

WOULD EXPAND DAIRY INDUSTRY

Idaho Technical Institute Proposes Offering Short Course to Meet New Demands

POCATELLO, Nov. 17 (AP)—With a view to assisting in expansion of the dairy industry, Idaho Technical Institute will offer six weeks course in dairying beginning January 7, provided there is evidence of sufficient demand for the course. The work will be in charge of an instructor who has had a lifetime experience with dairy cows, and will include judging, feeding, record keeping, testing and practical work with the 80 cows at the Tech farm. Persons interested in the course are requested to communicate with C. E. Fraser, president of the institute.

Direct reports from five counties in southern Idaho indicate a phenomenal increase in the cheese industry in this state, says an announcement issued by the institute. The fact that Kraft Brothers of Chicago have been purchasing 700,000 pounds of cheese from this state is evidence that other counties are making rapid progress in this line of production.

Professor Poultny of the Idaho Tech reports that the average price received by Idaho producers of cheese is being favored by Chicago 25c a pound. Producers from this Wisconsin with the same net price as Wisconsin and other Middle West producers notwithstanding the cost of transportation. Within the past week shipments have been made to San Francisco. Cheese factory managers in this state report that Kraft Brothers are planning to establish storage facilities in this state as soon as the rapidly increasing production warrants it.

Idaho's chief need, according to Professor Poultny, is for better dairy cows over winter. "A good stable," says Professor Poultny, "will pay for itself in a year."

THEATRES
SPECIAL FEATURES TO BE SEEN IN MARQUEE SHOW
Seldom has such interest in the theatrical engagement in this city been manifested as that which surrounds the advent of the Marcus Show, coming to the Lavington Wednesday, November 22, according to Howard Sablin, manager of the theatre. So many demands have been made for advance reservations that the management of the playhouse has decided to accept and fill mail orders. Mr. Sablin announces that orders accompanied by remittances and stamped envelope will be filled in the order of their receipt. It is believed that this method will greatly simplify the advance sale at the Majestic Pharmacy when the sale opens next Saturday.

The Marcus Show is chock full of spectacular features. There are over a score of different scenes in the big extravaganza, which comes to the Lavington Theatre. A special train is required to transport the company and production. There are even more costume changes than different scenes. It is claimed that over $100,000 has been invested in expanding this attraction.

FAMOUS MEN FILMED
Famous characters of history, all as well known today as they were in their own time, come to life in Pola Negri's new Paramount picture, "The Spanish Dancer," a Herjbert Brenon production adapted from the book and play, "Don Juan" by the author, which comes to the Idaho theatre next Monday.

Two hundred and fifty minor players take part in the big gypsy extravaganza. A strong cast has been provided. Besides Miss Negri, those who take part include Antonio Moreno, who June Mathis and Beulah Marie Dix from the book and play, "Don Juan" by the author, which comes to the Idaho theatre next Monday.

Other members of the Pacific Co-operative Poultry Producers that the producers of this region could be much better served by a strictly local organization.

ORPHEUM HAS BIG FEATURE
Halperin's latest satire-comedy, "Ten with a Kick," is to be the featured film attraction at the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

This feature is heralded as one of the exceptionally attractive offerings of the season. It contains a cast of 27 persons, many of whom are well-known stars, and is characterized as the most "daringly different" picture ever made.

Brilliant dance novelties, dazzling gowns and an appealing plot go to make the picture an unusual one, according to advance notices. Doris May, Creighton Hale, Louise Fazenda and Chester Conklin are enumerated among the featured players.

CAREY AT HIS BEST
Harry Carey in his latest and best picture, "Desert Driven," will be the feature at the Elmo Monday.

MORO OUTLAWS DEFEATED BY MORO CONSTABULARY
MANILA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Advices from the province of Mindanao make the picture an annual one, according to the governor-general's office say the Moro outlaws who have recently been causing disturbances, have scattered into small bands and probably will return to their homes in a few days.

The constabulary in the Moro region is now chiefly concerned with seizing a few small rifles the Moros are believed to have in their possession.

CALDWELL BACK OF POULTRYMEN

Business Men to Finance New Co-operative Egg Marketing Association for Five Counties

CALDWELL, Idaho, Nov. 17.—Business men of Caldwell will finance a co-operative poultry producers' association for southwestern Idaho and eastern Idaho, pledges to this effect being given at a meeting here Thursday of poultrymen from Ada, Canyon, Washington and Payette counties, Idaho, and Malheur county, Oregon.

The meeting adopted suggestion of Idaho members of the Pacific Co-operative Poultry Producers that the producers of this region could be much better served by a strictly local organization.

The plan is to finance on the basis of a $3.00 membership and $20.00 per each one hundred hens, capital stock, the membership fee to be cash and the stock to be paid on the basis of 50 cents per case of eggs for each one hundred hens until the capital stock is paid up.

