Republican Committeeman Becomes Rollover Deal Given Him in Connection with Fraud Case; Wants Showdown

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A challenge to Senator Hoffman, Alabama, to declare publicly whether he is affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan, was sent to the senator tonight by R. B. Crenger, republican national committeeman from Texas.

In a letter reply to Senator Hoffman's attack on him, Mr. Crenger declared that his action was either a member of the Klan or a propagandist for it and called on him "to declare on the floor of the senate your past and present Klan affiliations."

Again denying in detail the senator's accusations that he had interceded with Attorney General Daugherty and that Senator General Hayes to prevent prosecution of land frauds in Texas, Mr. Crenger pointed out that all of these charges had been made "under the cloak of senatorial immunity," and declared it unfair that ex-parte statements should have been put into the record without his having an opportunity to reply.

"I charge you," the letter continued, "with gross misstatement of fact. . . . I charge that you never had any idea that the United States senate would undertake an investigation of this character."

"I charge . . . that the alleged land frauds are a mere pretext seized upon by you to discredit if possible my persistent opposition to the Ku Klux Klan, and its political practices resulting in the certification of the name of Earl H. Mayfield as senator-elect from Texas in whose case I have been the most persistent investigator and introduced."

"I charge that the introduction of this resolution in the masked and hooded political action of the Ku Klux Klan directed against me solely because of my earnest endeavors, to the extent of my limited power, to bring about platform declarations by both political parties against this un-American secret political society of which you are a member or else the sympathetic propagandist."

"I challenge you to specifically declare on the floor of the senate your past and present Klan affiliations and your relations with the Mayfield case and the Klan friends and counselors of the senator whose cause you are secretly espousing and directing."

"Your failure to answer these charges in the form in which you have launched your base attack and in which I am denied adequate answer, will be another evidence of the cowardice and utter irresponsibility that has characterized your entire political career."

NEW YORK GIRL TO MARRY
PRINCE VIGGO OF DENMARK

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Dr. James O. Green tonight formally announced the engagement of his only daughter, Miss Eleanor Margaret Green, to Prince Viggo of Denmark, confirming an announcement made several weeks ago in court circles in Copenhagen and retracting a subsequent denial made by members of the Green family here.

Dramatic Stories
Told by Survivors
of River Accident

Several Persons, Carried for Hours on Ice Cake, Tell Experience; "Columbus Had Nothing on Us," They Say

QUEBEC, Feb. 8 (AP)—Many dramatic stories were told today as the men and women who escaped from the pieces of the broken ice bridge over the St. Lawrence river, recovered from the shock of their experience.

Three women and two men of the debris who at first were reported missing, appeared to have suffered most severely. The ice pan on which they were marooned was up by steam by the tide and lapped for hours among the heaving cakes, breaking once. It was not until after nightfall that their little ice island touched shore in the narrows of the river and they were able to scramble to the bank, just as their cakes ground to pieces. Then they hurried home to bed, while throughout the night searching parties looked for them.

When the bridge broke the five found themselves on a pad surrounded by 20 feet of open water. Hundreds of spectators ashore, many of whom had jumped to safety over the cakes when the bridge fell, shouted advice, but the marooned party, noting the

ENGLAND NOT LIKELY TO RECOGNIZE MEX STATE

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mexico is following England in seeking full recognition from Great Britain before settling the outstanding claims, but Mexico, unlike Russia, has not been a campaign issue in British domestic politics, and therefore is not likely soon to meet with Russia's success, it is learned at the foreign office.

The preliminary investigations being conducted by Rafael Nieto, Mexican minister to Sweden, and the permanent officials of the foreign office are making progress despite a threatened breakdown when Senator Nieto asked the British why Mexico could not be accorded complete recognition without delay of establishing a claim commission.

RUMORS CENTER
ON DAUGHERTY

His Decision to Return to Capital Lends Much Speculation as to Future Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—After General Daugherty, who left two weeks ago for an indefinite visit to Florida, is expected to return to Washington late tomorrow.

His decision to come to the capital has led to many rumors but efforts to re-establish the reason for his return have been unsuccessful. At the department of justice, where it was said that he would be absent several weeks until the attorney general was making his own plans, that he had taken a certain amount of work to Florida with him, which he now had completed and that he apparently was returning here to busy himself with other matters.

A question at the White House as to whether Mr. Daugherty had been summoned by the president brought the reply that the attorney general was making his own plans, that he had taken a certain amount of work to Florida with him, which he now had completed and that he apparently was returning here to busy himself with other matters.

Another report was that the attorney general had been asked to come here to take charge of the inquiry into the gasoline situation. On that question, also, the department of justice officials declared they had no information.

Mr. Daugherty himself has declined, pending his arrival, to make any statement as to his reason for making the trip here from Florida, except to say that it was in the course of his duties.

AUSTRIA CONSIDERING
RECOGNIZING RUSSIA

Action Depends on Course Taken by Great Powers; Questions to Be Discussed at Conference

VIENNA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Austrian recognition of Russia is under consideration, Chancellor Seipel stated at Budapest, according to a dispatch to the Neue Prele Presse. "We are awaiting the decision of the great powers on this subject," said the chancellor. Mr. Seipel said that questions of great importance would be discussed at the coming conference between the Rumanian and the Russian governments in Vienna.

RUSSIA WOULD MEET IN CONFERENCE WITH ENGLAND

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A note from Russia replying to the British notification that recognition do jure had been accorded the soviet government was handed Premier MacDonald today by Mr. Bakovsky, who has been acting as Russian trade commissioner here and is now named charge d'affaires. The note states that the soviet government agrees to a conference at an early date in London to take up pending questions between the two governments.

GANDHI REGRETS RELEASE
FROM PRISON AT BOMBAY

BOMBAY, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mohandas Gandhi has written a letter in which he expresses regret that the Bombay government has released him from prison owing to illness, because he does not regard the illness of a prisoner as affording grounds for liberation. His release, he says, has not brought him relief, because he is overwhelmed with a sense of the responsibility which he is now not fit to discharge.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)

The house today defeated a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to prohibit issuance of tax-exempt securities. The vote, which came after two debates, was 247 to 133, or 7 less than the required two-thirds.

Republicans with 17 exceptions, voted for the resolution as did 69 democrats. Before the final vote the house rejected, 208 to 167, a motion by Representative Steagall, democrat, Alabama, to recommit the measure for an amendment which would have deprived states of the right to tax bonds issued by the federal farm loan board.

Adopted More's Plan.

The only amendment adopted was one by Representative More, democrat, Virginia, to require ratification by states within seven years.

Although the amendment was asked by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon, it was not taken into consideration of the tax revision program recommended by the treasury and its defeat will have no effect on the tax bill already reported by the ways and means committee. Mr. Mellon had estimated there was approximately $11,000,000,000 outstanding in tax-exempt securities.

Attacked in Debate.

The measure was attacked in debate by many republican leaders and supported by some democrats. Representative Bacharach of New Jersey, a member of the ways and means committee, and Representative Begg of Ohio and Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, were among the republicans who spoke against the amendment. Representative Crisp of Georgia, led the democratic fight for the resolution.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, republican floor leader, charged in the debate, however, that opposition to the amendment was "political pointing out" he had passed the house last year by a substantial majority.

"Next week you democrats will be voting for a prohibitive surtax rate," Mr. Longworth declared, "but today you will vote to maintain a situation which offers escape to those who would have to pay these high rates."

Representative Garrett of Tennessee and Oldfield of Arkansas, democrats, also spoke.

Democrats Want Probe of Revenue Paid by Sinclair; Doherty Announces Dissolution of Pan-American

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Investigation by a special congressional committee of the income tax returns of Harry F. Sinclair, E. L. Doherty and L. Doherty Jr., would be authorized under a resolution introduced tonight by Representatives Jeffers, Alabama, and Browning, Tennessee, both democrats. Treasury records from 1913 through 1919, would be examined in addition to the witnesses.

A introduction of the resolution followed charges made on the floor Saturday by Mr. Jeffers of irregularities in connection with Sinclair's tax payments.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Dissolution of the Pan-American Western Petroleum company, formed to develop the California naval oil reserves, was announced tonight by Edward L. Doherty, chairman of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company. This action, he said, resulted from the attack on the validity of the leases in the senate's investigation.

In letter to stockholders of the Pan-American Petroleum, Mr. Doherty announced the withdrawal of an offer to subscribe for 525,000 shares of the western subsidiary at $20 a share and cancellation of a $12,000,000 bond issue which had just fallen.

At the same time Mr. Doherty declared that the leases and contracts were not produced or obtained by fraud, corruption or illegal acts on the part of the company's officers or representatives.

Asserting that the losses promoted the national defense, he said that instead of being harmful to the United States they were fair and beneficial to the country.

The efficiency of the United States fleet in the Pacific has been doubled, he declared, as a result of the contracts with the department of the interior, which also had rendered the Pacific coast invulnerable against naval attack and had made practicable the defense of America's island possessions in the Pacific ocean.

