M'ADOO LISTED FOR TESTIMONY IN LEASE CASE

Presidential Candidate to Tell of His Service as Oil Company Counsel; Fall to Be Called on Stand Again

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—William G. McAdoo, a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, is expected to appear before the Senate oil committee on Friday before the Senate oil committee at his request to tell of his employment as counsel by the Doherty oil interest after his retirement from the office of the secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration.

Mr. McAdoo, who is to arrive here tomorrow from California to attend the funeral of former President Wilson, has taken issue with E. L. Doherty that he has received "all told" $250,000 in fees, fixing the amount at $150,000. He also asserts that his present annual retainer is only half of the $50,000 figure named to the committee by Mr. Doherty.

Before Mr. McAdoo takes the stand Albert B. Fall, who as secretary of the interior granted leases to the Teapot Dome reserve to Harry F. Sinclair, and the California reservation No. 1 to the Doherty interests, will be recalled and asked to submit himself for examination. Should he again refuse, as committee members generally believe he will, on the ground that his testimony might tend to incriminate him in future court proceedings, the committee will determine whether contempt proceedings against him will be instituted.

Daniels May Testify.

Joseph Daniels, former secretary of the navy, who also is here to attend the funeral of Woodrow Wilson, may testify Friday in relation to the charges of Mr. Doherty that he would not leave the California naval reserve because he sought to protect big oil companies which Mr. Doherty claims were draining the funds. Mr. Daniels already has issued statements denying this charge.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, who has been the dominant figure in pressing the oil inquiry, said today the committee also would hear George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information during the war. Mr. Doherty had testified that he advanced $50,000 to J. Lee Stock of Colorado, who told him it was for Mr. Creel who was endeavoring to prevent leasing of the reserves to Republicans after the change of administrations.

Injury is Outcome of Lad's Attempt to Break Jail Here

Henry Moore, Age 17, Confessed Auto Thief, Severely Hurt when Blanket Rope Breaks; Fell 30 or 40 Feet

In an attempt to escape from the county jail on the fourth floor of the court house building here late last evening, Henry Moore, 17, held on chains of automobile theft to which he has confessed, fell 30 or 40 feet, between 30 and 40 feet to the ground when the rope he had made out of strips of his blanket broke soon after he began the descent. Moore suffered injuries that made further prosecution of his purpose impossible. He was removed to the county general hospital after the county physician had been summoned when Moore told the officers he believed his collarbone had been broken.

Moore gained access to the outside world by removing brick about the window in his cell. A bypass heard the impact of the body on the earth, followed by a moan and gasping for breath when Moore fell, and notified Sheriff M. E. Finch of the occurrence.

Moore was arrested January 25 at Contact, Nevada, in company with Orval Oakirk, 18, Provo, and Francis L. Blum, 17, Manda, Mo. Moore, who orally subsequently pleaded guilty here to theft of an automobile owned by C. D. Thomas, local realtor. They had abandoned the Thomas car soon after leaving Twin Falls and when apprehended were traveling in a car which they confessed they had stolen from J. L. Clark, Price, Utah, and which subsequently was returned to the owner when he came here to claim his missing property.

The lads told the officers they were traveling to California. Moore said he has a brother residing at Sawtelle, California.

Lioness Cause of Tragedy in Arena

Enraged Animal Kills Aged Italian Working as an "Extra" in Movie Production at Rome

ROME, Feb. 5 (AP)—An enraged lioness today tore or mauled to death an aged Italian, Augusto Palmi, a "super" in a moving picture company which was filming "Quo Vadis." The entire company witnessed the tragedy.

Several lions and lionesses had been brought into the arena of the Circus Maximus of Nero, which was constructed for the picture. The lioness became highly excited and jumped over the barrier and landed squarely upon Palmi and began tearing at his flesh and crushing his bones with her huge jaws.

GRAND JURY TO SIFT CHARGES

Conduct of Veterans' Bureau Under Forbes to Be Subject of Investigation

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A special grand jury to investigate the conduct of the veterans' bureau under Director Charles R. Forbes has been summoned to convene tomorrow.

Assistant Attorney General John W. Crimin and four associates in the federal department of justice are prepared to present evidence gathered in the nine months' senate investigation of the bureau to the grand jury. More than 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed. The inquiry is expected to follow closely the lines of the investigation conducted last year by the special senate committee headed by Senator Reed, republican, of Pennsylvania. The committee's report, filed last month, charged fraud, corruption and mismanagement in the conduct of the bureau under Director Forbes. Witnesses who unfolded the story of contract awards and supply sales connected before the senatorial investigation are understood to be under summons for the grand jury proceedings.

Governmental Departments to Close in Spite of Law; No Military Pageantry Provided in Final Sad Rites

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Although a technicality of the law forbids it, the great executive departments of the government will suspend their multitudinous activities tomorrow afternoon as an expression of respect for former President Wilson.

Under an old statute, work cannot be suspended because of the death of a former official, but President Coolidge and his cabinet found a way at today's session to make an exception to that requirement. It was decided that no executive order should be issued by the president, but that each secretary would inform those under him that nothing would be required of them after 12:30 p. m. on the funeral day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Leadily in the inscrutable majesty of death, Woodrow Wilson kept his last night in the quiet room where life ebbed away. Eternal calm and great peace brooded over the still, strong face. Deep grooved lines etched by years of pain and suffering were softened in death, the look of strain gone forever.

