NEW TAX SCHEME
GIVEN SUPPORT
OF REPUBLICANSMellon Bill to Be Reported to Lower House Unchanged as Result of Vote of Approval
Taken in Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Mellon tax bill will be reported to the house without material change.

This was assured today when republicans on the house ways and means committee approved the surtax and income tax schedules recommended by the treasury. Despite division on surtaxes, they have agreed to stand together in support of the bill's essential provisions in the face of democratic opposition in committee.

The surtax rates, the bone of contention between democrats and republicans and among the republicans themselves, came to a vote after majority members of the committee had discussed the whole situation with the republican steering committee.

Meeting alone later, they first rejected by a 3 to 11 vote of a proposal to make the maximum surtax rate 22 per cent instead of 25 per cent on income in excess of $100,000 as suggested by Mr. Mellon.

By the same vote the Mellon schedule was approved. Chairman Green of Iowa and Representative Timberlake of Colorado, and Representative McLaughlin of Michigan, are understood to have cast the three negative votes.

Fight Scheduled.

Report of the Mellon bill in the house undoubtedly will precipitate an extended floor fight in which amendments under the modified rules will be in order against all of the rates.

Acceptance of the Mellon income rates will place the treasury bill before the house with only the following changes: limitation of portion of the proposed joint tax on community property; limitation of the reductions for earned income; restriction of the repeal of taxes on theater admissions; modification of the proposed board of tax appeals, and special reductions in taxes to apply on those payable this year.

The proposal to reduce taxes payable this year, which was approved yesterday by republicans of the committee upon a motion of Chairman Green was supported today by Secretary Mann, who said the estimated loss to the government of about $200,000,000 from a flat reduction of 25 per cent on all income taxes for 1923 could be met. The plan, he said, was feasible and practicable.

The democrats also moved in this direction today when Representative Garner introduced a joint resolution proposing to make a reduction in the 1923 taxes on the basis of rates put forward in the democratic plan, which would reduce the normal income tax to 2 per cent on incomes below $5000, to 4 per cent on those between $5000 and $8000, and 6 per cent above that amount. It also would increase the exemptions of unmarried persons from $1000 to $2000 and of married persons from $2500 to $3000.

Mr. Garner argued that the joint resolution could be acted upon before March 15, when the first installments on income taxes are due, and thus would save about 12,000,000 persons from making returns this year. Under the Green plan the reduction is made a part of the revenue bill with the provision that if approved after March 15, refunds could be made on overpayments.

Brings Trouble
to Ohio PeopleAkron is Faced by Worst Transportation Situation as Traction Cars Quit and Buses
Are Substituted

AKRON, O., Jan. 31 (AP)—Akron tonight stood on the verge of the worst street car situation in its history, following orders from the city to the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company to withdraw its city transportation service on the expiration of its 25-year franchise at midnight.

All street car service ended at 2:30 tomorrow morning, when city cars reach the barns after their last trips.

The situation was brought about by failure of traction and city officials to agree on a rate of fare for the new franchise. City officials wanted a continuation of the five-cent fare. Company officials demanded seven cents but finally agreed to a temporary franchise at six cents while a permanent grant was being negotiated. This the city rejected.

Just how far the city would go in its determination to bar interurban and suburban cars was a matter of extreme doubt.

With more than 200 sedans brought here by H. S. Firestone, rubber manufacturer, a close friend of Henry Ford, and a fleet of taxis secured by city officials, Mayor Rybolt declared he will provide Akron with the finest transportation system in the country.

Many Slayings

EPHRAATA, Wash., Jan. 31 (AP)—A sheriff's posse was believed to be closing in this afternoon on Owen Hudson, wanted in connection with a series of slayings in a farming district about 12 miles northeast of here which resulted in three deaths and the serious injury of another person. Hudson was believed to be in Dry Coulee, not far from the scene of the killings.

Glen Pugh, shot at his own door at 10:30 last night, died on a train en route to Spokane to receive surgical attention. Ira Slaten was shot and killed at his home at 2 a. m. and his wife, who declared their assailant was Owen Hudson, was shot and in a serious condition from loss of blood.

OMAHA, Jan. 31 (AP)—Robert R. Pointer, of Dearborn, Mich., tonight was nominated as the presidential candidate of the people's progressive party at the first convention of that organization. Roy M. Harrop, of Omaha, was nominated as the vice presidential candidate.

A platform calling for the repeal of the federal reserve law; abolition of the electoral college and a referendum on war, except in the case of foreign invasion, was adopted by the meeting, which was attended by 20 delegates from 25 states, without opposition.

E. M. Price of Detroit, it was said by those attending, probably will be named national chairman of the organization in place of Mr. Harrop, who earlier in the day was named for the place.

Shows Up Wilson's War Ex-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Replying to the recent statement of Democratic National Chairman Hull on the naval bill disclosures, George B. Lockwood, secretary of the republican national committee, upheld the course of President Coolidge in a statement published today in the National Republican.

At the same time Mr. Lockwood attacked the record of the Wilson administration in its conduct of the war and reviewed at length the disclosures before congressional committees that investigated war expenditures.

"Chairman Hull," says the statement, "has issued a pronouncement in which he attempts to give the color of partisan politics to the disclosures in the Fall case. Secretary Taft is a republican, it is true; he is a former member of the Harding administration."

"Mr. Doherty is one of the nation's most distinguished democrats. He was a member of the platform committee of the last democratic convention; he made a speech in the convention; his name was placed before the convention for the vice-presidential nomination by the California delegation."

Doherty Paid Bourbon Cash

"Mr. Doherty was the largest contributor to the democratic national campaign fund in 1916; he gave generously, it is said, to the democratic campaign fund of 1920. It was at Mr. Doherty's instance that the 'Inte Secretary of the Interior Lane, who had passed upon oil leases in which Mr. Doherty was interested, under the Wilson administration, refused to accept employment with Mr. Doherty at a salary of $50,000 a year."

"Other important officials of the Wilson administration took employment with Mr. Doherty at fabulous salaries."

"The less said about partisan politics in this connection, perhaps the better; it is not a matter of partisan (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Epithets at News Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor senator from Minnesota, invaded the senate press gallery today to make a verbal, but personal attack on a correspondent of a Minnesota newspaper.

Shaking his fist in the correspondent's face, Senator Johnson used strong adjectives and epithets in taking exception, to an article written by the correspondent concerning a measure before the senate agricultural committee. Half a hundred correspondents gathered around and there were cries of "throw him out!" before the senator was escorted from the gallery by the superintendent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The first of the dozen annual supply bills which congress must dispose of before adjournment—that carrying $262,000,000 for the interior department—was passed today by the house before which it had been pending for three weeks.

The measure was sent on its way to the senate without a record vote and the house immediately plunged into consideration of the appropriation bill for the treasury and postoffice departments, its $750,000,000 total making the largest peace time supply bill ever before congress.

