MORSE ENTERS ALLEGATION IN BUREAU PROBE

Missouri Manager of Lowden Campaign Claims Pressure Brought to Bear to Block Abandonment of Vet Project

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Congressional influence was brought to bear to block a plan of the veterans' bureau to abandon the projected tuberculosis hospital at Escalator Springs, Mo., the senate investigating committee was told today by E. L. Morse, prominent in republican politics in Missouri and manager in that state of the Lowden campaign for the republican nomination in 1920.

Morse subsequently sold the plan to the government for $116,100. The property consisted of the Morse homestead and 10 additional acres and was leased to the government under an agreement which, it has been charged before the committee, was worked through by Ewing Loring, then assistant secretary of the treasury, on the last day of the Wilson administration despite recommendations from the public health service that the place was not suitable for a hospital. Further adverse reports were made by medical men, the evidence showed, and in June, 1922, the veterans' bureau decided to abandon the project.

Morse testified that when he was notified of this decision he came to Washington to use his influence with senators and representatives who protested to the bureau. He said he saw 19 senators and that one of them, Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico, took the matter to the White House. Later the sale was consummated.

Morse was on the stand today for more than two hours and near the close of the testimony he appeared to be on the verge of physical collapse with a "fit" at 11:45 a. m. After a rest of 15 minutes. At the time he was being asked by Senator Reed, republican, Connecticut, the following questions prepared by counsel for Charles E. Forbes, former director of the bureau, and relating to conferences with Forbes.

The witness testified that Forbes had appeared "very belligerent" against the Escalator Springs project, but denied that he had any altercation with the then director. He denied also that he had been ordered out of Forbes' office here but said he frequently had been "compelled to wait many hours outside of the office without ever getting opportunity to see Forbes."

Oklahoma Inquiry Extended to Cover State Departments

Governmental Branches Under Walton Regime to Be Investigated; Arrange for Trial of Impeachment Charges

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 30 (AP)—The searchlight of a house impeachment committee fell today upon the department of health, highway, public affairs and game, as the legislator while completing final arrangements for the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton. Thursday extended into other quarters its investigation of the conduct of the state administration.

The four departments are included among many others of the state government which are to be investigated, although no charges have been made against their heads, it was said by a committee member who declined to permit use of his name. Account of each of the offices are being compiled as a part of the general inquiry, the committee member added.

Activity in the governor's case was centered in the conference rooms where both sides made last minute preparations for the trial Thursday before a senate court of impeachment. With the prediction firmly being made that counsel for the executive intended to "base his defense on the Ku Klux Klan issue, the house body of managers, which will prosecute the case, was said to have made plans to block such a move.

The first issue of the daily newspaper published by Governor Walton for the announced purpose of carrying his side of the impeachment proceedings, appeared on the streets today. The paper, named "Jack Walton's Daily," carried lengthy articles attacking alleged K. K. influence over the legislature and other parts of the state government.

Municipal Authorities of Aix la Chapelle Want Armed Intervention Effected

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Germany, Oct. 30 (AP)—An appeal for British aid on behalf of this city, where the Rhineland separatists hold the government headquarters has been sent to Foreign Secretary Curzon by the municipal officials on behalf of the "entire population." The appeal asserts that if the police were given permission to use firearms, they could soon oust the separatists.

OPPOSE FREIGHT RATE REVISION

Rail Executives Draft Reply Believed Unfavorable to Coolidge's Wishes

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—President and other executives of every grain or coal-hauling railroad in the country today drafted what was unofficially reported to have been an unfavorable reply to President Coolidge's recent proposal for revision of rail freight rates on shipments of those two commodities which were destined for export.

A committee of the presidents was named to submit the drafted reply to the president at Washington by Thursday, or earlier if they could be received at the White House.

While the contents of the draft were withheld to await the wishes of President Coolidge in regard to publication, several executives said it was based on a conviction that large rates on grain for export would not create an increased market for wheat in Europe and therefore would not lift the American farmer out of the slough of over-production.

The president's suggestions made to Samuel Reed, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, during a recent interview at the White House, were believed to have been aimed at stimulating the foreign grain trade to the benefit of the wheat farmer.

Mr. Reed called the conference today which was by invitation to individual roads and not an official session of any of the recognized national railway

UNIFORMITY OF STATE LAWS ON INDUSTRY URGED

Investment Bankers Told of Benefits to Public of Regulation of Measures Pertaining to Public Utilities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Uniformity of state laws regulating public utilities was advocated in a report submitted to the Investment Bankers' Association of America today by its committee on public service securities.

The committee's report which was one of several considered at today's session of the organization's annual convention, also urged that all state commissions be vested with authority over the valuation, rates, services and capitalization of privately-owned utilities plants, and that they be required to publish full financial reports of their operations.

"When administered with the broadest powers and in a judicial manner," the report said, "state-wide regulation of public utilities has been conclusively proved in the opinion of the committee to afford the best guarantees which investors can have in this country for a maintenance of that integrity of investment necessary for a ready flow of money into the business."

"Pointing out that investors are disposed to withhold funds from business affected by purely political agitations, the committee said such a situation "cramps a utility and the public is eventually not benefited."

Local Sales Favored. "It has become more evident," the report added, "that a development of local sales of investment securities by operating companies direct to users of service will be helpful in preventing such undue political attacks."

The report outlined the expansion of the public utility business in the last year and pointed to the sale within the last two and one-half years of nearly $2,500,000,000 of bonds and stocks. This expansion, it said, was continuing.

The task of raising funds for public utilities, the committee found, has been made difficult, because of "the general systems of taxation throughout the country."

MELLON-PINCHOT ROW DEVELOPING

Pennsylvania Governor Replies in Strong Terms to Letter on Law Enforcement

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—Governor Pinchot in a letter tonight to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, characterized as a "defense of things as they are," the secretary's reply to the governor's letter. Sunday criticizing the federal prohibition enforcement system. What is needed, he said, "is not a defense of present evils, but the determination to abate them, followed by effective action." Mr. Mellon's letter was received by the governor today.

"It is a matter of sincere regret to me," the governor said, "that your answer by my letter is merely an effort to justify the present federal system of enforcement which all American knows to be defective, inefficient and a breeder of corruption."

Governor Pinchot's letter tonight followed by only a few hours the receipt of Secretary Mellon's answer to one Mr. Pinchot sent the secretary Sunday night. In his first letter the governor charged what he termed "the breakdown" of the federal enforcement of the federal permit system and declared the state government was "disappointed by failure of the federal government to use all its powers."

Mr. Mellon, replying last night, said the governor's statements are "not founded on facts." Replying to assertions of the governor.

Efforts to Regain Health of No Avail and Briton Succumbed After Strenuous Career

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Andrew Bonar Law, who was one of the strong wartime statesmen of Great Britain and its only prime minister of colonial birth, died at his London home at 3 o'clock this morning. The last of his 65 years was lived under a cloud of heavy misfortune.

Only a little more than a year ago he reluctantly accepted the highest political office in the empire, telling his supporters that he was doubtful if his health would long bear the strain of the duties and promising to give up the work when he was no longer equal to it. Then followed seven months of office—months harassed by pain; whereupon he fulfilled his promise.

"The verdict of the doctors has left me no choice," he wrote his Glasgow

England Informs U. S. Secretary Powers Are Ready

Commission of Inquiry by Experts May Begin Consideration of Baffling Reparations Problem at Once

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Europe is to make another effort to unravel the everlasting reparations tangle. The British government today decided to accept the French premier's overtures and the British charge d'affaires at Washington was instructed by cable tonight to inform Secretary Hughes of the decision of the powers to enter into a conference of experts such as Mr. Hughes suggested in his reply to Foreign Secretary Curzon's plea for American participation.

