EX-OFFICIAL OF KU KLUX KLAN IS SHOT DOWN

Alleged Publicity Man and Editor for Hooded Order Takes Life of Counsel for Insurgent Faction

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5 (AP)—Philip E. Fox, publicity man for the Ku Klux Klan, today today shot and killed W. E. Coburn, Atlanta attorney and counsel for the faction fighting Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans and another official of the order. Fox is held at police headquarters without bond under a charge of murder. Coburn, a former official of the Klan and later representative of what is called the insurgent faction, was shot five times as he sat in his office on the ninth floor of the Atlanta Trust company building. He toppled over dead.

Mrs. W. A. Holbrook, stenographer for Coburn, said that Fox came in while Coburn was talking to a client and began firing when he was told to come back in about an hour. She said five shots were fired. Three of them were said to have taken effect.

When taken into custody Fox is quoted as saying: "I am sorry to have had to do it, but it is glad he is dead. He was planning to ruin me and I had just as soon be hurt as hurt. What I did has no connection with the Ku Klux Klan. Coburn had threatened to ruin me and to publish affidavits affecting my character that were untrue."

Police headquarters Fox denied any connection with the Ku Klux Klan, giving his occupation as clerk. T. Rogers, an employe in the office of Coburn, said that Fox is a publicity man for the Klan and editor of the Knighthawk, official organ of the "imperial palace of the Ku Klux Klan."

Believed of Pistol. Dr. Fred B. Johnson of San Antonio, Texas, who is visiting at the home of W. J. Simmons, emperor of the Klan, told the police that Fox came to him at the Simmons' home last night. Johnson said that Fox told him that he had secured his connection with the faction of Imperial Wizard Evans and that he had come to Johnson for the purpose of revealing some information. Dr. Johnson said he noticed Fox kept his right hand in his overcoat pocket and he (Johnson) backed Fox into a corner and took a pistol away from him.

"He then told me," said Dr. Johnson, "he had been sent there to kill me, but he didn't say by whom. He said, however, I had talked him out of it. When he left me he told me he was going back to Texas Monday night."

Dr. Johnson said Fox came to Atlanta last March from Dallas, Texas, where he was city editor of an afternoon paper.

Was Leading Counsel. The dead attorney was leading counsel in a week long action brought by

Naval Aviators to Resume Efforts For New Records

Friendly Rivals Prepared for Wing-to-Wing Speed Event Tuesday; Made 266 Miles an Hour Average

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Lieutenants Alford J. Williams and Harold J. Brown, navy aviators, who during the last few days have been smashing world speed records like worthless eggshells, tomorrow will renew their battle for the crown of speed king of the other. Barred today by Washington from taking the air one after the other in their navy Curtiss planes in a mad dash against the clock to break the mark of 274.2 miles an hour set yesterday by Brown, one day of the 12-kilometer flight, and the high average of 336.6 for the entire distance fixed by Williams, the friendly rivals eagerly prepared for a wing-to-wing race tomorrow at an air carnival arranged for the army relief fund.

The match will be stripped of one of its most dangerous features, that is diving from an altitude of 2,000 feet or more to within a few feet of the ground, to pick up speed before darting across the starting line.

U. S. Sailor Found Alive After Falling Off 1000-Foot Cliff

Water Tender Rescued with Broken Legs and Fractured Skull But Still Living

HONOLULU, Nov. 5 (AP)—After falling 1,000 feet from the top of the Pali, a rocky cliff near here, over which thousands of Oahuans met death in the early history of Hawaii when they fled from the invading army of the king of Hawaii, John Andrews, a water tender stationed on the U. S. S. Sea Gull, was rescued yesterday from narrow ledge on which his body lodged.

Andrews' legs were broken and his skull fractured, but he may recover, physicians said.

TROOPS CALLED INTO BAVARIA

Central German Government Takes Militant Step to Stop Frontier Outbreaks

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—The central government, aroused by the apparently dangerous situation created by the Bavarian nationalist preparations on the Bavarian-Thuringian frontier, has ordered the dispatch of three Badenese rifle regiments to the region. These troops will take up positions behind the Thuringian police with orders to resist to the utmost any attempts by the irregular Bavarian bands to advance.

Estimates of the irregular bands on the Bavarian-Thuringian frontier, range from 5,000 to 10,000. The nationalist bands are said to be under the supreme command of Captain Ehrhardt, whose "iron brigade" figured in the notorious Kapp putch.

The change also has been made that General Ludendorff stands behind the whole movement and that aims sought for are the overthrow of the republic and the establishment of a nationalist military dictatorship.

Thinking it important to allow political debates the Reichstag, Chancellor Stresemann has requested the president of the house to postpone its next sitting indefinitely.

With the object of countering rumors that the Reichstag cannot be relied upon to cope with the nationalist movement, Defense Minister Goester, who holds dictatorial powers under the

HUGHES HEARS FRENCH VIEWS ON SETTLEMENT

American Secretary of State and France's Ambassador Talk Over Reparations; Coolidge Is Informed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Views of the French government on reparations were laid before Secretary Hughes today by Ambassador Jusserand today by Ambassador Jusserand. Their talk in the secretary's office lasted an hour and forty minutes. Whether it resulted in any change in the situation that has thus far prevented final agreement among the allied governments on the expert inquiry proposal was not disclosed. Neither Mr. Hughes nor the ambassador would make any statement whatever with respect to their conversation.

