FARM PROBLEMS GET ATTENTION FROM CONGRESS

Senate Adopts Ladd Resolution; Legislation Aimed to Aid Wheat Growers Talked; Offer New Grazing Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP).—The farmer received a major share of attention in congress today, relief measures being considered both in committee and on the floor of the senate and house, while the department of agriculture also took a hand in the legislative situation.

The senate adopted the Ladd resolution directing Secretary Wallace to determine through the state farm administrators the position taken on the wheat market by the "well known professional speculators and members of the large futures commission houses of the Chicago Board of Trade."

Legislation aimed to aid the wheat growers was considered in both the senate and house agricultural committees today. The senate committee on the floor of the house, special attention being given to the Norris-Sinclair bill proposing a $100,000,000 corporation to buy and sell American farm products both at home and abroad.

Coordination of grazing on all state and national public lands was proposed by Secretary Wallace at a conference with western state senators and representatives as a step to improve conditions in stock raising. He suggested legislation to permit, under certain conditions, addition to the national forests of contiguous reserves under served public lands chiefly valuable for grazing livestock. The secretary said there should be no increase in grazing fees until the industry warrants.

Representative Leavitt, republican, Montana, told the house of losses suffered by the wheat growers of the northwestern states and proposed an early corporation to dispose of surplus crops.

Representatives of the wheat growers appeared before the two agricultural committees, advocating favorable action on the Norris-Sinclair bill and raising financial troubles encountered by wheat growers in their regions.

John Tarkenton, president of the Iowa Equity society, supported the Norris-Sinclair measure before a meeting of the Iowa equity society.

Continuation of present surtax rates on incomes and restoration of the excess profits tax were urged by representatives of the farm organization representatives at a special hearing before the house ways and means committee. The speakers included Robert F. Baker, president of the National Council and W. W. Fitzwater of the Farm Labor Union of America.

STOP TRADE IN STOCK OF SINCLAIR COMPANY

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP).—Senate disclosures in the Teapot Dome inquiry at Washington recently to the effect that the Mammoth company, a Sinclair subsidiary, was in the hands of the public today to an order suspending trade in the stock by the listing committee of the New York stock exchange.

The company was incorporated in Wyoming on August 19, 1917, developed Teapot Dome under a lease from the federal government, a section known as Teapot Dome, a natural oil reservoir. Its capitalization consisted of 2,000,000 shares of no par value non-voting class A stock and 5000 class B shares, the latter having exclusive voting power.

Bootlegger Trouble Brings Guardsmen To Illinois Town

Three Companies of National Guards on Duty at Scene of Numerous Liquor Raids; Carry Guns in Court

MARION, Ill., Jan. 8 (AP).—With three companies of national guard here tonight, everything was quiet.

The troops were sent at the request of Sheriff George Galligan, who advised Adjutant General Black in a telegram that he feared rioting might break out as a result of "bootleggers' war."

In three series of raids in less than three weeks, the last of which was last night when a score of men were arrested, 212 persons have been arrested for alleged violation of the dry law.

The raids have been conducted by federal agents, assisted by hundreds of deputized citizens, many of whom admit membership in the Ku Klux Klan. A counter organization to the Klan, known as the Illinois Citizens' Flaming Circle, sprung up six months ago, shortly after Klan organizers appeared in Williamson county.

Deputy Sheriff John Layman stated the call for troops was because the actions of the raiders had "assumed proportions of mob violence."

Trouble was feared, it was said, over the trial of Glenn Young, a worker, which began in justice court today. Young is charged with assault. He appeared in court today with a large number of friends who carried two machine guns "for protection."

Young is alleged to have struck Paul Corder over the head with a revolver in an argument over dry raids.

Iowa Solon Absent when Bok Plan for Peace Was 'Passed'

Member of State Legislature Denies Intimate Knowledge of Prize Award

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 8 (AP).—The local newspaper interviewed members of the Iowa legislature in session at the state capital here yesterday on their attitude toward the winning Bok peace plan.

"Senator [name] and legislator [name] was asked, 'what do you think of the Bok peace plan?'"

The senator looked up blankly for a moment, then rose to the emergency.

"Oh," he exclaimed, "I wasn't here when they passed that."

COX CRITICIZES G. O. P. REGIME

Former Presidential Candidate Aims Long List of Charges Against Administration

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 8 (AP).—Speaking at the Jackson day dinner here tonight, former Governor James M. Cox, the democratic presidential candidate four years ago, roundly criticized the present national administration for having "fixed the political issues of American isolation" by overlooking the "fundamentals of the whole economic situation" under the United States responsible for the Ruhr occupation and favored United States occupation with the league of nations.