The business men of Caldwell will finance the association on the basis of stock subscriptions. It was agreed that 100,000 hens would be necessary to constitute sufficient volume to justify the undertaking. If 100,000 hens are signed up, the income will be sufficient to carry the necessary overhead expenses, and to operate on a safe business basis.

There will be no association in the Boise Valley if there are not 100,000 hens signed up in the new organization.

It was agreed by the producers that if there was no marketing association in the Boise Valley there would be no egg market.

CUBS SMOTHER CASTLEFORD'S GRIDIRON TEAM

Junior High School Eleven Defeats West Enders, 66 to 6, Making Consistent Gains Through Line

Twin Falls junior high school took the measure of the Castleford team Saturday afternoon on Lincoln field, 66 to 6. The Cubs were able to gain consistently through the opposing line and the long end runs of Kelly and Owens were responsible for most of the Cubs' scores. Castleford was not able to gain through the Cub line but got away with a number of passes for short gains.

The Castleford score came as the result of a fumbled kick recovered by Hook who raced over the line without opposition because the referee's whistle had blown. The Cubs were offside on the play and Castleford took the gain instead of a penalty which gave them their score.

Thomas and Hook did stellar work for Castleford. Thomas is a hard tackler and was about the only man able to gain at all through the Cub line. The Castleford team put up a hard battle but were outplayed by the scrappy Cubs.

Owens, Kelly, Smith and Frazzelle looked best for the junior high. Owens got away on two 61 and 70-yard runs on touchdowns that were pretty to watch. Kelly circled the ends in nice shape for long gains and Frazzelle was always good for a substantial gain through the line. "Johnny Buns" Vance played his usual stellar game at guard was smashing through the line on every play.

Cubs Start March. Castleford won the first and elected to receive. Frazzelle kicked off short and Castleford, after failing to gain through the line, tried a pass which Frazzelle intercepted and the Cubs started their first march for a touchdown. Kelly made 15 yards around end and Frazzelle hit the line for 8 more; Owens made 15 yards around end and Kelly then raced over for the first score. Frazzelle failed to kick goal, 6-0.

Frazzelle kicked off and Castleford brought the ball back to the 25-yard line. After making a yard around end Castleford fumbled and the Cubs recovered on the 25-yard line. Stimpson tore off 11 yards through the line and Frazzelle put it over for the second touchdown. Frazzelle failed to kick goal, 12-0.

Frazzelle kicked off short. After trying the line Castleford completed a beautiful 20-yard pass. They tried the line again but were thrown for a loss and completed a short pass that netted them 2 yards. Thomas then tried a drop kick but it was 20 yards short. Kelly caught it. Again the Cubs started down the field and after Owens made 25 yards around end and Kelly repeated the same performance for a touchdown. Frazzelle kicked the goal, 19-0.

Frazzelle kicked off to the 20-yard line. Castleford was unable to gain and kicked. Owens received the ball on the 30-yard line as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter.
Garrett went in for Smith and Harrison for Sullivan. Frazzelle tossed a pass to Garrett for 12 yards. Frazzelle, Owens and Kelly ripped through the line and around ends for long gains and Frazzelle put it over but failed to kick goal, 25 to 0.

Frazzelle kicked to the 30-yard line and Castleford seemed to stiffen and opened an aerial attack coupled with line bucks that made them their yardage twice in quick succession. But the Cubs found themselves and forced them to kick. Owens received the punt on his own 30-yard line and sprinted the 70 yards for a touchdown. Frazzelle made the try for goal, 32 to 0.

Frazzelle kicked off and started again to gain but a 5-yard penalty for off-side forced them to kick. The Cubs tore through and blocked the kick and recovered the ball on the 30-yard line. After Frazzelle, Owen and Kelly had busted the line for short gains, Owens raced over for another touchdown as Frazzelle kicked off and started again to gain but a 5-yard penalty for off-side forced them to kick. The Cubs tore through and blocked the kick and recovered the ball on the 30-yard line. After Frazzelle, Owen and Kelly had busted the line for short gains, Owens raced over for another touchdown as Frazzelle kicked off and started again to gain but a 5-yard penalty for off-side forced them to kick. The Cubs tore through and blocked the kick and recovered the ball on the 30-yard line.

the half ended. Frazzelle failed to kick goal, 38 to 0.

Third Period.
Frazzelle kicked off and Castleford immediately opened up on passes completing the first one for 30 yards, but Owens intercepted the next one and raced 65 yards for another touchdown. Frazzelle made the try 45-0.

