NAVY OFFICERS TO BE TRIED IN COURT MARTIAL

Largest Single Court-Martial in Kind Ordered as Result of Honda Disaster; Squadron Commanders are Squared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The largest single court-martial in the navy's history was ordered today as a result of inquiry into loss of several destroyers off Honda Point, California, last September 8. A squadron commander, two division commanders, seven commanders of destroyers and five investigators will be brought to trial at San Diego before a general court-martial.

Secretary Denby, acting on the findings of the board of inquiry as reported to him by Admiral S. S. Robinson, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, ordered that the court sessions begin at once.

The secretary emphasized that inclusion of an officer's name in the list of those to face court-martial should not be taken to imply that such officer had been held responsible for the disaster. It was intended, he added, as such to give an opportunity for the officer to clear his record, to fix blame and determine punishment.

The officers whose trials are recommended are Captain L. H. Watson, and Robert Morley; Commanders W. S. Pyle, L. P. Davis, W. H. Toaz, W. L. Callahan; Lieutenant Commanders W. H. O. Resend, D. F. Hunter, R. H. Booth and Lieutenant L. P. Blodgett.

The list includes the commander of squadron eleven and of divisions 11 and 12, which made up the main group, and the executives of the destroyers Dolphin, Woodbury, S. P. Lee, Young, Fuller, Nicholas and Chancey, which were detached on the night of the disaster.

The disaster, characterized by naval officers as the "greatest peace time loss ever sustained by the United States navy," occurred at 10 o'clock at night when the destroyed group was in the course of a practice run. Inadequate visibility, due to fog, inaccurate bearings, shore radio stations and unrecruited currents were among the causes put forward by the crews of the ships, but the initial reports to the command developed several features which led to official demand for a deeper inquiry.

No adequate explanation has been given, officials here say, for the excessive loss of 20 lives maintained in unfavorable weather conditions, nor was it explained why seven ships in succession, "followed the leader," in crashing upon the rocks.

It developed after several days that two additional ships, the Farquhar and Samers, also struck but pulled off without serious injury.

The board of inquiry, headed by Captain W. V. Pratt, convened at the San Diego base and in response to the interest in the case, Secretary Denby ordered that its sessions be public.

Walking on Water Is Accomplishment of California Men

Specially constructed Pedal Equipment Enables Pair to Cross San Francisco Bay

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 24 (AP)—Two men walking tandem on a pair of specially constructed water skis crossed San Francisco bay today, negotiating the three and one-half miles between San Francisco and the eastern Wharf railroad company pier in three hours, 33 minutes. They were the Rev. W. W. Riley, of Weaverville, and D. F. Sheldon, of Pomona.

A third man, A. N. Sheldon, inventor of the skis, who attempted the trip at the same time on another pair of skis, suffered an accident to his walking gear in mid-bay, and was taken aboard an accompanying launch.

FIXES CAUSE OF HOG PRICE DROP

President of Chicago Livestock Exchanges Attributes Decline to Surplus Supply

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—An increased supply of approximately 24 per cent in hogs over the corresponding period of last year is the cause of the decline in hog values, Everett C. Brown, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange, said today in an answer to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's statement recently that an investigation would be made to determine if the slump in prices was the result of undue influence.

"Secretary Wallace states that during the last month hog values have declined more than 31.50 per hundred weight, while the price of corn increased 27 cents a bushel," Mr. Brown said. "Based on supply figures compiled by the department of agriculture, nearly three million hogs were marketed during that period, indicating a loss to producers by depreciation in value of about $3 a head, based on an average weight of 200 pounds, or an aggregate sum of between $6,000,000 and $9,000,000."

The secretary announces that the department is making an investigation to determine if the slump in prices is the result of undue influence. "As supply during that period was approximately 25 per cent greater than during the corresponding period of last year, this must be recognized as the depreciating factor of major importance."

GRAVE CHARGES ARE FIRED IN BUREAU PROBE

Colonel Forbes, Former Director, Charged with Crooked Dealing; Scene of Inquiry Shifts to Northern Idaho

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Intrigue, debauchery and corruption in connection with contracts for various bureau hospitals were charged today before the senate committee investigating the bureau.

Elmas H. Mortimer of Pennsylvania, formerly a representative of the Thompson-Black company of Chicago, was the witness. He testified that while seeking a hospital contract in 1922 he loaned $5000 to Charles R. Forbes, then director of the bureau; him an additional $1000, or $1500, and that none of the money has been repaid.

Moreover, the witness told the committee that James W. Black, a member of the Chicago firm, now dead, had told him that he understood J. W. Thompson, the other partner, had made advances to Forbes aggregating $32,000. Mortimer testified also that he had paid Forbes' expenses on various trips about the country, official and unofficial.

Describes Parties

Mortimer's story, which required four hours for the telling in a crowded committee room, was interspersed with incidents of what he described as "drinking parties," at which, he said, were present Forbes, Mrs. Mortimer, himself and others. The trail of these parties, as he outlined it, led from Washington to Atlantic City, Philadelphia, New York, thence to Chicago and San Francisco and up and down the Pacific coast. They culminated, according to his version, at Hayden Lake, Idaho, where Forbes and some of the women guests, on a dare, jumped into the lake with their clothes on.

Becoming "diligent," he said, after the Hayden lake affair, Mortimer returned to Spokane after a quarrel with Forbes. He explained that it was about a personal matter and the committee did not press for details.

The row was renewed on the train on the return trip east, the witness continued, and again at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York City. Both personal and business matters entered into the last quarrel, he stated, adding that Forbes "had been taking up mat-

Separatists Marching in Thousands on Important Cities in German State

Rhineland Troops Center Attack on Dueseldorf, Hoping to Occupy City Overnight; Duisberg Contingent Is Approaching Ham-born; Reactionaries on the Defense

BRUSSELS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Four thousand separatists from Oreford are marching on Dueseldorf which they hope to occupy tonight, says Le Soir. Oreford fell into the hands of the separatists at two o'clock this afternoon. They demanded all police and issued strict orders to prevent disturbances. The orders declared that any one showing himself at a window would be shot.