Flag Incident Basis
of Possible Ousting
of German Diplomat

Berlin Officials Still Hold Wiedfeldt to Account for Actions Involving Colors

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—The foreign office refuses to discuss the report of the possible resignation of Ambassador Wiedfeldt as a result of the Washington flag incident, although in official and semi-official circles the position is taken that the instructions sent to the ambassador from the foreign office two days before Mr. Wilson's death empowered him to place the embassy flag at half staff if he thought advisable.

This view, however, apparently is not shared by most of the foreign diplomats here who hold that the foreign office's instructions advising Ambassador Wiedfeldt that the German government desired to take no official recognition of Mr. Wilson's death, but authorizing him to do what he thought best in a strictly personal capacity, did not justify him in placing the embassy flag at half staff which action is universally regarded by diplomats as an official act.

JAPANESE LOAN

Bonds to Be Put on Market in Connection with Big International Credit Deal

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Public offering of a Japanese loan totaling between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 will be made next week, probably on Wednesday, by an international bank syndicate, headed by J. P. Morgan and Company, it was announced today. The bonds, which will yield about 7 percent, will be offered simultaneously in New York, London and on the continent.

The major part of the loan will be offered in this country and the American syndicate will be composed of leading bankers of the United States. It is understood that the proceeds will be used for reconstruction purposes and also for refunding operations.

The British share of the issue will be offered in pounds sterling and the continental quotas in dollars. So far as is known, bankers said, this is the first time a large international loan

TREASURY MOVES
FOR ACCESS TO BREWER'S BONDS

Motion Is Made for Obtaining Securities Vital to Procedure of Government's Investigation of Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Treasury officials went into court today to compel Charles E. Brewer, a department attorney, to make accessible to them the securities he holds and on which he based charges of duplications in government bonds.

The action took the form of a motion in Brewer's case now pending in the District of Columbia supreme court in which he has asked that the treasury be restrained from interfering with his possession of the securities loaned him by the treasury for the purpose of his investigation of alleged irregularities in the engraving bureau. Brewer's move in court followed a request by the treasury that he return the securities to the treasury agents who, examining a report made by him upon bureau affairs. Treasury agents declared they could proceed no further with their check-up on Brewer's charges of duplication without examination of the securities he held.

Inquiry Held Up.

United States District Attorney Gordon, in filing the motion in the district court, restated the treasury's difficulties in obtaining the securities and requested the court to direct Brewer to deposit them with the court. It was to them and their investigation case, however, Mr. Gordon said, Affidavits by Under Secretary of the Treasury Winston and Assistant Attorney General Tolpelt, accompanying the motion, declared that until access was had to the securities the investigation is conditioned by the treasury would be held up.

While Mr. Gordon was pressing his motion on which a decision is expected soon, word came from the White House that President Coolidge failed to understand what purpose Brewer had in refusing to permit examination of the securities by the treasury.

Secretary of the treasury, earlier in the day, had declared claims by Brewer that the style and font of type used in numbering some of the bonds was proof of irregularities could not be substantiated in his belief. The treasury chief said that the press work engraving by the treasury would be held up by the treasury would be held up.

In the open market and those differed from the regular bureau type numbers and he therefore believed the indicated forgeries could be traced to that cause. But until the treasury can examine the bonds now in Brewer's possession the secretary said facts could not be ascertained.

Affidavits filed today carried also a letter from Secretary Mellon to the attorney general requesting return of the securities.

High treasury officials reiterated today that they have found nothing of a serious or alarming nature in their check-up on Brewer's charges, which have been under investigation since early in January. They nevertheless propose to examine all of the accusations in order that the treasury as well as the country may know whether any wrong has been done.

Twenty-Six Indictments Returned Against "Long Chicago" Bootleggers; Chicago Man at Head of Gang

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Twenty-six indictments against alleged purchasers and vendors of liquor in a "mail order" distribution scheme, said to have been devised by Isaac Bullant of this city, were returned by the federal grand jury today. Twenty-seven men were named in the indictments, each of which charged conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

According to federal officials the scheme comprised a distribution of liquor in four states through mail orders sent here, the liquor being shipped by railway express by Bullant and his agents, in some instances being billed as "rubber goods."

Bullant, who is proprietor of the Novelty Glass company, this city, is named in each of the 26 indictments and the 52 counts. He has already been convicted on the illegal possession of liquor, but is at liberty under bail pending an appeal.

Famous brands of liquor, it is alleged, were included in the indictment, but the contents were invariably a mixture of colored alcohol and water.

HOLDS TAX REDUCTION INDUSTRIAL STIMULUS

Babson Predicts Benefits to North Atlantic Area from Proposed Changes; Shows Results of Advertising

BARBON PARK, Fla., Feb. 8 (Special to The News)—New York shows a gain of 6 per cent, New Jersey 8 per cent, Maryland 3 per cent, Pennsylvania a loss of 3 per cent, Virginia a loss of 5 per cent and West Virginia no change as compared with 1923. The summary statement of the second section of the statisticians' findings on a personal investigation covering the business centers of the United States and Canada was made public today.

"Conditions in the Middle Atlantic states as a whole are fairly good," says Mr. Babson. "At the moment, Pennsylvania is slightly weak, showing similar recessions to those which appeared in New York several months ago. The downward drift in these two states is largely due to the fact that a large part of the value of their products is manufactured in Pennsylvania. For example, manufactures represent 83 per cent of production."

"Though New York has shown a tendency toward improvement, the percentage gain of general business over the corresponding period a year ago is relatively slight. Here we have a distinctly industrial state, the value of manufactures constituting about 93 per cent of the total value of products of New York. Moreover, of this total 59 per cent is concentrated in New York City. This extreme concentration is an unfortunate situation for all interests concerned."

No Excuse for Crowding
"Furthermore, with the wonderful Mohawk Valley, with water power at the north and coal mines toward the south, there is no excuse for such a crowded manufacturing situation in New York City. Shipping, commerce, and the jobbing interests must concentrate at the port. There is no good reason why factories should not spread out into more rural sections where living conditions are better, power is plentiful, and costs are lower."

Few Wage Advances
In summarizing the situation in this section Mr. Babson brought out these three rather interesting points:
"1. There will be but few wage advances during 1924 in New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland and the Virginias. Wage advances, of course, are a direct and powerful stimulus to local business. In fact, some directors of sales regard them as one of the most important guides to a locality's buying power, especially if their merchandise is of a kind that appeals particularly to industrial wage workers. During 1924 it will probably be difficult to find many localities where wages are being advanced. At best, they are likely to remain at about on a level, and in many places moderate reductions will probably be witnessed."

Discusses Taxes
"2. Any legislation resulting in a reduction of federal taxes should be beneficial to these north Atlantic states which pay—or rather 'collect'—about one-half the total taxes of the government. Reduction of taxes would be a boon to practically every type of locality. The point which many overlook is the division of these benefits into three distinct groups. First, there is the younger city or town, which has been bending every energy toward attracting and developing new industries. Such programs have been seriously handicapped by the tendency of capital to shun tax-infested industries. Undoubtedly many of the smaller cities and groups of states have suffered from this. Second, there is the older locality. This has been damaged not only by the attitude of capital but by the loss of labor. Labor has been diverted into public enterprise not directly productive. Third, there is the rural community that has succumbed to speculation and saddled itself with mountains of debt because bond issues have been as easy to put across. With a reduction program rigorously carried out, all these groups of localities will get a new lease of life, and new business opportunities will be created. If business needs any one tonic, it is a tax reduction."

Advertising Important
"3. Newspaper and magazine advertising play a very important part in the activities of this section. A careful comparison of the volume of advertising in some of the important cities of these states indicates an interesting relation between advertising and the trend of local business. Newspaper advertising surely increases local business. When advertising falls off, local business declines. In fact, you can almost take the statistics of a locality's newspaper advertising as a measurement of the trend of its business. For example, the figures indicate that both newspaper advertising and business are increasing almost in unison in Scranton, Philadelphia and Rochester."

"With general business running about 1 per cent above normal, as indicated by the current position of the Babson chart, it is probable that the North Atlantic district is running slightly under normal," concluded Mr. Babson, "but no definite trend in one way or the other is yet indicated by this section. The situation is fairly well balanced and will bear close watching."

GAS HELD MOST-MERCIFUL FORM FOR EXECUTION

Death of Chinese by Use of Lethal Fluid Sets Precedent; Life Passes while Group of Spectators Look On

CARSON CITY, Nev., Feb. 8 (AP)—Lethal gas as a form of capital punishment was used for the first time here today when Gee Jon, Chinese, convicted of killing a rival toughman, was put to death.

Physicians and scientists who attended the execution were unanimous in pronouncing it a swift, painless method. Several of them said they considered it the most merciful form yet devised, less gruesome than hanging, entailing less suffering than shooting, or beheading or any of the other traditional ways of execution.

Some of the physicians and prison officials expressed, before the execution, considerable apprehension about the safety of the witnesses who stood just outside a glass window on the other side of which the condemned man sat strapped in a chair in the stone death chamber in the prison yard. But the witnesses were not affected by the gas, though the faint, musty odor of it was plain to those standing close. It was believed that the gas permeated cracks in the building so small they could not be discerned when the effort was made to make the place air tight.

