PRESENT PRICES ON FOODSTUFFS ARE CRITICIZED

Representative of Oregon Governor at Wheat Growers' Conference Sees Excessive Spread in Costs

DENVER, Oct. 31 (AP)—Commented upon present prices the consumer pays $23 for the amount of bread one barrel of flour will make, while the producer receives only $4.65 for the wheat used in that amount of flour, Dr. C. J. Smith of Portland, Ore., representing Governor Foye of Oregon, at the wheat conference here, told the delegates in an address today.

Dr. Smith charged the association of bakers with monopolizing the flour buying field, maintaining a system by which the retail bread dealer, the wheat producer and the consumer get little or no benefit.

"The baker association today buys 80 per cent of the flour manufactured," said Dr. Smith.

Under such arrangement it seems to me conditions exist such that the farmer could be guaranteed $2 a bushel for his wheat without anyone suffering and without effect on the consumer's pocketbook.

Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado, took exception to a warning to the convention yesterday by Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, "keep your organization free of partisan politics."

"Certainly I would say," the governor declared, "We'll keep our organization out of politics if the other fellow will. I've found that we pass nothing in this country—prohibition or tariffs—until we make it a political issue and fight it out before the people."

J. D. Musselman, representing wheat growers of Saskatchewan, declared he did not believe Canada and the United States ever could form a marketing combination to govern the price of export wheat as long as the Canadian growers admit to the practice of selling the surplus wheat for export at less than production cost, and when Canada remains dependent on 80 per cent of exports to dispose of its wheat crop.

Mr. Musselman said he favored centralized control of marketing and warehousing, rather than the pooling of wheat.

FRANCE ACCEPTS BRITISH NOTES

England Objects to Separate State; Desire Full Aid of U. S. in Conference

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP)—By notes delivered to the French and Belgian governments today, the British government puts into effect its announcement made recently by Premier Baldwin that the government can not view with equanimity the creation of separate states in Germany or the dismemberment of that country. The notes declare that Great Britain can not recognize an independent Rhineland government, defects or de jure, because such a republic is contrary to the treaty of Versailles.

PARIS, Oct. 31 (AP)—The British government, through its ambassador, the Marquis of Crewe, has sent two communications to the French foreign office which were received there as being in accord with the conciliatory spirit shown by France in recent intercourse between the two countries.

The first note drew the French foreign office's attention to the juridical consequences which might be entailed by the payment of reparations from certain provinces. In that such provinces were not signatories of the treaty of Versailles and so would not directly have obligations laid upon the Reich by this treaty.

The second note contained a proposal to the French government to send a joint British-French-Italian and Belgian invitation to the United States to be represented on the committee of experts which will make an economic investigation into Germany's capacity for the payment of reparations and the means Germany possesses to fulfill her obligations. The joint invitation will express thanks to the United States for its collaboration in being the government to appoint delegates through its observers on the reparations commission. Thus it can be seen that the British note neither raises objections nor asks the French government to specify its intentions, as has been reported from London.

With respect to the separatist movement the French government's view is that no responsibility can be placed on it or the Belgian government, as both have adhered to the principle of letting the population concerned act according to their own will. The French government is highly pleased at the participation of an American delegate on the experts commission, but a semi-official statement issued tonight says it will probably demand certain modifications, notably that the proposed investigation will have to do with Germany's capacity for payment, not in a general way, but on her capacity at the present moment, and France fully reserves the right the reparations commission holds under the treaty of Versailles.

WHEAT GROWERS CLOSE SESSIONS

Program of Activity Decided Upon in Support of Co-operative Movement

DENVER, Oct. 31 (AP)—The appointment of a committee of four from the American Wheat Growers association to meet with the Lowden committee in Chicago November 5, marked the closing sessions of the wheat growers' conference here this afternoon. Meeting of the committee, will result in active cooperation of the two bodies in the cooperative wheat marketing movement. It is believed, and officers of the association tonight characterized the appointment of the committee as the signal development of the two-day meeting here.

Appointed on the committee for the wheat growers were: William J. Brown of Minneapolis, president of the American Wheat Growers association; A. H. Shumway of Milford, Ore., president of the Oregon Wheat Growers' association, representing zone one, with H. E. Goldsworthy of Bonita, Wash., director of the Washington association, as alternate; D. B. Hoffmeyer of Buffalo, Mont., for zone two, with Carl Gunderson of Mitchell, S. D., lieutenant governor of the state, as alternate; and James Thomas of Trenton, Neb., president of the Nebraska organization for zone three, with Warren Pope of Haxtun, Colo., representing the Colorado association, as alternate.

Much Accomplished. Accomplishments of the two-day meeting, summarized by officers tonight, were: Taking steps for practical affiliation with the Lowden committee. Removal of past differences which threatened for a time to effect a breach between the Lowden committee and the association.

A practical and inspirational exchange of views on the wheat industry which will go far toward promoting better conditions in a critical period.

Endorsement and retention of the present personnel of officers of the association.

Uniting of all elements behind this program for carrying out the program with the Lowden committee.

Effecting preliminary plans for cooperative marketing by all groups of the association under the National "Underlying" scheme presented by Aaron Sapro, cooperative marketing expert, on behalf of the Lowden committee.