Before Ambassador Jusserand sought his appointment with Secretary Hughes, information had reached the State department that Great Britain, Italy and Belgium had reached an accord on the form of the invitation to the United States to participate in the inquiry. As the situation then was understood by Washington officials, it was said authoritatively French insistence that the experts be limited to an inquiry into "the present capacity" of Germany to pay alone prevented final agreement. The hope was expressed by the government spokesmen that France could be induced to join in a full inquiry but no indication was given of the course the United States would pursue if the allied nations found it impossible to reach an agreement.

Speculate on Results. To what extent the conference between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Jusserand may have influenced the course of events was the subject of wide speculation in the absence of any word of explanation from any source. Shortly after the conference Mr. Hughes went to the White House and informed President Coolidge what had transpired in his talk with the ambassador. The White House was silent also as to developments in the situation. It was difficult to determine the exact reason for the silence at this vital stage of the negotiations which are occupying chief attention at all

Voters in Scottish Towns to Decide Liquor Problem

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Thirty-two forty Scottish towns go to the polls this week to decide the prohibition issue for their localities. The campaign has been intense. The drys hope to reverse the decision given in 1920 when only two towns—Kirkcaldie and Kilmorych—abolished liquor licenses. The wets in these places, forced to take long journeys during the last three years to quench their thirst, have been making desperate efforts to bring their fellow townsmen back to their traditional freedom in the matter of beverages. The Daily Mail's comments on the experience with prohibition in the United States are not calculated to spread enthusiasm for this reform. The newspaper says: "It looks though the attempt of a forbidding human beings from taking a particular kind of drink creates among them a determination to get that drink at whatever cost to their pockets or vitality."

Several Children Burned to Death; Homes Destroyed

Little Girl, Age 3, and Baby Brother Lose Lives; Apartment House Fire Fatal

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Nov. 5 (AP)—Bobby Jackson, 5, and her three months old brother were burned in their home at Sequim, Wash., six miles from here, while their mother, Mrs. O. L. Jackson, was on her way to the postoffice for mail, according to information received by the local authorities.

EDMONTON, Alb., Nov. 5 (AP)—Four children were burned and another was burned severely when a three-story apartment house was destroyed by fire here yesterday. The dead are Alice, 13, and Edith Campbell, 11, daughters of Charles Campbell, janitor of the building, and Arthur, 12, and Neil Ross, 10. Eva Campbell was taken to the hospital suffering from burns about her head and arms. The personal effects of 12 families residing in the building were destroyed.

Market Activities in Twin Falls to Be Suspended for Day While Buyers Go After Phasants

The annual phasant hunt of the Twin Falls seed buyers is scheduled for today. Employes of the Northrup King, Albert Dickinson, Coeuraine Seed and Occidental Seed companies will take part in the hunt and for the day there will be no seed buying in Twin Falls, according to the seed men. The exact location to be covered by the hunt was not fully decided yesterday but it will be an all-day event in which all hands among the seed men expect to take part.

NAVAL OFFICER DENIES CHARGE

Commander of Squadron in Destroyer Wreck Pleads Not Guilty of Negligence

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Captain Edward H. Watson who commanded squadron eleven, destroyer force, United States battle fleet, on the night of September 8, when 23 lives were lost and nearly $14,000,000 in government property was destroyed in the stranding of seven vessels near Honda, Calif., pleaded "not guilty" to charge of culpable inefficiency today before a naval court martial. Other charges against him are negligence and unskillful seamanship.

"Ten other naval officers also are to be tried by the court martial. These include Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, who commanded the U. S. S. Delphy, leading ship of the squadron, and Lieutenant Laurence F. Blodgett, navigating officer of the Delphy.

After Captain Watson had pleaded, Lieutenant Lawrence Wild, communications officer of the eleventh squadron, described the voyage down the Pacific coast and gave the vessels' names and the localities concerned.

Lieutenant Commander Hunter then gave details of hearings received from the court martial. He explained that the court had had every reason to believe the destroyers south of Arguollo when in reality they were northward.

Bearings received during the early evening were "so erratic that they could not be reconciled with any course and speed," Hunter told the court. The change of course at 9 o'clock which led the destroyers on the reef, was made with the feeling that it was a safe course in the light of the bearings received which were found to check near the dead reckoning course and in disregard of the bearings obviously at fault and after a due consideration of the speed weight of the ship, etc., according to Hunter.

Letters Basis for Counsel Debate in Stokes Litigation

Allege Missives Used to Obtain Conspiracy Indictments Against Plaintiff

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—A debate between opposing counsel over the admission of letters was described today those used in Chicago to obtain conspiracy indictments against W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner; Daniel F. Nugent, his New York attorney, and several of his negro witnesses, today enlivened the retrial of the hotel man, witness against, court adjourned over election day, until Wednesday, when Mr. Nugent, a witness today, will be recalled.

Max D. Stour, chief counsel for Stokes, called Mr. Nugent to the stand to rebut testimony of Rufus Billman, witness for the hotel owner. Stour Samuel Untermeyer, Chicago lawyer had closed his case. Mr. Nugent denied statements attributed to him by Billman that he had criticized Mr. Stokes' character.

Supreme Court Justice Mahoney sustained objection after objection by Mr. Stour against questions of Mr. Untermeyer about Mr. Nugent's activities in obtaining witnesses and their affidavits for Mr. Stokes. Finally Mr. Untermeyer offered in evidence photographic copies of the letter to Chicago witnesses and Justice Mahoney took the two attorneys to his chambers to hear arguments on their admissibility. Decision, it was expected would be announced Wednesday.

