

REFUGEES TELL AWFUL STORIES OF SUFFERINGS

Korean Bandits Add to Horrors in Shock-Devastated Area; Dead Bodies Are Apparent on Every Hand

SHANG HAI, Sept. 8 (AP) (delayed)—Touching scenes were enacted when the steamer Empress of Canada, carrying approximately 400 refugees from Japan, docked here at noon today. Most of the refugees were residents of Yokohama.

All of the refugees relate harrowing experiences in the quake. The most graphic of the tales are those told by Miss Esther Robertson, a Shang Hai stenographer; Miss Billy Coutts and Mrs. William McBain. Mrs. McBain is prominent in the Orient and wealthy; Miss Coutts is one of the most widely known housewives in China.

Miss Robertson said she was sitting in her room at a hotel in Kanakura knitting when the building suddenly started to vibrate. Her chair was upset and she was thrown to the floor. "I scrambled hastily to my feet," Miss Robertson said, "and rushed outside. The ground shook with great violence and I was forced frequently to seize the trunk of a tree to avoid being thrown down. My uppermost thought was to remain in the open to escape being crushed by falling buildings. "I spent the first night in the woods and started the following morning to walk in the general direction of Yokohama, 18 miles away. I was scantily dressed and my feet were covered only with thin alpaca. My feet were bleeding but I realized the impossibility of remaining in a country that was the scene of death and desolation. "All houses that I saw were flattened and the bodies of men, women and children were strewn everywhere along the roadway. Bodies filled fissures along the way. Some of the fissures were five feet wide and 10 feet deep.

Only Dead in Evidence
"I finally reached the seashore and beckoned to fishermen, who placed me in a boat and rowed four hours, eventually putting me down at a small village which was destitute of humans, except the dead. I spent the night in a small thatched hut and drank water from a well with fear and trembling. When I resumed my journey I saw Japanese country folk groping in the ruins of their homes and carrying their wounded in their arms as though they could give them back to strength and health. I found roads torn up and railroad lines bent and twisted.

"I reached Yokohama late Monday, having traveled since Saturday noon before. The whole place was desolate and in ruins. I scrambled over the debris and the bodies of the dead. I was sickened by the moans of the injured whom I was unable to help. At last I reached the water front and was taken in a fainting condition aboard a sampan which conveyed me to the steamer Empress of Australia, where I found temporary refuge and food."

Miss Robertson's home formerly was in London. She says she has no relatives.

Two Days Without Food
The stories told by Miss Coutts and Mrs. McBain are similar in many respects to that told by Miss Robertson. They were stopping at Dzuishi, a summer resort five miles from Kanakura. They were both in their rooms in negligence when the quake occurred. They rushed outside with their servants. Mrs. McBain was caring for her niece, Jean Curry, 17 months old. They all started to walk to Yokohama, going two days without food and with little water.

The party, Mrs. McBain said, finally reached a small village where they obtained jirishishe, but these were of little use as the roadway was filled with huge fissures. "We passed scores of bodies," Mrs. McBain said, "and in one place we saw a slightly burned street car with all the occupants sitting dead in their national attitudes. They had been electrocuted. Some had smiles on their faces and one woman held a coin in her outstretched hand. She apparently was killed while tendering her fare to the conductor. "In one village we found all the Japanese terrorized with fear. Korean looters were stealing everything in sight and killing those who resisted them with large knives attached to the ends of bamboo poles.

Victims Lying About
"We saw many victims of these murderers lying along the roadway with their heads chopped off. The house in which we stopped for a time at this village was entered by these Korean marauders, who held huge weapons over our heads. We thought our time had come. Hugging my baby niece to my breast I kissed her goodbye. But the marauders only mumbled a few words and stalked out. A little later we resumed our journey to Yokohama. We reached the ruined city that evening and made our way to the waterfront. We saw the Empress of Canada in the distance. "The nearest sampan could approach to the liner was under the bridge and we got a spill into the water in trying to get aboard. The fact that Miss Coutts is a fine swimmer saved us. "Through it all Miss Coutts managed to save her favorite building.

