Famed Briton Appeals for Support of U. S. to End Troubled Affairs Abroad

"Until America Casts Her Influence Into Scale of Peace, I Despair of the Future," Says Lloyd George; Lauds Assistance Given in World War; Thousands Bid Him Welcome.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—An appeal to the United States to help Europe make peace was made here today by David Lloyd George, the war-time premier of Great Britain, in a public address in this country, after concluding his tour of Canada.

Speaking before many hundred persons at a luncheon given by the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association, the former premier said: "I am not here on any mission, but let me say to you one thing, that until the United States of America, with all its might and power, and with the moral command which it has in the world because of its past, with the great claim that you won by coming into the war with an almighty power, but for a holy ideal, sending millions of your best young men across to fight for liberty and for nothing else—until this great land casts its influence into the scale of peace, I despair of the future."

Referring to a statement that Americans were doing their best to forget the recent World War, he urged that they do not forget.

"There is nothing for you to forget—nothing. There is something, yes, something for you to be proud of. You came for nothing but the great purpose and a great ideal. It ought to be your pride. The part you took in it is one which is worthy of your greatest traditions. And my word is that so long as you remember that part, I trust that the United States of America will once more in due time, in its own way, cast its great might into the scales of peace."

Referring to the function of the program of the distinguished visitor during his day's visit to this city, arriving early this morning he said that he was to be escorted to the station and on the way to his hotel and thousands crowded the streets and greeted him with applause as he was escorted on a sight-seeing trip along the Mississippi river boulevard and to other points of interest. This evening he went to St. Paul for a private dinner at the Minnesota club and later left for Minneapolis, Ill., and Chicago, where he will arrive tomorrow noon.

Receiving Welcome
The welcome extended to Mr. Lloyd George here was one for the entire American northwestern. Seated at the head table at the luncheon were prominent men from this section, including Governor J. A. O. Prew of Minnesota; Governor H. A. Sates of North Dakota; Senator Hiram Shipstead and Magnus Johnson of Minnesota; former Senator Frank B. Kellogg of this state; Congressman Walter H. Newton of the fifth Minnesota district; Mayor Arthur Nelson of St. Paul; Theodore E. Jensen, president of the Minneapolis city council; and other Minneapolis city officials and C. A. Goren, a former president of the American Bar association. Behind the speakers' table the British and American flags stood entwined.

A cheerful ceremony was held during the luncheon when Mr. Lloyd George was formally made an honorary member of the Sioux tribe of Indians by chiefs in full tribal costume.

National Convention of Legion Gets Under Way; Talk Changing Slogan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Legionnaires from every state in the union gathered here today for the opening of the fifth annual convention of the American Legion.

A sea of flags, a plot of color and music—Indian bands, navy bands, army bands, cowboy bands, fraternal bands—greeted the delegates and visitors at all corners of the huge civic auditorium wherein the 1923 convention got into motion today after the usual routine necessary for permanent convention organization.

The American Legion auxiliary convention began its annual convention late today at the close of the initial Legion session.

Committees on resolutions, rehabilitation, legislation, constitutional amendments, internal organization, Americanism, finances, military affairs, naval affairs, nonresidents and time and place for the 1924 convention struggled throughout the latter part of the day preparing data for the consideration of the open convention during the next four days session.

Many questions vital to the welfare of the American Legion are being considered in these committee sessions, members stated.

Stormy Sessions Coming
A strong hand on the helm is necessary to steer a straight course during the next four days, Legion officials admitted tonight. A demand that the words "foater and promote a 100 per

WORK STARTS ON INVESTIGATION OF RECLAMATION

Sweeping Inquiry into Entire Field of Activities of Bureau Is Instituted with Assembly of Advisory Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—A sweeping inquiry into the field of activities and responsibilities of the bureau of reclamation was instituted today with the assembling here of the special advisory committee invited by Secretary Work to undertake the task.

Declaring he was convinced that the fate of the entire reclamation program as a business venture was imperilled by the present situation, Dr. Work requested the committee to investigate every angle of development operations and to submit definite recommendations which might be used as the basis of a reorganization.

He indicated his intention of referring the report of the committee to congress for whatever legislative action might be found necessary.

The committee devoted its meeting today to organization and to obtaining documentary equipment for the rooms assigned to it in the interior building.

