LARGE AMOUNTS ARE COLLECTED BY COMMUNISTS

Gathering Funds in America for Spread of Red Doctrine Declared to Amount to an Organized Industry

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Collection of funds from American people of high and low degree for the promotion of social, economic and political revolution has become an organized industry in the last few years, it is charged by the United Mine Workers of America in the fourth article of a series which purports to be an expose of a far-reaching plot to spread the dictatorship of the Communist International of Moscow over this continent.

Laborers, society leaders, school teachers and well-meaning philanthropists, ignorant of the means they are promoting, add millions of dollars annually to the war chest of the underground workers for revolution in America, it is charged. Other millions are described as streaming in from Moscow, Berlin and Stockholm to make a total impossible of estimate.

"The United Mine Workers learns from an authoritative source," says the author of the expose, "that the money from abroad is coming in through the usual international banking channels and that it is distributed to the accounts of various individuals in different banks after it reaches this country."

Union First Aim

Capture of the miners' union is alleged to be the first aim of Communist agents in this country, as a step toward establishment of the "one big union" principle in all industrial and labor groups. After that nationalization of coal mines under the soviet form of rule as a preliminary to a consolidation of the industries, then forcible overthrow of the governments existing in the United States and Canada and establishment of communism after the Moscow pattern.

MEXICALI, Lower California, Sept. 12 (AP)—Wireless message received here late today reports the destruction by a tidal wave of San Jose de Cabo, a small fishing town on the west coast of Lower California, just above Cape San Lucas. The number of lives lost is not known.

Most of the 600 inhabitants of the town are believed to have escaped to higher ground when the tidal wave swept over the place yesterday, according to a radio address sent out by a seaman which cleared Cape Lucas shortly before the catastrophe.

Steamers carrying merchandise to Guaymas, which had cleared the cape in time to escape destruction or damage in the wave, have been ordered to return to San Jose de Cabo for relief work, the message stated. One of these vessels, it was said, carried 300 laborers for the cotton fields near here.

CONFESSED BIGAMIST IS STILL HELD BY POLICE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Police tonight still held suspicion from authorities in several middle western and Pacific coast cities as to the disposal of Henry R. GERMANY NOW READY TO TALK OF SETTLEMENT

Chancellor Stresemann Makes Informal Announcement of Change in Policy as to Situation in Ruhr

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Facility admitting that the Ruhr fight had been a mistake and that there could be no prospect of the internal reconstruction of Germany until the foreign conflict had been adjusted, Chancellor Stresemann tonight remarked to a gathering of editors.

"Candor is preferable to illusion, and Germany desires to speak out plainly," he said. Informal contact with the occupying powers and removal of the gravity of the existing differences, which, he said, primarily involved the question of German sovereignty and the restoration to Germany of complete administrative freedom of the Ruhr.

The chancellor's speech did not contain a direct reference to readiness on the part of Germany to call off passive resistance, but it did present a more precise formulation of the nature of the productive guarantees which Germany was prepared to pledge for the security of the reparations creditors. These would comprise the hypothecation of private holdings in industry, commerce, finance and agriculture, in such a manner as to insure the immediate fluidity as active loanable collateral.

Security Declared Good

Such security, said the chancellor, would in every way be superior to the pledge of the Ruhr, and the treaty, which only enumerates governmental properties, none of which possess productiveness equaling that of private holdings which Germany proposes to hypothecate for the benefit of reparations.

Unless France is bent on annexation Germany's pledge, he contended, were of such a nature as to meet the conditions under which France once prepared to evacuate the disrupted areas. He believed that the positive guarantees offered by Germany would insure Great Britain and Italy, who desire to achieve a solution of the problem and would suggest to Belgium their usability as a means of overcoming the deadlock existing in the way to European reconstruction.

State Rests in Case Against Macon Dentist Charged with Participation in Raids

MACON, Ga., Sept. 12 (AP)—The prosecution rested its case in the trial of Dr. C. A. Yarborough, Macon dentist, charged with rioting in connection with flogging in Macon during the last two years, and the defense began its effort to break down the credibility of the witnesses offered by the state. When court recessed tonight the defense had called eight witnesses, two of whom attacked the credibility of W. W. Arnold and five the prosecuting witness. The eighth witness stated that he could not say whether Mills' reputation was good or bad.

Today's trial was marked by introduction of testimony by three alleged victims of the floggers, all of whom identified Dr. Yarborough as having been present at the proceedings. The three alleged victims to whom Dr. Yarborough addressed the "K. K. K." and the other to "The Ku Klux Klan, Macon, Ga." These latter, however, are not named in the evidence when offered just before the state closed its case.

When court recessed there were slight prospects that the case might revert to the jury tomorrow night. The three alleged victims to whom Dr. Yarborough wore W. O. Abbott, W. W. Arnold and E. A. Hartley.

SHIPMENTS TO BE EXPEDITED

American Red Cross Decides upon Quick Action in Effort to Relieve Japanese Distress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Japan's dire need of clothing and building materials is being met by the American Red Cross, which authorized the quick shipment of hundreds of thousands of pieces of underwear, outer clothing and many large quantities of corrugated iron sheeting. Urgent requests came from the stricken area that the advent of cold weather made immediate action imperative.

An indication that the Japanese government is fearful that freezing weather will take a heavy toll from the half-million population was found in a message received at the Japanese embassy here. It said that in addition to shelter and clothing, heating apparatus of all types was needed, and gasoline was needed.

The relief fund being collected in the United States for the sufferers grew steadily today with $5,063,100 entered on the books at midnight. The total to date is $12,900,000. Cash gift made early last week by the American Red Cross.

Money and Supplies Ambassador Hanhara advised the state department by delivering a message from the Tokio foreign office that while Japan was deeply grateful for foreign aid, the government preferred that the contributions be in the form of money and supplies rather than relief personnel who, unfamiliar with language and customs, in coming to Japan at this time might add to the existing confusion.