Dear ones will have looked their last on these chiseled features when another sun has set. The broken machine, robbed of the vibrant spirit that ruled it, will be laid tenderly away in an alabaster marble to sleep forever.

Services to Be Brief.

There was little more of preparation necessary today for the funeral ceremonies tomorrow. They will be doubly striking by their simplicity. Even the double religious services will be brief, lacking much of the sadness of church ceremonial. Of military pageantry there will be none. It was Woodrow Wilson's wish.

Three times in less than three years, the national capital has been called to witness the solemn ceremonial attending the funeral rites of men to whom the nation would pay highest honors. First in that succession came the funeral of America's unknown soldier.

Profound sorrow marked the funeral of President Harding. He also had been struck down in the full tide of

FARMER RELIEF IN NORTHWEST EXPECTED SOON

Formation of $10,000,000 Private Corporation Forecast by Government Men; Coolidge Plans Other Steps

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Formation ready for business within a few days of the $10,000,000 privately organized corporation to furnish relief to farmers and bankers in the northwest was forecast today by government officials and departing delegates to President Coolidge's conference on the economic situation in the northwestern states.

Secretary Hoover, who acted as chairman of the conference, announced that the capital of the corporation had been practically guaranteed by the commercial and industrial interests represented in the conference, although actual subscriptions had not been received. He pointed out that although the corporation would be organized privately it would have the peace brooded over the still, strong face. Deep grooved lines etched by years of pain and suffering were softened in death, the look of strain gone forever.

President Coolidge disclosed during the day that in addition to formation of the corporation he "carrying on" of "other" steps recommended by yesterday's conference and such pending legislation as the Norbeck-Burnette bill he proposed to take further action to relieve the situation in the northwest if possible. Speaking to a group of agricultural delegates to the conference who called at the White House, Mr. Coolidge said he hoped the pending investigation of the wheat tariff by the tariff commission under the Fordney-McCumber act's flexible decisions would justify him in raising the wheat duty from 30 cents a bushel to 45 cents a bushel.

Mr. Coolidge agreed with the agricultural delegates on the advisability of passing the Norbeck-Burnette bill to provide government loans to enable wheat farmers to buy livestock but said he was not prepared, pending study, to give his endorsement to the McNary-Hagen measure which would create a government corporation to buy and sell the country's exportable surplus of farm crops.

AWARD CONTRACT ON NEVADA LINE

Utah Construction Company Gets Work for 178 Miles from Wells to Winnemucca

ODGEN, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Utah Construction company announced here today it had obtained two railroad contracts, one for work on the Natron cutoff in Oregon for the Southern Pacific company, and the other in Nevada for the Western Pacific company.

The Oregon contract, the announcement says, extends for a distance of 178 miles between Wells and Winnemucca. The contract calls for widening the present grade, construction of abutments for new bridges, and relaying and re-surfacing the entire track to put it in shape for joint use by the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific pursuant to a traffic agreement drawn.

GOVERNMENT STOPS SALE OF U. S. CERTIFICATES

Suspend Savings Offerings in Oklahoma as First Step in Move Intended to Boost Farmer Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The government late today withdrew from sale in Oklahoma its savings certificates, the offering of which was suspended in 17 western and middle western states last week, upon agreement between Postmaster General Nease and Secretary Mellon that suspension of the sales might be of aid to the local credit situation.

There was no comment from the treasury as to why Oklahoma was added to the list of states in which sales were suspended other than that some complaint had come from Oklahoma that local funds should remain there for use. High treasury officials reiterated their previous belief that the sale of treasury saving certificates was only a small factor in the general financial situation.

Federal Grand Jury Finds District Executive Was Guilty of Graft But They Fail to Indict Him

DENVER, Feb. 5 (AP)—The special grand jury appointed to investigate charges against Grady Hillyer, United States district attorney, returned its report today finding "that the charges brought before the court that the United States district attorney is in league with bootleggers and to lift to hold his office are substantiated by the evidence which we have heard."

The jury, however, did not return an indictment against Hillyer.

Charges against Hillyer were made by the Rev. James Thomas, pastor of the Grant Avenue Methodist church.

APPROVE DRY LAW FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The house today approved a section of the treasury appropriation bill which provides $10,029,770 for prohibition enforcement in the United States during the coming fiscal year.

Caught in the lower levels of the small mine, only seven of the crew of 49 at work were able to gain the safety of the shaft and ascend to the surface.

Likewise in a trap their comrades died, suffocated by the silty mud and water that gushed through the workings, soaring in the shaft to within a few feet of the top within 15 minutes.

There were no extended warnings "just a rumble like a thousand automobiles rolling down a distant road," one survivor said. Then the heaping black waves of death engulfed them, battering its gullets against the walls. Night found the men at the shaft opening, some of wives and mothers, and children stood, some in frantic tears, others dry eyed and staring, as helplessly as were the men about them, to snatch from the murky waters the bodies of their loved ones.

Most of the victims were young men, many of them married, and many of the children. One look up the awful full with their mothers were first, clutching in wonderment at their mothers' skirts, awed by the thing that had made them orphans.

While a number of the men were foreigners, by far the greater number were naturalized Americans or American born, and all were experienced miners, working in an old mine deemed entirely safe.