Hearings will be conducted daily until the work is completed. Chairman Campbell announced the witnesses including personnel of the reclamation bureau and department officials who have been identified in the various development projects.

Reports from project managers and those submitted by special investigators will be laid before the committee with a view to determining the final status of each project.

Secretary Work declared today he had been unable to obtain accurate data along this line, but had been informed that a large majority of the projects faced bankruptcy as a result of overdue payments.

GIANTS SURRENDER WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP TO YANKEES

Over $1,000,000 Paid by Fans to See Series Games

All Former Records for Attendance Are Broken; Total of 300,000 Admitted

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The sum of $1,063,815 was paid by 301,430 persons to see the world's series of 1923, ended with the sixth game today. These figures make a new record, the old record having been established in 1921, when the Giants and Yankees, in an eight-game series, attracted 269,977 persons with receipts of $902,233.

Today's figures: Attendance, 34,172. Receipts, $139,252. Advisory council's share, $20,387.80. Each club's share, $50,182.10. Figures for six games: Attendance, 301,430. Receipts, $1,063,815. Advisory council's share $277,729.80.

The players' pool this year, $328,782.04, was more than $100,000 larger than ever. Seventy-five per cent of this amount is to be divided among the Yankees and Giants. The Yankees for their victory will receive 60 per cent and the Giants 40 per cent. Figured on a basis of 25 eligible players, each Yank will receive about $6350, and each Giant about $4363.

Each second place club will receive about $27,508, and each third place club about $18,139.

MOVIE ACTOR HURT.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15 (AP)—Reginald Denny, motion picture actor, suffered a fractured pelvis and severe lacerations of the right arm today when the automobile in which he was returning from a fishing trip overturned, it was announced at the hospital where he was taken.

COURT TO RECESS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The supreme court announced today that it would recess from October 22 to November 21.

Grab Victory on Rally in Eighth

American League Leaders Take Title Banner in Sixth Game, 6 to 4; Receipts and Attendance Set Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Beaten, crushed after one of the most spectacular world series fights in history, the New York Giants today surrendered to the Yankees the world's championship banner they have flown for the past two years. And tonight, with this record-shattering million-dollar title battle at an end, the embittered spectators stampeded to the Yankee stadium, greatest and costliest monument of the diamond.

The Yankees were the sixth and final game this afternoon at the Polo Grounds, fair of the Giants, by coming from behind and scoring five runs in a dramatic, pulse-gripping eighth-inning rally, just when it seemed that the McGray men, fighting desperately with their backs to the wall, would take the series and force a seventh contest to decide the struggle. The final score was 6 to 4.

Thus the American league champions swept to their third successive triumph, completed the rout of the once proud and mighty Giant machine and, by the decisive margin of four games to two, gained their first world's title in more than two decades of embattled history.

This, too, was written into the annals of the national game struggle for the highest stakes it has ever known, a gigantic spectacle eclipsing all previous records, that was witnessed by more than 300,000 fans who paid more than $1,063,000 in gate receipts.

The story of that eighth inning today, coming when it appeared that the demoralized Yankees of Arthur Noh and the inspired play of Frank Frisch had checked the headlong rush of the Yankees, will go down as one of the most startlingly decisive championship turns of all time.

That brief, thrilling, yet tragic span witnessed, with amazing suddenness the decline of the Yankee team to the pinnacle of their career, and simultaneously the utter collapse of the Giants, the crushed hopes of John McGraw for three successive world's titles—a debacle so stunning that tonight it seems to have marked the halting for all time from championship heights of the Giant machine as it emerged broken from the test.

Ruth Falls
It witnessed, too, the failure of the game's idol of idols to answer a call to fame that would have baled him to higher waters than any he has ever touched. For Babe Ruth, star of stars, mightiest hitter ever, while he had started the Yankees off in the first inning with his third home run of the series, fell down miserably in the eighth inning pinch, striking out with the bases full and the Yankees yet one run behind.

In his place a new hero was lifted up, Bob Meusel, who stepped into the breach that the Babe had left.

Ambulances in Oklahoma City Are Pressed into Service to Care for Victims of State's Most Disastrous Flood

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 15 (AP)—The west bank of the municipal dam, 10 miles west of here, housing the city's reserve water supply, gave way under the relentless pressure of the swollen North Canadian river late tonight releasing a raging, sea-foot torrent to augment the already disastrous overflow of the stream.