DEMANDS LISTED BY SOCIALISTS

Drastic Program is Submitted to Stresemann; 24-Hour Ultimatum is Hinted

BERLIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—After a party caucus lasting seven hours, the United Socialist releasing delegation tonight drafted a program of demands upon which it makes contingent its further "membership" in the present coalition government. While the nature of the communication to Chancellor Stresemann suggests a 24-hour ultimatum, the Reichstag leaders believe that its tenor and contents are widely dictated by the desire of the party's moderate leaders to appease its clamorous radical wing which has been endeavoring to stampede the party into defection from the coalition.

The socialist ministers, Solmann, Lieberich and Schulze, whose withdrawal from the cabinet was under advisement at today's caucus, informed their colleagues that the government action against them had been referred to the cabinet, but was determined and put into execution by the federal government's military commander in Dresden, General von Mueller, and the Reich commissar, Dr. Heinecke.

The party's moderate wing succeeded in winning over the radical majority to support of the anti-socialist sentiment in view of the general internal situation and the fact that the cabinet's resignation required aid from Berlin which would not be forthcoming if the socialists were out of the government.

Crisis Doubtful Acast. There also was strong suspicion discernible in the ranks of the leaders of the moderate section that a crisis precipitated by the socialist demands would prove a doubtful asset to the party's prestige—this because the issue on which the party is at variance with the chancellor constitute poor political propaganda, especially in view of the socialist's recent ill-starred union with the Saxons communists.

The party's reforming delegation will suggest to Dr. Stresemann that the existing military state of emergency should be converted into a federal civil regime and that the federal troops contingents in Saxony should be reduced and the policing functions there assigned to the local organizations.

Regarding Bavaria, the socialists are considerably more aggressive; they emphatically demand that the central government come out in the open and publicly brand Bavaria's attitude toward the federal authorities as a breach of the constitution and deal with it accordingly.

The socialists also request the government to speed up its program for standardized wages and demand that it proceed against all who fail to make prompt deliveries of food supplies.

Regulation Adapted. The text of the resolution adopted at the caucus follows: The socialist party can remain in the coalition only on the following conditions: First—Abolition of the military state of emergency; second, the government must clearly treat the Bavarian government's attitude as a breach of the constitution and in accordance with the relevant constitutional provisions; third, necessary steps against Bavaria; the maintenance of law and order in Saxony is a task for the police. The supporters of nationalist aspirations who lately joined the Reichswehr must be immediately dismissed.

The socialist party passed another resolution, that the socialist parliamentary leaders demand in their conference with the government that wages in Saxony be paid in stable currency and that the farmers should be forced to sell foodstuffs.

The party leaders submitted the resolutions to Chancellor Stresemann and requested a reply by noon tomorrow.

IDAHO READY TO MEET GONZAGA

Fighting Triffler Expected to Put Up Stiff Battle; Vandals Get in Strim

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 31 (AP)—Fighting to gain admission into the Northwest conference, Gonzaga will strain every effort to beat Idaho in the eleventh annual gridiron contest of the two institutions at Moscow Friday. Gonzaga is on probation this year and upon her showing depends her admission into recognized company.

Still smarting under last year's defeat at the hands of the Bulldogs, Idaho is determined that the score shall be reversed and that her position, lost temporarily by that defeat, shall be regained. In the past the Vandals have had the edge on Gonzaga, for, out of ten games played, Idaho has won eight, all by comfortable margins.

Coach R. L. Mathews has succeeded admirably in his development of the Idaho team. The three straight victories won so far this season are proof of the consummate strength of the Vandals. Both L. H. Gregory and George Varnell of the Portland Oregonian and the Spokane Chronicle, respectively, authorities on football, venture Idaho's hard-hitting and fast-charging line and predict astonishing successes for it.

Gonzaga Past
Gonzaga is opening the season with a fine showing. Under Coach Dorris the Bulldogs have made tremendous advances in the last few years. Proof of their increasing reputation is shown by the fact that, by the end of this season, they will have played two inter-sectional games. Last year Gonzaga held the University of West Virginia to a close score at Pasadena on Christmas day, and this year she is scheduled to play Detroit university.

With the exception of two years when no games were played, Idaho has won eight out of ten games scheduled since 1911, and piled up a total of 142 points to Gonzaga's 60.

SOCIALISTS DECIDE TO FORM MINORITY PARTY

DRESDEN, SAXONY, Oct. 31 (AP)—The socialist parliamentary party has decided to form a socialist minority government. Dr. A. Fellich, who prior to the setting up of the deposed socialist communist government, was minister of economics, has announced his intention to undertake the formation of such a cabinet. The democrats have agreed to support a socialist government which would thus command an adequate majority in the diet.

It is expected that Dr. Fellich will present the names of his ministers shortly.

Varsity Honors Won Fifty Years Ago by Princeton Grid Stars to Be Awarded Soon

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Varsity letters, won 50 years ago but never awarded, will be presented to a gray-haired group of veterans during the approaching Princeton-Yale game at Yale bowl, according to plans outlined by Princeton athletic authorities.

This year's Bulldog-Tiger battle will mark the fiftieth anniversary of their gridiron relations, the first game having been played at New Haven November 15, 1873, with Yale the victor, 3 to 0. One point then was credited for a field goal, Yale scoring three.

In those days it was not customary to give varsity athletic letters. Princeton, however, plans to award the varsity letters to the surviving members of the 1873 Tiger team. Yale may take similar action in regard to the surviving members of the Eli array of that year.

BRUNING STATUS TO BE FIXED BY CONTROL BOARD

State Interscholastic Association to Conduct Hearing Here on Charges Against Twin Falls High School

Status of Twin Falls high school football team in the south central district of the Idaho interscholastic athletic association will be determined by the state association at a hearing on charges preferred by officers of the district organization.

