ITALY FIRMLY AWAITS ACTION ON ULTIMATUM; READY FOR LONG SIEGE

Premier Plans to Withdraw League, Delegates if Demands Are Not Met

Fifteen Thousand Troops in Corfu Prove Determination of Italians, Who Ignore Protest of Council of Ambassadors; Children in Red Cross Orphanage Killed by Shrapnel

ROME, Sept. 3 (AP)—If Italy's viewpoint that the league of nations is incompetent to settle the Greco-Italian difficulty is not accepted by the league, Italy, it is understood, is ready to submit the question of the league's incompetency to the international court at The Hague.

This court, however, if called upon, must give a decision from an abstract standpoint without reference to the present Greco-Italian conflict.

Premier Mussolini, it is understood, is ready to withdraw the Italian delegates from the Geneva conference if his viewpoint concerning the conflict with Greece is not shared by the league of nations.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Italy is holding Corfu, which commands the Adriatic, as a pledge for Greece to comply with her ultimatum. Greece, having appealed to the league of nations, is also waiting and Italy thus far has ignored the protest of the council of ambassadors against her action in seizing Corfu.

The Greek legation here made public the text of the Greek reply to the ambassadors' council, proposing the appointment by the council of a commission consisting of three members for an inquiry into all the circumstances of the Jannina crime and declaring readiness, if Greece is found in any way responsible, to grant all reparations decided upon by such a commission. The reply requests the intervention of the council with Italy.

Italy Stubborn
The prospects of an early settlement are not improved. The Italian government takes the stand that it did not sign the treaty of 1913 which commanded the neutrality of Corfu and is therefore not bound by the treaty. Further, Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian representatives at Geneva to abstain from further discussion of the affair and the only hopeful aspect is that Italy seems disposed to have the court of international justice pronounce on the league's competency to deal with such an international dispute.

England Stands Alike
The British government still is firmly supporting the view that the dispute is eminently one for the league of nations and regards the whole question as subjective, pending the league's decision. In the event of the league council's abstaining from intervention, it is stated that the Scandinavian delegates are resolved to

Johnson Renews Attack on Idea of World Court

California Senator Calls It "Hamstring" Tribunal; Raps League of Nations

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Characterizing the world court as a "hamstring" tribunal without jurisdiction, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson delivered an address here tonight under the auspices of the San Francisco Labor Council, in which he told an admiring receptive audience of the futility of any effort on the part of the United States to end armed conflicts in Europe through the court of the league of nations.

Europe, he said, was not interested in advice from the United States, "but wants aid in either money or men."
"There is a certain class of Americans," he said, "who believe the Lord intended them as world advisers, and who are anxious to fulfill the duty."
"I wish them Godspeed; but a brief sojourn in Europe taught me that the people there, with the centuries behind them, and the civilization and culture of the nation, will be quite content to worry along in their own appointed way without the advice or counsel of the men's auxiliary of the weekly club of the cities of America."
"The attacking forces today upon progressive legislation extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific," the senator declared. "They are well organized and, of course, heavily financed. They have their string of newspapers stretching across the continent, in concert practicing every attack, and mendaciously denouncing every defender of progress."

UNITED STATES MOVES TOWARD AID OF JAPAN

Coolidge Makes Plea for Stricken People; Red Cross Starts Big Fund Drive to Relieve Victims of Temblor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The United States moved swiftly today to bring the full force of the government and the people to the aid of stricken Japan.

While government executive departments were directed to assist in the work, the public was urged in an appeal issued by President Coolidge to contribute funds through the American Red Cross for aiding the unfortunate and giving relief to the people of Japan.

The Red Cross at once announced that it had started the fund with a contribution of $100,000 for the relief of victims of the earthquake and in addition had appropriated from its reserve funds $10,000 for the assistance of Americans caught in the disaster zone.

Arrangements were made at the same time for individual contributions to be received either through the national headquarters or through any Red Cross chapters. The funds will be sent through the state department to the Japanese Red Cross, an official organization.

Use Every Means

Efforts, it was emphasized, will be directed toward assisting the stricken nation on the farther shores of the Pacific by every available means, not merely because of the long friendship which has existed unbroken through the years between the two countries, but because of the broad humanitarian considerations involved in the great catastrophe. Nor is it forgotten, by the United States, in thus being the first country to tender its assistance that similar services were given quickly by Japan through its Red Cross to San Francisco after the devastating earthquake and fire of 1906.

The desire of the Washington government to be of any service possible was made known personally to Ambassador Hanbura of Japan during the day when he visited both the state department and the White House for conferences with Acting Secretary

STREETS FILLED WITH BODIES; CITIES IN RUINS

Ghastly Sight Presented in Death-Ridden Area; Refugees, Massed in Throngs, Forced to Rioting for Food; Martial Law Prevails at Osaka; Million Persons Are Homeless

OSAKA, Sept. 4 (AP)—Almost the whole of Tokio and Yokohama have been destroyed by earthquake, followed by fire, and the loss of life now is estimated at from 120,000 to 200,000, or more.

TERROR RULES IN JAP CITIES

Tokio and Yokohama in Total Disorder; Masses of Humanity Seek Shelter

OSAKA, Sept. 4 (AP)—Disorder reigns throughout Tokio and Yokohama.

The streets, where not covered with the debris of fire and earthquake, are crowded with refugees. There is no shelter to be had, and if there were, many of them would continue to sleep in the streets, as fear of further earthquakes is widely expressed. Thousands of other refugees have gathered in Tokio's four great parks—Ueno, Hibiya, Shiba and Aoyama, and others in open spaces near the city.

Military Forces Ready

Military and naval forces have been gathered at the imperial villa at Nikko for use in controlling the situation, and other forces are on duty in Tokio.

The air is filled with wilder rumors, including one that the new premier, Count Yamamoto, was assassinated within a few hours after formation of his cabinet.

There is no confirmation of this, however.

The reason for the rapid spread of the fire which took such an awful toll in Tokio came to light today when it was learned that the pipes conveying gas for lighting and heating purposes throughout the city were broken by the earthquake, which twisted and shook the gas pipes and broken the water mains and there was nothing wherewith to check the flames' advance.

The fire, controlled more than 24 hours after it started, eventually was checked through the use of explosives, soldiers blowing up hundreds of the lightly constructed Japanese houses with bombs to form a barrier space in the path of the flames.

The recovery of railway traffic will require at least a month, it is believed.

Naval Base Lost
The Yokosuka naval base was destroyed, in part by the earthquake, in part by the tidal wave which followed. There was heavy damage to shipping anchored there and it is rumored that some of the war vessels' magazines exploded, wrecking them, but this is not confirmed.

The lighthouses all along this part of the coast, the entrance to Tokio bay, were thrown down and slight travel in the bay therefore is hazardous in the extreme. Whether the

Two hundred thousand houses have been burned down in the two cities.

Water mains have been broken and food supplies destroyed by the fire so that the people are near starvation and suffering much from thirst.