If all goes well this commission of inquiry will be started before the overseas premiers leave London and it is hoped that in spite of France's severe restrictions it may lead to a larger plenary conference on the whole European situation at Washington or elsewhere, in which the powerful neutral nations like the United States may make their voices heard.

Sir John Brabury, the British reparations delegate, informed the British government today that while some of the conditions would sharply limit the scope of the conference, he felt that Great Britain could not take the responsibility of a peremptory "no" to France and risk the loss of American participation.

Want America at Head.

There is a strong desire among the British government officials that the experts' committee shall have an American chairman, whose neutrality they feel will enable the Japanese measure of impartiality and justice in the committee's decisions. They would welcome an American member, it is said, a financier of such international standing as J. P. Morgan, or a lawyer of such standing as Felix Frankfurter, or a statesman of such experience as Roland W. Boyden or Paul Cravath.

Japan to Be Invited.

Japan will be invited to join in the discussions of the expert committee. The British believe Japan's attachment to the fund will be a greater measure to take an objective, unbiased view of the reparations problem, and with the American delegate, exercise a moderating or even mediating influence upon the discussions of his more interested colleagues.

It is understood that General J. G. Smuts, premier of South Africa, and some of the other progressive dele

Beet Growers Formulate Plans for Organized Marketing; Meyer Offers Wheat Sales Project Added Support

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 30 (AP)—Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation; former Congressman Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, director of the corporation, and Aaron Spiro of New York, member of the Lowden committee named by a recent conference of growers and other officials in Chicago to direct the co-operative marketing movement, told the American Wheat Growers Association here this afternoon that it might count on co-operation of the Lowden committee and the war finance corporation in the attempt to make co-operative marketing effective.

"Conditions are now more favorable for the rapid organization of co-operative wheat marketing groups than ever and I have before me," Mr. Meyer said. Mr. Meyer in company with Mr. Mondell has just completed a tour of the northern and northwest wheat-growing areas.

Mr. Spiro this morning urged the convention to endorse the recommendation of the Lowden committee that each state group be allowed to affiliate itself with the national movement unless it pools a minimum of 50 per cent of its wheat. The marketing expert also made it plain that any previously existing difficulties between himself and George C. Jewell, of Minneapolis, manager of the association, and others had disappeared and that the fullest co-operation between the associations could be depended upon.

"The American Wheat Growers Association," Mr. Spiro declared, "is the only co-operative marketing organization founded upon and conducted along lines with the correct basic principles and methods."

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 30 (AP)—Members of beet growers' associations from Colorado, Nebraska and Utah today appointed a national beet growers' advisory committee "to study suggestions of the production and marketing national committee and to formulate a plan for organizing, including growers' contracts, and present the same to growers in the several beet-growing states and endeavor to secure its adoption."

The action of the conference was taken despite opposition voiced earlier in the day by Fred Cummings of Fort Collins, Colo., president of the mountain states beet growers' association, and which he declared that the national co-operative marketing plan was unsound and that a factory district marketing scheme was the only solution of the problem.

In response to Mr. Cummings' stated opposition, the conference adopted a compromise resolution in which the "need for the organization of separate beet growers on a commodity basis" was recognized and which recommended that the organization of the co-operative associations in factory districts be encouraged and that local district organizations be coordinated into state and national groups "for appropriate purposes."

The national advisory committee is to consist of three members from each of the states represented in the conference here. Utah members of the committee announced tonight are Ephraim Bergerson of Ogden, Harry C. Barker of Wallburg, and W. G. Gantiquin of Bantiquin.

LLOYD GEORGE CITES PERILS TO DEMOCRACY

Expresses Confidence of American and British Faith in Democratic Institutions; Raps Autocracies

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 (AP)—Belief that the people of America and Great Britain will stand behind democratic institutions whatever may befall in any other land, was expressed in a address here today by David Lloyd George. Emphasizing the advantages of a democratic government over an autocracy, the former British premier declared that he was "glad to be here where the greatest democracy on earth made its start."

The address was delivered in the assembly of music before the Philadelphia Forum. Mr. Lloyd George warned that democracy is imperilled in the face of a reaction in Europe reflected in the establishment of autocratic governments in Russia, Italy, Spain and for the moment Germany. "Believe me," he said, "democracy is on trial. May the act here. You will stand by it. But there are other nations that have given it up; there are nations that have attempted to give it up, and unless the nations that have tried and have been brought through many trials, stand by it, democracy in the world may disappear."

"We have three great democracies in the world at the present time to stand by these principles—your great land, France and Britain."

Retracting His Plea.
Retracting his plea for American help in Europe, Mr. Lloyd George told how he had come from a continent racked with anxiety and torn with ancient feuds, "which a few years ago broke out in a calamity which devastated a continent and raged upon."
"I am hopeful," he added, "that after a struggle which has created such devaluation over vast territories, with your help, the help that you gave us so readily, so unselfishly, and with as much inspiration in 1917, that with that help Europe also will be redeemed and mankind will march steadily and resolutely along the road that will lead to a higher civilization."

Referring to Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell. Mr. Lloyd George said:

"I had the pleasure of visiting one of the sacred shrines of liberty, the hall of independence, and I saw that great bell which will continue to ring in the hearts of the children of men whenever liberty and justice are in jeopardy, world without end."

"Your city, your shrine, recalls memories that are not altogether pleasant—I will not say to men of my race, but to men of my land. Still, it is good for us, now and again, to remind ourselves even of those incidents."

"You fought and fought successfully a most despotic oligarchy from whose rule we were suffering as much as you were. In fact, a good deal more. The trouble was that, although you had a George Washington, we had not. It therefore took us the better part of a century to throw off a yoke which you got rid of in a few years' of struggle."

"But the lesson you taught us has

PREPARATION OF STATE SUIT IS TOUGH JOB

BOISE, Oct. 30.—Preparation of the state's suit to test the constitutionality of the Idaho state bar commission act is proving one of the toughest jobs the attorney general's office has started, in the opinion of James L. Doose, assistant, who is working on the case.

"We are a slow people, but we are fairly sure and when you gave us that lesson, we took it and the result is the British empire today. We know it, a commonwealth of independent nations, associated in partnership for the promotion of liberty and justice."

POSTPONE CONFERENCE ON GERMAN WAR DEBTS

Inter-Allied Reparations Commission to Act at Later Date on Capacity to Pay; Await Experts' Plan

PARIS, Oct. 30 (AP)—The inter-allied reparations commission today unanimously voted to postpone consideration of the German application for a hearing on Germany's capacity for payment until further information is received on the negotiations between the allied governments for the creation of an experts' committee to investigate the subject.

Some delegates at first favored proceeding regardless of the proposed experts' conference, but they abandoned their attitude upon the explanation of the British delegate, Sir John Bradbury, that the commission in so acting might forestall or interfere with the plans for the international conference.

Sir John Bradbury in a statement issued after the meeting declared that "adjournment of consideration of the German note was made upon my own personal initiative." This was in refutation of statements appearing in the French press to the effect that he had received instructions from London to obstruct the commission's proceeding by threatening to raise the question of the legality of the Ruhr occupation should the committee decide to hear the German.

HALF RATES SCHEDULED ON IDAHO SEED SPUDS

Reduction Is Made Effective January 1 on Shipments from Twin Falls District to Other Points

BOISE, Oct. 30.—Half rates on seed potatoes shipped from the Twin Falls country and the territory north of Pocatello, to all Idaho points, effective January 1, were announced Monday by Joel Priest, general agent of the Oregon Short Line. The Short Line is doing this, Mr. Priest said, because the seed potatoes raised in those sections will produce crops 50 per cent heavier than seeds grown in other localities.