FIX WAR DEBTS TO BE PAID TO UNITED STATES

Decisions Reached by Commission for Huge Liabilities Assessed Against Germany; Lusitania Claims Assessed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Four decisions determining Germany's liabilities for American claims resulting from the war, including those growing out of the Lusitania's torpedoing, were announced today by the mixed claims commission.

While upholding broadly the Lusitania claims, numbering 278 and aggregating approximately $22,500,000, the commission also ruled on settling $345,000,000 for recovery of insurance premiums paid by Americans for protection against war hazards.

General principles governing the assessment of the American claims were laid down by the commission. Three of the decisions, including that on the Lusitania claims, were unanimous, but the other interpreting treaty obligations, Edwin B. Parker, umpire, concurred with Chandler P. Anderson, American commissioner, over the dissent of German commissioner, Dr. Wilhelm Rosenfeldt.

An important feature of the Lusitania decision was the refusal of the commission to assess exemplary or punitive damages. It held that such damages were penal in their nature, not compensation, and therefore, unauthorized by the treaty of Berlin.

"There is no place in it (the treaty of Berlin) for any vindictive or punitive provisions," said the decision. "Germany must make compensation and reparation for all losses falling within its terms sustained by American nationals. That compensation must be full, adequate and complete. To this extent Germany will be held accountable. But this commission is without power to impose penalties for the use and benefit of private claimants when the United States has exercised its right."

No specific awards in the Lusitania case were made by the commission, its decision merely announcing the principles to be applied in determining each claim. In this connection it held that actual damages for mental anguish and suffering of relatives of Americans lost by that ship "constitutional and vaginal mental suffering would not be considered."

In dismissing claims for war risk premiums paid, the commission held that they were not a class for which Germany was financially liable. "In the absence of express provisions in the commission, there is no complaint of injury to or destruction or seizure of property by the acts of Germany or her agents. The sole complaint is that the hazards of the war required the claimants as a matter of business practice to protect by insurance contracts which never mature into damages under the terms of the treaty (of Berlin) Germany cannot be held liable for all

British Schooner Taken in Tow by Federal Officers

Auxiliary Vessel, 'Louis F.' Captured after Three-Hour Chase; Get Liquor Worth $375,000

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5 (AP)—The British auxiliary schooner Louis F. was captured after a three-hour chase as noon today by federal authorities and 3,900 cases of liquor valued at $375,000 was seized, the officers reported on their return here tonight. The capture was effected within the 12-mile limit off South Florida beach, and Captain H. A. Johnson of Harbour Island, British West Indies, and six crew members of the schooner arrested. They are being brought to Jacksonville, where they will be charged with violating the customs laws and the national prohibition law, officers said.

The crew told a story of having been attacked about four o'clock last Tuesday evening by a speed boat, a stowaway engineer and two stowaways, one of whom was formerly the chief engineer, forced into the forecastle and kept there under guard until today. Their alleged captors, they said, were James H. Hunter, superintendent of the city park zoo of Denver, wanted to know. The animal was brought to Denver by a rancher, Mr. Hunter is leading it and looking up its ancestry.

Members of the crew officers said, declared the ship to be under the belief the pursuers were liquor pirates.

CONGRESSMEN AND SENATOR TO BE CHOSEN

Off-Year Elections in Various Localities Hold Little Significance in Regard to Presidential Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Those who watch the national political straws to see which way they bend in an off year election will probably will not get much satisfaction tomorrow.

First there are only a few elections for congress, and second, few have a bearing on the next presidential election are involved.

One new member of the United States senate is to be elected in Vermont. Porter H. Dale, republican, and Park H. Pollard, democrat, are candidates for the position left vacant by the death of Senator Dillingham. His term would have expired.

Prohibition has entered into the campaign and Mr. Dale, favoring strict enforcement, has the endorsement of the State Anti-Saloon league. Mr. Pollard, who is a cousin of President Coolidge, favors modification of the Volstead act. Vermont normally is staunchly republican and the political wisecracker say there are no signs of an upheaval.

Seven to Be Elected

Seven new representatives are to be elected to congress, one in Vermont, four in New York, one in Illinois and one in North Carolina. Little interest has been shown in the contest, as Thomas Doyle, democrat, will have slight opposition, his opponent, Lester Rodney, having withdrawn. The election is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. R. Rainey, democrat.

The election in the first Vermont district is made necessary by the resignation of Representative Dale to accept the republican nomination for the senate. The candidates are Ernest W. Gibson, republican, and Burton E. Bailey, democrat.

Three in New York

The congressional elections in New York state are made necessary by death of four representatives during the last year. Three of the elections are in New York City or vicinity. In the eleventh district Anning S. Prall, democrat, and Guy O. Palmer, republican, are candidates to succeed the late Representative Daniel Rordan, democrat. In the thirteenth district which was represented for many years by the late Bourke Cochran, democrat, the candidates are John J. O'Connor, democrat, and John C. O'Connor, republican. They are not related. In the 24th district, represented by the late J. V. Ganly, democrat, the candidates are Edward R. Koch, democrat, and former Representative Benjamin L. Fairchild, republican. A fight has been waged in the district and a close vote has been forecast by observers. Socialists have named candidates in each of the districts but the socialist vote is not expected to be heavy.