Mr. Cox insisted that a new day will not dawn until "isolationist educators" are removed from office, and then asked if America is "doing her share, whether she is an 'obstructing unit in the circle of nations,' and whether her 'attitude in such a situation will record her lagged, steeped in selfishness.'"

Whatever is done, he declared, must be done through governmental agencies.

He expressed the opinion that at most a complete state of mind exists in Washington, and that it is a most questionable whether they will accomplish anything worth while.

ACTION SOUGHT ON MELLON BILL

G. O. P. Leaders in House Believe Tax Measure to Precede Soldiers' Bonus

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP).—Confidence was expressed today by republican leaders of the house that they would be able to pass a tax reduction bill to a vote before the senate today.

Opposition to the soldiers' bonus question expected to come to a show-down at a conference of house republicans Thursday night. Representative Longworth, the majority leader, notified the group of former republican congressmen of a vote on adjusted compensation ahead of tax legislation that to effect would be made to delay the latter.

For an hour Mr. Longworth was in conference with Representative Johnson of South Dakota, Fish of New York and Andrus of Massachusetts, who were active in having the conference called to order. They were told that they would have to be active in having the conference called to order.

ACCUSES MELLON OF ATTEMPTING TO KILL BONUS

Copeland Declares for Both Important Measures Under Changed Plan; Will Offer New Compensation Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP).—Charging that Secretary Mellon had attempted to "sabotage the bonus, using a formidable weapon—the pocketbook of the nation—Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, told the senate today he did not consider tax reduction and the soldiers' bonus "so related that one must die if the other lived."

Pointing out that the treasury secretary had said that in the bonus and the tax reduction which he promised would bring an estimated increase in revenues of $102,000,000, Senator Copeland proposed that this be used as the basis for the payment of the bonus.

Declaring in favor of all cash payments to the bonus men at the rate of $125 a year for each year of service, Senator Copeland said the total of $1,644,777,263 could be retired in 50 years with a payment of one hundred million dollars yearly, seventy-five million in interest and twenty-five million in principal.

Should the additional revenue Mr. Mellon has promised not be realized, the senator said, the surtax would be restored, "because the bonus must be paid."

The real purpose of the Mellon plan, of course, is to reduce the surtaxes on the rich," Senator Copeland declared, "and the taxes are cut in half, 50 to 25 per cent. The rest of us, as usual under republican administration, get only the crumbs."

"And so insolent is Mr. Mellon on the big cut in surtaxes that he refuses to take anything less, reduce to compromise at 25 per cent, threatening to withdraw his bill if the compromise is urged. If press reports can be relied upon, the president shares his views."

"Great business men with whom I have discussed the matter in New York, reluctantly admitting that the revenue must be made up, have begged me to get it out of the way in one bill. With this in mind I shall present in due time a bill providing for immediate cash payment such as I have outlined."

Senator Copeland declared that if a bonus were paid in cash he would be unalterably opposed when it came to providing the funds to the issue of tax exempt bonds. He declared it was time the federal government gave the country an example of the proper methods of financing public projects.

Stockholders' Opposition to Recent Management Conceded as Decisive Factor in Annual Election; Believe Wheelon Will Not Serve with New Administration

ORDERS GIVEN ON OIL TAXES

Believe American Operators in Mexico Will Disregard Rebel Leader's Decree

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP).—Instructions were dispatched today to representatives of American oil companies in Mexico directing the method to be followed in paying the Mexican oil production taxes due on Thursday.

While the association of producers of petroleum in Mexico which forwarded the instructions declined to disclose their nature, because of the "turbulent situation in Mexico" it was understood that all payments would be made to the Mexican government and that no notice would be taken at this time of the decree of Adolfo de la Huerta, revolutionary leader, that the tax be paid to him.

Officials of the Panamanian Petroleum and Transport company expressed no concern over the shutting down by direct action of the Mexican rebels of the company's wells and two pipe lines in their fields near Tampico, comprising about 25 per cent of the corporation's Mexican production of 100,000 barrels daily.

Safety Assured

It was pointed out that no fear need be felt as to the revolutionary forces damaging the property and that placing of petroleum is available in storage tanks and pipelines. The company's cable cut off communication from the point, oil circles continued to receive messages from Tampico, which is the big oil export station in Mexico.

Conflicting reports as to which side had possession of Tampico, another important oil port, were received in news dispatches but in all circles it is believed that the revolutionary forces still maintained control of that port.

