WAY IS CLEARED FOR BIG PROJECT

Agreement Finally Reached and Approved as to Purchase of Easement Over Reservation Lands at American Falls; Big Appropriation Restored; Favorable Bill Up for Action

Announcement of an agreement having been reached with Fort Hall Indians concerning purchase of easement over bottom lands at the site of the American Falls reservoir, restoration of the appropriation of $1,045,000 and the introduction of legislation on behalf of the construction of the reservoir is contained in a telegram received Monday from Congressman Addison T. Smith at Washington.

Mr. Smith's telegram is as follows: Agreement finally has been reached with the Indians regarding purchase of easement over bottom lands of the American Falls reservoir site and approved by Superintendent Donner, commissioner of reclamation Davis, the commissioner of Indian affairs, congressional delegation and former Senator Dubois, attorney for the Indians. Necessary legislation has been introduced and I feel confident it will receive the approval of Secretary Work and will be enacted into law.

The appropriation of $1,045,000 has been restored by the senate. If this legislation is enacted the American Falls project will be constructed contingent upon private land owners paying their proportionate share of the expense of construction.

ADDISON T. SMITH.

PRISON REVOLT FAILS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 11 (AP)—Led by murderers, bank robbers and other desperate characters, several hundred prisoners revolted at the Western penitentiary here today and made an ineffectual attempt to dynamite their way to liberty. Bright the big prison, located on the bank of the Ohio river, three miles from the business district, was quiet and the dungeons held those unruly men who had killed two prison officers in their bold dash for freedom.

THREE BROTHERS KILLED

GLENNLIFE, N. Y., Feb. 11 (AP)—A special train on the Boston and Maine railroad bearing Henry Ford home toward from Boston to Detroit late today struck four sportsmen who were walking the track on their way to a boxing club. Three of the party, brothers, were killed instantly and the fourth was seriously injured. The train crew did not know of the accident, and continued on their way.

MISSING PERSONS SAFE

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Feb. 11 (AP)—The seven men and a woman who had been missing since they set out from Point Pelee for Peltus island in two small boats last Thursday are safe on the island. Three of the men returned here today with a story of hardship suffered in making the trip with the semi-weekly mail.

Fix Responsibility for Flag Incident; Query is Demanded

Federal Agents Claim Taxicab Driver Led Move to Put U. S. Colors Above German Embassy's Door

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Federal agents investigating the falling of the American flag over the German embassy's door, after failure of the embassy officials to display their national colors at half-mast in honor of Woodrow Wilson, have fixed responsibility upon a Washington taxicab driver.

His name has been reported to the state department, but officials there said no complaint has come from the embassy and consequently the department officially "knows nothing" of the affair.

According to the story told the investigators by the taxi driver, he and half a dozen others, all chauffeurs, met in an all-night lunch room for a sandwich and a mug of coffee. One of the group expressed himself rather forcibly regarding the failure of the German embassy to display official mourning for Mr. Wilson, and so effectively moved his hearers that they decided to nail the Stars and Stripes over the embassy doorway.

It was in the early hours of Wednesday and no store where flags could

COOLIDGE STAND ON TAX CLASSED AS LIBERAL ONE

Slomp's Letter to Davey Indicates Probable Attitude of President on Mellon Bill; Sur-tax Schedule Losing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Coolidge's discussion of the subject have indicated that he "is disposed to a liberal attitude" regarding the tax bill, Secretary Slomp informed Representative Davey, democrat, Ohio, today, in a letter responding to the representative's questions as to whether the president would veto any tax reduction bill "that differs materially from the so-called Mellon plan."

The revenue bill containing all of the Mellon income tax rates, as well as a provision for a 25 per cent reduction in the 1923 taxes payable this year, was formally reported to the house today by Chairman Greene of the ways and means committee. Two additional reports by other republicans of the committee and a democratic report also were submitted.

The president's secretary wrote Representative Davey that, although the president had talked "very frankly" to the newspaper men about tax reduction, "I think he is adverse to making any unqualified statement that would seem to commit him to a course of action in advance of detailed knowledge of the form the legislation will take."

Interprets Authority.

"All the president's discussions," Mr. Slomp continued, "have indicated that he is disposed to a liberal attitude, recognizing that legislation is made in congress and not at the White House, and that the function of the White House is approving or disapproving, is not required to be performed until after that of the congress has been performed."