Five thousand persons living in the lowlands here south of the St. Louis-Frisco railroad tracks, an area comprising approximately 117 city blocks, fled for their lives as city officials warned of the approach of the flood waters and ordered them to evacuate the district.

Every ambulance in the city has been pressed into service and those less hardy among the flood victims are being taken to hospitals. Police estimate that all hospitals will be filled by daylight.

Street cars are moving to the very edge of the on-sweeping waters to take on loads of the sufferers. Hundreds of motorists are also doing their part in the rescue work.

Refugees—half-lad mothers, cradling their babies, grim-faced husbands, one hand gripping their wives, the other clutching some treasured household keepsake—march through the business section in a steady stream, convoyed by authorities to places of safety.

The aged and decrepit, the ill and feeble, unable to walk, are being transported in emergency carriers of all kinds.

Fed by the on-rushing and rapidly increasing waters from upstream, the flood hurtling over the torn embankment at midnight was nine feet high and rising every hour.

This put the river up to the unprecedented mark of 52 feet and as the wall of water surged closer to the city, dwellers in the river bottom snatched what few belongings they could and were conveyed in ambulances and all types of vehicles to temporary shelter offered by the municipality.

The water from the dam here about 4 p. m. Wildcat excitement prevails throughout the city. Residents in all sections, aroused from their slumbers by the frenzied peals of an emergency siren, hurried to the center of town to learn what new flood threat was pending.

Traffic Congested.
Automobile traffic on the streets is as congested as the densest late afternoon rush, while pedestrians are milling in hurrying, bustling jams on the downtown street corners.

LARGE AREA AFFECTED
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 15 (AP)—Western, central and southern Oklahoma tonight was in the grip of the most disastrous flood ever recorded.

SEATTLE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Deciphering the cryptic papers of Arthur Covell, crippled astrologist, who last Saturday pleaded not guilty to the murder of Mrs. Ebba Covell, his sister-in-law, may reveal "a strong clue" to the slaying of William Gammack. The noted film director found shot to death in his home in Los Angeles about two years ago, Luke B. May, local criminologist, announced tonight.

May said the astrologist's papers included drafts of many horoscopes worked out for members of the film colony at Hollywood and that he was convinced a hidden meaning would be found under the cipher in which they were written.

The criminologist, adding a new chapter to the disclosures he has been making, charged tonight that Covell had planned the slaying of 34 residents in the town of Bandon, Oregon, where he lived. Seven of these, he said, were children.

Mystery Involved.
May's disclosures have indicated that Alton Covell, 16-year-old stepson of the slain woman, who also is charged with her murder, was to be the instrument for carrying out certain of his uncle's projects. Tonight the criminologist made public a purported confession from the younger Covell which described the manner in which Mrs. Covell was strangled with animal fumes. It also said that the astrologist's papers included detailed plans for the sending of letters signed "K. K. K." in an effort to further his schemes, the kidnapping of the wife of a Bandon banker and the killing of the banker's attorney, following a ransom for the wife, another slaying by moonlight and the building of a cafeteria to be furnished and operated from the furniture, produce and stock obtained from his intended victims.

KLAN MEASURE QUICKLY TABLED BY LEGISLATORS

Resolution Introduced in Lower House in Oklahoma Calling for Probe of Members Fails of Passage

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 15 (AP)—A resolution introduced in the lower house of the state legislature today calling for an investigation of all house members to determine whether they belonged to the Ku Klux Klan was tabled after three minutes' discussion.

Suspension of the rule was necessary to expedite the action. The house was in session only 20 minutes. A motion by attorney for Governor J. C. Walton to quash a grand jury called to investigate alleged misuse of state funds by the governor, was stricken from the records, and the grand jury was convened here today. This is the grand jury that was prohibited previously by one of the governor's martial law edicts. The governor's motion declared that the grand jury was under the domination of the Ku Klux Klan and had been called for the direct purpose of indicting him.

JAPS PURCHASE U. S. LUMBER

Government Places Order for $15,000,000 Worth of Material to Rebuild Ruins

TOKIO, Oct. 15 (AP)—The government reconstruction board, through the foreign office, has placed with the United States government an order for lumber and steel amounting to 30,000,000 yen ($15,000,000). Home Minister Goto says other orders will be placed through the government if necessary to combat profiteering.

