RESIGNATIONS OF DIPLOMATS ARE ACCEPTED

Harvey and Child Quit, Marking First Big Recent Change in Foreign Corps; Claim Financial Burdens Too Great

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The resignations of Ambassadors Harvey, at London, and Child, at Rome, submitted for private reasons and under agreements reached with the Harding administration, have been accepted, marking the first big change in the American diplomatic service since President Coolidge took office.

Ambassador Harvey will quit his post about the first of the year. Ambassador Child, who has either left or is about to leave Rome for the United States, will not go back. None of the other American ambassadors or ministers, the state department said in making the announcement, has any similar agreement limiting his term of service so far as known.

There was no official word available tonight as to successors President Coolidge might send to fill the posts. At the state department it was not admitted that any steps had yet been taken to sound out the two governments as to suitability of possible appointees.

Both ambassadors played important parts in the campaign which resulted in the election of President Harding and since entering on their diplomatic duties they have been prominent figures in negotiations having to do with post-war developments.

The outstanding incident of British-American relations during the period of Ambassador Harvey's duties in London was the conclusion of the British debt negotiations. When the exchanges reached their final stage and Premier Baldwin, then chancellor, was in the United States, the British commission to work out details of a new agreement, Mr. Harvey was called home to aid in bringing the refunding to a successful conclusion.

At present questions regarding liquor smuggling and the status of liquor stores in American waters are among subjects before the British imperial conference, now in session in London. The British government recently notified Secretary Hughes that his proposals for a treaty agreement to cover those subjects, while not favorable from a foreigner's view, might be laid before the council representatives of the British self-governing colonies.

Headed Delegation. Ambassador Child headed the American delegation sent to the first Lusanna conference for conclusion of peace between Turkey and the allies. While the United States was not at war with Turkey, it was felt necessary

Notorious Thief Is Taken After Exciting Chase

French Jewel Robber Shamed Death But Failed to Escape Final Capture

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Gabriel Alphonse Mourey, jewel thief, who was shot at Chelles, 13 miles from Paris, at first shamed death and then serious injury, but was found at the hospital to be not seriously wounded, it was announced tonight.

Mourey, under the alias of Henri Dollat, was wanted for theft of $90,000 worth of jewels from the Washington Square home of Alberto Scharneck, retired New York financier, in April, 1922. He is alleged to have posed as a butler to the Scharneck household and then to have led the band of criminals who looted Mr. Scharneck, his wife and a number of servants in the wine cellar of their home, rifling the kegs.

Greater Acreage of Flax Is Given Study by Federal Experts

Officials Point Out Advantages Can Be Gained by Specializing in New Crop

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Experts of the department of agriculture, in their studies of the wheat situation are giving consideration to the possibility of increasing flax acreage in the northwest by shifting from wheat and other crops. They point out that the United States this year is producing only about half of its flaxseed requirements, while last year only about one-third of requirements was produced. They estimated that at least 20,000,000 bushels of flax seed or its oil equivalent, will have to be imported from abroad during the next year.

DEFENDS COST OF UNIVERSITY

President Upham Makes Interesting Comparisons in Talk to Chamber of Commerce

That the per capita cost of education at the state university in Idaho on the basis of population ranks with the five lowest per capita state costs in the entire country and that the average salaries paid instructors is lower in but one state, namely, New Mexico, were among the interesting statements made by Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the Idaho institution at a complimentary dinner tendered the educator by the Chamber of Commerce at the Rogerson Thursday night.

The dinner was attended by about a hundred men and women, other than Dr. Upham, president of the chamber, and in addition to the address by Dr. Upham, E. J. Ostrander delivered a brief talk upon the functions of a university from the standpoint of the business man, laying stress upon the moral standard which might be expected to be developed by college life and the advantages to citizenship as a whole of the improved tone imparted by higher education among the business men of a few years hence.

Dr. Upham traced the history of the growth of the Idaho university from the passage of the act which created it in 1909 to the present time, reviewing the fundamental purpose of the founders and explaining the general development of the institution. From a basic college of letters and science as provided originally the university has been extended in scope to a remarkable degree, making the present review of the students from distant points because of the special advantages offered by many of the educational features. For instance, Dr. Upham pointed out that in the school of forestry the enrollment consists of 60 students from 19 different states.

With reference to the cost of education in general Dr. Upham traced the increasing growth of the schools in the past 20 years and the vastly increasing demand for high school education which necessitated such growth. "It seems to be fashionable in certain circles," said Dr. Upham, "to refer to the cost of education as a sort of national extravagance for which school men are principally to blame. It is true that this year in America we have a billion dollar educational program, but it is also true that we have an annual expense bill for cigars, cigarettes, tobacco and cosmetics amounting to the sum of 10 billion dollars. In the light of the comparison it would not seem that education is a very expensive thing."

YOUNG WOMEN INJURED BY MOTOR RECOVERING

Attending Physician Makes Favorable Report on Condition of Girls Struck Down on Highway

Favorable report as to the condition of four young women employees of the county general hospital who were injured, two of them severely, when they were struck down on the highway between the hospital and Twin Falls by a truck which went out of control Thursday evening by Dr. John F. Coughlin, attending physician.

