FRANCE GIVES CONCESSION IN NEW CONTRACT

Pact Is Signed with Stinnes Group of Ruhr Industrialists; Deliveries to Be Credited to Reparation Account

DUESSELDORF, Nov. 24 (AP)—The French economic control commission today began working out with the Ruhr mine owners the technical details of the general agreement signed yesterday in order that coal deliveries may be brought to pre-occupation figures. The transportation difficulties however, must first be disentangled as the dislocation of the railroad system is complete.

PARIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—It is felt in official circles here that France under another important concession to the allies and to Germany in the contract signed yesterday with the Stinnes group of Ruhr industrialists. In this contract it is stipulated that all deliveries in kind shall be credited to Germany on reparation account while the taxes collected by the occupying countries shall be paid into which is called a "productive pledge fund." From this fund the occupying authorities would pay the cost of the occupation, subject to the rights of the reparation commission. This is understood to mean that France and Belgium will be unable to use the receipts from taxes over to pay the cost of maintaining their forces in the Ruhr unless permission to do so is given by the reparation commission.

The importance of this concession is reflected in the pride with which the accord with the industrialists is commented upon in the French press. Opinion in reparation circles is that the accord will be a step toward the necessity of yielding on some points in order to prepare the way for a final reparations settlement.

IMPORTS 100 FOXES.

SEATTLE, Nov. 24 (AP)—An incident in expansion of the Alaska fox farming industry was the arrival here recently of 100 live blue foxes, valued at $15,000. The foxes came from Petersburg, Alaska, and were taken to a fox farm on Venovli island, one of the San Juan group.

The San Juan islands are part of the state of Washington, lying between Vancouver island, which is British Columbia territory, and the mainland of Washington. Gerard T. Morgan of this city, one of the owners of Venovli island fox farms, said that the temperature there differs only slightly from that of the vicinity of Petersburg. He predicted that the farming of foxes which are raised for fur, would become established on Puget sound.

COOLIDGE GETS MESSAGE READY

Recommendations, Rather than Arguments, to Be Contained in His Announcement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—President Coolidge's message to congress will embrace a series of explicit recommendations rather than a presentation of long arguments and objections of such recommending. The chief executive has virtually completed work on the message which is expected to have an extremely important bearing on his political fortunes. Several days yet will be required for the redrafting of several sections, not for the purpose of changing their import, but to clarify the language and the document will be sent to the printer probably early next week.

The general belief is that the three major questions upon which recommendations will be made are taxation, agricultural relief and transportation. The transportation question was discussed in a visit to Boise today with Senator Cummins and the chief man of the senate interstate commerce committee. Senator Cummins advocated legislation to bring about consolidation of railroads for more efficient operation and has announced he will introduce a bill to accomplish such a purpose.

The statement was made in behalf of the president after the conference between him and Senator Cummins that agreement between the two was regarded as more than probable. This was interpreted as meaning that whatever bill Senator Cummins introduces will bear the stamp of administration approval.

Tradition says the ax must fall

THESE are troublesome days for the turkey, but tradition dictates his destiny—tradition, handed down from our Pilgrim Fathers' first festival of thanks, says the ax must fall.

Tradition, too, says "In the bounty of our good fortune, let us give thanks." That is the true spirit of this day which commemorates the harvest-time of a season's labors. And in giving thanks let us realize how small and trivial are the foundations for most of our complaints.

Thanksgiving Day, with good cheer to uplift, brings new strength to do and fresh courage to dare accomplishments for which we and all who share our age and land may return greater thanks on future Thanksgiving Days.

May your share of all things for which thanks are given be great and your thankfulness be greater. May your table be bounteously laden and every chair filled. That is our heartiest wish in this public proclamation of our thanks to you.

VIANDS BEAT IDAHO ELEVEN BY 9 TO 0 SCORE

U. of S. C. Proves Superior to Vandals with Exception of Punting; Remarkable Defense Shown by Both Sides

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24 (AP)—The University of Southern California football team ended its 1923 season today by defeating the University of Idaho eleven, 9 to 0. The Trojans proved superior in all departments with the exception of punting wherein Bob Fitzke and the better of Otto Anderson, U. S. C. scored in the second period when Quarterback Dolley received Newman's 12-yard pass on the Idaho five-yard line and ran to a touchdown. Two more points were added when U. S. C. scored a safety in the fourth period. Both teams showed remarkable defense when under the shadow of their own goal posts. The Vandals opened a forward passing attack late in the second period which ended only when the Trojans stopped them on the half-foot line. The U. S. C. advance was checked once on the enemy's six-foot line in the final period and again on the four-yard line.

