FRENCH POLICY SHOCKS CAPITAL

Poincare's Speech Explained of Grave Comment; Is Explained by Paris Diplomats

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Interpretations placed by the French foreign office on Premier Poincare's remarks today at Geneva, shocked official Washington somewhat, insofar as any purpose of France to prevent a full, complete and impartial inquiry by economic experts into the reparations question may be indicated.

To what extent the limitations upon scope of the commission's inquiry laid by the French foreign office into the premier's speech, according to press advisers, would influence American participation was not indicated. It was made very plain, however, that the United States would look upon any plan that did not provide for a full and free examination by the experts regarding a conference of experts to determine Germany's capacity to make reparations payments as an "abortive" effort to solve the problem.

PARIS, Nov. 1 (AP)—Premier Poincare's Geneva speech is regarded in political circles here as more for home consumption than as a reply to the Washington and London suggestions regarding a conference of experts to determine Germany's capacity for the payment of reparations. The premier's speech is regarded as the first gun in the electoral campaign of 1924. It is pointed out that for the first time in a long series of speech-making, inaugurated early in the summer, the premier spoke in a radical-socialist department, before an assembly presided over by a deputy from the left group, he having heretofore restricted his activities to solid nationalist centers in the Meuse and the Moselle and other war-torn departments.

The radicals are jubilant over the tone and spirit of the premier's address, especially his closing words: "We covet no territory, we respect the liberty of peoples; we desire to retain with our allies the most amicable relations. We seek nothing better than to resume with Germany the intercourse of good neighbors."

This is the whole program of the left groups, the radicals point out and refusal.

Portland's Outdoor Art Gallery Subject of Much Discussion

City Dads Object to Bas Relief of Nude Female Figures; Sign Now Covers Them

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1 (AP)—Portland's outdoor art gallery of five bas relief figures of nude female forms in classic pose was covered today with a large sign bearing the words "HOMER and his nymphs." (Evil to him who evil thinks.)

The sign was placed over the figures after city officials had viewed the decorations on the facade of a building in the course of erection on Alder street, and had expressed an adverse opinion on the advisability of displaying such work publicly.

they express the hope that the premier will persevere in his good desires.

LONDON DIPA-POINTED

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The news of the grave impression created at Washington by Premier Poincare's speeches reached London too late to find officials at the government departments tonight, but it is certain to cause intense disappointment when it becomes generally known.

Many efforts have been made to induce the United States to come to the assistance of distracted Europe and so many hopes have been built upon over-enthusiastic conferences under the aegis of a commission which was all the French would sanction, that should Washington refuse to be a party to such a strictly circumscribed inquiry, disappointment would be redoubled, since it is feared that failure of these negotiations will only serve to aggravate the already desperate situation.

One of the first effects of Washington's possible withdrawal is almost certain to be the fall of the German government whose tenure of office is only held by a thread and it seems hardly likely that it can survive the realization that nothing is to be hoped for from the United States, if that government remains aloof.

Whether the British government's refusal to recognize a Rhineland republic had anything to do with what is considered the extremely irreconcilable tone M. Poincare adopted in his speech today is only a matter of speculation, but Anglo-French relations are likely to be embittered by this refusal.

STATE OBTAINS TITLE TO SCHOOL LANDS

BOISE, Nov. 1 (AP)—The state land department has secured after more than a year's effort the final title from the federal government to 100 acres of 9411.83 acres of land to indemnify the state for school land. The state was given for school purposes sections 16 and 26, but when surveys were run out in many instances these were already covered by mineral claims or homestead entries. This land in Blackfoot, Boise, Hailey and Lewiston districts will now be added to the state lands and will begin to bring income in leases and sales.

GAME LAW VIOLATORS PAY MORE FINES

BOISE, Nov. 1.—Receipts of the Idaho fish and game department from fines for the month of September have amounted to $865, according to State Warden Dick Thomas. This is an increase over the receipts of September, last year, of $103.15. This indicates, according to Mr. Thomas, that the deputy game wardens of the state, though fewer in number, are exerting greater vigilance in their work and that the actual protection of fish and game is the chief aim of the entire force.