Fire losses outside the earthquake area are being adjusted by Japanese insurance companies, according to officials, but the companies decline to admit liability for losses within the area.

The Japanese Fire Insurance association, composed of 46 Japanese companies, adopted a resolution proposing payment not to exceed 10 per cent on losses within the earthquake area, providing the government lend to companies that amount for a period of 50 years at a low rate of interest. The companies aver that without government assistance they would be unable to pay more than 10 per cent on their losses. Before taking definite action, the government is awaiting detailed statements of the companies' assets and liabilities. Approval of the diet is necessary to make effective any agreement between the companies and the government. The total insurance written by Japanese companies within the devastated area amounted to 1,500,000,000 yen. Foreign companies have 320,000,000 yen.

BIG TREE FOUND.
MARSHFIELD, Ore., Oct. 15 (AP)—A Douglas fir of immense proportions was discovered in Josephine county recently by L. E. Wilkes, a surveyor. Measured at breast height, the big tree was 38 feet 9 inches in circumference or about 12 feet 2 inches in diameter. The tree stands half a mile east of the Oregon caves.

SOLONS FAVOR STEPS TO JOIN RUSSIA IN TRADE

Four Members of Congress Who Tour Europe on Own Initiative During Summer Return to United States
NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Four members of congress who toured Russia this summer on their own initiative to study conditions at first hand, returned today on the steamship Leviathan announcing they favor steps being taken by the United States to improve the relations with Russia. The three members of congress were: Senators Ladd, republican, North Dakota, and King, democrat, Utah, and Representative Frear, republican, Wisconsin. Albert A. Johnson, New York educator, was another member of the party, which was accompanied by Frank Connes as official interpreter. The tour was facilitated by soviet authorities.

Abroad Three Months
The party was abroad since July 14. It penetrated to the heart of Russia, covering 8,000 miles.

Senator Ladd, acting as spokesman, issued the following statement as coming from all four: "The members of the commission are engaged in preparing a report dealing with conditions in Russia. This involves the examination of accumulated data and many volumes of statements and documents obtained. But it is expected that the commission will be ready within a short time. Until the commission has reported, the members have deemed it wise to refrain from expressing their views concerning Russia. They have, however, in a general way the way that they found conditions there better than reported by many persons and that they favor steps being taken by the United States looking to the establishment of trade relations with Russia."

Senator Ladd said that some members of the party saw Leon Trotsky, minister of war.
Really a Bad Habit.

NEGROES CALLED IN STOKES CASE

Witnesses Give Contradictory Testimony Relative to Sensational Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Two negroes contradicted themselves today during searching cross-examination at the retrial of the wealthy hotel owner's suit against Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes. Cross-examination of a third negro witness had just been begun by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, when court adjourned for the day.

The trial was resumed after a three-day recess when Mrs. Stokes returned from Missouri with depositions refuting testimony of two witnesses for Mr. Stokes that she had been in Bunceville, Mo., in 1904 with Edgar T. Wallace, chief co-respondent. One of the documents alleged that Mr. Stokes offered the deponent, Hayden Moore, a $5000, a $1000 to testify against the defendant. After Mrs. Stokes had returned she charged that a dictagraph had been found yesterday in her hotel suite by Mr. Stokes that she had given to W. C. Nannenberg, a Chicago investigator. It was attached to an extra wire in the wall, but was not connected at the other end, Charles E. Erastin, Chicago attorney for Mrs. Stokes, declared.

All three of today's witnesses repeated testimony they had given at the former trial. Joseph A. Thornton, negro janitor at the East 35th street apartment house in which Wallace lived, had stated he had seen Mrs. Stokes there three or four times in the summer of 1914. Mr. Untermyer asked him what he would say if told Mrs. Stokes was in Kentucky throughout the summer and gave birth to one of her children in Denver in the fall. The witness said he would say "Mrs. Stokes looked very much like the woman he had seen at the house."

Identification Fails
"Will you swear to the jury that Mrs. Stokes was the woman?" insisted Mr. Untermyer.
"No," answered Thornton.