"In addition to the generous gift of money and various supplies that are coming from America for relief," the message said, "Japan is receiving many kind offers of sending men and women to assist in the relief work. While these kind offers of helping hands are most deeply appreciated, the Japanese government desires to make it known that, so far as man power is concerned, Japan has little difficulty in getting sufficient forces to meet the present exigencies in taking care of both the native and foreign sufferers."

First Refugees Due

The first refugees from Japan are due to arrive at Victoria Saturday. The Red Cross was advised. There are 100 in the party, some of them injured, while others are suffering from the effects of the relief work. Red Cross nurses, who will accompany them to Seattle.

All the Japan steamships plying from Pacific coast ports are equipped with the relief supplies. The expediting of relief materials, each having notified the Red Cross officials that they had placed cargo space at their disposal.

A message to the Japanese embassy advising that all relief supplies be forwarded via Yokohama was taken by the Red Cross officials as indicating that the Yokohama harbor was not so badly disturbed as at first believed.

Convictions for Violations of Volstead Act to Date Number Over Seventy Per Cent of Cases Tried

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Convictions of judges, attorneys, federal grand jurors and other millionaires among the best found guilty of violating the prohibition laws was detailed in a report submitted to President Coolidge today by Attorney General Daugherty.

A synopsis of the report made public, with the assent of the president, reviewed the federal judiciary's work in enforcing the prohibition law in the first six months of its operation. It showed that since the statute went into effect January 16, 1920, more than 20,000 cases had been terminated in United States courts, with 72,489 convictions and fines aggregating $12,467,000.

Prohibition prosecutions have increased steadily since the report showed that sentences for the last 23 months have totaled more than 300,000 years.

Attorney General Daugherty's report also disclosed that more than 100,000 cases have been referred to district attorneys on prohibition enforcement, demanding relentless campaign against bootleggers and other prohibition violators, and so-called "cliques," "rings" and so-called "leaders" in all large cities.

80 Per Cent Convicted

In 80 per cent of federal court cases, the report said, the defendants were found guilty. Although the records for the last fiscal year are not complete the report estimated that there had been at least 10,000 more convictions than in the preceding year and 10,000 more than for two years. These figures, Mr. Daugherty said, indicated a stricter enforcement in every section of the country.

Prohibition cases have been broken in the federal courts at an average of 73.4 a day since the law went into effect, the attorney general said, but this was expected during last year, the average being 11 a day. During the first five months of this year 1407 more cases were disposed of than during the entire year of 1922. Mr. Daugherty reported that the prohibition law had been one of its most effective weapons, enabling closing of many buildings, liquidating many saloons and other places where they were not sheltering.

Increases in Jail Sentences Also

Increases in jail sentences also have been noted, the attorney general said.

MONOXIDE CONTENT SMALL

Chemical Research Upsets Old Theories as to Presence of Deadly Gas in Smoke of Pipe or Cigarette

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tobacco smoke is far less deadly in carbon monoxide gas content than scientists of the past have believed, according to the report of three investigators of Pittsburgh as expressed before the semi-annual meeting of the American Chemical Society here today.

The conclusion reached by the investigators, G. W. Jones, W. P. Yant and L. B. Burgess, followed tests made in Pittsburgh when three subjects were placed in a smoke chamber containing 1,000 cubic feet capacity, and who for two hours smoked cigars, cigarettes and pipes. They say the smoke was found to be six times more concentrated than would be permitted under regulated conditions. The eyes of the smokers were protected by goggles.

After the test, it was reported, the highest carbon monoxide content in the room was .02 per cent. Previous investigators had shown that undiluted tobacco smoke contains .5 and 12 per cent monoxide, said to be the most deadly of all known poisons.

Small Blood Saturation

The investigators further reported to the society that carbon monoxide saturation of the blood was not greater than 5 per cent even in two subjects who each inhaled the smoke of 20 cigarettes.

In concluding their report, the experts stated the tests showed the concentration of smoke could not enter the alveoli, or lungs tissue cells. Other experts reported the result of widely extended and varied investigations. Among these was the report of Dr. J. P. McClellan of Minneapolis, before the division of biological chemists.

He said there were two widely contrasting reports from the United States. One of these is in Michigan and the other in northern Idaho, he said, but the poisonous regions decrease as they move south, because the government regions have broadened in the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

DETAILED PAINT AWFUL PICTURE OF HOLOCAUST

Thirty-two Thousand Persons Virtually Wiped Out in One Unit During Progress of Conflagration in Tokio

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Further confirmation of the appalling loss of life among refugees, who crowded into the compound of the army clothing warehouse in the Honjo ward of Tokio during the fire following the earthquake, was collected by an official dispatch from the Tokio foreign office received here today by the Japanese embassy. Almost all of the 32,000 persons who jammed the compound were burned to death, the dispatch said.

Detailing measures of relief being taken by the authorities, the foreign office said:

"At the cabinet meeting on the ninth, it was decided to exempt from import duty all rice, beef poultry, and eggs."

"Since the earthquake four million bushels of rice have been shipped to Tokio from Yokohama."

"In Kanada ward, 240 barracks have been built in the burned area and more shelters are being erected in other parts of the city."

Barracks Area Begun

"The city of Tokio on the eighth began the construction in parks and other available spaces of barracks for 150,000 homeless refugees who had been living in tents and in the open. Ambassador Woods in an undated radio message apparently sent from Tokio several days ago, reported to the state department today that the relief situation in the Japanese capital was 'now thoroughly in hand.' Five American destroyers, the ambassador said, had arrived at Yokohama from Danzig."

"All Americans surviving Yokohama on ships and in safety," the message said. "This embassy has evacuated 140 Americans, tourists and 21 British, for the British Embassy on an American destroyer. Relief ships being loaded in Tangkoo and Manila. Arrival of fleet removes danger of hunger among Americans."

KILLING FROSTS EXPECTED

Temperatures Take Decided Drop Over Many Sections in Middle West and North; Summer Definitely Gone

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—With the repetition of frosts which have been killing intensely in the several sections of the north and west expected for tonight, still further crop damage was expected here by weather bureau officials, with the prospect of most certain prospect of summer being lost definitely behind.

