SUGGEST METHODS FOR LARGER BANK SYSTEM

Oppositions to Branch Banking by Country Institutions Emphasized; Urge Outline of Reserve Programs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Representatives of bankers' associations and federal reserve districts in various parts of the country suggested to the joint congressional investigation committee here today methods for improving and enlarging the federal reserve system.

Oscar Wells, president of the First National bank of Birmingham, Ala., and vice-president of the American Bankers' association, told the committee that some country banks were opposed to the federal reserve system because they believed it embodied the objections they had against branch banking. The system, he said, was being sold responsible for "its acts during the war."

Heavy Potato Crop Is Seen

Federal Report Shows Slight Reduction in Crops Except Spuds, Hay and Flaxseed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Slight reduction in crop production forecasts of a month ago except for potatoes, hay and flaxseed, were shown today in the department of agriculture's monthly report.

Corn registered a decline of 54,332,000 bushels, the forecast being placed at 3,921,454,000 bushels. This would make it rank as the country's fourth largest corn crop and make the fourth time it has passed the three billion figure. Wheat was estimated at 7,490,000 bushels less than a month ago, production being estimated at 781,737,000 bushels. Oats production declined 854,000 bushels and tobacco showed a severe reduction of 89,005,000 pounds.

Hay Crop Larger

Potatoes improved to the extent of 11,750,000 bushels more during September, time hay estimates increased 4,667,000 tons and peanuts 40,737,000 pounds more than a month ago. Frost damaged corn in practically

Classes Farmers as Nation's Most Valued Citizens

Secretary Wallace Scouts Ideas of Radicalism; Hear Talks on Dairy Industry

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—The readjustment which is in progress will not disconcert among agriculturalists in the opinion of Henry O. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, here today for the world's dairy congress and the national dairy exposition.

"The farmer is not a radical and never will be," Secretary Wallace said. "He is our best conservative citizen and any talk of radicalism is bunk."

Former Governor Frank C. Lowden of Illinois stated the American wheat farmer must organize co-operatively and study world conditions. When he takes time to study these conditions he will no longer be a one-crop farmer. He will diversify to meet conditions as they are. Co-operative organization for the farmer is bound to prove his own salvation.

A paper of J. Hill, of Belfast, Ireland, urged that time be set apart in all primary schools in agriculture districts for teaching the fundamentals of dairying. With this taken up with enthusiasm as they are. Co-operative organization for the farmer is bound to prove his own salvation.

Pittsburgh Firm Adopts Telegraph to Auction Fruit

BOSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A system of country-wide simultaneous marketing will be inaugurated here next Thursday, when by means of telegraph wires spreading from Faneuil hall market to New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Los Angeles, carloads of fruit and fresh vegetables will be sold at auction by the National Auction company of Pittsburgh.

The merchants in each of the five centers will be provided with lists of the commodities for sale and a corps of operators will flash their orders to every part of the country.

WALL OF WATER BREAKS DYKES; TOWN FLOODED

Levee Near Florida Municipality Gives Way; Residents Utilize Small Boats to Carry Them to Safety

ORLANDO, Fla., Oct. 9 (AP)—A special dispatch to the Reporter-Star from Moorehaven at 4:05 said that the levee had broken in at least five places and that water is from one to six feet deep in the country. Almost all two-story buildings are filled with persons coming in from the farms in boats and many are leaving town, the dispatch said.

Clewiston road is under water, all crops are damaged seriously and bridges are washed out, according to the dispatch, which adds that the water in the streets of Moorehaven is three feet deep and is in almost every business house. The flood resulted from the overflowing of Lake Okeechobee.

WATER RISING

MOORHAVEN, Fla., Oct. 9 (AP)—A frantic effort was being made tonight to rebuild the dykes surrounding this city and save the town from further disaster. The gate which kept back the lake on which the city faces was dying down at dusk, but the water was still rising in the city.

Waves from Lake Okeechobee were still washing high and farmers were attempting to reach the city with their stock. A careful check late today showed there was no loss of life.

Only a shift in the wind can check the rapidly rising water for it has been discovered that not only was the dyke surrounding the city of Moorehaven despoiled, but the dyke extending down to Clewiston, 20 miles from here, has crumbled and in places so that the flood began for reaching over the entire west coast of the lake.

STRIKERS BACK AT WORK

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—The nineteen thousand Hudson Coal company miners who struck yesterday voted today to return to work tomorrow and permit the anthracite board of conciliation to settle their grievances. Union officers advised this step.