Mar D. Steur, chief counsel for Mr. Stokes, asked: "Is there any doubt in your mind that Mrs. Stokes was the woman?"
"No, sir."
"Was your answer to Mr. Steur true?" shot back Mr. Untermyer.
"No," Thornton said.
The court room laughed and Thornton gave the stand to Miss Agriola Byers, negress, who worked in a tea room in the Wallace apartment house. She testified she had seen Mrs. Stokes "quite a number of times" in the Wallace apartment. She stated she had seen Mrs. Stokes in bed once. She could not remember how Mrs. Stokes was dressed on the other occasions she saw her there, and when confronted with her testimony at the former trial to the effect that Mrs. Stokes had her hair done and was clad only in an undergarment.

AMUSING INCIDENTS TAKE PLACE BACK OF THE STAGE IN WORLD'S PREMIER BASEBALL ATTRACTION

Players Recount Critical Moments of Greatest Game; Mirth and Pathos Present

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The final incident in that great drama—the world's series—comes; the players leave the green carpeted stage as the crowd shouts; the curtain falls. But this is not the end. Behind the scenes, in the dressing rooms the repressed emotions of the players, victorious and vanquished, burst forth. This is the human side of the real drama.

In the dressing room of the victorious Yankees is Miller Huggins, head bit of a man, the manager, doing a jig with Old Man Dugan, proud parent of "Jumping" Joseph, getting time with hands and feet. There is Babe Ruth, who struck out at the most dramatic moment of his career, being joshed and prodded in the ribs, then pushed over a bench, all the time laughing as if his panderous sides would split.

"Sad Sam" No Longer Sad. Aaron Ward yells like a Comanche. Bud Saxe Jones is no longer sad; he is singing Hallelujah at the top of his voice; Bob Meusel, who made the hit that won the series, is being hugged and kissed by no other than little Eddie Bennett, the mascot, whose cheeks no one will wet with tears of joy. Lou Gehrig is heard moaning and singing. Willie Schang kicks off his spiked shoe and it flies clean through the window pane.

Then the rooms of the Giants. A different scene. No singing; no loud talking; no luxury to get dressed. In a far corner sits little Arthur Nehf, the pitcher, his head in his hands, sobbing. About him gathered his teammates telling him not to mind; and he cracked at that moment in the eighth inning when the game seemed won.

"I couldn't help it," he sobbed. "It had been a strain all the eight innings when they failed to hit me. In the eighth, then, after Ward was out and Schang hit, my arm would not go on. I tried—I thought they would curve for me. I thought when the ball left my hand each time it was too fast, too bewildering for them to hit. I thought they were going square by over the plate. Yet each time the ball left the hand at a certain time, the arm stopped at a certain place; my arm seemed hypnotized. I'd rather they would have hit than to have walked. I don't recall a time I couldn't groove them when I had to."

John McGraw, the thinker, who had visualized an event series, and victory in the seventh game tomorrow, just before the eighth inning, had little to say. "Nehf," he said, "is one of the finest, gamest and most able pitchers the game has. It was not his fault that he faltered there. He could not help it. The Yankees played great ball this year. They have won a great victory."

Then McGraw goes out at the foot of the steps; he meets Miller Huggins. He shakes hands. "It was great sport, John," says Huggins, quietly. "Your men played the game fairly and squarely and I want to say I never enjoyed fighting so much as I have against them and you. We knew every moment in our game that we had to fight for every advantage. May we meet again next year."

"Thanks, Huz; you're a fine sport," and they go back to the dressing rooms.

Umpires Strike for Increase in Salary

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The umpires who worked in the world's series called on Judge Landis today and asked for an increase in pay in view of the big attendance. They now get $2,000 each. "Don't you think umpires are as important as players?" one of the umpires asked. The judge deliberated a minute. "No, I don't," he replied.

WHITE SOX WIN CHICAGO SERIES FOR CITY TITLE

Five-Run Attack in Fourth Inning Puts Americans in Lead and Nationals Lose the Championship

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—A five-run attack in the fourth inning put the White Sox out in front with a lead that never was threatened, and the Americans won the fifth game of the Chicago city series from the National League, 7 to 4.

Home runs featured the contest. Willie Kamm, $100,000 beauty, purchased by the Sox last spring from Sam Rice, leading with two four-baggers, while Ed Collins hit one. Friberg and Vogel hit for circuit drives for the Cubs.

Charley Robertson pitched the route for the Sox and always had a good lead. Four pitchers, Albridge, Fussell, O'Brien and Demarech, toiled for the National league nine.

