Division Commander in Destroyer Squadron Driven on Rocks Testifies Against Superior Officer in Charge

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26 (AP)—Commanding officers of vessels steaming astern of the U. S. S. Delphy when she led squadron eleven into the rocks off Honda Cal. Sept. 23, could not be held culpable in carrying out the destroyer doctrine of following their leader," Captain Robert Morris a division commander in the fleet squadron today said the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster.

"We have frequently had to follow our squadron leader where no course whatever was signalled and we were not given any information about the course," Captain Morris testified.

It would have been "very much out of place" for any officer "of the rank" not to have suggested to Captain Edward H. Watson, commanding, that the squadron's speed be cut down for the purpose of taking soundings, said the witness, inasmuch as he was their superior officer, years ahead of them in seniority.

"Does seniority ever take the place of common sense?" he was asked.

"They are supposed to be synonymous," he replied.

Rebates Narrow Escape.

Under the questioning of Admiral William V. Pratt, presiding member of the court of inquiry, Captain Morris, who is one of the 13 officers named defendants in connection with the disaster investigation, told how his division ran into a thick fog on Puget sound last summer and was saved from disaster only by a quick reduction of speed and immediate resort to soundings.

"We found we were in only seven fathoms of water, and backed out quickly," he said.

"Was that a trying position?" Admiral Pratt inquired.

"Yes."

"Did the officers of the division behave with coolness and efficiency?"

"Yes."

Was Complimented.

"Do you remember receiving a complimentary message from the destroyer force commander for your skill in extricating your division from the rocks?"

"Yes, I did receive such a message."

"If you had been in command of squadron eleven on the night of September 8 would it have gone on the rocks?"

"I do not like to flatter myself," responded the witness, "but inasmuch as I am testifying under oath, I will say no. It would not have gone on the rocks."

Division Wrecked.

Asked to name the destroyers in his division at the time it was extricated from danger with such skill as to excite the commendation of the destroyer force commander, Captain Morris named the S. P. Lee, the Young and the Nicholas and the Woodbury, all four of which were wrecked off Honda and all four of whose commanders are defendants in the disaster.

"I am bringing all this into the record," explained Admiral Pratt. "To show that these captains usually handled their ships in a reasonable manner."

The presiding member of the court then asked the witness if he had taken all possible precautions for the safety of his division on the night of the Honda disaster.

"Yes," answered Captain Morris, "considering the fact that I was part of a military formation and subordinate to a senior officer whose seniority I was bound to respect."

Discover Error.

Captain Morris said he was not worried by the course the Delphy was steering up to 9 o'clock and that when she made a sudden eastward turn at that time without consulting the ships astern he had no choice but to follow her leader and only three minutes in which to discover that the lead was dead wrong for she struck the rocks within that time.

"The Delphy picked the worst possible spot on the coast to go aground," he added.

"At any other place we could have saved most of the ships."

Captain Morris was followed on the stand by Commander William L. Calhoun, captain of the U. S. S. Young, who corroborated his testimony that there was nothing wrong with the Delphy's course until she turned and that they then had no choice but to follow her lead.

CROP MARKETING SYSTEM BLAMED

Increased Land Values Only Profit to Farmers Under Present Plan, Williams Says

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 26 (AP)—Farmers themselves are responsible for their own destiny, Carl Williams, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman and president of the American Cotton Growers exchange, declared in an address before the annual meeting of the American Bankers' association tonight.

The underlying trouble with American agriculture, Mr. Williams asserted, is not the price deflation of the last few years, but the fact that the system under which American farm crops have been marketed has always been such that on the average the only profits ever earned by farmers have resulted from the increased values of land.

"The solution of the problem does not lie in political action by farmers, but in government fixing of farm products," Mr. Williams declared. The modern commodity marketing movement, he said, was created to remedy the difficulties which beset American agriculture. Bankers were the partners of farmers in this movement, he added, because they financed the marketing associations which disposed of the farm products.

ARGUE WARD MURDER CASE

No Witnesses Introduced in Trial Argued Before State Supreme Court; Third Day of Surprise Events

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—The case of Walter S. Ward was pleaded before a jury in state supreme court today without a single witness having been called in defense of charges that he murdered Clarence Peters, ex-sailor, 17 months ago.

This day marked the third successive one in which the trial has been a series of surprises. The prosecution had rested its case last night with abrupt unexpectedness, after summoning only 32 of the 72 witnesses whose testimony before the extraordinary grand jury caused Ward's indictment. The defense was to have begun calling witnesses this morning.

