Checkoff System is Denied Miners In Proposals of Governor Pinchot

Public Is Warned Against Work of Coal Speculators

Responsibility for Last Winter's Prices Placed Directly upon Unscrupulous Wholesalers and Jobbers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Responsibility for high prices paid by the consumer for anthracite last winter was laid directly to "the speculative jobber, or wholesaler," in a report issued today by the coal commission. In some instances, it was found by commission investigators, four wholesale purchases intervened between the mine and the retailer, "margin" running from 20 cents to an aggregate of $4.75 a ton.

"Should a stoppage of mining occur on September 1," said the report, "it will accentuate the already made demand for anthracite and unless the buyer and the retailer representing him learn from past experiences unscrupulous wholesalers will have another opportunity to repeat their speculative activities of last fall and winter on any anthracite coal that may be on the market after September 1, as well as following the resumption of mining."

"In the absence of any definite regulatory powers over other mine prices of federal and state authorities, the extent of such activities will depend largely upon the willingness of the retailer and the consuming public to pay the prices demanded. It is only with the retailer's consent that the middleman may receive as much in margin as the coal miner receives in wages from the sale of ton of anthracite."

INCREASED PAY AND 8 HOUR DAY ARE AGREED TO

Basis of Settlement of Coal Strike Contained in Three Main Points for Debate by All Concerned

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP)—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, tonight laid a proposition before officials of the miners' union, a representative of anthracite coal operators on which he asked them to compromise the controversy which threatens to shut down the mines on September 1.

His suggestion, called for a flat increase of 10 per cent in the pay of all mine workers; for abandonment of all other than eight hour working day arrangements; for the dropping by the union of its demand for a "checkoff" collection of dues, with the provision that union agents might be stationed in company offices on pay day to collect from the men; for full recognition of the union by the operators, and for acceptance of the principle of collective bargaining.

He dismissed both groups of leaders from the executive office with the request that they return him an answer by Friday noon to the proposition as made by the committee summoned.

The governor's proposal for a wage increase was based on the calculation that 10 per cent would add 50 cents per ton to the cost of mining coal and the operators agreed, he said, with mutual profits during recent months could absorb 10 cents per ton of the increase. He said "in the end should be taken from the consumer," and he promised to make proposals later for getting the absorbed out of existing coal contracts.

Basic of Proposal
The price of wheat must be raised 100 per cent or else the price of bread must be lowered to the consumer," he said.

CANCER TAKES LIFE OF WELL KNOWN WOMAN

Princess Anastasia Succumbs to Dread Disease at London Home; End Comes Peacefully

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Princess Anastasia, wife of Prince Christopher of Greece and formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the American tin plate magnate, died in her London home tonight. She passed peacefully away at 11:15 without remaining consciousness. Prince Christopher, the queen mother Olga, William B. Leeds, Jr., and his wife, Princess Xenia, and other members of the family were at the bedside.

The immediate cause of death was cancer, complicated by cirrhosis of the liver. It is thought likely that the body will be sent to the United States immediately for burial in the family mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery, New York, where her father and mother rest, although some of the relatives tonight expressed the hope that interment might be in the Greek royal cemetery at Totto, near Athens, where the late King Alexander is interred. An English-speaking Russian priest administered spiritually to the princess during her last hours. When she was married the princess became a member of the Greek orthodox church. It was impossible to obtain a Greek priest in London, so a Russian priest was substituted. Prince Christopher is prostrated.

Known on Two Continents

Anastasia was known on two continents as "the dollar princess." Her death, after an illness contracted in Greece three years ago, marked a series of tragic events connected with the Greek royal family into which she came to marry against the wishes of her relatives.

These events began with the de-thronement of King Constantine, followed by the death from a monkey bite of King George, the Greek king, and subsequent exile of Constantine, the Greek revolution, the death of Constantine and the banishment of King George's family, including Prince Christopher, Anastasia's husband, from Athens.

Princess Anastasia, widow of William B. Leeds, the son of a Chicago fortune estimated at $40,000,000, received many proposals of marriage from royal and noble families before she finally accepted Prince Christopher of Greece, son of the late King George II, who succeeded to the Greek throne upon the death of King Constantine in January, 1923. They were married in 1920.

Native of Ohio

Princess Anastasia was Miss Nannie May Stewart, daughter of a wealthy Ohio banker, and first married George Washington Cleveland, who she divorced. Three days after the decree was issued she married William B. Leeds. This was in 1910.