Governor Silent Governor J. G. Scruggs refused to discuss lethal gas as a form of execution. It was with his vote, 13 hours before the execution, that the state pardon board consulted to life imprisonment the sentence of Thomas Russell, who also had been condemned to die this morning. The crime for which Russell was convicted, the murder of an Indian girl, had no connection with the case of Gee Jon.

Gee Jon, who had been extremely nervous and restless as the days brought him nearer the time when he would be the means of testing a new form of execution, seemed to brace himself last night. He slept for a time. He ate ham and eggs for breakfast. His attorneys had said he had become insane through fear of the gas.

He was interviewed yesterday by newspaper men and refused to discuss any other than to admit: "Yes, my name is Gee Jon. I have lived in San Francisco's Chinatown many years he had absorbed little of American ways; he was thoroughly Chinese, and seemed to understand little English.

It was charged that Gee Jon was a gunman, hired by a tong to go to Mina, Nev., and shoot down an aged laundressman who happened to belong to a hostile tong. The shooting was on August 27, 1921, and the defense attorneys, backed, it was said, by many friends of Gee Jon in San Francisco, used every legal means to stay the execution. Two futile appeals were made to the supreme court of the United States before which the argument was made that lethal gas was a cruel form of death.

Begins to Weep About 9:35 o'clock this morning Gee Jon was led by two guards to the death chamber. He walked firmly. He had no comment to make. When the guards were strapping him in the death chair he began to weep softly.

"Huck up, Jon, you've got to die," said one of the guards, and the Chinese displayed no further emotion. His face was impassive.

All the official witnesses were newspapermen and as they and the physicians grouped themselves about the window of the cell, Gee Jon glanced at them but without apparent interest. He looked down at the strap about his waist. At 9:40 the lethal drop, liquid hydrocyanic acid, was let into the room through a small hole in the floor. It came as a fine spray and made a hissing sound, faintly audible outside. At the sound the condemned man

Germs to Help Run Engines by Producing Gas Fuel

Methane, one of the gases used for motor fuel, is being produced in commercial quantities in India with the aid of germs that convert a mixture of sewer sludge and sawdust into various compounds of which the gas forms an important part. The tiny creatures are cultivated in air-tight tanks kept at a warm temperature. They multiply rapidly and by working on the mixture produce acetic acid and carbon gas as well as methane. Marsh gas, frequently found in stagnant pools, is largely the result of their presence and causes decay and fermentation of vegetable matter. Banana stems and skins have been found to yield as much as 81 per cent methane when acted upon by certain kinds of germs.

turned his head. Then he breathed deeply and his head fell forward.

Believe Death Painless He had been placed facing the spectators, and his expression remained placid. It was largely on this fact that the scientists based their opinion that his death was painless.

Gee Jon's head continued to move up and down occasionally for six minutes, but he apparently was unconscious. Two of the physicians expressed the opinion that death had come to him with the first breath of the vaporized acid and that the movements of his head were but the muscular reactions that frequently follow death.

Resuscitation Prevented

Major D. A. Turner of the army medical corps, one of the official physicians, had caused something of a sensation before the execution, announcing that he intended to endeavor, in the interests of science, to revive the Chinese after the gas had been expelled from the room. Warden Denver S. Dickerson did not oppose this experiment, but he left the gas in the chamber for more than half an hour and he and the chemists in charge of the experiment did not consider it safe for any one to enter until 12:20. By that time Major Turner said it was too late to attempt resuscitation. The Chinese was not pronounced dead officially until 12:25, when his body had been removed from the death chamber and the physicians had examined it.

Discontent. It's funny that we seldom want the things that we have got, and that we often wish to be the one that we are not. If we are not at all would be less. If I am we would be fat; the work that we'd most like to do is work we are not at. Were we to enter paradise, by special gift of grace, we straightaway would begin to try to find the other place.—Boston Transcript.

"Sand Shoes" of Wire End Strain of Travel

Made of stiff wire, and larger than the soles of the boots to which they are strapped, "sand shoes" are used by the military forces in Syria, in making long marches over the shifting deserts. These meshed foot protectors distribute the weight over a greater area and give the wearer a better purchase in walking, thus doing away with much fatigue and strain. They operate on the principle of the moosehoof of the cold regions.

Radio "Dot" Spans Ocean at Speed of Light

Recent experiments show that radio messages can be acknowledged and checked almost simultaneously with the sending. The tests were conducted over the aerial loop between New York and Warsaw, Poland, a circuit of 8,500 miles. The operator at the control center in America instructed the European representative to tie up his receiving station with the transmitting station. A "dot" was then sent out and made the complete circuit from New York to Warsaw and return while the foreign operator was manipulating his key. The Polish operator was then instructed to leave his key and the "dot" raced twenty times around the circuit at a speed of 186,000 miles per second before dying away because of electrical disturbance.

Tangible Plans for Aiding Banks of Northwest to Be Laid at Chicago Meeting

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Tangible plans on which financial and business interests of the east and west will unite to extend aid to northwestern banks will be laid next week at a meeting in Chicago, at which organization of the $100,000,000 service corporation created by private capital, will be completed.

C. T. Jeffrey, president of the First National bank of Minneapolis, tentatively has been selected to head the credit agency. Control of the organization, which will be supplied with additional funds exceeding $100,000,000 if necessary, through the war finance corporation, will rest with him and other Minneapolis and Chicago interests.

While New York members of the banking committee who conferred with President Coolidge last Monday will take an active part in formation of the service corporation and contribute to its financing, they indicated their desire to have the actual management rest with western men. The purpose of this arrangement, they explained, was to set the relief machinery in motion as quickly as possible.

EGG MARKETING PLAN IN IDAHO WINNING FAVOR

Co-operative Association Making Rapid Strides Toward Better Prices for Poultrymen in This State

POCATELLO, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Co-operative Egg Marketing Association is a going concern in the Boise valley and the eggs from over 100,000 hens will be flowing to the central marketing station at Caldwell in the next few days, which insures that the producers' eggs will be marketed at the price prevailing in the great centers of consumption, less transportation charges, according to C. Ben Ross, secretary of the State Farm Bureau Federation, who has just returned from Caldwell.

If the producers in the southeastern part of the state desire to have a receiving and marketing station they must sign contracts for marketing the eggs from 75,000 hens, in flocks of 100 or more. The money to finance the organization is to be raised by charging a $3 membership fee, which is good for the life of the contract, (five years). The operating capital for the organization is raised by the sale of stock at $20 per share, based on the number of hens the subscriber owns, at the rate of one share for each 100 hens or majority fraction thereof. That is, from 100 to 150 hens, one share; from 150 to 250, two shares of stock, etc. These shares of stock may be paid for in installments of 25 cents each on the first 40 cases of eggs delivered by the member to the marketing association.

The association grades and markets the eggs to the best possible advantage. The principal benefit derived by the members is that the eggs are marketed by grades, which permits more advantageous selling and higher prices for quality product. The selling is done directly by the marketing association, which has no other business to attend to. The association teaches and encourages the members to produce a higher quality of eggs and thereby receive more money. The association is founded on good business principles. The marketing and grading is done by experts so when the product goes on the market it demands the best possible price.

Five Thousand Fed at Once at Electric Barbecue

Four steers weighing about 2,000 pounds each were roasted in an electrically heated pit in the West recently, the meat being served to 5,000 persons. With the temperature automatically controlled, it required 24 hours to cook the beef thoroughly. The improvised oven was 32 feet long, 4 feet wide and 6 feet deep.

A Folding Kitchen Table

In a small kitchen, where space is at a premium, a folding table of the type shown in the drawing will be greatly appreciated. The table top is 1 by 30 by 48 in. dimensions, and is supported by two braces of 1 by 2-in. stock. Two 4-ft. lengths of 1 by 2-in. material are screwed together at right angles and fastened to the wall by long screws driven into the studs. The table top is then hinged to the lower member as shown. The braces are 32 in. long, and are cut and hinged so that they can fall into place automatically when the table top is lifted.

To fold this handy table it is only necessary to strike the joints of the braces with the knee or hand, while holding the table top to prevent it from "slamming." There are no lugs to snap around with a table of this type, and the braces do not prevent a chair from being drawn up close to the table.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8 (AP)—Bands and orchestras in Hungary are not allowed to play "Yes, We Have No Bananas." As the tune reaches each country of the Balkans it is translated to suit local tastes and temperaments, but the Hungarian words to it are so utterly impossible and naughty that the authorities have forbidden the singing and playing of the air.

SCRAPPY PAUL
QUINTET LOSES
TO LOCAL FIVE

Sympathy of Crowd Is with Midget Players Who Take
Lead Until Last Moments of Play; Score 36-31

Twin Falls fans found themselves pleading for the diminutive Paul Quintet to tie the score with the Meteors in the last minute of play Friday evening, when the best game of the season was played on the local floor.