Mounted separatists are pelting the city. The separatists compelled the newspapers to stop publication. The oberburgmaster of Oreford surrendered to the Rhinelanders.

The Belgian authorities have arrested 256 armed communists at Muenchen-Gladbach.

Rhinelanders from Duisberg are marching on Hamborn, a great communist center.

COBLENZ, Oct. 24 (AP)—The position of the separatists at the close of the fourth day since the proclamation of a Rhineland republic at Aix La Chapelle is little improved, they nominally holding about one-fourth of the territories under foreign occupation.

Denby, however, was marked by the republicans most signal and costly victory, at Crefeld, where 20 separatists were killed and 50 wounded, and the peaceful occupation of Altboun and a few villages in the vicinity of Trier (Trèves).

In many instances the occupation has been limited to the confines of the city halls, with the garrison on the defensive, fighting not only for the existence of a republic, but for their own lives.

Falled at Mayence

The failure of the separatists at Mayence and at Coblenz, which were considered as certain adherents, the republicans most signal and costly victory, at Crefeld, where 20 separatists were killed and 50 wounded, and the peaceful occupation of Altboun and a few villages in the vicinity of Trier (Trèves).

Franch Interfered

Calm has been restored at Aix La Chapelle with the separatists thoroughly whipped in the cradle of their movement. The intervention of French troops at Coblenz and Mayence proved the salvation of the lives of the local leaders in the attempt to install a republic.

WALTON RENEWS DETERMINATION TO WIN FIGHT

Alleges Conspiracy to Impeach Him; Stubbornly Refuses to Give Up Office; Lower House Perfects Removal Plans

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 24 (AP)—Governor J. C. Walton, in a statement issued late today "to the people of the noble government," declared that "a conspiracy for the express purpose of preferring impeachment charges against me," existed before the convening of the present extraordinary session of the state legislature and that "whatever the future may hold for me, personally, I shall do as I have lived for the orderly, constitutional government, honestly and fearlessly administered."

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 24 (AP)—With seven counts against him in the impeachment bill being perfected by the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature, Governor J. C. Walton today continued his refusal to recognize the action of the legislature to suspend him and awaited a hearing in the state supreme court tomorrow to determine whether he or the state government was the party legally empowered chief executive of the state.

At that time the court will rule on an application to make permanent the writ of prohibition which restrains Governor Walton from interfering with the duties of Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp as acting governor.

Awalt Trial

When the house adjourned shortly before 6 p. m. it wound up the day that had been replete with feverish preparations for the impending trial of the chief executive.

Speeding up its consideration of the impeachment of the governor in the report of its committee on investigation and impeachment, the house today approved five articles in the impeachment bill, bringing the total to seven. Every charge thus far considered has been approved by heavy majorities.

The governor tonight stands accused of:

1. Diversion of public funds to private use.

2. Prohibiting the conveying of a legal order to the governor by the use of his official influence to acquire private credit and property.

3. Accepting a bribe to approve a legislative bill.

4. Suspension of the writ of habeas corpus.

5. Unlawfully preventing a meeting of the state legislature.

Attempted prevention of a special state election in violation of law.

Following a long conference with his attorney, Governor Walton laid in the day opened the court action to settle the question of who is governor by filing in district court an application for an injunction against Lieutenant Governor Trapp to restrain him from assuming the duties of the executive office. Judge Tom C. Chambers, who has taken the case, has asked the governor, issued a temporary writ against the lieutenant governor and set tomorrow for the hearing to make it permanent.

Governor Named.

Carnegie's Vision of Peace Recalled in Briton's Speech

Lloyd George Pays Fitting Tribute to Foresight of Steel Magnate; Reiterates Plea for Co-operation

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24 (AP)—The vision of Andrew Carnegie of peace among nations is an opportune one to recall, David Lloyd George, the prime minister of Great Britain, declared in an address here tonight.

Speaking in Syria mosque to an audience of several thousand, the former premier described the magnate as a man who combined with great business ability great strength of character and great vision. In 1909, he continued, Mr. Carnegie predicted that there would be a great war and conceivably one or two more before the era of peace was reached. The first part of that prophecy, he added, has been fulfilled by war which in terms of an earthquake disaster can be compared to a cataclysm killing more than every man, woman and child in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

"I have no really going to have that again?" Mr. Lloyd George asked. "The answer depends more upon two great communities than anything else—the United States and the British empire."

STORM STRIKES WESTERN AREA

Heavy Snow Covers Wyoming and Colorado; High Winds Hit Districts in Utah

DENVER, Oct. 24 (AP)—Eastern Wyoming, western South Dakota and virtually all of Colorado tonight were under a blanket of snow, varying from one to five inches in depth, according to reports received at the local weather bureau. Beginning last night with light rains that changed into snow in many sections, a storm swept across the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains from Montana to northwestern Texas, where rainfall is reported.

The foothill regions of Colorado have received the heaviest snow fall, according to weather bureau officials, although flurries of the snow storm crossed the divide and were reported from Grand Junction and Durango, Colorado.

A total of 1.32 inches of precipitation in the form of rain and snow has been recorded here in the last 24 hours and up to 6 o'clock tonight 1.2 inches of snow had fallen in the city. Pueblo reported precipitation of .04 of an inch or the equivalent of four inches of snow, while Cheyenne, Wyo., reported rain and snow in only slightly less quantities.

WIRDS DOWN.