Eight years later Mr. Leeds died in Paris, leaving his fortune to his wife and one son, William B. Leeds, Jr., who in 1921 married Princess Xenia, the 17-year-old daughter of Grand Duchess Marie of Russia and niece of King Constantine.

Princess Anastasia was seriously ill as the result of an intestinal disorder and had undergone two major operations, when she learned of her son's engagement. The news, she said at the time, had broken her heart and she wept for three days upon hearing it. Her objection to the match was based on the single fact of her son's engagement. However, she finally yielded to the boy's persuasion and consented to the marriage, at the same time arranging a moderate allowance from her own estate to be paid to her son.

Richest Boy in World

The statement officially was made in Europe that young Leeds was the richest boy in the world. Princess Anastasia declared these conjectures were absurd, adding that his father's will provided that he receive $500,000 when he reached the age of 35. The princess said her own will provided that upon her death her son was to draw her interest on the trust fund created by Mr. Leeds, but he would not be able to touch the principal. If her son or his wife should die, she declared, the entire Leeds fortune would go to their offspring as a trust fund which will cease with the third generation. If they have no surviving issue, the fortune, she said, would pass to the Lynging hospital of New York.

During the Greco-Turkish struggle of 1920 it was understood that Mrs. Leeds spent more than a million dollars of her fortune to finance the Greek armies. She gave large sums subsequently to the various relief agencies for use among Greek soldiers.

Princess Anastasia, several times found it necessary to deny that she had settled large sums of money on Prince Christopher before their marriage. Not a single dollar did she give him, she declared, adding that they were married in Switzerland, and thus were subject to the law by which each keeps his or her own money and property, and one is not responsible for the debts of the other.

COAL EMBARGO SUGGESTED

Temporary Postponement of Shipments to West Discussed in Fuel Strikers Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A temporary embargo on shipment of "smokeless coal" to the west, establishment of special tariffs for all rail through shipments to New York and New England, and organization of a central committee to assure a full car supply to the bituminous fields producing fuel desired as substitutes for anthracite are last minute suggestions being considered by government fuel agencies while awaiting the result of the Harbinger conference. A desire to refrain from embarrassing Governor Pinchot in the slightest degree, coupled with an apparent confidence that a settlement will be reached, caused unusual reticence in official circles regarding the emergency program.

The coal commission met early to discuss confidential reports from Harbinger.

REVENUES SHOW INCREASE

SON IS BELIEVED VICTIM

Sudden Demise upon British Train Leads to Error Through Confusion of Early Reports

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A dispatch to Reuters from Flushing says it was not the Maharaja Gaukwar of Baroda, the richest prince of India, who died on board a train near Flushing Monday night while on his way to the Holland city, but the Maharaja's son, Jaisingh Rao, who was educated at Harvard university.

The dispatch says the mistake in announcing the maharaja's death originally was due to the habit of his son traveling as the maharaja. The correspondent recalls that similar confusion prevailed when another son of the maharaja died.

It is added that the error in stating that it was the maharaja who had died on board the train was discovered today when the British consul at Flushing, in issuing a detailed statement regarding the death, gave his age as 35, whereas the maharaja is 60. Jaisingh Rao was 35.

LOOK FAVORABLY UPON SACRIFICE

Paris Press Endorses Suggestion of Cancellation of American Credits

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—Senator Henri Douvenon's proposition that the European nations get together to demand a sacrifice by the United States in the interests of a European settlement, this sacrifice to consist of renunciation of all war debts due her, including the British, is supported by Le Temps today.

While it points out that no candidate on the eve of presidential elections could take the initiative in a policy of resuming national credits, the newspaper suggests that such renunciation on the part of the United States might be facilitated by bringing the question before the permanent court of international justice.

The court, it adds, could be asked to give a ruling on certain points of international law, particularly whether material losses which one nation suffers for the common safety should not be supported by the victorious nations in proportion to the failure of the aggressor nation to indemnify its victims, and to the riches which each victorious nation has preserved or acquired during the conflict.

Senator Johnson added that "we'll come through in California just as we always have." His tour of Europe, he said, had not changed his views to the effect that American has enough troubles of her own on this side of the Atlantic.

FIELD CLEARED FOR NEW START

Exchange of Notes on Ruhr Situation Regarded as Paving Way for Settlement

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—The impression in official circles after reading Belgium's reply to the recent British reparations note is that the field is now clear for a new start toward negotiating a settlement of the problems between the allies.

Each of the most interested powers has stated its attitude clearly, and the difference between them in actual money figures is regarded not so great as to preclude an agreement when their statements take an opportunity to talk the situation over.

