URGES U. S. TO BASE POLICY ON SELF-INTEREST

Birkenhead Emphasizes Duty of Nation to People; Warns Against Over-Production; Scouts Idealism

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP)—Asserting that the world is not yet ready for the idealism of Woodrow Wilson, the Earl of Birkenhead, former lord chancellor of England, tonight declared that self-interest alone would determine whether the United States should intervene in the affairs of a stricken Europe.

Speaking at the closing session of the Institute of Politics on "The World After the War," Lord Birkenhead quoted Jeremy Bentham, the English philosopher and jurist, to the effect that "the greatest happiness of the greatest number" is the necessary motive of human endeavor.

In deciding what constituted her best interests, he continued, America must remember that great nations require a great world in which to develop their greatness, and that commercial genius flourishes only when the whole world flourishes. He warned of the effect of restricted markets on manufacturing and agriculture and said in a poverty-stricken world, America produced more than she could use herself. Sooner or later she would experience the same conditions now affecting Great Britain, he said.

Bays Wilson Was Wrong

In emphasizing his assertion that self-interest was the dominating motive of life, Lord Birkenhead asserted that the world probably would not survive if idealists were given a completely free rein—no nation in democratic conditions will ever become the knight errant of the world; Woodrow Wilson's judgment of his countrymen was wrong and through this error he became the agent of their downfall. "Development," he said, "is an altruistic mind would have been."

Lord Birkenhead opened his address by declaring that a dozen unscrupulous but powerful men, deliberating privately in Berlin, decided upon the world war. This decision, he added, was astonishing, because of the very ignorance displayed by the twelve.

"For Germany, peace had everything in her own hands," he asserted, "and her principal trade competitor in Europe was likely to be paralyzed by internal dissensions relating to Ireland, which might easily have produced civil war. All Germany had to do was wait."

Talks Peace Problems

From war, Lord Birkenhead turned to peace, asserting its problems were infinitely greater. "It is no use abating the treaty of Versailles," he said. "That treaty was the creature of the victorious mood of the victorious allies."

"President Wilson, indeed, came with a noble message of hope; but unhappily in the sequel the hope proved to be his principal equipment. It is fascinating to realize whether had he been given health and strength to pursue the campaign which he contemplated, his idealism and personality could have affected the forces of the world."

"I am bold enough even at the moment when I pay the highest tribute to his unselfish motives, to doubt it. For the real truth is that while the world requires the encouragement and light of idealism, the whole world probably would not survive if idealism were given a complete free rein."

It seems to me that while the

OMAHA OBTAINS RELIEF IN NEW WATER SUPPLY

Chocolate Hue Prevailing for Days Disappears when Supplemental Flow Runs Through System

OMAHA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Water being pumped into city mains from the Florence pumping station late today was pronounced 100 per cent clean, and the supply downtown was rapidly clearing of the chocolate hue. However, the disease danger it still feared, and the public has been advised by city officials to refrain from using the water for drinking purposes until results of analysis by health authorities, now under way, are made known.

The breakdown of the supply system, which has deprived Omaha of pure water since Monday, has been repaired, water works officials said tonight. The water impurities were caused when the Missouri river, swollen by unseasonable rains, dumped soft mud banks into the intakes at Florence, where installation of new pumps and filtration basins was under way.

The health of the city following the breakdown now is the chief concern.

Boy's Dream Leads to Discovery of Body of Playmate

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 24 (AP)—Eight-year-old Antonio Testa saw the shadow of Michael Lurgio, aged nine, in a dream last night and told his mother that Heidi Rossi, 13, had shot Lurgio and buried him in a hole, just over the Providence line in Johnston last Tuesday. Police hurrying to the spot with the two former playmates of Lurgio found the boy's body. He had been reported by his parents as missing.

WHEAT PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED

Coolidge's Secretary Advises Northwest Farmers Congressional Action Not Expedient

SPOKANE, Aug. 24 (AP)—While the department of agriculture is digesting every plan that is offered for relief in the hope that some method would afford a helpful remedy for the present situation of the wheat farmer, action has not seemed expedient," George B. Christian, secretary to President Coolidge, declares in a letter to J. Q. Adams, president of the Farmers' Union of Washington and Northern Idaho, in response to appeal from a conference of wheat growers held last week asking a special session of congress.

WIFE CLAIMS LABOR LEADER IS INSANE

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 24 (AP)—An insanity warrant was sworn out today against James Lord, prominent eastern labor leader and former head of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor. Lord's wife, Mrs. Mary J. Lord, swore out the warrant.

MINE STRIKE WITHIN WEEK IS APPROXIMATE

Anthracite Workers' Representatives Authorize Issuance of Orders to Suspend Activities September 1

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—Anthracite mine workers' representatives today took the last step necessary to shut down the mines September 1. Though news came to them in Washington that Governor Pinchot, Pennsylvania, with President Coolidge's support, would seek a last word by the impending struggle in the anthracite region, scale committee from the three union districts authorized a unanimous vote the issuance of "suspension" orders, and walked out of their meeting room to take the trains which tonight are carrying most of them to their homes.

Maintain Slight Hope

Their officials said that any agreement which Governor Pinchot might extend for further conference probably would be accepted. In this view, members of the operators' policy committee, which was still held in the city, though S. D. Warriner, its chairman, left temporarily, also joined. The employers would refuse no request for discussion, it was said, however slight might be the prospect of a settlement.

Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, and Thomas Kennedy, C. J. Golden and Binaldo Cappellini, presidents of the anthracite districts, met with the union scale committee and reported upon the progress of negotiations. John Lewis, president of the union, was confined to his bed all day by a slight cold. At the end of three hours of executive session, the miners stopped altogether.

"We are writing tonight a set of rules which will govern the suspension of work on the part of our members that automatically comes out September 1," Mr. Murray said. "It will be mailed out Tuesday from some point in the anthracite region in order to reach all of our locals by August 31."

ELECTION MARKS CLOSE KIWANIAN PROGRAM

Fravo Selected For 1934 Meeting Place

Big Gathering of District Delegates Partaken at Banquet After Dropping of Important Business

With the election of district officers headed by James W. Fravo, president, as governor by Edward W. E. Reeder, Jr., Oregon, and the selection of Fravo, Utah, as the place for the 1934 convention, the two days meeting of the Kewanian district delegates here concluded.

Covers were laid for more than 400 delegates and visitors at a banquet served Friday evening by the Twin Falls club to commemorate the convention event. Speakers at the banquet included E. J. Arras, international president of Kewanian clubs, Governor C. G. Moore of Idaho, and the outgoing and incoming district governors.

Open Club Session

Convention sessions closed Friday afternoon with a round of cheers, led by the international president, for the outgoing district governor, followed by a banquet in expression of hospitality by Twin Falls, and service rendered by the district secretary. Resolutions adopted by the convention included an expression of sympathy and sorrow over the death of the late President Harding; voiced gratification at the attendance and participation in the convention by the international officers, and affirmed the declaration of principles and policy adopted for the organization at its last international convention held at Atlanta last June.

Following the election of the new district governor, the convention by acclamation and unanimous vote elected Clarence R. Wright, Twin Falls, lieutenant governor for Idaho, and Dr. Joseph Hughes, Spanish Fork, lieutenant governor for Utah. The newly elected officials will take office January 1.

POLICE ON TRAIL OF NOTORIOUS CRIMINAL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24 (AP)—The police said tonight they believed it would be only a few hours before they had a notorious criminal under arrest as the leader of the three men who early today bound and gagged the watchman of a downtown office building and robbed three manufacturing jewelers of gems aggregating about $25,000 in value.

PLANES REDUCE SCHEDULE TIME

Third Flight Ends in Cutting Hours from Original Estimates of Mail Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Over the 885 miles of lighted airway between Cheyenne and Chicago two mail planes sped tonight in the last of four transcontinental flights to test the feasibility of establishing day and night continuous flight across the continent for mail planes. Six times during the week their predecessors have spanned the continent in a little more than a day, three times from east to west and from west to east, and have thoroughly demonstrated the possibility of coast-to-coast mail service on a definite schedule in approximately 24 hours.

While postoffice officials have announced that the six flights have assured transcontinental mail service, the last flight was being watched with interest because each of the preceding ones had clipped time from the former schedules.