RESULTS OF ELECTION FOR CANAL DIRECTORS
C. J. Miller	102,674
Frank Hoover	92,113
William Cunningham	81,855
N. V. Sharp	81,188
T. M. Baird	70,009
Ivan G. Lincoln	70,540

*Elected members of new board.

Opposition on the part of stockholders to the recent management of the Twin Falls Canal company is generally conceded to have been the decisive factor in the election of directors in connection with the annual meeting Tuesday, causing the defeat of Ivan G. Lincoln, president of the present board, and a former supporter of V. G. Wheelon, general manager, and the election of N. V. Sharp as the new member of the board. The result of the election of directors is an indication that Mr. Wheelon, who is rounding out his sixth year as general manager of the company, will not return to that office under the new administration.

Opposition to the 1923 administration of the Twin Falls Canal company found expression at the annual meeting here Tuesday in the refusal of a majority of about 800 stockholders to adopt a resolution commending the board of directors on their record of the past year, and in adoption of another resolution declaring the problem of sewage on the Twin Falls project a continuous menace and urging that the delivery of water through the canal and lateral systems during the winter months be reduced to a minimum.

The action of the stockholders in this regard was recorded after they had received the annual report of J. C. Wheelon, general manager, showing expenditures of the company for all purposes during the past year amounting to $1,983,310 per acre; total average per acre income during last year, $1,415,000; amounting to $1,000,724; with a reduction in the company's indebtedness during that period amounting to $377,000; curtailment of water lost in transmission through the canal system from 32 per cent in 1918 to 15 per cent last year; and adoption of a method of dealing with the sewage problem declared "successful beyond our fondest hopes and almost beyond belief," without

DEMAND RESPECT FOR EMBARGO ON WAR SHIPMENTS

Treasury Department Sends Out Orders for Rigid Enforcement of Law at Border; Lines Are Tightened at Ports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP).—Steps toward making the embargo affecting the export of arms and munitions directed against the De la Huerta faction in Mexico went forward rapidly today. The treasury forwarded instructions to custom officers and port officials to enforce agents to enforce vigilantly all laws and regulations under which business across the border is carried, in which the treasury of the state department the American Railway association, through its car service division, declared a freight embargo against shipment of arms and other war material to Mexico unless approved by a United States government agency.

The embargo order was forwarded at once to the association to its members in the United States, among whom are the United States military and navy, and is to become effective immediately.

Detain Export Cargoes

The treasury, in addition to telegraphing explicit directions to border points, also notified all port authorities to hold up exports of arms or other munitions destined for the Mexican rebel forces. The action was preliminary to the drafting of regulations to carry out formally the terms of the embargo proclamation, issued yesterday by President Coolidge. The action looking to an effective tightening of the embargo on Mexico unless approved by a United States government agency.

Cash Received

During the day progress was made toward the receipt of cash from the Washington government to that of President Coolidge through the receipt of cash from Mexico for the transaction. Whether the arms actually have been delivered, and the treasury is waiting to hear from the American sources. The treasury is waiting to hear from the American sources. The treasury is waiting to hear from the American sources.

Trouble at Border

The treasury acted today without waiting for a decision from the state department of the White House to make more thorough inspection of all commitments either inbound or outbound. The increased effort is expected to lead to a curbing not only of arms and munitions shipments but to the movement of other commodities such as liquor and narcotics as well.

Trade Commission Finds Minneapolis Civic Body Guilty

Unfair Competition Against Farmers' Co-operative Organization Is Alleged Against the Chamber of Commerce

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP).—A federal trade commission decision handed down today from the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce is said to be the largest organized grain exchange in the United States, guilty of unfair competition against a farmers' co-operative organization, and ordered it to desist.

The Equity Cooperative exchange at St. Paul, Minn., the farmers' organization concerned, has refused business connection with the Minneapolis Market and Quotation Service from that market, the commission asserted, because it returned the earnings from its business to members in the form of "percentage dividends."

Commissioners Gaskill and Van Fleet dissented from the majority position taken by the commission. The chamber is ordered by the commission to refrain from compelling its members to avoid dealing with the Equity organization and its members, and to refrain from publishing price quotations on wheat to the Equity co-ops and to cease denying to any organization of grain growers or shippers membership in the Minneapolis chamber, which objection to such membership is based on the ground that it pays "percentage dividends" out of profits. A similar objection to such membership was held to be unfairly discriminatory and was set out and the chamber was ordered to desist from further action of the kind.

Head of Idaho Reclamation Association Points Out Danger to Big Project in Attitude of Congress

The following statement has been issued by Guy E. Fienert, head of the Idaho Reclamation association:

"The situation that has developed in Washington respecting Idaho reclamation projects was foreseen by this organization months ago and since then it has lent its best efforts in helping lay the foundation for some solution of problems that are now, for the first time, laid on the table.