OGDEN, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—High wind which is said to have reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour, swept down Ogden canyon into last night and early this morning and wrought considerable damage to telegraph and telephone lines extending northward from this city. All wire connections with Idaho points was cut off for several hours. It was necessary evening before continuous communication was established. Wire traffic between Ogden and Salt Lake was also cut off intermittently throughout the day.

In some instances barns and sheds were unroofed but no loss of life due to the wind was reported. The storm covered a strip about 60 miles long.

BLIZZARD REPORTED.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—One of the heaviest snowstorms this section has ever experienced this early in the season, ended here Monday and Tuesday. Electric light and telephone service is crippled and trees broken by weight of the snow obscuring the sidewalks and crossings in many places. Beet digging will be delayed several days, but no other crops will suffer from the storm, it is reported.

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—Telephone poles were blown down railroad tracks piled high with debris and trees uprooted at Honeyville, about 12 miles north of here by a 60 mile wind which came from the northeast today. The Utah-Idaho Central Electric line was hit temporarily by the effects of the storm near here.

Brigham City itself did not suffer severely from the storm, although the wind reached a high velocity.

DAVIS RESIGNS OFFICE WITH RECLAMATION BODY

Former Governor of Idaho Quits Presidency of Western Association After Service of Four Years

SALT LAKE, Oct. 24 (AP)—D. W. Davis, ex-governor of Idaho, for four years president of the Western States Reclamation association, has announced his resignation as president of that organization, according to the Salt Lake Tribune. Mr. Davis was elected president while governor of Idaho and who is now commissioner of reclamation in the United States department of the interior, says he finds it impossible to devote enough time to conduct the affairs of the association in the proper manner.

A call for a meeting of the association he held in this city November 19 and 20 has been issued. George Albert Smith, as vice president of the association, will probably call the first session of the convention to order.

STORM EXPECTED.

PORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 24 (AP)—Radio warnings of an approaching storm were sent to all vessels in the Great Lakes today. Westerly gales, accompanied by snow flurries, are expected to break tonight and last through tomorrow.

Strange Skeletons Uncover New Links in Human Records

Excavators Dig Up Bones at Santa Barbara Said to Date Beyond First History on Western Continent

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 24 (AP)—Excavators representing the Smithsonian institution today uncovered two skeletons at Burton mound in this city which carry the human record far back before the written history on this continent, in the opinion of J. P. Harrington, who has charge of the excavation.

These skeletons were found about four feet below the present ground surface. The bones of the body were all but disintegrated, but the skulls were well preserved. These show a type of man almost of the gorilla order. The faces were long, the jaws massive, while the skull bones were most massive. The ridges over the brow are projecting and the forehead sloped backward.

Beside the first skeleton taken out was a beautiful black obidian spearhead 4-1/2 inches long. The experts say that the bones are those of a race long anterior to the native tribes in this vicinity when the Spaniards came. They were lying on a hardpan formation and the soil layers above them showed no sign of disturbance.

FALL TESTIFIES ON BEHALF OF TEAPOT LEASE

Former Secretary Who Negotiated Much Discussed Government Oil Contract Tells of Business with Sinclair

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Testifying today at the senate public lands committee's investigation of the leasing of the Teapot Dome, Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Clegg, testified that he had no objection to the leasing of the Teapot Dome, and that he had no objection to the leasing of the Teapot Dome, and that he had no objection to the leasing of the Teapot Dome.

About the time of his retirement from government service, Mr. Fall said, Mr. Sinclair contacted him with regard to a contract for oil development in China. In that connection, he added, he made a trip to London for conferences on the subject. For his services, the committee was told, he received no compensation, although he was paid $10,000 for expenses.

Declaring he intended to "capitalize as well as I can my ability during the remaining years of my life," Mr. Fall continued: "I will accept employment from Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Doherty or any one else as I see fit. I expect to form a connection with one of the oil interests named, or with a coal interest, a transportation interest or a syndicate interested in railroads in this country. Offers have been made to me by such interests, but none has been accepted."

When Senator Walsh, Montana, criticized Mr. Fall for withholding for two weeks public announcement of the signing, April 7, 1922, of the Teapot Dome contract, during which time, he declared, Sinclair stood waist deep in on the New York exchange to the extent of $30,000,000, the former secretary insisted upon making a statement.

criticisms," he declared, "but I have no apology to make. I considered the lease a part of the military policy of the government and left it to the president or the secretary of the navy to make any announcement they thought proper."
"Having in mind the disarmament treaties, I was of the opinion that by having fuel oil in storage ready for emergency use by the navy, particularly by having a supply properly protected in Hawaii, the efficiency of the navy upon the Pacific coast would be more than doubled. I think the president had something of the same idea. I will venture to say without fear of a successful contradiction that as a result of what was done the efficiency of our Pacific fleet today is more than doubled."

LINDSEY WINS POINT IN COURT

Failure to Institute Contempt Proceedings Opening Round in Legal Battle

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 24 (AP)—Failure to institute contempt of court proceedings against Ben B. Lindsey, Denver's widely known juvenile court judge, marked the opening round today of what is regarded as a legal battle between the juvenile court judge and District Attorney Van Cise. Judge Lindsey had been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury and tell what he knows of alleged illegal operations in Denver. Earlier in the week Judge Lindsey had issued a public statement declaring that he would not tell the investigating body of confidences given him by women and girls who had sought his advice. Last a subpoena was issued for him to appear. Judge Lindsey went before the jury today, but before entering the court room declared "I will go to hell before I will violate the confidences of my court."

District Attorney Van Cise today said he would institute contempt proceedings against the judge if he believed his conduct before the grand jury warranted such action.
In a letter to the grand jury, Monday Judge Lindsey stated his position and said he hoped information contained in the letter would be sufficient to apprise the jury and make it unnecessary for him to be called in person. He was summoned following a statement several days ago in which he said there were 1,000 illegal operations performed in Denver every year and that Denver's birth rate has been cut in half.