The hearing according to announcement made Wednesday by M. C. Mitchell, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, and chairman of the state board of control will be held at Twin Falls, beginning at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon next. The hearing will be conducted either in the court house or high school.

Championship involved. Decision of the board will determine whether the Twin Falls team shall retain representation in the district organization. If the board decides to allow to compete for district and state honors in the event of winning games which ordinarily would outfit it to participate in the state championship.

Members of the board before whom the hearing will be held are J. J. Rao, superintendent of Caldwell schools; C. P. Dinsell, superintendent of Boise schools, and H. R. Wallis, superintendent of American Falls schools.

Mr. Wallis has been chosen by other members of the board to serve in the stead of Mr. Mitchell, who requested that another person be named for the place, because his own school is involved in the charges. Mr. Dinsell, superintendent of Boise schools, is secretary of the board.

Following the hearing, a conference of action taken by the district association at its organization meeting last month in Jerome, when charges were first made against the Twin Falls school, and a number of schools declined to schedule games with the Twin Falls team.

The formal charges filed with the state board of control, upon which hearing will be held here Friday, are signed by H. M. Proudfoot, Burley, president; H. M. Van Patten, vice president; and F. S. Doane, secretary, secretary-treasurer of the district organization.

Several affidavits furnished by students of other schools in which they were solicited to enter the Twin Falls school for the purpose of entering into its athletic activities, accompanied the formal charges. The text of the formal charges follow:

To the Board of Control, State Athletic Association: Greetings: The board of control of the athletic association of district No. 4, of Idaho, are hereto attached at the instance of the majority of the high schools in this district, enter protest against the practices of the coach and students of the high school of Twin Falls, of entering state athletes from other sections of the state and country to attend their high school for the purpose of participating in athletic contests.

We make this protest because we feel that the spirit of our athletic constitution is being violated, that these practices professionalize the high school athletics, establish the minds of high school boys the unethical principle that "bidding" for athletes is justifiable and that these practices tend to break down the morals of the schools from which these athletes are taken.

In all fairness to both contestants in this controversy we respectfully request that a fair investigation of the charges be made by your honorable board and a definite decision rendered as soon as possible.

Signed: H. M. BROADBENT, Pres. M. M. VAN PATTEN, Vice Pres. P. S. DOANE, Sec. Treas. Buhl Lads Toll Story. Following is the text of affidavits accompanying the charges:

To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the following statements relative to the attendance of boys from other schools in the Twin Falls high school, have been made in my presence:

First: That on or about August 22, 1922, Ray Hodgins stated to Harry W. Evans in my presence that Clinton W. Evans had asked to come to Twin Falls to attend school, and that opportunities would be offered him in athletics.

Second: That on or about August 22, 1922, when the matter of eligibility of athletes going from one school to another was being discussed at Twin Falls, other than my conversations with Hodgins told me he assured Ray that with Mr. Evans, he was eligible to play on both he and I were eligible to play on the Twin Falls football team this year if we entered school in Twin Falls.

Also representations to this effect were made to me by Mr. Evans. Third: That Twin Falls students represented to me on or about August 24, 1922, that star athletes from other schools would enroll at Twin Falls this season, and that Twin Falls was assured of a winning team.

During the conversation Mr. Evans stated that he was the person who played halfback on the Buhl football team the season before, and when I answered yes, Mr. Evans asked me if I would not like to attend school at Twin Falls. I told him I replied that I had not thought anything of doing so. Mr. Evans then said if I would come to Twin Falls to attend school they would secure a place for me and would pay my expenses.

Mr. Evans then added that he had just been up the road to see another of the Buhl boys, although no name was mentioned, then told me that Evans that I did not want to go to school in Twin Falls, and then walked away and left him. (Signed) CHESTER AMBROSE, State of Idaho.

Preliminary tests, including a short flight, have been made by United States army aviators at Clover Field, Santa Monica, Cal., with the new Douglass "World Cruiser," a specially designed army airship, in which fliers hope soon to make the "round-the-world" flight of more than 30,000 miles. The ship is shown taxiing for take-off.

COCHRAN BEATS TITLE HOLDER

Los Angeles Youth Furnishes Surprise in Billiard Tourney; Wins, 500 to 230

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Walter Cochran, Los Angeles, furnished the surprise of the world's 152 ball-line billiard tournament tonight, defeating William H. Hoppe, the title holder, by a score of 500 to 230. In defeating Hoppe, Cochran, the youngest player in the tournament, made the highest run of the week, 146, and in finishing in 16 innings set up his best average, 31.46. Hoppe, four of his game never could set the balls rolling so satisfactorily.

Cochran did not get started until the seventh inning when he collected 35 balls in 24 strokes, defeating Jake Schaefer, the 1922 champion, by a score of 80, 45, 65 and 146. The 1922 California was hardly expected to show such a record in the 1923 tournament he had won but one match, defeating Ernie Hagenbacher.

In 1921 he was a tournament star. In that championship he set a world's record with 100 balls in 16 strokes. In the 1922 tournament he had won but one match, defeating Ernie Hagenbacher. Cochran has now won two games and will soon be a two-time champion. He is being coached by Schaefer and the most dangerous player, Schaefer, at the moment, he and Schaefer must defeat both to stay in the running for the title he holds.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Assemblies were the order of the day at the high school building Wednesday. The Junior and Senior high both held their regular assembly in the afternoon.