Killing frosts were reported from various sections of North and West today. Last night was the heaviest temperature in Harro and other sections of Montana and in parts of northern Wyoming.

Frosts for tonight are expected in sections of Montana, North and South Dakota, North and Eastern Minnesota, upper Michigan and Wisconsin.

The cool weather starting over the country several days ago from Canada has made it almost certain, weather bureau officials said, that the summer weather temperatures are gone until next season brings them back.

FIGHTERS READY TO ENTER RING IN TITLE BOUT

Smoke of Battle Scented as Day of Scrap Draws Near; Contestants in Fine Trim; Ticket Demand Is Heavy

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Fame tonight began to scent the "smoke" of battle—that atmosphere peculiarly confined to heavyweight championship fights—with the title struggle between Jack Dempsey, champion, and Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine challenger, only two days off.

Firpo arrived in New York tonight from his training camp in Atlantic City. The great rugged South American will remain in seclusion until the afternoon of the fight.

Dempsey is expected to break camp tomorrow arriving here in the afternoon. He will stay at the Hotel Belmont tomorrow night. Friday afternoon he will meet his challenger for the first time when they appear before the state athletic commission to weigh in.

Followers of both Dempsey and Firpo declared today at the conclusion of training camps that the fighters were conditioned to perfection. They will enter the ring at the Polo grounds fit for the greatest test of their careers.

Predicts Sell-Out.
Tex Rickard tonight predicted a sell-out of tickets. The promoter declared this would mean that close to 85,000 would pay approximately $1,300,000 to see the fight. His figures today were well past the $1,100,000 mark.

"This fight would have broken the record gate of $1,600,000 set by the Dempsey-Cauentier fight," said Rickard. "If similar prices had been charged, The Dempsey-Firpo demand has been much greater than for the 'battle of the century,' but now the top is $27.50, whereas two years ago in Jersey City it was $50."

Construction of the ringside, temporary bleacher for other sections to the Polo grounds will be completed by noon tomorrow, said the promoter.

Little change was reported today in the betting odds.

Celebrates to Attend.
A notable gathering, including men prominent in society, the financial and theatrical world, will view the champion match. Diplomats also will be numbered in the throng, for many of the envoys of South American nations, all keenly interested in the career of Firpo, the first Latin to attain such pugilistic prominence, have made reservations.

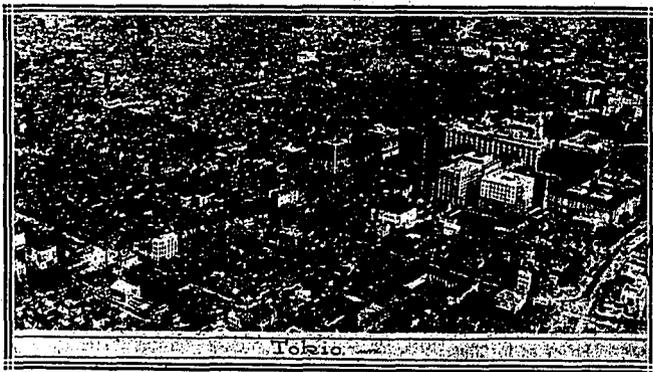

Among those of note expected to attend are Kermit and Archie Roosevelt, Charles Sabin, Mortimer Schiff and W. A. Harriman, financiers; George M. Cohan, Harry Briscoe, David Belasco, William A. Brady, theatrical producers; Clarence Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph; Louis Stoddard, polo star; Foxhall Keene, Jake Ruth, Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion; Harry Payne Whitney, Harry F. Habit of the "Trader Rat."
The trader rat is the common wood rat, the bushy-tailed rat of western and northern America. This rat does make a practice of leaving something in place of food, etc., that it may have stolen. This is not an intelligent act on the part of the rat, however, but is due to the fact that the rat sees the food when it is carrying bits of sticks or paper in its mouth, which it generally drops when finding the food.

To Relieve Canaries of Vermin.
Canary birds are often covered with vermin. They may be relieved of them by placing a clean white cloth over their eyes at night. In the morning the cloth will be covered with minute red spots so small that they can hardly be seen with the naked eye. These are the parasites, a source of great annoyance to the birds.

LATE PRESIDENT OPPOSED LEAGUE

Letter Written by Warren G. Harding Disposes of Question as to His Views

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A letter written by President Harding has been made public by John A. Stewart, head of the Sulgrave Institution, who said he wanted to show the late president had been opposed to the Wilson league of nations and had held that the league was one thing and a friendly association of nations was quite different.

"President Harding was irrevocably against the league of nations as at present constituted and said so," Mr. Stewart said.

The letter written on April 10, 1923, to Mr. Stewart, follows:
"I have before me your letter of April 16. I appreciate the thoughtfulness of your suggestion and I readily agree that there is great merit in it if the enterprise is entered upon at the opportune time. I do not think the present moment to be a fortunate one in which to intensify agitation. We must first succeed in quietly divorcing the international court from the league of nations proposition. I thought I did that when I addressed my request to congress, but it appears that a good many extremists have so persistently urged that this is the beginning of a fellowship in the league that the whole situation has been greatly embarrassed.

"I am hoping in the very near future to make a further public statement which will tend to clarify the atmosphere. The first time we are having a personal interview I will be glad to discuss the matter with you in greater detail."

SEPARATION FARED.
DUESSELDORF, Sept. 11 (AP)—Fear of the ultimate separation of the Ruhr and Rhineland from Germany, rather than the economic pressure brought by the allies in the occupied territory is the principal motive behind Germany's renewal of the discussion for an agreement with France, in the opinion of the leader of the trades unions in the Rhineland.

MANILA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Anticipating new outbreaks against the Moros in the Lake Lanao region the Philippine constabulary has despatched a supply of shrapnel to Camp Keithly. Governor Santos of the province has telegraphed to Governor General Wood that Moro religious fanatics are taking oaths on the Koran again preparatory, he believes, to raising anew. He says the fanatics are refusing to pay taxes or send their children to school.