MONEY READY FOR HIGHWAY BUILDING PLAN

Denver Concern Reports Completion of Murtaugh District Warrants to Complete Gap in Oregon Trail

The final step in the co-operative efforts of the Twin Falls, Murtaugh and Burley highway districts, working with the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and with the assistance of the Kiwanis club committee, toward completion of a gap of 21.5 miles in the Old Oregon Trail is announced as completed in a telegram received late Thursday afternoon by the chamber of commerce.

This telegram from the International Trust company of Denver, Colorado, announces the purchase of $30,000 worth of warrants issued to the Murtaugh district, and gives definite assurance of the immediate construction of a gravel highway east from the end of the pavement at Hanes to connect with the gravel highway in the Burley district. Estimated total cost of the improvement is $180,000.

The federal highway department will furnish 58 per cent of the cost of the improvement under the co-operative road-building plan that has been worked out. The state highway department as well as the Twin Falls and Burley highway districts have funds on hand and appropriated to take care of the proportionate share of each in the undertaking, and the sale of this last lot of $30,000 worth of warrants makes the arrangement complete.

The telegram from the Denver concern, announcing purchase of the warrants is as follows: "Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. 'Purchase of the warrants is closed. Money is now available for the Murtaugh highway district.' 'International Trust Company.'"

The conditions of the weather which will determine the rate of progress that can be made in placing the cross section gravel stakes and arranging a few minor changes in the route of the highway so as to fulfill the government's requirements are now the principal and only obstacles to the immediate approval of the detailed plan by the government and the beginning of construction.

It is expected that the highway engineers that under favorable weather conditions, grading and graveling can actually begin in from 30 to 40 days, though, of course, it will be impossible to complete the entire highway construction before next spring.

This 21.5 miles will give a through hard-surfaced highway over the Old Oregon Trail route from Salt Lake, through the southern Idaho and Oregon to Portland and will help materially in attracting more tourists to cross Idaho next season in preference to the transcontinental highway route across the only partly surfaced and uncompleted.

REDS ROLED BY ASSASSINATIONS

Russia and Finland in Serious Dispute as Result of Killing on Frontier

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 4 (AP)—A serious dispute has arisen between Soviet Russia and Finland in consequence of the recent assassinations of M. Lavaroff and M. Loshnev, Russian members of the Karelian frontier commission. The Russian representative at Helsinki has delivered a sharp note to the Finnish government demanding the appointment of a mixed commission to investigate the assassinations; punishment of the murderers in accordance with the Russian law; and the return of gold marks as a guarantee for compensation to the Russian government. Russia has broken off her relations with Finland.

Sovietism Finds Little Sympathy Among Labor Delegates; Plan to Unionize More Basic Industries

Denunciation of Radical Movement by Briton Brings Thunderous Applause from Convention Attendance

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4 (AP)—The convention of the American Federation of Labor voted its disapproval of the Russian soviet plan today. The delegates rose and thunderously applauded the declarations of Frank Hodges, secretary of the coal mines federation of Great Britain, who said the soviet was a "cast-iron system originating in an Asiatic mind" and contrary to the spirit of democracy.

When Hodges in another part of his address said that American labor would inevitably enter politics as labor has done in England, there was complete silence. George L. Berry, president of the International Printing and Pressmen's union, told of his action in outlawing the recent strike of the web pressmen of New York's newspapers. Vigorous applause followed his statement.

Steps to unionize the steel industry, the packing industry, the southern textile industry and office workers in New York City, were approved today by the convention. This action was taken at the morning session and the convention adjourned in full swing, but when President Gompers called the afternoon session to order no further reports were ready and the convention adjourned until tomorrow.

Speaking of those who favor bolshevism, Hodges declared: "The soviet form of government. They declare that what is needed is the soviet form of government. 'We invite them to tell us on our platforms what they have to say in defense of their theories. But, when they have given their argument, it is very rarely that they have anything to offer that is superior to the democratic form. 'We do not want a cast iron system, originated by an Asiatic mind that is contrary to democracy.'"

In his remarks on politics Hodges said: "I know that you hold definite views in regard to labor's participating in politics. So did labor in Great Britain, 50 years ago. 'It is inevitable that when the labor movement has achieved what it seeks in the matter of wages and hours that it will exert for control of matters affecting life.' Support Churches. President Gompers, in reply to a pledge of co-operation by churches in a movement for a Labor Sunday, delivered to the convention by Rev. Dr. H. L. Dowman of Portland, said: "It is gratifying that we are coming nearer to the idealism of the churches.'"

Encouraging Word Is Received from Mrs. M. J. Sweeley, Injured in Stage Accident

Mrs. Sweeley was confined Wednesday to her room in a Boise hotel, but is expected to return to her home in a few days. She suffered a painful fracture of her side. Favorable report also was received Thursday as to the condition of Mrs. E. M. Mrs. Wolf is expected to preside at a meeting of the state organization of Catholic Women's leagues and also to attend the meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs.

CONVICTS READY FOR LAST STAND AGAINST DEATH

National Guardsmen Break Gaps in Kentucky Prison Walls; Prepare for Final Onslaught at Daybreak

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4 (AP)—Rifles and machine guns which had been pointing a hail of bullets into the mess hall of the state penitentiary here, where three convicts have been barricaded since their dash for liberty Wednesday morning in which three guards were killed, were silenced soon after dark tonight when besiegers who ransacked from cover were not fired upon by the tenants of the improvised fortress.