During the fourth period Superintendent Mitchell called a short assembly of the Senior high which was chiefly devoted to announcements. Owing to the fact that the school missed for two weeks the high school finals itself with nine days of school to make up during the next period. To do this the assignments are being turned out in a more systematic way being made up instead of extending school and making the year two weeks longer in the spring.

Each of the high assemblies was called during the first period and was a decided "hit" with the students. The program was a short play by the English department of Miss Elith Lipp, "The Flamingo," being the sketch presented by the juveniles. Clara Vogel did very well in her part of the bookkeeper, "Maude." Lily Clark displayed some real talent in his sketch, "The Flamingo." Kenneth Douglas took the part of the Jewish proprietor, Slovakia. Ruth Van Gilder was cast as Miss Wells, and Walker Berach as Mr. Jackson. Settings and properties for the play, including an enormous amount of flowers, were secured by the members of the English department.

Ending the plan being carried out with the weekly assemblies of the Junior High school this year each of the teachers of the various departments is responsible for at least one assembly during the year. The assemblies are to deal with the work of the department presenting the program. An attempt is made to make the programs not only entertaining to the students but instructive as well.

The next program will be in charge of Miss Houston of the mathematics department, and according to the plan being worked out will deal with the history and development of mathematics, particularly algebra.

Miss Lipp's English department is also engaged in another enterprise which will soon be before the Junior high students. This is the publication of "The Junior Hustler," a junior high newspaper which is being edited by the English department and which will be published by the students. The staff, elected from the English classes, is as follows:

Editor in chief, Betty Wilson; associate editor, Beth Bowen; business manager, Ralph Smith; joke editor, Patricia Wilson; athletic editor, Herbert Owens; art editors, Jane Maxwell and Alfred Stronk; society editor, Barbara Niles; proofreaders, Doris Groves and Grace Cleveland.

The name for the paper was chosen from the suggestions handed to the staff by the Junior high students. The one chosen for the paper's title was "The Junior Hustler." Another title popular with the students but not quite so appropriate for such a publication was "The Spiced Special."

SIAM'S KING VISITS TEMPLES

He Spends Two Weeks Each Year Worshipping at the Buddhist Shrine of Bangkok

Each year when the rainy season is over, the king of Siam spends about two weeks making his customary round of visits to the different Buddhist temples of Bangkok. On these occasions the king goes in a boat, manned by 50 rowers on each side, and using a long oar. The royal seat is near the stern, raised on four pillars, and surmounted by a highly ornate, tower-like canopy. In front and behind the royal seat stand attendants holding up large umbrellas, which look like golden cones.

On landing at an appointed place, the king rides in a sedan-chair to the temple, when all along the way the people prostrate themselves on the ground, keeping silent as a mark of supreme respect. For about half an hour the king occupies himself with the ceremony of lighting incense. Into which the public is not admitted. To the temples outside Bangkok the king dispatches deputies, his personal pilgrimage being confined to the temples of the city.

Many Victims of Wild Beasts.

China, thanks to her long history, has been able to rid herself of the most dangerous animals; but in Korea a local species of tiger, perhaps the largest and fiercest in the whole family, annually kills 2,000 persons. Siberia, again, is affected by the ravages of wolves and bears, whose victims run into thousands every year.

Improved Aerial Photography.

Formerly an area of three quarters of a square mile could be covered with one picture taken by aerial photography, but a new method has been worked out by which it is claimed that an area as great as fifteen square miles can be shown on each picture.

Transportation Facilities.

In a recent statement it was announced there were 55,250 passenger cars owned and in use by the American railroads, the seating capacity being about 2,700,000, while there are 9,500,000 motor cars owned in the country, with a seating capacity of 47,000,000.

SCIENCE IN INDUSTRIAL ERA

Utilitarianism, It Seems, Must Ultimately Kill the Pure Desires for Knowledge

Wireless is of great practical importance. It facilitates slaughter in war, the dissemination of journalistic falsehood in time of peace, and the broadcasting of trivialities to relieve the tedium of evening hours not devoted to success. But the men who made it possible—Barndy, Maxwell and Hertz—were none of them the least interested in furthering this remarkable enrichment of human life; they were men solely interested in trying to understand physical processes, and it can hardly be said that the existence of industrialism helped them even indirectly. The modern study of the structure of the atom may have a profound effect upon industrial processes, but those who are engaged upon it are very little interested in this possible future effect of their work. It seems likely that the underpinning of commercial industry must ultimately kill the pure desire for knowledge just as it kills the very analogous artistic impulse. In America, where the more utilitarian aspects of science are keenly appreciated, no great advance in pure theory has been made. None of the fundamental discoveries upon which practical applications depend have been made in America. It seems probable that, as the point of view appropriate to commercial industry spreads, utilitarianism will make such fundamental discoveries more and more rare until at last those who love knowledge for its own sake come to be classified in youth as "morose" and kept in institutions for harmless lunatics.—The Dial.

GRAFT CHARGES ENTER INQUIRY

Johnson testified that in October, 1920, he bought 480 acres of land near Livermore from the Chasta Blanca Wine company for $35,000, and that one year later he gave Thomas O'Day, a San Francisco real estate dealer, an option on 220 acres at $100,000 and later executed another option, under which he was to have received $77,500 net. O'Day sought to sell to the government, but was unsuccessful and his option expired.

Marking Time. A negro cuffed upon an old friend who received him in a rocking chair and continued to rock himself to and fro in a most curious way.