The Paul squad led the blue and white quintet until the last few minutes of play, when the Meteors, who were playing with successive goals by Jenkins and Cole tied the score after which the game ended in a whirlwind finish which proved too much for the midget lighter Paul team which weakened in the final minutes of the game to superior weight and allowed the Twin Falls players to win by a 36-31 score.

The game started with Paul scoring three field goals through perfect teamwork before the Meteors fully awoke to the situation. The shorter Paul center invariably took the tip from the elbow. Cole, the blue and white player, who was the only one to get the ball to a freshman, who scored six field goals in the first half. The entire Paul team worked with machine-like precision and this, combined with perfect basket shooting, soon led the blue and white players with a 23-11 score before the end of the first half. Jenkins and Cole reached their stride just before the end of the half and the first period ended 23-17 in favor of Paul.

The second half opened with Navin taking the ball for Twin Falls. The blue and white defense strengthened, completely covering the stellar Stars who was the main reason for the remainder of the game. Cole started the scoring and shortly the tall center and Jenkins had tied the score, 23 all, while the smaller players were frantically trying basket after basket without success.

Battle Begins.
With the score tied a conference was called and on the next tip-off Jenkins took the ball and gave Twin Falls the lead for the first time in the evening.

From then on the game was a furious battle. Jenkins and Cole against Nelson and Edwards, the score never varying more than two points in either team. With two minutes to go and the score tied 31-31, Jenkins lapped an other basket giving the blue and white team the lead and bringing the fans to their feet. The Paul team, none of them weighing over 145 pounds, showed signs of the superior weight of the bulky Twin Falls players and the sympathy of the crowd was with the midget team.

Cole scored a second later, bringing the total to 35-31 and the final count came when Nelson fouled Jenkins and the blue and white forward converted.

Get Congratulations.
After the game it was the scrappy Paul team that received the most of the congratulations. Coach Evans added to this praise by saying that Paul had the best coached and fastest passing team he had seen in Idaho intercollegiate basketball. Superintendent Rough is the coach who has developed the wonder team which has four sophomores and one freshman on the regular squad and will host but one this spring by graduation.

ELKS WIN FROM
K. OF C. SQUAD

Bailey Runs Up Unusual Score
of 632 for High Total; Beat 900 Mark in Final.

The Elks retained their title and remain undefeated as a result of a game Friday night with the Knights of Columbus team, which greatly relieved the local fans who had given up the hope of seeing good bowling.

In fact, Bill Bailey's phenomenal score of 632 for the high total exceeds high mark for any previous game played outside of the league. The last part of the evening was the fact that eight of the men were above the 500 mark and the team total reached 2757 for the bowlers from the Elks while that of the Knights of Columbus was also high, compared with recent totals, at 2558.

The people and white pin shooters showed little regard for the K. of C. ability and took three games for the evening. With the final games being the best of the evening with both teams going well above the 900 mark, high score for the game and tournament going to Bailey with a 236 score, closely followed by the opposing top man, Roy, who topped the maple for 225. A 212 score by Towan, a 199 by Buchanan also were features of the closing game.

The game which was to be played tonight has been postponed out of courtesy to the Lyceum course lecture by an arrangement between the teachers and layovers' respective teams.

The result of Friday's games are best seen by the score:

Friday's games were victories for the Yank team and the Cardinal trio, both winning by two games out of three. The Yank squad took their game from the Cubs by total scores of 1164-935. The second game of the evening, between the Cardinal and Giant squads, was a close affair, with the former taking the two pins difference in the total which read 1077-1079.

Experts into Submission;
Buhl Girls Win

BUHL, Feb. 8 (Special to The News).—Filer doubled the score on the Buhl team in the high school gymnasium here tonight before a large crowd of enthusiastic fans from the two high schools. The final score read 38-19 in favor of the Wildcat team from Filer.

As a preliminary to the feature game of the evening the girls of the two schools engaged in an interesting game which the Buhl girls claim as a victory by a score of 18-10 and which the Filer girls are still disputing over, claiming a tie game.

The main game of the evening was a fast one for the first half between the two traditional enemies, with the score reading 14-14 shortly after the first half. The Filerites, led by the clever work of Shina, left forward for the red and white, completely outplayed the Buhl aggregation in the latter part of the half, however, and the ineffectual attempt to loop goals from the center of the floor proved to be successful for Mullins the Buhl captain and center alone. Mullins was the star for the orange and black.

Many personal fouls were called on both teams by Referee Davis who finally removed Macchek, Buhl guard, on this score.

ANDERSON FACES
TERM IN PRISON

Conviction Passed to Supreme Court; Is Served with Notice
of $105,000 Libel-Suit

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—William H. Anderson must go to Sing Sing prison for one to two years, for third degree forgery in falsifying the books of the state antislavery league, of which he is superintendent, unless his conviction by a jury on January 29 is reversed on appeal.

In imposing sentence today Supreme Court Justice Tompkins said: "This crime was deliberately committed," and aggravated "by some of his testimony which was obviously untrue." The sentence followed an impassioned plea for clemency by former Governor Charles S. Whitman, Anderson's chief counsel, and an appeal by Ferdinand Pecora, assistant district attorney, that the punishment "be such as to satisfy the public that justice had been done and that the law is no respecter of persons."

Anderson was freed in $5000 bail on a stay of execution to permit Mr. Whitman to seek a certificate of reasonable doubt, which the trial court refused to grant. Arguments for a certificate will be heard by the court on February 15.

As he left the court-room Anderson was served with papers in a $105,000 libel suit brought against the league, of which he still is superintendent, by Francis Cortwright, who accused the league of having libeled him in literature distributed throughout the district in which he was a candidate for the state assembly in 1922.

Ten More Complaints Bring Total to 26 in Delinquency Cases at Pomona

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8 (AP)—Ten more complaints bringing the total to 26, were issued by the district attorney's office here today in connection with a series of strip pokers and liquor parties held in the city, in which high school boys and business men are alleged to have contributed to the delinquency of young girls.

Names of those named in today's complaint are being withheld owing to the fact that 16 named in complaints yesterday, with apparently never fired rather than for prosecution, was announced from the district attorney's office.

Seven have been arrested thus far in connection with the asserted wave of immorality and of the number only one has made the $3000 bond set for each of the defendants.

PLAN TWO SESSIONS AT IDAHO SUMMER SCHOOL

Change in Schedule Expected to Accommodate Teachers Whose Term Close Earlier and Later Than Usual

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Feb. 8.—(Special to The News).—Plans for two overlapping sessions of the University of Idaho summer school for in-service teachers whose school close early as well as those which close later, have been announced. The first is a nine-week session opening May 19, and the second opens June 9, to continue for six weeks. Both sessions close July 13.

Owing to the growing demand for graduate work, the nine-week course will offer largely for graduates and will offer many new courses to them. The six-week session includes a few undergraduate courses but in general presents a curriculum for teachers who want graduate work.

It is announced that high school teachers may conveniently enter on May 19 and begin research work in their chosen fields and either register for full nine-weeks courses or put in all the first three weeks on research and take up additional courses during the six weeks' session begins.

The work required for raising the grade of county certificates will not be as rapid. The growing tendency is to pass as rapidly as possible to state certificates, thus minimizing demand for county certificates.

TWO FILM TRIUMPHS TO

Through arrangements just completed by the management of the Idaho theater with the Metro Pictures Corporation of Utah, Twin Falls theater patrons are to be given the opportunity of seeing "Searnmoche" and "The White Sister," two film productions heralded as the most noteworthy offerings of the season.

"Searnmoche," the picturized version of the French revolution, as told in the famous novel by Alfred Assolant, was given its premier showing here on Friday night at an invitational preview at the Idaho theater and the representative group of citizens present saw a picture that is, without doubt, the best of its kind that has been made.

Only the master hand of Rex Ingram could have produced such a triumph. The casting of "Searnmoche" is unannounced and the theme is presented with such sincerity as to make it an extremely gripping, yet beautiful offering.

"Searnmoche" is to be on view at the Idaho theater beginning February 18 and "The White Sister," which will also be shown here in preview, will be offered about a month later. Special musical scores accompany each picture. Lillian Gish is the star of "The White Sister," which is a Henry King production.

These pictures are booked for showing in Twin Falls coincident with first run engagements in only a few of the larger western cities.

Publisher of Denver Post Testifies as to $1,000,000 Claims Contract; Borah Opposes Denby Resolution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A new turn was taken today in the Senate oil investigation with the testimony of Frederick Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, that Harry P. Sinclair had entered into a contract to pay him and his associates $1,000,000 in settlement of claims growing out of rights asserted in the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve. Senator William Walsh, democrat, Montana, has told the Senate that every vestige of these rights had been denied by the federal government.

According to Mr. Bonfils' testimony, the contract was entered into in Kansas City after he had sent a reporter of his paper to the home of Albert B. Fall in New Mexico to investigate rumors regarding the lease of Teapot Dome to Mr. Sinclair by Mr. Fall as secretary of the interior and after publication of one article in the Denver Post attacking the lease by "analysis and theory." The contract was signed, he said, after two conferences between Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Bonfils; his partner, H. H. Tamm; John Lee Stock, a Denver oil man, and H. H. Schwartz, their attorney.