The third flight, headed today with the mail plane from San Francisco landing at New York at 11:14 a. m., eastern time, making a new cross-country record of 26 hours, and 14 minutes elapsed time. This flight clipped 36 minutes from the record set last May in a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego.

Its companion plane, winging its way from New York to San Francisco, landed in San Francisco at 1:34 p. m., 2 hours and 41 minutes ahead of its schedule, clipping 11 minutes from the record made by the plane which landed yesterday.

The plane which hopped off at New York this morning left Chicago tonight at 6:50, Central Standard time, 40 minutes ahead of its schedule at the beginning of its night flight over the plains of the middle west and with a chance to gain still further time as it roared westward.

The plane that left San Francisco this morning was speeding to meet the westbound plane and was due here early in the morning. Its record

BLACKFOOT GETS READY FOR JUNIOR CLUB FAIR

BLACKFOOT, Idaho Aug. 24 (AP)—Blackfoot is preparing for a round-up of show and junior club fair to be held at the grove city on September 25, 26 and 27. Two special bands have been obtained for the celebration and all arrangements are in charge of a committee.

The junior club fair will be a part of the three days' celebration, and high school agricultural instructors have made arrangements to have a large number of delegates from eleven counties in the state take part in the fair.

About 500 delegates are expected to take part, and plans are under way for the housing, feeding, chaperoning and entertaining of the visiting young people.

PLAYGROUNDS AND BEACHES LESSEN DELINQUENCIES SIOUX CITY, Aug. 24 (AP)—Juvenile delinquency in Sioux City is showing a decided decrease over the records of previous years. C. H. Orpin, juvenile officer, declares. He estimated that misdemeanors among children have been cut down 20 per cent in the last two years.

Municipal bathing places, parks and playground activities are responsible for the better morale of children, Mr. Orpin says.

Taxpayers seldom realize the good investment that is being made by providing facilities for recreational activities which furnish an outlet for the energy of the young," said Mr. Orpin. "Good health, exercise and amusement leave the minds of the children clear, and there is very little energy left for crime, plots, or inclinations to lead misdoers."

DIPLOMATS FEAR NEW CRISES IN AFFAIRS ABROAD

Washington Is Apprehensive of Germany's Future; Conditions Prevent Successful Foreign Mediation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—The internal situation in Germany, notwithstanding recent indications of some improvement, is regarded in Washington with grave apprehension. Most American officials, for obvious reasons, have refrained from making the question publicly, but many members of the house and senate and others who have studied European conditions at first hand this summer agree privately that the outlook is disquieting. In broadly representative diplomatic circles, too, there is a pronounced and almost universal feeling of gloom.

Some representatives of countries not concerned directly with German reparations regard a crash in central Europe as inevitable. In diplomatic circles a relaxation of the pressure in the Ruhr is not expected because of what is regarded as an inflexible public opinion in France, and even in Germany, said to preclude any marked change of policy on outstanding questions at issue. Any such change was held to be impossible long before Premier Baldwin made his initial statement on reparations in the commons, in what has been regarded as an effort to save central Europe from disaster.

Held to Same Course

In these circumstances, it has been made clear since President Coolidge assumed office that there appears no course open to the Washington government and its regard to Europe other than the one mapped out under the administration of President Harding. The wisdom of that policy is regarded as "the White House" and the state department as already confirmed by events. There is no doubt Washington officials intend to do what they can to help, but the very elements which constitute the greater danger signs abroad are regarded as increasing the period of any effort toward mediation.

What form developments in Germany may take is regarded here as highly uncertain. In diplomatic circles at the moment the degree of the danger is believed to hinge upon the food situation. Though there may be ample stocks, it is pointed out that these may not be generally available for use because of serious transportation and currency difficulties. A food shortage, it is said, might produce a public desperation leading to the great revolutionary movements. Information received in official circles is said not to be reassuring, at least so far as concerns the food prospects in the Ruhr this winter.

Bolshevism Looms

Although there is apparent in Washington a realization that Germany is confronted with the danger of a collapse into bolshevism under the continued pressure, it is felt that perhaps only a separate movement might result. On the other hand, it is pointed out that anything approaching a complete dismemberment would serve to increase the social unrest and perhaps lead to communism. In this connection it is contended that the present population of Germany is about the maximum possible under a highly organized industrial system and that

AVIATOR RACES TOWARD SIDE OF DYING FATHER

JACK KNIGHT, Government's Veteran Pilot, Begins Race with Death; Starts Flight in Mail Plane

OMAHA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Jack Knight, veteran aviator, who has performed valuable services for the nation's transcontinental night-mail flying, entered a different type of race tonight at Cheyenne, Wyo. Knight was informed that his father at Buchanan, Mich., was not expected to live through the night and he was given permission to use a plane in his race as far as Omaha. This was the first known by aviation officials at Fort Crook here tonight. It has not been definitely decided whether Knight will be allowed to proceed from Omaha to Chicago alone or whether he will be piloted by a fresh pilot.

UNEMPLOYMENT AT LOW MARK IN THE WEST

Condition in Rocky Mountain States Reported Satisfactory by Department of Labor Bulletin

DENVER, Aug. 24 (AP)—Employment conditions in the Rocky mountain states are satisfactory, according to a statement issued here today by the United States employment service, United States department of labor.

Taking up the various states the statement has this to say: "New Mexico—Sufficient employment to absorb existing slight surplus of unskilled labor. A very large program of highway construction is under way, amounting to approximately 40 miles, at cost of $125,000. Building programs, though not large, continue active. Municipal improvements, including much paving, are under way in several of the larger cities. Lumbering continues active and railroad shop employment increased during the last month.

Transients in Arizona. "Arizona—Much transient labor (both skilled and unskilled) drifting into state. Supply equal to demand, with exception of a shortage of building craftsmen and experienced copper miners. The new million dollar flotation plant at Ajo and million dollar smelter at Superior are in course of construction. There is call for 25 mill carpenters at Ajo. Mines at Miami, Globe, Bisbee and Ajo calling for experienced metal miners. Foundries and machine plants working full time. Lumber mills in northern part of state operating steadily and on practically normal basis. Agricultural pursuits exceedingly active, giving employment to all who desire this class of work. Cotton crop in Yuma and Maricopa counties excellent, with sufficient cotton pickers to handle the crop. Dairy industry growing and requiring more workers. Building continues active; much building of residences noted and improvements and remodeling under way. Indications are Mormon Flats dam water diversion and power plant, now employing approximately 90 men, will increase force to approximately 200 in 30 days. State highway construction will require approximately 200 additional skilled and unskilled workers, and paving projects under way will require 150 workers within 30 days. Practically all industrial plants operating normally. Railroad shops working overtime.

Conditions Fair in Utah. "Utah—Industrial situation good, with sufficient work to engage all classes of labor. A shortage of experienced metal miners, workers in construction, fruit picking and canning factories exists. Practically all industrial plants operating with normal force. Brigham City reports normal demand for, with possible shortage of, fruit pickers for peach season, August 15 to September 15. Labor supply for all other lines sufficient. Considerable activity is noted in metal mining; also highway construction and building. "Agricultural pursuits, together with fruit picking season, demanding much farm labor, with local supply available. Beet field labor sufficient until harvest about September 20. Railroad shops operating with steady and normal force.

Wyoming—Increased employment is evidenced in nearly all industrial lines, particularly in oil fields and refineries, building, agriculture and transportation. Large program of construction in oil fields continues and consists chiefly of steel storage tanks and pipelines. Labor in strong demand, but supply—both resident and transient—available. Agricultural labor in strong demand, with slight shortage existing. Building continues active in larger cities, particularly in Casper district. Where some shortage of competent building craftsmen exists. There is rapid progress on the Miles City, Montana-Casper, Wyoming, new 330-mile railway; sufficient labor available for this project. Railway shop employment increased, and some overtime work has been noted.