HONDURAS FAILS TO NAME CHIEF EXECUTIVE

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 1 (AP)—The presidential elections of last Sunday resulted in no choice, it was officially reported today, none of the three candidates obtaining sufficient votes for election. The president therefore must be elected by congress at its next sitting in January, the choice to be made according to constitution, from among the same three candidates. There are several candidates, including Mr. Tomas de la Cruz, conservative; Dr. Juan Angel Armas, liberal; and Dr. Policarpo Bonilla, also a liberal.

The elections were attended by some disorders in which there were several casualties, but quiet has been restored with the government in full control of the situation.

BRUINS TAPER OFF TRAINING

Twin Falls Grid Warriors Are Rounding into Shape for Contest with East High

The Bruins are rounding into shape for their clash with the Leopards Saturday. Jenks' ankle is still weak, but in all probability he will be able to start the game or play a part of it. Light work characterized Thursday's practice. Only a light scrimmage and such as signal practice was the order of the day.

A great deal of time has been spent to good advantage this week on defensive work. The back's have been drilled every night in the art of breaking up an aerial attack, and the line has had its share of hard work improving their blocking and charging.

The team will attend the rally to be held Friday night in a body so that the coach can keep an eye on them and send them off to the hay early. Preliminary and complete tryouts will be held Friday night in a body so that the coach can keep an eye on them and send them off to the hay early. ## Pheasant Hunting Season Is Opened with Bombardment

Sportsmen from Near and Far Join in General Exodus to Fields for Game Birds

There were few shotguns in the Twin Falls country that were not carried into the fields in the hands either of owners or borrowers to be used in the general bombardment that ushered in the opening of the pheasant hunting season Thursday morning. Local sportsmen were joined in the first-day's hunting by hunters from more or less distant points, hotels here reporting numerous guests—strangers here by the opening of the season.

The hunters were early afield. Police said that speeders were numerous on the streets at 5 o'clock Thursday morning when groups of hunters started out before dawn for the hunting fields. All-night restaurants reported unusual volume of patronage for that hour of the morning.

Hunters proceeded from Twin Falls in almost all directions, and reports of good hunting came from all quarters.

Request was made Thursday evening by deputy state game warden that pheasants today and hereafter during the season carry their licenses with them into the field in order to avoid bothersome inquiry and investigation.

Charges Against School to be Aired

State Interscholastic Board of Control to Hear Evidence on Protest Against Twin Falls

Hearing before the Idaho Interscholastic Athletic association board of control on charges of "contending state athletes from other sections of the state and country" preferred against the coach and students of the Twin Falls high school by the officers of the district organization, will be opened at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the probate court rooms at the court house, according to an announcement made Thursday evening.

The hearing will be open to the public, and in the event accommodations of the court room prove inadequate, the hearing will be removed to the high school auditorium.

Officials of the local school stated Thursday evening that they had no information as to any evidence that might be offered in support of the charges except the affidavits of two students of the Duhl high school, Troy Moore and Chester Ambrose, which were filed recently with the formal charges.

GIBBONS SEEKS BATTLE

St. Paul Scrapper Seeks Bout with Winner of Bennett-Johnson Fight; Is Now on Hunting Trip

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 1 (AP)—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul pugilist desires a bout with the winner of the Jack Hottel-Ployd Johnson fight, to be held in New York tomorrow night, Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, declared today after he had a telephone conversation with the New York promoter. The promoter, Kane said, gave him no definite answer.

Gibbons, his manager, and several state officials left here tonight on a hunting trip. During the day Gibbons discussed athletics in general with Governor Bryan.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids which excite the kidneys. They get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick, rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

COLLINS MAY MANAGE WASHINGTON AMERICANS

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Eddie Collins, star second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, as discreetly mentioned as a possibility to succeed "Kid" Gleason as manager of the club, is under consideration for the management of the Washington Americans, according to reports in baseball circles here tonight.

From the same source it was learned that Gleason was being considered for the managerial berth of the Boston National league club.

The Star Social club will hold a cooked food sale at Cloc Book Store, Saturday, November 3.—adv.

SCHAEFER BEATS CONTI

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Jacob Schaefer defeated Roger Conti of France, 500 points to 442, in the seventh game of the world's 13.2 balling billiard championship today. Schaefer went out in 24 innings. In his seventeenth turn at the table he clicked off 109, the highest run of the tournament.