It is reported, but not confirmed, that the section of Tokio where most of its foreign population reside is not greatly damaged.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)

Many reports received from Japan throughout the day either confirmed or increased previous estimates of the havoc wrought in death and destruction by a series of earthquakes which has befallen the central eastern section of Hono, the largest of the islands of the Japanese empire. Beginning at noon Saturday with a series of earthquakes which rased most of the city of Tokio and larger sections of Yokohama and other cities in the vicinity the disaster was continued by fires, which broke out in scores of places. Tidal waves followed.

Former estimates from various sources had placed the casualties as high as 150,000 dead in Tokio alone. One of these came from the Japanese minister of marine by way of Osaka.

Other reports told of severe casualties both on land and sea.

Missaged Wildnesses
A composite of reports depicts Tokio and Yokohama as shattered wildernesses of mortar, bricks and stone, where once stood some of the stately structures in the empire. Dead and dying are on every hand. The survivors who can

Spirit of '61 is Brought to Front as Veterans Meet

Attacks of Time Fail to Dampen Spirits of Civil War Heroes; to March in Review

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 3 (AP)—Fighting back the attacks of time, the ranks of the veterans who have lived through the years of '61 to '65 refuse to admit they are unable to carry on as in the days when the United States regular army uniform was their only dress.

Garbed in the blue of fighting days, their dimming eyes brightening, as from time to time a comrade grasps them by the hand.

The downtown section of the city was full of blue coats and their wives today many of them finding the short walks about a severe test to their strength.

The only two remaining fully equipped companies of the Union army of 1861 to 1865, are here today from Ohio, 85 strong. Captain M. Hall, 80 years old, in command of 35 men of company A, from Columbus, Ohio, and Captain M. Bouché, 78 years old, in command of company B, of the Old Guard. Only 18 of the original complement of company B responded to roll call when they entrained at Newark, Ohio.

The average age of the two companies is 75 years.

Trembling arms lowered the old Springfield rifles from their shoulders, but as they were perfectly formed, each hand held and each pair of dimming eyes peering straight ahead.

The "sixty-three" will march fully equipped, in the grand review Wednesday.

IDAHO TO GAIN AS RESULT OF ROAD PROJECTS

Official Conferences of State and Park Officials Leads to Encouragement of Extension Plans

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Sept. 3.—Developments in road construction, game protection and other matters of importance to the state of Idaho and Yellowstone national park, are encouraged as the result of an exchange of views between state and park officials during the past week.

Opportunity for such conferences was afforded by a visit to the park made by Honorable C. C. Moore, governor of Idaho, and other high state officials. Governor Moore personally planned this visit and conference, which he has had in mind since the semi-centennial celebration at Madison Junction last year. He was the foremost speaker at that ceremony. The state officials were met in the park by Superintendent Horace M. Albright and members of his staff, and relations of the most cordial character were established. The understanding between state and park officials will go far toward facilitating projects now pending which are of mutual concern to the state and park authorities.

Tourist Travel Discussed

Extensive conferences at the park headquarters at Mammoth Hot Springs considered general details of cooperation. The discussions were very friendly and were conducted on a high plane of public spirit. Superintendent Albright described to his visitors the great economic importance of the park and the advantage to be derived by Idaho from extension of the tourist trail. The Idaho visitors were greatly interested in the proposed road up the Bechler river. They expressed themselves as pleased with Yellowstone's facilities and indicated a deep interest in the park and its preservation.

Superintendent Albright informed the state officials that the work for the new road building in the next proposed park budget will be an appropriation of $180,000 to cover the Bechler river road. This road, to connect Cave Falls with Lone Star geyser, will be 31.3 miles in length. It will cross the continental divide at an elevation of 8349 feet. The main grade will be 10 to 12 per cent, except a single stretch of 3700 feet in the Firehole canyon at eight per cent.

Route Shortened

The Bechler river road will bring Ashton 45 miles nearer to Old Faithful than at the present time. The state road approaching the park entrance already has been improved by state and private expenditures. The Bechler river route, when completed, undoubtedly will become a favorite route into the Yellowstone park, since travel from Utah and California, as well as Idaho, would naturally tend in this direction. The road will afford access to splendid scenery, including some of the most beautiful waterfalls in the park. In fact this section of the park is known as the Cascade corner.

The Idaho officials also were interested in the public restoration of the old Marysville road, connecting Ashton with the Snake river entrance to Yellowstone park via Falls River. This route has not been used since 1893 when travel was stopped by Park Superintendent Anderson because of poaching by teamsters. Superintendent Albright is not averse to the reopening of this road, the matter being primarily one of financing.

Game Protection

Problems of game protection were discussed by R. E. Thomas, state game warden; Superintendent Albright and Chief Ranger Sam T. Wooding. An agreement was agreed upon whereby park rangers in proximity of Idaho will be appointed deputy state game wardens. They will cooperate with the state officers in protecting game within the park and simultaneously in enforcing the state game laws.

Mr. Thomas also inspected the fish hatchery at Lake Yellowstone and considered possibilities of further cooperation in fish planting. This subject will come up for further consideration at the conference of state fish and game wardens from all western states to be held in the park September 11 and 12.

Many Executives Attend

Besides Governor Moore the party which visited the park consisted of Hon. F. A. Jeter, secretary of state; Hon. A. H. Conner, attorney general; Hon. W. J. Hall, commissioner of public works (highway commissioner); R. E. Thomas, state game warden; State Senator Lloyd W. Adams, owner of the Bechler Standard, Bannock, Idaho; ex-State Senator H. G. Fuller, Ashton, Idaho; R. D. Merrill of Ashton, Idaho; B. H. Read, proprietor of the Daily Post, Idaho Falls, Idaho; Allen Milton of Lewiston, Idaho; Nathan Levine and son, Edward Levine, of Rexburg, Idaho; and Mr. Scott, agent of the Union Pacific at West Yellowstone, and a resident of Idaho Falls.

Character Everything.
The whole intercourse of society, its trade, its religion, its friendship, its quarrels, is one wide judicial investigation of character.—Emerson.

SHOWS PROGRESS MADE BY FEATS OF SCIENCE

Dr. Steinmetz Traces Decay of Old Civilization and Dawning of Era of Mechanical Improvements

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Sept. 3.—"Whether the country is going to the dogs or not depends upon two things—your age and your digestion." According to Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical wizard and authority extraordinary on social developments.

Speaking before the leading business men of the country at the Babson Institute, Dr. Steinmetz discussed the future of American civilization.

"The old civilization of Greece and Rome," he says, "were founded upon a system of slavery. The citizens of Athens enjoyed their leisure, produced works of art, attended the theater, and pondered on philosophical problems, only at the expense of a much larger class of slaves who labored long hours that the Athenians might live in luxury. The Roman citizen in his time enjoyed the freedom of the world, but Rome prospered at the expense of a hundred subject states and because of the labor of a hundred million slaves. In both of these older civilizations a very small proportion of the people enjoyed their advantages at the expense of a large majority.

Fall of Rome.