The notes now in effect will make the first move toward such conversations. The British prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, is looked upon here as the one from whom the initiative would most properly come, since he has the best occasion to take the step before leaving France, where he is now spending a short vacation.

He is expected to call on Premier Poincaré at any event while passing through Paris for London, and it is pointed out that he could find an excellent opportunity for a face-to-face talk with the French premier.

The Belgian note, which was received favorably here, is in complete accord with Premier Poincaré's stand on most of the irritating points in question.

BELGIUM STANDS WITH FRANCE ON RUHR ACTION

Simple Promise of Germany Alone Not Sufficient Ground for Withdrawal of Forces

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Belgian government, in its reply to the last British reparations note, stands with France on the principal points of contention, maintaining that the legality of the Ruhr occupation has been established by the previous action of the allies, including Great Britain and that withdrawal of the Belgian forces is impossible on simple promises of Germany.

The reply, given out at the Belgian embassy here, dwells particularly upon the justice of Belgium's claim to priority in reparations payments. It points out that thus far Belgium has received only 2,000,000 gold marks more than Great Britain.

Foreign Minister Jaspar asserts that "the whole problem of reparations and the question of inter-allied debts are definitely bound together as means to pose a new method of procedure in the negotiations, suggesting conversations among the allies 'without reverting to the old system of conferences.'"

M. Jaspar remarks that if a reduction in Germany's debt is made the balance she is obliged to pay ought to apply to material damages only. This might be understood as meaning the elimination of pensions from the allied claims in Germany thus reducing the British share to an infinitesimal percentage.

Utilizing funds from an appropriation for the study of the possibilities of both lignite and peat, the secretary has ordered the bureau of mines to begin a peat survey, heretofore held in abeyance pending experiments by the Canadian and English governments.

Investigation of lignite, however, has been under way for some time.

DEMPSEY FAILS TO MAKE GOOD

Champ Tackles Baseball as Part of Rest Program with Poor Results

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, world's heavy-weight champion, was knocked out today, but not on the floor of a ring with a referee counting over him. The 416 holder was knocked out of the pitcher's box when his offerings were batted to all corners of the lot during a baseball game between the training camp attendants and cottagers on the shore of Saratoga Lake.

After one disastrous inning on the mound, Dempsey was shifted to first base, where he performed like a major leaguer. He collected a half dozen hits, driving runs in ahead of him every time he smashed the ball.

After a three-day layoff, Dempsey is scheduled to resume training tomorrow, to continue probably without interruption until he winds up the conditioning grind for the defense of his title against Luis Angel Firpo at New York September 14.

Aside from a cold, the champion is in excellent condition and expects to resume work. The three days rest, doing nothing, became so tiresome that it made Dempsey restless. His cold, while not serious, continued to bother him and upset his usual cheerful disposition.

GIANTS' CHECKS—WANTED

Federal Grand Jury Betrays Curiosity as to Money Alleged to Have Been Paid to Buckstoep

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—The national exhibition company, owners of the New York Giants, was served with a federal grand jury subpoena today calling for the presentation Friday morning of the checks covering $170,000 alleged to have been advanced by Charles A. Stoneham to E. M. Fuller and Co. bankruptcy brokerage firm, through Thomas F. Foley, Tammany leader.

One of the checks subpoenaed, it was said, was for $25,000, which hitherto had not come to light and had not been included in the checks Stoneham presented before the referee in bankruptcy.

The subpoena was the first indication that the August grand jury had been investigating the relation of Stoneham to the Fuller bucketshop.

RAIN HOLDS UP FIRPO PROGRAM

Contender Compelled to Pass Up Daily Training Schedule, Due to Weather

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29 (AP)—A cold, driving rain, falling through out the early part of today, compelled Luis Angel Firpo to pass up his daily work-out in preparation for his title match with Jack Dempsey in New York September 14.

The South American champion started out for his regular sprint along the beach and board walk at 7 o'clock this morning and had walked briskly for about a mile when rain began falling.

Reluctantly he turned for home. When he returned to his cottage, Chelsea, he let loose for a while on the heavy sandbag that is suspended in the garage, then pulled weights.

Although Firpo has taken some hard punches on the jaw, face and body during the first week of training, never has he lost his serious workmanlike expression or appeared to have been hurt. He has swilled only twice while working, once when he misjudged a left hook intended for Young Frank Knoxville's jaw, and once when Joplin's chin slipped away from a right uppercut.