The main elements are said to number about 300. The constabulary is trying to pacify them.

DEMPSEY PASSES DAY OF LEISURE

Heavyweight Champion Indulges in Nothing Heavier than Pinochle and a Haircut

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—After a day of nothing more exciting than motorizing into Saratoga Springs for a hair-cut, Jack Dempsey crawled into bed in his little cottage on the edge of Saratoga lake tonight for his last sleep before starting for New York to defend his title against Luis Angel Firpo on Friday night.

The light workout scheduled for the world's heavyweight champion was canceled at the last minute. The only exercise the title holder took aside from an hour's walk with Mike Trainor, his bodyguard and pal, this morning, was sitting in the back of his favorite colored roadster for the 12-mile drive into town.

The champion's visit to Saratoga Springs excited no interest aside from that taken by the barber in cutting Jack's hair.

"I've laid a hundred bucks on you, Jack," the barber confided.

"Well, I hope you win," the champion replied.

Dempsey trimmed Trainor in a few games of pinochle before making the trip to town and played host to a party of six admirers from Butte, Mont., who said they had made the trip by motor in 11 days. The Montanans proceeded to New York after a brief chat. Their car was marked: "Butte to New York—Dempsey-Firpo bout."

Letters Puzzle Champ

The champion's mail today included two letters from unknown admirers who sent him a pair of leather thumb and wrist protectors and a wishbone. Dempsey enjoyed the accompanying letters, but didn't understand why the protectors were sent him.

Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion, will be in charge of Dempsey's corner Friday night, it was announced by the champion. The other seconds will be his brother, Johnny, Jerry Luvada, his trainer, and Joe Benjamin, a Pacific coast lightweight, who arrived at camp today to make the trip to New York with Dempsey. Benjamin has been one of Dempsey's seconds in all of his championship contests.

Marble.

Marble is a product of marine sediments and volcanic fires. It is laid down on the sea bottom as shell heaps, which gradually turn into chalk. If the strata should be deeply buried in the rocks, the intense heat of the earth causes chemical elements to rearrange themselves so that they crystallize into marble. Various impurities in the chalk give the marble its various hues.

Parasitic Bees.

For 20 years a swarm of bees have occupied the back of the school clock at Micheldeyer, England, and no attempt at removing them has been successful, states a resident of that town. The swarm had been thought destroyed some years ago and the entrance the bees had made was cemented up, but each year they have returned, and they even bored a new hole through the cement.

Ingenuity.

One of the most exciting occupations is that in which newboys are eggs when a coin drops through a grating in the sidewalk. A long stick is found first. Someone provides a cud of chewing gum, which is stuck on the end of the stick. Then one of the boys guides the gum to the coin and covers it forth, whereas the rest of the gang coaches and criticizes.—Exchange.

FINAL SESSION IS SHORT ONE

Firpo Closes Work Period with Less than Ten Minutes Engagement at Training Stunts

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12 (AP)—A light bag-punching, rope skipping and shadow-boxing workout, lasting less than ten minutes, ended Luis Angel Firpo's training today for the world's championship match with Jack Dempsey in New York Friday night. Immediately after the workout the Argentinian and his party boarded a train for New York.

More than 500 persons were in the grandstands to see the South American go through his final exercises. They were disappointed because he did not spar and Luis directed that all admissions be refunded.

Luis Angel seemed in superb battle condition. He declared he was in a fighting mood, and then he dismissed thoughts of the fight.

Tomorrow and until the time for the contest Friday night he will rest in an apartment in uptown New York, 20 minutes motor ride from the arena. His trainers will not permit any interviews until after the fight.

Have Firm Belief in Devils.

The natives of Fiji believe firmly in ghosts or devils, pointing in proof to huge indentations in the rocks resembling footprints. Some devils are good, they say, and some are bad. One native told me that the devil on his island was an old man with a white beard, a harness or good devil, who came out at night to get plantain. Probably the native had seen some old goat, hence the beard.—New York Tribune.

SIX ARRESTED FOR PRINTING FIGHT TICKETS

Spurious Pasteboards Selected as Good-Way Towards Easy Money; Police Confiscate to Extent of $50,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Six men were arrested in a Duane street print shop today and police confiscated $50,000 worth of counterfeit tickets for the Dempsey-Forsyth title match. Some of the tickets, police said, had been put in circulation. The men were charged with acting in concert in printing and distributing them.

While the arrests were being made an investigation was under way by District Attorney Brantley into charges that a batch of tickets for the fight, having a box office value of $27,500, had been sold for $77,500 and that many other single tickets had been sold at proportionately increased prices.

Two Separate Attempts.
Tex Rickard, promoter of the bout, declared two separate attempts to put counterfeit tickets on the market had been discovered. In addition to the Duane street print, he said, another shop had been located and tickets manufactured before the alleged counterfeiters had time to start printing. He was confident, he said, that detectives had checked practically all circulation of the bogus tickets. The counterfeit tickets printed were of $5.00 and $27.50 varieties, Rickard added and bore resemblance to the originals down to the minutest details.

LOCAL GRID ASPIRANTS ANSWER CALL OF EVANS

Group of About 65 High School Students Attend Meeting First Practice to Start Thursday Night

In response to Coach Evans' football call about 65 men turned out to the meeting held at the high school Tuesday night. Many inspiring talks were given the boys and they all are ready to begin work. Wednesday was devoted to issuing equipment and getting ready for the first workouts which will start Thursday night in Lincoln field. Light workouts will be the order of the day for the balance of the week but intensive training will commence in earnest next week. The warriors should have the soreness worked out by that time and Coach Evans is anxious to get to the real heavy work.

There are only five of last year's veterans on deck to form the basis from which Coach Evans has to build this year's team and it will take plenty of hard work and cooperation on the part of the men if Twin Falls is to emerge from this season state champion again.

BAKERS DROP LOTUS LEAVES

Shanghai Government Forces Them to Use Waxed Paper for Wrapping Their Products.