Arnold Burned in Effigy. The feeling against Bedford Arnold, traitor, was particularly strong in Philadelphia, and in September, 1920, the people were called out to join in a popular demonstration against the man who had once been the military ruler of the community.

His effigy, in full regiments, was placed in a cart and drawn through the city to be afterward burned in effigy on High street hill. The mock Arnold had two faces and a mask in his left hand. Near him was the devil, in black robes, holding out a pile of money. There were a number of banners containing pictures and letters describing the conspiracy. The procession was headed by a band of Continental officers and by a band of music playing the "Hogue's March." A funeral pile had been arranged at the head of the hill, and here in the midst of an immense crowd, the mock Arnold was burned.

Hat Principal Attraction. Pastor—I was so sorry for your wife during the sermon this morning, Doctor. She had such a dreadful fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her. Doctor—Don't be unduly alarmed, she was wearing her new hat for the first time.—Judge.

PAPYRUS AND ZEV BEGIN WORKOUTS FOR BIG RACE

American Three-Year-Old Challenge and English Derby Winner Take Light Sprint; No Time Test Run

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Zev and Papyrus, who have their day next Saturday, entered out of the sports limelight today so that it might shine with full candlepower on the world's series. Both the star of the Ranocosa stable and the English derby winner, who are to race at Belmont park for a $100,000 purse, exercised lightly, but no real time tests were attempted.

Tomorrow Papyrus will get under saddle in earnest, with a stiff workout scheduled for him by his trainer, Basil Jarvis. The American colt, bought and trained around his commotions shall not know what tomorrow night might bring forth, for Sam Hiltz had not whispered his training plans in his ear.

The English thoroughbred tomorrow will be reintroduced to his jockey, Steve Donoghue, champion of the British turf, who arrives on the Olympic, to ride the derby winner in the international classic. The Little English rider thinks very highly of his mount, as he made plain when he smiled with the statement that "Papyrus is a generous, game horse."

Real Meaning of Cheer. According to the authorities, when we shout "hip, hip, hurrah!" we really say "Hiccorohus ut perdit (twice). Hiccorah!" This was the triumphant cry when Jerusalem fell; the initials of the words becoming "hep" and then hip; Hiccorah became huzah and then hurrah. It sounds ingenious—but very far fetched.

Home Vitally Important. The spirit and tone of your home will have great influence on your children. If it is what it ought to be, it will foster conviction on their minds, however wicked they may become.—Richard Cecil.

DENIES GUILT OF MURDER

Alton Covell, 16, Indicted for Slaying Stepmother, Eaters Plea of Not Guilty in Oregon Court

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Oct. 15 (AP)—A plea of not guilty was entered today for Alton Covell, 16, indicted for murder of his stepmother, Mrs. Ebba Covell, at Bandon. Covell did not speak in court, his attorney entering the plea.

The court said the date of Alton Covell's trial would be fixed after the case of Arthur Covell, his uncle, who authorities have stated confessed to prompting Alton Covell to the murder, is disposed of. Although Arthur Covell pleaded guilty to first degree murder, he will have to be tried under the Oregon law to determine whether life imprisonment or hanging is to be the penalty.

GIANTS SURRENDER TITLE TO YANKS

left and delivered the blow that resulted in three runs and clinched the Yankee triumph for ever in the history of the Giants' one-to-nothing victory in the third game, waved a magic wand over the Yankee bats and it seemed that his port-side slants would again restore Giant hopes and keep them in the fight. Backed by the spectacular work of his team-mates, particularly the dynamic Frisch, he allowed but one other hit outside of Ruth's circuit clout, while the Giants were hammering Herb Pennock, Hug-gins' southpaw, for nine hits and four runs.

But out of the clear sky of appar-ent Giant triumph came the collapse of Nehf, and with that the break in the shattered chain of McGraw's pitching staff. From the highest peak of effectiveness, from brilliant control, Nehf went to pieces and "Rosoy" Ryan, who succeeded him, failed in a valiant effort to stem the tide. Ward started the fatal eighth in-ning harmlessly enough by flying out to Kelly, but the first of Nehf's downfall came when Schang and Scott singled in quick succession. Sensing the break of the game, Miller Huggins, little pilot of the Yan-kees, duplicated the sort of strategy that earned one victory for his rival, McGraw, and threw in the full force of his reserves. Hoffman took up the cudgels for Pennock and walked on four successive balls, Haines tak- ing his place at first as the bases were filled.