The election in the 32d district, embracing Jefferson, Lewis, Madison and Oswego counties, is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Luther W. W. Mott, republican. The candidates are Thaddeus C. Sweet, former prominent state legislator, republican, of Phoenix, and Daniel C. Burke, democrat, of Oneida, the socialists have named James W. Manson of Watertown.

In the Second North Carolina district a successor will be chosen to the late Representative Claude Kitchin, for years democratic leader of the house. Judge John A. Kerr, democrat, has no opposition for the place.

Book Successors
Vacancies caused by the death of Representatives Cantrell, seventh Kentucky, and Humphreys, third Mississippi, both democrats, will be filled at special elections later.

Four states—Maryland, Mississippi, Kentucky and Virginia—will elect governors. New York, New Jersey and Maryland will elect members of the state legislatures.

In New York the democrats have waged an energetic campaign for control of the assembly.

The republicans now control the assembly by twelve votes, but the senate is democratic.

New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio will hold referendums on state meas-

COPPER SECURITIES AS FIELD FOR INVESTMENT

Babson Traces Variations in Quotations of Mining Stocks and Designates Opportune Time for Buying

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—Copper securities are new for the year, reached during the last two weeks, have stirred the interest of the investor. Roger W. Babson's survey on the industry is particularly helpful in this connection. In a report, his findings issued today, the statistician pictures the situation clearly.

The copper industry has for some time been selling in the doldrums of low prices and depressed market conditions, says Mr. Babson. "From August, 1921 throughout 1922 and into the first part of this year, the market moved steadily upward. In March a temporary reaction set in and during the past seven months the trend has been markedly downward. Present quotations are on a par with those of the early part of 1922."

"Apparent domestic consumption, since the low point of 1921, has continued to rise. About 750,000,000 pounds were consumed by domestic manufacturers during 1921; 1,100,000,000 pounds during 1922, and in 1923 for the present calendar year places the amount in excess of 1,400,000,000, a figure closely approximating that of maximum war activity during 1918."

Exports Improving.
"The export situation is comparatively good and improving. Export figures have risen steadily from 504,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June, 1921, to 750,000,000 for the present calendar year. This figure is in excess of any previous to 1912, and closely approximates the years immediately preceding the war."

"During the past seven months there has been no appreciable decline in manufacturing activity. Actual domestic consumption has had only a slight recession. Exports have held well. The basic reason for the present low market is found in the cleaning up of stocks of raw material held by manufacturers."

"The accumulation of such stocks inevitably accompanies a period of intense activity such as the year experienced last spring, for it then becomes necessary to keep a larger supply on hand to insure uninterrupted operation. With these 'greasing-the-machinery' stocks now reduced to about normal, fabricators must enter the market to cover new orders for copper and brass products. This basic reason for the present low point is in itself a strong argument for heavier purchases and consequent higher prices."

Heavy Buying Expected.
"All indications point to the fact that the stage is being set for a long awaited buying movement. Nearly every appreciable upward turn in prices has been directly preceded by an abrupt drop in shipments from the refineries to domestic mills. In September domestic deliveries were only 45,000,000 pounds, the lowest since early in 1922, and over 20,000,000 pounds below the average point for the first eight months of this year."

"Copper buying has always come in waves. Psychology enters the market in a persistent tendency to follow the crowd, and is often the deciding factor in the direction and extent of a price movement. Another indication of approaching strength is the length and extent of the declining market. Since the latter part of March there has been no halt in the fall of copper price. A study of market fluctuations for the past 15 years shows that six months is the maximum limit of a continued price trend.

Production Not Adjusted.

"For the time being these factors will presumably have more weight in the market than the relative status of stocks, production, consumption, etc. Post war production has not yet been properly adjusted to peace time consumption. Until such an adjustment is made, prices will be determined not so much by the ratio of supply and demand in the form of sales; that is, the volume of refined copper actually changing hands from producer to consumer."

"The fact that general business is working sideways and slightly downward—the Babson chart shows present activity 18 per cent below normal—may delay this recovery somewhat."

"The position of the industry, judged by itself, would suggest the purchase of copper stocks. The fact, however, that the long swing trend of the stock market and general business is still downward is a deterring factor. A single group of stocks cannot well run counter to the fundamental situation that governs the entire market. When the bottom has been reached, however, and the long swing upward is in order, copper stocks should be among the first to benefit by the rise."

COAST HIT BY EARTH TREMOR

Hotel at Calexico Shifted and Concrete Pillars Are Twisted; Windows Broken

CALEXICO, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP)—The most pronounced earthquake shock felt in recent years in the Imperial valley was recorded today. The Virginia hotel here was shifted several inches on its foundations and damage was done to other buildings.

The earthquake struck the Imperial valley shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon and left a trail of dislodged building foundations, twisted concrete pillars and broken glass.

The first tremor, the stiffest of the three recorded here, lasted five seconds. Reinforced concrete pillars in front of the New York store were twisted like straws.

A portion of the ceiling in the United States immigration station gave way and crashed down, but no one was reported injured.

Throughout the business district many plate glass windows were broken.

Orphans of Commerce

ON nearly every merchant's shelves are a few unknown left-overs. They have been there a long time. No one remembers just how long. Dingy, faded and soiled, they seem to be edging away from their more brightly dressed neighbors to a place of seclusion. There is a story behind these shabby little strangers.

A story of how once they were proud and new, dressed in clothes as gaudy and bright as the latest vial of perfume from Paris.