Considerable time was taken out for injuries and the teams battled for closing minutes during the contest. Silvers and Fitzke were the outstanding Idaho players, while Dolley, Campbell and Lefebvre, a substitute, excelled for the winners. Lineup and summary:

Vandals Preparing for Opening of the Basketball Season

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Nov. 24 (AP)—Preliminary practice has al- ready been started for the 1923-24 basketball squad. Idaho is starting this season with the hope decidedly against her as a third-time champion, but those in close touch with the situation say it is not unlike that of three seasons ago when the Vandals knocked the dops dizzy and took the circuit pennant their first season. Idaho will not be over supplied with veteran material, for the greater part of the team which blazed her name in the hoop world have been graduated, but she will be without Alex Fox, all-Pacific forward; Oswald Thompson, Harry Edwards, Adrian Nelson, Bill Garlin, a veritable basketball team in themselves.

These back are Harold Telford, all-Pacific coast guard, who will captain the team; Benny Kenne, guard; Bob Fitzke, center, and Percy Styner, guard. David MacMillan, basketball coach, who has already given Idaho in two seasons more championships than she has ever held before, is reputed to be a great developer of raw material. This year he will have plenty to work on and in the probability of that yet an unknown quantity lies the answer to Idaho's chances on the hardwood floor this season.

HAIRVUD MISTAKES GIVE 13-0 VICTORY TO YALE

Victors Score First Touchdown on Harvard's Home Gridiron in 16 Years; Both Teams Forced to Kick

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 24 (AP)—An alert Yale eleven, taking advan- tage of Harvard's mistakes on a muddy field, defeated the Crimson in Har- vard stadium today 13 to 0, captur- ing for the Blue its first big three- championship since 1916, and incident- ally scoring Yale's first touchdowns on Harvard's home gridiron in 16 years. The game, played in a steady shower, on grounds soaked by a night and day of rain, gave little opportunity for the display of ordinary football strategy. Both teams were forced to kick and wait for the breaks. Yale adapted it- self to the conditions, capitalized its opportunities and scored a touchdown and two field goals on Harvard errors. Yale made errors, too, but not one was turned to the advantage of the Crim- son.

FOURTH VICTORY TO CALIFORNIA

Stanford Eleven Goes Down in Defeat Before Mammoth Crowd; Score, 9 to 0

CALIFORNIA STADIUM, Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 24 (AP)—The University of California won another Pacific confer- ence football championship, the fourth successively, by its 9 to 0 victory over its greatest rival, Stanford university this afternoon in a fierce game that served to dedicate to collegiate sport this memorial stadium.

Everyone of 72,000 seats in the stand- um was taken and on the hilltop above the great bowl 10,000 more got a glimpse of the game. It was the greatest crowd that ever attended an athletic event in this region. California and Stanford proved ul- timately evenly matched. From the open- ing whistle to the ending gun it seemed anybody's game. In fact it was on breaks that California won, though the Golden Bears made their own breaks.

In the second period "Babe" Har- rell, California's star center, smashed through the Stanford line as Nevera, Stanford fullback, stood behind his own goal line and poised to punt. The ball bounded against Harrell and he ground- ed it for a touchdown.

BURLEY LIKELY TO PLAY BOISE

Local Advices Show Opponent of Boise on Thanksgiving Not Yet Selected

Burley high school's football team seems likely to meet the Boise high school eleven in a game next Thursday at Boise, with the understanding that the winner of that contest will meet the Idaho Falls team in Boise on November 30, in a contest for the 1923 Idaho interscholastic championship.

Late Saturday evening the state athletic board had not yet decided upon the team which will play Boise on Thanksgiving day for the interscholastic championship of Idaho. According to advice received by Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the state association, time does not permit the postponing of the championship game, so that another deciding game might be played, and consequently the team which meets Boise will be chosen from their past records.

The game will undoubtedly be played in Boise and that city is making extensive preparations for their biggest game of the year. Mr. Mitchell reports that the past records and the comparative results in yardage gained and other data available in last Friday's game will largely determine the team to play for the state honors. The results of the game Friday show both teams to be on practically even footing. For yardage gained Burley has a slight advantage of making 178 yards to 120 for the Idaho Falls squad. They also have the advantage on downs making first downs 14 times during the contest to the eastern team's 11.

In the passing department Idaho Falls proved to be superior, having made 79 yards to the Burleyites 50, while Burley received 25 yards in penalties to Idaho Falls' 25. All of these facts point to the choice of Burley for Boise's opponent for the championship game, although Coach Glinderman's squad has not as yet been officially chosen as the team to play. The team chosen from the two schools to play Boise will, in case they win the state title, also play a final post season game the following week with the other school to finally decide the championship, in the opinion of Mr. Mitchell.

ATHLETIC ENDEAVORS TURN TO BASKET BALL

Eugene Ostrander to Assist Coach Evans in Shaping Twin Falls High School Team

With football on its last legs in the local high school, ending when the Bruins meet the heavy Nampa team Thanksgiving day, athletic endeavors are turning to basketball.