Demands Increased. "Nevada—Employment demands increased in all lines of industry, except silver mining. It is predicted that within 30 days a number of silver mines throughout the state will be in operation, thereby requiring many workers now unemployed. Workers released from silver mines and reduction plants may be absorbed, however, in copper and gold-silver mines, which are increasing their forces and are short of workers. Particularly in this condition evident at McGill, at which point 100 additional experienced underground metal miners are in demand, as well as 50 additional experienced. A shortage of unskilled highway labor exists; highway program progressing rapidly; 242 miles of highway paving, surfacing, etc., under construction July 1, affording employment to approximately 250 workers; within 30 days an additional 28 miles will be under construction and will afford employment to approximately 150 additional workers. The recently established federal-state public employment service at Reno is relieving the

The Prophets Decree the Morning Bolero

Mandates come from Paris like the words of the prophets. It has been spoken that morning frocks—which means either frocks or suits for morning, shall be rather shorter as to skirt and made on straight lines, leaving the flounces for afternoon and evening.

Each frock has its small cape or a bolero to match. The materials in vogue, according to the latest word, from France from M. Henri Creange, fashion authority, are: velvet, alpaca, jersey, toile de soie, tussa and crepe. The colors are light grey, beige, dull or crude greens and navy blue.

This little dress is of a dark blue silk Crepe Tulle. The skirt is quite plain and close fitting. The coat makes up in fullness however. From a bolero front it bows into a charming cap-like effect in the back. The blouse and lining are of the same printed crepe de chine, in Indian Red. Set in sleeves are slashed at the cuff to allow a glimpse of the hand.

Street hats are still as small as they have been for days innumerable. For the new season the hats are, however, beginning to sport little brims which are of ribbon, made by a cascade of ribbon. The hat in the sketch is also Indian red, made of row on row of narrow grosgrain ribbon.

Society Would Benefit Without Aid of Reformers, Darwin Says

Son of Famous Man Claims World Would Progress Faster if Justice Were Observed

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Social reformers as a class do much more harm than good, according to Professor Leonard Darwin, and society would improve much faster if they ceased to worry about it and let it go its own way.

Professor Darwin is a son of the great Charles Darwin, and it is natural that he should hold strong views on the survival of the fittest and how this has can be accomplished. He says that the misguided efforts of many sincere and earnest social reformers really result in encouraging the continuation of race inferiority and deterioration, which is just the reverse of what they are trying to do. In a recent speech before the Eugenic Education society, of which he is president, he dwelt upon the harm he thought social reformers were doing.

"Mate Selection" was the title of Professor Darwin's address. He did not urge that mate selection, in the present state of society, was good for the future of the race and argued that when the fit married the fit they tended to have smaller families, while the inferior couple continued producing unfit types which became more marked. "To secure human progress," he said, "the inferior types must be eliminated, and all that should be demanded is that this process be made as little painful as possible." Pity for others and solicitude for their liberty, the speaker regarded as among the things that constituted obstacles in the way of racial improvement. "The philanthropists of today, however," Professor Darwin said, "only look on one side of the question, and entirely ignore the racial effects of the reforms they are advocating."

"Large numbers of work done to those constitutionally incapable of work and out-door relief generally, if given without regard to the probability of parenthood in the future, would directly tend to promote the inferiority of the race in the future. Motherhood endowment to the naturally superior and unfit alike, these and other methods of relieving distress would have the same result, he contended. Altogether, as viewed by Professor Darwin, there seemed to be a pretty blue outlook for the world generally, and even enlightened eugenicists appeared to be able to find little comfort in his views.

But Professor Darwin said his objection to mate selection would disappear if "by some method less cruel than that of natural selection the inferior stocks could be made to multiply less quickly than the superior."

FISH SUGGEST TO BEAT WAVE. BUDAPEST, Aug. 24 (AP)—One hundred thousand fish have fallen victims to the heat wave in Hungary at the famous Szegedin breeding ponds. The water evaporated, leaving the fish in the slime. The population was called out to bury the fish, which were poisoning the air for miles around.

Colorado—Increased employment in nearly all industrial lines evidenced. Increased metal mining activities, harvesting, reopening canning factories, building and other construction, and transportation enlargements have created strong demand for all classes of labor, resulting in shortage principally of harvest hands, experienced metal miners and unskilled railway track laborers. Preliminary work has commenced preparatory to the construction of the $6,720,000 transmountain tunnel through the Continental Divide between the James Peak, about 65 miles northwest of Denver. Installation of the Denver to Trinidad section of transcontinental telephone line will com-

FIX PLANS FOR VET MEMORIAL

Complete Personnel for Drive to Construct $200,000 Building at Moscow

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Aug. 24—Definite announcement of the personnel of the University of Idaho alumni committee to direct the campaign for funds for the construction of the Memorial gymnasium and armatorium on the university campus has been made by W. B. Kjosness, president of the university alumni association. This announcement follows closely upon the passage of a resolution, endorsing this memorial campaign, at the recent annual convention of the Idaho department of the American Legion held in Cour d'Alone. This resolution called for the appointment of a similar committee from the Legion by Paul M. Davis, newly elected state commander, and the hearty co-operation of all Legion posts in the state with the alumni association.

The committee appointed from the Alumni association consists of Robert D. Leeper, of Lewiston, chairman; George H. Stinson, of Boise, secretary; Paul Peterson, of Idaho Falls; Homer David, G. P. Mix and Dr. J. H. Elmhurst, all of Moscow. It is expected that Commander Davis will announce the members of the Legion committee shortly, so that plans for the general features of the building and ways and means of financing it may be worked out without delay.

Will Have Records. The proposed Memorial building, to be erected at an outlay of approximately $200,000, is to be in the form of an armory and gymnasium on the university campus dedicated to Idaho's hero dead in the Spanish-American and World Wars. Rooms will be provided for compiling and maintaining a complete record of all persons who represented the state of Idaho in these conflicts, and suitable memorial tablets giving the honor roll of each county of the state will be a feature of the building.

In announcing the alumni committee Mr. Kjosness expressed keen appreciation of the co-operation of the American Legion. He called attention to the fact that the plan of erecting some such state memorial has already been acted upon favorably by several states, and in most cases it is proposed to place this on the grounds of the state university, the idea being that this is the most strategic point at which to impress the minds of the young men and women of the state and to strengthen their patriotism and devotion to law and order.

Upham Praises Legion. President A. H. Upham, commenting on these latest developments in the memorial campaign, said today: "It is most encouraging to receive these assurances of approval and cooperation from the state department of the American Legion. They represent to us an appropriate recognition of the part played by the state of Idaho in two great national conflicts and the leadership vested in us to direct the thought of the next generation. The college man, particularly the trained athlete, has furnished a remarkably large percentage of our officer material in time of war, and college loyalty is easily translated into national loyalty in time of peace. I am pleased in these holes and unable to make their escape, trout, even the larger specimens, readily become victims of the sly mink and coon."

The student body of the university has been enthusiastic about the proposed memorial building from the time it was first suggested. Last spring they voted to contribute $10 each to the fund at the time of registration this fall. This action of the student body makes available approximately $15,000 toward the building fund.

TROUT HIDE IN VALM. MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 24 (AP)—Cosa and mink have been making serious inroads into the supply of trout in the streams of New Hampshire, according to Mott L. Bartlett, commissioner of fisheries and game.

Low water has forced the fish in large numbers to take refuge in deep holes and pools. "It is right here," says Mr. Bartlett, "that the animal fisherman, lovers of brook trout as much as the epicures of the human family, come into their own. Trapped

DO YOU FIND SHOPPING A PLEASURE?

Some folks do. They're the modern shoppers---the ones who know just what they want, how much to pay, exactly where they will find the right goods at the right prices.

They're the ones who realize the value---to them---of advertising. They make a practice of reading the advertisements in the newspapers. Sitting at ease in their homes, they formulate their shopping programs. They note the things that interest them particularly and plan to cut out waste motion, unnecessary steps and lost time.

Planned in this fashion, shopping loses its terrors. It no longer leaves you jazy and jaded. It starts you off with a definite objective and brings you home with a feeling of something accomplished.

If you haven't been reading the advertisements, try out the method.

It's a good one. ADVERTISEMENTS ARE YOUR GOOD FRIENDS---CULTIVATE THEM!

MAIL SERVICE AVIATORS ADD NEW RECORDS

Dreams of Government Officials Realized as Flier Spans Continent in Less than Scheduled Time

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—When the airplane piloted by Wesley L. Smith with mail from San Francisco came out of the sky and alighted at Hazelhurst field today, the most hopeful dreams of officials of the United States air mail service were more than realized.