They were sold to the merchant by a salesman who knew their merits. For a time the merchant remembered their merits and told his customers. But little by little these merits were forgotten. The merchant, with his many items, slowly forgot even their names. New clerks never heard of them.

When some of their more fortunate shelf-mates were advertised, merchants began to display these lines more prominently and shoppers selected the goods they became acquainted with through printers' ink, leaving uncalled for and unsold the unknown. It takes little effort and little time to sell goods which everyone knows about.

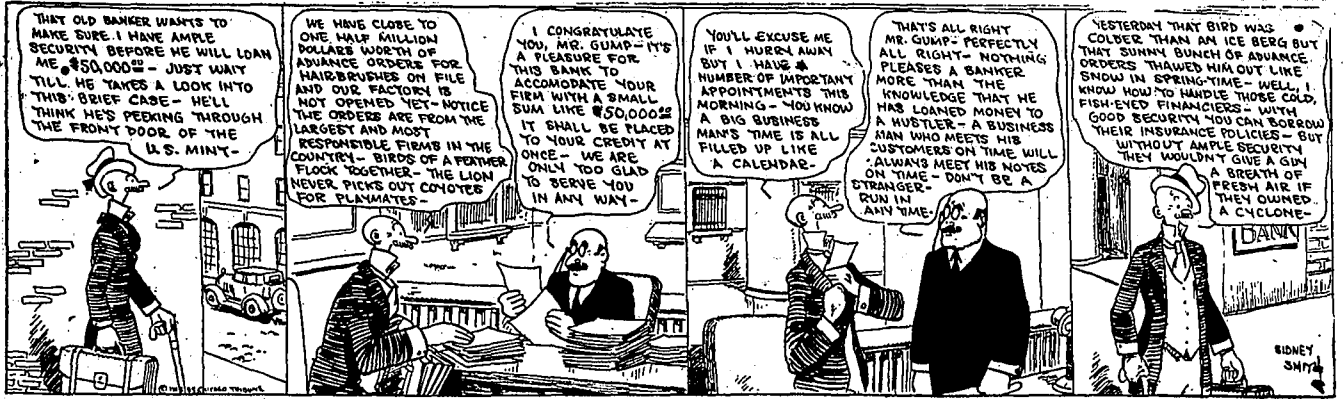

The shabby little orphans are gradually disappearing. They are being given away or thrown away to make room. Tomorrow they will be gone.

Tex Rickard Negotiating for Match Between Renault and Gibbons or Harry Wills

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Tex Rickard today began negotiations to match Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight who knocked out Floyd Johnson last Friday night, with either Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, or Harry Wills, negro title contender.

Rickard has undertaken the negotiations in the interests of a New York newspaper's Christmas fund. It arranged the promoter plans to stage the match around holiday time, possibly December 21, at Madison Square Garden.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, has had some differences with Rickard and announced he would not sign for any match with the Garden promoter, but it is believed he might alter his attitude, as the bout would be a charity affair. Should efforts to sign the negro be unavailing, however, Gibbons probably will be selected. The St. Paul battler, who went the limit with Jack Dempsey last July 4, has been asked to name his terms. Renault's manager, Leo Ryan, has discussed the proposal with Rickard, and although he has not definitely accepted, no difficulty is expected in bringing about an engagement so far as the Canadian is concerned.

NUMEROUS CLASHES WILL ATTRACT GRID INTEREST

Annual Meeting of Princeton and Harvard to Be Classic Event; Many Other Big Games This Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—The annual meeting of Princeton and Harvard which takes place at Palmer Memorial stadium, heads a list of Saturday football attractions this week which appears very bit as promising of stirring, stubborn play as transpired in last week's history making contests.

Yielding with the great O'Connell Tiger perennial in claims for popular interest will be clashes involving Cornell and Columbia, Penn State and Georgia Tech, Yale and Maryland, Dartmouth and Brown, Pennsylvania and Lafayette, Boston College and Centenary, Carnegie Tech and Detroit, Williams and Wesleyan, Army and Arkansas, Aggie, Navy and Xavier, Rutgers and Richmond, and West Virginia and Washington and Lee. While football students find no serious threat to the standing of the few remaining undefeated teams, the final rating of the teams may be considerably affected through Saturday's play.

The Cornell-Columbia game at the Polo grounds is unique in that it brings together the pupils of coaches who successively have been declared the leaders in their profession. Percy Haughton, the Columbia mentor, won such acclaim while serving as Harvard's coach and of late years, Elmore Dobie, the Cornell mentor, has been regarded by many as the leading football teacher in the east.

West Virginia and Rutgers each play two contests this week for their meet each other at the Polo grounds tomorrow and on Saturday the Mountaineers will play Washington and Lee at Charleston, W. Va., and Rutgers will meet University of Richmond at New Brunswick, N. J.

YOUNG BRUINS FACING TOUGH GRID SCHEDULE

Cubs to Play Flier's Regular Tuesday; Castleford Team Will Be Opponents in Friday's Contest

The Cubs of the junior high school have a real schedule for the coming week. On Tuesday they meet Flier high school at Flier, and then on Friday the Castleford high, which met defeat at their hands a week ago, comes to Twin Falls for a return engagement on Lincoln lot.

The Flier game will be played after school and no doubt the coaches will find it necessary to shorten the playing period, but nevertheless fans will be sure of a good game, as it will be practically all of Flier's first team that will meet the redoubtable Cubs and not the second string, as was the case when they whitewashed the Jerome seconds.