Special rates will end with the close of business April 1. These rates will apply only to shipments within Idaho on the Union Pacific system.

Seed potatoes grown near Twin Falls and Pocatello are dug later because of the cooler climate, Mr. Priest asserted, and for the same reason lose less of their vitality. Experts say that potatoes kept almost at the freezing point hold their vitality best.

The head of one of this country's great manufacturing institutions says:

"The man who builds and the man who buys are both beneficiaries of reputation. To the one it is a continuous spur and incentive—to the other, the strongest of all guarantees that what he buys is worthy."

Patronize the manufacturer or merchant who has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his customers. He must retain the good-will of the buying public. Without this, his business cannot succeed.

BRUINS KEEP UP HARD PRACTICE

Plenty of Signal Work and Scrimmage Feature Tuesday's Workout at Lincoln

Tuesday was a continuation of Monday as far as the Bruins were concerned. Plenty of signal work followed by a good hard scrimmage and then the dummy and bucking machine. The line looks better, but still can stand a lot of improvement. Whether they can keep up a fast, hard pace for a whole game is a matter of speculation. They will have to do that very thing if they beat East High.

Considerable time was spent on the ends Tuesday night with good results and the fans will hear from both ends of the Bruin line next Saturday. East High will be the most finished team that has confronted the Bruins this season. They come fresh from a defeat that should make them fight all the harder and if they do the Bruins will have the toughest game of the season.

Moore was not out Tuesday, illness being the cause. The big boy will probably be in shape to take part in the fracas Wednesday night.

Jenks Recovering
Jenks was in a suit again and running signals. He gets away in good style, and although the injured member may slow him up he will have the same-old drive if he gets an opportunity. It is a question whether he will start the game or be held in reserve.

The backfield seems to be in good shape and is apparently not worrying Evans very much. Timm is going good and that boy is certainly speedy. He will be dangerous for East High if he once gets by their secondary. Alford is just as dangerous on circling the ends and will make the brothers from the south stop if they catch him.

Ortm Improving
Ortm will probably run the team and he is improving with every practice. He uses his head to good advantage and can plug the line when necessary.

The Bruins know they are up against a battle and their work in practice has had more pep and steam behind it than any week this season. Two more days of hard work and then a day of rest and the big game is on.

BOONE'S SEAR QUARTER
OUT OF NAMPKA GAME

BOISE, Oct. 30.—Blood poisoning will keep Max Rawlins out of the back of Coach Kahn's Boise high school football squad, out of next Saturday's championship football fray with the Nampa eleven, it was announced Monday.

Loss of Rawlins will make a difference in the performance of the team against the heavy, fast and aggressive Nampa eleven, Coach Kahn said, but pessimism as to the outcome of the contest is not to be allowed. Hard work and hard training is expected to solve the problem of beating Nampa, the coach said.

Parke bobbed up at Latonia last week when he rode 10 consecutive winners in two days, establishing a record, according to eastern papers. Eastern horsemen say Parke will have the leg up on Harry Payne Whitney's Enchantment.

Parke's feat of riding five winners in a single day was the second time such a thing had been done on the Latonia track, the Cincinnati Enquirer says, J. Porter turning the trick 32 years ago.

It was alleged by the Shuberts that the defendants had "maliciously and wantonly conspired to crush them by preventing vaudeville entertainers from appearing in the Shubert circuit." HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations, often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The acid passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding. Bladder weakness, says folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water who get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

CUBS BEAT CASTLEFORD

Junior High Football Team's First Visit Away from Home Ends in 19-6 Victory for Locals

The Cubs tried out their teeth again yesterday when they defeated the Castleford High School by a 19-6 score. This is the Junior High's first game away from home. The game was won by the fact that they were on foreign ground did not affect the boys much, for they were successful in keeping the ball in Castleford territory most of the game, outplaying the west end eleven more than the score indicates. The line men of Frazzelle and the work of Vance, who was out of the Junior High line-up last week when they met the Jerome seconds, was back in Tuesday and gave a good account of himself.

LANDOWNERS ENDEAVOR TO JOIN NEW DISTRICT

Controversy Between Milner and Murtaugh Irrigation Districts Is Revived by Settlers' Petition

C. D. Thomas and others, seeking a court order permitting inclusion of the Milner Low Lift Irrigation district of their lands which are included now within the Murtaugh irrigation district, were granted permission Tuesday by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here to file petitions in intervention in the case of the Murtaugh district. The petitioners seek to dissolve a restraining order heretofore issued in the case by Judge T. Bailey Lee, enjoining the Milner district from attempting to include within its boundaries lands now within the Murtaugh district.

The petitioners allege that the Milner district is in position to furnish water for their lands, and that the Murtaugh district is unable to do so.

Associated with Mr. Thomas as petitioners are J. H. Blei, R. C. Hyde, Thomas Logan and H. G. Lauterbach. A similar petition was filed also by Anna Ulmermark, an entrant under the desert land act.

Filing of the petitions was resisted by J. W. Porter and O. W. Witham, attorneys for the Murtaugh district. The petitioners were represented by Sweeley and Sweeley, who also are counsel for the Milner district.

nor that permits had been issued to certain breweries after they had been detected in violation of the law, Mr. Mellon cited settlements made and explained permits had been issued only after a year or more had passed.

Mr. Mellon said citations had been issued and revocation proceedings are pending. In his letter tonight the governor asked the secretary to refuse to re-issue permits for the operation of plants where the laws had been broken and declared there was no provision of the law compelling the treasury department to re-issue permits after a year to applicants "who are admittedly lawbreakers."

"I have no change to make in my statement contained in any previous letter," the governor said. "The facts are as I there set them forth. The law-abiding citizens of Pennsylvania are profoundly alarmed and anxious for relief, the state administration is doing its level best. If the present situation represents the best treasury department can do, there is no suggestion that the enforcement service should be placed directly under the president has greater force than I suspected when I made it."

constituents in announcing his decision to retire. The next five months were divided between continental resorts and the English seaside in pursuit of relief from suffering. There were a few weeks when he seemed to be improving, but with the chill of the autumn days came the final blow and ten days ago he was brought back from Brighton to his London home for the inevitable end. There he died. His daughter, Lady Sykes, and his two surviving sons, Anthony and Richard, were with him. Two sons, James and Charles, lost their lives in the war. These blows aged him beyond his years.

Cancer Caused Death.

Like General Grant and the German emperor, Frederick III, the late premier died from cancer of the throat. There was a parallel between his last days and those of Frederick III, in that both came into brief power with the sentence of death pronounced upon them.

The last phase and deciding factor in Mr. Bonar Law's illness was an attack of pneumonia, which his energetic frame had not the vitality to resist. The approaching end was revealed only to the few who were able to read last night's bulletin in which was issued warnings after the evening papers were published. To the general public the news this morning was an unexpected shock.

Spencer's Suffering.

Spencer Baldwin, the friend and political legatee of Mr. Bonar Law, spoke the kindest thought of all his friends in saying: "For him I am thankful; he has been spared further suffering."

The short speech, Mr. Bonar Law made at the funeral, which he had decided to withdraw from the Lloyd George coalition a year ago, was uttered with difficulty. His voice almost failed at times during his last appearance in the house of commons, and it was evident then that he was broken man, making a fight against pain.

Effect Not Extensive.

