

PART OF U. S. IN DEBT PROJECT UNDETERMINED

Negotiations Between Diplomats on Reparations Conference Still Secret; Expect Developments Momentarily

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Final decision as to whether the United States will find it possible to participate in an expert inquiry into the reparations situation limited to the present capacity of Germany to meet her obligations apparently still awaits completion of conversations between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Jusserand.

There were no further developments in relation to the project in Washington today so far as known. The situation was said authoritatively to be unchanged where it was last night when the French ambassador left the state department after his second interview with Mr. Hughes for the purpose of explaining Premier Poincaré's attitude.

The embargo upon discussion here by government or diplomatic officials of the exchange between the secretary and the ambassador was not lifted in any way. It was learned, however, that officials expect definite developments any moment. The interpretations generally placed upon the expedition have the further instructions to the ambassador from his government, necessary before the Washington administration could decide whether it would approve of the calling of a conference restricted as desired by the French premier.

In quarters where there probably is definite knowledge as to the details of the Hughes-Jusserand exchange it was said that the French and American viewpoints still were far apart. It was said the notion of "present capacity" as used by the French government in the negotiations between Paris and London is not clear to the Washington government. Presumably the French foreign office has been asked for further details as to the specific things the proposed committee of experts could or could not inquire into under that language.

Hughes Meets Envoys.
Pending completion of the conversations with the French ambassador Secretary Hughes talked today with officials from the British, Belgian and Italian embassies who called at his office. It was diplomatic day at the state department, the day of each week in which diplomats may expect to see the secretary without special appointments. It was the ultimate decision as to whether an invitation for American participation in an expert inquiry shall be sent, rests with the state government. The result of the present conversations in Washington undoubtedly will determine their action in that regard. Should the conversations here reach a point where Secretary Hughes finds it necessary to indicate to the French government that he can see no useful purpose to be served by the creation of a committee to cooperate under the limitations set by France, there is no question, but that the proposal to send a formal invitation would be dropped by the allies. In that case the final decision rests with Washington and evidently is dependent upon further advices from Paris.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Water Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and headache. By all means, have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

CHILDREN ARE INJURED
SEATTLE, Nov. 8 (AP)—Twenty-two Sunday school children were injured, two perhaps fatally, when three automobiles carrying them to Aberdeen, Wash., from a picnic at Copalis beach, 20 miles south-west of Aberdeen, went over a 20-foot bank last night, according to advices received today.
The accident was blamed to a dense fog. The cars were said to have turned over throwing the children out or catching them in the wreckage.

BANK RATE RAISED.
STOCKHOLM, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Swedish bank rate was raised today to 2-1/2. The dollar exchange in the latter part of October from 37 1/2 to 38 1/2. The dollar today was 37 5/8.

Suspect Beans Drew Poison from Ground

Three Persons Died from Eating Canned Food; Soil to Be Placed Under Test by Chicago Scientists

OMAHA, Nov. 8 (AP)—A sample of Nebraska soil from Morrill, Neb., whether three persons recently died from eating home preserved beans, has been sent for examination to the United States public health service at Chicago, to determine if botulinum poison germs were drawn into the bean plant from the soil.

This was learned today when Dr. J. D. Case, superintendent of the state department of health and welfare announced that examination of the beans at the University of Nebraska laboratory at Lincoln had disclosed presence of botul poison, which Dr. Case said quite likely was drawn from the ground.

DIVISION OF TERRITORY CLAIMED NATURAL MOVE

Governor Bone Declares Formation of New Alaskan State Was Logical and Followed Harding's Predictions

SEATTLE, Nov. 8 (AP)—The verdict of voters of the Alaska panhandle Tuesday in favor of separating south-western Alaska from the rest of the territory in view of statehood for southeastern Alaska, was "perfectly natural and logical," Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, who is here on his way from Washington, D. C., to Juneau, the capital of the territory, declared today.

Governor Bone said that the election had come about largely because the late President Harding had declared here on his return last August from a tour of the northern territory that southeastern Alaska could be turned to statehood.

"The expression of the voters," added Governor Bone, "was based on the argument that southeastern Alaska's resources and interests are different from those of other sections. Another argument was the appointment of representation in the territorial legislature. Each of the four divisions of Alaska has two senators and four representatives, southeastern Alaska comprises one division, and while it has the bulk of the population, has only one-fourth of the representation."