"No, I ain't sick, is yo', Harrison?" asked the caller, anxiously.

"No, I ain't sick, Mose," said Harrison.

There was a moment's silence, during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking figure.

"Den," continued Mose, "why does yo' rock yo'self dat way all de time?"

Harrison explained: "Yo' know Bill Blott? Well, he sold me a silver watch cheap, an' if I stops moving like dia, dat watch don't go!"

Fair Warning. She was very beautiful and had called in answer to an advertisement for a typist.

"Where were you employed last?" asked the head of the firm.

"In a doll factory," replied the applicant.

"And what were your duties there?" was the next question.

"Winking eyes," she replied, with a smile.

"Very well. You are engaged," she was informed, "but please don't demonstrate your capabilities when my wife is around."

Why Kick About It? Cuthbert heard that they were going to launch a newly completed liner and break the traditional bottle of champagne over its bow.

Among others he cornered Hoffy and announced: "We must fight it."

"Fight what?"

"Christening this vessel with real champagne."

Hoffy declined to become excited. "I don't see why you object," stated Hoffy calmly. "I thought you wanted all bottled goods smashed."

Puzzling a Candidate. A parliamentary candidate in a rural district made the following remark in the course of his address: "There is no question in the world which I cannot answer with just 'Yes' or 'No.'"

An old farm laborer jumped up and said: "Please, maister, might I ask 'o' a question?"

"Certainly, my good fellow," said the candidate.

"Well, then, maister," said the old farmhand, "what's the time?"—London Telegraph.

Prefers Normal Daughter to "Child Wonder"

Viola Mitchell

Viola Mitchell is Pittsburgh's 12-year-old child prodigy, whose parents are forcing her to live a normal girl's life when she might be rich and famous. On a recent trip to New York with her teacher, Miss Margaret Horne, she played her rare Guarnerius violin before Professor O. Sevik, teacher of Kubelik and other prominent violinists.

UNITY URGED TO AVOID BIG WAR

Lloyd George Again Pleads for Support of U. S. with England to End Terrors

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 31 (AP)—The English-speaking peoples of this earth "can save civilization from doom-doom," Lloyd George, the wartime premier of Great Britain, declared in an address here today before a great audience in the state armory.

"Do you think I am using violent words?" he asked. "If you do, go to Europe to see Europe, to see conditions, the fear of some impending terror."

The people of the United States and Great Britain in acting together to insure order in the world, he asserted, need enter no formal agreement to that end.

Prussia Schwab. "I owe him an especial debt of gratitude and here I am speaking for millions of my own people," the war premier said. "He was one of the Americans who from the start placed the whole of his great genius for organization at the service of the allies."

CARELESSNESS BLAMED FOR NAVAL WRECK

Machinist C. G. Ostergood was commended for remaining at his post on the Chesapeake when water was above his waist, and Commander W. G. Roper for seamanlike ability.

Tides Not Unusual. The board found no evidence of unusual tides or extreme errors of navigation which it was not to accept as contributing to the disaster, although "radio bearings received by the squadron commander were obviously in error."

In view of the maneuvers in which the ships were engaged, the board did not think a speed of 20 knots was excessive for the greater part of the cruise, but held that it should have been reduced considerably as soon as the first doubt as to the position of the squadron was felt.

America who came to our help in providing munitions was Mr. Charles Schwab.

Mr. Lloyd George told how the Kaiser had heard that Mr. Schwab was applying the deficiencies of the allies and made him an offer that would pay him three-fold in pecuniary benefit for throwing up the allied contract, "and he stood by the allies."

"I wish to thank him," the former premier said, "for the timely, generous and chivalrous aid he gave to the great cause of liberty when it was in jeopardy on the battlefields of Europe."

SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams Telephone 398

The Twin Falls Rotary club's celebration of Halloween took the form of a dinner with the wives of the members in charge of one of the cleverest programs ever enjoyed by the club.

With ceremonies appropriate to the occasion the members were escorted to their seats by a committee of ladies specially garbed for the work in hand and in the midst of a setting of black cats, witches, pumpkins and weird lighting arrangements the members were treated to a program in which specially written and costumed songs were a prominent feature.

Following the dinner a 30-minute musical comedy act in which the men were cleverly burlesqued was thoroughly enjoyed, after which a short sketch in serious vein closed the program.

Wives of the entire membership took part in the program, complete arrangements for which were in the hands of the ladies. Take-offs on the various members with some clever singing of original songs were the main feature of the first part.

Mrs. Estrom of Dubois was in charge of the music, Mrs. Edward A. Walters produced and directed the first part, and Mrs. Hurton E. Morse prepared and staged the second part of the program. The entire entertainment was splendidly carried out.

Following adjournment a majority of those present repaired to the Elks' for dancing.

Miss Vera Jamison and Miss Elsie Murray entertained the teachers of the Washington school at the home of the latter on Ninth avenue east at a social event at a Halloween party on Wednesday evening.

BLAOK LABOR: The negro migration from the South to the North and Central West still continues. The head of Tuskegee institute finds no cessation of it in the last year and a half.

Like every big migration, this is economic. The negroes move northward because wages are higher there. Thus they help to fill the gap made by the curtailment of immigration and relieve the scarcity of industrial labor.

It is not generally realized that this movement is resulting in a new, extensive distribution of the negro race in America which may be permanent, with marked effects on the whole country.

Dreamland Adventures

THE PRIZE WINNER By DADDY

Jack and Janet in the Land of Mad Jack came upon exciting incidents. Carmen, a little gypsy girl, had been arrested for cutting her hair, but Don Jose saw her free and is himself set to work.