"I shall recommend to the grand jury that it either go after offenders, tooth and nail or else that it recommend the repeal of existing statutes forbidding birth control teaching," Judge Lindsey said before entering the jury room. "I will also recommend that society assume a different attitude toward unfortunate girls and that the mothers' compensation law, providing $50 a month, be made operative and effective."

KLAN CEREMONY DRAWS CROWDS AT STATE FAIR

Claim More than 300,000 Persons on Hand at Special Event at Dallas; Wield Talks on Immigration

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 24 (AP)—Klan day at the state fair today drew more than 300,000 persons, according to fair secretary Stanton, and tonight more visitors were pouring through the gates to the vast grounds where a public initiation was planned. Upwards of 30,000 klansmen from all parts of the southwest and some from almost every realm arrived on special trains this morning. George K. Butcher, Dallas klans number 30 general chairman reported.

Altogether 51 special trains of klansmen arrived before noon, while other knights reached the city overland by automobile. One special train arrived today from Chicago. The special train of the Houston klans had 10 coaches and that from Beaumont had 12 cars. The klansmen swarmed around the hand shell shortly after noon to hear Dr. H. W. Evans of Atlanta, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, speak on the klans policy of immigration. Immigration is the outstanding problem confronting the United States today besides which all other national difficulties are trivial, Dr. Evans said. To determine and apply a just and lasting remedy is the supreme task of all true Americans and the ultimate objectives of the knights of the Ku Klux Klan, he said.

"THE COVERED WAGON."

Theater patrons in general and music lovers in particular will be genuinely pleased to know that "The Covered Wagon," which comes to the Lavering theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will be accompanied by its own orchestra. That music with a picture makes for better enjoyment, there is no doubt. When the music is of a high order and scored beautifully, it is an unusually pleasant adjunct to theater going. "The Covered Wagon" score was arranged by Hugo Rosenfeld, who directs musically and managerially the Criterion, Rialto and Rivoli theaters in New York city. Dr. Rosenfeld wrote an original march for the great scene of the horses and oxen swimming the Platte river, and he contributed "My Heart Is There," for the theme of Molly Wingate and Will Benton.

RICKS ACADEMY VS. TWIN FALLS BRUINS.
Today, 3 p. m., Lincoln Field.

With the arrival of the Ricks warriors this afternoon the battle is all set for one of the best grid battles seen on the local field this season. The weather man promises fair weather and if it is like most of his promises it will rain or snow, but Evans carries a horseshoe when it comes to weather. The time is 3 p. m.

The Ricks aggregation were out to Lincoln field Wednesday night for a short practice and they look mighty husky. Captain Cox, and Brown who plays right end, are pretty big individuals and both have had previous experience so that those two alone will make it tough for the Bruins. The team averages around 100 pounds and their line looks out of all proportion. There isn't a question but that they will give the Bruins the toughest battle so far this season, and the said Bruins will be looking for some home with the long end of the wire.

The Bruins were out Wednesday, and in part of these were Alford, Murrell and Farrar were not. The squad went through a long session of practice and the usual routine before a game. The big Moose certainly looks mighty good and it is up to him in the absence of Jenkins who has been the star of the work. Moose is developing more talk, and the right kind of talk. The big boy keeps the squad on its toes, and they need to talk to them. Moose is getting better and better every day in every way on analyzing plays and his work last Friday along that line saved the Bruins many a yard. Moose and Tim will have to carry the ball most of the time in tomorrow's game.

Jenkins was out on the field Wednesday night on an ankle and although his improvement is slow, Jenks has made up his mind to be in the Easy high game and he will be there. He will probably be able to discard the crutches in a day or two, and from then on he will get back into shape a great deal faster.

Thursday's battle is going to be a real battle from the first whistle and the fan that misses it is going to kick himself the rest of the season for passing up one of the best games played at home. The Bruins are in high quantity and with Jenkins warming the bench the Bruins are going up against big odds and will have to dispense real football if they win. The only advantage the Bruins will have is the fact that they have played in several games while the Ricks squad have only taken on one team so far this year. Ricks is a college and the men are older and more experienced so that the local team will certainly have to extend themselves to win. Remember, Thursday, 3 p. m., Lincoln field.

SKOVGAARD WELL RECEIVED.
Twin Falls will be given an opportunity to hear the great Danish violinist, Skovgaard, when he appears here next Monday. He recently appeared in Pendleton, Oregon, where he was well received, as is indicated by the following from the Daily East Oregonian of October 20:

Impressive sincerity and genuine near-coupled with great strength and a remarkable technique, marked the playing of Axel Skovgaard, the Danish violinist who appeared last night at the Methodist church under the auspices of the Pendleton Women's club. It has been said of Skovgaard that this colossal Dane is made personified when the key tones of his matchless Stradivarius. And so it seemed last night when the showed his innate genius by the mastery of his violin. He played a varied program, his renditions being marked by a striking purity of tone. His music has power and feeling, yet he possesses also the ability to interpret the lighter things, which was shown in his playing of "Swanee River," "The Gull" and "Nobody Knows the Troubles I've Seen," the latter being a negro spiritual which he gave a new arrangement of classical compositions by Fritz Kreisler.

BOY SCOUTS TO STAGE CONTEST

Hallowe'en Rally Next Important Event on Twin Falls Calendar

The next sporting event in Twin Falls will be the Hallowe'en rally next Saturday on Lincoln field. The rally will be in charge of the Boy Scouts and will be over to all have 11 years and over in the city. Water boiling contest, tug-of-war, races of various kinds and Hallowe'en games will occupy the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Every scout troop is asked to have a team of at least eight scouts on hand to take part. Boys not scouts may participate in many events. All entries must register with the scout executive. For the water boiling contest, bring an axe and a pocket knife. Other material will be at hand for the rally. Discipline will be maintained in order that the contests may be run off smoothly and rapidly.