The mine, situated about four miles north of Crosby in a region somewhat swampy, formerly was the old Ida May mine, owned by the Cuyuna-Minneapolis Iron Co.

It is operated under lease by the Whitmarsh Mining company and owned by George H. Crosby of Duluth. The shaft of the Milford mine is 123 feet deep and the main level of the mine is 100 feet beneath the surface of the earth, running northeast and southwest, a drift 1,800 feet long. North of the mine lies Island lake.

Germans Slow To Show Sympathy in America's Sorrow

Berlin Envoys at Washington Finally Decide to Put Flag at Half Mast; Tension Editors Not Aggrieved

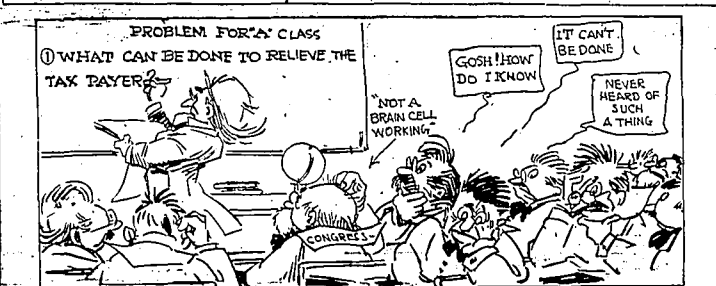

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The German embassy, which so far has given no official expression of mourning in the death of Woodrow Wilson, will fly its flag at half-staff beginning at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon when the executive department of the American government will be closed to honor the memory of the former president.

In response to a question late today officials of the embassy said: "It having been officially announced that we have heard that there will be general mourning for the late President Wilson after 12:30 o'clock the German embassy will join the expression of the nation's mourning by flying its flag at half-staff."

Comment was aroused when it was noticed that the flag was not at half staff, although with the exception of the Austrian legation all other embassies and legations had their flags flying in mourning to the late president. At the Austrian embassy it was said the flag would be flown at half staff during the day of the funeral, but at the German embassy it was stated earlier in the day there was no official display of mourning on orders from the Berlin government which regarded Mr. Wilson as a private citizen.

BERLIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—Most of the Berlin papers in commenting on the death of former President Woodrow Wilson, seem to find it difficult to follow the old adage not to speak ill of the dead. The majority of them consider that it was Wilson's "fourteen points" that brought Germany to an satisfactory peace. His achievements are compared with Nikolai Lenin, the "Tages Zeitung" declaring "the great difference between them was that Wilson conferred on other nations the blessing of his disinterested experiments with Lenin made only his own people victims."

NO WONDER COOLIDGE INSISTS ON THE MELLON PLAN

FORMER LEADER HAD NEW PLANS FOR HIS PARTY

Woodrow Wilson Did Not Plan to Again Seek Office But Had Formed Policies to Be Accepted by Democrats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—What will be the political effect of the passing of former President Wilson is a question that only time can answer. From his place of retirement he kept a keen eye on the fortunes of the party over which he once enjoyed such an undisputed leadership, but almost diabolical control. He told his friends that he looked to 1924 as a year of vindication at the polls for the democratic principles that went into eclipse in 1920, but he never revealed to anyone how far he might be prepared to go in asserting his claim to a place in party councils. It is certain there was no truth in widely circulated reports that the former president planned again to become a candidate for the nomination. And if he had any preference among those who were seeking to inherit his mantle of leadership, he kept it from some of his closest friends.

Faithful to His Policies. He did plan, however, to make a very definite effort to align his party behind the policies that he believed to his dying day to constitute the paramount issues before the country and the world. He expected to place before the democratic convention in concrete form a declaration of principles which, in his mind, would signify a recommitment to the fundamentals of democracy. Not only in regard to foreign affairs but in domestic questions as well, he was preparing to lay before the party the fruits of his long months of retirement. It is not that he never wavered in his belief in the justice of nations which he did so much to create, but it must remain one of the problems of history whether in his declining days there was any softening of the determined stand he had taken against a compromise in the form of American participation in the league's activities. Almost his last public utterance was a reaffirmation of his complete contempt for those who had blocked the way of his proposals in the senate, but in the two days of his last illness, after he saw the end nearing, he appeared to put out of his thoughts entirely all the public questions that for so long had been the meat and bread of the keen intellect.

Waited Opportunity. His plan to place his proposals squarely before his party and ask for a decision was long in maturing during the months of waiting for the opportunity he saw in the offing. But before he died he had made up his mind and the very few confident to whom he imparted his intentions knew that once Woodrow Wilson had reached a determination—nothing but the hand of death could stop him from putting it into execution. Once he had this declaration of the principles before the nation, the former president expected to call on the party leaders who could stand for such a platform. But if he had any desire to actually select the candidate the name of the man he favored must forever remain locked in the tomb.

Old-Timers Started Young. At nine Dante composed a masterly sonnet; Tasso wrote verses at ten; Mozart learned the harpsichord in his fourth year; Byron imitated fluent and passionate love verses when he was ten; and Macaulay wrote a "Compendium of Universal History" in his eighth year.

DEATH CLOSES LONG SERVICE IN U. S. NAVY

Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, Veteran of Civil War, Dies; Survived Numerous Engagements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas Oliver Selfridge, retired, died at his home here yesterday of heart disease. He would have passed his 88th birthday Wednesday.