CHAPTER III. San Jose in a Duel. Jack and Janet were led by You-never-can-tell to a tavern at the edge of town.

Jack and Janet were led by You-never-can-tell to a tavern at the edge of town. There they heard lively music. Looking through the door, they saw gypsies and others in a jolly dance.

Jack pinched Janet and pointed at the tavern keeper. He was none other than the fat gypsy king they had been beaten by in the gypsy camp.

Carmen came in. She was singing folk songs and dancing gracefully to the tinkling of castanets. As Carmen danced there was shouting from outside. The music swung and Paul and Janet were singing.

What is a tiorador? asked Janet of You-never-can-tell. "He is a bull fighter!" said You-never-can-tell. "Look!"

Jack and Janet looked. A tall, fine-jointed chap strode into the tavern. With him came a leaping, cheering crowd.

Why that is Paulo, the new gypsy king! gasped Janet. Yes, he danced a stiltone singer who had fought for Princess Carmen and won her. But now he was a gypsy no more.

What happened to Don Jose in the gypsy camp will be told in the next chapter. (Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Co.)

"Oh, you wasn't weren't—?" "No. Some day I knew I should meet the only girl I could possibly love and then I would pour out upon her the stored-up devotion of a lifetime.

"Toreador!" He sang. "Toreador advancing!" "I have heard that song before," whispered Jack. "I have heard it sung by a talking machine." So had Janet.

Carmen, whom Paulo had won in the gypsy camp, now seemed never to have seen Escamille. But she made eyes at him just as she had at Don Jose. And she danced to please him.

That weird Jack-and-Joanet. They thought Carmen meant to set that way when poor Don Jose had gone to prison for her sake.

There was Jose came in. He had served his time in prison. Carmen danced for him. She seemed pleased to see him. She made love to him. She begged him to leave the soldiers and become a smuggler with the greatest.

Don Jose came back. He was angry to see Carmen flirting with the captain. Don Jose drew his sword. The captain drew his sword in turn. The two men fought while Carmen threw her shawl in front of the captain, catching the point of his sword in its folds.

And Don Jose, because he had wounded the captain and would be sent to prison for the deed, went with her to win the gypsies and became a smuggler.

What happened to Don Jose in the gypsy camp will be told in the next chapter. (Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Co.)

"Oh, hello!" "Why, Bream?" said Billie, looking at him as he stood on the old spot in the same familiar attitude with rather less affection than the son of her father's best friend might have expected.

"I thought you said you were going down to the promenade deck." "I did go down to the promenade deck. And I hardly got there when a fellow who's getting up the ship's concert tomorrow night nobbled me to do a couple of songs.

"He's got a man who's going to lecture on deep-sea fish and a couple of women who both want to sing 'The Rosary,' but he's still an act or two short. Sure you won't rally round?"

"Quite sure," Bream Mortimer hovered wistfully above them. "It's a great morning, isn't it?" "Yes," said Sam.

"Hello!" "Do be a pet and go and talk to Jane Hubbard. I'm sure she must be feeling lonely. I left her all by herself down on the next deck."

"A look of Sturm spread itself over Bream's face." "Jane Hubbard! Oh, say, have a heart!"

"She's a very nice girl." "She's so darned dynamic. She looks at you as if you were a giraffe or something and she would like to take a pot at you with a rifle."

"Nonsense! Run along. Get her to tell you some of her big-game hunting experiences. They are most interesting." Bream drifted sadly away.

"I don't blame Miss Hubbard," said Sam. "What do you mean?" "Looking at him as if she wanted to pot at him with a rifle. I should like to do it myself. What were you saying when he came up?"

"Oh, don't talk about me. Read me some Tomnyson." Sam opened the book very willingly. Infernal Bream Mortimer had absolutely shot to pieces the spell which had begun to fall on them at the beginning of their conversation.

"Who is that fellow?" demanded Sam wrathfully. "He's the son of father's best friend." Sam started. Somehow this girl had always been so individual to him that he had never thought of her having a father.

"We have known each other all our lives," continued Billie. "Father thinks a tremendous lot of Bream. I suppose it was because Bream was sitting by her that father insisted on my coming over on this boat. I'm in disgrace, you know. I was cabled for and had to sail at a few days' notice."

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By HUGH MCKAY. My wife "economizes" on her clothes. At least, that's the idea. She says that she doesn't want to spend a lot of money on new ones, and that she'll just get some of her old things "fixed over."

No new suit—no evening dresses—no coat. No extravagance. Nothing like that. And every year it seems so wonderful that I can't believe it is true. Well, it isn't. But my wife always means well. She has all her old clothes fixed over and made over and gone over. And it doesn't cost much more than buying new ones, either.

But then—then—the decides that they just won't do, after all. They still look like "fixed over" in spite of all she has done for them. And so she has to get the new suit and the new evening dresses and the new coat and the new hat.

But, after all, she meant to economize, didn't she?

"Not" said Sam decidedly. It was a point which he wished to make clear at the outset. "Not at all fond. My friends have often remarked upon it. A point once told me that I had one of those rare spiritual natures which cannot be satisfied with substitutes but must seek and seek till they find their soul-mate. When other men all round me were frittering away their emotions in idle flirtations which did not touch their deeper natures, I was to you, my dear friend, I wasn't, I was I."

Should Freight Rates Be Reduced at the Expense of Good Service?