BIKE RACE CLOSER

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—The positions of the teams in the six-day bicycle race remained unchanged when the seventy-eighth hour of the contest was reached. # BETTER FARMING BASES STATED

Idaho College of Agriculture Formulates Principles for Improvement of Industry

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Nov. 1.—Ten basic principles for the improvement of agricultural conditions in Idaho were stated by the college of agriculture at its conference here, which was attended by extension and experiment station workers and other field representatives, together with campus faculty. Quorants of the conference included representatives of the state and United States departments of agriculture and other agricultural interests.

- The 10 points follow:
1. The largest measure of permanent success will come in Idaho with a more general adoption and maintenance of a diversified and self-contained policy of farm operation, which includes: (a) Variety in sources of income; (b) Development and maintenance of soil fertility; (c) Marketing of surplus crops through livestock; (d) Some production of food for family and feed for livestock.
  2. Reduced cost of production and increased net returns will result from: (a) High yields per unit; (b) High quality products; (c) Efficiency in management and operation.
  3. Protection of the farm and its products from destructive agencies.
  4. Stability in production is necessary for successful farm operation.
  5. Geographical and other environmental factors render advisable the general policy in Idaho of producing for market products in concentrated form.

6. Fit Crops to Markets
7. The adaptation of production to market requirements.
8. The economic interests of Idaho will be best served through the utilization of such marketing processes as will deliver standard, high quality products in an orderly manner, and will secure for the farmer the highest possible returns.
9. To secure a permanent rural community life, which is dependent upon healthy, happy, contented people, sufficient funds must be provided to insure: (a) Well selected and nourishing food; (b) Proper housing facilities to insure health; (c) Enough comfort to permit the development of the high living life.
10. The farmer of Idaho must utilize the teachings of modern science, and must be a student of world agriculture.

The members of the Addison avenue Social club and their husbands enjoyed a costume Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruggerman on Wednesday evening. The house was artistically decorated for the occasion. Music was furnished by a male quartet composed of Frank Smith, Charles Bruggeman, Otto Williams and W. O. Smith. Spooky games and prize contests afforded amusement for the latter part of the evening. At midnight, Ruth Bruggeman, Eleanor Stronk, Marjorie Smith and Agnes Stronk served supper at a large table having for a centerpiece an electrically lighted jack o' lantern containing fortune tellers favors for the 16 seated guests. Place cards and nut cups were Halloween symbols. The club will meet Wednesday, November 7, with Mrs. Otto Williams.

Miss Aline Stewart, 211 Second avenue east, entertained a number of her schoolmates with a delightful Halloween party on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent with games, music and dancing. Older and doughnuts and other refreshments appropriate to the season was served. Twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen were present.

Mrs. C. E. Adams of 132, Washington north, and Mrs. C. W. Simpson of 126 Main north, gave a progressive Halloween party on Wednesday evening. The guests met first at Mrs. Adams, where a "wisdom roast" was enjoyed out of doors. They then went to the Simpson home, where a two course luncheon was served. The house was "spookily" decorated, a ghost sitting on the porch was the signal for many thrilling Halloween games. The evening was spent with games, music and dancing. Older and doughnuts and other refreshments appropriate to the season was served. The men also receiving horns. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Tolford, Mr. and Mrs. Ed De Witt, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Simpson, Mrs. Cavaneas and Master Junior Simpson.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Emes on Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Kenney Packard, Mrs. H. W. Clouchek, Mrs. G. Isaac, Mrs. P. W. McRoberts, Mrs. A. Avant and Mrs. C. H. Kregel assistant hostesses. The usual business was transacted with Mrs. M. C. Mitchell presiding. Many of the final details were completed for the bazaar to be given on Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17. Mrs. F. W. Brotnagh was in charge of the program which consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. O. P. Davall and Mrs. J. A. Dygert, the latter being accompanied by Mrs. Merlin Batley. Fifty members were present and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. R. H. Graman entertained the Shamrock club at a delightful social session Thursday afternoon. The home was beautifully decorated with fall flowers and an interesting program was rendered under the direction of the hostess consisting of several instrimental numbers and two novel contests in which Mrs. O. H. Griffith and Mrs. Dean Miller were successful in winning the prize. The same clever ideas in decorations were carried out in the daily refreshments served at the close of the meeting. The club will meet with Mrs. James A. Griffith November 15.