Tug-of-War an Innovation.
The tug-war will be an innovation in this sport. A hundred foot rope will be cut into sixteen parts and two teams of eight men each will compete at a time. At a given signal the scouts will tie the pieces of rope together and at a second signal, ten seconds later, will begin to pull. Of course an incorrect tie will cause the knot will pull out and cause the side to lose.

The Hallowe'en boxing contest will be a funny and exciting game, quite different from the ordinary contest. Boys under 11 will be given a chance to show their skill at apple bobbing and other games though the principal events will be for the teen age boys.

To Stimulate Interest.
The object of the rally is to awaken greater interest in scouting among the boys. Several new troops are being organized in various parts of the city and scouts in the city but one will hold meetings. Scout executive F. D. Hawley says that until the troop committee are formed and announcements secured and instructed the location of the new troops will be withheld.

BOY SCOUTS

Renewed activity is being shown by the scout troops of Twin Falls, now that school is well started. During the week all troops in the city but one will hold meetings. One troop is in need of a scoutmaster.

Troop No. 7 met with Scoutmaster William Sizat at Judge Havley's office Friday evening. Different patrols illustrated the scout laws in pantomime. The troop meets again Friday evening for test work and preparation for the scout rally. Eight members of the troop are appearing on the Idaho theater stage this week-end demonstrating scouting.

Troop 4 and troop 1 will meet tonight at the office of the scout executive to organize for the winter's work. Several members of the troop have volunteered as scout leaders and will be used to assist the scoutmasters of the various troops. It is planned that the troops shall hold semi-monthly meetings in addition to their weekly help of other troops.

Tuesday evening was the first meeting of troop 2 for some time, as Scoutmaster Hazel E. Exter, has been away on a big game trip. Ninety 30 scouts met to start the winter's work and listened to an address by the scout executive. Arrangements were made by Mr. Hawley to meet several of the scouts to tants in the vicinity of Muenchen-Gladbach, the separatists hold the fort. In many cases the occupation of the city hall is proving useless, as the occupants are unable to organize local governments and the cities are floundering helplessly without effective leaders, lack of cohesion, recognized authority and communication with the nominal capital, Duren.

BERLIN SCOUTS SUCCESS

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Efforts to establish a Rhenish republic have failed, according to the Berlin newspapers, whose dispatches represent the separatists as having been expelled voluntarily withdrawing from almost all the towns over which their flag had been hoisted. The failure of the movement is attributed to bitter opposition by the populace and the loyalty of both officials and workers. Conflicting accounts are published of the attempt to establish a palatinate republic. Dispatches from Frankfurt report that a French representative on the Rhenishland big commission informed the members of the dot that the palatinate had been established as an autonomous state with a provisional government. On the other hand, a dispatch to Vorwarts asserts that "all preparations have been made to establish the palatinate government as a federal state of the reich."

STRIKE DECLARED

DUESSELDORF, Oct. 24 (AP)—German press dispatches report that while the separatists remain in nominal control in Weiden, where they still are holding the provincial government building and the railways, a general strike has been declared and all the manufacturing plants have virtually shut down. The stores are closed and nothing is functioning normally. During clashes there, five policemen were wounded by the separatists. Another dispatch from Eschweiler, near Duren, says the separatists cleared out from the town Tuesday. In describing their exit the message said: "The republic comedy is at an end, and all the comedians have disappeared, spurs," meaning "without trace."

"We have heard a lot of glib talk about orderly marketing of livestock and yet the element that has made such talk its stock in trade is responsible for the reverse condition, disorderly marketing. They have within the past study merit badge work.

Troop 6 met in the high school gym Tuesday evening with Scout Leader Ralph Husted and Pat Thomas. The troop was organized into patrols and plans were laid for a hike in the near future.

I. E. Joelyn met last night with troop 3 at scout headquarters. The troop plans to enter a full team in the scout rally Saturday. The evening was given over to practicing for the rally.

Troop 5 will probably meet with Mr. Berg and Mr. Hawley tonight. Mr. Berg is one of the city until this afternoon but plans to meet with the troop as soon as possible.

30 days talked the hog market down 42 new hundredweight and the cattlemen into a semi-demoralized condition. "Before long a run of new corn will start, permitting readjustment, and then an opportunity to realize the status of livestock will be offered. There is no logic to the present situation at the livestock market. Meat consumption is enormous, stocks are low and European demand for hog products unprecedented.

"There is danger that these men will create a psychological condition in the country that may prolong this senseless sacrifice of immature livestock of all kinds. The time for orderly marketing is right now and the most effective method of accomplishment lies in creating assurance that corn will not be stored in fire and burglar-proof safes, or that cattle and hogs can not be profitably fed to a reasonable stage of maturity."

COMMUNISTS ARE ROUTED

Hamburg Authorities Succeed in "Cleaning Up" Nests of Radicals Who Participated in Rioting

HAMBURG, Germany, Oct. 24 (AP)—All the nests of the communists who participated in the rioting yesterday having been cleaned up by the authorities, only a few small bodies of the Reds remain and these are scattered in isolated parts of the city. The last important body of them in Bergdorf, a suburb, ten miles southeast of Hamburg—being put to flight.

The police lost 11 men killed and 34 wounded during the rioting. When the insurgents were being chased from the docks they opened fire on the police and the imperial marine with four machine guns.

Meetings of communists who desired to vote on the question of a general strike and to interfere with communications were stopped by the police today.

INVOLVE LAW FOR CHILD PLAYERS

Campaign for Enforcement of Ban on Theatrical Employment Gains Ground

A campaign launched by Twin Falls county officials for strict enforcement of Idaho laws prohibiting the theatrical employment of children is receiving the cordial endorsement of county officials throughout the state, according to assurances given to John R. Ault, county probation officer, on a recent trip to Boise, Nampa and Caldwell, and according to statements in communications received by the juvenile court from both officials and operators of theatres.