Republican leaders in the house reiterated today after checking up a poll of their delegations that there was slight hope of passing the Mellon surtax law providing a maximum of 25 per cent. Advocates of these rates in the bill as reported by the committee based hope of their adoption on the forcing of a record vote, claiming there were at least 120 republicans who favor them. Representative Longworth, republican, reiterated the opinion

Chief Executive Balks at Giving His Official Recognition to Measure Passed in Upper House

Awaits Advice of His Attorneys on Legality of Lease

Asserts Intention to Punish All Officials Found Guilty of Crooked Dealings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Coolidge answered the senate request for the resignation of Edwin Denby, as secretary of the navy, with the statement tonight that "no official recognition can be given to the passage of the senate resolution relative to their opinion concerning members of the cabinet or other officers under executive control."

The complete statement issued by the president, follows:

"No official recognition can be given to the passage of the senate resolution relative to their opinion concerning members of the cabinet or other officers under executive control."

"As soon as an appeal counsel can advise me as to the legality of these leases and assemble for me the pertinent facts in the various transactions, I shall take such action as seems essential for the full protection of the public interest. I shall not hesitate to call for the resignation of any official whose conduct in this matter in any way warrants such action upon my part. The dismissal of an officer of the government, such as is involved in this case, other than by impeachment, is exclusively an executive function. I regard this as a vital principle of our government."

Cites Authority.

HOUSE IS GIVEN REVENUE DRAFT

Four Reports on Tax Measure Differ Widely on Question of Income and Surtaxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Four reports on the revenue bill, differing widely on the question of income and surtax rates, were reported to the house today by members of the ways and means committee.

The measure, which has occupied more than two months of the committee's time, is expected to provide at least a month's debate in the house, where a change in the rules will permit its amendment from the floor.

Chairman Green, in submitting the committee report, which was adopted by a strict party vote in the committee, although three of the republicans, including Mr. Green, are known to favor its amendment, declares the income tax reductions provided for in the bill as submitted will bring an annual saving to taxpayers estimated at $311,440,000 after it is in full operation, as compared with the estimated 1923 income return together with an estimated reduction of $232,750,000 in 1923 personal income taxes payable this year.

The reduction in estimated revenue will be distributed as follows:

Normal tax $91,000,000; surtaxes $101,800,000; earned incomes $89,500,000, and miscellaneous or war excise taxes, $108,000,000.

This will be offset by increases resulting from limitations put upon capital losses and certain deductions limited to tax free income, which it is estimated will bring in $19,500,000 additional revenue annually.

Senate Passes Resolution Advising Immediate Request for Resignation of Secretary of the Navy

Cabinet Member Remains Silent on Future Plans

Decision Comes at End of Day Crowded with Events in Teapot Dome Quiz

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Coolidge was advised by the senate today to ask for the resignation of Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy.

A resolution declaring the secretary's retirement should be requested "immediately" was adopted, 47 to 34, and sent to the White House by special messenger within the hour.

Mr. Denby sent word to inquire that he would have nothing to say in the immediate future.

The senate's action came toward the close of another day of fast crowding developments in the oil investigation.

McAdoo Heard From.

At the morning session the oil committee heard from William G. McAdoo a detailed statement of his employment as counsel for the Jockey interests; a declaration that he had no part in any leasing negotiations, and a charge that injection of his name into the inquiry was a political move to discredit him as a presidential candidate.

Later the same committee received protests of three railroad labor leaders against confirmation of Alcee Pomeroy as special counsel for the government in the amendment suits. Agnes was deferred, but a favorable vote probably tomorrow, was forecast.

Cromwell Writes.

Chairman Lenroot received a letter from Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the New York stock exchange, saying that if the committee desired the board of governors would pass a resolution asking all members of the exchange to forward the committee a transcript from their books as was done in the "leak" investigation in 1917.

During the day Attorney General Daugherty wrote Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, asking that a committee hold hearings on the resolution requesting that he retire from the cabinet. Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, author of the resolution, said in a statement that he had no objection.

Johnson Wants Ouster.

Toward the close of the senate debate Senator Johnson of California, candidate for the republican presidential nomination, asked his colleagues to turn out of office all of those connected with oil leases and Senator LaFollette

Work is Advanced by Famed Inventor as Best Diversion

Thomas Edison Pauses from Daily Duties to Celebrate His 77th Birthday Anniversary; Is Guest at Dinner

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 11 (AP)—Thomas Edison, with the dawning of his seventy-seventh birthday today paused long enough from labors at his laboratory in Menlo park to hold his annual interview with the press, to answer a questionnaire quite as intricate and lengthy as any he himself has devised and finally to leave his instruments long enough to attend a testimonial dinner this afternoon given him by more than 100 members of the Edison Pioneer association, veterans of his service.