McAdoo Not Heard
The opening up of this unexpected line of investigation made it necessary for the committee to defer until next Monday the hearing of Wm. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, which Mr. McAdoo has requested in a letter sent to the committee last night and read into the committee record today. The committee first decided to hear him tomorrow but changed its decision when it was found that the examination of Mr. Bonfils could not be completed today.

The field of the oil investigation was further broadened today by the adoption by the senate of a resolution by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, directing the oil committee to inquire into and report upon the claims of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil company to all lands situated within naval reserve number two in California.

Wants Inquiry Extended
Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, a member of the oil committee, proposed that the senate go even further by inquiring into what part Mr. Fall had in efforts to obtain oil fields in Mesopotamia, Palestine, Persia, and other foreign countries.

President Coolidge signed the Walsh oil lease annulment resolution but he attached a memorandum in which he took exception to the language in the preamble which declares the leases were made in violation of the law and under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption.

The president also sent to the senate the nominations of Silas H. Strawn, and Atlee Pomerene, as special government counsel in the oil lease cases. They were referred to the oil committee, where a fight on them was forecast.

Debate Resolution
Reference to the nominations was made at the conclusion of an all-day debate in the senate on the Denby resignation resolution, which had been delivered by Senators Walsh of Montana and Heflin of Alabama, democrats, in support of the measure, and by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, in opposition to it.

Another of the many developments of the day was the issuing of subpoenas by the oil committee for a number of witnesses including John C. Shaffer of Chicago, publisher of newspapers in a number of cities; Robert McCague, of the Pioneer Oil company, and Frank Kistler, president of the Producers and Refiners Oil company of New York.

Would Probe Tax Returns
An echo of the oil inquiry was heard in the house where Representative Jeffers, Alabama, and Brown, Tennessee, democrats, jointly introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the income tax returns of Harry P. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny and Edward L. Doheny, Jr., during the period from 1913 through 1923.

Appearing before the oil committee as a voluntary witness, Mr. Bonfils testified that Mr. Stock came to him after the Teapot Dome lease to Mr. Sinclair had been executed and asked assistance in efforts to enforce his rights under a contract he had with

Mrs. E. J. Ostrander entertained the Luncheon club Friday afternoon. Covers were laid for 13 at one long table, the decorations carrying out the valentine idea. Red carnations were used for a centerpiece, while the nut cups and place cards were heart-shaped. The usual games of bridge were played, prize for high score being won by Mrs. Wilbur Hill.

The Entre Nous club met at the home of Mrs. J. G. Tolson Friday afternoon. Bridge was the diversion. Mrs. A. D. Bellamy winning the club favor. Miss Ethel Hillyard was a guest. Following the games the hostess served dainty refreshments, a valentine motif being carried out in the decorations and menu.

The north division of the Pastor's Aid was entertained at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wise, 446 Sixth avenue north, Thursday afternoon. The time was spent with needlework, after which the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. B. Mallory, served women's club rooms. The meeting was well attended and a large amount of business was transacted. Mrs. E. M. Wolfe, the chairman, said it gave her great pleasure to announce the encouraging response the committee was receiving in their Americanization work.

Mrs. L. E. Joslyn was present and invited cooperation for the play, "Little Women," to be given by the P. T. A. at the high school on February 22 for the benefit of the school playgrounds, a very worthy cause. The Knights of Columbus and the League Ladies will be hosts at a ball given under the auspices of the K. of C. February 18 at the Lavington.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Charles Hart and consisted of two violin solos by Miss Theresa Pfeiffer, accompanied by Mrs. D. E. Reagan, a talk by Father Keyser and two readings by Mrs. Ray Cochran. The league will meet again in two weeks.

Invitations have been issued by the Elks for a Lincoln's Birthday dance to be given Tuesday evening next in the lodge rooms.

The intermediate B. Y. P. U. met in the Baptist bungalow on Thursday evening for a very enjoyable social. About 25 young people were present. A taffy pull was engaged in and the Pioneer, Belge, and other companies which had asserted claims in the Wyoming fields.

From Mr. Bonfils' testimony and exhibits read into the record it appeared that Mr. Stock had an agreement with E. L. Doheny under which the former was to undertake to obtain a lease on Teapot Dome from the government. Mr. Doheny later withdrew, and Mr. Bonfils said it looked to him as though Mr. Doheny "had thrown Mr. Stock down" and that there "might have been an agreement between these two oil kings" by which one was to get Teapot Dome and the other the naval oil reserve Number One in California.

games also constituted an important part of the entertainment program. "Chaperones" were Mrs. Boughton and Miss Marion Johnson.

The wedding of Miss Esther Asley of Kearney, Nebraska, and John Stockkamp, Twin Falls, took place Wednesday evening in Pocatello, it was announced here Friday. The bride was employed here last summer in the City Pharmacy. Mr. Stockkamp is proprietor of the Bryanswick cigar store. They will make their home in the Oasin apartments.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, February 6, at the home of Mrs. Florence Wright, Kimberly, when Miss Beric Margaret Roberts of Rupert, became the bride of Lloyd Kenneth Wright of Kimberly. Dr. Edgar L. White read the ring service. Only the immediate relatives were present, with Mrs. J. P. Donham who sang before the service, "Oh, Promise Me," and "Because I Love You." The bride's gown, of white crepe de chene, with a shower bouquet of Upland roses, was very beautiful. Dinner was served at 7:30 to relatives and guests.

PROTEST RAIDS OF DRY SQUADS

Affidavits Accuse Sleuths of Stealing Money; Foreign Envoys Are Informed

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Italian residents of Williamson county have complained of actions said to have been taken in connection with dry raids there, according to L. Zanini, Italian consul.

Affidavits accusing the raiders have been forwarded to the Italian ambassador at Washington. M. Bartholomeo, French consul here, has referred similar complaints to the French ambassador.

One Italian alleged that raiders had stolen $200 from his cash register and had burned his home, valued at more than $500. Another alleged that a raider had seized his wife by the throat.

It was denied at French consular offices that M. Bartholomeo's letter to Ambassador Jusserand charged destruction of crucifixes.

LINCOLN DEBATORS WIN.

The debate between the two debate teams of the junior high school Friday morning on the subject of recognition of the Russian government by the United States was decided in favor of recognition when the Lincoln society won from the anti-grade organization more convincing arguments and applied delivery. The defeat of the ninth graders by the eighth graders was unexpected inasmuch as the ninth grade team is considered exceptionally good.

MRS. M'ADAMS WINS ACQUITTAL

Woman Standing Fourth Trial on First Degree Murder Charge Is Finally Freed

SALT LAKE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Martha Gardner McAdams, standing her fourth trial for first degree murder, was acquitted tonight after the jury had been out an hour and a half.

Mrs. McAdams was accused of aiding and abetting her former husband, George Gardner, who was executed in the state prison here last August, in the slaying of two men. Six weeks after the execution Mrs. Gardner married L. D. McAdams of Ogden, but the marriage was kept secret until the beginning of her fourth trial.

Through a strange twist of fate the clerk read an assigned verdict which declared the woman guilty of murder in the first degree. Mrs. McAdams gasped at the verdict and her daughter collapsed. The jury protested and the clerk acknowledged his error and read the correct verdict. Murder in the first degree in Utah calls for the death penalty.

While details of the loan will not be made public until next week, it is understood that the American portion will total $150,000,000 and that the bonds will be offered to yield about 7 per cent. The London portion, principal and interest of which will be payable in pounds sterling, is expected to total around $100,000,000, possibly slightly more. The continental portion, which will comprise the balance, will be payable in American dollars.

As evening came on, however, they shouted for help and signalled with matches and flashlights. Once a ferry boat crossed within 20 feet of them. Four hours passed and the tide turned. As the five were planning a last desperate attempt to escape a large piece of the jam broke off, marooning one of the women. The other, jumping, reached her, and then leaped again to the next stake. There they remained until after dark.

"Then we noticed we were not moving any more," said Phillip Contre, in describing the adventure. "I flashed a light and saw the ice jammed on the shore. We reached the Atkinson yard. Christopher Columbus had nothing on us when we saw the land."

WE'RE SORRY—

Subscribers to The News on the other side of the Big Lake—that is to say in the City of Buhl and surrounding territory—are asked to exercise what patience they may in the matter of the hour at which they receive their Morning
News.

Daily carrier service between Twin Falls and Buhl has not yet been interrupted, but hours of delay have been caused by the condition of the almost impassable
stretch of highway between Piler
and Buhl.

As long as the road is open at all the best service possible will be given, but a certain delay in the hour of arrival at Buhl cannot be avoided, a fact which is just as regrettable from the standpoint
of The News as from that of our

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Through the passage of a state law,
which at this distant date appears to have been an extremely ill advised measure, the Boards of Independent school districts of the State will be compelled to go to the people for a part of the money required for the next year's operations, instead of to the State Board of Education as has heretofore been the case.