TOO MANY GAS STATIONS

Governor of South Dakota Declares Overhead Expense Mainly Responsible for High Fuel Cost

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Governor William H. McMaster of South Dakota, who statted the gasoline bill that brought prices down all through the country, speaking at the state fair here today, declared gas here could be sold at 16 cents a gallon in New York state at a "fair profit to the dealers.

It is now selling in this city at 19 cents, having dropped six cents within a few days after the price reduction in South Dakota.

"The present distribution system as established by the independents and the oil trust are largely inspired through the lowering of excess profits is a blunder," Governor McMaster said. "In the great majority of the towns and cities of the United States there are 53 per cent more filling stations than are necessary to meet the requirements of the people."

CLOVER

The Rev. E. Riedel and family were tendered a surprise farewell dinner Sunday at the W. Bolke home by the Ladies' Aid of the Clover church. The Rev. and Mrs. Riedel and the four children expect to sail in the near future for China where they will resume their duties as missionaries. They have just spent a year's vacation in the United States after almost seven years of labor in the foreign field.

A large crowd attended the farewell party and a bounteous chicken supper was served on two tables in the hall. The ladies presented Mrs. Riedel with an aluminum clock combination and some canned fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kulep are the parents of a son, born Sunday, September 9.

A daughter was born on Sunday, September 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jaeger.

Red clover seed is being threshed in this vicinity and is yielding quite heavily. Last week Armin List threshed his field of a little over five acres and averaged about 10 bushels per acre.

Miss Dannerfeldt is spending a few months at the home of her brother, the Rev. Mr. Dannerfeldt. Her home is in the east.

The parochial school of Clover opened Monday with a large attendance. The Rev. Mr. Dannerfeldt is ably assisted in teaching by Mr. Boyer, who arrived Saturday from Michigan. Mr. Boyer is residing at the E. Meyer home.

Miss Dorlina Becher left Monday for Orange, Cal., to visit her brother, H. F. Becher, and to recuperate after a recent illness.

The Rev. Mr. Riedel and family and Thomas Becher of Twin Falls returned on Monday to Twin Falls after spending a week at the homes of R. Martens and A. List. Mrs. A. List returned with them for a visit of a few days in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuhlman and family, of Nebraska, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Kuhlman's brother, Henry Kulep. Mrs. E. Reink's parents from Nebraska are visiting at the Reinke home.

Mr. Dierkes, E. Boesch and J. Boesch report the fishing good in Snake river at Hagerman. They succeeded in landing several recently.

Word has been received from Ted

Gohring that he will return to Clover soon. He left last winter for California and went from there to Washington and is now in Montana. He says Idaho is good enough for him.

The farmers are busy cutting beans. Only the earliest are ripe enough, but the rest soon will be unless frost occurs.

Neuber Lassen, who underwent a serious operation some time ago, is still at the home of his uncle, Ed Klueder, near Twin Falls. He expects to return home soon.

FLYERS DEPENDED UPON

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Navy aviators, under command of Captain A. V. Marshall, are depended upon by scientists to furnish them with photographs showing the corona of the sun. Fifteen airplanes from the battle fleet squadrons took the air more than an hour before the totality period of today's eclipse of the sun and each of them rose to more than 15,000 feet, considerably above the fog and cloud banks that interfered with the view from the ground. Four of the planes flew above San Diego, four were above Encinitas and four more flew above Tijuana, the other machines being scattered between the main squadrons.

Many photographs of the eclipse were made by the navy photographers.

DEMPSEY ENDS HARD TRAINING

Champion Winds Up Main Stage of Preparation for Friday Battle

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Trained to a state of physical perfection, Jack Dempsey today virtually reached the top of his five weeks' training grind for the defense of his title against Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night. The champion will wind up his conditioning tomorrow, exercising just enough to loosen up his muscles, but will not do any boxing.

Dempsey finished his boxing program this afternoon with a four round workout against a trio of sparring partners. Experts said at no stage of his training had he worked so impressively. He was lightning fast on his feet, tireless in his savage attack, and his punches were timed perfectly. He cast aside all restraint while boxing two rounds with Jack Burke, the Pittsburgh light heavyweight, unleashing his punches with such fury that Burke, bleeding and groggy, was on the verge of collapse.