VETERINARIAN FINDS JAW MARSHAL TOWN

MARSHAL TOWN, Iowa, Nov. 8 (AP)—In performing an operation on a horse, Dr. Milton Russell of Des Moines, veterinarian, discovered that what was supposed to be a fistula on one of the animal's shoulders was in reality a dermoid cyst which contained a completely formed lower jaw, having 24 teeth, teeth, extended back under the shoulder blade.

The horse, a four-year-old gelding, had developed lameness and it was to cure the supposed fistula that the operation was performed.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients.

Willis wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—adv.

Two Convicted for Upbraiding Teacher

Patrons of Melon Valley School Found Guilty Under New Application Here of Law

Idaho law, which makes it a misdemeanor to upbraid and abuse a teacher in the presence of her pupils, is believed to have been applied for the first time in Twin Falls county in the case of Asa Buhl and J. E. B. Turner, patrons of the Melon Valley district north of Buhl, who were convicted Thursday by a jury in probate court. The verdict of conviction was returned after a few minutes' deliberation. Judge O. P. Duvall announced that judgment would be pronounced next Tuesday. Under the law a maximum of six months' jail term and a $500 fine may be imposed.

Testimony was admitted by the court to show that Buhl and Turner appeared in the Melon Valley school and addressed the teacher, Miss Lucille Husted, in regard to trouble which their sons had had on the school grounds. Testimony offered by the prosecution showed that the Buhls and Turners entertained a grievance against school directors. The complaint in the case was signed by a member of the school board.

JEROME WOMAN VICTIM OF AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Mrs. Flora Garrison Drowns in Irrigation Canal when Car Leaves Bridge; Bright Lights Blamed

JEROME, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Flora Garrison was drowned Sunday night at 9 o'clock in an irrigation canal, when an automobile in which she and her husband were riding plunged from a bridge into the water. Mrs. Garrison, driving, was trying to turn out for an advancing automobile, and, blinded by the headlights, turned his car too far to one side. The machine plunged through the railing of the bridge and overturned in the canal, pinning the woman underneath. The accident happened four miles southeast of Jerome. The Garrisons were on the way home from a Sunday trip. A third car approaching gave assistance to the Garrisons, lifting the automobile from the canal. Three doctors tried for more than two hours to restore Mrs. Garrison, but all efforts were futile. Some ribs were found broken, but the opinion of the physicians was that death had been caused by drowning. Mr. Garrison sustained a few minor bruises. The shock of his wife's death, however, kept him confined to bed Monday. The occupants of the car with the blinding lights did not stop to give help, but disappeared rapidly in the darkness. Besides her husband, two sons and a daughter survive Mrs. Garrison. The family have been residents of the North Side tract for seven years.

One Acre in Poultry Pays Minidoka Farmer

Hyrum J. Wells has demonstrated that poultry can be made a paying proposition on a 1-acre chicken farm, says the Reclamation Record. In January, 1919, Mr. Wells bought 1 acre of land near Burley, on the Minidoka project, Idaho, for $650 down and $25 a month for the balance of $1250 was paid with interest at 8 per cent. He built a dwelling house, chicken house for 25 chickens, and a one-cow stable. In December, 1920, he was injured and had to give up his job at the sugar factory. At that time he had 16 hens and a rooster and a very lame buck. His last pay check was invested in 300 White Leghorn chickens, which he sold for 140 pullets and 160 fryers. The latter brought him $50 in three months. He had the pullets were laying. Mr. Wells says that in August, 1922, he had his place laid out for fenced chicken light, with a garden fence separately, that he raises a fine vegetable garden, with all the strawberries and raspberries he can raise, and that he has hen coops and yards for 1000 hens. In addition he has a stable that will accommodate two horses and two cows, a hay yard for five tons of hay, a good buggy shed and a buggy, and as comfortable a bungalow as one could wish. He has two hogs and usually puts up about 600 pounds of pork each week, and sells a bucket of cream each week. Fresh eggs are delivered every day to the city for five cents, and five cents a dozen more than the stores charge. As Mr. Wells expresses it: "We no longer live on the farm, and the Leghorn hen has done it."