At the dinner he blew out the 77 candles on a huge birthday cake, fortified himself with the light lunch on the menu and then started on another year's work putting in several hours at his laboratory after the festivities were over.

"Work, which one loves, is the best for amusement and diversion," he said when asked gently by one of his friends as he motored back to his laboratory.

Declaring that he felt no older than 40, "Although a little more awkward, perhaps," the famous inventor told his hosts that he hoped to live until he was 100.

SHAKEUP OCCURS AMONG OFFICERS OF AIR STATION

New Commander in Charge at Lakehurst; Another Man Named to Succeed Pilot of Giant U. S. Dirigible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—All orders to officers involved in the wholesale transfer of commissioned personnel at the Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station had among the dirigible Shenandoah's command, had been issued tonight by the navy department. Commander F. H. McHenry was relieved from the joint command of the big airship and the Lakehurst station, and Lieutenant Commander Zachary Landow and Commander Jacob H. Kline were assigned to those commands, respectively.

Commander McHenry was ordered to his duty as commanding officer of submarine tender Conopus, now at Mare Island, Cal., undergoing repairs. It also was announced that the assignment of Commander Kline to the command of the Lakehurst station would be of a temporary character, as it was intended later to transfer him to duty with the Atlantic squadron for which he recently applied.

The orders further instructed Commander E. B. Wyke, engineering officer of the Shenandoah, to proceed to the aircraft factory at Philadelphia for duty as engineering officer there and directed Lieutenant E. S. Kline to report to the receiving ship at the Brooklyn navy yard for assignment to duty with the Atlantic fleet. Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of naval aeronautics, on whose recommendations Secretary Denby acted in approving the orders for the shakedown at Lakehurst, expressed the opinion that the change would result in increased efficiency at the station and aboard the Shenandoah, making for better conditions during the period of preparation for the big ship's polar flight next summer and during the trip itself.

Other officials at the navy department made no attempt to conceal the fact that friction among the officers at Lakehurst and those of the Shenandoah's command had developed from time to time and led finally to a situation where action such as that taken today could no longer be postponed if the interests of the service were considered.

While Admiral Moffett will command the polar expedition himself, it was said that Commander Landow would have entire charge of the Shenandoah during that period.

Admiral Moffett characterized reports that the enlisted personnel of the Shenandoah had expressed an unwillingness to make the flight as "absolutely without any truth whatever."

OREGON EDITORS TO MEET

Sixth Annual Conference of Newspaper Men to Be Held at University Campus February 15 and 16

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 11 (AP)—Plans for the sixth annual conference of the Oregon newspaper men to be held at the University of Oregon February 15 and 16, are virtually completed, according to officials in charge of the program. The program is being arranged to touch on all phases of newspaper work, it was announced.

Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will be one of the principal speakers. He recently returned from a tour of Europe and will tell the Oregon publishers of his impressions of the newspaper there. Colin V. Dement, dean of literature and fine arts, who is the author of the Oregon code for newspaper men, will be in charge of the short course in news writing.

SHORT COURSE IS SCHEDULED

Three Hundred Boys and Girls Expected to Attend Event at Moscow Next June

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow (Special to The News)—Three hundred of Idaho's finest boys and girls from all over the state are expected to spend a week on the university campus, June 15 to 22, attending the second annual boys' and girls' club short course. Inclusion of club members from all parts of the state is an innovation this year. Last year when the first camp was held, only north Idaho boys and girls attended. Authority for announcing this course has just been obtained by H. A. Stone, district club leader for north Idaho, from President A. H. Upham and Dean E. J. Idings of the college of agriculture.

Expenses Light
Every regularly enrolled club member and club leader in the state is eligible to attend. Expenses, it is announced, will not be greater than last year. Only the actual cost of meals will be charged and all instruction and entertainment will be arranged for by the university.

Instruction in agriculture and home economics, together with a picnic, physical training and entertainments, will make up the program. Special work provided for club leaders will be a new feature.

Arrangements are now being made by J. H. Reardon of Boise, state club leader; D. P. Murray, district club leader for the southeast; D. B. Leonard, Bannock county club leader; and Mr. Stone.

Expect Larger Attendance
Last year, when the first course of this kind was given, the attendance was 125. It is expected that 250 will attend this year from north Idaho and that parties of boys and girls with their leaders from south Idaho will be made up.