In a number of instances during his term of office, Mr. Ault has taken action on the part of local authorities has been required to prevent violation of this law, and experience has shown that best results are obtained by united effort on the part of the officials of all Idaho counties to bring about results which the framers of the law intended.

Asks Square Deal

In practically every instance in which their attention has been called to the law, owners and operators of theatres have co-operated with the officers.

Mr. Ault says that in many instances here is the text of a letter which has been sent out to theatre operators in this county and which has been adopted for use in other counties of the state.

"Enclosed please find a copy of the Idaho state law which the juvenile court and county attorney feel should be enforced most rigidly. We also assure that all traveling troops are fully versed in our state laws in relation to this section and when they violate it they do so knowingly. We also assure that every member of a picture show house in Twin Falls county will be more than willing to co-operate with the officers of our juvenile court in upholding this law and assist us in helping every child to get a square deal from those who are using them for mercenary purposes."

Provides Strict Penalty

The statute referred to in this letter provides that "any person, whether as parent, relative, guardian, employer or otherwise, having the care, custody or control of any child under the age of 16 years, who exhibits, uses or permits in any manner or under any pretense sells, apprentices, gives away, lets out or disposes of such child to any person, under any name, title or pretense, for or on account of the exhibition or vocation, injurious to the health or dangerous to the life or limb of such child, or in or for the vocation, occupation, service or employment of singing, dancing, playing musical instruments, rope or wire walking, dancing, begging or peddling, or as a gymnast, acrobat, or contortionist, or rider, or in any petty vocation, or for any other purpose, or for any other purpose, exhibition or practice whatsoever, or for or in any mendicant, or wandering business whatsoever, or who causes or procures any child under the age of 16 years to engage therein, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $250, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding six months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Every person who takes, receives, hires, employs, uses, exhibits or has in custody any child under the age of 16 years for the purposes mentioned in this section is guilty of a like offense and punishable by like imprisonment. Nothing in this section contained applies to the employment or use of any such child as a singer or musician in any church, school or academy, or the teaching or learning of the science or practice of music."

ters of money with Thompson over my head."

After the break, Mortimer said he wanted to see Forbes about a hospital contract for the Sutherland Construction company, on which he later received a commission of $2500.

He found him in a Philadelphia hotel, he said, and Forbes not only was surprised, but greatly embarrassed at meeting him there.

Questioned about papers in connection with matters to which he testified, Mortimer said most of them had been stolen from his apartment in the Wardman park inn, this city, which had been entered three different times after the return from the trip to the Pacific coast. He could not say whether any one connected with the veterans' bureau had had a hand in the matter.

Mr. Forbes, who made a dramatic appearance before the committee at the opening of the hearings Monday, was absent today as on yesterday.

John F. O'Rourke, New York, general counsel for the committee, suggested, however, that he be given an opportunity to appear before the committee next Tuesday or Wednesday after the resumption of the hearings Monday. This finally was approved by the committee.

Governor Walton and Judge Chambers, and the temporary order was issued after a brief oral presentation of the case.

Attorney General Short represented Lieutenant Governor Prapp as the acting governor.

In the senate, plans went forward rapidly for the impeachment trial. With Chief Justice J. T. Johnson of the state supreme court presiding, the senate late today organized as a court of impeachment and instructed a committee to prepare rules of procedure which are to be passed on tomorrow afternoon.

It was indicated that the senate may at that time set a date for the trial and then adjourn until the house completes its deliberations of the remaining charges in the committee draft of the impeachment bill. Under the program, the trial would not commence until all charges are before the senate.

The way for possible criminal action in connection with matters investigated by the house committee was opened today when Representative Dimery, chairman of the committee, announced that all evidence adduced by the committee would be submitted to a district court grand jury in Pocatello.

The governor charged that W. D. McDee, speaker of the lower house, had disbursed money reported to have come from the Ku Klux Klan to pay the expenses of members of the house who gathered here to conduct an impeachment investigation of the executive on September 26, only to be dispersed by the state militia acting under the governor's orders.

Earlier in the day a message from the governor was read in the house making an inquiry into rumors that a large amount of money now in deposit in a local bank to be used in influencing the impeachment vote of the legislators.

The governor referred to a recent newspaper article which quoted local officials as saying that $250,000 "to be used in the senate" had already been checked here.

The house did not act on the executive's message.

On Tuesday evening the Pythian Sisters celebrated the thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of their order by entertaining a large number of the delightful "500" party in the Business Women's club rooms. The hall was very attractively decorated in the emblems of the order. The tall cards carrying out the same idea Mrs. W. G. Thompson won the prize for high score, and Mrs. Arthur Eldred was awarded the consolation. Miss Ruth Snowhill rendered several piano solos during the evening, which were greatly enjoyed. After the games a beautiful repast was served by Mesdames Lloyd, Higbe, Hamilton and Porter, who were assisted by the Mesdames Carol Thompson, Margaret Johnson, Beulah Betke, Ruth Snowhill, Viola Black and Adeline Eldred. Cuts for the evening were Mrs. Jessie Snowhill, Mrs. N. Read and Miss Theo Biggs.

Mrs. Gibson entertained at Women's Progressive club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Pearson. Seventeen members were in attendance and Mrs. Hilland was a visitor. Three new members were added to the club. Mrs. Elders, Mrs. Wall and Mrs. Carl Jungst. The program was the one prepared by the federated clubs, the subject being "The American with an American Farm Woman." Much of the afternoon was spent with the final plans for the bazaar and cooked food sale to be held Saturday in the rooms formerly occupied by the Veges.