No effect upon British politics or policies from Bonar Law's death can be foreseen. His successor, like President Coolidge, has appeared to regard the trustees of the former leader as the estate. The two have become regretfully reconciled to the belief that Bonar Law had disappeared from public life, without the possibility of returning. It is too early for British commentators to appraise the value of his services, or the exact weight he had thrown in the government boat during the war.

The newspapers and men of all parties affirm that no one knew the last leader except to be friendly. Flags were at half mast today, and Major General Sir Frederick Sykes, the speaker at the memorial service, recalled this afternoon where the king and queen expressed their condolences.

Although it is generally assumed that Westminster Abbey will be Mr. Bonar Law's final resting place, Glasgow, where he was educated, where he had so many friends and admirers, seems favored by his personal preference, where both his mother and father were born, and the rest of whose uncertainty he once was, is putting forward strong claims that the body should rest in Scotland.

THREE LAND OPERATORS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Officers and Agents of Northwestern Investment Company, Once Active Here, Face Penalty for Fraud

POCAHELLO, Oct. 30—L. H. Lathrop, principal owners of the Northwestern investment company, was found guilty on seven counts of using the mails to defraud, by a jury in federal district court here which returned its verdict Sunday after 24 hours deliberations. B. S. Champlin, formerly of Hollister, assistant general manager for the company, also was found guilty on seven counts, and George W. Clark, sales agent, was found guilty of four counts. D. D. Burside was acquitted. The Northwestern investment company was at one time owner of what is now the Blue Lake addition to Twin Falls and undertook there to improve the property along lines of its operations in other fields.

The indictment against its officers who have just been convicted charged that the mails were used by the company in the furtherance of a fraudulent land deal at Blackfoot, Idaho, during the spring and early summer of 1920.

Testimony was introduced by the government proving that the company contracted for the purchase of a tract of land at Blackfoot known as the Yellowstone subdivision and that $5000 was the only amount of the $15,000 purchase price paid by the company. The tract was divided into lots and these lots were sold to farmers in the vicinity of Blackfoot. Government witnesses testified that the company promised to make various improvements without delay and a number of contracts were introduced in evidence. These contracts stated that 30 per cent of the notes taken in payment for the lots would be put into a trust fund of the company for the financing of the improvements on the subdivision. Purchasers of lots testified that they were given the understanding that the company, that their notes would not be sold, and that the subdivision promoted by the company at Burley, Nampa, Paul and St. Anthony were successful and that purchasers of lots in these subdivisions were entirely satisfied with their purchases.

During the progress of the trial it was brought out that the Northwestern investment company was in a bad financial condition when the Blackfoot subdivision was started; that the improvements called for in the contract were never made; that the notes of the farmers were sold to third parties; that there was no trust fund created for the Yellowstone subdivision; and that the Burley, Nampa, Paul and St. Anthony subdivision projects promoted by the company were failures.

All Breeding and Dairy Cattle to Be Tested as They Enter State and Held for 60-Day Period

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 30 (AP)—All breeding and dairy cattle shipped into Nebraska hereafter will be tested as they come in, held in quarantine for 60 days and re-tested at that time, it was announced today at the office of the state agriculture department. Secretary of Agriculture Shunway declared today that the state was willing to test cattle and reimburse owners in Nebraska for the cost of the tests, but that the state could not reimburse for diseased cattle which are shipped and was making this provision to do away with importation of diseased animals and payment of indemnities thereon. The order issued today will be made retroactive for two or three months past in order to check up on recent bovine shipments into Nebraska, the agriculture secretary declared today.

Popular Sympathy for Hazel Lansberry Finds Expression at Odd Fellows Carnival and Dance

Popular sympathy for Miss Hazel Lansberry, a patient now at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, found expression through the benefit carnival and dance given Tuesday evening by the Odd Fellows lodge and associated organizations. Odd Fellows hall was thronged until late Tuesday night with crowds bent at once upon merry-making and on expression of sympathy for the girl who, it is hoped, will be restored to health as a result of operations she is to undergo.

The affair, from a financial standpoint, it is believed, will come up to the expectations of the committee in charge. Receipts during the evening from sale of contributed articles sold at auction by O. Walter of Elletts, and from other features of the entertainment, were said to be generous. An unexpected contribution was received during the evening when six persons wearing hoods and gowns entered the hall to present a cash donation.

IDAHO TEACHERS WILL HEAR PROMINENT MEN

Herbert Hoover and W. G. Wood of California Invited to Address State Association at Pocatello

POCATELLO, Oct. 30—That two of the most prominent men in the country are to be brought to Idaho for the annual convention of the Idaho State Teachers association has been guaranteed by the support offered the teachers' organization by the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce. Telegrams have been sent to Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Will G. Wood, state superintendent of California.

But the teachers will not give all of their time to listening to prominent speakers. The forthcoming issue of The Idaho Teacher, edited at the Technical Institute, carries an outline, over the signature of President R. H. Snyder, of a number of important problems that confront the Idaho schools as a result of laws passed at the last session of the legislature.

Since the last November, A. Dolso the time-honored system of institutes has been abolished. Many educational leaders in the state are determined to see if it is possible to formulate an acceptable plan for bringing the institute back. Another big question looming before the convention is how can the lowering of certification requirements be counteracted? Another big question mark is being placed after the act of the legislature in failing to provide a salary for a commissioner of education. A lively business session is foreshadowed.

BANKERS SHOW INTEREST IN AGRICULTURE

Genuine Fellowship Between Finance and Farming is Key-note at Conference; Inspect Blooded Dairy Cattle

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 30 (AP)—A fellowship between the banker and the farmer which shall amount to more than a perfunctory or casual relationship, was the keynote of a program agreed upon today by the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association, at the last of a two day session.

The twelve banker members of the commission, after spending yesterday in Omaha discussing the general phase of the agricultural outlook as it relates to banking, came to Lincoln today to spend the day tramping over the campus of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska, seeing the dairy cattle, stopping at a feeders' meeting, while agricultural experts told farmers how to raise beef cattle at a profit, and listening to extension men and Nebraska bankers set up typical banker-farmer program for this state.

Upon a statement of its belief in three fundamental agricultural policies—diversification, sound cooperation, marketing and improvement of unit efficiency on the farm—the agricultural commission built its program by bringing the farmer and the banker into an alliance of understanding and mutual assistance in every part of the country.

The machinery of the plan includes the organization of bankers committee on agriculture in every federal reserve district, then by states and then by counties or groups of counties.

No single specific program, it was pointed out by the advisory council of agricultural educators, will serve for the whole country. Over the whole country, however, the bankers will be committed in general to the cooperation with agricultural colleges, the encouragement of boys' and girls' clubs as the hope for a new generation of competent agrarians and to the development of new agricultural enterprises in states which today stand or fall on a single crop prospect or fall.

The committee also tonight, to begin active work upon the program, it every part of the country within the next few weeks. President Walter W. Head of the American Bankers' association, called the new program in every part of the country, the most important in the history of the commission's activity.

CONFERS WITH BORAH
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—President Coolidge today counseled with Senator Borah of Idaho on the latest move toward solving the European reparations problem and learned that the "irreconcilable" leader was not opposed to the administration program but held grave doubts as to its results.

Invited to the White House by President Coolidge, Mr. Borah declined afterward to attend his conference with the president, but it was learned that the Hughes proposal for American unofficial participation in the reparations discussions was talked over at length.

The French stipulation that the proposed advisory commission must report to the reparations commission was said to be regarded by Senator Borah as a virtually insurmountable obstacle to success. The Idaho senator was said to differ wholly from Senator McCormick of Illinois, another republican "irreconcilable," on the subject and to have little fear of "entanglement" of the United States in European affairs through the present project.