Opinion was that the desperadoes were dead or desperately wounded. In view of the possibility, however, that the convicts might still be able to conserve a small stock of ammunition for a last desperate stand when the attackers should enter the building, the guards were ordered to maintain a guard about the place tonight and await daybreak for further action. That at least one of the barricaded buildings' defenders was alive was proclaimed after firing ceased when a man attempted to leave by the main doorway. Guards opened fire and the man disappeared into the darkened building.

Twenty-five thousand rounds of machine gun ammunition from Camp Henry Knox, together with a supply of rifle and machine gun bullets received today and the crash of rifle fire mingled with the rat-tat-tat of the machine guns echoed from the Lyon county hills.

Three national guardsmen, under protection of improvised metal shields, were able to enter the ground floor of the two-story mess hall today and remove the machine gun. A shift of wind drove the gas back upon the attackers and the two men, affected by the gas, were forced to abandon their attempt to dislodge the convicts. A ring of machine gun turrets again was placed about mess hall tonight and by the flickering light could be seen gaping holes in the foot-thick walls at the north and west sides of the building. These breaches in the improvised fortress of the convicts were made by high power rifle and machine gun bullets fired in today's barrage.

Amatement was expressed by some observers that the defenders could have escaped death from the rain of steel-jacketed bullets sent smashing into the building today, but prison officials were said to have considered it possible that the trio found safety by taking refuge in one heavy brick and iron oven of the prison kitchen located on the ground floor of the mess hall.

Just before the general barrage against the convicts' cover was halted late today the attackers were successful in throwing several tear gas bombs through the windows of the lower floor. A supply of dynamite has been obtained and it was indicated tonight that other attempts to dislodge the defenders from their stronghold might be made to sap and mine the building.

GROWERS JOIN SALES COMPANY

State Association and Distributing Corporation Are Consolidated

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4.—Consolidation of the United States Grain Growers' Sales company of Minneapolis with state wheat growers' associations combined in the American Wheat Growers Association was announced in a statement issued today by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

The United States Sales company and the group of wheat growers' associations are co-operative marketing organizations and the consolidation centralizes the full strength of the farms marketing movement in one organization. The American Wheat Growers Association is the national marketing agency for nine state wheat growers' associations and maintains offices in Minneapolis, Duluth, Kansas City, Omaha, Portland and Seattle. It has memberships on the boards of trade of Minneapolis and Duluth.

The United States Grain Growers Sales company was established by the farm bureau associations of Minnesota and Iowa to care for the grain contracted by farmers of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., and maintains a membership on the Minneapolis exchange.

The American Wheat Growers Association previously has marketed only wheat pooled by the members of its state units, but through the merger it will assume the business of the United States Grain Growers Sales company, and hereafter will handle the consigned wheat grain of members of the United States Grain Growers and other farmers of the northwest and middle west states.

Additional grain marketing facilities will be immediately added to the Minneapolis headquarters. Wheat testing laboratories were installed last week and the present plan will be supplemented with additional equipment to care for the increased business of the organization.

RATE CONGRESS REGANTS ACTION ON TARIFF ACT

Hot Attack Launched in Fordney-McCumber Measure by Senator Jones Causes Change in Convention Plan

DENVER, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Western tariff congress capitulated to a warning by United States Senator Jones, democrat, of New Mexico, late today, when it voted to reconsider its action of last night, in which it went on records favoring the present on the present tariff act until it has been adequately tested. The action today followed a speech by Senator Jones, in which he launched a hot attack against the Fordney-McCumber measure, and declared the western organization was acting contrary to its call in adopting last night's resolution.

The motion to reconsider was passed in spite of a speech by United States Senator Phipps, with an address warmly supporting the Fordney-McCumber bill, and the first action of the western congress.

In disapproving the first action of the congress Senator Jones said: "If you had told members of the southern tariff congress you would endorse the present rates on manufactures, their names would not be on your association rolls today."

The present tariff law, Senator Jones asserted, "is full of inequities," "discriminatory," and "not scientific." He said the new law raises the rates on manufactured products 72 per cent above those of the Underwood tariff, protecting the manufacturers, but leaving the producer of raw material at the mercy of economic pitfalls.

The Colorado senator, who also spoke in favor of the Fordney-McCumber bill, declared it was impossible to go on under the Underwood measure; that the emergency measure gave protection to only a few raw material products and that it likewise was impossible as a permanent measure.

Salt Lake was selected as the meeting place next year.

OFFICERS SAW DANGER SIGNS

Navigators on Rearmost Ships of Ill-Fated Squadron Testify at Hearing

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Navigators aboard the U. S. S. Kennedy, which was leading the rearmost division of destroyer squadron eleven, when it steamed into the rocks off Honda, Cal., September 8, knew that they were "getting too close to Point Arguello" and sheered westward almost at the same time that seven ships ahead of them plowed through the surf to destruction, Lieutenant Commander Robert E. Bell late today told the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster.

Despite this realization of danger, the witness said, he would have attempted the fatal outward turn with the other vessels had he not noticed ships ahead of the Kennedy were slowing down and appeared to be in some confusion. He would have done this, he told the court, "because destroyer doctrine require me to follow the leader."