George West, British middleweight, and Alexander Trambitas, middleweight of Portland, Ore., were the champion's other sparring partners for a round apiece. They, too, left the ring leg-weary and with bleeding mouths.

Condition is Good

Throughout the workout Dempsey breathed normally and perspired freely, indicating to his handlers that he is as "right" as skilled training can make him. His legs are lean and thin, his broad shoulders and trim upper body do not carry an ounce of superfluous flesh, and his muscles are smooth and pliable.

The champion started out easily against Burke, but after taking a few blows on the shoulders and arms, cut loose with a fury of rights and lefts that sent the Pittsburgher reeling. When Burke tried to slug with the champion at close quarters he covered perfectly, or swayed away from the blows.

Dempsey apparently realized he had injured Burke, for when the set ended he grasped his partner's hand and expressed regret for his assault.

"Thanks, Jack, I hope I didn't hurt you," the champion said.

Burke, bleeding from cut lips, declared that Dempsey had smashed him as hard through his two training campaigns with the champion.

Champ in Good Humor

Dempsey was in good humor after pulling off the gloves and "joshing" with the spectators, who yelled their good wishes to him.

When Dempsey went to bed tonight, at the end of the lake were his only companions in the little cottage at the edge of the lake were Mike Trant, the Chicago detective; Jerry Luavada, the faithful little trainer, and Matty, the negro cook. Many fans will not return here. He will remain in New York to arrange for Dempsey's arrival Thursday evening and to attend to the necessary details.

The champion's sparring partners and other camp attendants packed their bags and departed immediately after today's workout. All of them were presented with ring-side tickets by the champion.

George Godfrey, the 225-pound neko, whose body is bruised and sore from going through two training campaigns with Dempsey, was the happiest man in the lot. Godfrey was bumping a little tune as he packed up his belongings.

"Boys, I'm goin' away from here," Godfrey spoke up. "Goin' away and I'm so glad. The next time I see Mr. Dempsey he will be socking Mr. Firpo instead of me."

PIRATES GAIN STRONGER HOLD

Steel City Men Take Close Contest from Cincinnati; Giants Beat Boston

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 (AP)—Pittsburgh strengthened its hold on second place by winning the final game of the series from Cincinnati today, 4 to 3.

Boston pitched well but his support in the early innings was ragged, errors accounting for three of the Pirate runs. Morrison held the local team to five hits, two of which were triplets by Duncan and Burns, which accounted for the three runs made off him. It was Morrison's twenty-second victory of the season.

Score: R. H. E.
Pittsburgh 4 8 0
Cincinnati 3 5 2
Batteries—Morrison and Schmidt; Boston, McQuaid and Hargrave.

Ehmke Holds Champs to One Scratch Hit; New Pitcher Makes Fair Showing

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Howard Ehmke, who pitched a no-hit game against Philadelphia on September 7, held the American league champions to one scratch hit here today, Boston defeating the Yankees in the last game of the series, 9 to 0. Witt, the first player to face Ehmke, hit a grounder towards Shanks when he cuffed with his glove and recovered it too late to retire the fast Witt. George Pipgras, a young pitcher from the South Atlantic association, started his first game of the season for New York and made a good showing. Boston scored on him in only the seventh inning, launching singles with Piechich's homer for three runs. Three of the six hits off Pipgras were made by Pitcher Ehmke.

SPEECH CARRIES LITTLE EFFECT

Official Germany Regards with Equanimity Poincare's Recapitulation of French Desires

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—German official quarters are disinterestedly manifesting impatience over the latest recapitulation of M. Poincare, the French premier, of Germany's reparations sins, nor was there any tendency displayed at government headquarters to view the French premier's speech at Damvillors on Sunday as having needlessly complicated the "atmosphere of contact" which Dr. Stresemann, the German chancellor, is seeking to establish.

That the chancellor already has assumed the initiative in this connection and is making promising progress, in view of the precarious character of his enterprise, is now generally admitted in political circles, which profess to know, that wholly informal sources through the medium of individuals said to be close to the French ambassador, M. De Margerie, have been in progress during the past three days.