Admiral Selfridge and his father, who bore the same name and attained the same rank, served the navy for 100 years, the elder enlisting in 1818. The younger achieved fame in the Civil war.

Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge was a son of a distinguished family of naval officers that has served in the United States navy since its organization. Four members of the family, extending through three successive generations, have been enrolled as officers. Three of these, grandfather, father and son, have all borne the name of Thomas O. Selfridge.

Admiral Selfridge, whose death occurred today, led a thrilling career, both in war and peace. Born at Charlestown, Mass., in 1836, he graduated from Annapolis at the head of his class at 18 years of age. Seven years of cruising prepared him for service in the Civil war.

Narrow Escapes
His many narrow escapes from death were almost miraculous. As second lieutenant he was aboard the USS Albatross when that vessel was sent to the bottom of Hampton Roads with 120 of her crew by the iron bark of the Merrimack. A change in orders to take command of the Monitor saved him from going down with that vessel in a gale off Cape Hatteras. He again faced death in command of one of the world's first submarine boats, the Albatross, in 1862.

One of his most thrilling adventures occurred when he was transferred to the Mississippi river fleet under Admiral Porter. Young Selfridge was given command of the Cairo, which was blown from under him by a torpedo in the Yazoo river. At the siege of Vicksburg he was under constant fire while in command of a siege battery. During the Red river expedition his ship, the Osage, was stranded and surrounded by a large force of Confederates and escaped only after 500 of them were killed or wounded.

Won Many Honors
Admiral Selfridge's last active sea service was as commander-in-chief of the European squadron with the rank of rear admiral, which he had attained at the age of 60. Two years afterward he was retired, according to regulations. He and his father then formed the unique spectacle of two American admirals of the same rank and name on the retired list.

During his long career he won many honors. He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France, was a recipient of the gold Coronation Medal from the czar of Russia, and was an honorary member of the Royal Geographical society of Belgium.

Admiral Selfridge was married twice. He married Ellen Shipley of Portland, Me., in 1862 and Gertrude Wilds of Jamestown, N. I., in 1907.

Public Health Is Public Wealth

WEANING THE BABY (Part I)

The weaning of the baby should be carried out in such a manner as to cause little or no discomfort to the child and to the mother. Few mothers can continue to nurse their infant until it is one year of age, and generally the best interest of the child is served by weaning at, or shortly after, the ninth month. Sometimes there is delay in weaning on account of the fear that doing so during the warm summer months may cause disturbance. If there is any evidence that the child is not doing well at the breast, it is unwise to unduly prolong nursing on account of considerations of weather, especially in our moderate climate. The process can very safely be carried out if care is taken in handling the food, and if too abrupt changes are not made.

It is well to wean the baby if the mother is not able to supply at least two satisfactory feedings. It is not necessary to wean on account of brief and not severe illnesses on the part of the mother, although at times it is advisable to temporarily remove the child from the breast, substituting bottle feedings, and maintaining the milk supply by removing the milk from the breasts by means of a breast pump, or by expressing it. The occurrence of protracted illnesses of the mother generally precludes successful nursing and the baby must be taken from the breast. The re-establishment of menstruation is not a reason for weaning provided the child continues to do well, or if he shows only minor disturbance during the menstrual period. Many infants, however, need some additional bottle feeding from this time on.

Except when sudden weaning is necessitated by severe illness of the mother, or by other emergency conditions, the replacement of breast feeding by other foods should be a gradual process. In anticipation of the time when weaning will be necessary, it is well to quite early accustom the infant to cow's milk dilutions, given from a bottle. After the first month, a practice can be made of having an occasional or even one feeding daily consisting of a suitable milk mixture, thus adapting the infant to the new food, and at the same time relieving the mother of concern, should it be necessary for her to be away from the infant for a short period. It is also quite desirable to have the infant thoroughly accustomed to taking cereal foods before weaning is commenced, and a daily feeding of cereals (preferably farina, cream of wheat or oatmeal), can practically always be given after the sixth month. Great caution must be observed in starting the child on any solid food—only very small quantities must be given at first, and the amount gradually increased.

GROWERS GET PRICE RAISE

Utah Farmers Will Get $2 a Ton Above Last Year's Figures for Peas Under Canning Contracts

OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 5 (AP)—Martin P. Brown, president of the Weber county farm bureau, today announced that pea growers of the Weber district had signed a contract with the Utah Canners association whereby the price to be paid pea growers this year will be $2 a ton above the price paid last year. The top price will be $55 a ton for number one grade early Alaskan. The contract signed with Weber growers is said to indicate a similar contract will be signed with growers in other districts of the state.

COUNTIES MOVE TO KEEP AGENTS

Fourteen Sign Contracts Employing Agricultural Leaders; Issue Pending Here

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Feb. 5.—Fourteen counties in the state have signed contracts employing county agents from the university, three more have contracts pending and several others are now considering establishment of the service, according to W. B. Kjosness, county agent leader in the extension division of the college of agriculture at the university, who has been visiting the campus in connection with the work.

The following counties have already signed contracts employing agents during 1924: Kootenai, Latah, Gem, Gooding, Camas, Blaine, Cassia, Power, Bingham, Blaine, Caribou, Bear Lake, Oneida and Franklin. Teton, Boundary and Twin Falls counties have contracts to which signatures are pending.