As captain of the Kennedy, Lieutenant Commander Bell testified he had been conferring with Captain W. G. Roper, chief of his division, over a series of radio compass bearings from Point Arguello which showed them "still north of the point and close together" shortly before 9 o'clock. He said they came to the decision that the Delphy, flagship of the squadron, was purposely running close to Arguello light "to get a definite fix."

CONSTRUCT NEW GERMAN CABINET

Stresemann Remains in High Office Under Reorganization of Ministry

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The new German cabinet will consist of four ministers, says a Central News dispatch from Berlin this evening—Dr. Stresemann, chancellor and foreign minister; Herr Minoux, minister of economy and finance; Otto Gessler, minister of home affairs and defense, and Heinrich Brauns, minister of labor and food.

The Reuter correspondent at Berlin says that the cabinet has not yet been definitely informed, but probably will include Gessler, minister of defense and interior; Von Oppen, agriculture and food. Luther, finance and economics. Brauns, labor, and Fuchs, occupied territories.

It is understood, the correspondent says, that the reorganization will be dissolved, only suspended, because it is feared that the winter and the scarcity of food might lead to civil war.

A conference of the democrats, attended by Gessler and Herr Oeser, former minister of interior, decided to advise President Ebert to resort to the reconstruction of the coalition government, while the centrists' conference favored retention of the parliamentary government with the cooperation of the socialist democrats.

The same dispatch says that Dr. Von Kahr, military dictator of Bavaria, has at last suppressed the Voelkische Bewegung, the Hitler organ, until October 14, owing to an inflammatory article entitled, "Artillerymen Get Ready for Action." The dispatch adds that Premier von Kulling yesterday sent a telegram urging Dr. Stresemann to discontinue the collection of recently increased taxes owing to the danger thereby involved to public law and order. This would appear to show that the reports of von Kulling's resignation were unfounded.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—adv.

LEWIS DEFEATS BURNS

The Screen

TRUE TALE OF REAL PEOPLE.

Seldom does the performance of an actor of the screen hit out consciousness of the theater from the minds of his audience, but Charles Ray does that by his sustained and powerful artistry in "The Girl I Loved," his second big United Artists production now current at the Orpheum theater.

Tremendous dramatic illusion is not too strong a term to apply to the work of Mr. Ray in this story, which takes on added conviction because it is a true story of real people. It is the actual love story of James Whitcomb

Billow, the poet, in his youth, and the girl of his heart. Interest in a photograph is vastly increased by the knowledge that the characters are not the puppets of a writer's imagination but that one is gazing intimately and at length into the secrets of a famous man's heart.

MACKMEN TRIM LEAGUE CHAMPS

New York Yankees Lose Chance for 100-Game Record by Losing to Athletics

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—The New York Yankees lost whatever chance they had of reaching their goal of 100 victories this season by losing today's game with Philadelphia, 7 to 4.

The American league champions have won 96 games and have but three left to play, all with the Athletics. The Mackmen clinched the game in the fifth innings when they battered Carl Mays for four runs. Eddie Rommel checked the Yankees after they had scored four runs in the first three innings. Babe Ruth performed at first base in place of Wally Pipp and knocked out his thirty-ninth home run in the first inning with Dugan on base.

Score: R. H. E.
Philadelphia 7 11 2
New York 4 10 3

Batteries—Hasty, Rommel, Harris and Perkins; Mays, Hoyt and Schang, Hofmann.

BOSTON WINS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Boston scored five runs in the second inning and defeated Washington today, 7 to 6, in a free hitting contest. Donaghy's two doubles aided the visitors in their victory.

Score: R. H. E.
Boston 7 14 1
Washington 6 10 3

Batteries—Flery and Walters; Zahniser, Russell and Ruel.

CHICAGO WINS LAST GAME.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Chicago brought the American league season to a close here today by defeating Detroit, 9 to 8, in the last game of the series. Ted Blankenship had only two bad innings and was backed by great support, especially by McClelland and Barrett who played at third, because Kamm was suffering from a cold. The locals won the game by bunting their hits with daring base running.

Score: R. H. E.
Detroit 6 11 3
Chicago 9 15 0

Batteries—Pillet, Francis, Holloway, Clarke and Woodall, Banister; Blankenship and Graham.

ST. LOUIS LOSES.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—St. Louis lost its last game of the season on its home grounds today to Cleveland, 9 to 1.

It was a great day for Tris Speaker. He established a new major league record by swatting his fifty-seventh two-bagger of the season, shattering the one established by Ed Delahanty in 1899, when with Philadelphia. The record was set in the seventh inning of today's game. Speaker hit a home run in the first with Summa on base, and singled three times. He also scored four runs.

Score: R. H. E.
Cleveland 9 12 1
St. Louis 1 13 1

Batteries—Edwards and Sewell; Wright, Grant, Root and Collins.

M'TIGUE KEEPS CROWN AFTER HECTIC BATTLE

Referee Ertle Hides in Private Home After Finally Giving Champion a Draw in Bout with Stribling

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 4 (AP)—Michael McTigue of Ireland tonight was spending out of this city with his light heavyweight championship crown following his fight with Young Stribling, the 18-year-old Macon, Ga., youth who for three hours after the fight had what was believed to have been the official title.