"The little rich degenerated, as the idle rich will, and the great mass of the common people finally reacted to the impossibility put upon them as the mass of slaves who always does exactly what that Rome was sacked by the vandals, but only because the great mass of the common people who made up the real Roman empire were quite willing that it should be sacked. The vandals meant nothing to them but years of toil under a harsher and more exacting rule. The culture of Rome spelled nothing to them but oppression and extortion. The vandals were welcome.

"Today we have made slaves of steam and electricity. Tanks that used to spoil works of drudgery and the hard sort kind of work for human hands are now done in a few moments by the electric motor. Goods and merchandise once transported slowly at the expenditure of great effort are now carried swiftly and easily by the steam locomotive. Our present civilization is enjoyed and shared by every member of society. There is no great slave class to rise in revolt against it.

Communication Futility.

"The other weakness of the old civilization," continued Dr. Steinmetz, "was the difficulty of communication. As long as these old city states remained within their own walls they got along very well, but the moment they extended their borders beyond these walls decay began to set in. The Roman empire, for instance, was necessarily ruled from Rome, but since there was no easy method of communication between Rome and its subject countries scattered all over central Europe and Africa, the governing was done entirely by the people living at the capital. The situation was very much as the United States of America today, who governs entirely by the citizens of Washington, D. C., or of any other one city. In such a case there is no guarantee that this relatively small group of people represents the best brains and highest minds in the country at large. In fact, exactly the opposite was the case in Rome. The citizens of that city became degenerate, luxury loving and sinful. The government fell into the hands of the greedy, selfish and short sighted, who were called upon to shape the destiny of a great empire. The inevitable downfall of Rome resulted.

Science to Rescue.

"Our modern newspapers, our telegraph systems, our telephones and our wireless, which make it possible for all the people of the United States, all the people of the world for that matter, to keep in touch with what is going on in any part of it, furnish ample insurance against a reversion to non-representative government. They make it possible for all people to be posted on public questions and to take an active part in the affairs of the government even though they may be many thousand miles away from our capital city.

HAZELTON—D. A. Finkelnburg left Saturday for Thompson Falls, Mont., where he will spend a few weeks with relatives. He will bring Mrs. Finkelnburg home with him.

Dr. Berry and family returned home Tuesday from Big Snofly, where they have been on a brief outing.

Mrs. Ed Spears was a guest at the John Wendell home Sunday.

Miss Constance White, who has been assisting in the Louganburger & Belmont store, returned to her home in Twin Falls Sunday.

TO PARENTS AND COLLEGE STUDENTS

The young people of Twin Falls planning to go away to school should not overlook the Idaho Technical Institute at Pocatello. It has gone up so rapidly that many people do not realize its splendid status at present. By enlarging the faculty and by raising the standards of equipment and instruction, the school has in four years achieved a new epoch and its credentials are now as valuable as those from any institution of the same class and are so recognized throughout the United States. High school graduates by attending the Tech Junior College are upper classmen from the start, drawing the best teachers and Leads of departments and reducing materially their expenses throughout their entire course. They enter the University of Idaho, or any other standard university, as full fledged juniors and are thus upper classmen throughout their entire course. Think it over—state school, no tuition, instructors equal to the best, splendid school spirit, wide choice of courses. An inspection visit to the campus now might pay big dividends. Learn about our regular college courses; also, Commerce, Pharmacy, Agricultural, Engineering, Home Economics, Normal Music, Art and Trades. Registration, September 17-18. Study in Idaho.—adv.

IDAHO SPECIAL ON LONG TRIP

Nearly 700 Miles to Be Covered by Train Carrying Students to Moscow

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 3.—Six hundred and nine miles, the greatest distance covered by any university or college special train, will be made the annual southern Idaho Moscow student special, which will start its long trip at Pocatello Saturday morning, September 16, at 11:30, and arrive in Moscow the next afternoon at 12:30, carrying 300 students aboard. Registration will begin the following day.

Plans for the train are now completed, and railroad officials say that the present time schedule will be used. Connections will be made at Minidoka with train 156, carrying a through sleeper from Buhl, for the students of the Twin Falls section, and at Nampa a special stub from Boise, on the following schedule:

Students from Idaho Falls and other leave Boise 5:15 p. m.; leave Meridian 6:40 p. m.; arrive at Nampa 8 p. m.; leave Boise 9:30 a. m.; arrive at Pocatello 12:30 p. m.; leave Pocatello 1:30 p. m.; arrive at Moscow 12:30 p. m. Leave in Daytime.

The schedule is so arranged that all students will board the train in the daytime and will arrive at Moscow in the daytime.

Students desiring sleeper accommodations may make reservations, it is announced, by having their local railroad ticket agent wire the ticket agent of the Oregon Short Line at either Pocatello or Boise.

Preparations are being made to accommodate 300 persons on the train, with baggage cars, coaches, diners and standard sleepers. While no present announcement is made of the number of cars that will compose the train, provision for 300 persons, it is assumed, will require a train fully equal to that of last fall, which consisted of 10 cars pulled into Moscow by two engines.

Students are advised to see to it that their baggage is placed on the special train. They will insure their having it with them when they arrive in Moscow. Otherwise, if it is handed on regular trains there is a chance of delay in its arrival, with resultant inconvenience.

CREDITORS TAKE ACTION

Affairs of Governor of Indiana to Be Investigated with View to Devising Means of Handling

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3 (AP)—The financial troubles of Warren T. McCray, governor of Indiana, will remain in abeyance for one week as the result of action taken at a meeting of his creditors here today.

Following the presentation by the governor personally of a proposal to turn all his hopes of every nature over to a creditors' committee of five men and a banking institution as a trustee, the creditors voted to appoint a committee to consider the executive's plan. This committee is to report to a full meeting of the creditors to be held here next Friday.

GOVERNMENT IN SADDLE

DUBLIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—Thirty-three government candidates and 37 republicans were elected to the dail in Monday's elections, according to official returns given out at 11:30 o'clock tonight. It is now expected that the government will win 60 seats, while the republicans may get 42 when the final results are known.

LYNCHING IS CONDEMNED

Author of Dyer Bill Declares that Over Four Thousand Cases Have Taken Place in Last 35 Years

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 3 (AP)—Declaring lynching to be a national disgrace, Representative L. C. Dyer of Missouri, author of the Dyer anti-lynching bill, asserted in an address here before the race relations conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that the fight for passage of the bill will be continued in the next congress.

"We are in a better position now for co-operation of all law-abiding people to accomplish our purpose than we have been before," Representative Dyer asserted. In the last 35 years, Mr. Dyer said, there have been more than 4,000 known cases of lynching.

There's the other who really has learned the shopping art. She reads the advertisements before she starts out. She finds out exactly what she wants and where to get it. LOCAL PLAYERS WIN FIRST TWO SERIES GAMES

Pocatello Colored Giants Come Back and Score Victory in Final Encounter; Fair Crowds on Hand.

Twin Falls dropped home with the big end of the three-game series played here Sunday and Monday with the Pocatello Colored Giants, taking the first two games easily. The Giants rallied Monday afternoon and in the best game of the series gathered the long end of a 9-2 score.