Extraordinary Efforts Under Way to Wipe Out Effect of Committee Report

GENEVA, Aug. 29 (AP)—Extraordinary efforts are being made at Geneva to lessen the importance of the sensational incident affecting the American Red Cross and the International Geneva organization, and the Geneva officials even hope that they may induce the Americans to come here from Paris and attend to closing the Red Cross sessions.

The controversy hinges on a report submitted to the congress by the international committee in the negotiation for fusion of the international organization at Geneva and the League of Red Cross societies, in which it was declared that the committee does not believe that in the domain of Red Cross supremacy of influence must be long to those who are most powerful financially.

This was interpreted by the American delegates, who refused to attend the eleventh congress now in session, as a grave reflection upon the motive of the American Red Cross.

A telegram sent today by the international committee of the Red Cross to John Darton Payne, chairman of the American organization, in which intention to ensure the American Red Cross was dissolved, was inspired by a desire to bridge the chasm caused by the text of a report submitted to the Geneva congress of the International Red Cross, to which the American representatives took strong exception, and by the letter of protest immediately forwarded by the Americans.

Geneva Greatly Stirred. The controversy, however, has caused a stir such as Geneva has rarely seen, and temporarily cooled interest in the meeting of the council of the league of nations, opening Friday. The incident has tended to increase the split between the International Red Cross commonly known as the Geneva Red Cross, and the International League of Red Cross societies, whose headquarters is in Paris.

The latter organization, which was formed by the late Henry P. Davison, and is composed of the allied and associated nations, is held to have been overshadowed by the Geneva association in importance, and officials of the Geneva body alleged today that American support of the league had been used by the Paris organization in a manner

LAWYERS HEAR TWO ADDRESSES

Annual Convention of American Bar Association Is Now in Full Swing

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—Two distinguished foreign jurists and a member of the United States supreme court were the principal speakers this afternoon and tonight before the annual convention of the American Bar Association, which opened a three-day session here today.

Lord Birkenhead, former chancellor of Great Britain, and Dr. E. S. Zaballos of Argentina, were tonight's speakers, and Piero Butler, associate justice of the supreme court, addressed the afternoon session, which was a joint meeting with the state bar association.

Other activities of the day were distinctly of a business nature, including the formal opening of the convention by John W. Davis of New York, who gave his address as president, and submission of resolutions of the executive officers.

Discuss Constitution. The development of the British constitution in the last 20 years was outlined by Lord Birkenhead, who compared its flexibility with the rigidity of the Constitution of the United States, or, as he termed them, "the control of the law and the other uncontrolled."

Interest in tomorrow's session centers in the address by Charles Evans Hughes, secretary of state, which is set for 9 p. m. During the day the convention will receive representatives of various sections and committees, including the report on judicial ethics to be presented by Chief Justice Taft, as chairman.

CONDITION IMPROVED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP)—The condition of James Kirkwood, motion picture actor, whose skull was fractured last Saturday when he fell from a horse, was improved "in every way" tonight and he probably will be able to leave his bed in from three to six weeks, according to Dr. R. B. Griffith, brain specialist. Except for short periods Kirkwood was conscious throughout the day, Dr. Griffith said.

INCREASED PAY

every consideration will be given to your proposals," Mr. Lewis told him at their conclusion, and we shall meet you again Friday."

"We'll do the same," said Samuel D. Warriner, chief spokesman for the operators, "and most you at the same time."

All chances of settlement of the controversy by direct negotiations between employers and employes representatives had been lost, the governor said, in stating his proposition. Yet the interest requires that it be settled without a strike.

"The whole system in the anthracite region is antiquated, haphazard and honeycombed with inequalities," he said in his main proposal. "I suggest that the anthracite coalfield be authorized to undertake and complete within a year a thorough revision and for the purpose be supplied with necessary help. The proposed increase of 10 per cent is recommended in view of the high degree of skill required among the miners and the extra hazardous nature of the occupation. Each year 500 miners are killed and 20,000 are injured."

Strongly, the governor emphasized the view that public opinion ordered a settlement. It was said that the time he gave the assembled parties to the controversy to make an answer was to leave an opportunity for them to estimate the public view.

Most of the contentions hitherto advanced by the operators' group was disregarded in the governor's proposal, particularly in the failure to suggest any present arbitration. There was also in spite of a generally more receptive attitude towards the utterance on the part of the union representatives, some question evident. This was turned against the governor's proposal to make the scale committee and the anthracite coalfield board tribunals the agencies to apply the proposals.