McTigue and his manager, Joe Jacobs, left town immediately after Ertle issued his official statement. McTigue issued a statement declaring that he had been forced into the ring with a broken thumb at the point of pistols, and Joe Jacobs stated that spectators had threatened to harm him to a holding him responsible for the fight being declared off officially earlier during the day.

Referee Ertle eloped in a private residence away from angry spectators, issued a signed statement saying that he had officially declared the ten round battle a draw and reversed his decision even in the face of threats that "unless I awarded the decision to Stribling I would never leave the arena alive."

He asserted that fight promoters had forced him to grab the right arm of the challenger and raise it aloft, naming Major John Paul Jones, being the committee of the local post of the American Legion staging the fight, as the man who grabbed him and Stribling's hand and raised them aloft.

W. Evans. The trip will be resumed early Friday morning and it is hoped that the destination will be reached some hours before the game, which will be called at 3:30 p. m.

The trip today was made in the midst of rain all the way. The lads, however, were feeling fine when they arrived here this evening. They received cordial receptions at every stop on the route.

It is advised that Twin Falls people planning to make the trip by motor to Idaho Falls Friday take their chains along. Roads for the most part are gravelled.

WAR HERO ON TOUR TO BE GUEST OF VETERANS

Captain Sam Goldie and Wife to Meet with Former Service Men of This Community at Special Luncheon

Captain Sam Goldie and Mrs. Goldie, appearing this week at the Idaho theatre, will be honored guests at a special luncheon meeting at the Ferguson hotel at noon today for all former service persons.

Captain Goldie left the Curtiss works where he was testing airplanes in 1915 to join the British air service, becoming a member of the Second squadron of the Royal Flying corps. Later he was transferred to the famous 'N' 4's of the "Flying Storks," and subsequently joined the Lafayette escadrille of the Foreign Legion and finally was discharged from the 94th aero squadron.

With more than a dozen enemy planes to his credit, he was the only American flyer awarded the Victoria cross. Other awards received by Captain Goldie include the Legion of Honor and the croix de guerre with 14 palms and a star. He was wounded several times, but managed to survive the war, and now is on his way back to New York after three years tour of the world.

HURRY BEET WEIGHING; AVOID EXCESSIVE DIRT

Utah Experiment Station Professor Points Out Possible Leak in Growers' Returns for Crop

Sugar beets lose weight excessively when left exposed in the field after digging. Even with the present sliding scale on the price of beets, this loss in weight becomes entirely a loss to the grower. Professor George Stewart of the Utah agricultural experiment station. Beets pulled and topped and left applied or put only in small piles lose five per cent of their weight each day for about five or six days, thus making a loss of at least one-fourth the total crop in a week. This happens in ordinary dry autumn weather. Untopped beets lose even more; the leaves are good evaporators.

No farmer can afford to lose a ton of beets a day on each acre he has labored so hard to grow. The best thing is to haul at once. The loaders keeping as close as convenient to the topers. In case beets must be left in the field, experimental work has proved that they should be thrown in large piles of at least 500 pounds and thoroughly covered with four to six inches of tops, with no space, not even along the bottom edges of the pile. Beets so cared for lose only about one per cent of their weight in 24 hours. Cool, damp weather decreases loss but by no means prevents it.

AVOID EXCESSIVE DIRT. It is extremely short sighted for farmers to allow their beets to go over the factory weigh scales with great quantities of dirt clinging to them. Sometimes this cannot be prevented but everything within reason should be done to avoid it. The factory cannot afford to buy dirt nor can it afford the extra work of cleaning and the extra resultant storage loss without making heavy rate reductions, whereby the loss is merely passed back to the farmer.

AN IMPORTANT STEP

Early next week a series of four meetings will be held over the County with a view to putting up the potato growers the advantages of a change in the present methods of potato marketing.

Every man in any way remotely interested in potato growing, and every man's wife, should attend these meetings if it is at all possible to do so.

Those persons who are apt to look with distrust upon the proposition of organized marketing by means of grower co-operation would do well to consider the accomplishments of the cotton growers and tobacco growers of the South or, if an example is desired closer at home, the fruit growers of California.

Step by step, prosperity has followed in the wake of co-operation. And in those districts where co-operative marketing is not practiced prosperity has very largely been conspicuous by its absence.

Grower co-operation constitutes the only means so far devised of giving to the producer a voice in the matter of the sale of his product.

By means of it he sells when the co-operative judgment of himself and his neighbors tells him the market is ready for his wares.

Without it he sells at the price offered by the buyer and usually at a time when he should not sell at all.

Co-operative marketing machinery is not easy of establishment. It cannot be organized and made to function well in one year or two years.

Its promise is not sudden and sweeping relief in the way of higher prices, but of steadily increasing benefits in the way of less expensive marketing facilities and better returns with the eventual reaching of a level of prices which will make for comparative riches for the men who grow the crops.

Everybody should watch for the dates of these meetings and then attend them with a view to studying out the advantages of the plan as offered.

WANTED, ACTION

The man who drives a car or truck on the public highway at night without lights should not lightly accept the responsibility which such act entails.

At best it is a foolish and a risky thing to do. Possibly at times there are extenuating circumstances, but for the most part there is no sound excuse.