All of the games were more or less ragged and the colored gentry were listless fielders when on the short end of the score. The first game was featured by the heavy slugging of the Giants, but they were unable to make their hits count. The local aggressors gathered nine safe hits and made them count for ten runs, while the Giants were only able to count four times on 14 safe ones.

The game Monday morning only went seven innings, the Giants becoming somewhat discouraged, and it was about time for mess call anyway, so they called it off at the end of the seventh. Two or three of the colored boys received minor injuries and their line-up was shifted every inning. They were unable to find Jarman's offerings except in one or two innings. The locals, playing top-notch ball, gathered 18 safeties and made them count for 11 runs.

Last Game Best

The game Monday afternoon from the spectator's standpoint was the best of the series. Both teams displayed more pep than in the former games. King for the Giants, who was forced to retire from the morning game because of an injured ankle, came back strong in the afternoon and pitched all night long, keeping his hits well scattered. The locals only succeeded in gathering two runs during the session. The heavy slugger on the Giant line-up got to Fix's offerings early in the game and, coupled with errors, piled up six runs. The colored boys, in high spirits occasioned by their lead, displayed a good brand of ball and the locals were unable to find King, who struck out 13 of the local players.

The attendance at all the games was fairly good, especially at the afternoon games.

Two Boys Burned to Death Playing Indians

While crossing a field near Spring Lake, N. J., Richard Foreman, 17, Caleb Hubbard, 18; Willie Hubbard, 14, Caleb's brother, and Charles Spindler, 11, began playing "Indians." Richard Foreman and Caleb Hubbard tied the other boys to trees and set fire to a little accelerator around them, not realizing that the ground was oil soaked from a neighboring gas well. Before they could put out the flames, the two boys were burned to death.

ONE WAY IN WHICH THE WEIR FURNACE DOES SAVE COAL

The perfect combustion principle used by the makers of the WEIR furnace for thirty-five years has been imitated but not equaled.

It consists of a combustion whereby air enters the front, travels twice around behind the linings, to be heated, after which it is thrown over the fire, hot, thus igniting the burnable gases which ordinarily escape up the chimney unconsumed. Cold air admitted over a confined fire is detrimental to combustion, as will be noted when you open a door of a heating stove to cool it; but heated air, admitted in exacting proportions, will stimulate the fire, thus giving more heat which is obtained from the burned gases.

A mica window in the feed door permits you to see the jets of flame coming from the holes in the firepot—which proves this principle a fact and not a mere claim. These jets are merely heated oxygen, ignited, which costs nothing, but which produces more heat for your service.

The feed door, 14 x 17, the first feature usually investigated by a furnace buyer, is big enough to permit the use of large chunks of coal and will be greatly appreciated.

DAVIS CUP IS TO REMAIN IN THIS COUNTRY

Emblem of International Tennis Supremacy Clinched for U. S. by William Johnston in Final Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—The Davis cup, historic emblem of international tennis supremacy, is safe in Uncle Sam's hands for another year.

Displaying a marked reversal of the form he showed in coming down to defeat before James O. Anderson last Friday, William M. Johnston clinched the trophy for the United States when he smothered John B. Hawkes in the opening match, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

The crushing character of America's closing victory came as a distinct anticlimax to the thrilling spectacular play in the first two days of the challenge round.

An overwhelming disaster has overtaken the people of the friendly nation of Japan. While its extent has not as yet been officially reported, enough is known to justify the statement that the cities of Tokyo and Yokohama and surrounding towns and villages have been largely if not completely destroyed by earthquakes, fire and flood with the resultant appalling loss of life, destruction and distress, requiring measures of urgent relief.

The Japanese ambassador in turn expressed through a public statement his appreciation for the sympathy that has risen in America for his country in its hour of trouble.

Appreciate Sympathy

The Japanese ambassador, the statement said, "desires to express his deep appreciation of the great tide of sympathy that has risen throughout America in response to the announcement of the terrible catastrophe that has befallen Japan."

Up to the present time the embassy has been unable to establish communication with Japan. Every line is silent. The ambassador is oppressed by anxiety not only for his countrymen but also for the many Americans and other foreigners in Japan.

In this state of uncertainty and ignorance he can only express to the president and the people of America, on behalf of his imperial majesty and of the whole Japanese nation, the most heartfelt thanks for their sympathy and their generous offers of assistance. These make it easier to bear

STRICKEN CITY
TYPICAL OF JAP
MUNICIPALITIES

Tokio, One of World's Oldest Cities, Had Dense Population; Flimsy Buildings Quickly Eaten by Fire

BAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Tokio, capital of Japan, with a densely populated area of 40 square miles, is one of the world's largest cities. Conditions in it approximate more nearly both the crowded conditions of occidental cities and their architectural development than any of Japan's cities.

Until the restoration the city was called "Yedo" and it became the capital of Japan only in comparatively recent years, the old capital being Kyoto, 200 miles distant. It is perhaps the city of Japan best known to visitors from the occidental countries, is one of the principal railway centers of the empire and around it are numerous suburbs and pleasure gardens. The celebrations of the picture-japan chrysanthemum shows for which Japan is noted are unusually brilliant in Tokio.

Great numbers of temples, imperial palace buildings, imposing business structures after the modern model, and new railway buildings and industrial plants along most modern lines, are located in the city.

On a hill west of the city is the castle of Tokio, scene of the ancient Shogun's palace and several public offices of the old Japan. About it the old Daimeis' plantations originally stood, but this area some years ago was given over virtually entire to public offices, barracks, government schools and similar structures, all of stone or brick.

Tokio is well situated on undulating ground on the shore of the bay of Tokio, and is divided into two parts by the River Sumida, emptying into the bay. It is divided into wards and its suburbs into six divisions. The different industries and occupations are, to a degree, segregated to particular districts. The principal thoroughfare is the "Ginza," a wide brick-paved street with trees on either side.

The density of buildings and the light wood and paper construction of most of the dwelling houses, have made Tokio subject to a number of disastrous fires. Each of these has been seized upon as an opportunity of widening the streets and making other improvements.

Of districts in which the flames are reported making headway, Kanda, a ward of the city proper, and that of the imperial palace, which is in the approximate center of the city. Hongu is in the extreme northern part of the city in the hilly section; Asakusa and Shitaya are contiguous to the first two; Fukugawa is southward of Hongu on ground reclaimed from marshes and is much cut up with canals; and Shingawa is a suburban town of 21,000, between Yokohama and Tokio.

UNITED STATES

actual conditions in the stricken areas. These steps were reported to the department by Admiral Anderson in a brief dispatch which said his advice was that Tokio and Yokohama had been devastated by earthquake, typhoon, fire and tidal wave.

War department officers meantime undertook a survey of the facilities at their command which might be used in the emergency.

The army also has a supply of materials at Tientsin, China, for use of the American military forces there, and they will be available although they include only food and clothing ordinarily kept in reserve for one brigade.