Senator Borah's views in regard to aiding Europe to solve the reparations and other economic difficulties have not changed. He still favors the economic conference of the world powers he advocated at the last session of congress, but he believes the same results can not be accomplished by the present plan and it is understood he so informed President Coolidge. The Idaho leader holds the hope, however, that the present negotiations may lead eventually to the open world conference which he has urged.

Eight-Cent Pork Profitable to Lad

Young Herdsman Keeps Careful Record of Pigs Raised as Part of School Work

That hog raising is a profitable business when considered strictly from the standpoint of pork production has been demonstrated to the Twin Falls country on several occasions. The story of how it is done, however, is ever new, and more figures to add to the existing evidence that this is a real hog country are always welcome.

On October 1, Leonard Smith, a Smith-Hughes agricultural student at the high school, sold the last of a litter of ten Duroc-Jersey pigs which he had raised and marketed as part of his school work. And it is from the history of the rather short lives of the majority of these pigs that the telling figures are taken.

On January 18 of this year he purchased a sow which farrowed a litter of ten pigs on March 18. A careful record was kept of the costs of keeping and caring for the sow and pigs. The charges entered against the pigs up to the time they were 144 days old were as follows:

500 pounds bran	7.85
230 pounds barley	5.15
10 pounds cake	.50
6040 pounds milk	6.30
15 sacks raw spuds	1.50
379 pounds wheat	5.00
Half ton alfalfa hay	5.00

Feed cost, 10 pigs and sow to August 9 $32.00
The labor necessary to care for the animals was estimated at three-fourths hour per day and was figured at the rate of 25 cents per hour. This item for the 144 days amounted to $37.06, bringing the total cost of the pigs to August 9 to $69.06, an average cost per head of $7.

Feedings Exceeds Returns
Nine of these pigs were sold to be sold for pork. On October 1, 53 days later, they were sold. The feed costs for these 53 days were as follows:

2225 pounds ground barley	$34.87
4200 pounds buttermilk	5.55
Labor, 3-4 hours per day at 25c	10.04

Total $50.46
The average pig for the 53 days' feed and care was $5.57. This, added to the $7 previously figured brought the total cost per pig on the day of sale to $12.77. The average weight of the pig was 125 pounds at 198 days of age. With pork at 8 cents per pound, the average value of the pigs on that basis figured out at $10.45, or an average profit of $2.85 per head.

Thus it is shown that the young herdsman had his pigs sold at a profit on a pork price basis. However, one registered gilt was sold for $40 and one boar pig for $20. The remaining eight sows were sold at 8 cents per pound, bringing the total receipts for the ten pigs to $183.60. Total costs including interest on investment, feed, labor and registration charges, amounted to $123.12. By subtracting the total costs from the total receipts the total profit from the litter is found to be $60.48. And when considering this figure it should be borne in mind that the herdsman also received pay for his work in the sum of $48.

Several other students in the same department at the high school were supplied with sows by their instructor, J. S. Feldhusen. Litters from these sows were raised by the boys on a share basis and without an exception the arrangement was profitable to both the boys as well as to Mr. Feldhusen. From five sows which farrowed two litters each 75 pigs were raised. Hog raisers know that such an accomplishment shows that the boys must have acquired some of the knowledge necessary in the development of real livestock breeders.

HALLOWEEN SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. R. Williams - Telephone 395

The Lavender pavilion was the scene of one of the prettiest social functions ever given in Twin Falls when Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Evans, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLean and Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Passer entertained with a Halloween dancing party on Tuesday evening. The large hall was beautifully decorated with amaranth fern, cat tails and pumpkins.

A novel idea was used for the balcony, each post holding a pumpkin jack o' lantern which were electrically lighted with alternate green and yellow lights. The chandeliers were shaded with orange crepe paper, while streamers of the orange paper with bats, witches, black cats and pumpkin faces were suspended from wires on the sides of the room. On the other side of the orchestra pit was placed two huge black cats with blazing green eyes, producing a very "spooky" effect. An alcove in the front of the room was elaborately furnished and decorated, making a cozy nook for those desiring to rest between dances. The guests were received at the door by the Misses Jane Maxwell, Patricia Wilson, Beth Bowen, Betty Wilson, Mary Virginia Hart and Marjorie Woods, after which they were greeted by the hosts and hostesses in the receiving line. The same young ladies served punch and cake throughout the evening from a punch table decorated in the black and orange, with lighted orange candles in black cauldrons. The programs were also in the orange and black.

During the ninth dance ladies were distributed, those for the ladies being orange fans to be worn in the hair, and for the gentlemen, horns covered in orange crepe paper with Halloween's emblems. The sixteenth dance was also a favor dance, orange balloons being showered from the balcony in great quantities. Music was furnished by the Bennett orchestra of five pieces. One hundred and ninety invitations were issued.

Mrs. C. R. Scott gave a delightful Halloween party Monday evening for her son, Billie. The hours were from 7 to 9, and the chief event was a "ghost walk" out of doors after which all sorts of "stunts" were enjoyed indoors, and refreshments were served. Those present were Frank Peavey, Roy Head, Jim Maxwell, Howard Patrick Rollin Hunter, Billie Thomas and Mark Felt.

The wedding of Glenn Cochran and Miss Vivian Raines came as a pleasant surprise to their wide circle of friends. The ceremony was performed on Saturday, October 27 at Burley by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds of the Christian church. They were attended by Sule Koleso. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Raines and is a graduate of the Twin Falls high school, class of 1923. The groom is a prosperous farmer, and the couple will reside on his farm three miles south of the city.

Miss Ellen Taylor, Miss May Coleman and Miss Gwendolyn Thomas entertained at a Halloween party Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Thomas, 731 Second avenue north. Novelty games and Halloween stunts provided diversion for the guests. At 9:15 refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas. Ellen Taylor and Cleone Coleman. Those present, in addition to the hostesses were Ruby Walters, Dorothy Taylor, Alice and Jessie McKenzie, Phyllis and Andrew Shaw, Billie Dygert, Bert Larson, Wal-

The Wanted Attribute of Modish Footwear Which Heel Huggers Possess

Regardless of changing modes, fashion through the years has been most seriously concerned with the fact that a great many slippers (though gay and decorative) had an unpleasant way of bulging at ankle and slipping at heel.
Heel-Hugger Footwear has brought to Dame Fashion the greatest joy of her long and glorious career. For in these new beauties she has found such snugness and firmness of fit at ankle and instep, such fit-perfection at heel (even though the foot be a slender one) as to add new laurels to her lustrous name.
In these splendidly built shoes Ute & Dunn have combined the mastery design and craftsmanship which for more than four decades has made it possible for them to maintain the proud place of leadership in the building of fine footwear.

NEW YORK

It may be that New York is the most misunderstood city in America. The New York World, explaining why the metropolis is the best place for the Democratic national convention, remarks that it is the subject of much unjust envy and distrust because it is big and rich and the gateway of immigration. But none of these things, says the World, is due to superior cunning of its citizens, and certainly not to superior wisdom in its government.

"Its advantages are primarily geographic. Traffic must come its way; wealth flows. "New York is much like Gopher Prairie. It has many Main streets, its fair share, and no more, of frivolous people; fewer criminals in proportion than many western cities; street congestion about as in Detroit or Denver; a high percentage of newcomers from abroad, as in most progressive northern towns, but a percentage much less than it was ten years ago.

"For the rest, it has endless miles of quiet streets where home-staying people live ordered lives as sedately as anywhere in the world; and schools, churches, museums, parks, which are its pride. In no city could the convention visitor be assured of greater safety in purse and person or of meeting more hospitable home folks."