Shanghai bakers used to wrap their bread and cakes in nice green lotus leaves. But the days of this romantic practice are gone forever. According to the new regulations covering bakery products, bread and other products must be suitably wrapped in greaseproof or similar papers. The clause in the regulation covering this matter was quoted by Assistant Trade Commissioner A. V. Smith in a report to the Department of Commerce, reads as follows: "That bread and bakery products shall, upon sale or when carried or handled for sale, or delivered in baskets, vehicles or otherwise, be suitably wrapped in greaseproof paper or other cleanly covering, and shall be packed so as to completely protect the bread from dirt, dust and flies, or from harmful contact in handling."

Now Senate Lacks Octogenarian.

The death of Senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont removes from the senate rolls the last octogenarian. And on March 4, when congress adjourned, there were three. Senator Page, also of Vermont, who was eighty last January, retired on that date.

Knute Nelson of Minnesota, three weeks younger than Page, died in May on his way from Washington to his home.

And Dillingham, midway in his eightieth year, died early in July.

Removal of these octogenarians from the senate leaves Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, now one month past seventy-nine, the oldest member. Next come LeBaron Cole of Rhode Island, seventy-seven; then Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, a youngster of seventy-three; third, Lodge of Massachusetts, three months younger than Cummins, fourth.

JINX OF POLO GROUNDS TAKES MANY VICTORIES FROM ASPIRING CHAMPS

Dempsey Will Overthrow Well-Marked Chain of Bad Luck for Fighters if He Wins on Friday

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Jack Dempsey will overthrow a jinx that has beset all world's fight champions who have fought at the Polo grounds this season. If he succeeds in defending his heavyweight title against the assaults of Luis Angel Firpo Friday night, four pugilistic kings have staked their titles so far this year at the Giants' ball park, and all four have been shorn of their laurels. Johnny Kilbane was the first to meet defeat. He was knocked from the featherweight throne early in June by Eugene Criqui of France, who, less than two months later was in turn deprived of his new title by Johnny Dundee.

Jimmy Wilde, game little Britisher, lost the flyweight crown to Pancho Villa, the battling Filipino, in June. The last champion to fall by the wayside in the big arena was Johnny Wilson, who happily midlightht title to Harry Grob a fortnight ago.

HUNTER WINS OVER ODDS

New Rochelle Man Provides Crowd with Real Thrill in Third Round of Tennis Singles Championship Match

GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB Philadelphia, Sept. 12 (AP)—Morris T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., provided a crowd of 10,000 persons with a startling upset in the third round of the lawn tennis singles championship of the United States at the Germantown Cricket club.

Encod with a handicap in overcoming a lead of two sets to one, the stocky New Yorker, who was finalist in the world's champion tournament at Wimbledon this year, fought his way to a victory in five sets over Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., member of America's Davis cup team, third ranking player of the country.

The scores were 3-6, 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. The other three members of America's Davis cup team advanced to the fourth round. National Champion William T. Tilden II beat Carl H. Fischer of Philadelphia in straight sets, William M. Johnston of San Francisco, world's champion this year by virtue of his Wimbledon victory early in the summer, defeated Howard Kinsey, his fellow townsman, also in straight sets, while B. Norris Williams of Philadelphia, fourth member, accounted for F. H. Leighton Crawford of England.

Scout Handiwork Wins High Praise

Exhibit Prepared Under Direction of District Executive Attracts Much Attention

One of the outstanding exhibits at the fair is that of Boy Scout handiwork that has been prepared under the direction of Scout Executive F. Douglas Hawley. A scout is on duty at the exhibit at all times to explain the nature of the handiwork displayed. The showing consists mainly of the work of the boys and curios secured on the summer campments. Some of the exhibits were made by the scouts to obtain merit badges and are interesting to the spectator.

Copper Ore Shown.

There is an unusually fine exhibit of copper ore from Contact. Much interest was manifested by the visitors, keeping the man on duty busy answering questions regarding the possibility of the development of the big ore body around Contact.

An unusual exhibit in the agricultural line is two Bama squash. On the one the words Bama squash are grown on the skin by some process of pricking the skin, and on the other are the words, "Yes, we have Bama squash." The display of fine corn would make a middle western farmer turn green with envy, and conclusively demonstrates that this is truly a corn country. The horticulture display is unusually fine and the big variety of apples, pears and peaches are pleasing to the eye.

Somewhat Mixed.

The justice of the peace in a town in Ohio, in pursuance of his duties, had to hear and judge the cases that were brought before him and also to perform occasional marriage ceremonies. He found it difficult to dissociate the various functions of his office.

Everything had gone smoothly until he had asked one bride: "Do you take this man to be your husband?" "And you, accused," said the justice, turning to the bridegroom, "what have you to say in your defense?"

Japanese Editors Poorly Paid.

Japanese newspaper men work for small salaries, but efforts are being made by prosperous newspapers in Osaka to elevate the standard. The Osaka Mainichi, which has a daily circulation of about 800,000, has made substantial increases in its entire scale of salaries. Together with a bonus distributed twice a year, annual pay is two to three times the specified salary.

PRINCE ARRIVES IN OLD QUEBEC

Complete Absence of Formality Marks Journey of King's Son; Will Visit on Ranch

QUEBEC, Sept. 12 (AP)—Shunning all the fuss and feathers of official honors, the Prince of Wales came ashore from the Empress of France today, registered at the Chateau Frontenac on the historic bluffs as "the Baron of Renfrew and wife," and prepared to start tomorrow for his little ranch in the west where he hopes to play cowboy for a whole month.

Word had reached the liner that the baron wished none of the formalities due a crown prince when he reached the dominion. Nevertheless, crowds loaded the ship docked awaiting the opportunity to see and cheer him. "Baron Renfrew is still sleeping," was the word passed ashore when the ship came to. The crowd waited for three hours until he came down the plank. It contented itself with cheering and flag waving from a respectful distance, leaving little work for the Canadian Pacific railway police, assigned to maintain order and guard the visitor.

Official Notice Slight.