Already practice has started under the supervision of Eugene Ostrander, who will assist Evans in the shaping of the 1924 team. Ostrander has had the benefit of the coaching of MacMillan, the University of Idaho mentor, who has turned out two championship teams in the last two years for the state in this sport. At present only one of last year's letter men is out. This is Rose Cole, the tall center of last year's quintet. Other letter men who are back this year are last year's captain Stanley Cron; Lardie Jenkins and John Leiler. Jimmie Timm, who played standing guard on the crack Elmer squad last year, and who was regarded by many as the best in the state for that position, is also available for this year's blue and white squad.

Intensive training will not start for perhaps a week following the Nampa-Twin Falls clash.

ARMY AND NAVY DEADLOCK

Crack Football Teams Fight Each Other to Standstill Before Record Crowd; Neither Goal Line Crossed

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Army and Navy fought each other to a standstill today in the mire of the Polo Grounds before the greatest crowd that ever witnessed the annual service struggle for gridiron laurels. Neither goal line was crossed in one of the most bitterly contested battles these time-honored rivals have ever waged and out of the tangled, matted, multi-partied mass, they emerged divided.

Based by the heavy going and in the face of the greatest odds that were well-nigh insurmountable, when threatened, neither attack was able to penetrate into its opponent's 25-yard line.

A throng of 65,000 that included Secretaries Weeks and Denby among the spectators, witnessed the first secretaries vs. secretaries Army-Navy classic was inaugurated in 1920.

A BETTER WAY: Probably no better means of collecting money in large quantities have ever devised than the so-called modern "drive."

The drive very largely eliminates the element of personal choice as to his giving on the part of the driven.

There is a better means of taking care of community expenses not covered by taxes than the drive and one which will some day supplant it.

Drives are a part of the machinery of war. Fundamentally they have no place in peace-time affairs.

Within the next several days efforts will be made, it is understood, to raise a sum of money for each of several lines of public activity.

Voluntary contributions to these cannot be too strongly urged, within the scope of the ability of the individual to contribute.

In the "Good Old Days," it was in the early days of sleeping cars, when they measured the sheets by square inches and weighed the blankets on letter-scales.

It was also a suffering passenger who, tossing and jolting through the dark and chilly night, wondered whether, by error, he was sleeping between towels and woolen sheets.

"Porter," he cried, as the train gave a particularly vicious jolt, and dragged his last sheet of bed-clothing aside, "bring me a corkscrew!"

The porter came hurrying. "Sorry sir," he said respectfully, "but we don't allow drinking in the berths."

"I don't want to drink!" retorted the suffering passenger. "I merely want to extract a pillow that has worked its way into my ear."

After thinking twice, Father was standing before the fire lecturing his son and heir on the necessity for thinking twice before speaking once.

"Father!" exclaimed the boy suddenly. The parent held up a warning finger. "Think again before you speak and then I will answer you."

The boy pondered for a minute or so and then said: "Father, I have thought twice and now I am quite convinced that your coat tails are on fire."—Boston Herald.

TRAFFIC HALTS FOR PIGEON

New York Crossing Policeman Sees That Thrifty Bird Gets Drink on Pavement.

Traffic was heavy and the policeman signaled, frowned and grunted according to the changing character of the four-way crowds. The white sign flashed and waiting drivers prepared to throw in their hands and speed north or south.

The policeman with arm still uplifted was gazing at a shallow pool of rainwater in the hot pavement, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"That bird shall have her chance," he growled at the nearest car. "She's tried to get a sip of water four times and what with all the pedestrians and cars and other interferences she's like to die of thirst."

The pigeon slipped peacefully, raising its sleek throat each time for the drink to slip down more smoothly. Then it waddled haughtily away.

The policeman's arm came into action and a satisfied grin spread over his ruddy cheeks. "Come along now, with your noisy car," he invited. "What's detainin' ye?"

Vacuum Cleaner "Blow" Organ. In a church where an ordinary reed organ with pedal-operated bellows was used, it was desired to install an electric blower. As the reeds of such an organ are sounded by suction, the air being exhausted from the wind chest by the bellows, it was found that a common vacuum sweeper could easily be made to do the work.

Dreamland Adventures

PIGGY PIGGINS By DADDY

JACK and Janet were having a race as they ate their oatmeal. Spoon was being used, and so were milk and sugar and breakfast food.

"I can take the biggest bites," gurgled Janet. A shadow appeared at the window and Ikan, the Boy Scout, looked in Ikan frowned when he saw the spattered tablecloth.

"I've got milk making such a fuss and racket while you eat," cried Ikan. "You gobble like Piggy Piggins." Jack and Janet stopped their race and looked at Ikan from milk spattered faces.