No more money will be required and in each case the sum is to come out of tax monies. The difference is that this time we vote it directly upon ourselves whereas heretofore the State board supplied the cash out of its tax apportionment.

In the case of the Twin Falls Independent district, approximately forty thousand dollars must be so raised.
The law referred to provided for a total of eight mills for school purposes
and eight mills as applied to this district means a shortage in cash of just about forty thousand dollars.

Those who are inclined to regard this tax as an "extra" should bear in mind that it has never yet been possible to hold school operation expense to eight mills in this district
nor in a great majority of all the districts of the State. While no such limitation existed under State law no effort whatever was made to hold
school expense down to any such sum.
Eight mills, as set forth in the law, is merely an arbitrary figure designed to mark the point where State Board money ceases and direct tax within the District commences.

Practically all school district in Idaho are affected just as is Twin Falls.

If the necessary forty thousand dollars are authorized at the polls the schools of this district will go on much as usual. If such authorization is lacking it is conceivable that Twin Falls youths and young ladies will be without a High school when the next school year opens.

It is time to begin thinking about the matter.

A MUZZLED PRESS

The government of Brazil is engaged in an interesting experiment of trying to muzzle the press. A new law provides fines and imprisonment,
on a graduated scale, for newspaper
"attacks," particularly against public officials. One offender has been haled
into court, and others expect arrest.
In fairness to the President and Council of Brazil, it should be admitted that there is a strong temptation
to such action.

"A weakness of South American newspapers," says a correspondent at Rio, "is that most of them are organs of prominent politicians or of parties, and indulge in bitter attacks

on political rivals. There is nothing
the President or his advisers can do in the interest of the government that avoids the opposition press. Newspaper
ethics, as known in the United States,
is most generally violated in South America. Criticism of the government is not constructive, but vindictive and vituperative. In general, the press of Rio de Janeiro is not exception."

Nevertheless the undertaking of the Brazilian government is a dubious one.
It will probably be recognized there,
before long that freedom abused is better than no freedom at all, and that it is safer for the newspaper to be free to criticize than for government officials to be free to jail the editors for their criticism.

There is always a tendency on the part of public men to construe criticism as an "attack," even when it is honest. Public officials in this country have seemed strangely unaware,
at times, of the fact that the typical newspaper editor is no less public-spirited
than the typical office-holder,
and is likely to be closer to the people and therefore a more trustworthy
exponent of public opinion.

The founders of our government realized that there can be no political freedom without a press free to criticize as well as praise.

Breakfast Food

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By HUGH McKAY

My wife gets alarm clock paralysis.
It is a strange sort of disease brought on by the loud ringing of a bell in our bedroom about 7:30 A. M.

The attacks seem even more severe in cold weather. In fact, lately she's been unable to get up until as late as 9 or 10 o'clock.

The persistence of this condition is very discouraging, because as I have eaten breakfast by myself for the last two weeks.

It is really one of our saddest cases,
because every morning she is confident that there will be no return of the malady on the following morning. But the effect of the alarm clock is completely disconcerting every day.

And not the least alarming feature of the case is that the doggone disease
seems to be contagious!

Tomorrow—"My husband gives me housekeeping hints."

Red Man Prefers Red Color.

The red man's fondness for gaudy
color schemes has long been known,
but it has remained for Dr. T. R.
Garth of the University of Denver to scientifically ascertain the color preferences of the Indians in the Southwest. Full-blooded Indians were found to prefer red to all other colors, then blue, violet, yellow and white in the listed order. White men, living in the same social and educational environment, preferred blue, then green,
and then red.

The education of the red man has little apparent influence upon his favorite colors. The squaws and the braves agreed most closely in their selection of colors than the whites and the Indians did. The full-blooded Indians were found to be very emphatic in their color preferences, much more so than the mixed bloods and the whites.

Ats His Model.

It was the subject of a lesson
when the boys are supposed to bring some article—a hammer, a top, a box
or what not—with them to school to serve as model.

One boy presented himself at the master's desk with the fearful announcement: "Please, sir, I've swallowed my subject."

"Swallowed it?" cried the master, in alarm. "Whatever was it?"

"Please, sir," with a gulp, "a banana."

She Is Uneasy.

Heavy pounding was heard in the next day and Mrs. Wiggins evidenced marked signs of uneasiness.

"What do you suppose they are doing next door?" she finally asked of her husband.

"Sounds like hanging a few pictures,
my dear. Does the noise disturb you?"

"No, but good gracious, Henry, I just found that woman my silver-
backed husband!"

Turn Off the Mercury.

Mr. Glump—"What a literature. This story is the best."

Mr. Wilt—"I'm afraid you're mistaken."

Mr. Glump—"Yep. Old movie star junk. The stars are still being discovered and divorced."

Delight of Beardlessness.

It was better for a man to be subject to any vice than to drunkenness;
for all other vices and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the habit of beardlessness.—
Sir Walter Raleigh.

Cleanliness.

Prevention is the better part of valor in health matters. A little care and cleanliness in the selection of food
and its preparation will often avoid big costs and lots of suffering from unnecessary diseases and ailments.

Dreamland Adventures

HUNT IN THE WOODS

By DADDY

(When Janet hurts her ankle in the woods, Daddy Dog takes her to a cave. Snarly Wolf wants to make a good meal of her, but Daddy Dog persuades the wolf to take a message to Jack. This Snarly Wolf does, thinking he will have a chance to eat both Jack and Janet.)

CHAPTER VI.

Jack Serves a Meal.

JACK looked at Snarly Wolf, who was waiting at the edge of the woods. Snarly Wolf's jaws were wat-tering and his eyes were glittering. This is what Snarly Wolf was thinking to himself: "Ah, when that boy comes into the woods I'll grab him. He will make a fine meal for me."

And Jack was thinking something.
He was waiting for the wolf to go into the woods with Snarly Wolf he would make a meal of him, and perhaps of Janet, too. I must think of a way to trap him."

Jack looked again at the note.
Then he read it aloud to Snarly Wolf.
"This note says to give you a fine meal."

Snarly Wolf nodded. He was ready to take as many meals as he could get. If Jack would serve him a fine
meal, and then make him a fine meal
later, all the better for Snarly Wolf.
"Wait just a minute!" cried Jack
to Snarly Wolf. "I'll get your fine
meal ready."

Jack ran back into the house, locking the door. In the shed hung a ham. Jack quickly cut from it half a dozen thick slices. They were enough to make Snarly Wolf a fine meal. Jack took the slices of ham down into the dark cellar. The cellar
had an outside door but no window.
Jack opened the outside door.

"Come here, Snarly Wolf!" he shouted. "Your fine dinner is ready for you!"

Snarly Wolf needed no second invitation. He came running. But Jack did not wait for him. Jack closed through the cellar and up the inside
stairway locking the door at the top.
Snarly Wolf ran down the outside stairway, paused a moment to peer into the cellar, saw no danger, and went across to where the slices of ham
awaited him.

—didn't and like that of poor Red Riding Hood.

He grabbed the ham and turned to rush back to the door. That place looked like a trap to him.

And it was a trap, for while Snarly Wolf was running down the steps and creeping into the cellar, Jack had run out of the house door and accout to the outside cellar door. He slammed
this door shut just before Snarly Wolf
reached it, looking in with a shout.
Snarly Wolf was caught in the trap.

"Wait! Let me out!" howled Snarly Wolf.

"You can stay there enjoying your dinner while I bring Janet home," answered Jack.

"But you can't find the way to the cave, where Janet is," howled Snarly
Wolf. "You need me to guide you."

Jack paused. That was true. Then Jack chuckled as he looked down at the tracks Snarly Wolf had made in the snow.

"To be sure I need you to guide
me," laughed Jack. "But you already have done that for me. You have left in the snow a fine trail that will take me straight to the cave. All I have to do is to follow it."

And away ran Jack following the tracks of Snarly Wolf. Sure enough,
the tracks led straight to the cave,
and Jack found the entrance to the cave
close to Daddy Dog's logpile.

Jack soon had Janet on the sled, all wrapped up in a blanket. Then with Daddy Dog trotting along on guard he drew her safely home.

And so this story didn't end like that
of poor Red Riding Hood.

ENGLAND'S HISTORIC WAY

Dover Road Recalls the March of Caesar's Legions Across Barham Downs.

Dover road—England's historic highway—is 70½ miles long measured
from its ancient starting place, to Dover
city over the Dover road is an excursion into 2,000 years of history and centuries of English
poetry and romance, says the Detroit
News.

In his book, "The Dover Road," Charles G. Harper says, "Caesar's presence hounds the weird platoon of Barham Downs, the alert marching troops the tramp of the legionaries
along Watling street on moonlit
nights. Shades of Britons, Saxons, Danes and Normans people the streets of the old towns through which the highway takes its course or crowd in wild array upon the hillsides."

And the legends, myths, romances of different degrees of sanctity, great blackguards of every degree of black-guardism and ecclesiastical holy haughtiness, proud or pitiful rise up before one to testify with thoughts of the space the record of their doings
would occupy; in fine, the wreaths and plumes of a high upon 2,000 years
combine to intimidate the historian."