Plans also under consideration would provide for the use of many other government vessels, including some of the shipping board, for carrying supplies and perhaps for use as receiving in the Pacific for relaying wireless messages to the United States as to ships for refueling.

Although more than two days have elapsed since the earthquake, nothing has been heard of American officials or private citizens who were in the affected zone. Communication, it is explained, has been impossible since the message of President Coolidge dispatched to the Japanese government Saturday night being returned today. This message it is hoped to forward soon, however, by wireless to the Asiatic fleet.

As a result of the uncertainty as to the fate of the Americans, the state department has directed Nelson Johnson, American consul general at large, who is in northern China, to proceed at once to Yokohama and report on the safety of American citizens and members of the embassy staff at Tokio and of the consulates at Yokohama and Nagaya. Consul Ballantine at Daipei also has been ordered to Japan to aid in the work and both will be kept advised of conditions and send the names of Americans who suffered in the catastrophe.

CASUALTY LIST

groped their way about through the fire and smoke and rubbish are leaving the city for places of safety. Those who still live are threatened with starvation and many are trying to catch fish from ponds and lakes to tide them over until food arrives.

It is estimated that at least 100,000 tons of rice alone is needed to meet the emergency created by the disaster. The imperial palaces, which were badly damaged by quakes and fire has been thrown open to the needy and injured survivors.

What happened at Yokohama can be hardly more than surmised. But every report of the disaster confirms the worst of fears. While it seems certain most of the foreign residential section escaped, it is estimated 1400 buildings in the city were destroyed. The number of dead is countless. An officer of the steamer London Maru reported that bodies were scattered everywhere and on the water where many sought refuge in ships after the earthquake.

Covered Big Area

How extensively the quake was cannot be accurately stated. It is known it extended as far south as the Izu peninsula, on the eastern seaboard, about 100 miles from Tokio. A message by cable from Kobe to the Associated Press tonight said there was a bad quake in Toyama, a city of more than 60,000 population, near the northwest coast of Japan, nearly 200 miles west of Tokio and in Kobe, fully 300 miles southwest of Tokio. The vibrations seem to have permeated the island transversely.

In addition to the hundreds of large public and private buildings destroyed which include a large number of Japanese government buildings, Japanese and foreign naval hospitals, arsenals, printing plants and newspaper offices, it was learned tonight through Osaka that the Italian and French embassies in Tokio were destroyed. Nothing has been learned of the fate of the American embassy and its staff.

Eight of Tokio's fifteen wards are known to be almost entirely wiped out, while the remainder are largely in ruins or burnt over, the total number of buildings destroyed being placed at 200,000 for the city and suburbs.

In Yokohama bay and at Yokohama, a city of 70,000 on the upper reaches of the bay, the destruction is nearly as great. Reports came today of new quakes centering in Yokohama yesterday afternoon, doing great damage, especially to ships. It is known that Saturday quakes and subsequent tidal waves did great damage to naval vessels. The extent of the damage is not determined.

The quake yesterday, today's report said, destroyed the telephone exchange at Chojamachi, killing 10 operators. At 7 o'clock last night new quakes shook Kawaguchi, destroying 500 houses and damaging 1500 more.

Big Cities Destroyed

Other places where destruction was complete or nearly so, as a result of Saturday's quakes, are: Nagoya, with a population of 550,000, virtually destroyed; Sunko, 600,000, with the railroad tunnel collapsed; Ito, 500 houses washed away; Iwakone, famous mountain resort, frequented by foreigners, "easier to count the living than the dead"; Enoshima, "picture island," submerged, "a sea of mud"; Oshima, volcano, emitting smoke; Odawara, swept by a tidal wave. Other volcanoes in the islands nearby are reported active.

The rich and the titled suffered along with the poor and the obscure. When the first shock came a session of Japanese party leaders and statement was being held in the Naval club for the purpose of selecting of a new cabinet to take the place of that of the late premier, Kato, which resigned when the building collapsed, the leaders who survived adjourned to another building and completed the cabinet which was announced in the Associated Press reports.

A report from Osaka this afternoon said that Viscount Takahashi, former premier, and 20 other leading members of the seiyukai, or government, were holding a conference and it is surmised it was the conference to select the cabinet. The courage displayed by the statesmen is taken by many as an example of the stoicism of the Japanese people at large, who, because of constant frequent earthquakes and other disasters, have come to regard such things as "fate," and say "it can't be helped." The report of the cabinet meeting was given to the Associated Press by the Radio corporation.

Official Relief

While the emperor and empress are reported safe at Nikko, a resort, Prince Yamashina and Princess Knyo of the higher nobility, are reported dead. Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former premier and keeper of the privy seal, has died from injuries, according to a report of the Nagoya railway bureau by way of Nagasaki.

A large colony of foreign missionaries at Karuzawa have escaped, it was learned.

While survivors are utilizing in emergency rescue and relief work under the discipline of martial law promulgated by Premier Yamamoto, the world outside of Japan begins today to rush to the scene of the disaster with every available facility of assistance.

U. S. and English Aid

The United States and British navies have rushed ships from Chinese and Philippine waters to Yokohama to aid in the rescue as far as possible.

The ships, it was reported, are believed to be stationed at vantage points to relay wireless messages connected with the rescue work. Red Cross units in the Philippines and China have been ordered to Tokio.

A cablegram from Kobe received tonight by the Associated-Press said the American consul there had commanded the United States shipping board's steamer West Orwen, filled it with food and started it for the devastated region. A message received here at 4 o'clock this afternoon by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha said its ship, the Korea Maru, is safe in Yokohama bay and has 2500 refugees aboard. The message was received from the company's agent in Kobe. It also said that communications have been reestablished between Kobe and Nagasaki, 55 miles west of Tokio.

Another report today said railroads, badly torn up in every direction from Tokio, are being rebuilt between Tokio and Yokohama, and that connections will soon be complete between the harbor city and the capital.

FORMER PREMIER

REPORTED KILLED
NAGASAKI, Japan, Sept. 4 (AP)—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former premier and lord keeper of the privy seal, has died from injuries sustained in the earthquake, according to a report received by the Nagoya railway bureau.

U. S. SENDS RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The war department, under cable instructions to Manila today for the army transports Meigs and Merrit to proceed to Yokohama with food and medical supplies, today said railroads, badly torn up in every direction from Tokio, are being rebuilt between Tokio and Yokohama, and that connections will soon be complete between the harbor city and the capital.

It was estimated here that, once loaded with supplies, it would take the city will require at least two weeks, probably more.

Whole Town Destroyed
The town of Kawaguchi, a town near Tokio, is reported to have been destroyed, 6,000 houses having been leveled by the temblor and subsequent fire.

Among the losses at Yokohama were 50,000 piculs of raw silk which burned.

THOUSANDS KILLED

AS BRIDGE FALLS
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—The famous Byogoku bridge, spanning the Sumida river in Tokio, collapsed at a time when thousands of refugees fleeing to the mountains were upon it, with resultant loss of life described as "innumerable."