Likewise, the eight-hour day agreement had difficulties in application. A ten per cent increase in hourly wages will not compensate men now working ten and twelve hours per day, if their working time is reduced to eight hours and they are given no special rate. Also there was a union disposition to criticize the flat percentage increase, which would apply to miners who cut coal at a constant rate as well as to mine workers paid by the day. The full union demand was for a 20 per cent increase in the contract rates and for $2 a day to the workers, whose low rate is now $4.50. Notwithstanding the union attitude appeared to be far more friendly to acceptance of the governor's proposal than was that of the employers' contingent.

COMMENT WITHHELD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Government officials directly interested in the anthracite crisis declined to comment on the compromise plan presented tonight by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, to representatives of anthracite miners and operators in conference with him at Harrisburg. They returned, however, the determination of the administration to back the Pennsylvania executive to the "limit" in his effort to prevent a cessation of hard coal production.

"Public expression of a snap judgment at this time might easily wreck the whole fabric created by Mr. Pinchot," declared a member of the coal commission.

"From his recent study of the situation and his conferences with both sides, Mr. Pinchot undoubtedly has a good idea of the compromise program which would have the most chance of success."

Both at the offices of the coal commission and those of Federal Fuel Director Washington, it was declared that no intimation had come from Harrisburg as to the plan Mr. Pinchot had prepared to adopt if his proposal should be turned down by either or both groups.

Mr. Warriner, several hours after the meeting with Governor Pinchot, summoned members of the general operators' policy committee to meet with him at Philadelphia Thursday to prepare an answer to the settlement proposal.

BREAD BAKING URGED

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP)—Bread baking by the housewife was urged today by Joseph Ruschewitz, secretary of the city council high cost of living committee, who decried Chicago housewives by so doing could save $4,827,000 annually, and force bakers to reduce prices. The reduction in the price of flour from $7.25 to $6 a barrel in recent weeks meant a profit to the bakers of $402,500 a month, he asserted.

SHERIFF WAITS UPON DEATH OF NOTED PAINTER

Demise of Famous Hungarian Princess Intervenes to Prevent Seizure of Priceless Art Treasures

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Death today saved Princess Luot-Parangy, famous Hungarian portrait painter and former protégé of Kaiser Wilhelm, from the ordeal of seeing her priceless art treasures seized to satisfy judgments against her for $215,000. A few hours after she died a deputy sheriff entered and formally took possession of her rare art objects and furniture for the benefit of Ludwig Nessel, retired diamond merchant, who held the judgments against her. Nessel now is in Europe. The law had mercifully delayed service of the writs of attachment which had been issued several days ago. When a deputy first went to the home of the princess he found it dark and apparently without life. He went away and came again with the same result.

Wait for Demise
Last Monday he called again, this time prepared to force an entrance. But before a locksmith could open the door, it was quietly opened by Dr. Edward Fike, who informs Augustus that Princess Luot-Parangy was at the point of death and that any effort to seize her treasures would hasten the end. The deputy granted a stay, but a guard was placed outside to prevent removal of the property. The guard was notified when death came and the law then took its course. Princess Luot-Parangy not many years ago moved to the select society of Europe and America. Among the notables who sat for portraits were former Emperor Wilhelm of Germany, Blumack, Admiral Devey, Andrew Carnegie, Chauncey M. Depew, Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison. In recent years, her vogue passed, her funds exhausted and her health gone, the princess shut herself up in her home and saw little outside. She died almost peacefully, clinging to the end to her art possessions.

CAR SHORTAGE IS NOT FEARED

Vice-President Calvin of Union Pacific Believes Freight Troubles Disappearing

SALT LAKE, Aug. 29 (AP)—Problems of freight car shortages, which have caused concern throughout the country during the last four years, have apparently passed into insignificance, according to E. E. Calvin, vice president of the Union Pacific system, who arrived here today from the northwest enroute to Omaha. "I cannot say whether there will be a car shortage this fall," he said, "but if all the shippers start buying cars, it is impossible for any railroad to handle traffic without congestion. If the traffic is normal there will be no serious car shortage."

Car shortage conditions in western Idaho, Oregon, Washington and the northwest have been greatly alleviated, he said, adding that the Union Pacific has a surplus of 12,000 cars at present to be used in fall shipments. "The Union Pacific system has handled more freight during the present month than in any previous August in its history," declared Mr. Calvin. "Yet, in the face of this, we had a large surplus of grain cars on hand last Saturday. A year ago we had none, so you may see that we are regarding the future with more complacency than usual."