Editorial in Chicago Tribune, August 25, 1923, entitled "Freight Rates and Commodity Prices." The head of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh told a gathering of farmers that if the manufacturers of machinery, clothing, house furnishings and other commodities would reduce prices 2 per cent this would reduce the farmer's expenses as much as a 25 per cent reduction in freight rates. So would a reduction of 1 per cent interest on loans.

"The trouble with that proposition is that the freight rates may be reduced—possibly—by political pressure; commodities and interest not so readily. "But that is a consideration the farmers will ponder very carefully, if they look to the future. They may be able to force a reduction in freight rates by using their influence upon the machinery of regulation, but if that reduces the efficiency of transportation the immediate advantage will be swallowed up sooner or later, probably sooner. Regulation, unless it is constructive in the long run it builds up the railroads, is not in the farmer's interest. As his political leaders do not discuss that much, it is up to the farmer to look it up for himself. Just freight rates should be worked for, but a rate that is inadequate to the carrier is not just to the farmer, though he may think it is until he begins to pay the price of inadequate service."

A railway rate reduction sufficient to enable a shipper to make a substantial saving on a freight bill would be made effective now, despite the entangling power of every western railroad and threaten the solvency of some. All that a railway buys—labor, coal, forest products, steel articles, etc., still range at peak prices, and rates cannot safely be lowered until there is a reduction in these costs.

Eighty-eight cents of the railway dollar is required for wages, fuel, supplies, taxes and rentals. A 10 per cent rate reduction would wipe out all profit and injure the credit of lines which have nothing saved up for a rainy day.

The Government turned the railroads back to their owners in 1920 with an average operating deficit of $15,000,000 a month, which had been paid from the Federal treasury. Now, the railroads have no such recourse.

The increase in railroad freight rates is less than the increase in other prices. In January, 1923, the average freight rate of the western railroads was only 36 per cent higher than in 1913, while the average wholesale price of all farm products was 42 per cent higher and the average wholesale price of all commodities 56 per cent higher.

Fluctuations in prices for farm products cannot be laid at the door of the railroad, since between June, 1922, and June, 1923, under the same transportation conditions, wheat declined 10 cents a bushel in price and corn improved 10 cents.

The depressed condition of the farmer, and particularly the wheat grower, has been of great concern to the railroads, as well as to the public, but happily all signs point to a material improvement. "The estimated income of the farms of America for 1923 is a billion dollars in excess of their income in 1922" (Advertisement, The Capper Farm Press, October 8, 1923).

And the last annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission says: "Manifestly, existing rates are no longer interfering with the free flow of commerce as a whole." Give the railroads a chance. Don't lessen their usefulness by impairing their earning power. They are spending more than a billion dollars this year not from earnings but of new money to put their properties in condition to better serve the public and to prevent car shortages—this because they believe in the inherent fairness of the American people and their willingness to pay what good service is worth. Starved railroads, like starved horses, cannot do good work. It is axiomatic that compensatory rates with good service are far preferable to cheaper rates with poor service. Constructive suggestions are always welcome.

Omaha, Nebraska, November 1, 1923. C. R. GRAY, President.

Spirit of Fun Prevails in Celebration of Halloween

Twin Falls People, Old and Young, Observe Event in Various Ways; Minimum of Mischief Figures

The Halloween occasion Wednesday evening was celebrated pretty generally by Twin Falls population. Little folks, especially, were imbued with the spirit of the occasion, and will excitement prevailed among groups of youngsters, muffled in sheets and bearing jack o' lanterns, to paraded streets in all quarters of town during the earlier hours of the evening, ringing door bells and tick-tacking window panes.

There was a minimum of mischief, although windows of practically every business house on the principal thoroughfares at sunset bore spooky streaks and inscriptions that will insure good luck during the winter months. Records at the police station at 6 o'clock this morning showed a total of six complaints registered against hollering and window rapping activities, ranging from disturbing the ordinary quietude of midnight to ripping off doors and window screens and throwing stones at the windows of houses and alleys in some sections were littered with unexploded boxes and bullets and officers reported at midnight that they had been mixing information from their accustomed locations.

The boys' scouts' Halloween camp fire and frolic brought together about 200 boys and girls and a number of their elders for a bonfire on the lawn of the high school. Scout Executive P. Douglas Hawley proved exceptional capable in entertaining the youngsters with songs and stories, and a program of seasonal games and sports contributed to the amusement of the occasion.

For the older folks there were a number of social affairs, among which the Elks dance was one of the most pretentious, marking, as it did, the conclusion of a series of events in a Halloween season of unusual social activity here.

County Takes Hand in Tragic Situation

Wife of Man Found Dead in Buhl Tourist Park Is Patient at Hospital; Son Starts Home

Twin Falls county authorities took a hand Wednesday in the tragic case of Albert Lee Baldwin, who was found dead early Monday morning in the Buhl tourist park, and his wife and son, who were companions on their trip to the tourist park. Mrs. Baldwin, suffering from effects of exposure and starvation, was received as a patient at the county general hospital, and her son, Harry Baldwin, 21, who, authorities believe, suffers under mental handicap, was started on the way by motor to Spokane, where it is believed the family formerly resided.

Mrs. Baldwin had not sufficiently recovered Wednesday to tell her story to the authorities, although it was believed that her condition was improving. Effort was continued by authorities to communicate with relatives, who, according to information given by the young man, reside in Portland and Seattle, Wash., but he was unable to give the family name and address, which the family name was Baldwin and not Lee as the boy's story had led officers to believe, and it was considered probable that this additional information would facilitate the search for relatives.