"How does Piggy Piggins gobble?" asked Jack. "Wash your faces and get down in Farmer Brown's pigsty and you will see," said Ikan, the Scout. "And I promise you that after you see Piggy Piggins gobble you will be cured of your gobbling."

Jack and Janet finished their oatmeal—but without racing. Then they washed their faces and set off for Farmer Brown's pigsty.

As they neared the pigsty they heard a loud squealing and grunting. They looked ahead and saw Piggy Piggins and the other pigs standing on their hind legs and stretching their snouts through the fence.

Farmer Brown was walking toward the sty carrying a big pail of swill to feed the pigs. The pigs were squealing and reaching toward the fence because they were eager to get at the swill.

When Farmer Brown poured the swill into the trough, there was an excited scrambling among the pigs and they began to eat as fast as they could. The fastest eater was Piggy Piggins. He gulped and gulped and as he gulped and gobbled, he shouldered the other pigs away. In his eagerness to get more swill than anyone else he even got his feet in the trough. Jack and Janet thought Piggy Piggins was a most impolite eater.

"He eats just like you do when you are racing with your oatmeal," said Jack to Janet. "And he looks just like you, too," declared Janet.

"Well, if I look like that I am never going to race again," declared Jack. "Neither am I, even if no one is watching me," said Janet.

Jack and Janet stared at Piggy Piggins in growing wonder. They couldn't understand how even a pig could eat so fast or so much.

At last Piggy Piggins finished and began squealing for more. "My gracious, Piggy Piggins, why do you eat so fast and so much?" asked Janet.

"(What Piggy Piggins answers and how he starts on a funny adventure will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

"I've read all your books," said Jane. "I think they're wonderful." In spite of herself, in spite of a feeling that this young woman was straying from the point, Mrs. Hignett could not check a slight influx of amiability.

"Eustace!" "Mrs. Hignett gasped, hand on heart. "Eustace, there are men in the house!"

This fact was just the one which Eustace had been wondering how to break to her. "I know," he said uneasily. "You know!" Mrs. Hignett stared. "Did you hear them?"

"Hear them?" said Eustace, puzzled. "The drawing room window was left open, and there are two burglars in the hall!"

"Oh, I say! That's rather rotten!" said Eustace. "I saw and heard them. Come with me and arrest them."

"But I can't. I've sprained my ankle." "Sprained your ankle? How very inconvenient! When did you do that?" "This morning."

"How did it happen?" Eustace hesitated. "I was jumping." "Jumping! But—oh!" Mrs. Hignett's sentence trailed off into a suppressed shriek, as the door opened.

Immediately following on Eustace's accident, Jane Hubbard had constituted herself his nurse. It was she who had bound up his injured ankle in a manner which the doctor on his arrival had admitted himself unable to improve upon.

"Who are you?" she asked stiltily. "Who are you?" countered Jane. "I" said Mrs. Hignett portentously, "am the owner of this house, and I should be glad to know what you are doing in it. I am, Mrs. Horace Hignett."

Breakfast Food "Matrimonial Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband is a fanatic on the subject of his shoes. Some men specialize in neckties; others in hats. Hugh's weakness is for shoes—and he gets the limit.

He has so many pairs that his closet looks like an army shoe supply depot. It doesn't seem possible that one man could wear all those shoes.

And it isn't only in the matter of variety that he's particular, either. Every last pair is polished up like a poor diamond in a jeweler's window.

Whenever he looks down at his shoes and can't see whether his hair is properly brushed or not, he's perfectly unhappy until he gets a bookback to remedy matters.

And talk about treading on people's feet! Once I made a misstep on one of his new pairs of shoes, and he didn't speak to me for hours!

"Oh, I say! That's rather rotten!" said Eustace. "I saw and heard them. Come with me and arrest them."

"But I can't. I've sprained my ankle." "Sprained your ankle? How very inconvenient! When did you do that?" "This morning."

"How did it happen?" Eustace hesitated. "I was jumping." "Jumping! But—oh!" Mrs. Hignett's sentence trailed off into a suppressed shriek, as the door opened.

Immediately following on Eustace's accident, Jane Hubbard had constituted herself his nurse. It was she who had bound up his injured ankle in a manner which the doctor on his arrival had admitted himself unable to improve upon.

"Who are you?" she asked stiltily. "Who are you?" countered Jane. "I" said Mrs. Hignett portentously, "am the owner of this house, and I should be glad to know what you are doing in it. I am, Mrs. Horace Hignett."

A charming smile spread itself over Jane's finely cut face. "I've got to meet you," she said. "I have heard so much about you."

"Indeed!" said Mrs. Hignett. "And now I should like to hear a little about you."