Mr. Calvin attributed the improved car condition to the progress of the car service division of the American Railway association, which requires cars of western railroads to be returned when empty and to the cooperative effort of shippers, farmers and buyers in loading and unloading cars promptly. He said the railroads would do all in their power to keep equipment and rolling stock in condition and everything moving and that a full cooperation being received made good service possible.

Mr. Calvin will remain here for the rest of this week and then will leave for Omaha.

WESTERN RIDER FLAYED FOR ANNOUNCEMENT AS TO NEW YORK DECISION

Big Horn, Wyoming, Cowboys Stand Lojally by Old-Time Favorite, Dave White

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 29 (AP)—"Yakima Cannit is simply off his nut," is the way the cow punchers from Dave White's stamping ground, near Big Horn, Wyoming, greeted the reports from New York that Cannit had recognized 1500 cowboys and cowgirls to recognize New York's rodeo as the only championship event. Dave White won the world's championship by being the best cowboy test at Cheyenne's frontier days show this summer. "Yakima's just trying to organize a cowboys' union, and I ain't never seen a union among cowboys that won't bust," commented one of the men assembled in the general store in Big Horn. "I've been riding the range 20 years, and I know."

Dave White, however, was not in Big Horn to defend himself. It happens to be in New York, riding at the rodeo there. But at the Galatin ranch at Big Horn, where he is ordinarily employed as foreman, there are a dozen good hands who swore "Dave wouldn't be a party to no such agreement."

CHINESE BOY IS SOLE SURVIVOR

Sinking of British Steamer Mylle Indicated by Find of Lifeboat on High Seas

SHANG HAI, Aug. 29 (AP)—One lone Chinese man boy, lying from threat and hunger aboard a life raft, was picked up today by the Hong Kong-Shang Hai coast steamer Kiang Hai and he is believed to be the sole survivor of the British steamer Mylle which foundered in a typhoon recently enroute from Chingwangtao to Shang Hai with a cargo of coal. Fifty-five lives are believed to have been lost when the vessel went down.

Prior to flooding the boy on the raft the steamer picked up a life boat in which was the body of Chief Engineer Harvey Green of the ill-fated Mylle. The life boat and raft were found about 90 miles from Shang Hai. The man boy, according to statements of the Sinking officers, survived for six days aboard the life raft and saw five of his companions perish. The boy, still in a serious condition, was brought to Shang Hai with Green's body.

Green Mylle was several days overdue here yesterday and it was feared she had gone down in a typhoon. The chief officer was John R. Hudson, well known as an American captian and seaman. The other officers listed were Captain Harry Mays, Chief Engineer Green.

HAS FAITH IN FRIENDSHIP

General Gouraud Returns to France Convinced that American Attitude Towards His Country is Unchanged

HAVE, Aug. 29 (AP)—General J. E. Gouraud returned home today on the steamer France after his tour of the United States, convinced that the friendship America has for France is as deep as it was during the war. His first net on-landing was to enable his thanks and lasting affection to his comrades of the Rainbow Division.

In an interview he described the emotion he felt when he greeted his American comrades of the great day of July, 1918, the turning point of the war. Throughout the United States, he said, not only were the veterans of the war, but people of all classes, so enthusiastic that he was overwhelmed by their kindness.

Many times the subject of the Ruhr was brought up to him by Americans he added, and he found that their keen sense of justice demanded that those who had destroyed should repair. He asserted that he had tried to impress on Americans that there was no thought of annexation in the minds of France. Premier Poincaré's speeches, he thought, must dispel all suspicions that the unity of France was to be destroyed by annexing five million Germans.

General Gouraud said he had been told much about German propaganda in the United States but that he noted only five thousand persons attended a vaunted Germanophile meeting at Buffalo.

tend to become speculators, they buy and sell among themselves, thereby pyramiding margins and advancing prices without rendering any equivalent service in bringing the coal near to the consumer. The wholesalers whose activities resulted in premium prices last winter are, nominally at least, not directly connected with the mines producing the coal. Although there are a considerable number of cases in which operators and wholesalers, while separate and distinct corporations, are related through interlocking stock ownership, interlocking directorates and interlocking offices. In some cases, the interrelations extend to a chain of operators and wholesalers.

Each Taker Profit

"In times of sellers' market, anthracite is passed from one to another of these closely related interests, each taking a profit on the transaction with the result that wholesale margins are pyramiding and the consumer pays extremely high prices and profits to a group of related interests. In other cases the pyramiding results from speculative buying and selling among wholesalers who are separate and independent. Many cases of pyramiding of margins both by related interests and among really separate and independent wholesalers have been traced by this commission.