Just before the interior department bill was approved an unsuccessful effort was made to reconsider amendments which would perpetuate 21 land offices that the bill originally sought to have discontinued July 1, and which would postpone until June 1, 1925, proposed consolidation of the offices of register and receiver at 14 others. Facts on Building

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—To find out which cities of the country are underbuilt, and which overbuilt, the National Association of Building Manufacturers and surveyors plan to make a nationwide building survey.

"If we find a real need for construction of office buildings in certain cities we will have furnished prospective owners with an exact knowledge of the situation so that they may proceed with their building plans," Earl Schultz, president of the association, said.

JAPANESE DIET
IN NEAR RIOTPolice on Guard Following
Stormy Session in Which Hostilities Occur

TOKIO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Heavy police reserves are stationed at various strategic points throughout Tokyo tonight following the tempestuous dissolution of the diet today. Unusual and thorough precautions are being taken to prevent the menacing of governmental opposition elements.

Italies of the government opposition forces, which earlier in the day succeeded in breaking up a session of the diet and throwing the legislative body into such confusion that its dissolution was ordered, were dispersed by the police. Several have been injured and a large number arrested as a result of clashes between the police and demonstrators. The diet building is surrounded by double lines of police.

The diet was ordered dissolved today while that body was still in recess after a session so turbulent that the speaker Kiyoura's business could not be transacted. A riot followed Premier Kiyoura's refusal to reply to interpellations. Water containers were hurled as missiles and a number of the diet members engaged in fist encounters. The cabinet issued a statement describing the dissolution as necessary because of a "grave situation," which had arisen.

The disorders started when members of the opposition demanded that Premier Kiyoura explain at attempt to wreck a train on which three opposition leaders were travelling. Kiyoura refused to reply and Minister of Communications Komatsu attempted to read an address on behalf of the premier. When an agitator, not a member of the diet, rushed to the speaker's platform and seized the manuscript from Komatsu's hands, a veritable storm broke over the chamber.

Addresses were to have been delivered by Premier Kiyoura and Foreign Minister Matsui on the extension of suffrage and the promotion of good relations with the United States and China. The disturbance, however, was so great that neither address was read.

WOULD PROSECUTE FALL

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—There will be no whitening of the Republican record in the investigation and those shown to have been guilty will be punished, Senator Frank B. Willis, republican, Ohio, declared in an address at the annual banquet of the Detroit real estate board last night. He said he believed there had been acts of criminal negligence on the part of the former Secretary of the Interior Fall who would not be shielded or exonerated if it be shown that he was involved.

GRAND JURY QUITS.

SEATTLE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Reporting that no tangible evidence of police corruption had been found and that no proof had been obtained that liquor was being smuggled into Seattle, a grand jury in the King county superior court that had been in session since November 13, was indefinitely recessed today. The jury returned a total of 10 indictments.

As the verbal battle got under way, it was conceded that a sufficient number of republican insurgent votes might be joined with those of the democrats to insure adoption of the resolution.

Such a coalition repulsed all efforts of administration senators to modify the language of the Walsh measure, which, as finally adopted, declares the leases signed by Mr. Denby to have been made without authority and contrary to law.

Mountain, Mr. Denby continued to stand pat on his declaration that he would not resign.

"No one has advised me to resign," he declared in response to suggestions that he had been urged to give up his cabinet post to avoid embarrassment to the administration.

It came to light today that after the Robinson resolution was introduced, Mr. Denby called on Chairman Lenroot of the senate oil committee and Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, and other administration leaders in the senate, and they had left it to him to decide whether he should resign.

Watch Naval Inquiry

Supporters of the Denby resignation resolution are giving close attention to the proceedings before the house to the committee which was told today by Rear Admiral J. K. Lattimer, judge advocate general of the navy, that Mr. Denby had told him that he had initiated the transfer of the naval reserves to the interior department after investigating the question and consulting with various experts.

President Coolidge spent devoted much of his time to the oil lease matter, giving attention both to the various phases of the evidence adduced by the senate committee and the question of qualification of the special counsel he has selected to prosecute the cases.

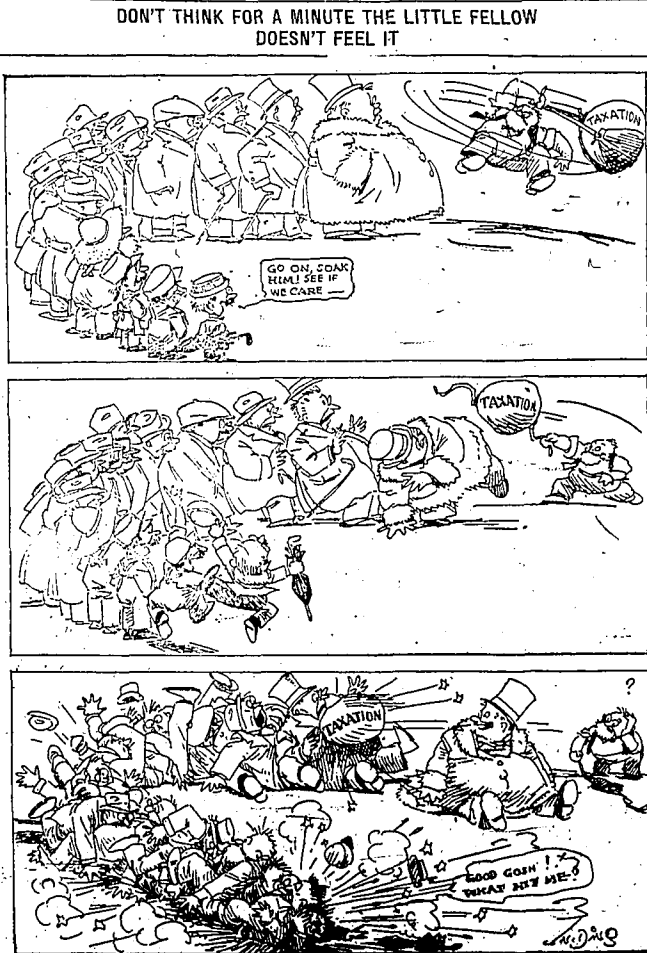

A new development in the situation today was the issuing of a subpoena for the appearance tomorrow of E. L. Doherty before the senate committee. The subpoena was sent out by Chairman Lenroot after Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, had demanded in the senate that the oil magnate be subjected to a "searching examination" as to whether he had advanced money to any other public official aside from former Secretary of the Interior Fall. Under a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Fish, republican, New York, Harry P. Sinclair, now in France, would be requested (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Eastern Bankers
to Take Part in Relief SessionsRepresentatives of Prominent Financial Interests to Be Present when Coolidge Conference Is Called

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Eastern bankers will take an active part in the conference next Monday between President Coolidge and his intimates affected by the banking crisis in the northwest, it was reported in financial circles tonight.

Fred I. Kent, vice-president of the Bankers Trust company, probably will go to Washington tomorrow or Saturday in company with an official of J. P. Morgan and Company, for a preliminary conference with Secretary Mellon. Although Thomas W. Lamont, of the Morgan firm, refused to say whether a member of the company would participate in the meeting, it was announced generally that it would send a representative.