Punch and Judy in China.

The origin of the Punch and Judy comic puppet show has been the subject of much discussion. Punch has been identified with Pontius Pilate, Judy with Judas the betrayer, or with the Jews, and the play with one of the old "Mysteries." This notion is entirely without foundation, the Detroit News declares. The name Punch is simply a contraction of Panchino (for Panchino,
the butler of Neapolitan comedy), while Judy is probably derived from Judith, at one time a common name.

It is said that a character similar to Punch is found in the puppet plays of Italy, Egypt, Persia, India, China,
and Japan. Punch and Judy shows
were introduced into London in 1600,
by an Italian, who erected a booth
near Charing Cross for their performance.

Important Purpose.

"Have you any plan for straightening out the affairs in Europe?"

"Of course," answered Senator Sorghum.

"Will it work?"

"Well, I won't say for sure it will work in Europe, but this my own native land, it will serve the very important purpose of helping to keep me before the public."—Washington Star.

Her Version of Concert.

A little girl to whom the wonderful evening dress were quite unknown was taken to her first evening concert. On her return home she was asked what the concert was like.

"Oh," she said, "it was very funny.
There was a lady screaming because
she had lost her sleeves and a waiter
played on the piano all the time."

"Want him?" she answered, stammering at the turn the thing had taken in his hands.

"Why, yes," he said sunnily.

"Want him—no?" she cried impu-lively.

"Your actions," he returned, "would seemingly indicate that. You sent for him! And if, at any time again, you wish him as a companion—that is very simple indeed."

"You agreed," she cried. "It was our understanding that he—that man—
should never come near me!"

"Why, then," he asked her, "did you
call him here?"

What could she say without betraying of the thing she was now resolved he should not know—concerning the man she had believed she was sending for when Rutherford appeared?

"You could scarcely expect me to interfere with arrangements of a kind
which," he said cynically. "A husband wishes to visit his wife. Who can refuse him? Why should he not come,
if she sends for him—even if his wife
be innocent?"

She smiled as he said it, a smile of yet mental triumph which sent a shudder over her. What more could she make, or what turn, without finding this adroit mind anticipating it—outwitting and tricking her, using her own cunning to the undoing of her own destruction. He had known her movements in this matter, she feared
now, from the first, and had used them
to trap her more and more thoroughly.

That night in her room Adelaide Rutherford wrote and fastened her message inside the collar of her mail-
coats, bags, to be ready for the next morning.

"Tonight," she wrote, "at 8:30
o'clock in the study."

She would send the dog out with this in the morning.

CHAPTER XI

The mind of an old and long-experienced lawyer, for years bustling in constructing and avoiding legal ambu-sades, a creator of trusts and other de-vicious creatures of the law, is a strangely subtle thing, often a very dangerous
one. Considered as the basis of a possible theory of a case, the mind of one of these, ambitious beyond measure, of great standing in a great community,
determined upon assuming and holding
the immense power of sixty million dollars of money and its accompanying corrupting interests. And then suppose his ambition to be so great that he has gone through actual crime to carry it out. And let us assume again that he is confronted suddenly with the very lively chance of discovery and exposure.

"I see," said Jasper Haig to the stern-faced woman, dressed like a lady's maid, who appeared into that night to greet him at his house. If he was surprised, his face did not show it. He read the note and asked her for a more detailed description of the young man she thought she had seen that morning, and previous days, with the dog in the park. Finally he seemed satisfied with what she told him. "You found it," he said. "Very well! Put it back where it came from—under the collar of the dog. Watch her continually, more than ever, and keep continually in touch with me tomorrow over the telephone. That will be all. Good-night."

Haig was nervous, after she had gone, over the inferences which he gathered from this note and her observations. And yet it seemed to him,
upon consideration, that the situation,
desperate as it might seem to be, still offered certain possibilities for a mind fertile in expedients, not merely to avert ruin and utter personal disgrace,
but even to turn a great disaster into
a great personal gain.

Suppose, for example, a man of unusual mind and will-power, possessed
an accomplice—a co-operator, let us say,
entirely under his influence, mentally
as well as financially, a man generally furtive, unimagination, dull, yet shrewdly
astute and open to suggestions
along one line—an old and continually traveled line of thought along which he could be propelled with the absolute certainty of direction and result of a great train sent rolling down a grade!

"Listen," said Jasper Haig over the wire. "This is very serious. Some one is following me."

"Who?" asked Hansbrock Rutherford. Even over the wire one could tell that he had been drinking.

"Who?" he demanded again when he had reached the house of Jasper Haig.
And he cursed without restraint when he was told of the other man's conclusions from the maid's observations.

SURGERY FOR THE ANIMALS

Operating Table for Horses Has Been Opened in University of Pennsylvania.

Horses, cows and mules can now be given surgical treatment for tumors,
broken bones, laryngitis, ruptures, broken
bones, severed tendons, and other
and many internal diseases that formerly made it necessary to shoot them.

Such operations are being performed
every weekday in the year, not only for the purpose of getting information concerning rare diseases that may be of value later in treating human beings, but also to save and prolong the lives of the animals and to increase their usefulness, says the Scientific American. And the same facts apply to dogs,
cats and other pets, including rabbits,
goats, canary birds, parrots, monkeys
and even the penguin skink, which may also be treated for such ailments
as chicken pox, diphtheria, chicken
pox, ducks and turkeys.

What might be called the other side of the antivivisection story was brought to public attention quite recently in Philadelphia by the announcement that there had been a surgical operation at the University of Pennsylvania, the first operating
table ever built for the accommodation
of horses and other large animals.
The machine was designed by Dr.
John W. Adams, professor of veterinary surgery and obstetrics at the university, and was operated by surgeon at the hospital, which is run in conjunction with the school. It was evolved after several years of experience and after all existing apparatus
had been found unsuitable to the peculiar needs of the veterinary surgeon.

MUSICIANS ARE LONG LIVED

This Seems True Especially of English Organists Who Have Obtained Good Positions.

Usually the clergy are supposed to live longer, on an average, than the members of any other profession.

Certainly doctors do not take a foremost place. The average of their work lower their average life. Men in the lower ranks of the law, judges particularly, are proverbially long-lived,
but many fall by the way in the lawyer's busy calling.

A claim is now being made for those who obtain a comfortable position in the world of music, and instances are given. Sir Walter Parratt, the organist
of St. George's chapel, Windsor, England, has been at his post for 60
years, beginning as a boy of eleven,
and he varies music with the most trying of all games, chess.

Sir George Elvey, the organist at Windsor before Sir Walter, held the post for 47 years. Sir Frederick Bridge, late organist at Westminster abbey, retired when he had held his post 44 years, and he followed an organist, James Turle, who had served the abbey 60 years.

Barking Sands.

At certain points along our seacoasts
"barking sands" are found in patches, exhibiting a phenomenon that has never been very satisfactorily explained. The beach at Manchester, N.
H., is famous for them.

These sands, when dry, yield a peculiar sound if struck by the foot, or even by the hand. The sound is like the sound of a tinny tin being hit by the fingers or by bare toes.

The sound resembles the distant barking of a dog, and it may sometimes be heard at a distance of 100 feet.

The most remarkable "barking sands"
are found on the island of Kauai, one of the Hawaiian group. By clapping them between the hands a faint howl noise is produced. But the hostile sounds are greatly intensified by putting a quantity in a bag and slamming
it about.

No Cause for Worry.

The late Henry Clews, the famous
New York banker, was an economical man despite his great wealth and he had a horror of waste.

There is a story about a banker who once said to Mr. Clews:
"My boy, I've secured a beautiful sapphire. I dread to think that all my money will one day be left in his hands."

"Oh, don't worry," said Mr. Clews grinly. "It won't stay there long."

Growth.

The teacher told us there was a little girl who had just been promoted to the first grade. But on the first day she got homesick for her kindergarten teacher, so she was allowed to visit the kindergarten for a few minutes. She looked over the crowd of new pupils in their little chairs, and when she looked up at the teacher with a tearful and amazed smile.

"Aren't they cute?" she whispered.

Had Reason to Fear It.

"You are an educated man," said
the judge, "but this is a disgraceful
crime you have been found guilty of.
Tell us anything to say before sentence."

"Only this your honor," replied the pedant. "Whatever the sentence may be, for heaven's sake don't end it with a preposition."—Boston Transcript.

He Certainly Was.

Tom's wife was commenting at length upon a love passage in the new novel. She hesitated
and then tentatively asked:
"Were you embarrassed when you
proposed to me, dear?" she inquired.
"Yes, darling," replied her husband. "I dived overboard."

FLAMES INVADE CLOTHING STORE ON MAIN AVENUE

Damage Estimated at Several Hundred Dollars Caused by Fire and Water in Building Occupied by Alec Shop

Fire of undetermined origin Friday evening caused damage estimated at several hundred dollars in the building on Main avenue west owned by John W. Graham and occupied by the Alec Clothes Shop.