Keiji university at Tokio, the higher technical school, the Kurama women's higher normal school and the first high school have been burned.

Yotaka, a ward of Tokio east of the imperial palace, was burning at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, no further advice thence having reached the radio station.

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Italian and French embassies in Tokio were destroyed by the earthquake. This information is given in a late wireless message from that city.

REPORT 1,000,000 HOMELESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—A cablegram from Sherehito Yada, Japanese consul general at Shang Hai, to Uchiyama, Japanese consul here, was made public today by Mr. Oyama. "About 1,000,000 are homeless and approximately 1,000,000 are injured," the message said. "In the district of Yokohama and Hakone great damage and loss of life is reported."

"The homeless are being cared for by the Japanese relief office for sufferers."

Mr. Yada's cablegram was dated September 2, and was sent from Osaka.

lighthouses were wrecked by the temblor or the tidal wave is unknown.

In Tokio, when the earthquake occurred, 20 leaders of the Seiyukai, or government party, were reported to have been crushed to death when the building in which they were in conference collapsed.

Prominent among the Seiyukai leaders said to have lost their lives was Viscount Takahashi, former premier of Japan.

At the same time Japan's new premier, Yamamoto, was forming a cabinet at the navy club. It is stated he was injured in the shoulder by flying debris.

Princesses Kaya and Yamashina are reported to have been killed in their villa at Kamakura.

While no accurate estimate can yet be formed, it is believed the damage to property in Tokio alone will be more than 5,000,000,000 yen. It is thought the reconstruction work in the city will require at least two years, probably more.

Whole Town Destroyed
The town of Kawaguchi, a town near Tokio, is reported to have been destroyed, 6,000 houses having been leveled by the temblor and subsequent fire.

Among the losses at Yokohama were 50,000 piculs of raw silk which burned.

In Tokio 3,500,000 bushels of rice burned in the Fukugawa warehouses.

Palace Believed Safe

No serious damage was done to the imperial palace by the fire. The prince regent is expected to return to the Akasaka palace when the flames broke out.

Loss of life among foreign residents of the two stricken cities and among tourists is expected to be less than it might have been had the earthquake come at a different season. Most of them had gone to summer resorts, such as Nikko and Karuzawa. No great damage has been reported from Karuzawa; reports from Nikko are yet indefinite. Many foreigners also hastened away to safe places when alarmed by the primary shocks of the temblor.

Nothing is known here of the fate of the embassies and legations at Tokio, though it is rumored that the British, American and French embassies have been destroyed. "Nor is anything definitely known as to the numerous consulates at Yokohama, but it is supposed all were destroyed by the tidal waves and fire which followed the earthquake."

A terrible tragedy was enacted in and around the Ueno railway station in Tokio Saturday afternoon. Thousands of refugees, unable to find shelter inside the great station building, were massed in Ueno park, while inside it is estimated 8,000 were gathered. An outbreak of fire from a break in a gas main near by threw the entire mass into a panic, which became worse when the fire attacked the station buildings themselves.

No estimate of the casualties which ensued has been made, but those viewing the place said there were "at least a hundred" bodies piled together in the great station building, men, women and children mingled indiscriminately as they fell and were trampled in the mad rush to escape from the fire.

The worst suffering reported from the entire devastated region is at Yokohama. Lawlessness and disorder are prevailing there, the local authorities being insufficient to handle the situation. It is said the city was burned to ashes by Monday morning and great heaps of bodies filled the streets. The casualties are estimated at 100,000.

An emergency relief bureau has been established in Tokio and an army of citizens who escaped the disaster are supplying the provisions and water to the victims. The troops also are doing their best to alleviate the suffering.

It is stated that the naval ministry has officially announced that casualties in and around Tokio will approximate 100,000. The imperial gardens and every other place that escaped the devastating shocks and flames have been thrown open to refugees.

Many of the casualties in Tokio were caused by the explosion of the municipal gas tanks. The big pond in Asakusa park is said to be filled with the bodies of women and children who fled to the water in the land fast hope of escaping destruction.

NAHUM SAID IT

The ancient prophets were wise. We have ceased to scoff hence reading the fourth verse of the second chapter of Nahum:

"The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall posture one against another in the broad way; they shall seem like torches, they shall run like lightnings."

The seer, had he looked but a little more into the future had observed the well known "united" model, might have added: "and rattle like the dikeens."

But sow comes "Strimmetz," the great electrical prophet of our day, who says that most of our city chariots of the future will be propelled by electricity. Thoren endeth Nahum's lesson—and the day of lightning and thunderings and suffocations of raging torches.

MOBE 'CAPTIOUS INVESTORS'

Fakers apparently still find plenty of dupes to fall for their fictitious money-making schemes, but it seems possible that they are not reaping so rich a harvest as they used to in proportion to the number of their possible victims.

World's Work, which conducts a department for investment questions and answers, reports inquiries from such scattered sections as California, New Hampshire, Washington, Florida, Bermuda, Panama and Paris.

Would-be investors are learning to place safety before quick or large yield in their investments. They are also willing to admit that they do not know it all and seek the advice of reliable experts freely and earnestly.

PREDATORY COAL MEN

Public indignation against the hard coal industry has risen high lately, in the big area which depends on that kind of fuel. Operators and miners alike have been condemned for their indifference to the public welfare, and apparently with good reason.

The United States Coal Commission, in a public report, presents facts regarding the exactions of "the speculative jobber and wholesaler" which speak for themselves. The commission traced seven hundred fifty cars of last winter's coal from the mine to the consumer.

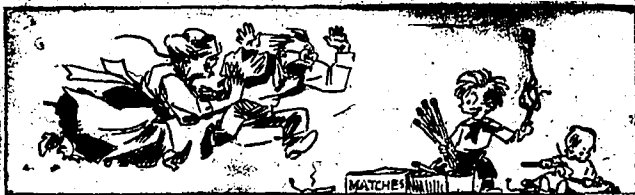

The result was to add several dollars a ton to the price paid by the consumer. Wholesalers got as much for merely handling the carload, in transit from the mines to the retailers' yards, as the miners got for digging it.

HEALTH IN THE SCHOOLS

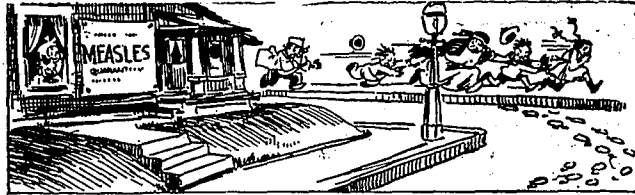

Health education in the schools used to mean about half an hour once a week devoted to very elementary physiology and hygiene. Today leading educators consider health education and health work equal in importance to the three R's and their companions in the curriculum.

If health and education are to be regarded as so inseparable, it is obvious that the school is under obligation to teach and produce health. This means the teaching of health habits to pupils, co-operation with local health

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season was held on Friday evening at the high school, when the Jerome alumni enjoyed dancing and a social gathering.