University dormitories will house the groups and instruction will be given by members of the university faculty and extension staff.

Contrast Old Dances

Crowd of 3500 Present at Novel Event Presented by Citizens of Yakima

YAKIMA, Wash., Feb. 11 (AP)—Old time dances of a generation or two ago vied with the ultra modern in a community barn dance held here recently with a crowd estimated at 3500 persons either participating or viewing the spectacle. The affair was staged for the purpose of reviving for an evening at least some of the dances and entertainments that provided the social side of life for the early settlers of this region.

Music for the affair brought out another innovation, wheat at the start of the affair 18 veteran fiddlers, all of whom were more than 60 years of age, marched to the center of the floor. Besides providing the music, each fiddler sought to gain the first prize of a contest staged in conjunction with the dance and through the long hours of the evening none of the veterans paused, although many a dancer developed a somewhat worn appearance.

At the conclusion of the dance a judging committee awarded the first prize to Henry Unghart of Yakima, as the best fiddler. Individual trophies were given to each musician entered in the contest.

WHEAT MOVING
IN NORTHWEST

General Unloading This Month
in Washington Predicted on Account of Tax

SPOKANE, Feb. 11 (AP)—A general unloading of wheat onto the market by growers in the state may develop this month in the opinion of bankers and officials of the Washington Wheat Growers' association, owing to the fact that all wheat in the growers' hands on and after March 1 will be subject to taxation at the rate of from 2 to 3 cents a bushel.

More than half of the wheat of members of the Washington and Oregon cooperative associations has been sold, according to W. J. Robinson, general manager of the Washington organization, and the grain is moving steadily. Bankers, mainly in Spokane, have made advances on approximately 5,000,000 bushels of wheat at 50 cents a bushel. It was reported, a total of $2,500,000. All of this wheat is being held and an effort is being made to urge the growers to sell.

Many growers are holding their grain in anticipation of government action to boost the price of 1923 wheat. Mr. Robinson said, "The best authorities seem agreed that any action taken will not apply on 1923 wheat because of the lateness of the season."

Some growers seem of the opinion that 1923 wheat held over until 1924, in the event of the creation of an export commission, will go into the 1924 surplus for export and enjoy whatever bounty is determined for the 1924 exportable surplus. We have reason to believe that these growers are due for disappointment. The plan which we believe will be adopted is to sell 1923 wheat, held over until 1924, at the export price without bounty.

Fake Physician and Bootleggers
Under Suspicion of Slaying
Louise Lawson

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Detectives seeking the murderers of Louise Lawson, the music student slain in her apartment last Friday, tonight were working on two definite theories.

One was that the murderers were among the host of bootleggers believed by the police to have delivered liquor to the girl. The other theory was that a well known Beau Brummel, who pretended to be a physician and a lotted about Times Square, was one of the slayers. His photograph was identified in the rogues' gallery by Thomas Kane, elevator boy, who unwittingly took the murderers to Miss Lawson's apartment.

BUFFALO HERD INCREASED

Census Taken of Animals on Government Range East of Missoula Shows Substantial Gain in Number

MISSOULA, Mont., Feb. 11 (AP)—A census of the buffalo herd on the government range, east of here, showed a large increase in the animals from the modest start in 1920, according to Frank Rose, superintendent of the Montana national bison range. There are now 537 buffalo in the herd.

Other game animals which have been added to the reserve have also shown healthy increases, the survey disclosing a total of 400 elk, 80 deer and a number of mountain sheep. At present there are no accommodations for sightseers and none are permitted on the range because of the danger from the wild animals. However, Mr. Rose is planning on bringing a proposition before the government which calls for the construction of an automobile road encircling the bison range, which would give visitors an excellent opportunity to view all the wild animal life. The cost of the drive was estimated at $10,000.

Don't Go Into the Waste Basket

—when you can just as well have the chair opposite the buyer and his undivided attention.

Your written selling argument, no matter how well prepared, frequently ends ignominiously in the dreaded wastebasket. But when the buyer's telephone rings and operator says: "Long Distance is calling," every other matter waits. YOU have his undivided and uninterrupted attention—the most direct route to his mind—the greatest opportunity to sell him your idea.

Your salesman (costing you anywhere from $2 to $5 an hour and up) may cool his heels to the tune of many dollars' worth of time—may even fail to gain admittance. But when YOU call via Long Distance, refusal to listen is unheard of, and satisfactory results much more certain.