Here is a rare modesty, of a sort hardly expected. And somehow it has the ring of truth. The World's argument may not be altogether convincing as to the supreme suitability of New York for the convention in question, but it does suggest that metropolitan correspondents and publicity men have been foolishly misrepresenting their city.

All America feels more kindly toward a great, big, friendly Gopher Prairie, full of Main Streets, than toward a brilliant, hard, cynical business capital trying to dominate the rest of the country.

Ministers Pledged to Wage Battle on Dry Law Violators

Protestant Preachers Told of Hardening's Accusation of Slackening of Churches

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—More than 300 New York ministers, representing Protestant denominations pledged themselves at a conference to wage a war to the death against bootleggers, "despicable lawbreakers" and "politicians attempting to nullify the 18th amendment."

"President Harding, in a conversation in October, 1922, accused Christian churches of deserting because of prohibition enforcement," declared Fred B. Smith, chairman of the community council of churches, "and high enforcement officials have told me they received more support from chambers of commerce than from the churches, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A."

DESIGNATE AORAGE FOR DRILLING OIL WELLS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—At least 3.68 acres must be allowed for each well drilled on government lands, under a ruling promulgated today by the interior department. The order was based upon a recent survey of the industry by the bureau of mines which concluded that "what is known as town lots have been reported as for great waste of oil and large monetary losses to investors."

'WOLF OF WALL STREET' BACK IN PRISON

David Lamar

DAVID LAMAR, dubbed "Wolf of Wall Street" because of his many notorious acts in the financial district, is back in the Essex county (N. J.) penitentiary at Caldwell, N. J., to serve a federal sentence for violating the anti-trust laws in hampering the progress of the world war. Lamar escaped into Mexico, but was deported and arrested in Texas.

OPINIONS VARY ON OIL PROJECT

Geologists Give Testimony at Variance with Previous Facts at Teapot Dome Hearing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Drainage of oil from Teapot Dome by the wells in the adjoining Salt Creek field could be prevented, the senate public lands committee was told by two geologists who presented conclusions at variance with those reached by two experts employed by the committee. Asserting that peculiar geological formations and water pressure conditions existed in the Wyoming field which the government leased last year to the Sinclair interests, K. C. Heald, geologist in charge of the oil and gas section of the geological survey, and Chester W. Washburn, a New York geologist, agreed that it was possible to retain the oil in the ground for an indefinite period without substantial depletion of the supply.

This result could be accomplished, they insisted, by intensive production through offset wells located on the border between Teapot Dome and the Salt Creek field to exhaust as quickly as possible the oil supply in that immediate vicinity, and permit it to be replaced by water. Withdrawals along the border, approximately 1,000,000 barrels of oil, the committee was told, would result in water interposing between the two fields which would effectively prevent oil seepage between the two fields.

Both witnesses were closely examined by Chairman Smoot, whose reading of questions from a typewritten memorandum provoked from Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, a challenge to inform the committee who had prepared them.

"It seems apparent that the committee is having the assistance of a Chairman Smoot, whose reading of questions from a typewritten memorandum provoked from Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, a challenge to inform the committee who had prepared them."

GRACE AND EX-OFFICER AMONG FOUR INDICTED

Former Priest is Named Together with Three Others for Violations of Liquor Laws

DENVER, Oct. 30 (AP)—Indictments were returned against the Rev. Walter A. Grace, former pastor of a Catholic church in Arvada; John Walsh, his brother-in-law; E. H. McGehegan, former federal prohibition director at Colorado; and Ben Englehart, former federal prohibition agent, by a federal grand jury which made its report to United States District Judge J. Foster Byrnes tonight.

Father Grace and Walsh were indicted in connection with transportation into the state of liquor through the forging of the name of the superior of the J. K. Muller Home for the Aged, to the application for the permit. Father Grace was convicted for the forgery in federal court here and was sentenced on July 23, last, to two years in the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He is at liberty under bond pending appeal to the United States supreme court.

THE PRIZE WINNER

Jack and Janet wandering in the Land of Melody with You-Nevee-Carmen and Don Jose. They find Carmen, a bold gypsy girl, who has fallen in love to Don Jose, a young soldier.

CHAPTER II. Carmen's Escape.

MUSIC sobbed and throbbed. It filled the Spanish city in which Jack and Janet stood watching the young soldier, Don Jose, as he picked up the road which had been thrown to him by Carmen, the dashing, bold gypsy girl. The music was not only in the air, but was also in the hearts of the soldiers who stood around Don Jose joking with him. They sang as they laughed at him.

Then, suddenly, shrieks arose in the factory where the girls were at work. The girls poured out of the door. Two of them were struggling with each other. One of the two was the bold, snatching Carmen.

Soldiers rushed to part the two. Even as they did so, the bold gypsy girl drew a dagger from her bodice. She slashed at the other girl and cut her.

The soldiers seized Carmen. They tied her wrists together. She was a prisoner.

Don Jose was one of her captors. He helped to tie her wrists with a cord. When the other soldiers went away with the girls—all singing at the top of their voices—he was left alone with Carmen.

Carmen did not seem to be sorry for having cut the other girl. She sang and whistled, and whistled like a bad boy after a fight.

But Carmen did not like being tied up. She knew the soldiers intended to take her before a judge, and that the judge would send her to prison. She began to coax Don Jose to set her free. Don Jose was an honest soldier. He knew it was his duty to keep her a captive. He shook his head at her coaxing.

When the captain of the soldiers was angry, Don Jose had fallen in the place of the bold gypsy girl, he had set her free. The soldiers dragged Don Jose away.

Jack and Janet were sorry for him. "Come!" whispered "You-Nevee-Carmen."

"Shall we see more of Don Jose?" asked Janet eagerly. "Shall we see him again?"

"You never can tell," laughed You-Nevee-Carmen.

(They follow You-Nevee-Carmen, and sure enough they do see Carmen and Don Jose again, and learn more about the bold gypsy girl.)

put it away. He hesitated. Then the desire to confide in somebody got the better of him.

"The fact is," he said apologetically, "I'm in love!"

"In love?" Eustace Elgnet sat up and bumped his head sharply against the berth above him. "Has this been going on long?"

"Ever since the voyage started."

"I think you might have told me," said Eustace reproachfully. "I told you my troubles. Why did you not let me know that this awful thing had come upon you?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, old man, during these last few days I had a notion that your mind was, so to speak, occupied elsewhere."

"Who is she?"

"Oh, a girl I met on board."

"What! What? You met Eustace Elgnet solemnly. "As I friend I entreat you not to do it! Take my advice, as a man who knows women, and don't do it!"

"Don't do what?"

"Propose to her. I can tell by the glitter in your eye that you are in love with her."

"Women are the devil, whether they marry you or Jill you. Do you realize that women wear black evening dresses that have to be hooked up in a hurry when you are late for the theater?"

"Oh, I've thought it all out."

"And take the matter of children. How would you like to become the father—and a mere glance around you will show you that the chances are enormously in favor of such a thing happening—of a boy with spectacles and protruding front teeth who asks questions all the time? Out of six small boys whom I saw when I came on board, four wore spectacles and had teeth protruding from their mouths."

"There is no need to be indelicate," said Sam stiffly. "A man must take these chances."

"Give her the miss," pleaded Eustace, "and stay down here the rest of the voyage. You can easily dodge her when you get to Southampton. And, if she sends messages, say you're ill and can't be disturbed."

Sam gazed at him, revolted. More than ever he began to understand how it was that a girl with Ureals had broken off her engagement with this man. He finished dressing, and after a satisfying breakfast, went on deck.