Hughes Laments Absence of Fairness by Public in Its Demands on High Officials

American Secretary of State Dissects Modern Faults and Points Out Suggested Needs for Advancement

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9 (AP)—Public officers are forced to give half of their time to unnecessary contacts and a considerable portion of the national energy is wasted by the dominance in America today of a fleeting vision, a thirst for sensation and a relentless need for action, Secretary of State Hughes declared tonight at a dinner to President Angell of Yale university, held in connection with the convocation of Brown university.

"We find ourselves," he said, "in the age of the motor, the movie and the radio, which with freedom of locomotion, novel and easy intimacies, and the ever present and constantly expanding enterprise of the press give us a delusive facility in acquiring information. It is the day of fleeting vision. Concentration, thoroughness, the quiet reflection that ripens the judgment are more difficult than ever."

"Facility of communication is agreeable and useful, but it leads not only to make more numerous and important the demands of every calling, but a vast waste of time by rendering easy countless intrusions on serious work. A host of organizations spring up to give an artificial insistence to these demands."

"I think that it is the experience of public officials that it is not the proper work of the office that wears, but the unceasing requirements of those who have little to do with the public business and by their constant importunities for extra official attention, use up the nervous energy which should be devoted to public service. But so important is the maintenance of good will, so generous are our American expectations, that it may be said that a public officer gives about one-half his time in contacts which are really unnecessary in order that he may be in a position to serve the other half."

Secretary Hughes asserted it was the primary need of the American university—now more than ever—to in-

TEAMS ARRAYED FOR OPENING OF SERIES BATTLE

Yankees and Giants Await Dawn of First Day of Title Contest; Experts View Outcome as "Toss Up"

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—A horse divided against itself! Gotham's opposing diamond forces were arrayed tonight in battle order on the eve of that annual American institution—the world's biggest championship—the annual New York Giants and Yankees, rulers of all they have surveyed for the past three seasons, will start their 1923 struggle tomorrow. Records for attendance and receipts at a single game are expected to be shattered when the series opens tomorrow at the Yankee stadium, home of the American league champions, the biggest and costliest baseball park in the country. It was predicted that the capacity of the stadium, 70,000, would be taxed and that the receipts would be close to $200,000.

Corresponding increases in the duty on flour and other wheat products also will be asked, he said.

SEES NEW OFFER FOR SETTLEMENT

Lloyd George Reiterates Support of Hughes Plan; Urges Action Immediately

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 9 (AP)—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's premier, was the guest of the Canadian government today when he arrived in Ottawa from Montreal. On board his special train enroute from the dominion capital, Mr. Lloyd George reiterated to newspaper correspondents his declaration that Secretary of State Hughes' proposal, nearly a year ago, for an international commission to determine Germany's ability to pay reparations, was the most practical method of solution of the problem he had seen.

The important point in the proposal, he said, still stands, he declared. He said President Coolidge's assertion in Washington today that it was up to any foreign nation interested in the Hughes proposal to communicate indications of its interest to the United States, was in effect a new offer of the proposal. It is not too late, he asserted.

Hears Latest News. Mr. Lloyd George learned of President Coolidge's statement through the Associated Press dispatches which were read to him over the wireless telephone attached to his private car as the train sped from Montreal to Ottawa. All important foreign dispatches also were read and the premier said he felt as much at home as though he were still among old friends in London.

Commenting on the Hughes proposal, he said: "Action should be taken upon the proposal at once. It should have been acted upon when first made. They must do something like that or chaos will follow."

Whether France would act favorably upon the suggestion, he admitted he could not predict, but, he added, it was "a capital blunder" that the proposal was not accepted when first made. Some of the allies should have exerted pressure for such a program he declared, adding that even French

Walton Offers to Quit if Anti-Klan Law is Passed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 9 (AP)—Governor J. G. Walton tonight offered to resign to prove his good faith in his fight against the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma, if the legislature, at its forthcoming special session will enact an anti-klan law which he will submit to the lawmakers.

Challenging opponents of his administration, whose battle cry has been "resist not the evil empire," the executive issued a statement, addressed to the people of Oklahoma, saying: "When this bill becomes law it will rid the state of the klan and I will resign the office of governor immediately thereupon. In this way the people will be freed from the klan and peace and harmony can be restored to the state."