"Apparently, however, there may be no solution through western unity and cooperation, much as it is to be regretted; for these problems are born largely of western maneuvering for position and not from the womb of sensible business and fairness.

"Representatives from states where there has been little cooperation with the government on reclamation, or where there has been small opportunity afforded for governmental activity, because of physical disabilities, have picked Idaho to rifle in on. Idaho, they say, has received more than its share. We have been an important Idaho has now moved ahead on reclamation. We will stop such development in that state and get ours, irrespective. That is about the proposition.

Idaho Has Made Good.

"There are good reasons why Idaho has progressed ahead of it. It has been ready and responsive. Moreover, Idaho has contributed to the pot, through land and other fees, an amount, considered with other elements favorable to projects, that has justified the allotments made this state.

"Above all, stands the availability and practicability of our projects and popular cooperation with the government, secured largely through the efforts of this organization. So far as we know Idaho is the best reclamation state that has taken the trouble of maintaining such an organization.

Hold Up at American Falls.

"One part of the hold up plan is to bludgeon the American Falls project. No consideration is given to the fact that the government's interests are minor there to those of the farmers, who have voted to put up the big end of the money.

"That this reservoir means conservation of the waste waters of one of the mighty rivers of the nation.

"That unless this conservation shall take place, the power stored up will soon be forever impossible excepting through payment of enormous sums to outside power concerns that have applied for rights on the river to serve power to coast points—with the American Falls reservoir rights, now menaced, as the only intervening factor.

"That the government has forced into a contract to do its part in building the American Falls dam and already has a large investment there.

"Indeed, little consideration is given anything excepting the big chance to hold up a worthy and needed enterprise in order that certain congressional gunmen may get theirs.

Is It State-manship?

"Would it not be state-manship like if they urged the claims of their own projects—and these have real merit—instead of trying to get something by tearing at the throat of other people's hopes and necessities?

"And the great pity of it is this, if they shall succeed in their program they will probably have defeated their own ends—for the enemies of reclamation will be quick to seize upon this opportunity to put reclamation into the discard for keeps.

"The attitude disclosed by these men is more of a menace that taxation or socialism. It reveals the rot at the heart of government. If taxes were cut in two there would still be dissatisfied people.

"Income opportunities increased, means expenditure burdens lightened, and the wise expenditure of public funds on reclamation and other enterprises, spells increased income.

May Have to Shoot Back.

"Idaho people should take the time to back up and encourage their representatives in congress. We urge every organization in Idaho to send word to members of our delegation to stand pat for reclamation, not only for Idaho, but for the west.

"We feel it is safe to predict that, when the noisies who have pulled their guns on Idaho's projects as the easiest way to get something for their own states, may be confronted with the Big Bertha of our Bertha, with the rattling machine gun of our Gooding, with the fine strategy of our Smith and our French, they may be glad to pocket their artillery and talk reasonable."

LABOR PARTY PLEDGED TO CONSTRUCTIVE WORK

Great Demonstration Marks Celebration of Labor's Victory in European Parliament Opens Quietly

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—In a great demonstration in Albert hall tonight the British labor party celebrated its victories in the recent general elections and pledged its strenuous effort to speed the forward rehabilitation of great Britain, Europe and the world at large.

Upon, as seemed a certainty, within ten days to assume the task of governing the British empire.

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The first parliament of the new British government opened in a quiet and uneventful manner, apart from some natural effervescence on the part of labor members, seated at the prospect of their party taking office as the government, which only a few months ago appeared to be quite a distant prospect.

The speaker of the House was a foreign member of the House and therefore afforded an opportunity for the labor party to make a statement.

BAKERY SCALPS PRINTER SQUAD

Times Bowlers Drop Two Out of Three to Royal Gang by Narrow Margin

The Baker bowlers "kneaded" a victory last night, and they got it. The league-leading print shop team from the Times missed their little mascot and lost two out of three to the lowly bakers, and rumor has it that back was the only thing which kept the games from being three straight in the bakers' favor.

But at that the dough mixers' lead in pins is only two that of the Times by 21 pins which might indicate that the games were worth watching—and they were.

The new man for the Bakery, Riggs, had a 105 score in the fifth of the first game but ran against some nasty going in the last five, and, so several, hence, the Times victory.

Kennedy was back for more after his debut last week with a 500 total and had the old warhorse, Charlie Bruggeman, for his opponent. Every-one was glad to see the big fellow back into harness again after being out a week. Larson at least is consistent and took honors for the evening.