Frazzelle kicked off and Castleford got away around end for a 20-yard gain. They completed another short pass but failed to make their yardage on line bucks. Thomas kicked and the whistle blew. Owens fumbled the punt and Hook recovered and raced over the goal without opposition for a touchdown. The Cubs were offside and the score counted. Thomas failed to kick goal, 45 to 6.

Castleford kicked off. Kelly tore around end and Thomas made a nice tackle in stopping him. A pass, Frazzelle to Smith, netted 10 yards. Kelly and Owens made 10 more and Stimpson went over for another counter. Frazzelle kicked goal, 52 to 6.

Frazzelle kicked off and Kelly intercepted the first pass Castleford attempted, and raced 35 yards for a touchdown. Frazzelle kicked goal, 59 to 6.

Frazzelle kicked off and Castleford fumbled. The Cubs recovered on the 25-yard line. Sullivan went in for Hinton. Owens and Frazzelle made 10 yards and the quarter ended with the ball on the 15-yard line.

Fourth Period.
Kelly made 5 yards and Frazzelle took the pigskin over. Frazzelle kicked goal, 66 to 6.

Frazzelle kicked off and Castleford ran the ball back to the 35-yard line. O'Neil went in for Kelly. Castleford was forced to kick and O'Neil fumbled. Castleford recovered after a successful pass for 8 yards; Frazzelle intercepted the pass and the Cubs started for another touchdown, but Castleford stiffened and held the Cubs for downs on the 5-yard line. Jewett for Smith. Leiser for Owens. Castleford kicked to the center of the field from behind the goal line and promptly intercepted a Cub pass. Castleford could not gain and were forced to kick. The Cubs were marching toward the goal with line smashes as the game ended.

VANDALS LOSE TO STANFORD BY 17-7 SCORE

Versatile Line-Smashing of Californians Too Much for Brilliant Overhead Plays of Idaho's Fast Grid Team

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP)—Displaying a versatile line-smashing and aerial game, Stanford university battered the University of Idaho team into submission despite the latter's brilliant overhead game and administered the first defeat of the season to the Vandals, with a 17 to 7 score here today.

Stivers' spectacular passes and Fitzke's kicking and field goal kicking made Idaho's game, but it was not sufficient to overcome the persistent line plunging, crisp-cross and delayed back offensive with which Stanford marched down the gridiron.

Long passes gave Stanford their two opportunities for touchdowns in the first and fourth periods, and Cuddeback dropped a place kick over the goal in the third period.

Idaho displayed its greatest strength in the second period when the Vandals marched down the field through Stanford's territory twice, scoring the second time through a short pass.

Fitzke, rangy halfback, was the pivot of Idaho's attack.

Line-up table with columns for Idaho and Stanford players and their positions.

Score by periods: Idaho 0 7 0 0; Stanford 0 7 0 0. Idaho scoring: Touchdown, Fitzke; Stanford scoring: Touchdowns, Nevins and Campbell; points from try after touchdown, Cuddeback 2; goal from field, Cuddeback.

CALIFORNIA CLEARS WAY TO PACIFIC GRID TITLE

University of Washington Meets Defeat at Berkeley; Golden Bears Outplay Husky Invaders Throughout

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP)—The football team of the University of California, champion of the Pacific coast conference for several years, pushed aside the principal obstacle to retaining the title this season, defeating the University of Washington in a hard-fought game of 35,000 persons here today.

The score was low, but California's Golden Bears outplayed the invading Huskies from the north almost throughout the struggle. In the first three periods California unrolled an offensive that could not be checked.

When the Bears' snafu-halfback made a dropkick for the first score in the opening period in the third period, Captain Don Nichols, receiving a forward pass from Dixon, sped around right and for the only touchdown of the game, Evans failed to kick goal.

When the Bears' snafu-halfback made a dropkick for the first score in the opening period in the third period, Captain Don Nichols, receiving a forward pass from Dixon, sped around right and for the only touchdown of the game, Evans failed to kick goal.

The Washington machine, powerful on the line defense, failed to display the offensive strength which its supporters had expected. Washington showed itself inferior to the Bears at inclusions in its costly runs Washington tickers missed.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE AND OREGON AGGIES GO TO THE TACOMA

TACOMA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Luck was with the Oregon football team today in its annual contest with the Washington State college eleven.

The Washington machine, powerful on the line defense, failed to display the offensive strength which its supporters had expected. Washington showed itself inferior to the Bears at inclusions in its costly runs Washington tickers missed.

NEBRASKA WINS FROM STATE FIELD, Ames, Iowa, Nov. 17 (AP)—A lead of 10 points, gained by three touchdowns in the second period, gave Nebraska a lead in today's Ames-Nebraska game which the Cyclones could not overcome, and Nebraska won 26 to 14.

The game was all Nebraska's in the second and third quarters, in which the visitors made all their points, while Ames made the upper hand during most of the first and last periods, scoring twice in the last.