THE MATERIALS OF DEMOCRACY

A noted Polish general, guest of the American Legion at its convention in San Francisco, sent this message to a group of his fellow-countrymen...

"Tell the people I am going to their city to meet those of my race not as Poles but as Americans. I strongly favor Americanization for all who have made this country their home."

"These are friendly words and wise ones. In connection with them the utterance of another great racial leader is worthy of thought."

"What we need in America today is not to suppress or scorn the man of non-Nordic derivation, but to put to American use the virtues and capabilities of race and to stress the importance and uniqueness of the individual, rather than of the race."

Slowly, it is true, but none the less its democratic means and what it surely, this nation is learning what needs. The talents and virtues and capabilities of its citizens and their undivided loyalty to its ideals are all needed to maintain this republic and the finest things for which it stands.

THE CHILDREN'S AMENDMENT

What does the public think of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution? The National Child Labor Committee believes that popular opinion on this subject is favorable to the amendment.

Although the committee has not been seeking statistics on this subject and has therefore very incomplete figures, it finds that there are in its office specific record of one hundred twenty-five newspapers which definitely favor a Child Labor Amendment; five which do not object to it strongly, but consider other methods of regulation adequate; and only nine which are unalterably opposed to it.

Interested by these casually acquired figures, the committee is trying now to learn the exact extent of the newspaper approval of this proposition. If the press is the "voice of the people," as most of us believe, then its backing of this legislation is a hopeful sign.

OPPOSED TO STRIFE

A resolution adopted by the American Legion, in its convention at San Francisco, reads as follows:

"Resolved, that we consider any individual, group of individuals or organization which creates or fosters racial, religious or class strife among our people, or which takes into their own hands the enforcement of law, determination of guilt or infliction of punishment, to be un-American, a menace to our liberties and destructive of our fundamental law; and be it further

"Resolved, that we consider such action by any individual, group or organization to be inconsistent with the ideals and purpose of the American Legion."

This, obviously, is dealing with a question which many American communities regard as extremely delicate. There is no mystery about whom the Jack and Janet and Daddy Dog's whole school start for the fair. They take along Gruntzy Pig in the hope that he will win a prize so that Farmer Brown will not send him to the butcher.

CHAPTER III. Gruntzy Pig could not waddle another step.

Gruntzy Pig could not waddle another step. He was too fat to walk to the fair. He lay beside the road, his fat sides heaving as he gasped for breath.

"Oh, what shall we do now?" cried Jennie Brown. "If Gruntzy Pig doesn't go to the fair and win a prize, father surely will sell him to the butcher."

"I wish we had an auto truck to carry him," said Janet. "Just then an auto truck came rattling around a bend in the road. It was driven by a boy, and it carried a large pig."

"Hey! Hey! Stop!" cried Jack. "Please give us a ride to the fair with our pig. The boy, whose name was Snekzy Sharper, eyed Gruntzy Pig sharply.

"Why are you taking your pig to the fair?" "To win a prize with him so he will not be sold to the butcher," replied Jennie Brown.

"But it is no use for you to go to the fair, as I am going to win the prize with my pig," said Snekzy Sharper, and he drove on.

"Huh!" said Jack. "He is afraid to take Gruntzy Pig to the fair. Gruntzy is much fatter and finer than his pig," which was true.

"They halted other auto trucks, but it was no use. No one seemed willing to give Gruntzy Pig a ride to the fair. Finally a big motor car came along. Jack and Janet pushed their heads and shoulders out of the windows and waved their hands and down the hill. At the bottom of the hill was a river, and the car was flying and leaving a great trail of water. Jack and Jennie raced after the car. They followed it far down the hill.

"Quick as they were, however, Daddy Dog was quicker. He darted ahead and jumped straight for the car just as it was going into the river. Daddy Dog brought the car to a stop, and Jack and Jennie climbed up the hill to give it to the driver.

"Thank you for saving my hat," cried the driver. "If you are going my way, I will give you a ride to the fair with your pig."

"Can you give a ride to my pig, too?" asked Jennie. "We are taking him to the fair."

The resolution is particularly aimed at, in spite of its general terms. The Federation of Labor recently took similar action, in a more outspoken manner.

HEALTH FEES FOR DOCTORS

Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Company, has made an arrangement with his physician whereby he pays only for health.

After a recent sickness, he asked the doctor whether it wasn't possible to keep a patient well instead of merely curing him when he got sick. The doctor thought it was.

"All right, then," said Mr. Vauclain. "Keep me well for ten years. I'll pay you a fat sum every year. I will do everything as you wish. But if I fall sick, I will make deductions from your annual retainer according to the length of illness. So it is a bargain."

Perhaps the strangest thing about this plan is that it should be thought strange. The Chinese are said to have practiced it for thousands of years. There is probably more reason for it in America today than there ever was in China, because of the immense progress we have made in preventive medicine.

It may be that in the near future medical fees for health rather than sickness will be the usual thing.

Tame in Captivity.

Two boys that will try the patience of the photographer on the day of the rose beetle, says Nature Magazine. Both are ferocious, preying creatures, but, like most wild things, if treated properly, will submit to captivity without fatal results.

By placing a large dragon fly in the large glass box and supplying plenty of house flies, splendid pictures are obtained of this insect hawk feeding upon its victims.

Tunnel Far Above Sea Level.

One of the most wonderful of railway tunnels is the trans-Andean, in South America, which was opened in 1905. This great tunnel, which affords direct rail communication between Argentina and Chile, is only five miles in length, but it surpasses all others in being 12,000 feet above sea level.

Temple of Janus.

The Temple of Janus, in Rome, built by Romulus, was open only in war time. It was shut under Numa 714 B. C., after the first Punic war, in 215 B. C., and under Augustus 20, 26 and 6 B. C.

He nearly fell out of his seat in surprise when he saw how big Gruntzy Pig was.

"Bligh gladly," replied the driver. "Hand him up."