"The fine spirit manifested by all boards of county commissioners in renewing the contracts for county agent work is a reflection of the good will and confidence of the farmers, business men and bankers of the state toward the university and its field work," declared Mr. Kjosness.

He went on to explain the work being done. "County agents are members of the university faculty residing in the field whose work it is to give practical demonstrations of proven scientific practices advocated by the university. The educational message which these men bring to the public is of such great economic importance and present worth that they have been most instrumental in breaking down the prejudice once held against college men based on the theory that they earned nothing of practical value while in school.

"More and more field work conducted by county agents demonstrating the control of economic pests, improved production methods and superior marketing practices has commanded the respect of thinking citizens and increased their confidence in the university and its work. We find leading successful men anxious to employ our graduates for responsible positions after brief periods of apprenticeship in subordinate positions.

"In connection with county agent work it is a source of great gratification to note the high degree of success attained by our own graduates in field positions."

KIMBERLY LOSES TO FILER FIVE

Four-Year Team Unable to Compete with Denman Aggregation; Lapp Stars

KIMBERLY, Feb. 5.—(Special to The News).—Filer, in a brilliant display of basketball, felled the Kimberly Cowboys in the game of 26-14, in a fast game in the local gymnasium, Tuesday evening. As a preliminary to the regular game, the Filer girls' team smothered the Kimberly co-eds with an 18-0 score.

Apparently the Kimberly coach had named his men to guard Lapp and Shinn, who have been Filer's most consistent point guards throughout the season up to Tuesday's game, and as a result Lapp, the short and fast forward for the Wildcats, broke into the line with seven field goals, which accounts for the larger part of the Filer score.

To start the game off Lapp converted two free throws. Three more were scored by Shinn, but even this lead of five points failed to keep the Kimberly squad from fouling and Lapp was the next in line, but failed to make his chance good. The next score also came on a free throw, when Shinn fouled the ball making the score read 6-0 in Filer's favor with every point on free throws. From then the Cowboys showed more cautious practices and succeeded in netting two goals by the end of the half, while Lapp for the visitors was busy with three field goals which completed the half with the score reading 12-4 in favor of the Denman aggregation.

In the second half Olsen replaced Weaver, who was in poor condition to play from the first due to an illness and the Filer men again resumed their constant scoring game with both Shinn and Lapp leading the way by safe margins while Severance of the Kimberly squad stood out as the pre-eminent player on the Kimberly squad. The Kimberly guarding was perfect in the case of Lapp, but it apparently was not intended to cover the remainder of the Filer quietest, and the result score of 26-14 is the story.

WILSON WAS GRID COACH

Late American War Executive Once Earned His Mark as Mentor of Varsity Football Machine

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 5 (AP)—Woodrow Wilson, when professor of history and political economy at Wesleyan university from 1888 to 1890, made his mark as a football coach. He helped establish an offensive which up to previous Wesleyan methods. He contracted the line to three men and moved the backs into positions from which they made drive plays, while their own plunging line held attention to the defensive opposing team. The tactics carried Wesleyan to victory over the University of Pennsylvania and paved the way for a record kick against Harvard, then regarded as a remarkable achievement.

MOVIE MEN LOSE TWO TO BAKERY

Idaho Theatre Bowlers Are Victims of Royal Dough Mixers in Mediocre Game

The two-one win was again demonstrated Tuesday evening when the Royal Bakery dough mixers rolled a victory out of the reach of the Idaho theatre lads and thus spoiled the splendid advance made by the movie lads during the past two weeks. The dough mixers were not to be left out of the reckoning, however, in the evening's performance for Laville took the high honors with 562, followed by Towan, the rival captain, who made 556 in three games.

Kerr took Smith's customary place in the bakery lineup after a vacation of several weeks from the baker's quiet and made 449 for his first attempt.

BUHL QUINTET TRIMS LEGION

Many Fouls Are Called During Contest Between All-Stars and West-End Team

BUHL, Feb. 5 (Special to The News).—The Twin Falls All-Star Legion basketball team fared badly with the Buhl team in a return engagement here Tuesday evening. The final score read 28-28 in favor of the Buhl casaba tasters.

The game throughout was interesting to the large crowd of spectators which jammed the Buhl gymnasium to see the game between the rival towns. The usual science and basketball technique displayed by the two teams earlier in the season was lacking, and the game was punctuated frequently by many fouls by both teams. Mediocre basketball, coupled with some of the football tactics used by the two teams in their previous engagement, marked the game.

Exeter, forward, was the star for the visitors, scoring 18 of the 28 points made by the visitors, while Simpson and Griffiths both featured for Buhl, the latter doing the most of the stellar scoring by annexing 18 points for the west-enders, while Simpson followed with 11 tallies.

Harry Barry, Buhl high school coach, pleased the fans with his decisive rulings in his capacity as referee.

EXTEND RUTH'S CONTRACT

Will Play Three More Years with New York Yankees; His Salary Estimated at Quarter of a Million

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Babe Ruth's contract with the New York Yankees has three years more to run and at annual figure of $52,000. This it was said, is the result of the club's decision to exercise the two year option received when the home slugging slugger signed a three year agreement in 1922. In round numbers, the Babe's salary will be a quarter of a million dollars for the five year period, but from a variety of sources, including farmstoring, his earnings may double that amount.