American Wins First Olympic Event

The United States drew first blood in the 1924 Olympic games when Chas. Jewtraw, of Lake Placid, N. Y., won first place in the 500-meter skating race, the first to be held at Chamonix, in the French Alps. Gorman, the Canadian skater in this event, was second.

HANSEN

HANSEN—Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pettygrove and H. M. Smith and wife attended the American Legion banquet given at Kimberly on Friday evening.

Mrs. Ralph Taylor is visiting relatives at Ogden.

The following names were omitted in last week's school report: Fifth grade "B" 96 to 95, Gazette Ball, Georgia Scherrup, Halene Hill, sixth grade, Bernice Hill, Darrell McFarland.

The Warth White girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Richard, have completed an organization and will take up military, art and domestic science work during the rest of the winter and spring months.

Paul Barnard arrived here from Boise, Idaho, on Sunday and shipped his household effects to the Springs at which place he has obtained employment.

The Young People's society of the Hansen church will give a Valentine box supper at the church on Friday evening, February 15. The evening's entertainment will consist entirely of music, such as solos, duets and quartets. Everyone is urged to attend as the funds will be used to retint the interior walls of the church.

A total of 116 attended Sunday school on Sunday morning. The regular hour for preaching was given over to the Gooding college group, who put on a very inspirational and interesting program of music and addresses. The company consisted of Coach Buckner, teacher in the college; Dorothy Sims of Kuna, vocal soloist; Albert Scott of Boise, xylophone soloist; Salome Robinson, pianist; Elmer McGraw, reader.

Mr. Scott and Miss Robinson gave very interesting reports on the splendid work being done at the college. Mr. and Mrs. Vance Naylor recently returned from a very pleasant month's vacation spent with relatives in Missouri and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Webb will leave tonight for California where they expect to make their home.

The Women's Community council will meet at the church on Thursday, February 14, with Mesdames Colner Carter and Blodgett as hostesses.

Mrs. Fay Sheesley very delightfully entertained the Hansen Latwa club on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. George Truitt, wife of the O. S. L. agent, is visiting at present with her daughter in Boise.

Alfred Pettygrove is expected to arrive home from California soon.

Peter Link, who has recently been attending to business matters at Portland, arrived home on Thursday.

Sunday, February 17, promises to be a "red letter day" for Hansen, as the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Biedgett, has requested that everyone attend services on that day in their work clothes. The sermon theme will be, "The Gospel of Sweat." Every boy is urged to ride his horse to church and a panorama view will be taken of those attending; also of the cars and horses.

The Farmers' Institute program will be carried out on February 19, 20 and 21 and will include addresses by experts from the state university, the men from the agricultural department of the Union Pacific railway, as well as by successful local farmers. Special music will be furnished throughout the entire session, and the Women's Council will serve a cafeteria luncheon at a reasonable rate each day.

This institute is a progressive movement sponsored by the Hansen Men's Community club who are planning for it as an aid to the farming community. Bernice Kirkpatrick entertained the company of students from Gooding college at a 6 o'clock dinner on Saturday evening.

Members of the Community club met last Wednesday evening and appointed the chairman of departments as follows:

Religious welfare, E. R. Smith; general welfare, Vance Naylor; education, C. C. Clark; social, Fay Sheesley; athletics, A. H. Scott; agriculture, D. J. Kooner; livestock, Charles Colner; dairy, Geyer McVeety; horticulture, J. W. Hardin; poultry, W. F. Brewer; public utilities, O. D. Bills; cooperative marketing, Stewart Soverns; law and order, Ora McVeety; farm and finance, Ota Sampson; free employment bureau, O. J. Bellwood; golf, roads, Stokes Wieman; membership, B. J. M. and D. Drake.

La A. Patten is moving to Hansen and will engage in the hog buying business.

Ted Taylor returned from Los Angeles Wednesday.

Mrs. Ed Brice is confined to her home suffering from an attack of influenza.

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. DEALS RUMORED AT BIG LEAGUE WINTER SESSION

Brooklyn and Philadelphia Magnates Out for New Players at National Club Owners' Conference

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Several player deals among National league clubs were in prospect tonight as club owners gathered for the annual winter meeting tomorrow.

Two League, William F. Baker of Philadelphia, and Charles H. Ebbetts, of Brooklyn, interrupted vacations in Florida to attend the session with the avowed intention of working to strengthen their lineups.