An automobile whisked the prince away to his hotel where later an official welcome was tendered by Major O'Connor, aide de camp to Baron Byng, governor general. This call, with those made aboard the Empress of France in port by British naval officials, constituted his only official engagement today.

The prince will remain incognito, it was announced at the Chateau Frontenac by his secretary, Sir Godfrey Thomas. He will make no public appearance in the Dominion but will visit the United States, said Sir Godfrey. By train to the ranch tomorrow, four weeks of the life of an isolated rancher, then off for home on October 13 is the program.

Most of the churches in Naples have three or four cats attached to them. They are kept for the purpose of catching the mice which infest all ancient Neapolitan buildings. The animals, never often been seen walking about among the congregation, or stretched before the altar.

THINGS RASING UP: The Greek-Italian crisis, which for a few days threatened to throw Europe into new turmoil, has cooled up.

The situation is complex, too, in the Ruhr. Germans have been returning to work. The new German government seems more tractable.

Likewise France and Great Britain have been rasping each other's feelings less and there are signs that they may get together in friendly agreement on European policy.

In America the hot coal strike approaches a settlement. Industrial warfare, like military warfare, loses its appeal.

Why this widespread change in men's feelings, reflected suddenly in the solution of big problems which lately seemed insoluble?

It might be explained as a wave of common sense. It is more likely explicable as the result of a wave of human sympathy over the misfortunes of Japan.

"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." It is natural to sympathize with real sorrow. The pity instantly felt for Japan, the world over, has softened men's hearts so that for a little while they approach political and industrial questions with more charity toward each other.

THE GOOD-LOOKING TRADE

"Good looks," says Dr. Henry S. Curtis of Oberlin College, addressing an audience of school teachers, "are one of the most valuable assets a teacher can have. A good-looking woman is more valuable on any job than a homely one. Give me my choice between an anemic dyspeptic with all the pedagogy in the world and a young, healthy, good-looking woman with half the education, as a teacher for my children, and I'll take the latter."

Children themselves usually agree with the professor. If you do not think so, just notice their preferences among teachers. Girls and boys alike are apt to prefer the good lookers.

So does everybody, male or female, if the truth be told. In business life, as in the school room and the drawing room, beauty is a tremendous asset. That is a fact which, aside from aesthetics, justifies the eternal quest for beauty. Only, as Dr. Curtis reminds the teachers, to be effective it must be fundamental, coming from sound health and good habits instead of being smothered on artificially.

And what of the girl or woman who, with all her efforts, finds physical beauty unattainable? Well, there is a kind of beauty still more patent, as all poetry and history attest. It is called charm. It is mental rather than physical. And it responds wonderfully to cultivation.

A New York writer has raised the question whether men or women cry more easily. We dunno. But it seems to us that women get more pleasure out of it.

Having admitted at last that her mark is no good, Germany may too the reputation mark.

RETURNING A FAVOR

Japan has no obligation to be especially grateful for our assistance at this time. The United States is merely making return of the favor extended in 1906 when San Francisco was in trouble—not from an earthquake, as every San Franciscan exists, but merely from the need of a little reconstruction. The Japanese relief fund at that time, it is said, was greater than that donated by any other nation.

People are not really neighbors until one has sent in broth for the sick child next door and the other has returned the courtesy with a pie to keep out the meal for unexpected company. Strange, isn't it, how much pleasant relations are on that kind of a street than the kind where everybody indulges in unpleasant gossip and is suspicious and unfriendly?

CHAPTER II: Reversed Unanimity. The great blade of the grading machine, running diagonally across the road and pulling the earth toward its median line, had made several trips, and much perspiration about Jim Irwin's forthcoming appearance before the board had been addressed to Jim and exchanged by others for his benefit.

To Newton Bronson was given the task of leveling and distributing the earth rolled into the road by the grader—a labor which in the interests of fitting a muzzle on his big mottled dog he deserted whenever the machine moved away from him. That there was some mystery about the muzzle was evident from Newton's pains to make a secret of it. His wires were curled into a ring directly over the dog's nose, and into this ring Newton had fitted a cork, through which he had thrust a large needle which protruded, an inch-long bayonet, in front of Ponto's nose. As the grader moved along one side of the highway, a high-powered automobile approached on the other, making rather bad weather of the newly repaired road. A pile of loose soil that Newton had allowed to lie just across the path made a certain maintenance of speed desirable. Newton planted himself in the path of the laboring car, and waved its driver a command to halt. The car came to a standstill with its front wheels in the edge of the loose earth, and the chauffeur fuming at the possibility of stalling—a contingency upon which Newton had confidently reckoned.

"What do you want?" he demanded. "What do you mean by stopping me in this kind of place?" "I want to ask you," said Newton with mock politeness, "if you have the correct time."

The chauffeur sought words appropriate to his feelings. Ponto did his muzzle, saved him the trouble. A pretty pointer leaped from the car, and attracted by the affable friendliness of Ponto's greeting, pricked up its ears, and sought, in a spirit of canine brotherhood, to touch noses with him. The needle in Ponto's muzzle did its work as the spongy superior of the pointer, which leaped back with a yelp, and turned tail. Ponto, in an effort to apologize, followed, and finding itself bayoneted at every contact with this demon dog, the pointer definitely took flight, howling, leaving Ponto in a state of wonder and humiliation at the manner of what had been promised to be a very friendly acquaintance. The pointer's master watched its strange flight, and swore. His eye turned to the boy who had caused all this, and he alighted pale with anger.

"You got me," said he, remembering Newton's impudent question, "to give you what you deserve."

Newton grinned and dodged, but the bank of loose earth was his undoing, and while he stumbled, the chauffeur caught and held him by the collar. Again Ponto intervened, for as the chauffeur freed holding Newton, the dog, evidently regarding the stranger as his master's friend, thrust his nose into the chauffeur's palm. The chauffeur behaved much as his pointer had done, except that the pointer did not swear.