A man's mind is filled with loathing for the contemptible character of the driver of the truck which, proceeding without lights on the wrong side of the road, on Wednesday night ran down and seriously injured the members of a party of young women. This act in itself was bad enough, but resentment rises to fever heat over the vicious fact that the driver made no effort to stop but proceeded on his way careless of consequence to the victims of his folly.

Some day some one other than the victim of such happenings is going to get hurt. The law provides a remedy for this sort of thing and public opinion demands stern methods.

A little organized effort against this sort of law violation along the lines followed in the case of bootleggers would be very well received in Twin Falls County.

FERNANDEZ WINS ELECTION

MANILA, Oct. 4 (AP) — Forces opposing the administration of Governor General Wood gained one point today with the conceded election of the Constitutionist, Ramon Fernandez, who was announced by Manuel Quezon, presidential leader, as one of the chief critics of the American regime, carried both Manila and the provinces in today's election.

OIL WELLS CLOSED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP) — The Associated Oil company today announced the closing down of approximately 200 wells in the Kern county, California, field. Less than 100 workers are affected by the shutdown, which is only temporarily company headquarters said.

The decision to close the wells is not the result of general market conditions, but was taken to meet certain requirements relative to the transfer of stocks of oil, it was announced.

STRICT BUT JUST

How Northwest Mounted Police Controlled Indians.

Small Force Did Wonderful Work in Patrolling and Keeping Order in Vast Territory.

For decades the mounted police of Canada have been the subject of unnumbered false stories. Such is the remarkable record of the force that there are many true stories about it that far outrival any work of fiction of the best writer's imagination.

When the monopoly of western Canada by the "Gentlemen Adventurers" traders in Alberta and Saskatchewan and their main business was trading bad whiskey to the Indians for furs.

To cope with these men, protect the Indians and few white settlers, the premier of Canada, Sir John A. Macdonald, decided on the formation of a body of men who, as he put it, "would be without any gold lace" in May, 1873, the authorization of the Royal Northwest Mounted police was made by the house of commons.

Macdonald, decided on the formation of a body of men who, as he put it, "would be without any gold lace" in May, 1873, the authorization of the Royal Northwest Mounted police was made by the house of commons.

Immediately 800 men were recruited in the city of Toronto, under Lieutenant Colonel French. From there they traveled by train to Fargo, N. D. This was then the end of steam locomotion to the great Northwest. With two field pieces and two mortars, this little army marched 800 miles from Fargo to Fort McLeod, Northwestern Territory, near the foothills of the Rockies, in the very heart of the Blackfoot Indian territory.

Yet the entire western region, comprising 600,000 square miles, was taken over by the mounted police without a gun being fired. The whole episode is one of the most remarkable in the history of the Canadian frontier.

The first mounted police force was completed at McLeod in 1877. In the same year a detachment pressed on to the country of the Wood Cree and Assiniboine Indians, and established a post at Fort Edmonton, 400 miles to the north. In 1878 Inspector Brisebois built a fort where the city of Calgary now stands.

Regina, Saskatchewan, first known as Pile of Bones by reason of the great staves of buffalo skeletons standing there in the early days, was made the headquarters. Regina retained the situation as headquarters until after the war, when the headquarters was moved to Ottawa.

Shortly following the massacre of General Custer in 1876, at the battle of the Little Big Horn, by the Sioux chief, Sitting Bull, the chief entered Canada with several hundred braves and attempted to stir the Canadian Indians to war.

Only by tact, diplomacy and that self-reliant bravery by which the man marches on and aways to his will a great number of men, as the mounted police did at this time and on hundreds of other occasions, prevented one of those terrible Indian wars which were so common during the early settlement of eastern Canada and the United States.

As it was, Sitting Bull and his band were handled without bloodshed. In the end they were escorted across the border by two constables. Perhaps the true secret of the success of the force with the Indians lies in the fact that the Indians had rights in the West, and whenever adjudicating cases where red men were concerned this fact was always to the fore with the police.

The BROWN MOUSE

"We ought to rln' the school plant all the time," said Jim. "It's the only way to get full value of the investment. And we've corn-cob work, pig-cub work, poultry work and canning-cub work which make it very desirable to keep in session with only a week's vacation. If you'll add the cream pool, it will make the school the hardest working crowd in the district and doing just what farm work, too."

"I like Mr. Bonner's suggestion," said Jim. "Well," said Hanson Peterson, who had joined the group, "as tank we better have a meeting of the board and discuss it."

"Well, darn it," said Columbus Brown, "I want in on this cream pool and I want it outside the district."

"We'll let you in, Clumb," said the colonel.

"Sure!" said Peter. "We hadn't no more sense than to let any one in, Clumb. Come in, the water's fine. We ain't proud."

"Well," said Clumb, "if this fever is going to do school work of this kind, I want in the district, too."

"We'll come to that one of these days," said Jim. "The district is too small."

Wilbur Smythe's car stopped at the district and he looked for him—a signal which broke up the party. Hanson Peterson passed the word to the colonel and Mr. Bronson for a board meeting the next evening. The picnic broke up in a dispersion of staid married couples to their homes, and young folks in top bugles to dances and display of fireworks in the surrounding village.

Jim walked across the fields to his home—neither old nor young, having neither sweetheart with whom to dance nor farm to demand labor in its inexorable chores. He turned after the sunset and saw the fence and looked longingly at Jennie as she so sweetly assisted into the car by the frock-coated lawyer.