Not only had the record for the temporary New York-San Francisco test mail flight been broken, but the continent was spanned in 70 minutes less time than that consumed in the historic non-stop transcontinental flight last May by the army flier, Kelly and MacReady.

Pilot Smith's craft brought mail that had left San Francisco but 27 hours and 14 minutes earlier. Never before had mail crossed the continent so quickly. Allowing for the 60 minutes used in transferring the mail at the six places where stops were made, the actual flying time in the relay flight was 28 hours and 14 minutes. The best previous time in the present test flights was 27 hours and 21 minutes.

The time of the Kelly-MacReady non-stop flight from New York to San Diego was 26 hours and 50 minutes. The mail fliers covered 2680 miles, while the army aviators traveled but 2500 miles. To Pilot Smith goes the credit for achieving one of the most notable jumps of the test flights thus far. He winged the 435 miles from Cleveland to New York in three hours and 45 minutes, averaging 125 miles an hour. Flying 10,000 feet up, he suffered considerably from the cold.

Wants to Be Singer. Although he has written his name high among aviators, Smith's most cherished ambitions do not lie in that direction.

"Not for me," said the pilot, when congratulated on his feat and prospects for a bright future in the service. "I want to be a singer. My ambition is all in the direction of grand opera. It may not be so thrilling, but it is what I want."

Smith has a baritone voice which he is training. He has been in the air mail service for five years.

Success Gained. Having arranged a schedule allowing 30 hours and 15 minutes for the test flight from New York to San Diego, air mail officials here were elated over the showing already made. The flights have been so uniformly successful that there have brought forth congratulations from the department and already plans are afoot to make the service permanent.

The test flights end tomorrow. The flights which were to be made Saturday and ended Sunday have been cancelled. Superintendent Egge of the mail service said the flight had been proved practicable and nothing remains to be accomplished by the relay mail that could not be delivered Sunday.

WARDENS WILL TALK NEW LAWS AT MISSOULA MEET

Game Officials of 10 Western States to Gather at Montana City for Annual Convention

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 24 (AP)—Fish and game commissioners or their deputies of ten western states will meet in Missoula, Mont., September 10 and 11 at the annual convention of the Western Association of Game and Fish Commissioners. With the members of the association will be representatives of the United States biological survey, national park service, forest service and the bureau of eradication of predatory animals.

The convention will discuss the draft of a proposed new law for the regulation of migratory bird refuge and game laws of the western states will meet in Missoula, Mont., September 10 and 11 at the annual convention of the Western Association of Game and Fish Commissioners. With the members of the association will be representatives of the United States biological survey, national park service, forest service and the bureau of eradication of predatory animals.

FIND COWS ARE INFECTED

In Test of 10,750 Head Only Four Show Signs of Tuberculosis; Quarantine Imported Cattle

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 24 (AP)—Four native cows were found to be infected in a test of 10,750 cattle in Gooding county for tuberculosis. The test revealed that in all 44 cows were infected, 40 of which, however, had been brought into Idaho from other states.

In spite of the comparative immunity of Gooding county cattle, a quarantine has been placed upon them and inspection on imported cattle will be imposed.

Inspection is to be made in other runs in the near future.

SENTENCE THREE ON RIOT CHARGE

Defendants Claim to Be Members of Klan; Climax Reached in Flogging Case

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 24 (AP)—Coming as a climax to the tenth day of Adjutant General Baird H. Markham's investigation of floggings in Tulsa county, Ben F. Sikes, Grover C. Sikes and Earl Sack, of Broken Arrow, who said they were members of the Ku Klux Klan, pleaded guilty Thursday night to rioting charges before District Judge W. B. Williams and were sentenced to serve two years each in the state penitentiary.

This is the first instance on record in which klansmen have confessed in court that they were members of a flogging party and the first time sentence has been passed in the county on a klansman for participating in mob outrage, state officers here believe.

The Sikes brothers and Sack were brought before Acting County Judge Luther Lane and waived their arraignment and preliminary hearing. Thirty minutes later they had entered pleas of guilty before District Judge Williams and were sentenced.

Simultaneously in county court A. M. Calloway, W. M. Hills, Avery Barbour, T. V. Venator and W. M. Lewis were arraigned and pleaded not guilty in informations charging them with participation in the flogging in which the Sikes brothers and Sack admitted they were parties—that of Ben Wagner, a German farmer, near Broken Arrow.

COTTON CROP IS HEAVY

California, with 10-Year Average of 95 Per Cent, Outranks States in Dixie Cotton Belt

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 24 (AP)—California's cotton crop, with a ten-year average of 95 per cent of normal, rank higher than those of any of the states in the original "Land of Cotton," while Arizona and New Mexico also compare favorably with them, according to a report of E. E. Kaufman, agricultural statistician, here.

For this year, however, Arizona is making the best record with 91 per cent. California and Virginia are tied for second with 88, while Mexico is the lowest mark at 48.

Entire national production for the year has been forecasted at 11,510,000 bales.

STATE TO PAY DOLLAR EACH FOR GAME BIRDS

Washington Makes Inducement to Farmers to Hatch and Raise Chinese Pheasants

SPOKANE, Aug. 24 (AP)—The state of Washington has announced an offer of one dollar for every Chinese pheasant hatched and brought to maturity by farmers, and Deputy Game Warden W. E. McGee, making the offer known here, has made suggestions to help the farmers make the most of it.

"Preferring his suggestions, however," McGee recalled that it is still necessary to obtain a license from the state game commissioner before engaging in the hatching business.

"The farmer in cutting his alfalfa will in all probability uncover many nests of Chinese pheasants," said Mr. McGee. "The old birds often leave the nests and don't return, and if the farmer will place the eggs under a hen and hatch out and care for the young pheasants he will be paid $1 each for his trouble."

"When the young birds are six weeks old they will be able to care for themselves. If not closely watched they will leave the hen about that time. Prior to that time they should be allowed their liberty; the hen being confined instead. The young birds are very susceptible to disease and should not be let out when the grass is down. If the brood is to be let loose, it is well to settle the birds by placing them near a stand of brush or high grain stubble, where they will be able to find protection."

"There is a great demand for native Washington-raised Chinese pheasants," Mr. McGee said, concluding his statement, "and we are planning to ship a number to nearby states this year for breeding purposes."

FINDS FLAW IN JACK'S DEFENSE

Pittsburgh Battler Lands Heavy Rights on Dempsey; Firpo Trains in Secrecy

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Jack Burke, the hard-hitting Pittsburgh light heavyweight, uncovered a weakness in Jack Dempsey's defense today which the world's heavyweight champion must correct before he faces Luis Angel Firpo in their 15-round contest at the Polo Grounds September 14.

Burke, an accurate and stiff hitter, found Dempsey an easy target for right-hand blows, the most effective punch in Firpo's collection. He nailed the champion with solid smashes with such speed that Dempsey was fighting mad at the finish of their two slug-ging rounds.

In the first Burke reached Dempsey's face and hit four straight times without a return. He also landed a one-two punch, following this up with lefts and rights that knocked the champion's headgear to rakish angles. Dempsey landed only one effective blow in the first round, but scored more frequently in the second although Dempsey agreed that Burke clearly had the better of the titleholder. Burke left the ring bleeding from the mouth and nose as a result of stopping left hooks.

Although suffering from a slight cold, Dempsey braved the danger of increasing that complaint by working out before 400 spectators, who paid an increased charge of $1.10 to see the champion in action. This admission, double the former price, will remain in effect for the balance of the training.

The champion went through nine rounds of work before retiring to his cottage for a rubdown. He eliminated the bag-punching and, instead, stepped through two rounds of shadow boxing to get warmed up for George Godfrey, who boxed the first round. Godfrey found it next to impossible to land an effective blow because of the furious pace Dempsey set. The champion drove him around the ring under a shower of heavy rights and lefts.

After the two slug-ging rounds with Burke, Terry Mitchell, a welterweight of Bayoune, N. J., faced the champion for the final boxing of the afternoon. Although Dempsey held his punches in restraint, Mitchell was groggy and staggering within 60 seconds, but he stayed out the round. Dempsey did not even try to hit him in the second, contenting himself with tying Mitchell's arms in the clinches and slipping punches with his head.