EIGHTH GRADE TOSSERS TRIM YOUNGER PLAYERS

Junior High School Contest Ends in Defeat for Seventh Grade Team; Soph Girls Beat Ninth Grade

The junior high school basketball team was introduced to fans Tuesday evening in a fast game between the seventh and eighth grade teams which started the interclass series. The larger team had the favor of age, size and experience and succeeded in taking a 24-11 victory from the younger players.

The seventh graders were on the go all of the time and kept the upper class constantly going to keep up the pace throughout the game which was decidedly fast. The outstanding player for the eighth grade was Willis Martin. This young star, although much smaller than his team mates, annexed half of the points made by the winners and was responsible for many more.

Tonight will end the junior high class battle when the ninth grade meet the eighth grade winners of last night's fray, at 8:30 in the high school gym.

As yet no definite games have been arranged for the junior high, but the prospects of the season point to games with the Fallston, Jerome, Kimberly and Piller with return games, which will make a good season for the junior hoop artists.

The sophomore girls' team of the high school played the ninth grade co-ed squad Tuesday evening with a 10-2 victory resulting for the sophomores. The chief difficulty both teams seemed to experience was inability to locate the basket.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE ASSAILS TAX PROPOSAL

McAdoo Bologizes Qualities of Andrew Jackson and Pines Broadside at Secretary Mellon's Plan

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Secretary Mellon's tax reduction plan was vigorously assailed in a Jackson day radio speech here tonight by William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

Bologizing Andrew Jackson's detection of graft and hypocrisy, his towering championship of the cause of the common people, Mr. McAdoo told his radio audience that if Jackson were alive today he would be "implacably fighting" for the "small and industrious taxpayers" in what was described by the speaker as "the first engagement in the impending battle brought on at Washington over the proposed reduction in taxation."

NEWS DIVERGE ON RAIL MERGER

Eastern Executives Disagree on Proposals for Consolidating Railroads

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware and Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring system from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stronger financial structure for transportation. The commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummins law.

THE MOVIE SHORTAGE

It has been reported that from the first of March to some time in April there will actually be a shortage of new moving picture films from the big producing companies. This is the result of the partial shutting down of a number of studios and the total cessation of work at others.

But the public won't have to go without its movies. It isn't that sort of a shortage. There will be many re-issues of former good pictures. Also a number of excellent pictures made by independents and hitherto kept off the market through lack of a releasing channel, will now be purchased by big producers and shown to the public.

On the whole this is regarded as a wholesome state of affairs which will tend in the end to cut down the number of superficial, million-dollar pictures and to turn out more good five and six-reel photo-plays. Part of the public at least, hopes that the improvement will extend far enough to leave behind some of the sentimental twaddle that appears to be inevitable in the movies now.

When it comes to be necessary to distort the character delineation of books turned into screen plays in order to effect improbable reconciliations and happy endings, then will the movies enter upon an era of genuine dramatic development.

BUSINESS SENSE

Big business interests of France and Germany have been going over the heads of their governments and arranging to exchange Lorraine iron ore for Ruhr coal. The German coal barons and the French iron magnates have no difficulty in coming to agreement about the matter. They are practical men; knowing what is good for them and their communities and taking the short cut to get it.

That is exactly what has been done on this side of the water by Americans and Canadians—our coal has been traded for Canadian iron, to the benefit of both countries. What is sound business on one continent is sound business on another. The only difficulty, in applying the method in Europe, is to keep the politicians from interfering under a pretense of "patriotism."

Iron ore is neither patriotic nor unpatriotic; neither is coal. Neither is ninety-nine per cent of human labor. Yet it takes some professional patriots a long time to learn that the first essential, in any country, is to give economic law free play and let the people earn a living.

SUCCESSFUL TRAFFIC WORK

A city checking up its traffic accidents for nineteen hundred twenty-three finds that there were forty-five more traffic deaths than in 1922. Yet twenty-three fewer children under sixteen years were killed.

The decrease in accidents to children is attributed to systematic traffic supervision in front of schools and to the teaching of traffic dangers in schools. According to records, no children were killed going to or coming from school.

In other words, careful and continued attention to a specific problem has met with success. Systematic traffic supervision at every danger point and the teaching of traffic dangers to drivers and pedestrians alike, ought to meet similar success in reducing the number of traffic deaths and injuries among adults as they have already done among the school population.

THE LAND OF WONDERS

by DADDY

(Jack and Janet saw Tim the Peddler when he was lost in a blizzard, and as they sit by the fire he tells them about his travels in the Land of Wonders.)