This was given by the class of '23. About 100 couples enjoyed this affair, many of the members leaving soon for their schools and homes after spending the summer in Jerome.

Did Robin Hood Exist? There is practically undeniable evidence that the Robin Hood of fanciful literature was anything but a creature of popular fancy.

Although most authorities believe that the Robin Hood legends were probably originally based on some grain of truth, Robin Hood is represented in legend and ballad as a noble, possibly titled outlaw who lived in the time of Richard I, of England.

With his followers, all of whom were expert archers, he rode about the country robbing the wealthy to give to the poor.

Though he killed the king's deer he was loyal to other respects. He is painted as a dashing and gallant knight, who offered protection to women and always championed the cause of the weak.

Gloves Long in Use. Gloves were worn by the Egyptian men as early as the Eighteenth dynasty, but there seems to be no evidence that women wore them at all.

A pair of 16-button length were found in the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen for his use in the future world.

FILER

FILER—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon for Mrs. George Diakelce, former Filer resident, who passed away at their home in Los Angeles. The body was brought here by the bereaved husband, who will remain here. Burial was made in the Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of Mrs. Fred Westhorp of this place.

Filer chapter No. 40, Order of the Eastern Star, took part in the funeral and burial services. Besides the husband she is survived by five sons and other relatives. The sons are Ward and Loren of Filer; Guy of Nampa; Earl of Caldwell, and Earnest of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox have returned from a short vacation spent at Boise.

Mrs. W. F. Roberts of Kelso, Washington, is here visiting her mother, Mrs. W. M. Macaw, and other relatives.

A wedding of unusual interest was that of Miss Bath Lapp and G. H. Shank, which took place at the Mount Zion church Sunday. Miss Grace DeWitt acted as bridesmaid, and four small girls, nieces of the bride, acted as flower girls.

The young people of the Methodist church entertained at the church Monday evening for Miss Irma Deal, who has gone to Moscow, where she will teach this year. After a musical program refreshments were served.

Miss Audrey Schneider of Sioux City, Iowa, arrived last week and will visit indefinitely with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Schroeder.

Calendar Curiosities

The calendar offers certain curiosities which are little known. No century can begin on a Wednesday, Friday or Saturday. The month of October begins always on the same day of the week as the month of January; February, March and November begin on the same day of the week. May, June and August begin on different days. These rules do not apply to leap years. The ordinary year always finishes on the same day of the week as it began.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it. They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

IS ROYAL BLOOM THE MARKETS

Iris Properly Described as the Flower of Chivalry.

Good Old Mother Nature Has Given Nothing More Lovely to the Underserving Earth.

There are some blossoms that spell enchantment, and the iris is one of them. It is a flower of mystery and wonder, of refinement, too, which is all as it should be. For is iris not the wife of the West Wind, and the mother of Eros? Whether the Spanish iris, or the beautiful broad-leaved "flag," there is something about the flower which suggests mystery.

With leafy swords of green, cuirasses and plumes of gold and bronze, blue and purple, sentinels of the garden, reminders of old France, there they stand. For this is the flower of Louis VII, according to at least one authority.

Louis VII of France, whose name was then written Loys, called the flower "Fleur de Loys," then it became Fleur de Louis, and finally Fleur de Lis. Old Tassel, in his list of blossoms, spells it Flower de Luc; so does Gerard, who advises its use as a domestic remedy. He says the root, stamped platterwise, doth take away the blindness and blackness of any stroke, I. e., a bruise. The powdered root was also used as a complexion beautifier.

The white iris, the iris of the Florentine aristocrat, is one of the loveliest blossoms in the iris family. It was a sacred flower of the Greeks. The French call it "la fleur blanche," a beautiful name indeed, and if you walk between the iris borders in any of the time, with the fine blue above you, you will understand its significance. It is "the white torch of the garden," in very truth.

How mistral loved the iris—the yellow iris most of all. But there is a subtle joy about the yellow iris which we thrill and understand the passion of the great Provencal. It should grow beside water, of course, and should never be crowded. Those shining breaks of golden-yellow among the tall sword-leaves are so royal for prodigality.

The water, last year, I saw a heron stand among my yellow irises, watching the water, soles, and so unusual was the sight I thought it was a dream. Though I watched early and late, I never saw him again. Perhaps this year when the yellow iris buds and blossoms he will pay me another visit. How I wish I could understand the iris, something mysterious. Examine the markings on its petals and you will understand. Even old-long-ago Spenser loved it, although he could not have known some of the lovely blossoms of today, for he says no flower "shall match with the fayre Flower Delice."

There is a delightful story told about one of the irises that have come to us from Japan. Once upon a time there was a mighty famine in that land, and all things that would not be used for food were forbidden to be grown, and no man might plant flowers for beauty only. But the Japanese ladies used the roots of the iris with the jagged cut to powder their pretty faces. The mighty ones of the land might banish the iris from the garden, but the Japanese ladies could not be banished to the roof, and there they lived and flourished.

This iris, by the way, of a beautiful violet color came to England in 1872.

"I am just as well satisfied when I come home and find my wife is serving a salad with lettuce sandwiches instead of having bothered about getting up a big meal," declared the man who had an appetite like a horse.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LIVELY SCRAP IN VOTING ON SCHOOL BOARD

Opposition to Reputed Candidates of Parent-Teachers Association Heightens Interest in Election of Trustees

Opposition developing late in the campaign to the candidacies of W. H. Weaver and E. J. Flury, hearing reputed endorsement of the Parent Teachers' association, promises a lively contest in the election today of trustees of Twin Falls independent school district, to succeed O. K. Keith and J. G. Bradley.

Only one candidate, Frank W. Brown, farmer, residing east of Twin Falls, and deputy county assessor, has been regularly nominated in addition to Messrs. Weaver and Flury, but the statement is made that Mr. Bradley, who has served a number of terms, will be re-elected for W. E. Foster, is willing to continue in as a member of the board if elected to it, and an effort, it is indicated, will be made to write in Mr. Bradley's name on a sufficient number of ballots to insure his election.

Afternoon for Voting. Polls will be opened for the election at 1 o'clock and close at 9 o'clock p. m.

Two polling places will be provided, one at the Bickel and another at the Lincoln school.

The Bickel school will be the polling place for electors residing in territory within the district lying east of Blue Lakes boulevard, southeast of Shoshone street and east of the highway leading south from the southeast end of Shoshone street.

The Lincoln school will be the polling place for electors of all the territory within the district lying west of Blue Lakes boulevard, northwest of Shoshone street and west of the highway leading south from the southwest end of Shoshone street.

Qualification of voters in school district elections as prescribed by Idaho statute are:

"That in all elections in all school districts for all purposes voters thereat must have the following qualifications:

"1. Electors within the meaning of article VI, section 2 of the constitution of the state of Idaho.

"2. Resident of the district at the time of the election.

"3. That in addition to the foregoing requirements said voters in every instance must possess one of the two following qualifications:

"A. Parents or guardians of a child or children when such child or children are under 21 years of age, and when such child or children and the parents or guardians thereof are resident of the district at the time of the election.