As we have it now eight of the regulars of the Flier high squad will meet Coach Anderson's bunch. They are considering it as a practice game and apparently are not taking the Cubs very seriously. But the Cubs will assert themselves as they have demonstrated to every team they have met this season.

On Friday the Castleford gang will make an attempt to even up the record of last week's defeat on the local field while the Bruins are on the other side of the river celebrating with Rupert.

There is also a tentative arrangement for a game with the Jerome seconds next week at Jerome. The Cubs were a little late getting started, but they are out after the games now.

FOUR FOUND GUILTY FOR ACTIVITIES WITH KLAN

Exalted Cyclops Among Those Named to Face Charges of Carrying Firearms; Three Others Acolytes Acquitted

BASTROP, La., Nov. 5 (AP)—Four alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan, including Captain J. K. Skipworth, exalted cyclops, today were found guilty of "carrying firearms on the premises of another," in connection with hooded band activities in Morehouse parish last year. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Others found guilty were Benito Pratt, Marvin Pickett and W. G. In-toh. Three alleged klansmen, tried jointly with the four were found not guilty. They were Samuel Eldridge, Sam Cox and Cud Pickett. The seven men were tried jointly before Judge Fred C. Odom in state district court. They were charged with a raid on the home of Alonzo Braddock, farmer, who was believed to be engaged in the illegal manufacture of whiskey.

A visitor in one of London's churches was puzzled, a short time ago to see, at the back of the pulpit and on a level with the preacher's head, a wooden peg which appeared to belong to the pulpit woodwork. Similar pegs were to be found in other parts of the same church, and in many other city churches. They were used for hanging up the preacher's and the congregation's wigs.

Voting Machines Bring Small Part of Purchase Price

City of Denver Gets $336 for Apparatus that Originally Cost $112,500

DENVER, Nov. 5 (AP)—The city of Denver today sold 122 automatic voting machines which had been lying idle for 16 years, for $3 apiece. They brought a grand total of $336. The city paid $112,500 for them.

The machines were sold to Robert Russell of Denver. He said he would probably sell them as junk. When the machines first were put into use under a republican administration, the democrats charged they could be manipulated, obtained an injunction restraining the city from using the machines at the polls. Other citizens followed this action and obtained an injunction restraining the city from paying for the machines.

The Federal Ballot Machine company, from which the machines were bought, transferred the securities which the city had given it to the Home Savings company of Detroit and both brought suit against the city to collect for the machines. The United States supreme court upheld the lower court which decreed that the city must pay for the machines.

The question as to what the science of mathematics shall be said to be has been discussed by philosophers and mathematicians for some 2,000 years, but as yet a generally approved definition has not been formulated. Britain Seeks Support of Allies in Preventing Return of Frederick William

PARIS, Nov. 5 (AP)—Premier Poincare has approved a suggestion of Great Britain that the allies make a joint representation to Holland to prevent former Crown Prince Frederick William from leaving Holland for Germany. Lord Crewe, the British ambassador, communicated the suggestion to M. Poincare this afternoon.

According to a semi-official source, Lord Crewe also impressed on M. Poincare the necessity of instructing all French officials in the Rhineland to maintain strict neutrality toward the separatists.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—In event the former German crown prince attempts to return to Holland to his estate at Oels, upper Silesia, from Wieringen, Holland, where he now is staying, the British government will do nothing to restrain him without first consulting its allies, it was stated today. Government officials seem doubtful regarding the precise action that would be taken to limit Frederick William's movements since the existing treaties deal only with the movements of his father, the former emperor.

If the British government is given definite assurances by Germany that Frederick William will confine himself to Oels and not indulge in overt acts, it is thought possible his departure from Holland would be countenanced.

The strain of entertaining a nation at the White House killed four wives of presidents of the United States. They were Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Fillmore, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Wilson. The whole labor of conducting the social life of the government falls on the president's wife, and democracy, which makes the presidential paler accessible to every respectable caller, imposes a fearful nervous strain.

LAUNDRY SQUAD UPSETS BAKERS

Last Year's Champions Strike Winning Stride in Bowling League Opening Games

The Twin Falls bowling league got under way Monday evening when the Troy laundry team, last year's champions, defeated the Royal Bakery squad two out of three games. The laundry men scored 2442 pins to the Bakers' 2344.

Captain Cubit of the Laundry rolled high score for the evening when he finished the last four frames of the last game with a strike for each frame and ended the game with a victory for the Trojans by a score of 216.

Tritt sent the ball down the alleys for an average of 152 for the evening, just three under that of the mentor of the Laundry team, Cubit, who averaged 185. For the Bakery, Hulihan was the high scorer. His high score came in the last game when he struck 192 and his average was 170.

The first game was to the Bakers by a margin of 33 pins. "Doug" Salmon and Town doing the most of the work for the winners, and Tritt bowling 103 for the Laundry. The clean collar advocates came back strong in the second, however, and the score, 808-848, speaks for the laundry men who staged a rally in the last game but so also did the Laundry men. The Bakers' best didn't seem to bother the Trojans in the least, and they took that, 894-808.

The score:

Troy Laundry:	146	153	168
Boyd	130	142	174
King	119	167	143

FIX WAR DEBTS TO BE PAID TO U. S.