What it is and what form relief measures for northwestern banks would take, bankers here suggested they might follow the plans adopted in raising a $40,000,000 pool to aid the livestock industry of the west during the depression several years ago.

FEDERAL MOVE. AIMED TO HELP FARM FINANCES

Government Stops Sales of Savings Certificates to Permit Cash to Be Applied to Agricultural Relief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The government by stopping the sale of its treasury savings certificates in 17 western and middle western states today stepped aside so that available local funds hereafter may be applied to the relief of agriculture and banks in the stringent credit area.

Sale of the savings certificates through postoffice—the medium used to reach the modest investor—was ordered stopped by Postmaster General Now. Secretary Mellon agreed to the action in the belief that it may prove of benefit in the districts where prolonged agricultural depression has developed a stringent credit condition among banks.

The suspension of sales, which effectually removes the certificates from the money market, applies to North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Idaho, Arizona and Montana. It supplements an order issued ten days ago by the postoffice department in which postmasters were instructed to discontinue advertising the certificates and soliciting their sale.

The order does not, however, affect acceptance of deposits in the postal saving system, which will continue receiving funds as in the past.

Effect Slight.

In agreeing to the plan of the postmaster general treasury officials must have clear they did not believe the funds taken out of any district by investment in savings certificates were sufficient to hamper financial rehabilitation.

The treasury cited figures in support of this view, showing that there had been a reduction of about one-half in the total amount of certificates outstanding in the last 12 months. There were certificates of a face value of $729,000,000 outstanding December 31, 1922, while a year later the outstanding certificates aggregated $375,000,000 or a return to investors within a year of $353,000,000. "Although the figures are for the whole country the treasury secretary believes they accurately show how unimportant the drain has been on the funds of any locality."

Secretary Mellon desires to cooperate with other agencies of the government. It was declared, and believes the cessation of sale of the certificates may have an important psychological effect.

Early in the day Mr. Mellon had declared that the treasury had under consideration any change in its policy of encouraging investment in certificates sales of which was draining resources in the disturbed districts.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Forces of the United Mine Workers of America were pledged by their delegates in convention here late today to fight against any wage reduction, but elected at the same time to defer their demand for a shorter work day. The vote was overwhelming. Tomorrow the convention will vote on the proposal of the senate committee that they attempt to secure a wage contract for a term of four years.

MORE LETTERS READ IN COURT

Defendant in $500,000 Alienation Suit Submits Evidence; Character Witnesses Testify

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 31 (AP)—Asa G. Candler, Sr., today began introducing evidence, through his attorneys, in the $500,000 suit which Mrs. Ouzella De Bouchel brought against him, alleging breach of promise. Mr. Candler contends, his attorneys announced, that Mrs. De Bouchel's engagement to him in 1922 was invalid because at the time she was the wife of Adolph Raquet of New Orleans. The decree at Reno, Nevada, in September, 1921, divorcing her from Mr. Raquet, Candler contended, was not valid because Mrs. De Bouchel was not a resident of that state at the time.

This contention was outlined to the jury by Mr. Candler's attorneys before court adjourned until tomorrow morning. The argument was advanced during the introduction of a number of letters from Mrs. De Bouchel to Mr. Candler, several of which were signed "Mrs. Raquet," by which name she was known before she obtained a divorce.

Several additional letters to Mr. Candler from Mrs. De Bouchel were read in the morning and voluminous depositions of the New Orleans woman's good character were put in evidence. One witness was called to the stand before Mrs. De Bouchel's case was concluded. He was W. T. Parkerson, vice president of the Fourth National bank of Atlanta. In response to questions by Albert Maxwell, Jr., leading attorney for Mrs. De Bouchel, Mr. Parkerson estimated Mr. Candler's fortune at the present time to be not less than $5,000,000, after taking into account his gifts to his children, his church and societies.

The depositions today were from citizens of New Orleans, and Reno Nev.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR INDUSTRY

No Unusual Change in Employment Conditions in Idaho Expected, Report Shows

SPOKANE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Employment conditions for the state of Washington for 1924 are considered excellent, especially in the industrial and agricultural activities, while in Idaho no let up is expected other than seasonal according to a special survey of the situation made public by W. C. Carpenter, director of employment of the federal department for Washington and Idaho, with offices in Spokane.

Very little unemployment for this period of the year is apparent in either state, according to the report, although a sprinkling due to seasonal occupations may be expected this month and February. "Zanbur and its manufactured products, which has not been any too good in this state the past few months," the statement says, "is already picking up and there is every indication that this improvement will be maintained."

A marked increase in manufacturing output is predicted, "if farm production is as favorable as present conditions indicate." Salmon canning in Washington is reported as particularly good, and it is probable, the survey says, "an increased demand for this class of labor will occur during the 1924 season. Skilled labor in leading industries is hardly equal to present demands, especially in lumber and steel. Prospects for building construction are good and it is thought that the amount of labor necessary for the satisfactory continuation of work contemplated and already under construction will at least equal that of 1923.

Washington farmers have shown a slight tendency toward diversification. It was said, although it is considered doubtful if they are in position to finance a great change at this time. Although the past year was not very encouraging, the survey states, there is a note of optimism apparent and a probable increase in acreage soon may be expected.

"In Idaho, building and other construction projects will continue," the report says, especially railroad improvement, which includes shop work, steel bridges and new trackage. The demand for skilled and unskilled labor it is thought, will be about equal to that of 1923. A plentiful supply of common labor is available to care for the good roads program.

CLOSE CONTESTRoyal Bakery Bowlers Take Pin Total by Two Points But Lose Two Games in Three

A rather unique situation presented itself in finishing up the unlucky thirteenth week of the bowling league Thursday night when the Shoe Market won under the rules of the alley from the Royal Bakery dough mixer two out of three games but in which the bakers took total number of pins by two, the score being, in the matter of pins: Royal Bakery 2464; Shoe Market 2662.

This week will see many changes in the individual standing and also place the various teams on a somewhat equal footing, jeopardizing the position of the Times and Trojan teams, which are again tied for first place with 25 games won and 14 lost in both camps and a percentage of 641.

In Thursday's games Kennedy was the high roller, taking the maple for 400 total for the evening, his next man being Knefel, who made 338, and Salmon, who was a point behind with 337.

Better bowling was in evidence Thursday than has been shown during the fore part of the week and it is thought that several of the stars will get back into regular form this evening when the Elks quintet meets C. B. specially selected five.

Wilson Wielded Whip

Mr. Lockwood continued that when the "shameful" facts as to the weakness of our war management, under which wholesale crookedness ran rampant, became known, President Wilson attempted to drive out of the democratic party those who protected the great political parties.

"Contrast this with the action of President Coolidge," he said "who immediately the facts came to light announced his purpose to prosecute every wrongdoer vigorously with the ablest counsel it is possible for the government to employ, representing both the great political parties."

Chairman Hull having invited attention, Mr. Lockwood said that the "unblemished record of honest and faithful service" under democratic rule, it would be in order to recite just a few of the high spots of the last Wilson administration.