POCATELLO GETS FARM LOAN MEET

Federal Representatives Say $24,000,000 Has Been Loaned to Idaho Growers

POCATELLO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Presidents and secretaries of farm loan associations representing 31 districts in southeastern Idaho are holding a convention in Pocatello.

The meeting is one of a series to be held at central points where the federal bank operates and one of its chief purposes is to bring about a better understanding of methods of operation as between the banks and loan associations which constitute its stockholders.

M. R. Lewis, representing the federal land bank of Spokane, Wash., is in attendance at the convention and states that nearly $24,000,000 have been loaned by that institution in Idaho. At the present time, Mr. Lewis said in speaking for the Spokane institution, there is plenty of money to loan on present approved values of farms and the loan board of the bank is ready and willing to pass any and all loans that come within the requirements of appraisement values.

Screen

BRILLIANT BALL OPENS

Under supervision of Frank Lloyd, Theodore Kosloff, famous ballet virtuoso of the films, trained the participants and led the stately dances in the grand Lovell hall room scene which provides the majestic opening for Joseph M. Schenck's production, "Ashes of Vengeance," a First National picture, starring Norma Talmadge, at the Orpheum theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Lovell set is the largest and most magnificent ever screened. It is 330 feet long, 90 feet wide and 60 feet high. The hall depicted is the most brilliant arranged by the ambitious Catherine de Medici, and comes as a climax in the schemes of this ruthless mother of weak willed Charles IX. Though climax in her schemes, it is the opening of the narrative of "Ashes of Vengeance," and launches the picture in a burst of tense dramatic power and spectacular magnificence.

ARRANGE LAST DETAILS FOR WILSON'S FUNERAL

his service to the flag and men mourned his untimely death.

Third Day of Mourning. Tomorrow comes the third day of national mourning, a day that will be strangely different from those that went before. Again the nation stands eager to lavish the full splendor of its sorrow.

Again it would blaze on to the world its pride as well as its sorrow in the life that has ended, but he would not have had it so and the American people have acquired in his longing for privacy.

There will be no sound of drum or funeral wail; no military coloring save the uniform of a handful of gallant comrades of the sister services over which, in their great hour of trial by the fire of war, he was commander-in-chief. They alone will lay hands upon his casket in his last journey.

The family service at the city street home will be held in the quiet room in which the dead war president lay tonight.

The room looks out over the same quiet garden upon which he last gazed from the windows of the death chamber. It is a peaceful, quiet room, remote from the noise of the city for the strife and contentions of the world. Before its wide fireplace Woodrow Wilson found much ease and comfort despite the heavy hand of fatal illness that lay upon him.

Will Read from His Book

A short half hour will serve for the intimate leave-taking. There will be only the trio of clergymen to speak the kindly, consoling words of the psalms and entreat God's tenderest compassion for dear ones from whom he is parting. They will read, too, from the light, worn book of devotional exercises that Woodrow Wilson scanned through the years in his nightly readings, even as he searched the scriptures for those texts that would stay his spirit against the trials of a day to come.

There will be no music or hymns in the home service, although in life he had great love for three of the old, solemn melodies that have taught men courage and patience. There is something significant of Woodrow Wilson's character in his choice among all those he heard in his calm, church-going way of life. His favorite of all was "Day Is Dying in the West," the soothing, lulling hymn that breathes of peace and rest and devout worship for a tender, loving God. But also his strong spirit was drawn by the majesty of "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," and to him came like a battlement the pealing call of "The Son of God Goes Forth to War."

WILSON'S DEATH FELT IN LEAGUE

Drummond Expresses Seriousness of Loss; Foreign Nations Set Day of Mourning

GENEVA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the league of nations, issued today in behalf of his colleagues of the secretariat the following statement on the death of Woodrow Wilson:

"Nowhere in the world will the death of Mr. Wilson awake stronger emotions than amongst those at Geneva who while he has lain stricken on his sick-bed have been privileged to take part directly in the attempt to translate into practice the high principles of international co-operation and conciliation, for which he may truly be said to have given his life.

"Undoubtedly the greatest of our spiritual leaders has passed away, a man who had the opportunity granted to few indeed of standing at a crossroads in history and pointing out a new way for his fellowmen.

"Mr. Wilson has gone, but the work to which he gave his life has only just begun.

Secretary Drummond telegraphed Mrs. Wilson a message of sympathy on behalf of himself and his colleagues.

BLANKET SENT

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 5 (AP)—"Tommy" Wilson's relatives and friends today sent to Washington their tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson—a blanket of gray moss and magnolia leaves from a tree that once sheltered the play of a local school boy, who long afterwards became a world figure.

The blanket, fashioned with tender care to cover that obscure boy in his last, exalted sleep, was taken to the capital, scene of his triumph and death, by Miss Katherine Woodrow, of Rockhill, a cousin, and Colonel George McMaster of Columbia. Into its weaving went many cherished memories of the time when "Tommy's" father, the Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, was a professor in the Columbia theological seminary and preached in the First Presbyterian church in the grounds of which, several years ago, he laid the body of his sister, Mrs. George Howe, beside those of his parents.

42 MEN PERISH AS MINE IS FLOODED

and between the mine and this lake was a small pond—tonight much smaller, its shores a mire, for its waters filled the workings of the mine.

Forty-nine were at work.