The Episcopal Guild met Thursday afternoon in the Parish hall and completed plans for their bazaar and chicken dinner to be held on Saturday, November 3.

Miss Lottie Montgomery entertained the Optimist club with a theater party on Wednesday afternoon. Following the play they adjourned to the Poppy, where they enjoyed a dainty luncheon, the tables being most attractive with Halloween emblems.

Mrs. C. H. Robbin entertained ten little girls on Wednesday evening in honor of her little daughter, Marian. The invitations read, "Come to the sign of the pumpkin," and the home was found by a huge lighted pumpkin standing on the front porch. Then a "ghost walk" and other Halloween stunts provided amusement for the evening, and refreshments were served. The rooms were decorated in the usual Halloween devices and colors.

Mrs. C. R. Stevens and Mrs. J. E. Muisen entertained at dinner in the private dining room at the Hotel Rogerson on Wednesday evening. The guests were seated at several small tables each having for a centerpiece a tiny lighted jack o' lantern. The place cards and nut cups were in the orange and black. The entire room was most attractive with decorations distinctive of the season. Following dinner bridge was played, favor for high score being won by Mrs. F. C. Beebe; second by Mrs. E. F. Ashury, and consolation by Mrs. A. E. Shifor. The guests were Mesdames A. P. Senter, H. S. Dickerson, H. P. Barger, Dula C. Sawyer, B. P. Taylor, Ervine, H. Bennett, G. P. Bowles, J. D. Sincem, Alvin Harbour, Bay Brown, D. Litvin, A. W. Ostrom, Ernest White, J. A. Campbell, Davis, A. Alexander, A. E. Shifor, P. C. Beebe, J. E. Williams, I. H. Taylor, Wurster, I. H. Masters, Thomas Rowberry, Freeman Posa and Len Chapin.

The Catholic Women's League met in regular session Thursday afternoon. After the business meeting an instructive talk was given by Father Kayser on "The Catholic Church and the Bible." The ladies discussed final plans for the bazaar to be given at the Parish hall November 8, 9 and 10. The children from the St. Edward's school held their Halloween party, playing games and other lines of amusement. After an hour of amusement and frolic the ladies served ice cream, cookies and other dainties which appeal to children.

The Mountain View club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Mack by La Priel Riggs and Curtis Eaton, pupils of Mrs. D. P. Biaga. Mrs. Merlin Batley at the piano, accompanied Mrs. Hoiglin and played for Miss Stephen's dance numbers. The hostesses were Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. James Hall and Mrs. J. H. Stowell.

SHORTENED SCHOOL TERMS

While rural school districts in the United States are said to be working hard to increase the length of their school year, cities are doing just the opposite. Most of the schools in the country are open less than half the days of the year. It is reported that three hundred and ten cities maintain school terms of fewer than one hundred eighty-two and one-half days. In two hundred and fifty-nine cities the schools are open more than that, but still less than two hundred days. Cheyenne, Wyoming, alone maintained school for more than two hundred days in 1920. Pittsburgh had school exactly two hundred days.

The tendency has been to decrease the total number of school days. One city dropped from two hundred and thirty-four school days in 1910 to only one hundred and eighty school days in 1922. Others have been doing similar cutting in their school terms.

There doesn't seem to be any good reason for this. Shortening the school terms leaves the school equipment idle for long periods, prolongs the number of years necessary to cover a certain amount of teaching ground, and interrupts the children's progress.

To continue schools for twelve months a year, with several short vacations, would add very little to the cost of running the schools. An addition of only one month of school every year would necessitate several good ends. It would enable many pupils to finish their elementary course in seven years instead of eight.

It is a subject that is coming in for more and more thought and discussion.
 No one wishes to overwork pupils or teachers, or to deny to the latter the time needed for advanced study and travel. But these are matters which might comfortably be arranged even with a system more adequately utilizing the school equipment and the child's learning years.