MINNESOTA TAKES IOWA TO TRIMMING, 20 TO 7 MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 17 (AP)—Minnesota's flashy gridiron eleven, playing with a dash that rolled back the years for thousands of "old grads" participating in the homecoming day celebration, downed the hard-fighting Iowa team here today 20 to 7.

It was a game replete with thrills for Gopher followers a fitting finale that marked the passing of historic Northrup field, for next season the Gophers expect to play in their new and larger stadium.

DERBY WINNER GAINS LAURELS IN CLOSE RACE

Zev Noses Out In Memoriam In Most Thrilling Finish in History of American Turf; 40,000 Persons See Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17 (AP)—In what probably was the closest, most thrilling finish in the history of the American turf, Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby and conqueror of Papyrus, reversed his victory in Memoriam score at Latonia two weeks ago by defeating him by a scant nose in a match race at one and one-quarter miles at Churchill Downs today.

The hurricane finish was so close that hardly a spectator in a crowd of 40,000 persons, with the possible exception of Harry F. Sinclair, the winner's official decision, the judges had been posted.

The climax of the race furnished a thrill that set the crowd wild with excitement, as almost every one thought that in Memoriam had triumphed as the two great three-year-old rivals floundered into the wire, racing neck and neck with scarcely an inch separating their noses.

The race was won in 2:08 1/2, three and two-fifths seconds slower than the track record for the distance established by Woodtrap in 1921, but Woodtrap did not carry the impost of 125 pounds, but both in Memoriam and Zev carried today.

Zev has won $300,000 as a result of his victory, becoming the greatest money-winning race horse in the world. Owner Sinclair took down $25,000 of today's $100,000 swelling Zev's winnings to $301,074, which showed him ahead of the winners of the two English crickets, Jintings with $291,275, and Donovan with $277,316.

SHOW IN PICTURES. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17 (AP)—Newspaper photographs of the Zev-Memoriam match at Churchill Downs today show the heads of the two horses are so precisely a double, with in Memoriam having a fraction the better of it if anything, that spectators on the finish line contended that in Memoriam's nose was projected farther than Zev's at the line of finish. The newspaper photographs seem to bear out this conclusion.

BORAH PLEDGES AID TO VETERAN

Idaho Senator Will Present Claim of Disabled Twin Falls Man for Compensation

Senator Borah, in response to a letter from S. Hearn Bolton, member of a committee of the Odd Fellows lodge here, accompanied by resolutions adopted by the lodge, has promised his assistance in presenting the claims of William B. Weller of Twin Falls, a disabled former service man, for compensation.

"I had previously taken this matter up last summer in Boise," Senator Borah said in his letter to Mr. Bolton, "but in view of your letter and the accompanying resolutions, I shall be glad to again take the matter up with a view to securing a satisfactory adjustment."

"I want to assure you, Mr. Bolton," the senator's letter continues, "and through you the members of your lodge, I shall be pleased to render any service possible to Mr. Weller—as I stand ready at all times to do anything within my power for the disabled man."

Speedy Relief Urged

Resolutions adopted by the lodge in this connection request that the representatives "to investigate and speedily bring about relief in this needy case, for the reason that there has been great sacrifice and service rendered, not only by the soldier and citizen, but also by several of his brothers who have also given their services to the government." It is further urged that "if necessary, special legislation be enacted in order to adjust this claim in the manner in keeping with the sacrifice and service of a loyal soldier and citizen."

Mr. Weller is now a patient in the veterans' hospital at Boise, where he has received treatment since May 10, 1922. He was twice injured during his period of eight months service in France, once while serving with the army truck and suffering injuries to his leg and shock to his nervous system, and again, and later on the same day, stepping on a nail which penetrated the bottom of his right foot. He volunteered for military service, enlisting in March, 1917, at the age of 21 years, in the coast artillery, in which branch he served until he was honorably discharged in March, 1920.

THE TEN TURKEYS

By DADDY

CHAPTER I

Waiting for Thanksgiving.

THANKSGIVING DAY was near. Jack and Janet were already thinking of stuffed turkey, cranberry sauce and mince pie.

"Let us walk out to Farmer White's farm and see how fat his turkeys have grown," suggested Jack.

Janet was willing. So it was not long before they were traveling a forest path that led to Farmer White's farm at the edge of the woods. They were hurried along by gusty November gale that whirled flocks of dead leaves about them.

With the gale pushing them, they soon reached the farm where the turkeys had been growing big and fat all through the summer and early fall months.

The turkeys were in the poultry yard which had a high wire fence all around it. There were two of them—fine bronze turkeys strutting proudly about with gobbling at each other.

"See how fat they are," cried Janet. "They will make ten big Thanksgiving dinners."