These will shortly assume more concrete form, and, it is believed, will be followed by an official move by the German government. Dr. Stresemann will reply to M. Poincare in a public speech in Berlin on Wednesday, when he is expected to make a more precise formulation of the nature of the economic guarantee to be pledged as security for reparations.

Collector of Genuine Antique Furniture Knows Little Points That Cannot Be Faked.

How long ago was the circular saw invented?

If you are to become a collector of genuine antique furniture you should know the answer to the question. The circular saw was invented as far back as the year 1777. Therefore, no piece of Seventeenth century furniture should bear the tell-tale curved lines that a bent tooth in a circular saw makes.

Revival of Old War Bonnet Affair as Idaho Falls Recalls Memories of Pioneering in the West

IDAHO FALLS, Sept. 11.—Today marked the revival of the old War Bonnet roundup, the opening parade this morning smacked of the old vintage and the afternoon performance was better than the old days, according to old timers. The War Bonnet roundup originated in 1912 and was a nationally known show until the war, at which time it was disbanded until today it was again revived by Dow Williams, the originator.

MUCH MARRIED MAN TELLS OF HIS VENTURES

Arrest in Los Angeles Discloses Story of Wholesale Matrimony Beginning in Ohio City Twenty-seven Years Ago

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Harry R. Roshon of Warren, Ohio, who was arrested here last week under the name of A. E. Woods, suspected of complicity in the poisoning of Anna Daniels at Seattle in 1916, but who later was cleared by authorities of any connection with that case, confessed today, according to the police, that he has married seven women in various parts of the country, six of them within the past four years.

Roshon said, according to detectives who questioned him at the district attorney's office, that he married Emma L. Johnson of Warren, Ohio, six years ago under his true name; that he deserted her four years ago and married Della Whalen in Leavittsburg, Ohio, living with her and working as a light. His former marriage coming to light at that time, the alleged confession continues, he was arrested on a bigamy charge and liberated under $2,000 bail. He then went to the west, where he married Jennie Neufort, it is alleged, in Tacoma, living with her one week.

Used Various Names
His next venture in matrimony, police said, was in Fort Wayne, Ind., where he married Nina R. King under the name of A. E. Reed, and then at Spokane, where he went through the form of a marriage ceremony with Alma E. Snyder under the name of W. A. Allen.

After a week's honeymoon in Spokane the pretended Allen deserted this wife, it is alleged, leaving for Des Moines, Iowa, and there he married May S. Bounh, whom an A. E. Reed had deserted often.

Had Prospect List
Questioned about the list of more than sixty wealthy women which was found among his effects when arrested in Los Angeles, Roshon explained that he compiled this list noting the wealth of each matrimonial prospect, but had not had any success with any of them up to the time of his arrest. He admitted planning to marry some of them, police said.

Roshon insisted that all of the women he had married were still living, but authorities immediately telegraphed to the various cities he had married in an attempt to check the statement.

OPTIMISM MARKS GROWERS' MEET

Wool Men to the Number of 45,000 Present at Convention on Marketing Methods

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Optimism about the wool market, as reflected in the remarks of wool growers who are gathered here for a two days' conference of wool growers and bankers, with officers of the National Wool Warehouse and Storage Company, an organization of wool growers. Forty-five thousand wool growers in the wool producing states were said to be represented among approximately 45 men attending the conference.

"The trouble with some bankers," said J. H. Wilson of McKillop, Wyo., secretary of the Wyoming Wool Growers' association, "is that when there is a cloud in Philadelphia, they put up an umbrella in Chicago, being contented with the delivery of wool by the western growers through a term of years," "adequate financing of wool held in storage, and uniform methods of operation, eliminating differences of price in the several states."