"You saw what he did?" said the colonel interrogatively, as he and his daughter sat on the Woodruff veranda that evening. "Who taught him the supreme wisdom of holding back his troops when they grew too wild for attack?"

"He may lose them," said Jennie. "Not so," said the colonel. "Individuals of the Brown Mouse type always succeed when they find their environment. And I believe Jim has found his."

"Well," said Jennie, "I wish his environment would find him some clothes. It's a shame the way he has to go looking. He'd be nice-appearing if he were dressed anyway."

"Oh, they've never heard the news," said the colonel, "his going to have his first made-to-measure suit for Ameer. It's all fixed."

"Who's making it?" asked Jennie. "Gustaf Paulsen, the Dane that's just opened a shop in town."

"A Dane?" queried Jennie. "Isn't he British or another?"

"Ratherly," said the colonel jocularly, "seeing as how Bettina's Mrs. Hansen's daughter."

Clothes are rather important, but the difference between a suit made by Atkins, the tailor, and one built by Gustaf Paulsen, the new Danish craftsman, could not be supposed to be crucially important, even when designed for a very dear friend. And Jim was scarcely that—of course not! Was then, did the county superintendent hastily run to his room and cry? Why did she say to herself that the Hansens were very good people, and well-to-do, and it would be a fine thing for Jim and his mother—and then cry some more?

CHAPTER XVI

Jim Goes to Ameer.

Jim had never felt more the upstart uneducated farm-hand than when he was introduced to that audience at Ameer by Professor Withers, nor more completely disgraced than when he concluded his remarks. Even the applause was to him a kindly effort on the part of the audience to comfort him in his failure. His only solace was the look in Jennie's eyes.

"Young man," said an old farmer who wore thick glasses and looked

"I want to have a talk with you," like a Dutch burgo-master, "I want to have a little talk with you."

"This is Mr. Hofmyer of Pottawatomie county," said the dean of the college.

"I'm glad to meet you," said Jim. "No," said Jennie. "I know Mr. Hofmyer will excuse you until after dinner. We have a little party for Mr. Irwin, and we shall be late if we don't hurry."

"Where can I see you after supper?" asked Mr. Hofmyer.

Every thing to satisfy Mr. Hofmyer, and Jim was carried off to a dinner given by County Superintendent Jennie to Jim, the dean, Professor Withers, and one or two others—and a wonderfully select and distinguished company it seemed to Jim. Jennie seized a moment's opportunity to say, "You did beautifully, Jim; everybody says so."

"I failed," said Jim. "You know I failed. I couldn't remember my speech. I can't stay here feasting. I want to get out in the snow."

ACCUSED WITH PUTS BLAME ON STATE WITNESS

Mrs. Cora Williams, Filer, Is Named by Blackburn as Person Who Procured and Sent Drug That Caused Death

On the witness stand in his own defense Thursday, Melvin Blackburn, Filer youth, who is on trial in district court here for first degree murder of his girl wife, Gladys Hurs Blackburn, by poisoning last May, denied flatly that he had procured or sent his wife the drug that is alleged to have caused her death. He named Mrs. Cora Williams of Filer, as the person who procured and sent the lethal dose to the dead girl. The name of Mrs. Williams appears on the list of witnesses for the state in the case. She has not, however, been called to testify thus far in the proceedings.

Blackburn branded as false the testimony of a half dozen or more witnesses for the state to the effect that he had told them he had procured and sent the fatal drug to his wife. His testimony for the state in this regard has been presented during the progress of the trial by William H. Hurst, father of the dead girl; Dr. F. A. Dwight, Filer, who attended her during her fatal illness; Frank Schaefer, Filer, meat dealer and former employer of Blackburn; John W. Galbarr, deputy sheriff; H. S. Hamilton, former deputy sheriff; John R. Ault, probation officer.

Admits Telling Falsehood. He testified on cross examination, that he had made false statements to questions, and explained that he had done so because he "had to."

Mrs. Williams' name was brought in to the proceedings by Blackburn when he testified that he had met her on the morning shortly before his wife's fatal illness, and that Mrs. Williams had told him on that occasion that she had sent "more medicine" to Mrs. Blackburn at her request. He testified under cross examination that Mrs. Williams told him the name of the drug and that he knew it to be poisonous. He denied that he had attempted to communicate by telephone with his wife for a week or more before the morning after she was fatally stricken. Blackburn testified that he had visited Mrs. Williams' home on three occasions, and that he had never taken her to the hospital. On one occasion, he said, he went to the Williams home to attend social affairs, having called there the first time when his attention was attracted by music played on the piano by a "high class" pianist, whom he assumed as a girl visiting the Williams home.

More Spectators on Hand. Blackburn was on the stand when the recessed trial Friday morning. He was surrounded by a group of a dozen or more girls and young women when he left the stand. The number of spectators increased Thursday until seating capacity was exhausted. Blackburn will return to the witness stand Monday morning, and prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor will resume cross examination.

Indications that the trial will continue until late Saturday was seen Thursday when Judge W. A. Babcock, presiding, ordered that members of the regular jury panel who had been instructed to report again to the court next week, should be notified to report Monday morning.