CHAPTER III.

Catching the Lightning.

TIM THE PEDDLER pulled at his pipe and went on, to tell Jack and Janet more about the Land of Wonders.

"Digging rocks out of the ground and burning them to keep warm in the winter was not the most marvelous thing done by the people of the Land of Wonders," said Tim. "Even more marvelous than that was their catching of lightning bolts and making them work."

Jack and Janet opened their eyes wide, and their mouths, too.

"What do you mean by catching the lightning bolts?" asked Janet.

"What lightning bolts?" demanded Jack.

"Why, don't you know what lightning bolts are?" asked Tim the Peddler with a twinkle in his eye. "Haven't you ever seen a thunder storm?"

Yes, Jack and Janet both had seen thunder storms.

"We had an awful thunder storm last summer," said Jack. "The flashes of lightning lighted up the whole sky, and the lightning struck the biggest tree in the woods and smashed it all to pieces."

"And another bolt hit the church steeple and set the church on fire and burned it to the ground," went on Janet.

"And a third bolt hit Farmer Wheeler's barn and killed all his horses and cows and pigs," declared Jack.

"Yes, I see you know what lightning bolts are," nodded Tim the Peddler. "And you know how strong lightning is when it can smash a big tree and burn a church and kill all the horses and cows and pigs in Farmer Wheeler's barn. And knowing how strong lightning is, you can understand how very clever the people of the Land of Wonders were when they put lightning bolts to work and made them light their houses and do their chores."

Jack and Janet stared at Tim the Peddler.

—Put them to doing the chores.

Peddler. Could he be speaking the truth when he told of putting lightning to work?

"The people of the Land of Wonders used to watch thunder storms and they used to be just as scared as you are of the lightning flashes and the crashing bolts," went on Tim. "My, but the lightning is bright," said they to one another. "Wouldn't it be fine if we could shut up this brightness and use it for lamps in our houses?"

And the people of the Land of Wonders are so smart that when they once got an idea they try to work it out. So it wasn't very long before they found a way to catch the lightning and shut up bits of it in lamps so it would light their houses.

"But the people of the Land of Wonders were not satisfied with just catching the brightness of the lightning and using that. 'My, the lightning is strong,' they said when they saw how the bolts smashed everything they hit. 'If we could only catch that strength and make it work. They found the wild bolts and put them to doing the chores. The lightning swept the floors and washed the clothes and churned the butter and cooked the dinner and made clothes and cut wood and made furniture and a lot of other things in the marvelous Land of Wonders."

"And do you know how they caught the lightning and put it to work?" Jack and Janet did not know, so Tim the Peddler got ready to tell them.

(What he tells them you will find in tomorrow's chapter.)

Catarrh a Symptom

When we speak of catarrh, we usually think of it as a disease. But, thinking carefully, it is not a disease. It is a symptom like pain, fever, nausea or rapid pulse. Catarrh is a secretion of mucus, pus or mucus-pus, which flows from some of the mucous membranes.

Some people think that a discharge from the nose or from the throat is the only form of catarrh, but such is not the case. There may be a disturbance of the secretions in the bronchia, the lining of the lungs, or in the lining of the appendix, giving rise to a catarrh of the appendix, and any other organ such as the stomach, uterus or intestinal tract may be the seat of catarrh.

When there is an over activity of secretion from the glands in question there is mucus catarrh; an over secretion or lack of secretion is a dry or atrophic catarrh. The latter form is comparatively rare and is due to constitutional or inherited disease.

Nasal catarrh is the most common of all catarrhal symptoms. This symptom which is so annoying varies in degrees from a slight watery secretion to a very profuse one, discharging, requiring the use of nasal handkerchiefs all day.

Localized catarrh is perfectly normal, nose without sinus disease is possible, but very rare. When the secretion comes from the sinuses, it is called sinusitis, it is usually due to an infection.

Severe cold, and without any treatment whatever runs a limited course. It is, however, best to use every means to cut short the progress. Every acute cold predisposes the mucous membrane to recurring attacks. When the secretion continues for weeks or months, or the individual has frequent colds, necessary sinus disease or some nasal abnormality must exist.

Many people who have received bumps on the nose in childhood develop deflections and thickening of the membrane between the nostrils. These deformities cause obstruction to breathing and the flow of secretion and the colds and infections which would otherwise be self-limited become chronic. The mucus is reabsorbed, and it is that nasal catarrh is only a symptom manifesting a disease in the nasal cavities or in the cavities accessory to the nose.