THE PRIZE WINNER
 By DADDY

Jack and Janet came upon stirring adventure in the Land of Melody.
 They saw the young soldier, Don Jose, leading the army of the Land of Melody, a bold gypsy girl, Don Jose joins the gypsies and becomes a smuggler.

CHAPTER V.
The Quarrel.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL I told Jack,
 and Janet farther along the silver stream, at the foot of Melody. They came to a rocky pass among the mountains. They found a gypsy camp.

Looking down into the camp from a hiding place among the rocks, the children saw Carmen, the hold but handsome gypsy girl, sitting in front of a flat stone which she used as a table. She was telling a fortune gypsy style with a pick of cards. It was her own fortune she was telling.
 As she studied the cards she sang of what she saw in them. She saw a new sweetheart. She saw a bit of happiness. But last of all she saw a danger—a dagger that threatened her.

Started at this sight, Carmen threw
 the cards away.
 Then came Don Jose. Now he was a smuggler. No longer was he the smart, proud soldier. He seemed unhappy and miserable. To this he had come through his love for the heartless Carmen. Jack and Janet felt sorry for him.

Don Jose and Carmen were no longer gay lovers. They sang songs at each other, but their songs were in a quarreling tone. Carmen told him she was weary of him. She saw in his eyes a poor pay for having left his duty to follow her to the gypsy camp.

To Jack and Janet came music they had heard before. It was the song
 "It is the tormentor song," which percolated Jack to Janet.

Sure enough, close upon the sounding of the music of the song came Escamillo, the bull fighter. He was on his way to the bull fight in Seville.

 He made love to Carmen. And she, forgetting Don Jose, made love back
 at him.

Don Jose was jealous. He drew his dagger. He rushed at the bull fighter.
 But the gypsies came between the two men. They stopped the fight.

"Come to the bull fight at Seville," sang the bull fighter
 "I will! I will, my tormentor!" sang Carmen.

"You shall not! You shall not!"
 sang jealous Don Jose. (Carmen flounced her head at Don Jose. She blew a kiss to the bull fighter on his way to Seville.)
 "I will keep you here," sang Don Jose.

But just then came Michnela, the old sweetheart of Don Jose. In her soprano voice she sang a sad, tender song, telling Don Jose that his mother was very ill—she was dying and she wanted him to come home that she might bid him a last farewell. Don Jose did not want to go. He wanted to keep Carmen from going to Seville to see Escamillo fight the bull. He must heed his mother's dying wish.
 So, with a last warning to Carmen that she must not go, Don Jose departed with Michnela.

But Carmen only tossed her head defiantly. She meant to go to the bull fight.
 "Can we go to the bull fight, too?"
 asked Jack innocently. "Well, the answer the queer little creature with the head of a doll and body of a squirrel, scampered ahead of them toward the distant Spanish city.

(What happens at the bull fight will be told in the next chapter.)
 (Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Co.)

"Until this voyage began," he went on, "I did not know what life meant.
 And then I saw you! It was like the gate of heaven opening. You're the dearest girl I ever met, and you can let me never forget . . . He stopped. "I'm not trying to make it rhyme," he said apologetically. "Billie, don't think me silly . . . I mean
 . . . if you had the merest notion, dearest . . . I don't know what's the matter with me."
 Billie, darling, you are the only girl in the world! I have been looking for you for years and years and I have found you at last, my soul-mate.
 Surely this does not come as a surprise to you! That is, I mean, you must have seen that I've been looking for you. That's that d-d Walt Mason stuff again!" His eyes fell on the volume beside him and he uttered an exclamation of enlightenment. "It's those poems," he cried. "I've been boning them up to such an extent that they've got me doing it, too. What I'm trying to say is, Will! you marry me!"

She was drooping toward him. Her face was very sweet and tender, her eyes misty. He held an arm about her waist. She raised her lips to his.