Lists War Purchases

Some of those listed were as follows:

"Bought 41,000,000 pairs of shoes for 3,500,000 soldiers.

"Bought 149,456,611 bread cans, or 42 for every man under arms.

"Paid out $184,425,500 on claims presented after the war, many of them without a contract.

"Spent $20,000,000 for coke ovens that produced no coke; $35,000,000 on picnic acid plants that produced no acid; $127,001,000 on terminals and docks at which no ship ever tied up; $110,000,000 on poison gas plants that furnished no gas; $4,000,000,000 on ships which took no part in winning the war.

"Eleven billion dollars was loaned to foreign nations without evidence of indebtedness, making collection impossible except by negotiation.

"Purchased 945,000 saddles and 1,000,000 sets of double harness; 1,148,000 horse covers, 2,860,000 halters for the 391,000 horses and mules used in the army; purchased 105,000 copper-tipped branding irons to brand the government's 301,000 horses and mules; bought $21,000,000 of ambulance harness when our ambulances were motorized.

"Spent $206,032,920 for 16 national army entoments, built by the cost plus system, which could have been built for $128,101,399; spent $1,200,000,000 for camps and entoments in which the conservatively estimated waste and graft was $400,000,000; $60,000,000 to build a powder plant at Nitro, W. Va., which never produced a pound of powder; $20,000,000 in constructing to date of the armistice a powder plant at Nashville, Tenn., which produced no powder that could be used during the war; $116,104,974 on nitrate plants at Sheffield, Ala., Muscle Shoals, Ala., Toledo, O., and Cincinnati, O., which did not produce a pound of nitrate during the war.

"Spent to date of the armistice $1,051,000,000 for aircraft construction without producing a fighting plane; spent $1,191,000,000 for artillery with the result that 133 American made guns were on the firing line at the date of the armistice."

NEW LAMP BURNS
94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (real oil).

COMISKEY TAKES
WITNESS STAND;
RECALLS SERIES

President of Chicago Club, from which Jackson Seeks $18,500, Testifies as to Alleged Crooked Games in 1919

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago club of the American league took the witness stand late today in the suit against his club brought by Joe Jackson for $18,500. Mr. Comiskey testified that he did not know that anything "crooked" had been done by his players during the 1919 world's series, and detailed his first knowledge of the alleged throwing of the series.

"Had I known that Joe Jackson played a crooked game that year, Harry Grabner would not be going to his home in Georgia next year with a contract," Mr. Comiskey said.

He testified that the first information he had that the series was not right came when a man named Tennis called him and wanted to talk to him at once about "your baseball club." That was about 6 a. m. on the day following the first game of the series. He said "he could not talk over the telephone and I sent Tip O'Neil to see him. When O'Neil came back he told me what Tennis had said and I sent for Manager Gleason. I instructed Gleason to take anyone out of the lineup who he suspected of playing a crooked game. I then sent for President Heydler of the National league and told him what I heard."

Asked why he did not call in President Ban Johnson of the American league, Mr. Comiskey answered, "because I had no faith in Johnson." The witness testified that Jackson played good ball in the games which he witnessed. When asked if Jackson was dishonest in the world's series, the witness answered, "he said he was."

Norway Gives Up Second Place in Figure Skating; U. S. Beats England in Hockey Contest

CHAMONIX, France, Jan. 31 (AP)—Finland today again assumed the lead in the nip and tuck battle with Norway for first place among the nations competing in the Olympic winter sports by winning second place in the figure skating competition for couples. First honors are certain to be taken by one of the two northern countries, and will be decided by the remaining six events, with prospects favoring Norway.

In the hockey contests today the United States team defeated England 11 to 0, thereby reaching the semifinals. The Canadians have already reached the semifinals and tomorrow the Americans will play Sweden, the second team in the second half, and the Canadians will meet the English players.

On an estimate of the form displayed thus far, it would appear that Canada and the United States will fight it out for first honors.

The American ski team decided to try the Olympic ski takeoff the lead in spite of the expressed determination to await actual competition. The showing of the men was not particularly good, Carleton alone clearing over 30 meters. None of the men turned in 100 feet, while the Norwegians and Swedes jumped 130 to 140 feet.

State 'Varsity Grapplers to Travel to Spokane for Opening Meet on Next Friday

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Jan. 31 (Special to The News).—The 1924 wrestling season will be officially opened for Idaho this evening, when the varsity grapplers journey to Spokane for a meet with the Spokane Amateur Athletic club of that city.

Though it is not a conference meet, much interest attaches to this contest because it will be the first definite measure of Idaho's wrestling strength. Judging from the showing made by the team last year and from the squad turning out now, a successful season is expected.

With the number of candidates cut down to about 20, Coach "Babe" Brown is working them hard every day, in an effort to build up a winning team with only two veterans, Vesser and Kinnison, available. Phillips, a sure point winner last fall, will not be back the second semester as expected.

Johnny Vesser of Couer d'Alene, captain and last year's letter man, has no serious competition in the light heavyweight class. He finished the season last year without taking a single defeat, and although he has been kept from practice with a torn ligament in his side, he is expected to be Idaho's high point winner. In the middle weight class, Frank Kinnison of Payette, a two-year man, is receiving stiff competition from Dwight Disney of Rupert, who is developing into a first class wrestler.

The News is read by the permanent earning classes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Efforts to reach an agreement on the acreage utilized in the Fort Hall Indian reservation for the construction of a reservoir at American Falls, Idaho, are being made here by legal representatives of the tribe in conference with Indian and reclamation officials.

The reservoir, planned to extend irrigation to the Snake river valley, is provided for in contracts entered into last June by the interior department with water users of the American Falls and Empire Irrigation district, and original estimates of land requirement included approximately 42,700 acres of Fort Hall reservation lands.

Indian bureau officials said today that the Indians want a higher priced value of the land which would have to be purchased by the water users.

MUCH DONE BY COMMERCE BODY IN FOUR YEARS

Departure of Retiring Secretary Occasion for Review of Activities and Achievements During His Official Term

Departure from Twin Falls Thursday evening of Newell S. Wright, retiring secretary of the chamber of commerce, marked the conclusion of a four years' period of intensive effort and through that organization toward advancement of the interests of Twin Falls and surrounding community. Mr. Wright, who was born here, is the son of the late John Wright, who will join Mrs. Wright and her daughter for a brief vacation before entering upon work in a new field.

Prior to the organization of the chamber of commerce four years ago, Twin Falls had been without an organization of the kind for a period of several months. Mr. Wright was elected as the first secretary of the chamber of commerce. The new organization took up the work that had previously been conducted through the commercial club, which was formed in the early days of Twin Falls and continued to exist until about 1919. A survey of the work of the chamber of commerce during the four years' period just closed would include the following among the more important of its achievements:

For the farmers.
Secured tax reductions by making direct recommendations to taxing bodies which were put in effect in addition to securing final reduction of 5 per cent in the valuation of farm lands in Twin Falls county with consequent tax reductions; converted the chamber of commerce office into a farm labor employment agency. Twin Falls city furnished the finances almost exclusively for the operation of the Southern Idaho Traffic association, which worked for temporary and permanent freight rate reductions and assisted in bettering car service for shippers. Also the chamber worked for legislation relating to alfalfa quarantine regulations, tax matters and embargoes on agricultural products; raised, particularly all of the $21,000 Rogerson-Wells railroad fund in Twin Falls and adjoining towns without calling on the farmers for any assistance; assisted in various dairy, livestock and farmers' institute meetings, furnishing halls and accommodations whenever requested; cooperated with the county agent and horticultural and grange leaders in a number of their various activities.