FIRPO TRAINS INDOORS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—Luis Angel Firpo started training in secrecy. In addition to the six rounds he boxed in public today at Atlantic City, the dog-racing plant on the outskirts of the city, the Argentinian began work in his cottage in Chelsea. Inside the house he has had rigged for him a 200-pound sandbag and punching bag and upon these he lets loose his power.

The cottage workout takes place in the morning before breakfast, instead of the customary road jaunt which has been abandoned until later in the training period. Under the direction of general of training and bolsterer of morale, said that Firpo's legs were in excellent shape right now as a result of the training and fighting he has had in the last two months.

The sparring engagement this afternoon consisted of two rounds each with Natalie Angel Torres, Joe McCann and Frank Koebler. Jeff Clark will join the training camp tomorrow.

All of Firpo's work during the next week, and perhaps after that, Senator Lavalle said today, would be devoted to the development of the left-hand punch and the inside right. Firpo is not at all bothered about the fight with Jack Dempsey in New York September 14. "Well," he says, "Jack Dempsey is the champion. I'm only the challenger, but we shall wait and see what happens."

CHAMPION AND MANAGER ARE GRANTED LICENSES

Dempsey and Kearns Receive Permits for September Bout with Firpo; Contender Already Qualifies

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—The New York state athletic commission today cleared the way for the Louis Firpo-Jack Dempsey heavyweight title bout at the Polo grounds on September 14, when it granted licenses for the contest to the champion and his manager, Jack Kearns.

Dempsey held state license No. 1 for some time after he won the heavyweight crown from Jess Willard, but the term of that permit had expired and a renewal of that permit had expired and a renewal was necessary. Firpo already holds a state license.

Formal application by Promoter Tex Rickard for a permit to stage the bout was submitted and copies of his contracts with Firpo and Dempsey were filed. In accordance with regulations, but the commission while making no announcement, was understood to have deferred final action on them until next week's meeting.

URGES U. S.

name of President Wilson must always be revered by those who render homage to purpose almost impossible to measure, yet it is almost as superhuman, yet it must none the less be recognized that his judgment of his own countrymen was wrong and that by the error of that judgment he became, paradoxically enough, the agent of all those post-war sufferings from which his altruistic mind would most especially have recoiled.

"I, for myself, have no delusions as to the only functions which the American government is called upon to discharge. Their primary, and, in deed, their only duty is to the American people.

"If by intervention in the affairs of a stricken Europe they can advance the fortunes of the American people, then it seems to me, as an humble observer, that it would be their duty to make such an intervention. But, if in cool perspective, they reach the conclusion that no compensating gain to the American people will result from roasting European and world responsibilities, they would be falling in their duty if they embraced an unnecessary responsibility."

Discusses Markets.

Lord Birkenhead indicated as problems to be taken into consideration, the effect on America's export trade of her accumulation of gold; the question of long low her domestic market would be adequate for her manufacturing resources; the results of the high tariff system; the effect on agriculture of artificially produced economic conditions.

"If I am right," said Lord Birkenhead, "in suggesting a definite condition of Europe, as Europe is today, already affords grave anxiety to your agricultural community and may, in the future, occasion an equal and analogous anxiety to your manufacturing community. I have at least established all that I care to establish; that grave and not very remote a problem awaits the decision of the American nation.

"Great nations not only deserve, but require, a great world in which to develop their greatness. Commercial genius flourishes when the whole world flourishes and its prospects decline when the world declines. Shipping, in spite of exchange, is the most money borrowed by stable creditors—these are the garnered rewards afforded to the thrift and financial efficiency of the nations which are happy enough to possess those qualities.

"But if you substitute for the conditions which existed before the war a world in which there are no markets for anything which you are producing, because hardly anyone in the world can afford to buy at the present rate of exchanges that which you and we—both manufacturing nations—can produce, then, sooner or later, your experience will be the same as ours.

"Nor will gold reserve help you. Nor have they very much helped any people in the world.

"The strength of the world lies neither in gold nor in precious jewelry; it lies in the ordered and peaceful industry of great populations harnessed to those occupations by which, in the imperfectly defined purposes of the author of the universe, all must care their living. And the genius of great people, which we maintain our present economic systems, will find its reward in exciting a world of suffering, not unwilling to pour from its present morass, or in releasing and re-animating the economic forces which, and which alone, can bring prosperity to the body politic and economic future of the whole world."

FAMED GENIUS OF LITERATURE DIES SUDDENLY

Kate Douglas Wiggin Stricken Following Extended Illness in England; Began Career in Teaching School

PARROW, England, Aug. 24 (AP)—Kate Douglas Wiggin, the American author, died here last night. Her death came suddenly.

Kate Douglas Wiggin, often called the "princess of literature," was one of the most accomplished women engaged in literary and philanthropic work in the United States.

It was back in 1876 that Mrs. Wiggin, then Kate Douglas Smith, left her home in Maine and moved to California for the purpose of studying kindergarten methods. She taught for a year in Santa Barbara college, and was then called upon to organize the Silver street kindergarten in San Francisco, the first free school of the kind west of the Rocky mountains.

Little was known of kindergarten work at the time, but the ideas of Mrs. Wiggin soon began to attract wide attention, and it was not long before she was joined by Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, the noted educator, who assisted her in forming the California Kindergarten Training school, which established more than 60 schools for poor children in the west.

Capitalized Experiences.

After her marriage in 1889 to Samuel Bradley Wiggin, a lawyer of San Francisco, Mrs. Wiggin gave up teaching and turned her attention to literature, using the rich material she had gathered in her kindergarten work to weave into stories of greater influence for a wider public.

Her first story, called "Half a Dozen Housekeepers," had appeared in 1878 before she thought of giving up teaching. It was several years later that "The Story of Paty," and "The Bird's Christmas Carol" were published and met with unexpected success.

In 1898 Mr. and Mrs. Wiggin removed to New York, where she published "A Summer in a Canyon," "Timothy's Quest," and "A Cathedral Courtship," which were translated into several foreign languages and inmediately became popular in Europe.

Was Music Lover. In addition to her literary ability, both prose and verse, Mrs. Wiggin was an accomplished musician, and composed several melodies for her favorite poem.

Although born in Philadelphia in 1857, the childhood of Mrs. Wiggin was spent in Hollis, Maine, where her father, a lawyer, removed shortly after her birth. She was educated in Abbott academy, Andover, Mass.

In June, 1923, Mrs. Wiggin was taken seriously ill in England, where she had gone to attend to Dickens' Fellowship as a delegate from New York.

DIPLOMAT'S FEAR

any considerable reduction in industrial efficiency through the setting up of a number of independent states would only intensify a social problem now regarded as acute.

Although there is said to be no definite information available as to the existence of a liaison between German and Russian political leaders, in some diplomatic circles it is felt that any direct communistic movement in Germany would be successful in spite of all efforts of the responsible statesmen, rather than with their assistance. The political leaders, it is contended, cannot contemplate lightly any possibility of a union of a red Germany with soviet Russia for fear the resulting military phases to bolshevism might develop an imperialistic attack upon European frontiers with Germany the inevitable back ground.

War Means Disaster

Such a war, in diplomatic opinion, would be disastrous in a military sense to both Russia and Germany, unless the Russian army, contrary to the history of that country almost without exception since Peter the Great, should develop an effectiveness beyond its own frontiers.

On the other hand, the present Russian army, according to reports received from several European chancelleries, is well officered, of good morale, excellently equipped except for airplanes and heavy artillery, and is held to be in a position to do considerable damage.

The political possibilities involved in a central European conflagration are recognized as profound, although it is admitted that in such an eventuality prediction would be futile. But it is not forgotten that revolution in Europe slightly more than a century ago had the potential of engulfing the continent for many decades and had its reaction even in the United States, then a six weeks journey away.

DENY ADVERSE REPORTS ON SHIP LIQUOR SALES

HONOLULU, Aug. 24 (AP)—The rumors that the Canadian-Australian liner, plying between Canada and Australia, might eliminate Honolulu as a port of call because of the rigid enforcement of the prohibition law which permits vessels to enter an American port with only "medicinal liquor," have been denied here by Captain Bolls, commander of the liner Niagara, and by T. H. Davies & Co., the line's agents.

Under the law the Canadian-Australian liners can be "wet" only until the next port, and "dry" until the next Honolulu and Suva, where liquor supplies may be obtained, and "wet" between Suva and Australia. On the port of call from Australia, the vessel is "wet" until she reaches Honolulu and "dry" from this port to the mainland.