He nearly fell out of his seat in surprise when he saw Gruntzy Pig's eyes at work out when he saw Gruntzy Pig go past in the van.

"Huh!" It is no use for you to take your pig to the fair," he yelled to Jennie Brown. "My pig's magic food will surely make him a winner."

But Jennie Brown and Jack and Janet only laughed at that.

The kindly van driver took them to the gates of the fair where an unloaded Gruntzy Pig (Goodbye auto truck), he cried, and drove away.

But when Jennie Brown started to take Gruntzy Pig through the gates of the fair, he met with bad luck.

"You can't go into the fair unless you pay an entry fee for the pig and buy tickets for yourselves," said the gentleman. And not one of the children had a cent of money.

"Huh!" Go back home!" yelled Snekzy Sharper, paying his fee and driving into the fair. "You can't come in and my pig will win the prize."

(But they do get into the fair, by earning money in a very queer way, as will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

One says that the man hurried the bills in the direction of the deck, and that was exactly what he did. But the years had robbed his pitching-arm of the limber strength which, forty summers back, had made him the terror of opposing boys' baseball teams.

It was at this moment that Mr. Oscar Swenson, one of the thriftiest souls who ever came out of Sweden, perceived that the chance of a lifetime had slipped away. He added substantially to his little savings. By profession he was one of those men who eke out a precarious livelihood by rowing dreamily about the waterfront in skiffs. He was doing so now; and, as he sat meditatively in his skiff, having done his best to give the liner a good send-off by paddling round her in circles, the pleading face of a twenty-dollar bill peered up at him. Mr. Swenson was not the man to resist the appeal. He uttered a sharp bark of ecstasy, pressed his derby hat firmly upon his brow and dived in. A moment later he had risen to the surface and was gazing up at money with both hands.

He was still busy with this congenial task when a tremendous splash at his side sent him under again; and, rising for a second time, he observed with not a little chagrin that he had been joined by a young man in a blue flannel suit with an ivory tie stripe. "Srenak!" exclaimed Mr. Swenson, or whatever it is that natives of Sweden exclaim in moments of justifiable annoyance. He resented the advent of this newcomer. He had been getting along fine and had had the situation well in hand. To him Sam Marlowe represented Competition, and Mr. Swenson desired no competitor in his business enterprise. He traveled, he thought Mr. Swenson, the fastest who travels alone.

Sam Marlowe had a touch of the philosopher in him. He had the ability to adapt himself to circumstances. It had been no part of his plans to come swizzling down off the raft into the sea, singularly soup-like water which tasted in equal parts of oil and dead rats; but now that he was here he was prepared to make the best of the situation.

Swimming, it happened, was one of the things he did best, and somewhere among his belongings at home was a tarnished pewter cup which he had won at school in the "Saving Life" competition. He knew exactly what to do. You get behind the victim and grab him firmly under his arms, and then you start swimming on your back. A moment later the astonished Mr. Swenson, who, being practically amphibious, had not anticipated that anyone would have the cool impertinence to try and save him from drowning, found himself seized from behind and towed vigorously away from the raft.

He had almost succeeded in grasping. The spiritual agony caused by this assault rendered him mercifully dumb; though, even had he continued to utter the high Swedish oaths which occurred to him, his remarks could scarcely have been heard, for the crowd on the dock was cheering as one man. They had often paid good money to see far less gripping sights in the movies. They roared applause.

The liner, meanwhile, continued to move steadily out into midwater.

The only drawback to these life-saving competitions at school, considered from the standpoint of fitting the competitors for the problems of after-life, is that the object saved on such occasions is a leather dummy, and of all things in this world a leather dummy is perhaps the most placid and obnoxious.

It differs in many respects from an emotional Swedish gentleman, six foot high and constructed throughout of steel and India rubber, who is being tugged away from cash which has been remaining in the light of a legacy. Indeed, it would not be hard to find a respect in which it does not differ. So far from being inert, as Sam's arms and allowing himself to be saved in a quiet and orderly manner, Mr. Swenson betrayed all the symptoms of one who feels that he has fallen among murderers. Mr. Swenson, such as he disliked competition, now that it was fair competition. This pulling your rival away from the loot so that you could grab it yourself—thus shockingly had the man misinterpreted Sam's motives—was another thing altogether, and his stout soul

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking" By Mrs. Hugh McKay

My husband breaks things at other people's houses. He is a very careful and orderly around home, but the minute we go out he begins knocking over vases, sitting down heavily on wicker chairs and getting generally destructive.

He's so awkward around our hosts' houses that he'd make a bull in a china shop look like a tight-rope walker.

I've often wondered if there's any kind of insurance I could take out on him—some policy to cover the damage he does to other people's furniture.

would have none of it. He began immediately to struggle with all the violence at his disposal. His large hairy hands came out of the water and swung hopefully in the direction where he assumed his assailant's face to be.

Sam was not unprepared for the display. His researches in the art of life-saving had taught him that your drowning man frequently struggles against his best interests. In which case, cruel to be kind, one simply stunned the blighter. He decided to stun Mr. Swenson, though, if he had known that gentleman more intimately and had been aware that he had the reputation of possessing the thickest head on the waterfront he would have realized the magnitude of the task.

Friends of Mr. Swenson, in covetous moments, had frequently endeavored to stun him with bottles, boots and bits of lead piping, and had gone away depressed by failure. Sam, ignorant of this, attempted to do the job with the clearest of which he brought down as squarely as possible on the crown of the other's derby hat.

It was the worst thing he could have done. Mr. Swenson thought highly of his hat and this brutal attack upon it confirmed his gloomiest apprehensions. Now, though, convinced that the only thing to do was to sell his life dearly, he wratched himself round, seized his assailant by the neck, twisted his arms about his middle, and accompanied him below the surface.