For the Merchants.
Organized a special merchants' bureau to handle the problems which pertain exclusively to the merchants. This bureau secured an ordinance for the ordinance; staged a number of community advertising stunts, including dollar days, institute programs and window shopping night, determined and established uniform closing days, and maintained the "blue card" system of checking solicitors. Over the $100,000 Rogerson-Wells railroad fund in Twin Falls and adjoining towns without calling on the farmers for any assistance; assisted in various dairy, livestock and farmers' institute meetings, furnishing halls and accommodations whenever requested; cooperated with the county agent and horticultural and grange leaders in a number of their various activities.

Advertising and Publicity.
The chamber of commerce has been the consistent advertising agency for our community and has followed the usual methods of publicity—keeping the advantages of Twin Falls before the people of the United States by means of many thousands of advertising circulars, advertising letterheads, newspaper stories and feature magazine articles, as well as furnishing special statistical data to directories, touring guides and industrial publications. The various conventions and meetings brought to Twin Falls and activities to secure routing of tourists through Twin Falls have been significant features in the advertising program and publicity.

Improvement of Utilities.
Directly through the activities of the utilities bureau the immediate placement of rock road ballast on the branch line from Minidoka to Puhl was secured and our passenger depot was enlarged.

Rogerson-Wells Railroad Project.
The chamber of commerce railroad committees acting in cooperation with the Nevada committee during the past four years, have followed through all the various promotion propositions suggested by different committees and individuals, assisting wherever it seemed possible that satisfactory results might be obtained, bringing the railroad proposition before various railroad companies and financiers who might be interested; and directed the activities of raising the large sum of $300,000 as well as the cash sum of $31,000 to clear the way and comply with the requirements of the Union Pacific Railroad company.

Reclamation Assisted.
The chamber of commerce was first to put up cash to assist in organization of the Idaho Reclamation association, and has cooperated during the past years with this organization continually, assisting to disseminate information concerning the American Falls project and furnishing finances for different steps in the program and finally donated our entire working force to the farmers' committees and reclamation association to bring the proposition to an issue before the property owners concerned.

CANADA'S AERIAL ACE VISITING IN U. S.

Col. W. A. Bishop

COLONEL WILLIAM A. BISHOP, V. C. D. S. O., and "Ace of Aces" in the Canadian army, with a total of 57 victories in aerial battles in France, has arrived in New York for a protracted tour of the United States.

Tourist Park Promoted.
The tourist park was first established by the chamber of commerce and has been fostered and gradually evolved under the directions of the parks bureau into one of the best and largest tourist parks along the Old Oregon Trail highway. Thousands of maps and guides were distributed annually by the chamber of commerce information bureau.

Assisted in Highway Improvements.
The roads bureau has been one of the most important features of the chamber of commerce activities. The problem of securing better roads is one always before a community and one that is affected by so many factors that there are unlimited details which must be worked out before any highway, whether state or federal, was constructed. The roads bureau has been a primary factor in promoting cooperation between the different elements to secure completion of our main highways. These activities have related mostly to securing completion of the Old Oregon Trail highway and the North and South Side highway (Sawada and forest highways in the Minidoka national forest).

Tax Reductions.
When the time came to reduce taxes a special tax committee of the chamber of commerce met the situation and made many recommendations to taxing bodies. A very large percentage of these recommendations have been put into effect.

Legislative Matters Affecting Community.
During each session of the state legislature a special state relations bureau and committees have consistently gone over various bills pending in the legislature which seemed to be of special interest to this city and farming community and recommended the passage or non-passage of various bills respectively. In matters of national legislation the opinion of the chamber of commerce has been requested very often by congressional delegates and assistance in securing backing for advantageous bills has been furnished by the chamber of commerce.

Conventions.
A large number of state conventions, district meetings and agricultural sessions have been secured by the chamber of commerce by assuring cooperation and furnishing accommodations and entertainments befitting the occasion.

The Modern Way.
Methods of doing business in the chamber of commerce have gradually altered and improved until most features of modern chamber of commerce methods are used by our organization. This has resulted primarily in making the chamber of commerce more democratic as well as more efficient and in establishing the chamber of commerce as the community clearing house for civic and commercial matters and has fostered a finer community spirit and better cooperation between the different associations and clubs in Twin Falls city and the adjoining rural community.

through official channels to return here and "explain to congress and the American public the $25,000 loan to ex-Secretary Fall."

Physicians Examine Fall.
The medical commission appointed by the senate committee examined Mr. Fall during the day in his sick-room at the home of J. W. Zevely, personal counsel to Mr. Sinclair, and is expected to report to the committee tomorrow as to whether the former secretary can appear for questioning.

The senate vote on the Walsh resolution was the result of a unanimous consent agreement today after two more hours of fervid debate. The measure will be transmitted to the house tomorrow and Representative Longworth of Ohio, the republican leader, said tonight he was prepared to ask for a unanimous consent agreement for limited debate and a final vote during the day.

With adoption of the measure by the house, President Coolidge will have formal authority from congress to take the action he has taken—appointment of special counsel to prosecute such suits, civil and criminal, as the facts might warrant.

There was a last-minute effort in the senate to amend the Walsh resolution so as to direct the president to seize the leased reserves in Wyoming and California, but the proposal by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, was rejected without a roll call. Two votes then followed on the Walsh resolution, the first, 90 to 0, to accept it as a substitute for the original Caraway resolution, and the second to adopt the resolution on its own merits.

Demand Denby Resignation.
Debate on the Robinson resolution followed. Senators Copeland of New York, Fletcher of Florida, and Hoffman of Alabama, all democrats, demanded the resignation of Mr. Denby, arguing that he had been negligent in permitting control of the naval reserves to be transferred from his department.

Senator Fletcher declared Mr. Denby's "principles and ideals" were those of "former Interior Secretary Ballinger."

Defending the naval secretary, Chairman Hale of the naval committee, because of the legal advice of his department, said Mr. Denby signed certain oil leases and "because two years later before the public lands committee, he showed ignorance, an honorable man is to be broken and an honorable name trailed in the dust."

Ham for the Funeral.
The old farmer was slowly but surely dying. Lying in an apparently unconscious state he suddenly opened his eyes and addressing his ancient spouse said, "Mary, that ham smells very good. I almost think I could eat some." Whereat Mary devoutly replied, "Thee get on with the dying. That ham is for the funeral."