Losses incident to the very existence of a state of war. To this class belong claims by American nationals for refund of premiums paid by them for insurance against the risks of possible loss which never occurred, risks in their very nature uncertain, indeterminate, and too remote to furnish a solid basis on which to rest a claim.

Liability Classified.

Liability against Germany generally, another decision of the commission declared, must be for proximate and not remote acts of her agents or allies.

The commission also emphasized that its function was to assess damages and not provide for payment of American claims.

"The commission is not concerned with the payment by Germany of its financial obligations under the treaty," it was stated. "Its task is confined solely to fixing the amount of such financial obligations."

Final Responsibility.

An administrative decision, made by Umpire Parker and concurred in by American Commissioner Anderson in the face of opposition by German Commissioner Kissenbach, defined broadly German liabilities as a measure to be applied in future detailed consideration in the present as being excepting United States government claims and some others held that Germany should be responsible for:

(A)—All losses, damages or injuries to property of Americans . . . caused by acts of Germany or her agents in the present or past, which were provided that during the period of belligerency, damages with respect to injuries to and death of persons, other than prisoners of war, shall be limited to injuries and deaths of civilians.

(B)—All damages suffered by American nationals during the period of belligerency caused by Germany through any kind of mistreatment of prisoners of war; damage wherever arising to civilian victims of cruelty, violence or maltreatment, . . . extortions, internment or evacuation; damage in Germany or occupied territory; to civilian victims of acts injurious to health by capacity to work or honor . . . or by being forced to labor without just compensation, damage in the form of levies, fines and other similar actions; damage in respect of all property—carried off, seized or destroyed.

Other details of liability also were prescribed in conformance with the treaty of Berlin. In this connection the commission, in a second administrative decision and a unanimous finding, said it was "not concerned with the amount of reparations, such, but only with those of its provisions which have been incorporated by reference into the treaty of Berlin."

GRIDIRON NOTES

Outside of the Rupert-Twin Falls game next Friday and the question of whether Twin Falls will have a game the following week with Burley, there is a great deal of interest in another affair which from dope now indicates will be a real battle. The affair is the Buhl-Filer clash in the west-end city. As it is now both teams have, within the last two weeks, met the powerful Burley squad, including Calabro and Kerschik. Filer took a 30-0 beating on their own field and Buhl got the small end of a 27-0 score on Burley's field last Friday. This, of course, looks as though Buhl had the advantage, but it is a well-known fact that the Wildcats can do about twice as well as the dope shows and, with a 6-0 defeat of last year still vividly before them, they will undoubtedly give the Yellow Jackets just about all that Barry's squad can stand when they meet at Filer's field. After Friday's game the Filer squad will leave with Coach Denman for Boise to witness the Idaho-O. A. C. classic at Boise next Saturday.

Gooding will have a chance to bring the division honors for a chance to meet the Twin Falls team to a triple tie when they meet Burley next week. However, it looks as though Gooding's chances are pretty slim, with a 22-0 defeat in the hands of Filer who was the victim of a 30-0 score two weeks ago by Burley. Then, too, the Gooding squad will meet Burley at Burley.

BUT THEY ALL REALLY CARE

Persons Who Boldly Defy Public Opinion Know That They Must Pay the Penalty.

"I don't give a darn," says someone when reproved for his actions and told that they will not meet the approval of his friends. "I don't give a darn what people think," said a rather well-known actress when she returned from Europe the other day after her domestic affairs had been given a rather thorough airing.

But they do care. We all care what others think of us. We live a group life, and it is natural to want the approval of those around us. If we must part company with them we can do it safely, for ourselves, only when we are convinced that we are right and they are wrong.

Now and then some spoiled favorite, as in the case of the young actress, snaps her fingers in the face of public approval. That is bravado—or the desire for more advertising, suggests the Milwaukee Journal. Usually those who do it are the ones who have had the greatest favors from the public. Now and then two people, readers in the attraction line for the other, defy public opinion. And they pay.

But for most of us the standards of conduct that have been set up are a steadying influence. The desire not to go counter to the approval of our fellows often holds us to the path when we are sorely tempted to step aside. And it is well that it does. The "don't-give-a-darn" policy is dangerous ground.

LANDMARK OF MAINE COAST

Mystery of the Old "Powder House" at Hallowell Never Yet Has Been Solved.

Founded on the immovable rocks that this time-honored landmark, the old Hallowell powder house, overlooking the little city nestling beneath some of Maine's most beautiful hills.

This old brick structure has its one mysterious door barred with iron and carved with calligraphic signs that register its visitors of over a century. No trace has ever been found of the erection of this little building, which has stood for two centuries as a silent sentinel over a peaceful and law-abiding community.

It is said that when Peter Clark took his one rude cart, which he and his father and brave wife had brought with them from their Massachusetts home in 1702, and turned it upside down on the banks of the river for their first shelter, with their one child, the powder house on the heights was standing there exactly as we see it now. Its origin and architects are unknown and unaccounted for and a deep mystery will always prevail around its existence. It is a landmark annually visited by hundreds who have heard of its silent vigil on the rocky heights of the Kennebec valley.

The name powder house was given to it because it has always been used as a depository for the highly combustible ingredients of powder and dynamite and from it has been given the name of the rocky ledge, Powder House hill, adjoining it—Lewiston Journal.

DENY CLAIM FOR DAMAGES

Holders of Notes and Mortgages Given by Purchasers of Bank of Hanken Demur to Cross Complaint.