It was just after 3:30 p. m. when the disaster occurred. Working in the lower level, scattered about in groups, were the 40 men, nearing the end of their day's toil.

Reaching out under the bed of the pond was a drift in the mine, portion close, it now develops, to the insecure bottom of the small pond.

It seemed as if the roof of the mine had fallen without warning and as the muddy waters rushed into the drift, men working near the spot were instantly engulfed and presumably instantly killed.

One of the seven survivors said he was working near the shaft when a sudden he heard a rumble which at most at once became an ominous roar.

FEDERALS ROUT REBEL TROOPS

Huerta and Staff Leave Vera Cruz for Unknown Destination; Town Captured

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Adolfo de la Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolution, and his staff, have left Vera Cruz on a steamer for an unknown destination, according to information received this afternoon from a reliable quarter. The rebel troops, the advisers stated, were evacuating the city.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—The advance of the federal troops against Vera Cruz gained ground yesterday when the loyal forces captured the town of Fortin, six miles from the strategic railway junction of Cordoba, after a battle lasting more than seven hours.

The battle in which rebel troops under command of General Guadalupe Sanchez, and the federals under General Crehalejo were engaged, took place under the Metline canon, a redoubtable natural fortress which was finally crossed by the Yaqui soldiers.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—The capture of Cordoba by federal forces commanded by General Fustio Tepetit has been officially confirmed, according to a dispatch from General Eugenio Martinez and Arnulfo Gomez, military commandant of Mexico City.

Boy's Ready Rejoinder.

Lessons in school had been proceeding for about an hour when a boy took an apple from his pocket and began to eat it. The teacher saw him. "Put into the schoolyard and finish your lunch," he said sternly. To his surprise the boy quietly rose and moved to the door. Then he turned. "Please, sir," he said, "can me little brother come too, 'cos half of it is his?"

SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams
Telephone 396

The regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club was held Tuesday afternoon in the Baptist bungalow. The usual business was transacted with the president, Mrs. W. Orr Chapman, in the chair. During this time the following "stunt" committee was appointed to provide amusement immediately after the noon hour at the annual "contestation" meeting which will be held on Tuesday, February 19: Mrs. S. C. Wray, chairman; Mrs. H. C. Gertner, Mrs. Dickerson, Mrs. E. M. Wolfe and Mrs. Robert B. Marsh.

The president, especially urged that all members be present if possible at the morning session which will begin this year at 11 o'clock. Mrs. L. E. Joslyn appeared before the club making appeal for their support of the play to be given by the Parent-Teachers' association on the evening of February 22, the proceeds of which are to be used for playground equipment.

The program in charge of the music department followed and presented one of the most pleasing and clever ever given at the club. It was a well-managed show, with Mrs. D. L. Alexander, who is chairman of this section, as interlocutor. Mrs. N. J. Keefe and Mrs. Lawrence Hodgins, attired in dress suits and as black as any Sambo, were the end men, and each sang a solo. There was a song by a trio composed of Mrs. E. G. Sturdevant, Mrs. F. T. Kellogg and Mrs. H. C. Maguire, and Mrs. W. H. Dwight danced the cake walk.

The members of the circle were attired in white skirts, red jacket and red cap with chin strap. Mrs. Metlin Hatley was accompanist and the cast was composed of Mesdames N. J. Keefe, O. P. Duvall, H. C. Maguire, F. T. Kellogg, C. E. Sturdevant, Lawrence Hodgins, W. H. Dwight, A. L. Oslund, H. E. Vogel and F. W. Dumke. Mrs. Alexander trained the players and also sang a vocal solo.

At a regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women held in the club rooms Monday evening plans were made for a Valentine dinner and party, to be given in honor of the new members who are to be received into the club that evening.

Mrs. Owen McLain entertained at her home at the sugar factory Tuesday afternoon with a delightful "500" party. After the game a two course luncheon was served. The guests were Mesdames Dibble, Bowen, Keller, Tattington, Finlayson and Hedstrom.

Mrs. S. H. Kaylor will entertain the Wilmot club on Wednesday with a 1:30 luncheon at her country home.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crater gave a fine turkey dinner for the guests in their home on Sixth avenue north in honor of the birthday of E. L. Ashton. A handsome birthday cake was a feature of the celebration. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whinnig were invited guests.

COMMERCE BODY GETS FREIGHT RATE REVISION

Oregon Short Line Adopts New Tariff Giving Local Jobbers Even Break with Competitors, Directors Are Told

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors at a regular meeting Tuesday evening were advised by a communication received that day by the secretary that the Oregon Short Line Railway company, in response to representations made by the chamber of commerce, has adopted a new freight tariff giving a set of discounting rates to shippers from Twin Falls that will be equivalent mile for mile with the rates fixed for Pocatello and Boise.

The exact date at which the new rates will be made effective was not stated in the communication received by the chamber, but assurance was given that the matter would not be long delayed.

Curse for Inequality.

The new tariff is expected to remedy the present situation under which local jobbers are required to pay more for shipping goods to points in the Wood River region and other surrounding territory, than do competing jobbers situated a greater distance from these points.

Representations made by the local chamber of commerce in support of its request for revision of the rates included a detailed schedule setting forth existing rates which operate to the disadvantage of Twin Falls jobbers.