Suddenly she drew herself away, a cloud on her face.
 "During," she said, "I've a confession to make."
 "A confession? You? Nonsense!"
 "I can't resist a bit of a horrible thought. I was wondering if this would be all right."
 "Our love? Don't be afraid that it will fade . . . I mean . . . why, it's so vast it's bound to last . . . that is to say, of course it will."
 She traced a pattern on the deck
 with her shoe.
 "An afraid of myself. You see, once before—and it was not so very long ago—I thought I had met my ideal, but . . ."
 Sam laughed heartily.
 "Are you worrying about that abnormal business of poor old Eustace Hignett?"
 "You know?"
 "Of course! He told me himself."
 "Do you know him? Where did you meet him?"
 "I've known him all my life. He's my cousin. As a matter of fact, we are sharing a stateroom on board
 now."
 "Eustace is on board? Oh, this is awful! What shall I do when I meet
 him?"
 "Oh, pass it off with a light laugh and a gentle quip. Just say: 'Oh, here you are!' or something. You know the sort of thing."
 "It will be terrible."
 "Not a bit of it. Why should you feel embarrassed? He must have realized by now that you acted in the only possible way. It was absurd his ever expecting you to marry him. I mean to say, just look at it dispassionately . . . Eustace . . . poor old Eustace . . . and you! The Princess and the Swineherd!"
 "Does Mr. Hignett keep pigs?" she asked, surprised.
 "I mean that poor old Eustace is so far below you, darling, that, with the most charitable intentions, one can only look on his asking you to marry him in the light of a record exhibition of pure nerve. A dear, good fellow, of course, but hopeless where the sterner realities of life are concerned. A man who can't even stop a dog-fight! In a world which is practically one swelling mass of fighting dogs, how could you trust yourself to such a one? Nobody is fonder of Eustace Hignett than I am, but . . . well,
 I mean to say!"
 "I see what you mean. He really wasn't my ideal."
 "Not by a mile."
 She smiled, her chin in her hand.

 My husband gets spells of early ris-

 Every so often he makes up his mind that he simply has to get out and take some exercise in the morning
 air.
 It's little short of divine, he says,
 to lie in bed until quarter to 8, when he might be out taking a fine, brisk walk.
 And so he sets the alarm for 7 o'clock the next morning. And when it goes off he gets up with a low moan and dreads, and goes out into what he always calls the "horrible" air.
 But I notice that he sets the alarm for half past six o'clock the next morning, and for a quarter of seven
 the next.
 And it is not long before he is back on his 7:45 schedule and enjoying his morning sleep just as much as a man who never realized how much he was missing by letting the sun get up before he does.

OPPORTUNITY'S CALL HEARD BY COMMERCE BODY

Preparedness for Possibilities of Development Actuated Campaign for Expansion of Organization

Expansion of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce is being undertaken at this time with the purpose of taking advantage of opportunities for development of Twin Falls and vicinity which will be presented by the building of the American Falls reservoir project and Rogerson-Wells railroad line, according to a statement of Arthur L. Ewing, president of the chamber, at the first meeting of the chamber of commerce campaign executive committee, which was held at noon Thursday in the Rogerson hotel.

Organization for the campaign was effected with the election of Asher B. Wilson as chairman, and C. E. Wright, vice chairman. Membership of the executive committee was announced as follows:

D. D. Alford, C. N. Beatty, K. C. Rensch, A. G. Benoit, J. A. Barrett, L. C. Rice, Roy G. Hodges, J. C. Hollingsworth, A. D. Johnson, J. A. Keefer, R. C. Loiseh, W. T. Leslie, C. E. Lind, M. C. Mitchell, Burton E. Eno, E. J. O'Connell, Wm. B. O'Connell, W. C. Patrick, Rev. A. G. Pennar, C. A. Robinson, Dr. C. R. Scott, A. L. Swin, F. L. Stephan, James Scilley, P. B. Seville, Curtis Farmer, W. A. Van Engelen, J. E. White, Newell S. Wright.

Outlines Campaign.

Frank Horton, the campaign manager, outlined the campaign. He said the campaign would consist of three parts: First, a ten days' educational campaign to present the people of Twin Falls the ideals and methods of work of the modern chamber of commerce and the place which an organization should occupy in every city; and second, the development of a strong team organization and an intensive three days' campaign for membership on Nov. 14 and 15, to increase the membership and income. This would be followed with a ten days' organization period where there would be intensive work of the local organization in an expanded form the best methods of the outstanding features of the modern chamber of commerce, such as the members' forum, program of work and committee organization.