Prohibits Masks. Briefly, the governor's bill prohibits the use of the mask by secret organizations in Oklahoma and provides that all such orders shall be complete membership lists with the regularly appointed civil authorities. If the proposition is not accepted, Governor Walton declared, he will decide further how "we must proceed to protect ourselves from this organization of masked marauders who have practical control of the judiciary and the police powers in the principal cities of the state."

Governor Walton's statement follows in part: "On October 6, 1923, I issued a proclamation convening the members of the ninth Oklahoma legislature in extraordinary session at 9 o'clock a. m., Thursday, October 11, 1923."

The reasons for that call are well known to every citizen of this state. In short, they grew out of the conflict in Oklahoma between the visible and invisible governments. This conflict must now be brought to a close with a complete victory for the visible government or Oklahoma will face indefinite turmoil and strife, the final results of which might be disastrous."

"Un-Americanism." "Racial and religious bigotry and mob violence are bad enough when preached and practiced in the open; they become traitorously so when hidden behind the un-Americanism which is all too ready to kill serpents in our midst and restore that good nature and harmony and tolerance without which Oklahoma can neither progress or prosper nor guarantee happiness to our citizens." "I now challenge all newspapers and all klan members of the legislature to enact or cause to be enacted the above bill, and when this bill (to be passed by the governor) is signed, the practical control of the judiciary and the police powers in the principal cities of the state will be immediately thereupon."

UNIONS NOT TO ENTER AS PARTY IN 1924 RACE

Labor Convention After Most Spirited Debate Decides to Stay Out of Politics; Seek Pardon for Mooney

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor went on record emphatically today against launching into the political field, through the formation of the separate labor party.

Action on the political resolutions followed the most heated of the convention has seen. Advocates of political activity by organized labor presented their pleas and they were answered by an officer of the federation and delegates on the floor.

Andrew Wöll, vice president of the federation and chairman of the resolutions committee, pleaded for rejection of the political resolutions, arguing that labor should not place its destiny in the hands of a political party, but should rather depend upon the stability of the trade union movement.

He pointed out that in political questions in labor's realm would destroy the economic power of organized labor.

Repudiates Communism.
D. A. McVey, of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who introduced one of the political resolutions, declared that he wished to say in defense of himself that he and his associates were not communists. He said the only way labor could accomplish anything permanent would be through political action.

Pardons for Thomas W. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were asked in resolutions adopted this afternoon. The resolution adopted concurred in a resolution of the International Molders' union urging that Governor Friel W. Richardson of California be asked to pardon the prisoners.

Sovietism Opposed.
After a debate in which the soviet government of Russia was attacked and defended, the convention this evening rejected a resolution proposing that the federation urge the government of the United States to take steps leading to resumption of trade relations with Russia and eventually recognition of the Russian government.

SEEVING SENTENCES.

Demands of Dock Workers Not Yet Clear; Believes Bonus for Lumber Loading Is Principal Demand

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—More than 1,300 longshoremen of this city and the lower mainland of British Columbia, including lumber-loading points in the Fraser river districts, are on strike to enforce their demands on the employers.

The demands have not been made public by either side, but are said to include the restoration of a five cents per hour bonus for loading lumber, formerly paid here and discontinued in 1920.

FAULT FOUND IN COURT'S ORDER

Bill for Injunction Against Klan Members Held to Be Technically Incorrect

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—A bill for an injunction against William Joseph Simmons, emperor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and three representatives of three Chicago klans against whom a temporary injunction was recently granted to prevent them functioning as klans, today was found technically faulty by Superior Judge Paell. The court, however, allowed Charles G. Palmer, attorney and grand dragon of the realm of Illinois, of the Klan, to amend the bill and the injunction stands.

The three klans are alleged by Attorney Palmer to have seceded and aligned themselves with Emperor Simmons, who has organized the Knights of Kameloa, which he describes as a higher order of Klan craft, and later were banished by the national body.

The defendants charge that the national offices were administered improperly and that incompetency and tyrannical methods toward klansmen were prevalent.

Emperor Simmons has issued a proclamation addressed "to Klansmen through the nation," to the effect that he purposes "to elevate to the primary order of knighthood klansmen who by their conduct have proved loyal and faithful citizens of the invisible empire."

DANCING CRITICIZED IN DAYS OF THE CIVIL WAR

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dancing was "demoralizing our young people" even before the Civil war, according to at least one critic of American manners in the year 1852, a copy of whose volume of reminiscences growing out of a visit to the United States has been brought to light in a Los Angeles second-hand bookstore.