"Anthracite coal especially yields itself to speculation among wholesalers when there is an interruption of production during strikes, critical disability, or any other cause. In tracing cartloads of high premium anthracite coal purchased by New England retailers last winter it was found that as many as four wholesale purchases and sales sometimes intervened between the mine and the retailer."

CROP FACTS

How many agricultural sections of the entire United States can boast of crop possibilities equal to those supplied by the humble onion?

Onions in the Twin Falls country make from 400 to 600 sacks to the acre and they are being contracted freely at $1.75 a sack—figure it out.

Unfortunately there are only 130 acres planted to onions on the entire tract this year, according to the records of the Twin Falls Canal Company, which, of course, may be in part the reason for the extraordinary price.

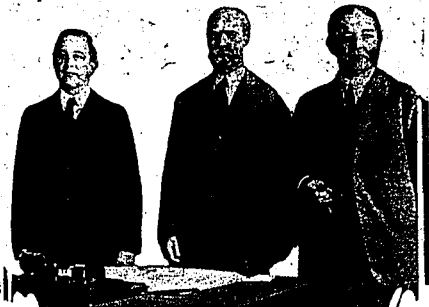

Onions constitute a sort of freak example of the crop possibilities of Twin Falls soil, but there is nothing freakish about the fact that, this year, beets, beans and potatoes will all be one hundred dollar an acre crops.

ARBITRATION TREATIES

The renewal of the arbitration treaty between the United States and Japan, the other day, served as a useful reminder to people who had forgotten that such a treaty existed. It was first made in 1908, was renewed in 1913 and 1918, and is now renewed for the third time.

Smaller companies, heard with delight in other states, will doubtless find themselves marching through Georgia without pause, as they are seldom fortunate enough to have wealthy guarantors.

Urge President to Recognize Mexico

C. B. Warren, Secy Hughes & Judge J. B. Payne

Charles Beecher Warren, formerly United States ambassador to Japan, and Judge John Barton Payne, who were sent to Mexico City to attempt to adjust the differences existing between Mexico and the United States, are shown in Washington, with Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes, on their way to the White House, where they reported to President Coolidge and urged him to recognize the Obregon government in Mexico.

than nothing at all. It is good training for the time when nations will enter into permanent arrangements of that sort.

A notable addition to the Japanese treaty, as now extended, is a provision that in case the United States Senate consents to President Harding's proposal for membership in the Court of International Justice, the two countries will take steps for the submission to the new court of such disputes as are covered by the present treaty.

The government evidently recognizes the world court as a simple and convenient substitute for a large and complicated set of two-party arbitration treaties.

OPERA IN GEORGIA

It is difficult to see just what Georgia expects to gain by voting a heavy tax on all opera companies appearing within its borders. Its House of Representatives has lately passed an amendment to the tax act, providing that opera companies appearing in all cities of over 100,000 population shall be taxed $2,500 per contract, and in cities of less size, $1,000 per contract.

Smaller companies, heard with delight in other states, will doubtless find themselves marching through Georgia without pause, as they are seldom fortunate enough to have wealthy guarantors.

find themselves marching through Georgia without pause, as they are seldom fortunate enough to have wealthy guarantors. As a means of securing money for the state, this source would not seem to be very fruitful; but as a method of discouraging the enjoyment of opera at present and the development in that direction in the future, the tax may be only too effective.

The Screen

FAMOUS MRS. FAIR

"The Famous Mrs. Fair," a photoplay version of the successful stage play by James Forbes, which has been pronounced one of the most significant plays of the last decade, is booked for presentation today at the Orpheum theatre.

OLD-TIME WEAPONS USED

When historical stories are reproduced upon the screen every article must be historical. In the filming of "Salomy Jane," an epic of early California life, which will be the feature at the Idaho theatre today, modern pistols would look ridiculous in the hands of these pioneers.

GLORY OF "SHAD"

New Jersey Town Lives in Its Ancient Memories.

Nowhere Was Such a Dish, Prepared as It Should Be, Placed Before a Hungry Diner.

Gloucester's three centuries are well worth a celebration.

Dame history can call a long roll of interesting things which have happened there since Captain May, tagging with his own name the cup at the bay, first sailed up the noble Delaware.

But I shall mention only one of Gloucester's glories—the shad. Other places between Philadelphia and the sea cast their big and little nets every spring.

Other towns boasted of their abilities to plank the shad, others had their own devices for alluring the expectant to their tables to partake of the world's prize dish, but Gloucester rose to heights which I am sure must have caused old Mr. Epicure himself to applaud in his grave.