The grading gang laughed. Newton grinned even while in the fell clitch of circumstances. Ponto, tried to gnaw the chauffeur's trousers, and what had been a laugh became a roar. Gmell and mercy departed from the chauffeur's mood; he drew back his hat to strike the boy—and found it caught by the hard hand of Jim Irwin.

"You're too angry to punish this boy," said Jim gently; "and if you had the right to punish him at all."

The chauffeur, however, unhesitatingly released Newton, and furiously delivered a blow meant for Jim's jaw, which miscarried by a foot. In reply, Jim crouched with an awkward swinging uppercut. It landed fairly on the point of the jaw. The chauffeur staggered and slowly toppled over into the soft earth which had caused so much of the rumpus.

"Oh, cut it out," said a fat man in the rear of the car, who had hitherto manifested small interest in anything save Ponto. "Get in, and let's get out of our way."

Colonel Woodruff, waving toward him in his rumbust, held up by the traffic blockade, asked what was going on here, and the chauffeur, rising groggily, climbed into the car; and the meeting dissolved.

"Good work, Jim," said Cornelius Bonner. "I didn't think 'twas in you!" "It's beastly," said Jim, reddening. "I didn't know either."

CHAPTER II

Reversed Unanimity. The great blade of the grading machine, running diagonally across the road and pulling the earth toward its median line, had made several trips, and much perspiration about Jim Irwin's forthcoming appearance before the board had been addressed to Jim and exchanged by others for his benefit.

To Newton Bronson was given the task of leveling and distributing the earth rolled into the road by the grader—a labor which in the interests of fitting a muzzle on his big mottled dog he deserted whenever the machine moved away from him. That there was some mystery about the muzzle was evident from Newton's pains to make a secret of it. His wires were curled into a ring directly over the dog's nose, and into this ring Newton had fitted a cork, through which he had thrust a large needle which protruded, an inch-long bayonet, in front of Ponto's nose. As the grader moved along one side of the highway, a high-powered automobile approached on the other, making rather bad weather of the newly repaired road. A pile of loose soil that Newton had allowed to lie just across the path made a certain maintenance of speed desirable. Newton planted himself in the path of the laboring car, and waved its driver a command to halt. The car came to a standstill with its front wheels in the edge of the loose earth, and the chauffeur fuming at the possibility of stalling—a contingency upon which Newton had confidently reckoned.

"What do you want?" he demanded. "What do you mean by stopping me in this kind of place?" "I want to ask you," said Newton with mock politeness, "if you have the correct time."

The chauffeur sought words appropriate to his feelings. Ponto did his muzzle, saved him the trouble. A pretty pointer leaped from the car, and attracted by the affable friendliness of Ponto's greeting, pricked up its ears, and sought, in a spirit of canine brotherhood, to touch noses with him. The needle in Ponto's muzzle did its work as the spongy superior of the pointer, which leaped back with a yelp, and turned tail. Ponto, in an effort to apologize, followed, and finding itself bayoneted at every contact with this demon dog, the pointer definitely took flight, howling, leaving Ponto in a state of wonder and humiliation at the manner of what had been promised to be a very friendly acquaintance. The pointer's master watched its strange flight, and swore. His eye turned to the boy who had caused all this, and he alighted pale with anger.

"You got me," said he, remembering Newton's impudent question, "to give you what you deserve."

Newton grinned and dodged, but the bank of loose earth was his undoing, and while he stumbled, the chauffeur caught and held him by the collar. Again Ponto intervened, for as the chauffeur freed holding Newton, the dog, evidently regarding the stranger as his master's friend, thrust his nose into the chauffeur's palm. The chauffeur behaved much as his pointer had done, except that the pointer did not swear.

The grading gang laughed. Newton grinned even while in the fell clitch of circumstances. Ponto, tried to gnaw the chauffeur's trousers, and what had been a laugh became a roar. Gmell and mercy departed from the chauffeur's mood; he drew back his hat to strike the boy—and found it caught by the hard hand of Jim Irwin.

"You're too angry to punish this boy," said Jim gently; "and if you had the right to punish him at all."

The chauffeur, however, unhesitatingly released Newton, and furiously delivered a blow meant for Jim's jaw, which miscarried by a foot. In reply, Jim crouched with an awkward swinging uppercut. It landed fairly on the point of the jaw. The chauffeur staggered and slowly toppled over into the soft earth which had caused so much of the rumpus.

"Oh, cut it out," said a fat man in the rear of the car, who had hitherto manifested small interest in anything save Ponto. "Get in, and let's get out of our way."

Colonel Woodruff, waving toward him in his rumbust, held up by the traffic blockade, asked what was going on here, and the chauffeur, rising groggily, climbed into the car; and the meeting dissolved.

"Good work, Jim," said Cornelius Bonner. "I didn't think 'twas in you!" "It's beastly," said Jim, reddening. "I didn't know either."

Colonel Woodruff looked at his hired man sharply, gave him some instructions for the next day and drove on. The road gang dispersed for the afternoon. Newton Bronson carefully secreted the magic muzzle, and chuckled at what had been perhaps the most picturesque successful bit of devilry in his varied record. Jim Irwin put out his team, got his supper and went to the meeting of the school board.

The deadlocked members of the board had been so long at loggerheads that their relations had swayed back to something like amity. Jim had secretly entered when Con Bonner addressed the chair.

"President," said he, "we have wid our night, a young man who makes no introduction to an audience in this place. Mr. Jim Irwin. He thinks we're bullheaded mules, and that all the schools are bad. At the proper time I shall move that we hire him for teacher; and pointing that motion, I move that he be given the door. You've all heard of Mr. Irwin's ability as a white hope, and I know he'll be listened to with respect!"

Much laughter from the board and the spectators, as Jim arose. He looked upon it as a ridicule of himself, while Con Bonner regarded it as a tribute to his successful speech.

"Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Board," said Jim, "I'm not going to tell you anything that you don't know about yourselves. You are simply making a farce of the matter of hiring a teacher for this school. You know, and I know, that even if your silly deadlock is broken by employing a new candidate, the school will be the same old story. It will still be the school it was when I came into it and a little ragged boy—here Jim's voice grew a little husky—"and when I left it, a bigger boy, but still as ragged as ever."