This anti-bellum writer, who identifies herself on the title page as Mrs. Duncan, an English woman, says: "This bugging and whirling with shut eyes because of dizziness and panting and falling on each other's shoulders confounds people of sedate and tranquil manners."

Not only American dancing, but the popular American tunes of 1852 excited Mrs. Duncan's indignation, for "being interested in their musical powers, I gathered collections of their popular airs and felt indignant at the inoffensive nonsense of the words which are in nearly every case attached to them."

What Was "Robin Hood's Barn"?

Nigh on to a thousand years ago, wealthy wayfarers learned to choose some roundabout route into Nottingham, rather than the short cut that led straight through Sherwood Forest.

For the forest was "Robin Hood's barn"—and doughty Robin and his merry men were eager coin collectors. People who buy without regard to advertising nowadays journey at high cost in roundabout ways, to make their purchases where values are dubious. For the shrewd buyer of anything, in our times, sends his money to market the straight, sure way, guided by advertising.

What is not advertised may, perhaps, be worth buying. But what is advertised simply must be beyond question. He would be a foolhardy merchant, or a reckless manufacturer, who dared publicity for anything questionable.

All the risk these days is in going 'round Robin Hood's barn. Buying on the strength of the advertised promise is the way to buy with least risk of disappointment and greatest certainty of satisfaction.

BRUISES GIVEN STIFF WORKOUT

Coach Evans Puts Linemen Through Practice at Park When Field Becomes Bog

Lincoln field again was to heavy for practice Tuesday evening, so Coach Evans took the huskies out on the greens in the city park. It was another tough workout with most of the evening spent on the linemen.

Jenks, who has been confined to his home with a bad cold and sore throat, was out Tuesday, but not in a suit. He probably will be ready for hard work by Wednesday night.

The backfield men were left to shift for themselves most of the evening and the line received all the attention. They still need more of the old fight and charge but are improving.

The Albion aggregation although defeated last Friday by Burley are a strong team and will give the locals a battle. From all the dope that filters through, they have a heavy team that will be hard to plug through.

The Rupert team has changed its plans for next Friday's game and they will journey to Idaho Falls instead of the Idaho Falls gang coming to Rupert, as first announced. Considerable interest is being shown by local fans in the game and all will be anxious to get the score as a comparison.

It will give us some idea of how we will stack up against Rupert when we play them November 15. If the field is dry the Rupert aggregation will have a much better chance for they are reported to be fast but light.

Cochran and Christoferson, on the local squad, will be watching. Both are big fellows and are willing, but not football wise yet. Both will probably get a chance to show their stuff next Friday against Albion.

Swim seems to have landed a permanent berth at center, and his charge is good, but his passes can stand some improvement.

Crom is still nursing a sore side and may not be able to get into Friday's mixup. Hodgins will probably be used at end. Wipivis looks good out there at end and with a little more confidence in receiving passes he will be a hard man to deal with.

The season tickets will be placed on sale this afternoon following a special assembly yesterday, and the whole student body is beginning to pop up and get some of the old-time fighting spirit that means a lot to a team.

With the student body and business men 100 per cent behind the team, we can go out and gather another state championship into the fold. Hitch your wagon to a star and then fight to keep it there—think of the spirit of the team this season.

Only two more nights of work in preparation for the big rumpus Friday. Not very long, but it can be done.

Previously a majority of bets had been placed at six to five and 11 to 10 on the Yankees. One wager was made at odds of 11 to 10 that Babe Ruth would make a home run at some time during the series.

NEGRO FOOTBALL STAR WROTE CREED ON GAME

Iowa State College Player, Killed in Minnesota Contest, Chronicled His Thoughts on Event of Battle

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 9 (AP)—John ("Jack") Trice, Iowa state college football star, who sustained injuries Saturday in the Minnesota game from which he died, wrote the following creed the night before the game:

"The Curtis hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5: "My thoughts just before the first real college game of my life: The honor of my race, family and myself are at stake. Everyone is expecting me to do big things. I will! My whole body and soul are to be thrown recently about the field tomorrow.

"Every time the ball is snapped I will be trying to do more than my part. On all defensive plays I must break through the opponents' line and stop the play in their territory.

"Beware of mass interference. Fight low, with your eyes open and toward the play. Ball back the interference. Watch out for crossbucks and reverse end runs. Be on your toes every minute if you expect to make good.

(Signed) "Jack." The creed or letter, unaddressed, was found in Trice's coat pocket this morning. The afternoon it was read by President R. A. Pearson to 3,000 students and faculty members of the college who attended memorial services held on the campus in the dead athlete's honor.