Instead, a few moments after Justice Wagner took the bench Isaac N. Mills, Ward's aged chief counsel, said: "The defense rests, your honor."

A short recess followed, then a four hour and 15 minute address before the jury by the defense.

If, as has been rumored, the prosecution does not forego its privilege, it will begin summarizing its case before the jury tomorrow morning.

UNLUCKY MONEY

Of casual interest is the proposal of the federal government to do away with the two-dollar bill.

People do not like the two-dollar bill, because they say it is "unlucky."

This is the only country in the world where a good banknote of any denomination would be abandoned for such a reason.

AN ADVERTISING FAME. In New York City the big dailies, as the result of a pressman's strike, were forced for several days to combine in the publication of one small paper.

Business men became alarmed, declaring that if the situation continued every branch of finance, commerce and industry would be very seriously affected.

COURT BOOM INTELLIGENCE. A federal judge in Illinois recently decided that the jurors brought into his court were not up to best possible standard.

A very thorough juror-hunt then began and no bright-looking man was allowed to escape.

It has been complained in the past that intelligent jurors were not wanted by lawyers trying cases.

Nevertheless there has been a growing improvement in the public attitude toward jury service.

THE PRINCE OF WALES, TRAVELING AS LORD RENFREW, SEEKS REST ON HIS "E. P. RANCH" IN ALBERTA, CANADA

PRINCE OF WALES ON HIS ALBERTA RANCH. LORD RENFREW (PRINCE OF WALES)

When the Prince of Wales toured Canada in 1919, he purchased a 6,000 acre ranch in the beautiful rolling country of Southern Alberta.

Among the prince's neighbors are such well known ranch owners as the Earl of Minto, George Lane of the "Bar U Ranch" covering 62,000 acres and Guy Woodcock of the "S. Ranch."

To aid in the development of Canada's live stock industry, some of the thoroughbred cattle are now on loan to the University of Iowa.

High River is 40 miles south of Calgary on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the E. P. Ranch is in the heart of a great stock raising country.

have you done in the way of teaching the things called for by the course of study?

"I'm willing," said Jim, "to stand or fall on an examination of the children in the very textbooks we are accused of neglecting."

Jennie looked steadily at Jim for a full minute.

"How many pupils of the Woodruff school are here?" she asked. "All rise."

A mass of the audience, in the midst of which sat Jennie's father, rose at the request.

"Why," said Jennie, "I should say we had a quorum, anyhow! We'll have school here. And Mr. Irwin, please remember that you state that you'll stand or fall on the mastery by these pupils of the textbooks they are supposed to have neglected."

"Not the mastery of the text," said Jim. "But their ability to do the work the text is supposed to fit them for."

"Well," said Jennie, "I don't know but that's fair."

"But," said Mrs. Hankon Peterson, "we don't want our children brought up to be just farmers. Suppose we move to town—where does the culture come in?"

The Chicago papers had a news item which covered the result of the examinations; but the great sensation of the Woodruff district lay in the Sunday feature carried by one of them.

"When it became known," said the news story, "that the schoolmaster had bet his job on the proficiency of his school in studies supposed and alleged to have been studiously neglected, the excitement rose to fever heat.

"The local Mr. Dooley is Cornelius Bonner, a member of the board. When asked for a statement of his terms after the county superintendent had decided that her old sweetheart was to be allowed the priceless boon of earning forty dollars a month during the remainder of his contract, Mr. Bonner said, 'Aside from being licked, we're all right. But we'll get this guy out, don't fall down and forget that!'"

"The examinations tried to show," said Mr. Bonner, when asked for his opinion on the result, "that in order to learn anything you should study something else. But will get this guy yet!"

"Jim," said Colonel Woodruff, as they rode home together, "I'm just beginning to understand what you're driving at. And I like being a wild-eyed reformer more and more."

Jennie's voice was rising toward the scream-line, and Mr. Smythe recognized the hand of fate.

By the time at which gathering darkness made it necessary for the balliff to light the lamps, the parties had agreed on the facts.

He had used up a great deal of time in studying farm conditions. He had induced the boys to test the cows of the district for butterfat yield.

He had hoped to open to the boys and girls the wonders of the universe which are touched by the work on the farm.

"An' I say," interposed Con Bonner, "that we can rest our case right here. 'That if ain't the limit, I don't know what is!'"

Jennie turned to Jim. "Now, Mr. Irwin," said she, "while you have been following out these very interesting and original methods, what