THE NOMINATION

Apparently President Calvin Coolidge and Hiram Johnson of California will be the main contenders for the Republican Presidential nomination, with the ever-present possibility that, as a result, neither will actually receive the nomination.

As The News views it there are reasons innumerable in favor of the nomination of President Coolidge as against the nomination of the Senator from California. The entire record of President Coolidge is such as to warrant the conviction that to return him to office for a full four year term would be a thoroughly logical step. In fact, there is no reasonable basis for the thought of a change in this office.

Hiram Johnson may or may not be first-class Presidential timber. But whether he is or isn't it is impossible to escape the conviction that Senator Johnson's course has all along been shaped with a view to securing the nomination, whereas, in the case of Coolidge, there is an almost complete absence of evidence of any consideration whatever having been given to the effect of this, or the other official act or utterance upon the question of his nomination.

Senator Johnson is an adroit politician, and it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that he may walk off with the nomination, but in this very fact lies his chief weakness.

It is not a politician that is needed but a statesman, in the present crisis, and the tendency to regard mere political strength as of less importance than a good many other things is steadily growing among the rank and file of the voters.

There is a fundamental soundness to the Coolidge attitude which lends the sort of strength which is never to be gained from mere political popularity. President Coolidge might make just as many mistakes as President Johnson, but they will arise through a singleness of purpose and an honesty of conviction with respect to the task in hand and never through the failure of a carefully worked out political plan in which the political equation is the main ingredient.

President Coolidge is not, primarily, a politician. Senator Johnson is one of the greatest of them all.

It is not too soon to begin thinking about these things.

TO SOFTEN THE ARTERIES

It has been said recently that nearly all human diseases have yielded to medical science except the characteristic old age disease, arterio-sclerosis. Arteries harden as age comes on, earlier with some persons and later with others. And as the blood pipes lose their elasticity, the whole body grows less flexible and strong. There is always danger of a break in heart, brain or elsewhere.

A physician says that "a man is just as old as his arteries." It has long been recognized that if the blood vessels could be made elastic again, it would mean a virtual renewal of youth, or at least of middle age.

Now a scientist bearing the charming name of Vladimir Mladetsovski, connected with a university in Prague, Bohemia, announces that he has found a method which will accomplish this very thing. His remedy is said to consist of silicic acid, combined with extract of a plant called drosera, in the form of a syrup. This syrup taken internally, is credited already with success in nearly one hundred cases.

The discovery, like all others in the domain of medicine, is to be regarded doubtfully until conclusively proved. It may turn out to do what is claimed for it. If it does, it may add years to the average human life.

THE WIDOW'S BUTTER
By DADDY

(Jack, Janet and Daddy Dog seek to help Tommy, a smashed-up boy, and his widowed mother by churning the widow's butter. By means of a treadmill they churn part of the butter and LeBonne Bear churns more, but there is still much cream to be made into butter.)

CHAPTER V.

Snappy Wolf Works.

JACK, Janet and Daddy Dog wondered who they would get next to work in the treadmill to churn the widow's butter. Tommy, the smashed-up boy, looked at them anxiously. They had made such a fine start at churning his little old mother's butter that he hoped they would be able to go on.

"There is some animal in the forest who is strong and can run a long way," asked Tommy. "Such an animal should be able to trot up the stairs of the treadmill many hours and churn a lot of butter."

"Jack, Janet and Daddy Dog thought the matter over.

"There is Hoppy-hop Rabbit," suggested Jack, "but he is too light to move the stairway."

"And there is Perky Squirrel, but he is light also, too," said Janet.

"And Chucky Wood Chuck is too slow," added Daddy Dog.

Just then a dismal howl sounded from the woods.

"Woof!" barked Daddy Dog.

"There is Snappy Wolf! He is hunting all by himself since Hoppy-hop Rabbit led Crafty Wolf and his friends to the other wolves into a trap."

And he isn't catching very much. Wolves can't hunt well in the winter time unless they hunt in a pack."

"Snappy Wolf is a good runner," said Jack. "I have heard my father say that Snappy Wolf will run all day while hunting."

"Then why not get Snappy Wolf to run in the treadmill and churn the butter?" asked Janet.

"That is a good idea," declared Tommy. "And we could give him bones to pay him. That is more than he could get through his hunting."

"Woof! But Snappy Wolf is wild," barked Daddy Dog. "You couldn't get a wild wolf in that treadmill unless you tricked him into it."

Jack spoke up quickly. "Then why not trick him? You are smarter than wolf, Daddy Dog. Can't you trick Snappy Wolf into the treadmill?"

Daddy Dog thought the matter over very solemnly.

"Supposing you put some nice juicy bones at the top of the treadmill," said he. "Then fix up a collar that will catch Snappy Wolf when he runs up the treadmill to get the bones. I'll see that he gets into the trap."

Tommy got his wits to going right away figuring out a collar, and soon he had planned one of wood, which Jack was able to make.

Daddy Dog ran away into the woods.

"Then why not trick him?"

He could hear Snappy Wolf howling as Snappy hunted. Daddy Dog ran through the bushes until he came near Snappy Wolf. Then Daddy Dog pretended to be in a great hurry. "Hello! Hello! Dog, where are you going in such a hurry?" snarled Snappy Wolf. "Don't you want to go hunting with me?"

"Woof! No, I don't need to go hunting. I know where I can find bones to eat," barked Daddy Dog. "I am in such a hurry to get them I can't stop to talk to you."

Because of Daddy Dog's heading back toward Tommy's cottage. After him came Snappy Wolf. "Woof! Go back! You can't have any of my bones," barked Daddy Dog. But the more Daddy Dog told Snappy Wolf to go back, the more determined Snappy Wolf became to follow him and get some of the juicy bones.

They came at last to the door of the cottage.

"You don't dare to go in that house," growled Daddy Dog. "The bones are inside. You had better go away."

But Snappy Wolf was smelling the bones. He was hungry. He meant to steal them from Daddy Dog. He darted ahead. He rushed into the door. He saw the steps of the treadmill that worked the churn. At the top of the steps were the juicy bones. Snappy Wolf darted up the stairs. The stairs moved under him, carrying downward.

The belt that moved the drum that turned the wheel that caused the dasher of the churn to go up and down, churning the butter.

Snappy Wolf was astonished and scared, but before he could get out of the treadmill the wooden collar closed over his neck. He was caught fast. The stairs were running out from under his feet. He had to run to keep up with them. And as he raced he churning the butter.

"Hurrah!" cried Jack and Janet. "Snappy Wolf will churn all of the little old woman's butter."

(Snappy Wolf churns a lot of butter, but he grows tired, and then Jack finds a power butter churn, that never grows weary, as will be told in the next chapter.)

CHAPTER IV

Fifth avenue at night, at eight-thirty, even, is no different a place from that other street, the golden street of the women—the Fifth Avenue of the day. Vacant, resounding, its black, shining floor peened beneath the lonely lights, between the palisades of darkened buildings and shadowy streets on either side, free and opened and unhampered to their hurrying taxi-driver on his way toward the dark elm border of Central park.