APPEALS TO COURT FROM RULING ON BANK CLAIM

Holder of Certificate in Bank of Hansen Contest Decision Belonging Claim to Lower Class

Attempt to alter terms and conditions of a written contract while admitting the existence of such contract, is charged against E. W. Porter, state commissioner of the State of Idaho, by Warner, liquidation agent for the Bank of Hansen, by H. E. Hemingway in an appeal filed in district court here from order of the state court. The order in question is alleged to have been issued in respect to Hemingway's claim of $2500 and interest on certificate of deposit in the Hansen bank. The claim is in class 3 and allowed under class 4. It is stated, come last in order of settlement. The instrument on which the claim is founded, according to the claimant's assertion, is a negotiable instrument which he obtained from the original payee. No contract with the payee, he argues, could set up against the indorsee. The appeal to the court was taken by the claimant through his attorney, S. D. Lowe, Burley.

SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams Telephone 596

Mrs. C. E. Booth entertained the Luncheon club on Thursday. The center for the table was a low red bowl filled with red verbenas. The living-room was most attractive with pink chrysanthemums. Bridge followed the dinner to the high chairs. Being won by Mrs. E. A. Reed. Thirteen members were in attendance.

The Woman's Council of the First Christian church met at the home of Mrs. W. L. Anderson on Thursday afternoon. During the business session plans were completed for the bazaar to be given to be held Thursday, November 23, in the church parlors. Mrs. W. S. Parish's division was in charge of the program. Mrs. Heinrich had a paper on "Christian Union" and Mrs. Vivian Raines Cochran rendered a piano solo. A paper prepared by Mrs. Eddie George was read by Mrs. E. O. Raines. Rev. Mr. Burke spoke on "Christian Union." A social hour followed during which refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. L. Warren was hostess to the Episcopal Guild on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. C. C. Higgins, who led in prayer. Reports of the various committees on the bazaar and dinner were given. There was a social hour and dainty refreshments were served.

The Daughters of the American Revolution will meet next Monday, November 12, with Mrs. Oliver Harstad.

Mrs. William J. Taylor entertained with a luncheon on Wednesday for her husband's mother, Mrs. Amanda Taylor, in honor of her 94th birthday. The centerpieces for the table was a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers picked from the flower garden raised by the honored guest. Those present in addition to the guest of honor and the hostess were Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Renfro, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Riggs and Miss Devan. Mrs. Taylor has made her home with her son for several years and is very active, having just completed a large rug, toning and sewing all the rage and doing the braiding unassisted.

The Methodist Women's Home Missionary society met in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. C. E. Winning led the devotions and the singing. Mrs. T. E. Warner reported of the organization of a Queen Esther circle in Rupert. It was moved and seconded that the society meet in the church Tuesday, November 13, to sew for the needy. Mrs. Personius had charge of the program, the subject being "Saving Young Bodies." Mrs. John Bolton spoke on "Work Among Migrant Labor" and Mrs. Haviland on "Domestic Science in Our Industrial Homes." A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. A. L. Oulund and a piano solo by Ray Personius. Mrs. J. E. White's singing served refreshments to about 65 members and friends.

The Wayside club met with Mrs. Clara Norris Wednesday with Mrs. Givens assistant hostess. After the business session a paper written by Mrs. Carrie Harper White on "Farm Women" was read. The remainder of the afternoon was spent with sewing and a general social time and refreshments were served. Fifteen members were present. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Hulda Champlin.

Mrs. Walter Miller was hostess to the Meator club on Wednesday, November 17. Eighteen members were present to roll call with current events. Miss Marie Brady was a guest of the club. The paper sent out by the rural federated clubs, "War Must Be Overlaid," was read by Mrs. C. L. Smith. A musical romance was enjoyed and delicious refreshments served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Rettig. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Williams, Wednesday, November 21. Roll call to be answered with quotations appropriate to Thanksgiving.

YOU CAN'T GUESS WHERE IT WENT?

We will tell you—it has a good home now.

Those kickers who entered a protest about having to look at it on the street can look at the vacant spot. Those who want to see the big lump again up to Saturday night can see it in its new home in Woolworth's Store.

We have instructors at SCHRAMM-JOHNSON DRUG STORE, or the corner of DETWEILER COAL YARD and at the WOOLWORTH STORE all day Saturday who will tell you how to get 6 tons of coal with very little effort. We also have a Sale on Flour and Coal on the same day.

separate and distinct points in support of Boy Scout work, all of which are worth more than passing consideration.