It was shown, for example, that local jobbers pay an 100 pounds of first class freight to Richfield $1.00, while Boise jobbers shipping the same freight to the same destination would pay $1.2 cents and Pocatello 98 1/2 cents.

Reach Out for Territory.

Grasping an opportunity to divert a greater volume of tourist travel through Twin Falls, the chamber's directors Tuesday evening voted to be more affiliated with the Western Coast Tourist and Traveling association which has for a principal purpose the directing of tourists over a route from Los Angeles, through Tonopah, Wells and Contact, Nevada, to Twin Falls, and on to the Yellowstone national park.

More than 10,000 maps on which this route is prominently indicated will be distributed by the association during the coming season.

In this connection, and upon recommendation of C. E. Lind, chairman of the roads department, a resolution was adopted urging members of the Idaho delegation in congress to work for improvement of roads in national parks.

Oppose Tax Proposal.

Idaho's senators and representatives in congress also have been urged by the local chamber of commerce, according to report made by T. J. Lloyd, to exert their influence against adoption of a provision of the Mellon tax revision plan which would abolish the right to make income tax returns on the basis of community property in the seven states recognizing community property rights of which Idaho is one. Effect of the Mellon provision in this respect, it is contended, would be to increase income taxes against persons entitled in this state to file returns on the community property basis.

For Merchants' Carnival.

Women of the Twentieth century club have been associating and support of the chamber of commerce in their plan for a Merchants' Carnival to be held here next month, and the chamber president was authorized to appoint a committee to work with the women's organization in this undertaking.

The directors also heard a detailed explanation given by M. C. Mitchell, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, and a member of the chamber directorate, of the effect of recent legislation requiring authorization by the electors at a special election for levying of tax in excess of 8 mills for operation of schools.

Newman, secretary; Edgar Russell, James Denny and Margaret Selley.

The sophomore officers are: Clinton Evans, who was re-elected president; Dahl Pachwitz, secretary, and Edwin Dineen, counselor.

A vote of popular opinion on the publication of the annual year book, "The Comet," also was taken Friday, the vote being in favor of publication, which will largely depend upon the subscription to the book which has always proved difficult in the past, due to a ruling that no advertisement appear in the book. As yet no definite action has been taken on the Comet, but this year, Laried Jenkins will be manager of the 1924 annual and Stanley Cron its editor.

ACCUSED CIDER MAKER AWAITS JURY DECISION

Hope for Release of Fred Brandes, Charged with Attempt to Burn Competitor's Plant, Grows with Passing Hours

Fred Brandes, manager of the Payette Vinegar and Cider works, Tuesday night awaited the decision of a jury in district court here as to his guilt or innocence of a charge of second degree arson in connection with an attempt to burn the plant of the Twin Falls Vinegar and Cider works, competing concern, here last December. The case went to the jury at about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

As the hours wore on and no word came from the jury room hope for an acquittal or at least a disagreement were strengthened in the breasts of friends of the accused man, including Brandes' counsel, who had the local concern and the complaining witness in the case, who had said under cross examination by the prosecuting attorney that he hoped Brandes would not be convicted.

Relies on Friends

Brandes did not testify in his own behalf, but relied entirely upon the testimony of five Payette citizens appearing as character witnesses, and upon the skill of his attorneys in argument to destroy the chain of evidence against him built up by the prosecution. Payette citizens who, on the witness stand today, testified that Brandes' reputation is an excellent one, included Colonel L. V. Patch, former Idaho attorney general and manager of a canning works at Payette; John D. Jones, newspaper editor; the Rev. Thomas A. Wyorth, E. W. Dugan and C. A. Smith.

The complaining witness was called to testify for the defense, in the absence of the jury, in connection with the effort of the defense to exclude from the record the testimony of Charles E. Jones, deputy sheriff, relative to an alleged conspiracy of Brandes to strike testimony of E. P. Rater, deputy sheriff, relative to statements made by Brandes in the presence of himself, Bolton and J. A. Cron.

Admits Consolidation Project

Under cross-examination Bolton admitted further that an arrangement had been effected subsequent to Brandes' arrest whereby the Payette and Twin Falls concerns were to be consolidated.

In argument, attorneys Frank L. Stephan and Shad L. Holgin of defense counsel attacked the evidence offered by the prosecution to convict Brandes, declaring that it was made up of a number of disconnected circumstances.

If convicted, Brandes would be subject to penalty of the law providing for punishment by imprisonment in the state prison for a term of from one to 10 years.

FRUIT MEN HEAR EXPERTS

Visiting Members of State University Faculty Tell of Successful War on Insect Pests in Orchards

A meeting of about 50 fruit growers of this district held Tuesday evening in Parish hall under auspices of the Twin Falls Horticultural society, was addressed by C. C. Vincent, University of Idaho professor of horticulture, and Claude Wakeland, Bureau station entomologist, who are here to take part in sessions of the university farm life institute opening today in Twin Falls.

Results attained by application of various sprays in control of insect pests in orchards were discussed by the visiting experts, and a communication from Ralph H. Smith, formerly entomologist of the university faculty, was read. Mr. Smith's letter dealt with results of his recent investigations in the control of orchard pests.

Mr. Wakeland discussed particularly the effect put upon the soil in the combat the leaf roller, and Mr. Vincent told of similar work in the Lewiston, Idaho district. Both expressed opinion that the pest is one that may be successfully combated by thorough application of sprays now being tested.