Provisions and a sum of money were furnished by county authorities to Harry Baldwin for his trip to Spokane. He assured the authorities that he was entirely capable of making the trip alone.

SCOUT CAMPAIGN NEARS ITS GOAL

Second Day's Effort Brings Total Subscriptions Up to Approximately $2800

Continuation Wednesday of the drive to raise Twin Falls' quota of $3000 for the annual budget of the Snake River Boy Scout district, brought to total subscriptions received in two days' effort within striking distance of the goal.

Records at the campaign headquarters Wednesday evening showed total subscriptions of approximately $2800 of which about $1000 has been received in cash. Statement was made at campaign headquarters that the quota had not quite been reached, but that it was expected that favorable action on the part of the board of directors of the fraternal institutions to whom the matter of subscribing was referred, would put the campaign over the top. Members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Boy Scout council presented the campaign Wednesday in an effort to complete the undertaking, but in several instances, it was reported, because Van Eaton had not subscribed could not be seen, and it was decided to hold the campaign open probably until the end of the week.

GIRL'S CHANGED STORY LIBERATES VAN EATON

Court Dismisses Charges Against Rock Creek Rancher when Cousin Says Her Accusation Was False

Charges against William Van Eaton, 27, Rock Creek rancher, accused of a statutory offense involving his cousin, Thelma Van Eaton, were dismissed Wednesday by Probate Judge O. P. Duvall at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing in which the girl, appearing as a witness for the prosecution, declared that under duress she had made false statements regarding her relations with her cousin. The girl's statements in this connection, she testified, were made following her detention at the Washington, where Gordon Greenfield, whom she had accompanied on an automobile trip there from Twin Falls, was placed under arrest. The girl stated that she made these false statements to a probation officer at Spokane, who, she said, had advised her to tell the same story when she returned to Twin Falls, the penalty of being confined in a dungeon. Greenfield was arrested on grand larceny charge of theft of the automobile in which he and the girl made the trip. Thelma Van Eaton, who was preferred by L. M. Van Eaton, father of the girl, was dismissed at his instance, and Greenfield later was arrested on federal charges of violating the white slave traffic act. Only the testimony of the girl was offered by the prosecuting attorney at the preliminary hearing. An attempt to introduce a letter which had been written previously by the girl was ruled out and the letter was ruled out. This letter, it was stated, would corroborate portions of statements which the girl declared at the hearing were false. The defendant, William Van Eaton, was represented by Attorney E. V. Larson.

Mills and S. D. Davis. Mrs. Henaley claims for the custody of their two boys, aged three and five years. She alleges failure on the part of her husband to provide for the support of the family. There is no community property, according to the complaint.

Babcock in district court here Wednesday, is sued an order requiring Fitch & Round to furnish $10,000 additional bond, in the action instituted by Round last August to restrain the sheriff and the federal reserve bank of San Francisco from selling crops grown or mortgaged land in which he claims an interest. Better Teamwork Chamber's Purpose

Directors Issue Formal Announcement of Campaign for Expanding Organization

Relative to the forthcoming campaign for expansion of membership and objects of the organization, directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce issued Wednesday, the following open letter to the people of Twin Falls and vicinity:

The board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce wishes to announce the commencement of a campaign to expand, with the object of making it a strong agency for the up-building of the community. The plans were adopted only after months of careful consideration, we believe that when the expansion is completed, there will be a better spirit of team work in our community, a better idea of our responsibilities in building a bigger and better city, and an organization that will function with more efficiency and with more actual cooperation on the part of the part of the community. We believe that the question of the value of organized effort in a community need not be debated. Its value is so universally accepted that the argument would be useless. Most of the progressive cities of America are monuments to the cooperative spirit of men. It is just as widely accepted that the chamber of commerce is a natural and centralized agency for cooperative endeavor, and the object of this campaign is to create and maintain a high powered organization that will keep our citizenship constantly at work, with a vision that knows no reasonable limit of the city's future.

At Turning Point. The chamber of commerce is to be expanded on a far more comprehensive scale than anything of the kind ever attempted before, but to succeed will require practically 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the people. The purpose of this letter is to solicit such cooperation from you. Ways and means of giving your support will be announced later in the campaign. Our city is a wonderful place to be in, where the citizenship must determine for themselves whether the future will be forward or backward. If it is to be a great city, it must be a city of growth. It must come from good planning and good team work. There is no question about our natural advantages, but without the human element properly applied they will avail us nothing. With faith in our future, with determination to succeed, and a vision of our possibilities, we can build a city of no mean size. Future Twin Falls must be built with a recognition that we are surrounded by active competitors, some of them much larger, and with good resources, and most of them strongly organized. Two weeks will be given to planning for it, and every man, woman and child is asked to give it his or her moral support. Every organization in the community, church, school, lodge, club, etc., will be called upon to lend its aid. A War Spirit Invoked. During the campaign, the personal services of many men and women or organizations and clubs, will be requested. The plan is to make each task, by virtue of the large number of taking part. We trust that no one will decline to serve when called upon. We hope to see a spirit in Twin Falls that will be better than that of war. With such spirit there will be no question of our future. Finally, we want you to study the plan of the undertaking well, for the success of a thorough understanding of what is proposed. And then we would be glad to have a word from you, giving us your frank opinion of the future of Twin Falls and the value that cooperation can play in making it a bigger, better city.