Categorically, here they are:

Mayor Rhad L. Hodgins: The Boy Scout movement provides the best remedy so far devised for the cure of the so-called Red menace of America.
It does this by encouraging a rich vein of clean, loyal and patriotic citizens when the present Boy Scouts shall be called upon to take up the work where it is of the present generation must lay it down. It brings education in the duties of citizenship to bear upon the problem of radicalism. And education is the only force which can be dependent upon in such a situation.

Judge Oliver P. Duvall: Boy Scout activity has cut down juvenile delinquency in Twin Falls by more than twenty per cent. Strange as it may seem in view of much of the current thought upon the subject, juvenile delinquency has its origin in poverty, and not in luxury. The gratification of the childish love for adventure has saved many a boy from the reform school and will continue to save. I believe in the Boy Scout movement because it makes better boys. The records of the Juvenile court in Twin Falls absolutely prove this.

F. W. Horton of Los Angeles: Men build cities for boys, our own and our neighbors', and any movement which has for its object the care and education of the boy constitutes a service to the city in which we live. The Boy Scout movement is more than a boy movement—it is a big step on the path of civic development, in the benefits of which we all share.

Now that the Boy Scout program is definitely provided for for a year to come it is as well to take stock of the situation. In its last analysis the movement is predicated upon the flat proposition that the American home
as an institution has "broken down";
that it is no longer a smoothly running unit in the education and upbringing of the boy. Because of this weakening of home influence some other influence must be brought to bear if the present crop of youth is to be brought up to par. Primarily, that is the actuating principle of the Boy Scout movement. If in its major sense this premise is not correct then it becomes merely a fad and is not entitled to be dignified as a movement at all.

Now read over again the thoughts expressed above and if you agree with them ask yourself the question whether or not the points referred to are adequately covered by the curriculum of the average home, here or elsewhere.

TRICKY FOX
By DADDY

(When chickens are missing from the locked henhouse, Daddy Dog turns detective to help Jack and Janet find them. He follows the trail of a fox which leads to the banks of a creek near a fox farm.)

CHAPTER IV.

Tricky Fox Laughs.
Tricky Fox laughed at Daddy
Dog. "Tricky Fox was safely home and the wire fence of the fox farm and he knew Daddy Dog could not get at him. That is why he dared to laugh.

"Arf! Are you looking for someone?" barked Tricky Fox with a grin.
"Woof! I am looking for the thieving fox who stole the chickens from the henhouse of Jack and Janet," snarled Daddy Dog.

Tricky Fox grinned more broadly.
"Arf! And why are you looking here?" he asked.
"Because I followed the scent of the fox to the creek in the ravine below," answered Daddy Dog.

"Arf! Arf!" laughed Tricky Fox. "And why didn't you follow it further?"
Daddy Dog did not like to answer that question. He had not followed the scent farther because it had ended at the water's edge.

"Woof! I believe you are the chicken thief," snarled Daddy Dog, looking straight at Tricky Fox.
"Arf! Arf! Aren't you the wise old dog," jeered Tricky Fox. "How could I be a chicken thief when I am shut up securely in this fox farm?"

That question seemed to settle matters. Jack and Janet, looking at the high and tight fence, agreed that it was not strong enough to hold thousands of foxes. They felt they must look elsewhere for the chicken thief.
But Daddy Dog was not so easily battered.

"You look like a chicken thief," barked he at Tricky Fox. "And you look as though you might be shy enough to find a way to get out of the fox farm."

"Thank you for the compliment," answered Tricky Fox.
"And if you are clever enough to find a way out of the fox farm, I am clever enough to find a way in," blintered Daddy Dog. "And when I get in I'll make short work of you."

"Arf! Arf! Will you now?" sneer-

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"
By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband is always planning to get to bed early—and never does.

Almost every evening after dinner
he says: "Well, this'll be a good night to sleep. Let's read a little and then go to bed about 9 o'clock."

This apparently makes him feel that he's done his best to get a good night's sleep and he then prepares to sit up until midnight. I, however, about half past 10, I remind him that it's getting late,
he makes some remark about people who always want to go to bed with the chickens, and goes on reading.

He's a great believer in plenty of sleep, he tells everybody. He even goes so far as to attribute the great amount of work he can handle to the long, sound sleep he gets every night.

But he doesn't start to bed before midnight any oftener than a musical comedy star. And the nearest he ever comes to a "long night's rest" is when he tells me that we certainly must get to bed good and early tomorrow night.