Nehf in Tears
Nehf tried gallantly to steady him- self to save the situation, but facing a new pitch hitter, Joe Bush, being for Whitney Witt, he faltered. Bush walked on four successive balls, and Nehf, a slight, tragic figure, walked from the box, his head down and tears in his eyes. That pass forced in Schang, and Ryan went into the box with the bases still full and the Yan-kees still two runs behind.

Ryan, unsteady by the tenseness of the fight, also was wild and Scott was forced in with the second run- ed ball, thus making the twelfth suc- cessive ball that the Giant moun- tain had fanned.

There was a mighty roar as into this dramatic spotlight stepped Bush, swinging his all-powerful blue-glove. But instead of further unsevering Ryan, the sight of the master mauler seemed to steady him, for the Babe let the first pitch curve squarely over the plate and fouled the second weakly. The next one was a ball, but then Ryan, putting all he had into his de- livery, shot one single over second base, Ruth, swinging wickedly, missed amid a thunderous outburst from the crowd.

Ryan Faltered
But Ryan, safely past what seemed the hardest part of his task, faltered and Meusel caught his second pitch for a whistling single over second base, Haines and Johnson, running for Bush, crossed the plate with what proved to be the tying and winning runs, while Dugan battled with another for good measure when Cunningham threw wildly to Groh in an effort to catch "Jumping Joe" at third base. Pipp ended the rally by going out, Frisch to Kelly. But damage had been done and the Giant cause sent down to defeat.

Sam Jones, Nehf's victim in the third game, took Pennock's place and held the Giants in check in the last two innings, the nearest to a rally coming in the eighth when Young singled, only to be forced by Irish Meusel. Beaten and hopeless, they went out in order in the ninth.

Looming alongside the tragic fig- ure of Nehf in the Giant disaster was that of Frisch, the "Fordham flash," who stood out as the brightest all-around star of the game. It was Frisch whose remark- able fielding in the first seven innings cut off at least two Yankee hits and seemed to put fresh hope into the breast of Mc- Graw and his men. It was Frisch whose terrific hitting figured in three of the four Giant runs. The second-sacker made one of the most brilliant defensive plays of the entire series in the fourth when he caught Dugan's looping fly in short right field, over his shoulder and while running at top speed. He was close to the foul line when he made the catch. Again in the fifth he raced to- ward second to make a marvelous stop of Schang's hot grounder and an equally brilliant throw that Kelly stabbed with one hand.

The advantage Ruth's homer in the upper right field stand had given the Yankees in the first inning was nulli- fied by three successive hits by Groh, Frisch and Young in the Giant's half of the inning, the third-sacker car- rying the run across.

A brilliant throw from center by Whitney Witt, heavy on Young's hit, cut down Frisch by a narrow margin at third base and measurably checked further scoring, though Irish Meusel fanned to end the inning.

Frisch Scores
Frisch opened the fourth by beating out a pretty bunt down the first-base line that caught the Yankee infield flat-footed. He advanced on Young's infield out and scored on Cunn- ingham's single to right.

Snyder's homer high into the upper left field stands gave the Giants their third run in the fifth inning and Frisch paved the way for a fourth tally in the sixth inning with a boom- ing triple to left center. Frisch crossed the plate on Meusel's single, but Cunningham and Kelly were easy vic- tims for Pennock.

Altogether the Giants made 10 hits, nine off Pennock and one off Jones, twice as many as Nehf and Ryan allowed. Pennock was far from the brilliance he showed in winning the second game, but he received credit for his second victory because the Giant twirlers could not weather the storm.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

Not one Giant or Yankee regular failed either to get at least two hits, or score at least one run in the series.

The sun made one brief appearance in the game—in the sixth inning, and Frisch greeted it with his three-base hit.

Frisch and Ward, the rival second basemen, led their respective teams in hitting, each getting 10 safeties, the Yankee keystone sacker scoring four runs, and the Giant player coming across the plate twice. Franks got 10 hits in 25 times at bat and Ward got his 10 hits in one less trip to the plate.

Ruth was fanned more than any other player. He whiffed six times. His seven hits, however, including three home runs, were good for a total of 10 bases, more than those made by any other man on either team. His batting average was .303, second of the Yankees only to Ward. The Babe was credited with only 10 times "at bat" as he was passed eight times, more times than any one else.