It was, as he had said, a glorious morning. The sample which he had had through the porthole had not prepared him for the magic of it. The ship swam in a vast bowl of the purest blue on an azure carpet flecked with silver. It was a morning which impelled a man to great deeds, a morning which shouted to him to chuck his chest out and be romantic. The sight of Billie Bennett, trim and gleaming in a pale green sweater and a white skirt had the effect of causing Marlowe to alter the program which he had set himself.

"Good morning, Miss Bennett."

"Good morning, Mr. Marlowe."

"Isn't it a perfect day?"

"Wonderful!"

"It makes all the difference on board ship if the weather is fine."

"Yes, doesn't it?"

"Shall we walk around?" said Billie.

Sam hesitated a moment, but the love of the day when the promenade deck was always full. Passengers in cocoons of rugs lay on chairs, waiting in a dull trance till the steward should arrive with the coffee. Other, more energetic, strode up and down. From the point of view of a man who wished to reveal his most sacred feelings to a beautiful girl, the place was practically Fifth avenue and Forty-second street.

"It's so crowded," he said. "Let's go onto the upper deck."

"All right. You can read to me. Go and fetch your Tennyson."

Sam felt that fortune was playing into his hands. His four-days' acquaintance with the bard had been sufficient to show him that the man was there forty when it came to writing about love. You could open his collected works almost anywhere and find your eyes and dab down your finger on some red-hot passage. A proposal of marriage is a thing which is rather difficult to bring neatly into the ordinary run of conversation. It wants leading up to. But, if you once start reading poetry, especially Tennyson, almost anything is apt to give you your cue. Sam, however, had heeded only the stern warning of Eustace Elgnet from an uneasy doze.

"Now what?" said Eustace.

"Where's that copy of Tennyson you gave me? I left it—here it is. Well, see you later!"

"On the upper deck?"

"That's the end."

"This is the end," said Eustace Elgnet, turning his face to the wall. Sam raged up the companionway as far as it went; then, going out on deck, climbed a flight of steps and found himself in the only part of the ship where the passengers were comparatively private—The main deck of passengers preferred the promenade deck, two layers below.

He threaded his way through a maze of boats, ropes and curious-shaped steel structures which the architect of the ship seemed to have jacked on at the last moment in a spirit of sheer exuberance. Above him towered one of the funnels, before him a long, slender mast. He hurried on, and presently came upon Billie sitting on a garden seat, backed by the white roof of the smokestack; beside this was a seat where the boys seemed to have lost their way and strayed up here all by itself. It was the deck on which one could occasionally see the patients playing an odd game with long sticks and bits of wood—not shuffleboard but something even lower in the mental scale.

"What! What? You met Eustace Elgnet solemnly. "As I friend I entreat you not to do it! Take my advice, as a man who knows women, and don't do it!"

"Don't do what?"

"Propose to her. I can tell by the glitter in your eye that you are in love with her."

Breakfast Food

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband has had luck in picking out a breakfast food.

Somehow or other, the ones he buys don't seem to fit in with his face.

Maybe it isn't his fault exactly. His face is all right, taken by itself, but add a hat to it—and then you've done something.

Bronx brimmed hats look very much more so on him. The way he wears them makes them seem peculiarly western. You look to see if he has a larrikin in his hand.

But when he buys a narrow brimmed hat, the effect is probably a little worse. He looks like the Little Mistrater, or Charlie Chaplin, or an Alpine yodeler.

And high crowns make his face a little too plump, while low ones thin it out a bit too much.

"I've often decided that the only kind of hat that would really do well on him is a pollock's helmet, but of course—that's out of the question."

The Screen

"ZAZA" SUPERB PRODUCTION.

The Paramount picturization of the celebrated play, "Zaza," with Gloria Swanson in the stellar role, was shown with decidedly artistic results at the Grand Theatre last evening. It is a superb production by Allan Dwan, creator of "Robin Hood."

Miss Swanson in the title role does remarkable work, running the gamut of emotions in many scenes with exceeding artistry. H. B. Warner, a well known stage player, is finely cast in the part of Bernard Dufrane, opposite the star.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM

A program of unusual charm and distinction which promises to be one of the most pretentious offerings revealed in a local theater, will be seen at the Orpheum tomorrow.

The Orpheum production on this bill is DuBarry and DuFreese in a comedy novelty surprise, "Whatch Little Goves." This is a comedy burlesque on magic or sleight of hand that is designed to furnish plenty of amusement. The male member appears as a funny clown.

The Rice brothers, "Two Gentlemen From Brazil," present a comedy offering. This billing truly comes off, as will be seen by their routine of air comedy and kokum. It is to laugh—nothing more.

The Yer Yahn Duo, a talented pair of expert musicians, play brass instruments in a selected program of popular selections and they finish with an imitation of a colored jazz band, cornet and trombone.

Ed Hastings is the added attraction on this well balanced bill. He is a comedy talking juggler, and an artist in everything he does. He is a light comedian as well as a clever juggler.

"Shadows," the feature picture, is an eight- reel special starring Lou Chanoy and others. The News Weekly and Orpheum orchestra completes a very fine bill.

TRAGIC DEATH DISCOVERED IN TOURISTS PARK

Aged Man Found Dead; Wife in Desperate Plight, as Result of Exposure and Starvation, Officers Believe

BULL, Oct. 30. (Special to The News).—As a result, police believe, of starvation and exposure, Albert Lee, 77, is dead; and his wife, Mrs. Anna Lee, 72, lies at the threshold of death. Lee was found when he was discovered in a tourist park here early Monday morning in a Ford car in which they are said to have traveled during the past several months. Their son, aged about 21, who led a policeman and officer of the Salvation Army to his parents after the father's death, is believed to have been unbalanced mentally by hardships the family is believed to have endured. The family is believed to have started last June from Spokane, going to California and returning a short time ago to Bull.

Efforts are being made to communicate with persons believed to be relatives in Portland and Seattle. Mrs. Lee has been irrational almost continuously since she was taken from the side of her dead husband in the car, and has been unable to furnish authorities with any information. The boy's officers are in a desperate hurry. Mrs. Lee is being cared for at present at a hotel here. Effort was made today to have her admitted as a patient at the county general hospital.

The body of the father is held at an undertaking establishment here. Discovery of the dead man and his wife was made at 3:30 o'clock Monday morning when Police Officer Tom Dennis and Captain Phillips of the Salvation Army, who were called at that hour by the son. The young man told Captain Phillips that the father wanted to see him. At the time the young man opened the door of the car, and taking his father's arm shook him and said, "Father, here is the captain." There was no response. Captain Phillips discovered that the man was dead.

Scouts Ready For Hallowe'en Frolic

Boys' Organizations to Be Hosts to All Twin Falls Children on Holiday Occasion

Twin Falls boys and girls will be guests this evening of the Boy Scouts at a Hallowe'en campfire and frolic on the lots west of the high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. An elaborate program, with apple-pieing contests, campfire games and stunts, has been arranged for the occasion, and every boy and girl in town is invited and will be made welcome. The frolic will continue for exactly one hour, according to statement Tuesday evening of P. Douglas Hawley, district scout executive, who was requested by the boy hosts to assist in preparation for the entertainment.

"Boys and girls should come well wrapped," Mr. Hawley said, "for the evening is almost certain to be chilly. They should not be allowed to come at all if their parents cannot control their actions later in the evening. The scouts are trying to entertain the children for the evening, but they cannot be responsible for their actions later. We are trying to provide something in place of roystering, but we can only do our best."