"Gobbler Gobbler Gobbler!" said the turkeys, turning toward the children and glancing at each other. The turkeys did not enjoy that kind of talk.

"How would you like to be a turkey, and have nothing to do but eat and grow?" Janet asked Janet. "I wouldn't want to eat and grow fat so some one else would want to eat me," replied Janet shaking her head.

"Neither would I," replied Jack. "But if I were a turkey I wouldn't be so stupid as to stay shut up in a poultry yard waiting for Thanksgiving to come. I'd use my wings and fly away."

"Like Red-Tailed Hawk, up there in the air?" asked Janet.

The children looked up. High in the air was Red-Tailed Hawk, riding the November gale smoothly and gracefully. He was circling about on a far-well search for food before sailing away on a winter trip to the south.

"I wonder how Red-Tailed Hawk flies without flapping his wings," continued Janet.

"That is easy," said Jack. "He balances himself so the wind holds him up—just like it holds up a kite. If these turkeys would take a lesson from Red-Tailed Hawk, they might learn to use their wings for sailing and go sailing on the gale up over the top of the fence."

The leader of the bronze turkeys.

Jack made a mistake in saying that in hearing of the turkey. For while the turkey were not bright enough themselves to think of using their wings as sails to fly over the fence on the gusty gale, they were shrewd enough to seize an idea when it was given them.

Gobbler Gobbler, leader of the ten bronze turkeys, cocked an eye upward. He watched Red-Tailed Hawk floating about on the wind. He tried his own wings. They had been clipped short. But when the gale caught them it lifted him a foot or two from the ground. It did not lift him high enough to go over the fence, but it encouraged him to keep on trying.

Jack saw what Gobbler Gobbler was doing.

"Hah Gobbler Gobbler is trying to fly," said Jack. "If he had sense enough to climb that ladder to the roof of the poultry house he might get a start in flying that would carry him over the fence."

Gobbler Gobbler did not have sense enough to think up a plan like that, but he did have sense enough to take advantage of Jack's thinking. He fluttered up the ladder which reared against the side of the poultry house and gained the roof.

When he was on the roof Gobbler Gobbler spread his wings and ran against the wind like an airplane getting a start. The gale got under Gobbler Gobbler's wings, and up he went into the air—up high enough to go sailing over the top of the poultry yard fence.

(How Gobbler Gobbler flies into trouble will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

DIGGING THE DOVER TUNNEL

Work Is to Be Pushed From Eight Shafts Sunk in the British Channel.

Our old ideas regarding tunnels are to be turned topsy turvy. It appears by the methods to be adopted in digging the long-discussed and more than once begun, underground and under-sea line of communication between England and France. A tunnel, and more particularly a subaqueous tunnel, has been a human burrow, begun at one end and built.

It has been virtually decided that instead of cutting in from the two shores this tunnel is to be dug from the middle outward, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Plunging down into the chilly waters of the English channel, the greatest engineers ever constructed, the engineers will exclude the sea waters by modern processes that have been developed, and sinking a shaft into the sea bottom will work fore and aft. But even that single shaft is not enough, according to Mr. Tempest, chief engineer of the project, and it is proposed that not less than eight sea shafts shall be used.

If this is done it is the engineer's idea that the dirt and rock dug from the tunnel cutting instead of being carried many miles to a land dump, can simply be blown by compressed air out upon the sea bottom. The whole thing sounds wonderful and it looks as though the tunnel might become an engineering marvel surpassing the Panama canal, the Astman dam, the Tay bridge and other gems of scientific ingenuity.

OPPORTUNITY

In an address to young men employed by the Rock Island Railway, the other day, President Gorman made this striking statement:

"There isn't a man among you who has not a perfect right and a prospect, before very long, of sitting on the other side of this table as one of the staff officers. I say it because every man who does occupy a place of this kind on the Rock Island, at one time or another, was lower down in the ranks than any man who is in this room tonight."

It was a revelation to dozens of young fellows present who had been thinking that promotion was mighty slow and there was little opportunity ahead for them.

The situation depicted is not confined to one railroad nor to one industry. It is not at all uncommon in any field of American business life. Almost any man, in almost any successful business organization, may be surprised if he runs through the personnel and observes how many of those holding important, high-salaried positions have not only risen from the ranks but have risen to their present places within the last five years.

There is no mystery about the process of such promotion. It is, as President Gorman reminded his young men, mainly a matter of "buckling down to business" and forgetting himself in pushing along the big work.

A celebrated American poem represents "opportunity" as coming but once to every man's door. That is false. Opportunity is knocking at every man's door every day, and every hour of every day.

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH McKAY

My husband plays bridge for money. As a pastime it costs his just a little less than riding around in a taxi. About a dollar and a half an hour, I figure it.