Ebbetts, it was said, may reopen negotiations with Pittsburgh for Hugh Lutz, Maranville, veteran shortstop, although this proposed deal may be held up because of the absence of Barney Dreyfuss, Pittsburgh manager, who is ill.

Boston and St. Louis may complete negotiations for a trade before the meeting for Rogers Hornsby, former Cardinal second baseman. Hornsby, it is understood, will not be traded to the Braves or any other club, but it was reported Jeff Pfeffer, Cardinal pitcher, may figure in a deal which would send Earl Smith, Boston catcher, to St. Louis.

Besides ratifying the 1924 schedule the league is expected to consider abolishing the bonus written into the contracts for playing excellence or for games won by pitchers; a plan to have baseball writers to select each club's most valuable player and a move to limit the number of players each team may have. The 1924 umpire list also will be announced by President John A. Heydler.

TROJANS TAKE THREE GAMES

Laundry Bowlers Subdue Bakery Squad; Bailey Completes Sixth Errorless Game

The Trojans started the final lap in fine style Monday evening after a week of poor bowling by losing the Towan quintet in three straight games. The totals read: Troy Laundry 2577, Royal Bakery 2450.

Smith was back in the bakery lineup and the same unchanged quintet met the Bakers from the Trojan side of the alley.

The first game was an easy win for the washermen's squad with the high game total of 875 to the low game score of 747. There was no argument as to whom the game belonged. King helped out materially with his 223 score in this game. The next started out with the promise of one for the bakery. Towan and Kennedy led for honors in it with 200 point games, but better all-around bowling in the Trojan ranks squashed out a victory by a single pin, 841-840.

The last game was the one in which Bill Bailey starred for the evening, hitting a 247 mark for the game and completing his sixth successive errorless game which was started last Friday with the Elks team in its match with the Knights of Columbus. He took the high total for the evening with a mark of 598. This score largely counted in the final Trojan victory which was made by a 861-835 score.

Total averages were: Laundry 171, Bakery 161.

METEORS HOPE FOR COMEBACK

Local Basketball Squad Gets Set for Turning Tables on Star Boise Quintet

The Meteors will attempt to even the score Thursday and Friday, when the red and white quintet from Boise high school meets Twin Falls in the local gymnasium to maintain their reputation as hoopers of the highest class.

This week will find the local basketball team in the best of condition with a materially strengthened lineup. Crows will undoubtedly be in the lineup for the first time in a month, and Martin will no doubt be ready to go again.

Both of these stars were absent on the Boise trip and they will be counted upon to help materially with the scoring end of the games on Friday and Thursday.

An advance ticket sale is being waged today and tomorrow for the games. The tickets are on sale at the Majestic pharmacy. The unfortunate road conditions will undoubtedly add to the cost of bringing the Boise squad here and the local school management is anxious that the gym be picked for the games which will probably be the best of the season.

Trinidad's Pith Lake.

In the thirteen odd million square miles of territory which comprise the British empire there are many remarkable phenomena; one of the most interesting being the pith lake of Trinidad, in the West Indies. It is a natural reservoir of valuable mineral pith, 100 acres in extent, from which 200,000 tons of asphalt are exported annually. About half way across Kenya colony, in British East Africa, is Magadi lake, a vast natural deposit of soda. The lake is ten miles long, two or three miles in width, and seen from the mountains that surround it, it has the appearance of an immense solid white sheet.

COOLIDGE WILL EXPRESS VIEWS IN N. Y. SPEECH

Managers of Chief Executive's Campaign Predict Keynote Will Be Sounded; Will Visit New Club Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Coolidge in New York tomorrow night will make an address which is the opinion of the managers of his campaign for the republican presidential nomination, will sound the keynote of his campaign.

Mr. Coolidge does not regard his address, which will be delivered at the Lincoln birthday dinner of the National Republican club, as a political address. The managers of his campaign agree with him that no question is not a political speech in the commonly accepted sense, but, nevertheless, consider it a comprehensive exposition of the president's views on a number of government problems, and for this reason they will await with interest its reception by the country.

The speech at the republican club dinner will be the only one Mr. Coolidge will make during a visit of eight hours in New York. On arriving in the city late in the afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and members of his party, he will be driven to the new home of the Women's National Republican club, which is to be opened tomorrow. After spending half an hour or so there he will go to the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria for a short rest before the republican club dinner, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Information was received at the White House today that more than 200 persons will attend the dinner. Many more, however, will hear the president speak, arrangements having been made to broadcast it by radio throughout the eastern half of the country. The broadcasting will be done by stations WJAP of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in New York and WCAP of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company in Washington.