That necessary cavity to the nose, in the cheek bone, called the antrum, is most frequently the trouble seat. The position of this outlet is such that it must be completely filled before it flows into the nasal cavity. It is the constant flow of secretions from the antrum and from other accessory cavities that is the cause of nasal catarrh. Sometimes it is necessary to have the antrum opened and drained in order to prevent it becoming a focus of infection, as a place where there is constant abode of bacteria with its great menace to the general health.

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

by HUGH MCKAY

My wife answers advertisements:

There's something about a coupon that she just can't resist. She's a born clipper. Whenever she sits down to read a magazine, a pair of scissors is never far away.

The result is that our house is continually stocked with ads of books that have been sent on two weeks' approval, vacuum cleaners on ten days' free trial, and all kinds of "special introduction" boxes of tinned sea food.

The terrible part is that my wife never by any chance attends to sending any of those things back. She's the type that the advertising men have in mind when they put coupons in their ads.

Of course she's collected a pretty good assortment of free samples through this habit of hers. But I figure that, all in all, it costs me about $2.26 every time she sets her scissors to a coupon.

DWIGHT NAMED SECRETARY OF COMMERCE BODY

Local Man Chosen by Directors to Succeed N. S. Wight; Community Institute Secured for Twin Falls

Charles P. Dwight, a resident of Twin Falls for several years past, is the new secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, elected to that office by the board of directors at a meeting Tuesday evening, to succeed N. S. Wight, whose resignation, tendered at the close of four years' service here, previously had been accepted to become effective January 31.

The newly elected secretary is widely and well known both locally and throughout the state, having served as deputy internal revenue collector in Idaho for 18 months and being associated for about seven months past with the Edwin A. Wilson company in the revenue department. For some time prior to his appointment to the revenue service he was connected with the Twin Falls highway district.

His previous experience in the experience in chamber of commerce work in his former home in Maricopa, Arizona, having served two years as chairman, two years as secretary, and as a member of the board of directors from the time of the organization of the chamber of commerce, there until he came to Twin Falls about six years ago.

The directors went on record at their meeting Tuesday evening in favor of the designation of the Old Oregon Trail as a national highway, and voted to communicate with the members of Idaho's congressional delegation in this regard.

For Community Institute.

An opportunity to obtain for Twin Falls one of the six community institutes to be conducted this year by the state university in as many Idaho cities was submitted by the directors who authorized expenditure of a sufficient amount of the chamber of commerce funds to provide such institute as may be required and to meet other necessary expenses of the institute.

Tentative dates for holding the institute here, as announced here recently by E. R. Bennett, field horticulturist of the university extension division, are February 8, 10. Speakers at the institute are to include President A. H. Upham of the state university, and the Idaho holdings of the state agricultural college.

Aid Pledged to Truckmen. The chamber of commerce will lend its support toward securing for local truckmen the right to haul gravel in connection with construction of about 23 miles of highway to bridge a gap at the end of the pavement at Haxey road west of west of Haxey on the Old Oregon Trail. Members of a delegation representing members of the Intermountain States Truckmen and Auto Carriers' association, headed by Ned R. McCracken, were given this assurance by the directors at their meeting Tuesday, and a special committee of the chamber of commerce is to be organized to work with the truckmen to this end.

Funeral Services Announced. The funeral services for Mrs. Charles Lechner of Flor, who died Monday at the county general hospital after a brief illness, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church here. Mrs. Lechner is survived by her husband and three children, two sons and one daughter, all residing here.

LINCOLN DEFEATED FOR PLACE ON CANAL BOARD

shutting off of the flow of water through the canal system during the non-irrigation season. Pass Up Manager Question The stockholders further indicated dissatisfaction with the canal company administration by referring to the resolution committee's proposal offered by L. V. Sonner, Bush, declaring for the retention next year of the present general manager at his present salary. This resolution was not reported to the meeting by the resolution committee.

The meeting adopted two of the three resolutions submitted by the committee, endorsing in addition to the one in reference to reduction of winter water delivery another one declaring for promotion of canal company employees according to merit. A standing vote was called for when the resolution as to winter water delivery was submitted to vote.

Adopt Two Proposals In addition the meeting adopted a motion offered by J. M. Sweeney, Twin Falls, providing for appointment of a committee on resolutions to be composed of seven members to report at the next annual meeting. The committee was composed of J. M. Sweeney, L. V. Sonner, F. L. Curran, and so on.