FOUR FREIGHT TRAINS DAILY MOVING CROPS

Short Line Doubles Service on Twin Falls Branch to Meet Season's Requirements; Traffic Sets New Mark

Special freight service on the Twin Falls branch, effective this week, has been doubled by the Oregon Short Line and under the new schedule four freight trains daily are plying the line between Huhl and Minidoka, carrying Twin Falls' farm products to outside markets.

The new schedule simplifies service inaugurated some six weeks ago when an extra freight train was run from Twin Falls to Huhl. Two freight crews are employed under the new schedule and each train makes two trips daily over the branch line, leaving simultaneously from Huhl and Minidoka in the morning and making the return trip the same day.

Abundance of cars for all shipments is maintained by the Oregon Short Line branch line points, according to statement of the railway agents here.

Runs Into Big Figures.
Two hundred and nineteen carloads of farm products were moved out of Twin Falls during the month of October, according to records of the Short Line office here, and during the last seven days of October a total of 331 carloads of farm products was forwarded from here.

Outgoing shipments from Twin Falls during the first week of November included 37 carloads of beans, 28 carloads of apples, 54 carloads of potatoes, 32 carloads of sugar and nine carloads of lettuce. Apples and potatoes, during this period moved out at the rate of 32 and 25 carloads daily.

Railway agents here, referring to records showing that 209 carloads of beans were forwarded from Twin Falls during the months of September and October, estimated that a little less than one-half the total crop had been moved. Outgoing movement of beans is continuing at the rate of five carloads daily.

Sets New Mark.
Twin Falls freight movement set a new high mark in the month of October, records showing a total of 325 carloads forwarded, and 1015 carloads received.

The first carloads of canned pineapple and coffee ever received in Twin Falls arrived during the month. 28 carloads of automobiles were received in one day, records show that a total of 87 carloads of automobiles had been received here during the first 10 months of this year, and that only 37 carloads of automobiles were received during the entire year of 1922.

Record for Month.
The itemized record of freight forwarded from and to Twin Falls during October, is as follows:

	Carloads	Tons
Beans	146	74
Beets	14	7

Pledges Generous Support for Girl

Lodge Committee Head Tells Hazel Lansberry Friends Here Will Meet Needs

Friends here of Miss Hazel Lansberry, Twin Falls girl, who is now a patient at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, for treatment of a disease expected to restore her to entire health, will see to it that she need not leave the clinic until all possible risk of relapse is eliminated, according to a campaign for funds to meet all expenses of the treatment.

The goal for the campaign has been set at collection of $500, and already more than $700 has been received, Mr. Bolton said.

"We just must go over the top Saturday," he added.

Many of contributors to the fund are on display in the Boyd building where Mr. Bolton expects to spend Saturday to meet persons who wish to assist in the undertaking.

Miss Lansberry's appreciation of the sympathy of friends here, as manifested in their support of the benefit effort, is expressed in her letter, written under date of November 2, from St. Mary's hospital, where she is a patient, recovering after an operation and preparing for a second operation.

"I am very anxious to hear how the carnival turned out," she said. "I hope it was a success. I wish to thank you for the packages, and I wish there were some way I could let the people of Twin Falls know how I appreciate their kindness. Do you think I could have a piece put in the papers with my name signed to it, telling them how much I am indebted to you?"

"I am feeling fine now. Expect I will get up in a wheel chair in about two weeks. The doctor told me today he was afraid I was not strong enough to stand and my second operation so soon after the first one. He said if it were possible, it would be better for me if I could wait until complete recovery from the first operation. He said I was running a risk in having both ankles in casts, as I would be apt to twist about and in that way injure the bones. If I know how I appreciate your going to be a failure."

"I am going to leave the decision to you. I won't be here more than three months, and possibly not that long. Three months is the longest, even if I wait until I have recovered from one operation before I have the other."

In reply to this letter, Mr. Bolton wired Thursday evening the following message:

"The carnival was a success. Stay in the hospital as advised by the surgeon. If necessary, stay four months. Don't run any risks. You are there to get all the Mayo clinic can give you. We stand ready to cover our part and meet every need and hospital expense. We expect to go over the top Saturday through the generosity of your Twin Falls friends."