No engagements have been made for the president after the dinner and his train will begin the return trip to Washington shortly after midnight.

The presidential party will be one of the smallest that ever accompanied an executive on an out of town trip. In addition to Mrs. Coolidge it will include Postmaster General and Mrs. New; Representative Shuff of New York; and Mrs. Snell; C. Barren Shump, the president's secretary; E. T. Clark, his personal secretary; Lieutenant Commander H. E. Butler, his physician, and a dozen newspaper correspondents.

in most of the constitutions or bills of rights in the republics of America; it is to be found in the political writings of most of the celebrated civilians, and is everywhere held as essential to the preservation of liberty. But the three great departments of government he kept separate and distinct."

"President Cleveland likewise stated the correct principle in discussing requests and demands made by the senate upon him and upon defendant departments of the government in which he said: 'They assume that the right of the senate to sit in judgment upon the exercise of my exclusive discretion and executive function for which I am solely responsible to the people from whom I have so lately received the sacred trust of office.'

"My oath to support and defend the constitution, my duty to the people who have chosen me to exert the powers of their great office and not to relinquish them, and my duty to be chief magistrate, which I must preserve unimpaired in all its dignity and vigor, compel me to refuse compliance with these demands."

"The president is responsible to the people for his conduct relative to the retention or dismissal of public officials. I assume that responsibility and the people may be assured that as soon as I can be advised so that I may act with entire justice to all parties concerned and fully protect the public interest, I shall act."

"I do not propose to sacrifice any innocent man for my own welfare, nor do I propose to retain in office any unfit man for my own welfare. I shall try to maintain the functions of the government unimpaired, to set upon the evidence and the law as I find it and to deal thoroughly and summarily with every kind of wrongdoing."

"In the meantime, such steps have been and are being taken as fully to protect the public interests."

Two Alternatives.—The course of procedure on the revenue bill in the house Mr. Longworth explained, would force votes first on amendments to the rates contained in the bill. This would mean, it was said, that the republicans must unite on a compromise rate, or bow to the united democratic stand, claimed by their leaders for a maximum rate of 41 per cent. If the compromise rate were adopted there would be no chance for a separate vote on the original rates carried in the bill.

GRIFFIS BILLED TO GIVE SPEECH

Former Officer, Freed After Bergdoll Incident, to Tell His Experiences

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Lieutenant Corlis Hoover Griffis, recently released from prison in Germany, is to be escorted to Chicago, arriving tomorrow noon, by Dr. James Whitely Hall of this city.

A dinner is to be given here Wednesday evening in honor of Lieutenant Griffis. He will tell the story of his experiences.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—A joyous welcome was accorded to C. Hoover Griffis, who arrived here on the American liner Albert Ballin today. Griffis was recently released from a German prison to which he was sentenced after an unsuccessful attempt to bring Grover Cleveland Bergdoll to America for trial as a draft evader. The city's official welcoming tug, the Macon, went out to meet the ballin and take Griffis to the Battery, whence he was to have been transported to the city hall to be greeted by Acting Mayor Collins and given the freedom of the metropolis.

Aboard the Macon were Griffis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Griffis, of Hamilton, Ohio; heads of the national committee to effect the release of Lieutenant Griffis; officers of several war veterans' associations; Mayor Hyman's committee for the reception of the fugitives; a bodyguard of war veterans; several high police officials; the police department band and glee club and a half hundred newspaper and movie men.

Griffis, who was a lieutenant in the American army intelligence service at Paris during the war, told how he was "inspired to kidnap Bergdoll and bring him from Germany to the United States for trial as a draft evader." He declined, however, to reveal who had financed his attempted coup, who had paid his four aides, one of whom was killed and another wounded by Bergdoll; who had given his party access to the town of Eberbach; whether he had any assurances this government would condone Bergdoll's return in the manner he planned; or how he got the United States army financing in which Bergdoll was to have been spirited across the border into France.

Griffis attributed his release to the society founded at Chicago for the purpose which accumulated a petition 23 miles long, containing 2,800,000 names, and forwarded it to the German government at Washington. He has been besieged during his voyage with wireless messages containing offers to go on the stage, enter the movies, or write his experiences for a newspaper syndicate, he said.