The way for Blackburn's testimony was paved by J. W. Taylor of defense counsel, with a laconic opening statement, after the state had rested its case at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

"We expect the evidence to show," he said, "that the defendant not only did not procure and send the drug in question,"

Denies Defense Motions. First testimony for the defense was introduced after Judge Babcock had overruled a motion for a mistrial on an instructed verdict of acquittal, and for instruction to the jury that it could not, under the evidence, return verdict of guilt of first degree murder.

R. M. Spangur, Twin Falls pharmacist, was called as a witness by the defense to explain the similarity of Latin names of bichloride of mercury, which the state contends caused Mrs. Blackburn's death, and of calomel. J. E. Blackburn, brother of Melvin Blackburn, brother of the murder-charged youth, testified for the defense that they had been told by county authorities that if Blackburn would confess it would "lighten the burden." Both said they had refused to confess, but Blackburn made confession. Under cross examination the witness admitted that the authorities in question had sought to obtain a statement from Blackburn only as to the identity of the person who procured and sent the poison.

Contradicts Alleged Statements. Blackburn's statement on the witness stand Thursday as to the source of the lethal medicine is contradictory to three other statements, which, according to evidence introduced by the state, he has made on the subject.

Laymen are Heard at Church Session

I. H. Masters, Twin Falls, and R. J. McMahon, Shoshone, Address Baptist Convention

Activities of the Baptist denomination from the viewpoint of laymen were discussed by I. H. Masters, Twin Falls, and R. J. McMahon, Shoshone, at Thursday evening session of the thirteenth annual session of the Central Idaho Baptist association, which opened three days meeting here Wednesday evening.

"The greatest thing in the world," Mr. Masters declared, speaking on the subject, "Baptist Laymen in Action," is not church-loyalty, much as that is needed; it is not wealth, essential as that is; it is not more schools, important as education is; but the strong arm of protestantism in the open Bible. Through the Sunday school comes 90 per cent of the church's life.

"Surveying" social conditions, the speaker discerned general lack of confidence in established institutions, and urged that "forget the hairy truths which our forefathers handed down."

If the money that has been paid as membership fees in newly formed secret orders were turned into the church, it could be sufficient to finance its most comprehensive plans of activities, the speaker asserted.

Speaking on the topic, "Bible Principles of Living," Mr. McMahon made a strong plea for the fitting plan and declared that no other plan has been unfilled for accomplishment of the church's mission, except by means of men and money.

Delegates and visitors, together with a number of local members of the denomination, assembled at the annual association banquet Tuesday evening for almost 100 persons at Tom's cafe. Talks relating to various phases of church work were made on this occasion by Rev. J. H. Gervin, Shoshone; Rev. W. H. English of Kimberly; Mrs. Craig of Wendell; and Mr. McMahon.

Association business, including reports of committees and election of officers, will follow the praise service at the opening of Friday morning's session of singing. The program will include the Rev. A. S. Knudsen, Boise, secretary of the State Baptist association; Mrs. E. O. Butler; Miss S. H. Sweeney; Mrs. F. B. M. Holt, Buhl; Mrs. R. J. McMahon, Shoshone.

Discussion of activities of the denomination in the field of missions will be the order of the day. Speakers on topics in relation to home missions will include the Rev. H. W. Voltra, Hainey; Mrs. McMahon; Rev. L. M. Blackburn, Knudsen; F. R. Hartley; Rev. H. S. Withers, Shoshone. In relation to the foreign missions field the speakers are Rev. J. H. Gervin; Gooden; Mrs. L. M. Hakey and Rev. W. A. Shanks.

The session will be concluded Friday evening with a Baptist Young People's union rally, song service and address by the Rev. Mr. Gervin.

CITY ANSWERS IN WATER SUIT

Reply to Former Mayor's Complaint Sets Forth Reasons for Present Proceedings

Twin Falls municipal administration decided to complete the water works distribution system by installation of a motor at a expense of approximately $17,000, rather than to make preparations for enlarging the filtration plant in the near future to a capacity sufficient to serve a city of more than 15,000 persons, according to an answer by the city in the suit of J. D. Tucker, former mayor, against the present municipal administration. The answer was filed in district court Thursday.

The former mayor in this city, had contended that the present administration had incurred a writ of habeas corpus in order to prevent revenue to install additional meters.

Denial of all the material allegations made by the former mayor is contained in the city's answer. The allegations of the present administration's course in this regard is set forth in an affirmative defense.

Deciding to install meters was reached on the basis of economy, the answer says, the fact that the meter system already in use per cent completed, being a conservative estimate.

It was determined by an audit previously made, the answer says, that the water works income last year was approximately $54,778.13; operating expenses approximately $42,220. The water works funds there was appropriated $11,000 for interest and warrant redemption. This appropriation was found to be in accordance with the law.

When the decision to install meters was reached, the answer says, the present administration accepting the future of its present system, added $18,000 for replacement of a pipe line over Rock creek. The total anticipated expense thus was increased to approximately $68,220, and new water rates to raise additional revenue were made accordingly.

Regarding the answer says, it was discovered that appropriation of waterworks funds for interest and redemption was in violation of law, and reduction was effected in the cost of operating so that it was estimated the entire cost of operation for the year would not exceed $30,028.40.

Water rates subsequently were reduced in accordance with these findings. The answer was filed for the city by A. J. Meyers, city attorney, and Shad L. Hodgins, mayor.