"B. A person who pays taxes within the district, and the husband or wife of such taxpayer, in case the taxpayer is married.

"A. A payer of poll tax is not a taxpayer within the meaning of this act."

Article VI, section 2, of the constitution provides:

"That qualified voters generally are every male or female citizen of the United States, 21 years old, who has actually resided in this state or territory six months and in the county where he or she offers to vote for 30 days next preceding the election."

The wedding of Nora E. Higgins to Charles L. Lewis was solemnized Sunday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. Lewis' mother, at 527 Third avenue west, the Rev. E. L. White officiating.

The couple were attended by Mrs. No. H. M. Lutzman and C. A. Bickford. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

The bride was attractively attired in a dark blue point-trill suit with hat to match. A delicious luncheon was served to 15 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis left immediately for Hailey on their wedding trip. They will reside in Twin Falls.

Miss Grace Bryant, who introduced the Dunning system of instruction in music in Twin Falls two years ago, expects to return in a few days from Cleveland, where she has pursued her studies in teaching this system during the summer. Miss Bryant's studio, 201 Tenth street, will be open after September 12, and she will be ready to receive both old and new students.—adv.

Red Cross Still Finds Work To Do

Activities in Behalf of Former Service Persons Make Up Sizeable Undertaking

A recent report of the home service section of Twin Falls County Red Cross chapter contains evidence that work in behalf of former service persons and their dependents is one of considerable magnitude. The report covers the six months' period ending July 1, this year.

It shows loans made during that period to former service persons and their dependents in the amount of $233, and receipts on account of loans aggregating $300.

The home service section, according to its report, in the six months time, received approximately 200 letters, and wrote approximately 200. It prepared 20 cases, prepared 20 affidavits, filled out 9 applications for state bonus, and furnished bonus application blanks to 13 additional veterans, filed 3 applications for discharge papers, made 4 applications for Victory medals and 1 application for 400 bonus on discharge, and procured an appointment of compensation for the wife of one man who had lost his family. One application for increased pension was filed for a Spanish-American war veteran.

Miscellaneous activities of the home service section during the half-year included:

Procuring addresses of comrades and officers for purpose of securing statehood.

Investigation of home conditions where men have been furloughed from hospitals.

Investigation and conference with the wife of a man in another state whose wife seeks divorce.

The foregoing does not include telephone calls on various matters; information and advice given to men called to the front in regard to procuring testimony to support claims; consultations with representatives of the veterans' bureau; calls to investigate reported cases of infirmity of veterans.

Loans by the home service section, the report says, were made to men in training for living expenses; persons traveling by auto in financial distress; and to a woman who had come to join her family in another state, and to former service men who claimed to be out of work and in need.

Labor Day Finds Twin Falls With Population Materially Depleted

Labor Day found Twin Falls with a materially depleted population. Hundreds of owners and drivers of gasoline propelled vehicles spent the holiday along fishing streams or under the trees at inviting camp grounds. Many took advantage of the double holiday and made lengthy trips to outing grounds, leaving Saturday afternoon and evening.

At the same time there were considerable crowds of spectators on hand at the baseball park when the Pocatello colored giants crossed bats with the Twin Falls team, the games, with a dance in the evening, constituting the total of Twin Falls' celebration of the event.

Monday evening witnessed the return of most of the absentees, tired, sunburned and grimy in many instances, but invariably ready to get back to the job again with renewed vigor.

Business houses with few exceptions were closed throughout the day Monday while proprietors, managers and employes availed themselves of the opportunity for recreations afforded by the holiday. City and county offices also were closed, during the afternoon every office door in the court house being locked. No deliveries were made of mail, although outgoing mail was dispatched.

For townfolks now there will be no more holidays until Thanksgiving, but pupils starting school next week will be given a holiday Friday by decision of the board of education, for the purpose of attending the county fair.

Harvest of Large Peach Crop Begins

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Employed when Picking Begins at Clear Lakes

One hundred and fifty persons were employed Monday at Clear Lakes fruit ranch, in Snake River canyon, north of Elmer, when picking of the peach crop, estimated at 25 carloads, was begun. The pickers included a number of motor tourists, taking advantage of the opportunity to engage in a novel occupation and to finish up at the same time. Various accommodations were provided. Many persons brought tents and bedding and pitched camp under the trees.

Harvest of the crop is being conducted under supervision of Alvin Harbour of Twin Falls, who has purchased the entire crop, paying for it at the rate of $1.00 a bushel in furnishing baskets. The price paid is approximately $17,000. The orchard is owned by Tyler brothers.

ITALY FIRMLY

Great despondency prevails in Athens where the fact that Italy was able so quickly to land 16,000 men in Corfu is considered proof of Mussolini's determination. The occupation of Corfu seems to be complete and the Italians have thoroughly organized the place as though for a long stay.

TWENTY KILLED

ATHENS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Colonel Stephen E. Lowe, of St. Louis, member of the Red Cross and attached to the Near East relief at Corfu, reports that altogether there were twenty killed by the Italian bombardment prior to the occupation of the island. Among them were sixteen children, most of them killed by shrapnel which was fired among a crowd of Red Cross orphanage children bathing in the sea.

COMMENTS HEARD AMONG TOURISTS

The tourist park traveling manager is at last complete. The latest addition being a money and a cat with a family of kittens.

Mrs. Laura J. Whippson, Miss Edna A. Whippson, A. A. Whippson and William H. Schultz are changing their residence from Blackley, Minn., to Eugene, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Drugo and the Misses Lolla and Minnie Daggott of Muncie, Ind., are winding their way to Los Angeles.

Professor H. W. Heighon and family stopped for a night in the park on the way to Kimberly, where he has the position of principal of the school. Mrs. Heighon has fallen in love with Twin Falls, and they have almost decided to make this their future home.

It is interesting to note the combinations of touring parties that are passing through the country. One very pleasant combination was made up of three families from widely separated cities. J. C. Martin, a newspaper publisher, with his family, and Joseph Mosser, from Bellefontaine, Ohio, are journeying to California. At a tourist camp in Wisconsin they met Mr. and Mrs. Myron Griswold of Sarnas, Michigan, and together they traveled to Yellowstone park, where they forgot theirself with Cliff Sheldon, a retired naval officer, and his wife, from Vallejo, Cal. Then the party was complete, and they travel and camp together, sharing each others joys and tribulations. The men of the party are much interested in fishing, and when last week were included as to where they would go from here, but they thought some place on Snake river for a few days.

Ira Campbell, a young geologist from Eugene, Ore., and George Houck from Roseburg, Ore., are working their way east to enter college. They are traveling in a motorcycle with a side car. They carry a complete camp outfit and are having the time of their young lives, but they do not want to repeat the experiment. Mr. Campbell goes to Chicago to take a post-graduate course in geology at Northwestern university, while Mr. Houck goes to Boston to enter Harvard's medical school.

The Ladies Aid of Hansen are giving their annual chicken dinner at the home of J. S. Wiseman on September 6 at 6 p. m.