The way he plays the game, I don't think anybody would ever call him a gambler. "Philanthropist" is more like the word.

When he sits down to a bridge table they ought to put a subscription blank in front of him instead of a score card. And when it comes to donations, he makes Rockefeller look like the meanest man in the world.

I've tried to get him to give up playing for money, but it's no use. He still thinks he's a master mind at the game. He says his luck will change soon. Maybe it will—but how about his judgment?

Three Men AND a Maid

Billie looked up from her sketching book with a start. It seemed to her that there was a note of anguish, of panic, in that voice. What her father could have found in the drawing room to be frightened at, she did not know, but she dropped her block and hurried to his assistance.

"What is it, father?"

Mr. Bennett had retired within the room when she arrived; and, going in after him, she perceived at once what had caused his alarm. There before her, looking more sinister than ever, stood the lunatic Peters; and there was an ominous bulge in his right coat-pocket which betrayed the presence of the revolver. What John Peters was, as a matter of fact, carrying in his right coat-pocket was a bag of mixed chocolates which he had purchased in Windlehurst. But Billie's eyes, though bright, had no X-ray quality. Her simple creed was that, if John Peters bulged at any point, that bulge must be caused by a pistol. She screamed, and backed against the wall. Her whole acquaintance with John Peters had been one constant backing against walls.

"Don't shoot!" she cried, as Mr. Peters absent-mindedly dipped his hand into the pocket of his coat. "Oh, please don't shoot!"

"What the deuce do you mean?" said Mr. Bennett, irritably.

He hated to have people gibbering around him in the morning.

"Wilhelmina, this man says that you told him you loved him."

"Yes, I did, and I do. Really, really, Mr. Peters, I do!"

"Suffering cats!"

Mr. Bennett clutched at the back of a chair.

"But you've only met him once!" he added almost pleadingly.

"You don't understand, father, dear," said Billie desperately. "I'll explain the whole thing later, when..."

"Father!" ejaculated John Peters feebly. "Did you say 'father'?"

"Of course I said 'father'!"

"This is my daughter, Mr. Peters."

"My daughter! I mean, your daughter! Are—are you sure?"

"Of course I'm sure. Do you think I don't know my own daughter?"

"But she called me 'Mr. Peters'!"

"Well, it's your name, isn't it?"

"But, if she—if this young lady is your daughter, how did she know my name?"

The point seemed to strike Mr. Bennett. He turned to Billie.

"That's true. Tell me, Wilhelmina, when did you and Mr. Peters meet?"

"Why, in—in Sir Malahy Marlowe's office, the morning you came there and found me when I was—talking to Sam."

Mr. Peters uttered a subdued gurgling sound. He was finding this scene oppressive to a not very robust intellect.

"He—Mr. Samuel—told me your name, Miss Milliken," he said dully.

Billie stared at him.

"Mr. Marlowe told you my name was Miss Milliken?" she repeated.

"He told me that you were the sister of the Miss Milliken who acts as stenographer for the gov—for Sir Malahy, and sent me in to show you my revolver, because he said you were interested and wanted to see it."

Billie uttered an exclamation. So did Mr. Bennett, who hated mysteries.

"What revolver? Which revolver? What's all this about a revolver? Have you a revolver?"

"Why, yes, Mr. Bennett. It is packed now in my trunk, but usually I carry it about with me everywhere in order to take a little practice at the Rupert street range. I bought it when Sir Malahy told me he was sending me to America, because I thought I ought to be prepared—because of the Underworld, you know."

A cold gleam had come into Billie's eyes. Her face was pale and hard. If Sam Marlowe—at that moment caviling blithely in his bedroom at the Blue Boar in Windlehurst, washing his hands preparatory to descending to the coffee room for a bit of cold lunch—could have seen her, the song would have frozen on his lips. Which, one might mention, at showing that there is always a bright side, would have been much appreciated by the traveling gentleman in the adjoining room, who had had a wild night with some other traveling gentlemen, and was then nursing a rather severe headache, separated from Sam's penetrating baritone, only by the thickness of a wooden wall.

Billie knew all. And, terrible though the fact is as an indictment of the male sex, when a woman knows all, there is invariably trouble ahead for some man.

There was trouble ahead for Sam Marlowe. Billie, now in possession of the facts, had examined them and come to the conclusion that Sam had played a practical joke on her, and she was a girl who strongly disapproved of practical humor at her expense.

"That morning I met you at Sir Malahy's office, Mr. Peters," she said in a frosty voice. "Mr. Marlowe had just finished telling me a long and convincing story to the effect that you were madly in love with a Miss Milliken, who had jilted you, and that this had driven you off your head, and that you spent your time going about with a pistol, trying to shoot every red-haired woman you saw, because you thought they were Miss Milliken. Naturally, when you came in and called me Miss Milliken, and brandished a revolver, I was very frightened. I thought it would be useless to tell you that I wasn't Miss Milliken, so I tried to persuade you that I was, and hadn't jilted you after all."