OCEAN CURRENTS INQUIRY TOPIC

Officers Testify Their Ships Were Carried Miles Off Course on Night of Wreck

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Abnormal currents noticed near the scene of the Honda destroyer disaster, remained the spotlight at today's review of the naval court of inquiry investigating the wreck when the government rested its case pending the arrival of its final witness and counsel for 13 naval-officer defendants, began introducing testimony.

Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, captain of the U. S. Destroyer, flagship of the ill-fated element of the squadron when it rode into the surf at Honda, Cal., September 8, was the first defense witness called. He had already testified as a witness for the government, but resumed the stand as defense witness in order to introduce into the evidence two affidavits and a letter which described strange currents affecting navigation near Point Arguello about the time of the disaster.

The affidavits were signed by captains of two steamers, asserted to have been carried from eight to ten miles off their courses by an unaccountable in-shore current near Point Arguello. According to the letter which was from the commanding officer of the U. S. S. Tennessee to the chief of the battleship division, United States fleet, a "current never before experienced in these waters" swept the Tennessee six miles off its course toward the rocks off Point Arguello on September 23 last.

Old Man Simms finished this exordium with the rising inflection, which denoted a direct question as to his status in the meeting. "We are 'You're as good as right as any one!" Jim's heart warmed. "There isn't a man in that meeting," said he to himself, as he walked to the schoolhouse door, "possessed of the greatness of spirit of Old Man Simms..."

CHAPTER XIX: A School District Held Up. Colonel Woodruff was on his feet as Jim made his way through the crowd about the door.

"Mr. Irwin is here, ladies and gentlemen," said he, "and I move that we hear for a minute as to what we can do to meet the offer of our friends in Fortawatomie county; but before I yield the floor, I want to say that this meeting has been worth while just to have been the occasion of our all becoming better acquainted with our friend and neighbor, Mr. Simms..."

"Friends and neighbors," said Jim, "you ask me to say to you what I want you to do. I want you to do what you want to do—nothing more or less..."

"Sure it is!" shouted Con Bonner from a front seat, thus signifying that astute wirepuller's definite choice of a place in the bandwagon.

"What do I want?" asked Jim. "More than anything else, I want such meetings as this district—and a place to hold them. If I stay in the Woodruff District, I want this meeting to effect a permanent organization to work with me..."

"I'm to be your hired man. I want a boss in the shape of a civic organization which will take in every man and woman in this district..."

"And I want a physician here once in a while to examine the children as to their health, and a dentist to look after their teeth and teach them how to care for them..."

"I want a counting-room for the keeping of the farm accounts and the record of our observation in farming. I want co-operation in letting us have these accounts..."

want these things because they are necessary we are to get the milk, and if we should get—and nobody gets culture out of any sort of school—they get it out of life, or they don't get it at all.

"So I want you to build as treaty for your school as for your cattle and horses and hogs. This kind of rural school—a social life which will be the social center, because it will be the educational center, and the business center of the countryside..."

"I want all these things, and more. But I don't expect them all at once. I know that this district is too small to do all of them, and therefore, I want a bigger district—one that will give us the financial strength to carry out the program I have sketched..."

"Oh, as to that," replied Jim, "I just wanted you to have in your mind what I have in my mind—and unless we can agree to work toward these things ahead of time, my stayin' here; but time—that's another matter. He'll be with me, and I'll work with you..."

"Get out of here!" said the colonel to Jim in an undertone, "and leave the rest to your friends..."

Jim walked out of the room and took the way toward his home. A horse tied to the hitching post had his blanket under foot, and Jim placed it on his back, patting him kindly and talking horse language to him...

HEAVY SELLING BREAKS QUOTATIONS ON WHEAT

Tentative Nature of Conference Plan for Farm Relief Blamed for Sudden Liquidations

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Heavy selling on the part of recent buyers broke down values in the wheat market today. The selling appeared to be largely a result of the disappointment that the wheat conference here gave no promise of farm relief of an immediate character.

Absence of buying was noticeable that selling pressure quickly increased and the volume of offerings became more of a burden than the market could withstand.

Beats pointed out that the new cooperative association, even if fairly successful, could only function after the lapse of considerable time as the plan would not be in operation until 50 per cent of growers in nine principal wheat states had joined the organization.

Although contract grades of corn for immediate delivery commanded $1.00 a bushel, the highest price yet for wheat, future deliveries went down with wheat. Oats followed.