The ancient motor-vehicle passed the golden horsemen at the southern gate, went northward several streets that Mary Manchester did not accurately count, turned eastward and stopped. The two figures, the girl and the cold, courteous, finely dressed man, alighted and went up the high outside steps to the door. It was a place obviously of much more than respectability; of wealth, security and refinement—the office, in point of fact, of a very celebrated doctor.

"Here is the young woman of whom I spoke to you," said Jasper Halg, when the girl had passed together back into the private office of the celebrated doctor.

"Will you explain to her the condition of your patient?" the lawyer asked him when they were seated.

The doctor did so, very simply, very certainly—in the convincing way of men of unusually clear intellect combined. His very presence and manner carried conviction with them.

"It is a matter of hours now," he said, concluding, "with Mrs. Rutherford. I was waiting with some anxiety for you to come; and now, if you are willing," he said, rising and inclining his distinguished head in the direction of the girl, "we will be going there at once."

It was not to be a very difficult matter after all for a man of Jasper Halg's resources to present to her the proof of the extraordinary story—his theory of this case. He had had many greater difficulties in establishing other legal theories in cases he had built up in the past—this because, no doubt, for one reason, his present theory was so largely true.

Then, as the veiled visitor came into the high-ceilinged room, lay the woman of the photograph. A pronounced shudder passed over the slender figure with the veiled face. For there, but for the grace of God, from every appearance lay her own self, dying.

For one in the "dying" stage, it could doubt the condition of the woman in that great bed. She was practically dead now. Thought had long passed from those eyes, as the veiled girl could have seen for herself, without any of the careful explanations of the men with her.

For the woman in the great bed, death had come already—to all practical purposes; for the woman at her bedside health and happiness and life and wealth were to be had for the taking.

"You see," said Jasper Halg.

"Yes," said Mary Manchester, consenting, bowing her head to her great new fortune.

And yet, strangely enough—so insecure is life for all of us—it was that very night that Mary Manchester was found by chance wandering dazed, stricken by the heat, and taken up by a singular good fortune by a kindly and very famous physician, and brought into the great hospital in his own limousine. And on that day, never regaining consciousness, she was dead.

Mary Manchester was dead—a number, one of a million, a working-girl whose very identity after death would have been unknown but for a message by mail—whose origin he did not seem to know—to her half-drunk stewardess.

Mary Manchester was dead in Bellevue. You will find it in the records there today. Adelaide Rutherford, the great heiress, by a fortunate turn in her illness, though still delicate, was evidently rallying from her recent desperate illness. And the great Gorgam Trust, unlike the "despairing lover in the bull-dog," had still something of its own to live for—and lived on.

CHAPTER V

It is an unusual and striking sight, to those who may never have witnessed it before—the care and solicitude that a really great trust fund of some sixty millions will lavish upon the one sole object of its devotion. For Adelaide Rutherford, recovering from her almost fatal illness, such wonders had been provided. Every luxury admissible, every appliance which led to health and pleasure—for the Gorgam

Trust was obviously above all new determined that its mistress, once upon the road to health, should not be allowed to slip back again. No whim of hers that was permissible of granting was denied her; continued novelty was supplied, of every kind—even, it may be recorded, to an entire change of servants through the house.

Where the Railroad Dollar Goes

Practically all the money the railroads take in is immediately put back into circulation. Railroads do a large volume of business on a narrow margin of net income. Out of every dollar earned from operation by the railroads of the United States, there was absorbed in 1922, by

Wages and Salaries	44.4 cents
Fuel	9.4 "
Other operating and maintenance expenses (including such items as rails and ties, loss and damage)	25.6 "
Taxes	1.5 "
Net Operating Income	13.7 "

Out of this 13.7 cents of net operating income, 12.2 cents went for interest on bonds and other fixed charges, leaving 1.5 cents for stockholders. Adding 6.9 cents of income from outside sources, net corporate income was 8.4 cents, of which 4.9 cents was paid in dividends, leaving 3.5 cents available for appropriations and surplus.

Gross earnings of the railroads in 1922 were $1,567,000,000 more than in 1917. This $1,567,000,000 and more too, was immediately paid out again, as follows: $918,000,000 in ADDED wages to railroad employees; 136,000,000 in ADDED cost of coal, mostly miners' wages; 122,000,000 for ADDITIONAL taxes; 500,000,000 ADDITIONAL for materials and supplies largely representing wages.

The stockholders and bondholders of the railroads got none of the increase.

It is significant that good times are always coincident with heavy buying on the part of the railroads and that bad times are periods of light railway purchases.

The Union Pacific System is one of the most important enterprises west of the Missouri River. Its nearly 50,000 employees, and their families, constitute a buying power which is the main reliance of many businesses. The purchases of the Union Pacific System from firms located on the System, or which have offices on our lines, aggregate millions of dollars each month.

The railroads are planning to spend hundreds of millions of new money during 1924 to better serve the public.

"Our transportation movement during 1923 is the outstanding industrial accomplishment of the year. The waste of the year 1920 with its car shortages, its derangements of price levels, stoppage of industry, probably amounted to not less than a billion of dollars, and the American people and no economic fabric could have stood that loss that did not have a total income in excess of sixty billions. One great contribution to the business stability of the past year has been the fact that we have had a free and regular and orderly movement of transportation."—From address by Secretary of Commerce Herbert H. Hoover, January 9, 1924.

C. R. GRAY, President.

Omaha, Nebraska, February 1, 1924.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

GUARD COMPANY TO BE FORMED IN TWIN FALLS

Date Set for Muster into Service of Unit Organized as Successor to D Company; Veterans in Command

With Herbert G. Bantersbach as captain; Chris Oyler, first lieutenant, and J. Lawrence Hodel, second lieutenant, a Twin Falls unit of a national guard infantry regiment will be mustered into the service next Monday evening by H. A. Padgham, Idaho adjutant general, and Captain Worthley, United States army, according to announcement Thursday evening.

Members of the new unit will assemble at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the dancehall position for this purpose.

Chance for Recruits

The muster roll of the new organization contains the names of more than 50 members; but there is still opportunity for six or eight recruits to become members to bring the unit up to its maximum authorized strength.

With a view to attaining the highest possible degree of efficiency before the summer encampment which is to be held this year at Camp Lewis, Washington, on Fort Douglas, Utah, members of the new unit will assemble Monday evening of each week for regular drill. In addition there is to be target practice on an outdoor range. Members of the organization will receive pay in accordance with their rank for attendance at regular formations.

Veterans in Command

The officers of the new unit are veterans of the world war. H. G. Bantersbach, who is to command the organization, and Chris Oyler, who is to be first lieutenant, served as members of the Second Idaho national guard regiment and both served during the world war in France and Germany. Mr. Bantersbach and Mr. Hodel were commissioned as first lieutenants during the world war.

The new national guard unit comes as a successor to Company D, of the Second Idaho regiment, which was formed here in 1908, with J. D. Van Hook as its first commander. Thomas Devore later succeeded to command, and was followed by Captain P. W. S. Roberts, under whose leadership, the organization served in 1916 on the Mexican border and went to France in December, 1917, as headquarters company of the 14th field artillery regiment.