400 MEMBERS IS CHAMBER'S GOAL

Objective for Expansion Campaign Is Set at Meeting of Executive Committee

Enrollment of 400 members is the goal set up by the campaign executive committee at a luncheon meeting Thursday, for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce expansion campaign. The committee expressed the belief that a membership of 400 is the least with which the chamber of commerce can be made truly representative of the community and, at the same time, be provided with sufficient funds to undertake important tasks with which it is confronted.

The committee rejected the three-year plan and adopted the regular plan of five years, which laid stress upon the plural membership plan. The committee report stated:

Resources for the chamber of commerce are derived from the membership dues. The rate is uniform, $25 a year for each membership. That rate is in conformity with the results of experience all over the country, 85 to 90 per cent of the successful civic-commercial organizations having adopted it. The actual cost of conducting an efficient chamber of commerce is close to $15 a year per member. The margin between the "overhead" and $25 is the least amount the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce should have for the initiation and prosecution of community undertakings.

Those who will benefit most will be expected to subscribe to the plural membership plan. Under this plan corporations, firms, individuals and others are asked to subscribe for a number of memberships and assign them to young men in their employ, or to other persons in whom they are interested. The full voting power and full membership rights go with these assignments.

"The extension of the acquaintance of the organization to whom a membership is assigned and his development from closer contact through the organization with business men of the city, his desire to know in and take part in the activities of the city, is of distinct value to the employer."

The assignment of such membership to those whose active interest in public affairs is vital to the city is also a feature of supreme importance to the chamber of commerce.

The plural plan permits the larger firm and wealthier individuals to pay their proportionate share of the cost of maintenance, according to their investment in the community, or the direct benefits to be derived from the activities of the chamber of commerce, yet every man's dues is $25 and, therefore, the plural plan, carrying with it individual membership by assignment, is far more preferable and to a success in actual practice.

Basque Cleared of Blame for Shooting

José Basterrochea, Held on Felony Charge Following Disturbance, Is Freed

Joseph Basterrochea was Thursday released by Probate Judge O. P. Duvall following a preliminary hearing on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, growing out of the shooting September 30 of Modesta Arrieta, in a disturbance in a hotel here. Arrieta was shot with his own gun, according to evidence offered at the hearing. He did not put in an appearance at the hearing.

Witnesses for the state at the hearing were Juan Uriola, proprietor of the hotel in which the disturbance occurred and Mrs. Uriola. Both testified that Basterrochea was followed into the hotel by three other Basques, one of whom was Arrieta, and that the three men opened the hostilities. Two shots were fired, the witnesses said, after Arrieta drew his revolver and while Basterrochea held Arrieta's arm. The second shot took effect in Arrieta's breast.

Basterrochea had been at liberty on $1000 bond following his arraignment the day after the shooting. He was represented at the hearing by E. M. Wolcott, the case for the prosecution being conducted by the prosecuting attorney's office.

Jack Rabbit Upsets Eagle's Plan for Meal

Miles Cannon, field reclamation commissioner, says the Reclamation Record, vouches for the truth of this story:

On the Flathead (Indian) project, Montana, recently, a jack rabbit was blissfully enjoying the scenery when a bald eagle spied the jack and decided that here was his meal waiting for him. The jack saw the eagle in time and raced away with the huge bird in hot pursuit, with talons ready to grasp his prey. At the psychological moment, however, the jack doubled to the right and the eagle swooped on for 20 yards before he was able to make the turn.

Again the eagle swooped to the attack and again at the critical moment the jack swerved and fooled his pursuer. Nothing daunted, the eagle tried a third time. Circling above the jack the eagle diverged with talons spread. Again the jack stepped on the accelerator. As the eagle swooped above his quarry, the king of the air dropped low over the jack, the great outspread wings preventing a side-wise jump. It looked bad for the jack, but as the eagle poised for the final act in the drama, the jack suddenly

Moderation Seen in Temperature Range

Moderation in temperature was reported Thursday evening at the government weather observer's station here, reading of the thermometer at 8:30 o'clock showing mercury standing at 40 degrees. Maximum temperature for the day was recorded at 55 degrees, a decline of eight points under the preceding day's high, and low for the 24-hour period ending Thursday evening was recorded at 22 degrees, the same as that of the preceding day.

Weather continued ideal for the autumn season.

bounded in the air like a rubber ball, struck the bird a resounding blow below the center of the right wing, and turned him completely over in a cloud of dust.