OBJECT TO BRITISH FLAG

Russian Foreign Minister Protests Raising of England's Colors on Wrangell Island

MOSCOW, Aug. 24 (AP)—Foreign Minister Teltchikoff has sent a note to the British government protesting against the raising of the British flag on Wrangell Island by Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the explorer.

Wrangell was incorporated into Russia's territory in the years 1821-24, the note says. In 1910 Russia built lighthouses on the island and undertook other works there and in 1915 formally notified the allied and neutral governments that Wrangell, together with other islands and territories along the coast of Siberia, constituted integral parts of Russian territory.

As during the entire intervening period no government has questioned Russia's claim to the island, the note says, the soviet government regards the raising of the British flag there as a violation of Russia's sovereign rights.

PLAN HOME FOR FRIENDLESS GIRLS

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 24 (AP)—Definite plans have been made by church women of El Paso for the establishment of a rescue home for friendless girls and women. The home is to be started this fall and is to be maintained by funds contributed by churches and lodges. A small number of girls, probably not more than 12, will be cared for at first. The home will be in the city. Later plans call for moving the home to a farm site in the valley.

POLICY ON WAR DEBT OUTLINED BY STRESEMANN

New Chancellor Indicates Few Important Changes in Germany's Stand Toward Reparations Payment

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (AP)—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new chancellor, today delivered at a luncheon tendered him by industrial, financial and commercial leaders, his first official declaration of his government's stand in the reparations controversy.

Beyond giving a slightly more precise formulation of Germany's previous offer to pledge an integral part of her industrial, commercial and financial organism as security for reparations payments, the chancellor's speech contributed no new elements to Germany's side of the issue.

Without specifically mentioning passive resistance or the violation of the invaded areas, Dr. Stresemann, nevertheless, permitted the inference that the German government believed such tangible "pawns" as portions of her economic system, were not too high a price to offer for the restoration of German sovereignty. This statement is viewed in political circles as merely paraphrasing his inaugural statement before the reichstag in which he made the complete rehabilitation of German official and private jurisdiction in the Ruhr and the Rhineland a condition for abandoning passive resistance.

World Omic Ruhr. In his address today he opposed any attempt to make the Ruhr and the Rhineland objects of negotiation in any solution of the reparations problem. The speech in its entirety is covered here as a temperate and conciliatory statement by the government. Political leaders see it as a material contribution to an attempt to create an atmosphere which would enable an early resumption of formal peace parleys between Germany and the entente powers.

Among the luncheon guests were Rudolph Helfferich, minister of finance; Haas von Raumer, minister of economics; Dr. Zuecher, president of the league of German industrialists; Dr. Sroog, head of the Krupp directors and representative of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organizations.

Prussia's Chancellor. Dr. Duisberg, head of the Bayer Chemical and dye works, presided. He praised Chancellor Stresemann for the courage manifested in taking the helm of the ship of state while the craft was being "badly tossed by the high seas and threatened with foundering."

Dr. Duisberg advised the chancellor that the aid of the surplus crew and needless ballast to make room for passengers and cargo. The ship also needed a compass, he said to enable it to find its way into open water, as it now was threatened with being caught in the "Seylla and Charibdis" of Anglo-French relations.

The fact that Chancellor Stresemann was permitted to speak at a luncheon tendered him by "big business" is viewed as an indication that the industrialists and their allied interests are in full accord with the government's attitude on reparations and its program of radical taxation and financial measures.

Recent Official Stands. In opening his address the chancellor said his government stood by the offer of recent Cuno government had made for settling Germany's reparations debt. Despite the heavy new taxation of property, a lasting recovery in Germany's finances was impossible without a previous settlement of the foreign situation.

"The world," said the chancellor, "expects from its statement a return of normal conditions of international commerce, instead of the present chaos. Such a possibility is opened to us in the last official publication of the British government. The French premier, too, at Charleville, indicated a practical solution as to the air of his policy by claiming positive pledges for German reparations deliveries, namely the German railways and control of the German economic system, and of German customs. This principle also was expressed in the German memorandum of June 7, which, to our regret, remained unanswered."

"For us in Germany there is no British question to be solved internationally. The British have the right to determine their relations to the rest. Hitherto they have not expressed the slightest desire for a change in their loyalty to the reich and to Prussia."

"We accept with satisfaction the French premier's declaration that he is pursuing no political aim or idea of annexation; but his declaration is incompatible with his proposed solutions, because these actually would mean special treatment of the Rhine and the Ruhr, both economically and politically, thus barring the way to a settlement which would be acceptable to Germany."

General Wood and Several Sugar Magnates Visit Fields; Rodriguez Will Not Leave Office

MANILA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Despite storm forecasts, both political and weather, Governor-General Leonard Wood and a party of American sugar men left Thursday for a four-day visit to the sugar fields of the island of Mindoro.

Eulogio Rodriguez, the governor-general's appointee as mayor of Manila, who was urged by Manuel Quezon, last president of the senate, with being an "ex-covert," has announced he has no intention of resigning as the result of attacks upon his character.

Both sides of the Rodriguez controversy have remained silent since the receipt of an announcement from the department in Washington that it would maintain a strict "hands off" policy in view of the governor-general's supervision of the Philippines.

IOWA SENATOR AIRS OPINIONS

Brookhart Renews Attack on E. T. Meredith; Hits Opponent's Office Record

JEWELL, Iowa, Aug. 24 (AP)—The deflation policy adopted by the federal reserve board in 1920 was aimed at helping speculation on the bear side of farm products, and at forcing the farmers to sell their Liberty bonds by lowering the price on farm products, United States Senator Shutt W. Brookhart of Iowa, declared today in an address before an American Legion picnic here, renewing his attack on former Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith, who, he said, acquiesced in the deflation and failed to warn the farmer or to help avoid financial disaster to him.

Several thousand persons heard the address. The speech was condensed in reply to Mr. Meredith's recent statement that he would file suit against Senator Brookhart for 20 cents, alleged libel damages for similar charges made in a recent address at Radcliffe, Iowa.

Brookhart was Iowa man in that meeting of the federal reserve board in May, 1920," Senator Brookhart said. "He protested against the deflation, when the rest of those present favored it, he shut up when he ought to have been fighting for us. When he ought to have been preventing the deflation policy, what was he doing? Did anybody hear him forecasting us?"

The bankers, the oil men and every other big business organization, with the single exception of Henry Ford," Senator Brookhart said, "were appraised of the coming deflation. They all floated big bond issues to tide them over and their bankers gave the same banks throughout the farming region a chance to invest in these bonds," the senator charged, "so that when the farmers were pressed for money after they learned from experience that they were being deflated their credit was gone and no money was available."

Grizzlies Create Havoc in Western Montana; Hunters Called Upon for Assistance

PROSSER, Wash., Aug. 24 (AP)—Black and grizzly bears are creating havoc among inland Empire lambs on the summer ranges in western Montana, according to Harry Nye of Prosser, who is visiting Inland Empire sportsmen to organize bear hunts there. Mr. Nye's sheep are summering in the vicinity of Trout creek, Montana.

Bears have taken about 100 lambs from Mr. Nye's bands, and proportionate numbers from other bands, according to Nye. He says that Mr. Nye's herders have killed five of the sheep-killers this season and hunters can be sure of at least one bear-skin if they will visit the district, about a half day's journey from the railroad, he claims.

A forest ranger recently reported being attacked by a grizzly in the district. He was fighting to free the grizzly, failed to climb a high tree and quick enough at first, and the bear bit his foot. When he hurriedly mounted to the upper branches the grizzly was getting another bite and disappeared for other game.

ENGLAND BARS DIVORCE DETAILS LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—British newspapers soon will cease to carry detailed reports of evidence given in divorce cases. The house of commons committee, which has been considering this question some time, recommends that newspapers be permitted to publish only the statement of the petitioner, the defense, the judge's summing up, any points of law which may arise during trial and the jury's findings and judgment. The names of witnesses may be given, but not their evidence.

The committee also recommends that the scope of the evidence in these proceedings should be widened to include the prohibition of reports of matter that is indecent in all proceedings before a judicial bench.