PROTEST FAILS TO SCORE

Professor Irving Fisher Addressing W. C. T. U. Convention Nowwithstanding Efforts to Prevent Appearance

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—Despite protests made by Mrs. John Gordon Battelle, associate member of the publicists committee, and Charles W. Montgomery, chairman of the republican state central committee, on behalf of the republicans of Ohio and friends of the late President Harding, against the appearance of Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale university, tonight or of any other time at a public meeting held in the home state of President Harding, Professor Fisher addressed the national convention of the W. C. T. U. in session here, on the league of nations.

health makes a simple suggestion for the busy mother who imagines that it is necessary to prepare special meals for her offspring in order to have them properly nourished. She says: "See to it that the children's needs are provided for and then make sufficient additions to the menu to provide adequate variety for the grown-ups."

Each child should have a quart of milk daily, a green vegetable and a potato. Young children should have a tablespoon of orange or tomato juice daily. Each young child should have an egg, and for those of school age there should be also a broiled chop or a slice of broiled or roast beef or lamb. With simple desserts, plain salads, cream or vegetable soups and plenty of fruit for between meals or breakfast, there is an outline for a normal diet for normal persons.

The BROWN MOUSE

By HERBERT QUICK (Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

Jim snorted his habitual slow, gentle snort at Newton Brown, seventeen, under the tobacco-stalks, profound and proud of the fact that he had once beaten his way from Des Moines to Fairbault on freight trains. A source of anxiety to his father, and the subject of many predictions that he would come to no good end, Newton was out on the road-work because he was likely to be of little use on the farm. Clearly, Newton was on the downward road in a double sense—and yet, Jim Irwin rather liked him.

"The fellows have put up a job on you, Jim," volunteered Newton, as the organ rumbled the organ with gravel. "What sort of job?" asked Jim. "They're nominating you for teacher," replied Newton. "Since when has the position of teacher been an elective office?" asked Jim.

"Sure, it ain't elective," answered Newton. "But they say that with all my brains as you've got sloshing around loose in the neighborhood, you're a candidate that can break the deadlock in the school board."

Jim shoved on silently for a while, and by example urged Newton to earn the money credited to his father's assessment for the day's work. A slide of earth just then brought down a sweet-clover plant growing rankly beside the top of the pit. Jim Irwin pulled it loose from its anchorage, and after looking at it intently at the roots, laid the whole plant on the bank for safety.

"What do you want of that weed?" asked Newton. Jim picked it up and showed him the nodules on its roots—little white knobs, smaller than pinheads. "What's the use of nitrates to enrich the soil?"

"Ain't that the stuff the old man used on the lawn last spring?" "Yes," said Jim, "your father used some on his lawn. We don't put it on our fields in Iowa—not yet; but if it weren't for those white specks on the clover-roots, we should be obliged to do as—do as they do back east."

"How do them white specks keep us from needing nitrates?" "It's a long story," said Jim. "You see, before there were any plants big enough to be visible—if there had been any one to see them—the world was full of little white specks, and there may be billions of them in one of these little white specks. They know how to take the nitrates from the air."

sell your father for me that I think he's a mule, and that the whole district thinks the same." "All right," said Newt. "I'll tell him that while I'm working him to vote for you."

Jim smiled grimly. He had remained a peasant because the American teacher is placed economically lower than the peasant. He gave Newton's chatter no consideration. But when, in the afternoon, he hitched his team with others to the big road grader, and the gang became concentrated within talking distance, he was the first to start talking and chaffing him about his eminent fitness for a scholastic position was to be the real entertainment of the occasion.

"Jim's the candidate to bust the deadlock," said Cornelius Brown, with a wink. "Just like Garfield in that Republican convention he was nominated in—oh, Con!" "Con?" was Cornelius Bonner, an Irishman, one of the deadlocked school board, and the captain of the road grader. He winked back at the path-master.

"Jim's the gray-eyed man o' destiny," he replied, "if he gets two votes in that board." "You'd vote for me, wouldn't you, Con?" asked Jim. "I'll try anything wance," replied Bonner.

"You're voting with Ezra Bronson once for Prue Foster," suggested Jim. "She's done good work here." "Opinions differ," said Bonner, "an' when you try anything just for wance, it shouldn't be an irrevocable ship, me yeud." "You're a reasonable board of public servants," said Jim ironically. "I'd like to tell the whole board what I think of them."