"Good gracious!" said Mr. Peters, vastly relieved; and yet—for always there is bitter mixed with the sweet—a shade disappointed. "Then—you don't love me after all?"

"No!" said Billie. "I am engaged to Bream Mortimer, and I love him and nobody else in the world!"

EVENTS IN EUROPE ARE REFLECTED IN MARKET

Stock Prices Again Affected by Significant News from Europe; Many Listings Are Withdrawn

OHIOGAO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Although what showed something of a downward tendency at times today, final quotations were up as much as 24 hours before. The fact that a split between France and England had been at least temporarily averted was a leading influence. Wheat closed firm at yesterday's finish to a shade lower. December $1.01 3/4 to 1.01 1/4 to 7/8, and May $1.07 1/4 to 1.07 3/8. Corn finished 14 cents below yesterday's close. The decline to a shade advance and provisions unchanged to a setback of 10 cents.

The narrowing of the range of wheat prices today, 1 1/2 to 3/4, was commensurate with some rumors suggesting that bearish factors had been discounted perhaps in full. Accordingly, some late buying was said to have been based on the expectation that any change in the market outlook was likely to develop in favor of the holder of wheat. Further imports of Canadian wheat during the past week, and the effect by talk of a higher tariff on such wheat, and increasing receipts of corn tended to weaken the corn market and so likewise did log cholera which was current. Seriousness of arrivals helped to steady oats.

Look underneath, too. NO matter how proud you may be of the appearance of your car—how careful you may be to keep it washed and polished—remember that "beauty is only skin-deep." This winter, and along into early spring, especially after you have traveled through stormy weather or over muddy roads, look underneath, too. Proper attention to chassis parts—springs, spring shackles, brake rods and linings, steering arms, the underside of fenders, and other units exposed to the road—will add much to the life and performance of your car. Ice and frozen mud, particularly, should be promptly removed. Lubrication of universal, transmission and differential should be checked up and properly attended to, even more often than in summer. The wear on these parts is perhaps greater in winter than at any other time of the year. If heavy oil or grease acts sluggish, guard against trouble by using a lighter grade. The only worthwhile test of gasoline. Is one that will definitely indicate its range of volatility, the proportion of its low, intermediate and higher boiling-point fractions. The distillation method is employed in such a test, and on the results are based the U. S. Government specifications for gasoline. Gasoline that meets these specifications is properly termed balanced gasoline—the most efficient, economical fuel for the modern motor. Year in and year out—winter and summer—CONOCO measures up rigidly to these standards. In every sense of the word, CONOCO is balanced gasoline—delivering full power at lowest cost per mile. THE CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY. Marketing a complete line of high-grade petroleum products in Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah, Idaho and Montana. Use Conoco Coupon Books. They are convenient and have you time and trouble making change. Good at all Continental Service Stations and accepted by dealers generally.

HIGHWAY FUNDS ALL PUT OUT ON WORK ON ROADS

District's Share in Cost of Bridging Oregon Trail Gap Sweeps Treasury Bare; Other Projects Held Up

Share of the Twin Falls highway district in the expense of bridging the gap between the town of Hanson and gravel road west of Burley on the Old Oregon Trail, has exhausted the district's available funds. It was reported Saturday at a regular meeting of the district's directors.

In consequence of this situation, the directors did not open bids for graveling of a road leading into Twin Falls to connect with Elizabeth boulevard, and contract for grading and graveling of a mile of road west of Twin Falls was awarded at that time, directors met only because land owners along the route of the road to be improved had subscribed about $1000 for the purpose and had volunteered to haul the gravel to be used in the work.

Harkins Receives Contract

Contract for improvement of this road, which extends north and south from the first corner west of the highway, toward highway department, was awarded to Harkins with the hard surface road extending from the highway at the end of Shelburne street, was awarded to William Harkins on his bid of $2750 for grading and furnishing and spreading gravel. Twelve hundred yards of gravel will be used in the work.

Directors of the highway expressed regret over inability to proceed at once with plans for the improvement of the road joining Elizabeth boulevard, in view especially of the fact that the municipal administration had appropriated funds to meet the city's share in the expense of the improvement.

State Engineer on Ground

Statement was made Saturday evening by Jacob Sinema, assistant supervisor of highways for the highway district, that R. L. Barnes, engineer of the state highway department, has since last Wednesday engaged in making a survey of that portion of the unimproved gap of the Old Oregon Trail situated in the Burley highway district. This survey, which Harkins would occupy about three weeks' time and, after approval of the route by engineers of the federal government, the project would require submission to contractors for bidding. Award of contract, it was estimated, would be made about January 1.