There was a slight sensation in the audience, as if, as Con Bonner said about the knock-down, they hadn't thought Jim Irwin could do it.

"Well," said Con, "you've done well to hold your own."

"As all the years I attended this school," Jim went on, "I never did a bit of work in school which was economically useful. No other pupil ever did any real work of the sort farmers' boys and girls should do. We copied city schools—and the schools we copied are poor schools. We made bad copies of them, too. If any of you three men were making a fight for their school, I'd say, 'What the Country Life commission called a 'new kind of rural school,' I'd say fight. But you aren't. You're just making individual fights for your favorite teachers.'"

CROP ESTIMATES LEAD TO HEAVY WHEAT SALES

Season Closed with Liquidation on Strength of Report from Canada; Bearish Sentiment Prevails

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Estimates that the 1923 Canadian crop of wheat is 70,000,000 bushels larger than last year's total led to much selling here today near the end of the board of trade session.

Except for a brief rally near the middle of the session wheat had a downward tendency throughout the day. Initial weakness of Winnipeg quotations started the price decline here with the bearish sentiment emphasized by reports that the Canadian crop movement was gaining rapidly.

According to a report, credited to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the total yield of wheat in Canada this season is 470,000,000 bushels, the largest amount on record. This would make the combined United States and Canadian crop 1,250,000,000 bushels, an aggregate of only 3,000,000 bushels less than last year, and would suggest 500,000,000 bushels surplus for export after the end of the season.

Corn averaged lower with wheat despite rather widespread report. Cotton higher owing to scantiness of supplies here.

CHANGES SHOWN IN TOTAL FARM CROPS FOR 1923

Idaho's Total of Wheat This Year Estimated at 29,045,000 Bushels; Fewer Spuds; Bean Harvest Heavy

Threshing of Idaho's 29,045,000 bushel crop of wheat is proceeding in full blast, necessitating the September crop report for Idaho issued from the Boise office of the department of agriculture.

The indications are that winter wheat will yield an average of 27 bushels per acre for a total of 10,011,000 bushels and spring wheat 25.6 bushels to 18,434,000 bushels, making a total wheat production, "the report says. "Good yields are being secured in all parts of the state, especially in north Idaho. Total wheat in Idaho last year was 24,275,000 bushels. "Oats production promises 7,834,000 bushels and barley 3,470,000, both being a little below the 1922 crop of 1,500,000 and 500,000 bushels, respectively. The United States total wheat crop is estimated at 793,000,000 bushels compared with 793,000,000 bushels in 1922 and 855,000,000 as the five-year average from 1917 to 1921.

A decrease of about 3,000,000 bushels in the Idaho potato crop this year is predicted in the government report, shown as follows:

Smaller Potato Crop.

"A condition of 56 per cent. forecasted 11,735,000 bushels, a drop of four points in condition for August, 1923, since the August 1 estimate. Up to September 1, 1923, ears of early potatoes or close to one million bushels, had been shipped from the state. Yields were poor, reducing carload carlot movement estimates.

The United States crop is placed at 300,000,000 bushels, just short of the 5 year average, 301,192,000 of 388,000,000 bushels. However, it is 10,000,000 bushels greater than the August estimate, but 1,000,000 bushels less than the large crop of 1922.

Estimated Potato Production.

Idaho Fruit Crop Heavy.

"There is much activity in orchards and packing plants, and the last week vesting the largest apple, peach and prune crops ever raised in the state. Apple promises 4,701,000 bushels and a carlot movement of 570 cars, just short of the 5310 cars shipped in 1922, and exceeding the 4251 cars shipped last year. Carlot shipments of prunes is increasing each day and peak will be reached during this month. About 2300 cars are expected, compared with 1610 cars shipped last year. Eighteen cars of peaches were loaded up to September 1, compared with 12 cars for the same period last year. The crop is estimated at 285,000 bushels, against 244,000 bushels in 1922.

State, Federal and County Representatives to Co-operate in Protective Measure

All cattle in Twin Falls county will be tested for tuberculosis this fall by representatives of the federal and state bureau of animal industry co-operating with the local county bureau agent, according to an announcement Wednesday by Dr. Wendell E. Smith, state veterinarian.

The tests are to begin about November 1st and will require the services of Dr. Smith, Dr. H. E. Grooms of Twin Falls and Dr. McMillan of Filer, Dr. Nyo of the Idaho state bureau and Drs. Ellis, Neary and Sullivan of the federal bureau of animal industry. The purpose of the tests is primarily one of protection against the shipping of infected cattle. In the county where 22,000 cattle were tested only 56 were found to be reactors, or infected.

FIELD EVENT TO START SUNDAY

Plans Are in Shape for Opening of Annual Bird Dog Trials Next Week

Plans and preparations are rapidly rounding into shape for the third annual field trials to be run by the Southern Idaho Field Trial club Friday, September 14, 1923. The trials will be held at 7:30 o'clock. The run will start at the H. T. Jesters place one mile west of the South Fork store.

The first stake to be run will be the puppy stake which will be followed by the derby. In the afternoon the amateur stake, open to all dogs that have never run in trial, will be run. The club is anxious that the local men enter their dogs in this stake as one of the purposes of the club is to encourage the owning of dogs and prohibit better types of bird dogs. This stake will give the local dog owners a chance to try their dogs under field conditions. Registered is not necessary to enter this stake.

Monday morning the all dog stake will be run, open to all registered dogs regardless of previous runs. This stake will be the prettiest stake of the meet and should show the real dogs of the trials. Monday afternoon the Irish Setter stake open to Irish setters and dog parties will be run. The Irish setters seem to predominate in this section and the stake will be a large one.

The Strive Hotel has been designated headquarters for the club and all information can be secured there during the trials. All the trials will probably be run in the lobby every night, and all the all-nighters will be on deck after the day's runs are over so if any of the trials are missed drop in the Perrine and get the real dope.