The chairman and vice chairman were authorized to appoint the following committees: a program committee; a finance committee; a planning committee; to supervise the preparation of the prospect list and a public meeting committee. These committees will be announced later.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one. Arrangement was made to mail all prospectus a pamphlet stating the principles of the modern chamber of commerce.

Issues Proclamation.

The campaign committee made the following proclamation concerning the campaign and its object:

PROCLAMATION
Of the Twin Falls Executive Committee
Chamber of Commerce to the Citizens of Twin Falls

We believe Twin Falls is a strong, unselfish, civic-commercial organization, which can be a clearing house for the best thought and ideas that affect the civic, commercial and agricultural welfare of our city.

We believe that a time is at hand when our Chamber of Commerce should have a numerical and financial strength to enable it to properly assist in solving many vital problems confronting Twin Falls.

You are proud of Twin Falls. You have reason to be proud because it is strong morally, intellectually, commercially and agriculturally.

Our city has all the elements of potential power. To utilize these elements to the fullest extent, all of the controlling factors must be fused into a non-political, non-sectarian, non-partisan Chamber of Commerce.

Broader vision and unselfish service have thrust and clear, narrow, selfish, commercial purposes and developed organizations along the narrow, self-built cities and justified expenditure of time, talent and financial backing by men and women in various fields of life, all seeking to serve the welfare of our communities.

Four hundred Twin Falls men working together can do practically anything they attempt for our city.

We have heartily endorsed the plans for the organization of a new Chamber of Commerce as proposed, and we will do all in our power to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Let us all get together on those things which will make Twin Falls a better city in which to live and do work.

The decision to expand the Chamber of Commerce was made only after careful consideration. Other cities have adopted these plans very readily and we feel confident of success in this undertaking.

Gruesome Find in Waterway Reported

County Authorities Take Body of Prematurely Born Child from Pool

The body of a prematurely born child wrapped in a newspaper tied with sack twine and weighted down with a piece of lava rock, was taken from the high line canal south of Twin Falls Thursday morning by county officials.

No clue as to the parentage of the child was discovered. It is believed that the body had been in the canal about a week.

The body was discovered by J. W. McDowell, owner of an adjacent farm, in a pool of water near the center of the stream, under the highway bridge. The discovery was made possible by the fact that water had been turned out of the canal four days previously to facilitate repair work. Mr. McDowell made the discovery when he took his horse out to drink in the canal. He communicated at once by telephone with the sheriff's office and the body was taken out of the canal by Deputy Sheriff E. F. Trent, Deputy Coroner C. G. Sturdivant and prosecuting attorney J. W. Taylor. It was given into the custody of the coroner.

The body was wrapped in a copy of a Salt Lake newspaper on the date of July 1, last. On the canal bank, near the scene of the discovery an empty envelope bearing an address and also a return address was found. The envelope attached no significance to the envelope. They expressed the opinion that the body had been dropped into the canal by persons passing on the highway.

MISSION WORKERS TO MEET.

Representatives of the women's missionary societies of the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Christian churches of Twin Falls, composing the Union Missionary society, will hold an all-day convention at the Presbyterian church. The program includes reports on activities of the local societies and a number of discussions relative to missionary work.

The convention, extended to include all interested women to attend.

ANNOUNCES TELEGRAPH SCHOOL.

A school of telegraph and radio operators will be given by F. A. White of Denver, an operator of 38 years experience, covering every angle of the telegraph service, according to an announcement made at the O. G. B. State hall.

The school will be established in rooms over the Golden Rule store about November 5.

HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Thomas Kelly of the Kimberly district, was Thursday arrested by operatives of the sheriff's office and held in the county jail.

Kelly is charged with committing a statutory offense involving a 15-year-old girl. The charges were preferred at the instance of the girl's mother.

of "getting together for Twin Falls." We call upon all citizens to give these plans thoughtful consideration and let us join in the united, broad-minded, hearty and ambitious.

Twin Falls is your home as it is ours. Jointly we should, as the Chamber of Commerce an incalculable power in the city's upbuilding. With your help Twin Falls can be placed in the forefront of inter-mountain cities—in modern attainment and community thought—an ideal city in which to live and make a living.

ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAMATION

November eleventh throughout the world is now considered the day for celebrating the close of the last great war which for a time threatened to plunge civilization into the archaic chaos of utter ruin. The observance of this day vividly brings to our minds the sacrifices made for the preservation of all we hold dear by the heroic men of America, many of whom gave the last full measure of devotion.

It is in keeping with the spirit of loyal citizens in honoring the memories of the immortal deeds of our patriots to set aside one day in order to impress our minds with the great accomplishments of all who labored to bring the recent conflict to a successful conclusion. This day should be one of rejoicing for victory; prayer for the boys who did not come back; and thanks to Almighty God for His many blessings.

Since November eleventh falls this year on Sunday, and since the national American Legion has set Monday, November 12, as the day for observing Armistice Day, I deem it meet to follow that example.

Now, therefore, I, C. C. Moore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as governor, do hereby proclaim November 12, 1923, a holiday in the State of Idaho, and do earnestly recommend that all people by public manifestation and gatherings unite in celebrating the ending of the last sanguine conflict and in paying tribute to the defenders of the nation.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be attested the great seal of the state of Idaho, at Boise, the capital, this thirtieth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

(SEAL) C. C. MOORE, Governor.

F. A. JETER, Secretary of State.

Weather Conditions Favor Harvest Work

Thursday brought to the Twin Falls country the ninth successive day of fair weather with seasonable temperatures, facilitating the harvest work which daily draws nearer completion with improving prospects of saving practically all perishable crops. Mercury attained its high point for the day at 68 degrees, an advance of one point over the maximum of the preceding day, and was low at 25, a decline of three degrees, according to records of the government weather observer's station.

The Screen

"THE EAGLE'S FEATHER."
"The Eagle's Feather," a Metro picture starring Katherine Neville Burt's famous story of the same name which appeared in Cosmopolitan magazine some time ago, is the feature attraction at the Idaho theater this week.

Those who have read the story will remember the thrilling cattle stampede, the great fight between John Trent and his accusers, the delightful banquet scene, the forest fire and many other incidents which made "The Eagle's Feather" one of the outstanding short stories of the year.

A fine cast headed by James Kirkwood and Mary Alden serve to make "The Eagle's Feather" a great entertainment. There are Eleanor Fair, Lester Cunco, William Orlandson, John Elliott, Charles McHugh, and George Singmann. "The Eagle's Feather" was adapted by Wilfied Dunn and directed by Edward Sloman.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The Past Matrons' club will meet Friday evening with Mrs. H. B. Read, at 435 Third avenue north. Members unable to attend are to notify the hostess.

Vishnu camp of Royal Neighbors will meet Friday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. Refreshments will be served following the regular session.

Fire Chief Holds Class For Scouts

Assistance of Fire Fighters Is Objective of Lads Qualifying for Merit Badge

Fire Chief Jack Bell undertook new responsibilities Thursday evening when he conducted his first class in firemanship for Twin Falls Boy Scouts seeking information that will qualify them to receive the merit badge for firemanship. Six first class scouts attended the first class, and were introduced to the fire chief by the district scout executive. Another class will be announced in a week or two.

It is the scouts' purpose, according to F. D. Hawley, district scout executive, to assist in the task of reducing Twin Falls fire risk by organizing a body of scout fire wardens, each of whom will be responsible for one of a number of districts into which the town will be divided for the purpose.

Requirements for obtaining the scouts' merit badge of firemanship provide that a scout must:

1. Know how to turn in an alarm for fire.
2. Know how to enter burning buildings.
3. Know how to prevent panics and how to lead the people out.
4. Understand the use of hose—unrolling, joining up, connecting to hydrant, use of nozzle, etc.
5. Understand the use of fire extinguishers; how to rescue animals; how to save property; how to organize a bucket brigade, and how to aid the police in keeping back crowds.
6. Know how to improvise ropes and ladders.
7. Explain what to do in case of panic; understand the fireman's lift and drag, and how to work in flames.
8. Understand the use of fire extinguishers; how to rescue animals; how to save property; how to organize a bucket brigade, and how to aid the police in keeping back crowds.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be attested the great seal of the state of Idaho, at Boise, the capital, this thirtieth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

(SEAL) C. C. MOORE, Governor.