Power Company Spending Million on Its New Plant

Construction at American Falls, Incident to Giant Reservoir Project, in Progress During Past Nine Months Utilizes Immense Amount of Material

Progress during the past nine months of construction of a new million dollar power plant at American Falls, made necessary by building of the American Falls reservoir, is graphically told by the American Falls Press, which says:

If a freight train three and a half miles long stopped at American Falls and began to unload its cargo of gravel, rock, structural and reinforcing steel and lumber it would visualize what has happened during the last nine months while the Idaho Power company has been building its new million dollar unit at the local power plant. Four hundred and twenty-three carloads of material have been unloaded at American Falls and more will keep coming until the plant is completed about the first of January.

Half the Plant Buried

Half of the new plant will be under water, out of sight, buried under millions of gallons of water forced through and over it by the weight of the booming Snake river. The concrete foundation that rests on the bed of the river on the lower side, the thousands of tons of steel reinforcing, the great water chambers, the scroll case designed appliances, that take the water to the turbines with so little resistance, the tail races, designed to eliminate the maximum amount of back pressure, the penstocks and almost without friction along their concrete guide-ways, and all the framework of the two lower stories will be in and under water out of sight, and, as far as valuation goes, largely out of mind.

301 Cars of Gravel

Viable to the unpracticed eye will be only the great generators, the generator starting motors, the governors, the switch boards and the transformers, the repair shop and the gigantic crane, all representing hundreds of thousands of dollars, it is true, but still only a half of the investment at most.

For into this plant have gone 301 cars of gravel, 52 cars of cement, 40 cars of reinforcing steel, and 30 cars of lumber. One hundred and fifty men have been working every day for the last nine months converting the raw materials into potential power. The monthly payroll has been approximately $15,000, which means that $135,000 has been spent at American Falls for labor and still three months to go.

SHEA HELD TO ANSWER

Buhl Baker Must Stand Trial in District Court on Charge of Committing Grave Offense; New Bond Required

George E. Shea, Buhl baker, was held Tuesday by Promote Judge O. P. Duvvas, to answer in district court to a charge of attempting to commit a statutory crime against a 10-year-old girl. Shea, who had been at liberty under $2500 bond, was committed to the sheriff at the conclusion of the preliminary examination. A $10,000 bond would be required of Shea and that the amount would be fixed later. Shea, who is said to be married, was present with his father during the preliminary examination. He was represented by Attorney W. P. Guthrie. No evidence on behalf of the defense was offered. The hearing and arraignment were conducted by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor.

MIDDLE-WESTERN TRADE AND INDUSTRY THRIVING

Judge E. A. Walters, on Business Trip to Chicago, Finds Only Purely Agricultural Regions Under Handicap

Trade and industry throughout the middle west are active and enjoying full measure of prosperity, only regions that are purely agricultural remaining under the handicap of economic depression, according to statement of Judge E. A. Walters, who returned Tuesday from 10 days trip to Chicago on legal business.

"My business in Chicago brought me in contact with financial circles of the middle west, and bankers, without exception, told me that their business was good," Judge Walters said.

preparing to begin pouring concrete for the first and second floors Tuesday morning. When the last concrete is poured it will cover the last bit of reinforcing steel visible. Then the pier will be built for the great steel runners that will support the crane and when everything is set the big generator now resting in the railroad yard will be hauled to the plant and swung into place on the top floor. It will fit over a vertical shaft and the lower end of the shaft, which is a foot or more in thickness, will fit into the big turbine 40 feet below the generator. It will hang from bearings at the top and will represent the very latest type of installation and construction. It will probably be in operation by December 1 if present plans materialize. When the water hits its turbines the power plant will be in a position to furnish 6,000 more horse-power units to the customers of the Idaho Power company. The second new unit will be in operation about January 1 according to present plans.

Outdoor Construction

When the plant is completed, all the transformers, six to ten of them, will be installed out of doors in the steel switch structure. The level of the terrain about the plant will be raised from three to six feet with spots of parking between buildings, the present concrete power dam will be raised five feet, and a new steel frame building will join the old plant structure on the east to house a repair shop with an oil room in the basement. Then there will be two ponderous gates about the railroad bridge that may be raised or lowered to regulate the level of the water behind the dam. And when it is all done $1,000,000 will have been sunk in various spots in Snake river to build another unit of a system that is gradually electrifying southern Idaho from the Wyoming to the Oregon line.

The ultimate power that will be developed here by the Idaho Power company approximates 25,000 horse power. When the two units now building are installed the plant will have a capacity of 15,500 horse-power. There is still room for the installation of one or two more units to the west of the present location. And the ultimate elevation of the dam will be 10 feet above the present upstream water level.

The power dam will not be constructed to the maximum elevation until the American Falls reservoir is constructed. The raising of the present power dam five feet will be done this winter unless the weather becomes too severe, in which case the work will have to wait until next summer after the high water period.

The switch rack recently built at the west end of the power plant will have a capacity of 150,000 volts as compared with the 40,000 that it is handling at present. There are constantly increasing demands for more power, more electricity for ranges, irons, washing machines, motors, street lighting, pumping and a thousand and one other things. It is to meet this greatly increased demand that construction is being rushed at American Falls. And when it is built it will probably not be long until the Power company begins the construction of a transmission line to link up the lower river system with the upper system, represented by American Falls. The survey is now complete and a word from the manager will start actual construction. The completion of this line will mark a great forward step in the electrification of southern Idaho and will give her power facilities for development seldom equaled even in the great northwest where "Power for Supremacy" is almost a watchword.

TWO-THIRDS OF SCOUT BUDGET QUOTA RAISED

Volunteer Solicitors Among Twin Falls Business Men Make Rapid Progress with Subscriptions to Annual Fund

More than $2,000 out of a quota of $3,000 "was subscribed in Twin Falls county Tuesday afternoon in less than four hours time, to the annual budget of the Snake River Boy Scout district. The drive was conducted by 90 members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, in accordance with a pre-arranged plan, the town being divided into four districts for the purpose, with solicitors working in groups of two men each. It is expected that the quota will be fully subscribed today.

Records at headquarters for the drive opened in the Hotel Perrine building on Main avenue west at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening showed, with two hours had been subscribed up to that time a total of $2,073.50, of which amount $1270 had been received in cash. Outside the drive headquarters, a representation of a thermometer had been set up with gradations for each $250 pledged. The red marking during the afternoon climbed rapidly up to and over the $2,000 mark.

Leaders Enthusiastic

Leaders of the drive were enthusiastic Tuesday evening over the success of the effort. "It looks like we were going to make it," said W. T. Scilley, chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign. "It will take a lot of hard work, but we hope that another day will see the task completed. The men who are doing the work are busy with their own affairs and they will see to it that the campaign does not drag."

F. Douglas Hawley, district scout executive, was enthusiastic over the particularly appreciative of the efforts of the men enlisted in the drive. An equal amount is to be raised by similar efforts to be put forth in the near future in the three other towns of the district, Rupert, Burley and Buhl. In addition to raising this year's share in the budget, effort is being made to collect $500 representing the amount of unpaid pledges given last year.

The dining-room was filled to its capacity, some 42 Kiwanians and 40 Rotarians being present. Upon the basis of percentage of membership of the two clubs present, the Rotarians were declared to have carried off first honors with the result that the Kiwanis club served as host and the Rotarians as guests at the board. Brief but ringing speeches in support of the Boy Scout movement were delivered by Mayor Hodgins, Judge Duvvas and Donald McLean, after which Frank L. Stephan, president of the Kiwanis club, and W. T. Scilley, president of the Rotary club, pledged the