PINCHOT NAMED TO ASSIST IN WAGE PARLEYS

Pennsylvania's Governor Designated by Coolidge as Mediator; Government Optimistic of Settlement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—An avenue through which anthracite miners and operators might come together in further effort to reach a settlement of their existing difficulties was provided by President Coolidge today in the designation of Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, as a special mediator.

Maintaining the conviction that suspension of hard coal production September 1 would be suicidal to both employe and operator, the government's action was said to be designed to provide a medium through which conciliatory influences of both sides might operate without damage to the strategic position, or the dignity of either.

After a luncheon conference at the White House, Governor Pinchot returned to Harrisburg with the announced intention of getting in touch with representatives of the miner and operator groups. It was stated that no definite proposal had been evolved at the White House meeting, and that Mr. Pinchot's first move probably will be to ascertain whether a basis for further discussion exists, despite the unequivocal tenor of the statements issued at the conclusion of the Atlantic City conference.

Will Co-operate. Describing the relations of Governor Pinchot to the federal authorities as "solely co-operative," a spokesman for the president pointed out that his selection was a particularly happy one because the anthracite fields are located almost exclusively in Pennsylvania and because of the unusual legislative safeguards thrown around the industry by state laws.

Chairman Hammond of the coal commission, which has been the designated agency of the federal government in dealing with the anthracite crisis, participated in the White House meeting, and it was announced later, will co-operate heartily with Governor Pinchot.

The commission will furnish data and information bearing on the subject to the Pennsylvania executive, an administration spokesman said, and will hold itself in readiness to assist to a further extent if its services are desired.

It was said at the White House that the injection of Governor Pinchot into the picture should not be taken as an change in the policy of non-interference hitherto followed. The government still holds, it was added, that a cessation of production in the anthracite industry would be a folly impossible of consummation by sensible men.

Settlement Possible. The optimistic view of the coal crisis which has marked the government's attitude since the disruption of the party discussion was more pronounced tonight. A review of the situation, made public by the coal commission, gave in detail the influence which official observers considered to be working for ultimate settlement. These included the certain loss of valuable markets and the possible extinction of anthracite as a necessary fuel, from the operator's standpoint, and the reduction of em-

A tie-up of anthracite production, the commission said, while not sufficient to warrant "panicky" forbiddings, would constitute an emergency which would warrant the exercise of every federal authority to supply the consumer. The statement gave latest statistics on existing and potential stocks of substitute fuel to show that, with federal aid in distribution, every normal demand could be met.

Colonel Henderson Pronounces Mail Service's Night Tests Absolute Success and Forecasts Greater Expansion

OMAHA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Addressing the Omaha Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon tendered in his honor today, Colonel Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, here directing the aerial mail experimental flights from ocean to ocean, declared that in his opinion, within a relatively short time all important commercial and industrial centers of the United States will be connected by lighted airways over which mail, express and other important movements will be made at night, providing that the distance between such centers exceeds 500 miles and does not exceed 1200 to 1500 miles.

"Our real purpose in these air mail tests was to find an affirmative answer to the question as to whether or not aircraft might be successfully operated at night. Our success is definite. Aircraft may be operated at night with certain safety and regularity."

"In the proving of this fact," he stated, "we have, I believe, opened up the door for a new and wide use of aircraft. The dark hours of the 24 are those most important from the point of view of the expeditious transportation of letters, money and merchandise. The airplanes have just much of their potential value until now. Although airplanes run much faster than do trains, except in certain particular combinations of distances, part of it all of this advantage over the train has heretofore been lost due to the fact that the train ran 24 hours a day, while the airplane stayed on the ground at night."

"There are in the United States scores of potential overnight routes, the outstanding ones between Chicago and New York. The aircraft will fly from New York, leaving after dinner in the evening, arriving in Chicago just before dawn."

Other possible combinations, the colonel said, are Chicago-New Orleans, Chicago-Atlanta, Chicago-Boston, Chicago-Philadelphia, Chicago-Washington, Chicago-Denver; New York-Minneapolis, New York-Milwaukee, New York-St. Louis, New York-Memphis, New York-Louisville, New York-Columbus, New York-Cleveland, Detroit-Toledo, San Francisco-Portland, San Francisco-Seattle, San Francisco-Spokane, San Francisco-San Diego, San Francisco-Salt Lake; New Orleans-El Paso, from Fort Worth and Dallas to Los Angeles, San Diego, Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City, Omaha, New Orleans, St. Louis and Memphis."

In 1890 he became the personal secretary to Count Mutsu, minister of agriculture and commerce, and later held a similar post at the foreign office.

In 1903 he was made secretary to the legation in London and served in a similar post at Peking from 1905 to 1908. He was promoted to the directorship of the political bureau and then made vice minister of foreign affairs. He was nominated to be ambassador in Vienna in 1907 and made ambassador to the United States in 1909. He was made minister of foreign affairs in 1912 and in the world war, in 1918, served as ambassador and minister to Petrograd.

CANADIAN AUTO FIRMS INCREASE PRODUCTION

Dominion Bureau of Statistics Reports Gain of 53 Per Cent Over Total Reached in 1921

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP)—Automobiles manufactured in Canada numbered 101,907 in 1922, according to a report compiled by the dominion bureau of statistics. This was an increase of 53 per cent over the 1921 output. The total value of the cars manufactured, the figures show, was $81,056,425. Capital invested in the industry amounted to $13,274,084. Materials utilized in construction had a value of $54,408,719. Wages amounted to $13,331,084 and 7334 persons were employed in the industry during the year. The automobile industry has experienced a remarkable development in Canada in the last five years. Production has practically doubled since 1917. Capital invested has increased by nearly 100 per cent in the period, and the value of production has grown from $54,408,719 to $81,056,425.

Most of the automobiles manufactured in Canada are sold in the dominion, although a prosperous export trade is being built up with South America, the United Kingdom, Australia, South Africa, Mexico, Norway, Sweden and the Netherlands. Automobiles registered in Canada now number 514,072. The dominion stands second to the United States as the greatest automobile owning nation.

Canada, like the United States, has a large percentage of automobiles on farms. In many districts in the prairie provinces where settlement has been rapid in recent years, nearly 75 per cent of the automobiles are owned on farms.

MONTANA FARMERS SEEK AID FROM HOPPER, PEST

SALT LAKE, Aug. 24 (AP)—There is a plague of grasshoppers in the vicinity of Kalispell, Flathead county, Montana, and authorities of that town have written to officials here asking if it is possible to procure a lot of young scullions from Great Salt Lake to do battle with the pest. Flathead county is said to possess ideal feeding and nesting grounds for the birds.

Scullions are sacred to Utah. They come in numbers annually from the Pacific ocean to nest on the six islands in the lake. In pioneer days, when the settlers used to harvest their first crops in the Great Salt Lake valley there came a scourge of grasshoppers which the scullions devoured. Hence the birds are under strict protection. On the Mormon temple bluffs there is a large monument erected to them. Whether Kalispell will get scullions from Utah or not is a question for the state fish and game department to decide.

Coolidge Believes Aircraft Limitation Plan Would Not Be Favored by Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Practical difficulties in the way of a conference to bring about world limitation of aircraft building for war purposes are considered by President Coolidge, to be even greater than they were at the time of the unsuccessful endeavor to obtain such a limitation during the Washington arms conference.

The president, it was said today at the White House has not had an opportunity to consider in detail the suggestion for such a conference recently advanced by the American Legion. Even the most preliminary consideration, however, the president was reported as feeling brings up at once practical difficulties of an important nature. The president is said to believe that it would be rather doubtful whether European nations, in view of the unsettled situation abroad, would join in such a conference at the present time.

Mr. Coolidge also is understood to be of the opinion that conditions in Europe which prevented agreement on aircraft limitation at the Washington conference still prevail to an extent that European powers could not be expected to have changed their attitude toward such a suggestion.

INDIFFERENCE TO EUROPE

One of the most remarkable things about the present international situation is the indifference of the American people with regard to Europe.

This indifference is noteworthy because there was much interest in European affairs when the situation was nowhere near so bad.

Yet there is renaissance in this very fact that America can get easily about its own business in the presence of the Ruhr crisis and all the associated crises of the Old World.

Our national attitude may really imply hope for Europe, because it signifies that most of us are convinced that Europe will pull out of this mire, after all, and get onto its feet again, along with the rest of the civilized world.

