Ma'm'selle Lavergne here in ten minutes," commanded Petit Jean, "and see to it that she does not go on deck instead."

"Yes, sir," returned Solomon, and disappeared. Petit Jean wolfed the toast, gulped at the coffee, and then shoved the dishes back carelessly. With a quick catch of his breath, as though he had been awaiting this moment, he opened the smaller box and displayed the four great gems. He relapsed into a motionless silence, staring at them with new amazement.

If they had been glorious on the preceding evening under artificial light, now beneath the food of new daylight they were splendid beyond words, indescribable in their beauty. Few men have ever looked with the pride of ownership upon four such jewels as these—the great black pearl lustrous as some lost star plucked from Erebus; the twin pink gem, luminous as the dawn; the diamond of the morning; and the diamond that coruscated in its bitter, dazzling acerbity.

He Was Ready.
Knight's drug store had a new soda dispenser. He had been in the store but a few days, however, until Knight found out that the new clerk possessed a rather strong fondness for ice cream concoctions himself. In other words, the treats were continually on the house.

One afternoon Knight came into the store rather expectantly and found the boy in the act of mixing malted milk for himself. Knight waited to see what would happen, before he questioned the boy about it. When the drink was mixed the clerk looked around, assuming a surprised expression, and exclaimed: "Where in thunder did that man go who ordered this drink?"

IVE your motor a fighting chance in its daily battle with friction, wear and tear. It was built to give service, even with rough handling. But if you neglect its lubrication, you are hurrying it toward the junk pile and paying for a lot of preventable repairs and replacements in the meantime.

Pouring in "a quart of oil" now and then is a rather haphazard treatment. Get the Polarine habit—common sense economy—and stop taking chances with oil of uncertain quality and uniformity. There is a grade of Polarine exactly suited to the lubrication requirements of your own car. Consult the chart.

Traverse Desert on Way to Twin Falls

Tourists Lose Way in Wilderness; Find Road to Blue Lakes; Count Ride Memorable

TOURIST TRIP NOTES. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Malcolm of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell and son of St. Louis, who are journeying to southern California to spend the winter, had an experience that will not soon be forgotten. Near Butte a farmer directed them to Report across the desert as the most direct way to Twin Falls. They followed his directions for some time, when they discovered that they were lost.

They wandered through the sagebrush in a westerly direction until they were near Jerome. For some reason that they are unable to explain they turned south and struck the road to Blue Lakes. Mr. Malcolm says that he thought it was the final jumping off place, but decided to try it. He declares that it was a ride never to be forgotten, but never repeated. Mr. Malcolm says that he would not take another trip they have seen the best and worst of Snake river valley, and have a fair idea of what water means to the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warner and two children are going from Seattle to Denver. They say that they would enjoy camp on the road than in a free camp.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Simpson from Wheaton, Ill., are going to Long Beach to stay a year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell are trekking from San Francisco to Kalamazoo to visit his parents. He asked why Twin Falls is not better advertised and said that he had never heard of this beautiful valley until after he had started east. He said: "Why don't you try the northern California way; they call it California Incorporated. Last year they spent $400,000 and received 140,000,000 letters of inquiry. This year they will spend $475,000 in advertising in the eastern magazines and newspapers."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bell and Miss Amber Denel are on the way home to Allouez, Neb., after making the circuit through New Mexico, Arizona, California and this far east.

F. L. Hoagland and family of Worland, Wyo., have left that place to find a new home. They have about made up their mind that the Twin Falls country is what they are looking for.

"We are going to get together all the fellows who were in the service during the world war and to make the meeting interesting for all of them. An excellent program is being arranged that will include a variety of stunts, and there should be something that will appeal to everyone on it."

The place and date of the meeting have yet to be determined and will be announced within the next day or two.

REGISTERED SWINE ARE DISTRIBUTED BY SALE

Dr. R. S. Armes Disposed of 20 Farcroft Hogs at Average Price of $40; Dr. Sullivan Expels Out Opportunity

Twenty pure-bred Duroc-Jersey swine were sold by Dr. R. S. Armes at a sale Wednesday at his farm near Flor, at an average of $40 each. The highest price paid was $65 for a registered gilt that went to A. E. Ellison of Hazelton. The sale resulted in the distribution of a high class of animals among breeders at Rupert, Hazelton, Blaney, Twin Falls, Regerson, Filer and Buhl. Among the buyers were C. A. McManis, Twin Falls; Gus Johnson and A. E. Ellison, Hazelton, and Dr. W. A. Sullivan, representative of the federal bureau of animal industry in Idaho.

In a brief talk made in response to request, Dr. Sullivan pointed out that northwestern Pacific coast livestock market centers purchased hogs last year in the Dakotas and Nebraska at an aggregate cost of almost $9,000,000. He argued that the swine industry in this state should be developed to a point where a greater proportion of this money should be kept in the northwest and pointed out that federal and state veterinarians had practically stamped out the hog cholera menace to the industry in Idaho.