Objection on the grounds that "it cannot be determined how the defendants were damaged" is raised in demurrer filed Monday to the cross-complaint in the suit of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, H. E. Haggarty and J. S. Russell against Oscar Tveon, Dan and Myrtle Tveon and Thomas Iverson, the Overland National Bank of Boise, National Surety company and Actua Casualty company.

Claim to $50,000 damages is asserted by the defendant Iversons in their cross-complaint. They ask also for cancellation of about $13,000 in notes and mortgages which they say they gave to the plaintiff bank as the purchase price of the controlling interest in January, 1922, in the Bank of Hanken, which closed its doors the following December.

The demurrer further declares that the cross complaint "fails to state facts sufficient to constitute an affirmative defense or cause of action."

All this is matter for local pride, and for easy in less fortunate places...

Some of it, no doubt, is elite; but that cannot be all: Much must have been done by human agencies...

MAGNUS AND OAL (From the Milwaukee Sentinel) Senator Magnus Johnson's own account of his visit to President Coolidge makes remarkably pleasant reading.

The president told me about his ancestry when I called on him to talk about the farmers' problems, said Mr. Johnson.

The disclosure of genealogical information by the president and the discovery of consanguinity mentioned by Mr. Johnson was indeed a gratifying incident and may have its political value.

It is possible that the fiery Minnesota will entertain for "Cousin Cal" a more friendly sentiment than he might cherish toward a president of different lineage and that the warmth of family affection may fend him from the assaults of the chief executive which his admirers fondly expect him to launch as soon as the senator is called to order.

The part of Mr. Johnson's narrative, however, that will appeal most strongly to so much of the American sense of humor as has not been strangled by the events of the last few years, for the senator's statement that when he talked about farmers' troubles the president came right back at him with a full and frank disclosure of family history.

It is an interesting fact, Mr. Borah replies the president, with the most enquiring air, that Columbus discovered America in 1492 and that the Pilgrims Fathers, who sought on this continent freedom to worship God, landed at Plymouth and endured great hardships with exemplary fortitude.

Can the slightly dazed appearance of some states at the emergency from the presidential presence be attributed to something of that sort? We wonder.

NEW NAMES TO OLD FACES BY DADDY

CHAPTER I. The Missing Chickens. JACK woke Janet up early in the morning.

"What do you think?" he shouted. "Another chicken is gone from the henhouse."

Another chicken Janet quickly counted on her fingers. The missing five chickens that had vanished from the henhouse in two weeks.

"I counted the chickens last night when I looked them up," said Jack. "There were 21 chickens in the coop then. Now I find only 20."

"Are you sure you shut and locked the door?" she asked Jack. "Yes," answered Jack. "And it was shut and locked when I came out this morning."

"Perhaps there is a hole in the henhouse," said Janet. "I have looked for a hole, but I can't find any," said Jack.

"I don't know," said Janet. "Perhaps we shall find some hole here."

But they did not find any hole when they searched the inside of the henhouse. There, too, they found an empty box against the side of the henhouse, but they paid no attention to it. If they had moved it, they might have found something.

"What have I have to get a detective to find where our lost chickens have gone," said Jack.

"Where shall we get a detective?" asked Janet.

"Well, in the village," replied Jack. "Let us go there and ask."

"Where are you going so bright and early in the morning?" asked Daddy Dog.

"We are going to the village to get a detective to catch the thief who is stealing our chickens," answered Jack.

"Well, I am a pretty good detective myself, and I am of common sense for a dog. Perhaps, if I use my nose and my common sense, I can find who is robbing your henhouse."

Jack and Janet thought that might be a good idea. If they couldn't find a dog detective, a dog detective should do as well.

So they led Daddy Dog back to the henhouse.

Accompanied her father on his expeditions. An outdoor girl.

"Who is that man at the piano?" she whispered. "Do you know him?"

"As a matter of fact, I do," said Billie. "His name is Hignett. Why?"

"I met him on the subway not long ago," Jack said. "He looks like a miserably poor little fellow, how miserable."

At this moment their conversation was interrupted. Eustace Hignett, pulling himself together with a painful effort, raised his hands and struck a crashing chord; and, as he did so, there appeared through the door at the rear of the room a young girl at the sight of which the entire audience started convulsively with a feeling that a worse thing had befallen them than even they had looked for.

The figure was richly clad in some scarlet material. Its face was a grimy affair, and it wore a most objectionable, what seemed a horrible gait. It advanced toward them, smoking a cigar.

"Hullo, Ernest," it said. And then it seemed to pause expectantly, as though desiring some reply. Dead silence reigned in the saloon.

My wife can never make up her mind which piece to choose from a box of candy. From the care and thought she gives this operation, you'd think she was drawing lots for the Hank of England.

"No, I didn't," she said. "Oh, you didn't? I thought you did!" He looked at her wistfully.

There was a tap at the door. Sam sat up dizzily. He had just all count of time.

"Who's that?" "I have a note for you, sir."

"It was the level voice of J. B. Midgley, the steward. Stewards besides being the civilities and most obliging body of men in the world, all have soft and pleasant voices.

"A note, sir." Sam jumped up and switched on the light. He went to the door and took the note from J. B. Midgley, who, his mission accomplished, retired in an orderly manner down the passage.

"Please come up to the top deck. I want to speak to you."

"I don't know if you see anything wrong with the letter, but the way Sam looked at it was that, for a first letter, it might have been longer and perhaps a shade warmer.