Americans are born optimists, and our optimism extends even to Germany and Russia. Which is right, provided America remains ready to respond to any sincere call in matters where it is able to extend useful cooperation.

ORATORICAL REFORM

The following story is told as characteristic of President Coolidge. When he was governor of Massachusetts, a friend named Newton Tunison wrote him a long letter begging him to come to Vermont and speak at an annual dinner.

This communication, delightful in its terseness, was not altogether true. Most people do like to hear speeches, if they are good speeches.

The incident, however, is illuminating as to the character of the new President and the example he may be expected to set in the matter of oratory—a field wherein there is much room for reform.

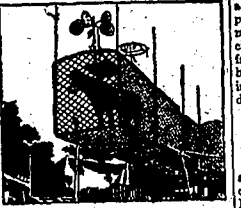

American oratory of the political sort is, as Kipling observed, "a fearful and wonderful thing," with speakers usually assuming a pose for platform purposes, tearing logic and passion to tatters to "catch the ears of the groundlings."

WHEAT PRICE ADVANCED WHEN DEMAND INCREASES

Predictions of Damaging Temperatures Being General Buying and Market Close at Slight Gain

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Prediction of frost in parts of the northwest and reports of lower temperatures in Canada brought out some extensive general buying of wheat today and the market finished at net gains of 1 1/2 to 2 1/4...

The wheat market continued narrow the early part of the day, but the uncertainty was steady with the general run of news more encouraging than for several days. Strength in the Liverpool market, which was attributed to the influence of an improved flour trade in the United Kingdom was reflected on this side of the Atlantic.

There was some hedging, which had a depressing influence because of the absence of broader buying power, but this was of little effect when news was received telling of low temperatures over the northwest spring wheat belt and of some frost in various parts of Minnesota and Manitoba. Toward the end of the session the market displayed considerable firmness and buying was more general and extensive.

Data were largely influenced by the action of other grains. Provisions were firm on renewed buying of January lard by houses believed to be acting for foreign interests.

ACREAGE BASIS USED IN FIXING COST OF WATER

American Falls Reservoir District Directors Reach Agreement on Distribution of Expense of Huge Project

Directors of the American Falls Reservoir District, at an adjourned meeting here Friday, reached an agreement upon the distribution of the cost of building the American Falls reservoir and purchase of storage water, in proportion to benefits derived.

The plan of assessment as agreed upon embodies almost exactly the scheme that had previously been worked out on a tentative basis, although the end is reached by a method other than that previously employed, according to Secretary W. P. Alworth.

On Acreage Basis. Instead of levying certain assessments against town property, variously classified for the purpose, the assessment will be made on an acreage basis.

Assessment against lands and town property under other irrigation systems will vary in proportion to the acreage of storage water to be purchased by each project.

Ideals of Kiwanis Brought to Focus at Banquet Board

Inspirational Addresses by Leaders in Movement Tend to Expand Sphere of Influence of Movement's Spirit and Aims; Closes Convention Activities

A banquet served Friday evening to more than 400 delegates and convention visitors marked the close of activities in connection with the Utah-Idaho district Kiwanis clubs annual convention in session here Thursday and Friday, and brought to a focus the inspirational spirit and aim of the Kiwanis movement that permeated the entire convention.

To the aspirations of the movement brought from C. C. Moore, Idaho's governor, who was an honored guest, a warm endorsement. "If you don't take the advice that we have given this evening, and become better citizens, thus contributing to the building of better communities and states, you will be missing up to your opportunities," the governor declared.

Purposes and ideals of the movement were set forth in addresses by international and district officers of the organization, including Edmund F. Arns, international president; George E. Snell, Billings, international vice president; James E. Edgerton, Pocatello, newly elected district governor, and W. H. Beeder, Jr., Ogden, retiring district governor.

Interwoven With Music. The program was interspersed with several musical numbers, and included an elaborate "ant" presented by members of the Twin Falls club, having for its motif the anticipated completion of the Rogerson-Wells railway, and a presentation of the national official, Singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire assemblage brought the event to a close.

In the capacity of toastmaster, M. J. Sweeley, past president of the Twin Falls club, introduced the several speakers and events of the evening.

One of the gripping, inspirational moments, of which there were many during the evening, was that of General E. B. Davis offering an eloquent toast to the ladies of the convention, and response was made by Mrs. W. E. Nixon of Twin Falls. Thereafter J. A. Southwick of Logan, an outstanding soloist of the convention, sang an appropriate number and responded to an encore.

The big eye was watching in which the event was given, was attractively decorated with a huge American flag, a profusion of flowers and foliage and the colors of the organization.

Tribute Makes Appeal. One of the gripping, inspirational moments, of which there were many during the evening, was that of General E. B. Davis offering an eloquent toast to the ladies of the convention, and response was made by Mrs. W. E. Nixon of Twin Falls.

Kiwanis fulfills the human need for fellowship that has grown keener with the increasing stress and speed of modern civilization, international President Arns, who visited the convention and abbreviated his address on that account, told the assemblage. It demands of its membership a high type of citizenship and it presents a challenge to its members and to the world for improvement and uplift of the individual, the community, and the nations of the world.

Enumerates Cardinal Principles. Enumerating cardinal principles of the movement Mr. Snell listed integrity, the cornerstone of the life and of business prosperity and foundation of civilization; faith, primarily on one's own self, in this home club and community and fellow; industry and recognition of the fact that the world depends upon work and must get back to it; vision, as exemplified in the building of the Twin Falls country; and thrift.

Defining Kiwanis as religion in business, James E. Edgerton, newly elected district governor, traced the development of the Kiwanis ideals in the history of the club at Pocatello. The golden rule, he said, is the first rule of Kiwanis, and the second is appreciation of the fact that the accumulation of wealth is never justified unless it is used in rendering service toward the upbuilding and betterment of the community in which it is gathered.

ELECTION MARKS

J. Sweeley, of Twin Falls. Mr. Edgerton was elected by vote of 32 to 19, and on motion of Mr. Sweeley, who sought and obtained the floor for the purpose, the election was made unanimous by the convention voting in its feet in appreciation of the tactful, sportsmanlike manner in which the defeated candidate addressed the delegates and the winner.

The invitation of Logan was extended by R. O. Porter, president of the Logan club. Mr. Porter, president of the Provo club asserted the claims of his town. Before the question was put to vote the Provo delegation augmented the verbal invitation with two songs that made strong claim on the attention of the convention.

Delegates and convention visitors Friday afternoon were greeted by Governor C. C. Moore, who discussed some of the problems confronting the commonwealth, with reference especially to taxation, and brought a message of optimism and encouragement from the state administration.

Kiwanis must stand for enforcement of law, support of constituted authority, and being obedient to the law. International President Arns told the convention Friday afternoon. Kiwanis, he said, recognizes that the golden rule, enunciated in the sermon on the mount, will solve the problems of today as it has throughout history.

"Literature and platforms of today have broadcast the peril of the hour until one feels bewildered in the pessimism of a nation more blessed in material resources than any nation in the history of man," President Arns said. "The need of the hour," he added, "is not for greater alarm, but for better appreciation of the complexities of human relationships."

Giving an account of his stewardship in his annual address to the convention, W. H. Beeder, retiring district governor, declared: "The spirit of our motto, 'We Build,' seems to have been gripped by the clubs and general membership, with the result that Kiwanis throughout the whole district is in good repute."

Both morning and afternoon services were launched with community singing under direction of V. F. McHuan of Pocatello. Musical numbers during the day included songs by the Twin Falls club and solo numbers by A. J. Johnson, Stenwick of Boise, and George Cunningham of Boise.

Office club and solo numbers by A. J. Johnson of Boise, Stenwick of Boise, and George Cunningham of Boise.

Adopt Policy. The declaration of principles and policy adopted at the international convention and affirmed at the district convention just closed here comprises the following:

- 1. To maintain a distinctive quality of membership and to give increased attention to Kiwanis education and standardization of clubs. 2. To emphasize and intensify the service of all Kiwanis clubs in behalf of underprivileged children. 3. To continue, through Kiwanis clubs, to promote better relations between the farmer and the city man. 4. To develop aggressively toward chambers of commerce and other civic organizations, a co-operative spirit and to encourage co-ordination of activities. 5. To foster a fuller realization of the responsibilities of patriotic citizenship.