OWNER OF STOLEN CAR HERE TO CLAIM MACHINE

J. L. Clark, Price, Utah, whose Coupe was Taken by Auto Thieves at Contact, Recovers Property

Not only will J. Lloyd Clark, Price, Utah, building and loan association agent, recover his Ford coupe which was stolen January 23 in Provo, Utah, by two men, but he is to receive $100,000 from the county jail here, following their arrest three days later at Contact, Nevada, but he probably will recover a suit of clothes valued at $50 which the lads are said to have sold in Blackfoot for $5, and a traveling case valued at $25, which they are believed to have sold at the same place for $12.50.

Mr. Clark arrived here Thursday in response to a message from the sheriff's office, to claim his car. He expects to take it back to his home. It was driven, he said, when he stopped at a restaurant in Provo on his way home from Salt Lake.

Mr. Clark was advised that the missing clothing and traveling case had been traced to the lads, and authorities there had been requested to recover it.

A fire and the taken from the stolen car was recovered Thursday at the age at Hollister where it had been exchanged for gasoline.

SCHOOL DISTRICT PAYS $30,000 ON BOND ISSUE

Twin Falls independent school district has retired $30,000 worth of its bonds of an issue of April, 1908, for construction of the Lincoln school, leaving an unpaid balance in the sum of $10,000, according to statement Thursday of E. N. Flory, treasurer of the board of education. The original issue in the sum of $60,000 became payable in 1918 and is due in 1923.

NUMBER OF DELEGATES TO CONVENTIONS LISTED

Twin Falls County to Send Six to Republican, Five to Democratic and Four to Progressive

Twin Falls County will be represented by six, five and four delegates, respectively, in the state nominating conventions of the republican, democratic and progressive parties, August 26, according to computations set forth in a bulletin received Thursday at the county auditor's office from the office of the secretary of state.

The republican party in Idaho, according to this computation, will have 127 delegates at its convention with delegates to the democratic convention will number 96 and the progressive convention will send 80 delegates from the 44 counties.

Each county is allowed one delegate for each 400 party votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for state and national officers in the preceding election. The vote is determined by adding together all the votes cast for these offices in any one county and dividing by the number of offices. The number of delegates each party is entitled to from each county in the state conventions follows:

Richards, the magician, presented his first performance for Twin Falls theatre-goers before a fair-sized audience Thursday evening in the Laverly theatre. A number of unfortunate circumstances detracted somewhat from Mr. Richards' array of sleight-of-hand effects, which constituted the first part of the program, featuring all of the usual vanishing tricks with animals and birds, and introducing a Virginia in an additional stunt. The first part of the program ended with the mysterious "levitation" performance consisting of the suspension in midair of the lady assistant by Mr. Richards.

The second part was a demonstration of what Richards calls "clairvoyance," but more commonly known as clairvoyance, mind reading and ordinary fortune telling, which, also ended rather successfully for the wizard after an unfortunate start. Richards gives three more performances in Twin Falls Friday and Saturday evenings and special matinee Saturday afternoon for the school children.

Richards' performance contains the customary arrangement of effects in addition to a few original ones which relieve the monotony. Richards' patter is extremely entertaining, but it apparently failed to win the confidence of the audience Thursday night.

JURY DECLARES JENSEN GUILTY

Returns Verdict Against Defendant in Case Involving Alleged Theft of Sheep Pelts

Thomas Jensen was found guilty of grand larceny by a jury in district court here which returned the verdict Thursday afternoon after about two hours' deliberation. Judgment will be pronounced by Judge W. A. Babcock next Monday.

Trial in the case was resumed on Thursday morning after Judge Babcock announced his ruling denying the motion of the defense counsel for an instructed verdict. Jensen did not take the witness stand to testify in his own behalf, but defense counsel introduced testimony of other witnesses, including that of Jack Franco, president of the Twin Falls Feeders company, from whom Jensen was alleged to have stolen sheep pelts valued at $124, this allegation forming the basis of the charges, on which Jensen was brought to trial.

Following the return of the verdict in the Jensen case, trial was begun in the case of Clyde C. Hallenberger, a nephew of May Brown on a trip to Jarbidge, who is charged with illegal possession of nine gallons of whiskey, for the admitted possession of which Mrs. Brown is serving a jail term. A jury was impaneled in this case just before the evening session. Members of the jury are Hilding Johnson, D. B. Ryan, A. E. Kiles, L. C. Schneider, D. H. Cook, J. P. Jewett, E. S. Wood, George P. White, F. W. Mackey, J. G. Barkley, Luc Mauly, J. C. Porterfield.

The defendant Hallenberger is represented by Attorney E. V. Larson.

KANSANS GET INVITATION

Buhl Club Offers Welcome to All Former Residents of Sunflower State at Annual Banquet Meeting

An invitation to all former residents of Kansas to attend an annual banquet at Buhl this evening-off the Kansas club of Buhl, is contained in the following announcement by Mrs. L. G. Lacey for the executive committee: The Kansas club of Buhl will hold its annual banquet this year on Friday, February 1, instead of January 29, as is the custom. Every former Kansan is invited to this gathering of the Kansas club. If you do not get a card invitation it is because we do not have your address. We are going to try to have an interesting program as well as the usual banquet. Come early and bring your baskets of eats. The banquet will be at 8 o'clock, followed by the program. W. Orr Chapman will be the principal speaker and needs no introduction to you.

INDEPENDENT COMPANY SUES ITS LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES

Suit to recover $311.77 with interest from C. E. Munson and Donald McLean, co-partners and local representatives of the plaintiff corporation, was instituted in district court here Thursday by the Independent Oil and Gas company. On account of goods sold to the defendants during an eight months' period ending January 27, the company asks judgment for $234.77, and seeks its recovery of $76.99 alleged to represent money received by the defendants on behalf of the company, and $500 loaned by the company to the defendants. The plaintiff corporation is represented by William Story, Jr. and James H. Wolfe, Salt Lake, and J. R. Holwell and W. Orr Chapman, Twin Falls.

ARIDITY MARKS INITIAL MONTH

Weather Observer Reports Driest January Since Establishment of Station Here

Less precipitation was recorded during the month of January just closed than during the corresponding month since establishment of the government weather observer's station here, according to a monthly report of M. Hammons, local observer. The report shows a total of 23 one-hundredths of an inch of precipitation during the first month of this year. The total is nine one-hundredths of an inch less than that of January, 1923, the driest initial month prior to the month just closed. Snowfall during the month totaled four inches. There was nine-tenths of an inch of snow on the ground January 15, and a trace of snowfall has been recorded since that date.

Eleven out of the 31 days of the month were clear; 14 partly cloudy and six cloudy.

Maximum temperature was recorded on the last day of the month at 49 above and minimum at one below on January 6. Mean maximum for the month was computed at 34.2; mean minimum at 14.2, and average temperature at 24.2.