Little damage was caused by the flames, but both the building and merchandise stock were damaged by smoke and water. Damage to both building and its contents, with the exception of equipment of a shoe repair shop owned and operated by Jens Peterson in the rear of the building, is said to be covered by insurance.

Starts at Rear

The fire originated in the rear of the building and is believed to have started in a large box of waste paper and rubbish. The blaze was discovered and the fire department summoned a few minutes after six o'clock.

The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Smoke was pouring out of the building and hampered the firemen in their work. Two lines of hose were brought into play, and within about 30 minutes after the alarm was sounded the blaze had been brought under control.

Neighbors Helping Escape

Adjoining buildings managed by the fire suffered no damage.

Workmen were employed Friday night sweeping out of the damaged building, water and plaster that had fallen in great pieces from the ceiling as a result of the drenching it had received.

COSSACK ALFALFA FAVORED

Deep Creek Land and Water Company Stockholders at Annual Meeting Choose Over Possibilities of Crop

Favorable outlook for production of Cossack alfalfa seed in quantity on lands under the Deep Creek Land and Water Company's irrigation system west of Idaho was emphasized at an annual meeting of the company's stockholders Tuesday at the residence of H. E. Powers, 252 Second avenue north. Approximately 600 acres under this project have been sown to this crop, and plants were exhibited at the meeting showing that the crop is amenable to cultivation without irrigation.

Officers of the company for the coming year were elected as follows: President, H. E. Powers; vice-president, Russell Fisher; secretary-treasurer, E. M. Webb; watermaster and general manager, C. O. Morrell; attorney, S. T. Hamilton.

"I'm much better now, and I'm up in a wheel chair," Miss Lansberry said in this letter. "I think I shall be in the hospital for about two weeks more and then can go out of the hospital until I'm ready to come home. The doctors say I am getting fat, and I'm feeling well except for my feet. I have seen here Mr. and Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Thompson from Twin Falls."

OWNER IDENTIFIES CAR TAKEN THREE YEARS AGO

Los Angeles Man Confirms Judgment of Twin Falls Police as to Stolen Automobile Found Here

Identification by Twin Falls police of an automobile stolen in June, 1921, and found here 20 months later in the possession of Dr. W. E. Wallace, who had purchased it in December, 1921, was confirmed by the original owner of the machine, R. L. Carille of Los Angeles, who arrived here Friday in response to notification by the authorities.

Mr. Carille identified the car with no hesitation. It was standing with several others on a local garage floor where Dr. Wallace recently left it when road conditions made its use difficult.

Mr. Carille pointed out a hole in the seat cushion which, he explained, had been caused by falling ashore from his cigar. It was this hole, Chief of Police P. O. Herriman said, that convinced the local authorities that this car was the machine that had been stolen. Every number on the car, he said, had been worked over.

The police made acknowledgment of cooperation and assistance given by Dr. Wallace in identifying the car which it is likely he must surrender because it is stolen property, of which, however, he came into possession innocently.

JURY DECLARES NEBEL KIDNAPER

Contact Man Is Found Guilty of Abducting 11-Year-Old Rogerson Girl

Joe Nebel, Contact, Nevada, was found guilty of kidnapping 11-year-old Veronah Darling of Rogerson, by a jury in district court which returned its verdict at 6 o'clock Friday evening after about five hours' deliberations. Judge W. A. Babcock announced that the verdict pronounced judgment on the child's kidnaper Monday. Judge Nebel may be sentenced to serve from one to 25 years in the state prison.

The child who is alleged to have been kidnapped by Nebel testified as a witness for the defense that she had gone to Nebel's cabin and spent about 24 hours there. She also said that Nebel had not influenced her to leave home. Nebel, testifying in his own behalf, told of his relations with the child and her family and declared that his regard for the child was that toward his own daughter.

Mrs. Fred Craig, mother of the child, and the driver of the car in which she and the arresting officer went to Nebel's cabin when the girl was found there, were the only witnesses called by the prosecution. The mother testified that she found the girl hiding in a basement.

Nebel was the husband of Sarah Nebel, Indian woman, whose death by shooting in April of last year, was pronounced by the authorities a suicide act.

OPPORTUNITIES ON FARM TOLD AT INSTITUTE

Profitable Production of Livestock, Milk and Sugar Beets Topics Discussed at Closing Sessions Here

Opportunity in production of livestock, better dairying methods and relation of sugar beets to agriculture in the Twin Falls region were topics presented for consideration at closing sessions Friday of the three-day farm life institute conducted here by the University of Idaho and Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce co-operating. E. J. Iddings, dean of the Idaho agricultural college, addressed both morning and afternoon sessions.

Points to Market Needs

A sufficient number of hogs to supply the demand west of the Rocky mountains should be produced in this region, Dean Iddings said in the course of his address on "The Present Trend of Livestock Work in Idaho." Development of the swine industry, he said, implies a corresponding advancement in the production of cattle, because these two phases of the livestock industry are carried on most profitably together.

Speaking before the institute in the afternoon on "Looking the University to the Home," Dean Iddings pointed out the development of the university extension service idea, tracing it to its manifestations in the work of county agricultural agents, home demonstration workers and vocational club leaders, as well as in institutes such as the one just brought to a successful close here. His urged studies in general to take fullest advantage of the work of these agencies.

Shows Beets' Advantages

James Selley, district manager for the Amalgamated Sugar company, opened the day's program with an address on "The Sugar Beet and its Place on the Twin Falls Farm," in which he urged production of beets not exclusively, but in conjunction with other crops as a means of conserving resources of the soil, and as an important factor in any scheme of farm crop rotation. He quoted figures to show financial advantage to the grower in the production of beets.

Purpose of the company to continue this season's plan inaugurated last year of employing pupils of local schools in work in the beet fields was indicated by Mr. Selley with the statement that all of the work in beet fields within a radius of three miles of Twin Falls could be done by boys and girls during the vacation months. He stated the employment of boys and girls in the beet fields last year had been satisfactory generally to the growers, and that parents had expressed appreciation of the opportunity for gainful employment of the young people.

Gives Hints to Dairymen

Better dairying methods leading for production of clean milk were discussed by D. L. Frost in an illustrated lecture on "Clean Milk and How to Get It," the closing number of the institute program.

The afternoon program included vocal numbers by Mr. and Mrs. James S. Hall, with Mrs. D. L. Alexander as accompanist.

Closing sessions of the institute, although not largely attended, chiefly because of road conditions, were marked by high degree of interest as had been the sessions throughout. Persons in attendance not only went to speakers at the close of each session for further information and advice on subjects in which they were particularly interested, but they punctuated addresses and lectures with questions, so that proceedings frequently assumed the nature of informal round-table discussions.

Members of the university faculty and other visiting speakers went from here to Rupert and Arco, where similar institutes are in progress.

Mannon, division superintendent for the Oregon Short Line, arrived here Friday and drove to Filer to inspect a crossing about which complaint had been made before the state public utilities commission by the county commissioners and Filer municipal authorities. LEAGUE TO STAGE PLAY

Young People of Methodist Church to Present "The Hoodoo" as Most Profitable Annual Offering

The Epworth league of the Methodist church is making extensive preparations for the presentation of their fifth annual play. The selection this year calls for a larger cast than any attempted thus far and rehearsals under the direction of Howard E. Babbin have been progressing in a satisfactory manner. The play is from the pen of Walter Ben Gars and is one of his best, called "The Hoodoo."

It abounds in good clean entertainment and affords ample opportunity to test the histrionic ability of the many members of the cast.

Some of the younger members of the league have principal roles and carry their parts with an assurance of an experienced actor. Tickets are being sold by members of both the Junior and Senior league or can be purchased at the Majestic Pharmacy where the reserved seats can be had.

The Twin Falls presentation will be at the Lavington theatre next Tuesday evening, February 12.

Arrangements are being completed to give the play in several other cities near here.

Half-inch of Rain in Past Four Days

Almost one-half inch of rain has fallen in the Twin Falls area during the past four days, exact records of the government observer's station here giving the figures as 40 one-hundredths of an inch. Friday's contribution to the total was 13 one-hundredths of an inch.

Temperature has held at high level for the season throughout the wet spell, the high mark Friday at 51 representing a decline of five points under the preceding day's maximum, while low at 34 above was an exact duplication of the minimum mark of the day before.

CARLOAD OF DAIRY COWS PURCHASED BY BURLEY MEN

BURLEY, Feb. 8.—A carload of fine quality milk cows and heifers were brought into Burley last Friday for distribution on the project. This stuff was purchased by John Norstrom of View Community and County Agent Barber.

The shipment consisted of eight cows and a two-year-old heifer bought by Mr. Norstrom, seven two-year-old heifers that are being distributed among the boys of the high school agriculture classes, and 17 one-year-old heifers that are to be distributed among members of the university extension club members under direction of Mr. Barber.

The need of finance for bringing in good dairy stock has been felt for some time and to meet this need Mr. Hemmingsway of the Burley National bank says that they are in a position to finance the purchasing of 300 cows and heifers of good high producing quality, and Mr. Painter of the Casina National bank says he is ready to finance the purchasing of good cows by his patrons who are in a position to properly handle them.