For years Gloucester made everybody think of planked shad. Planked shad made everybody think at once of Gloucester.

Those unfortunate who never ate a shad planked in true old-time Gloucester style can only know by hearsay what a fish may be. "Glirard" writes in the Philadelphia Inquirer:

"There are those who speak of the hake whitefish as a thing for the gods to rave about.

Others insist that the sole, as prepared in Parisian restaurants, is the MacGregor of the fishy-tribe.

The big muskellunge has its boosters and a few, although their preferences are hard to understand, pretend the brook trout has a delicacy which no other thing coming from the waters, salt or fresh, can rival. Alas! They never ate a Gloucester shad.

Once you feasted upon that royal specialty of Jersey's ancient town, thereafter you spoke of fish and shad. The two were never again confounded.

Religious rites will take pilgrims a bit farther perhaps, than the rite of the planked shad ever drew a hungry world to Gloucester, but they have been much the same.

My city editor once assigned me to go down to Gloucester on a nice Sunday afternoon in May and count the glasses of beer that were sold. Counting bullets as they came from a machine gun would be easier.

Gloucester was then gay and jolly, well fed and thoroughly saturated, but everything else really paled before the magnificence of the planked shad.

When that golden brown monarch appeared riding upon his stout chariot of property, seasoned wood and surrounded by his crew of waiters such as young onions, new potatoes and home-grown strawberries, trouble took a holiday and care went away on a vacation.

William Penn himself recorded the delights he experienced with Delaware shad. That bold warrior, Col. Anthony Morris, long afterward said that shad sold for $2.50 a hundred.

A century ago a fine big shad could be bought in Philadelphia for from six to eight cents. Shad catching was then a livelihood every spring.

The season was usually from April 1 to June 10. The big seine, such as that used at Gloucester, has a sweep of half a mile, and often brought in after a long hour's pull upward of a thousand shad.

It was customary to make five hauls in twenty-four hours. When the tide ran low the herrings were caught in immense quantities.

Sturgeon fishing has also been an important industry on the Delaware. The roe of the Delaware sturgeon makes that fine "Russian caviar" which you get mentioned so frequently on restaurant cards.

Too-Much Ice. Rooming only a few doors from my married sister, I often run in at odd moments and habitually call "Ice" as I come in the door, for it very much pleases my neighbor, who replies in kind.

Last Sunday, after an early dinner, I ran up the back steps, found no one in the kitchen, stuck my head through the swinging door of the dining room, loudly calling "Ice." There sat the family, as well as two astonished couples whom I had never seen before. Let them explain without me.—Exchange.

Refinement of Angling.

Angling is fishing governed by rules of civility—correct tackle, limit in the catch, and humane treatment of the game.—From "The Determined Angler and the Brook Trout," by Charles Bradford.

Character Everything.

The whole intercourse of society, its trade, its religion, its friendship, its quarrels, is one wide judicial investigation of character.—Emerson.

Stray Bits of Wisdom.

Truth is like a pearl; he alone possesses it who has plunged into the depth of life and torn his hands on the rocks of Time.—Laboulque.

CAR SITUATION TO BE TOPIC OF LOCAL MEETING

Officials of Short Line and Fruit Express to Meet Shippers and Growers to Convene Here Tuesday

A meeting which is predicted as being of considerable general interest, particularly to the farmers, is scheduled for 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at Parish hall, when representatives of the Pacific Fruit Express and Oregon Short Line will convene...

The initiative in calling the conference was taken by the Short Line, word having been received Wednesday by D. E. Sullivan, local agent, from the Salt Lake offices, stating that the hour and place mentioned were favorable to the railroad company.

While definite advice are not available as to who the company representatives will be, it is expected that C. S. Gunnell, superintendent of the Pacific Fruit Express, and probably J. A. Reeves, general freight agent of the Short Line, and Joel Priest, will be present.

Surplus Cars on Hand. The local freight car situation at present is reported by Mr. Sullivan to be adequate to meet the demand, a surplus of some 250 or 300 box cars exists.

Eight thousand refrigerator cars and several thousand new box cars put in use this season by the railroad company, are expected to offer some relief in the possible car shortage later in the season.

"These men were largely selected," said Mrs. Duke, "because they are men who have no outstanding alliances with any particular element here that we know of. They are good men, in our judgment, for the positions to which they have been nominated."

"It was impossible to secure the names of any other business men for candidates. Some of those approached told us frankly that there had been so much criticism directed towards men in public office that they did not care to offer themselves for any public position and, in fact, could not afford to run for office or fill the position if elected."