Call upon the candidates for an expression as to whether they favored retention of the present general manager was made by L. V. Sonner in speaking to the motion for adoption of the resolution to commend the board of directors for the record of the past year; but none of the candidates for the position made this request after the disposition made by the resolution committee of his proposal for retaining the general manager had been reported to the meeting. He commended the directors because they had retained the general manager last year.

Opposition to canal company's administration to form an independent organization throughout the proceedings of the stockholders' meeting was led by David J. Koenig, Hanford, who charged the general manager with incurring a loss of $100,000 in connection with sinking of wells for water. He charged also that between $15,000 and $20,000 had been spent unnecessarily in connection with installation of checks in the canal system because of delaying the work until reauthorized.

In response to invitation, W. F. Alworth, Curry, a former member of the canal company board and now secretary of the American Falls reservoir district directors, in a long and earnest speech in relation to assessments laid and steps taken by the reservoir district toward participation in the construction of the American Falls reservoir and purchase of water rights in storage water provided by it.

The resolutions committee appointed to serve for the meeting Tuesday was composed of L. C. VanAuken, W. S. Parke, E. J. Colbert, W. F. Breckon, J. T. Amos and so on.

In his annual report, General Manager W. H. Wheeler stated that the canal company's business was not attributable to delivery of water through the canal system during the non-irrigation season. Observations made during the short winter season of 1919 and 1920, Mr. Wheeler stated, showed no increase in the development of seepage until the fall of 1921, and led to the conclusion that "our seepage trouble might be due to the economic waste in the use of water in irrigation."

As a further test the directors ordered the canal company to operate in the eastern half of the project during the winter of 1922-23, while those in the western half were allowed to operate in the spring of 1922; the measurements taken showed that the drainage of the canal showed to the satisfaction of the board that the canal and laterals could not be held responsible for the trouble as has been found to be no variation in the amount of seepage as between the two districts mentioned.

Cites Experience in Utah

Referring to the case of the Bear River canal in Utah, the manager stated that the fifteenth year of their operation at the project and water was shut out of the system between the months of September and the following May, with a result that livestock interests were hindered almost to the point of extinction. Winter water deliveries then were resumed and have been maintained ever since and no complaint has been made as to their contribution to the seepage trouble so far as we have been informed.

"The handling of livestock on the irrigated farms is absolutely imperative and becomes more and more essential as the projects grow older and the inevitable soil failure confronts the farmer," the manager said. "During that the Twin Falls project should be prepared for the very small water-logged condition with which we find ourselves confronted today, Mr. Wheeler pointed out that "we have been applying water to the roots of the crops at about three acre feet per year for 16 years and that if this water was not eliminated by evaporation, used by crops or seeped away, this project would be covered with water to the depth of 45 feet."

"No Irrigation Project Can Hope to escape the seepage problem," Mr. Wheeler said. "It is inevitable. In a survey of 14 principal projects the average cost of control of seepage amounts to $125 per acre per year or about what it costs to maintain and operate the service canals. It is a matter of time when the project stands in a class by itself, as we have expanded during the past six years less than 50 cents per acre per year in this department."

There are now less than 4,000 acres of the Twin Falls project that have developed a tendency to become seeped and water-logged, the general manager reported. There have been matted over 250 of these lands planted in alfalfa and an area equal to about one per cent of the lands embraced in the project through these units enough water is being drawn to relieve 41 per cent of the lands embraced in the project of one acre foot per year.

In explanation of reduction effected in transmission loss of water, the general manager suggested: 1. The closing up of the ruptured gaps in the ground filling the large holes preventing the water from backing out into large bays in the desert and escaping into the desert. 2. The closing up of the high and low levee canals in the removal of mud bars have improved the cross-section of the levee lines as to cause an increased velocity of the streams and permit the water to get to the bottom of the project promptly, making for elimination of losses in transit.

The money spent last year to carry on the canal company's business, according to the manager's report, was the equivalent of an assessment of 11.98 cents per acre of land, of which 4-10 was per cent of overhead expense, which amount included 4-10 cents per acre for payment of interest on current and bonded debt.

Stockholders of the Twin Falls canal company have every reason to be gratified at its financial condition, the manager reported. The financial statement of the fiscal year 1917, the books showed a deficit of $20,330.70, with a maximum of $743,849. At the close of 1923 the deficit had been reduced nearly a surplus accumulated in the sum of $121,250. This surplus has been reduced to $121,250 at the close of the present year. It has reduced the sum of $201,622.36, showing total savings from income funds during the past six years amounting to $201,622.36.

The debt at the close of the present year amounts to $406,000, showing a reduction in six years in the sum of $377,560.

The current liquid assets amount to $247,720.19 in the sum of "uncollected maintenance fees and other accounts."