Investigation is being made by the state highway engineer of the possibility of obtaining gravel for the improvement from pits reported to have been uncovered in the vicinity of Murtagh.

Greek King Likely to Lose Throne

Queen Elizabeth and King George.

King George of Greece has agreed to comply with the demand of the Military-Republican faction that he leave Greece for 60 days, pending the clearing of the general situation. It is not believed he will return, for General Pangalos, former commander-in-chief of the Greek army, is authority for the statement that the Military-Republican group has demanded an immediate plebiscite to determine whether King George shall be banished, the throne abolished and a republic proclaimed. The majority of the Greek people are declared to favor a republic. King George is shown here with his wife, Queen Elizabeth.

Red Cross Invades Business District

Annual Roll Call Campaign Reaches Climax in Intensive Effort; School Girls Serve

Twin Falls chapter, American Red Cross, invaded the downtown district Saturday in the annual Red Cross roll call, with the result that Red Cross buttons appeared quite generally during the day on coat lapels of subscribers to the relief organization's funds.

Tables were set up in lobbies of the hotels and banks at which Red Cross workers received membership fees, and high school girls of the Blue Triangle club, carried the campaign into business houses and streets.

CONCERT HERE PROMISED

The program presented by the choir and orchestra of the Methodist church of Twin Falls, in a concert given Friday evening at Gooding for the benefit of Gooding college, probably will be given in Twin Falls in the near future, it was stated Saturday evening by members of the organization.

The Twin Falls singers and musicians received a cordial welcome at Gooding, and the concert was greeted by a crowded house. Expressions of warm approval of the entertainment were general.

Members of the choir and orchestra were guests of the faculty of the college at dinner preceding the concert. Members of the choir and orchestra, numbering about 25 persons, were accompanied by about 35 other Twin Falls citizens on the trip to Gooding, which was made in automobiles, most of the performers and visitors from here returning late Friday night.

REPUTATION OF WALTON PLAYED

Twin Falls Citizens Testify for Defendant Publisher in $42,000 Libel Action

Seven Twin Falls citizens called as witnesses Saturday by T. T. Mastors, publisher of the Twin Falls Times, defendant in a libel suit brought by E. F. Walton for $42,000 damages, testified that Walton's reputation for truth and veracity and integrity was bad.

Additional testimony to this effect was hailed by ruling of the court that testimony was cumulative; that is, that statements of witnesses repeated statements previously made by other witnesses. The court's ruling halted the trial at about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the evening recess was taken. Presentation of additional evidence for the defendant will occupy about an hour's time, when the trial resumes Monday morning. Frank L. Stephan of counsel for Mastors, stated Saturday evening.

Cross examination of Mastors occurred the entire forenoon session Saturday.

Witnesses called by Mastors to testify as to Walton's reputation were: M. Maxwell, E. E. Pool, P. O. Harkness, D. B. Moorman, C. D. Thomas, S. Henry Bolton and A. L. Swin.

Portions of the testimony of several of these witnesses was ordered stricken from the records on the grounds that such testimony related to dealings between the witnesses and Walton.

Various issues of the Observer, weekly publication of which Walton was editor in 1922, were admitted in evidence Saturday as tending to show that Mastors' attack on Walton had been provoked by Walton.

Crop of Seed Beans Produces Big Yield

Giant stringless beans grown this year by Floyd Huff on his farm southwest of Twin Falls, on a five-acre field, produced an average of 2-2 bushels per acre, and the ten-acre field produced an average yield of 41 bushels per acre. Mr. Huff stated Saturday that this bean is a garden variety and is said to produce usually a seed crop of from 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

The crop was exposed to rainy weather for two weeks during rainy weather without suffering appreciable damage, Mr. Huff stated.

Mr. Thometz expects to leave for Chicago next week. Mr. Thometz has earned prize winning exhibits of various seeds at the Chicago show in previous years.

SETTLES WITH THRESHER

Former Manager Here for Skaggs Stores Believed of Misdemeanor Charge of Interfering with Idem

Settlement out of court was effected Saturday in the case of A. Alexander, former manager of Skaggs grocery store, here, named last Wednesday as the defendant in a misdemeanor charge of interfering with property subject to lien. Under the action of the attorney to the prosecuting attorney's office, Alexander paid to L. F. Slack $273.90, the amount claimed by Slack in a lien filed Saturday of last week for breaking about 1200 bushels of beans, the property, it was alleged of Alexander and O. A. Smitaker. It was alleged that the beans had been removed and sold by Alexander last Monday. Alexander entered a plea of not guilty to the misdemeanor charge when arraigned Wednesday in probate court.