"Come down tonight," said Bonner jeeringly. "We're going to have a board meeting at the schoolhouse and ballot a few more times. Come down, and be the Garfield of the convention. We've lacked brains on the board, that's clear. They ain't a man on the board that ever studied algebra, 'r that knows more about farming than their employers. Come down to the schoolhouse, and we'll have a field-day on or before the 15th day of September. I'll move yer illition small! Come now, Jimmie, me ye, be game. I'll vary the program, anyhow."

The entire gang grinned. Jim flushed, and then reconquered his calmness of spirit. "All right, Con," said he. "I'll come an' tell you a few things about making the motion."

WHEAT PRICE DECLINES ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE

Popular Belief Holds Good and Quotations Show Drop on Designated Date; Bearish Tendency Indicated

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Wheat followed tradition today and declined in price. According to a popular belief, this was a regular calendar date for the beginning of a bear campaign. Besides, Canadian hedging sales were said to be enlarging. The market closed unsettled 1-4 to 3-8 to 3-4 cent lower, December $1.05-5 to 1.05-12, and May $1.10-3 to 1.10-7 1/8. Corn finished at a range varying from 6-8c decline to 1-8 to 1-4c advance; oats 1-8c down, and provisions at 10 lower to 5 cents up.

Disprepared to be bearish today because backed by experience in former years, wheat traders showed from the outset a quiet general tendency to lean toward the bear side of the market. The fact that government crop report showed a larger yield of domestic spring wheat than had recently been looked for counted as an additional depressing influence on values, but aside from the calendar the chief incentive to sell came from indications that the Canadian crop movement would rapidly increase unless weather conditions became very unfavorable. In this connection gossip was current that considerable Canadian wheat would be imported into this country at a profit.

Something of a right about face in the wheat market took place during the late trading, however, and part of the price declines which had been witnessed were offset. Shorted found offerings surprisingly light toward the end of the day, and rallies were encouraged by reports that about 1,000,000 bushels had been bought to go to Europe, mostly Canadian wheat for deferred shipment.

Corn and oats averaged lower in sympathy with wheat. The bearish aspect of the government report as to corn was also given attention. Provisions lacked support, despite higher quotations on hogs.

TWIN FALLS MARKETS

These prices are obtained daily at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and are intended to cover only the average of prices. Where certain dealers for short periods offer more than the quoted price no effort is made to include such quotations. Quotations are offered merely as a guide to producers and should not be accepted as reflecting extremes of either high or low prices.

Sugar takes a raise. The local wholesale houses announce a raise of 15 cents a hundred in the sugar market today. Potatoes are still holding firm at 11 cwt. for No. 1 extra. Live stock prices see no change from last week on the local market.

RACING EVENTS ADD THRILLS TO FAIR PROGRAM

Irish Tide Grabs Off Opening Event, Quarter Mile Event, in 26 1/2; Comedy Circus Provides Amusement

Four racing events featured Tuesday's racing program at the County Fair. All were running events and included the spectators with few exceptions.

The first event, a quarter mile dash, was won by Irish Tide, owner Winery, with Ten Bucks, owner Flowerdew, a close second, and Silepsy Heste, owner Murray and Lincoln, took third money.

The second event, a five-eighths mile run, was won by Albion Boy, Mickey owner; W. B. McClinton, owner Curlew, second, and Joasain, owner Knifong, third. Time, 1:05.

Cammano Wins The third event, a three-quarter mile run, was won by Cammano, owner Knifong; Wodan, owner Ellis, second, and Little Orie, owner Flowerdew, third. Time, 1:10.

Many Entries The fourth and last event was a special elimination saddle horse race, two-eighths of a mile. The event had many entries that they were divided into two sections and two different races.

Harness Races Wednesday Wednesday will be featured by harness races and a number of good events are promised. Some of the best harness horses on the Northwest circuit are here to compete and some real old-time harness races are expected.

Circus Stunts Amusing The McMahon and Wheeler comedy circus provided amusement between the events and occupied the entire long week between events. Their circus is good, each actor displaying marked ability and providing the crowd with plenty of thrills with their chair balancing and their slack and tight wire stunts.