IDAHO THEATRE

Huntly Gordon

HUNTLY GORDON QUILTS AS BROKER TO BE AN ACTOR

Huntly Gordon, who plays the leading role in the Reginald Barker production of "Pleasure Mad," a Metro picture now showing at the Idaho theatre, is one of those actors who had to overcome a fear that acting wasn't "respectable" before he was able to go on the stage.

Buried by inherited prejudice he fought against the lure of the theatre for years, while he worked in the Bank of Montreal and later while he started out to be a stock broker. He was living up to family tradition and felt quite respectable—but terribly unhappy. His heart was behind the footlights and his heart was broken.

"Respectability" he damned! he cried one day. "I'll be a stock actor and not a stock broker."

An advance showing or preview of "The White Sister" was held Sunday afternoon at the Idaho theatre, invitations being extended to about a dozen. "The White Sister" is perhaps one of the most magnificently staged productions of filmland with a wealth of detail and an emotional appeal which places it among the greatest of all picture productions. It will be shown here later, arrangements having been made for its release in Twin Falls by Mr. Madden, which will be the premier showing in the state.

The expense of production is said to have been enormous and those who witnessed the preview express themselves as well able to believe it.

Election Agent to MacDonald Sees "Bloughing Off" Process in Great Britain

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Miss Minnie Pallister, who was election agent for Premier Ramsay MacDonald in Aberystwyth in the recent general election, in speaking at a meeting in Bradford yesterday, expressed doubt as to whether the Prince of Wales would ever ascend to the throne.

Miss Pallister explained that doubt was not due to any objection on the part of the country to the personality of either King George or the prince, but it was due to the "country growing up and seeing the old institutions bloughing off." She voiced the view that the sloughing off process might carry with it the monarchy of Great Britain at no distant date.

The management of the show house has made no complaint to the police, who now have possession of the flag, having recovered it in response to a telephone call asking them to remove it from the embassy premises.

A demand that the state department investigate the failure of the German embassy to lower its flag was made in the house today by Representative Connally, democrat, Texas, who declared that unless an explanation was forthcoming he would request a congressional investigation.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ON REVER-ENCE FOR THE LAW

January twenty-seven, eighteen
hundred thirty-seven, Abraham
a Young Men's Lyceum, addressing Lincoln said:

"Let every American, every
lover of liberty, every well-wisher
to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others.
As the patriots of seventy-six did
to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and Laws
let every American pledge his life, his property and his sacred
honor: let every man remember
that to violate the law is to tram-
ple on the blood of his father,
and to tear the charter of his
own and his children's liberty.
Let reverence for the laws be
breathed by every American mother
to her lip-lapping babe that practices in her lap let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and colleges;
let it be written in primers, spelling-books, and in almanacs; let it
be preached from the pulpit,
prominently in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice. And,
in short, let it become the political religion of the nation; and let
the old and the young, the rich
and the poor, the grave and the gay of all sexes and tongues and
colors and conditions, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."

HIGHER PRICES

High prices are looming again. Necessaries of life are "going up." The cause, economists explain, is the excessive money supply. It is getting to be so easy to borrow, in the cities
if not in the country, that people with things to sell are tempted to mark
them up and hold them till they get
their price, and extravagant buyers
are tempted to take them regardless
of price.

This is bad for the average consumer, whose income is not likely to rise along with prices. It is bad for business conditions generally, because
it upsets just when they have come to be stabilized a little. And by discouraging consumption it lessens production.

With higher prices may come an atmosphere of prosperity, but that is likely to be as false and transient as
the sense of well-being which follows
the swallowing of a quinine pill or a dose of whiskey. What the country
needs is not artificial and deceptive
stimulants but steady business.

Business men have learned, however,
from the last boom, that the gains of
an inflation-period may be wiped out later by the inevitable deflation. If they keep that in mind, they will
mark up prices as little as possible.

GOOD FORM

Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, thinks
"what Americans need most today is to develop a spine."

People are not asking "What is right?" he says, but "What is good form?" and the standard of too many of our people is not to avoid doing
wrong but merely to avoid being found out. Those who disapprove of current laxity are themselves too lax to make vigorous protest. "We need to develop a mental and moral backbone."

It is a lamentable situation, surely,
when "good form" means following
the crowd in doing bad things. But all things pass, the waves of moral depression as well as the waves of moral exaltation. Virtue and vice have their ups and downs, and social
standards regulate themselves accordingly. Before long it may be better form to do right. That time will come quicker if those who want it
stiffen their spines now.

Dreamland Adventures

THE WHITE WOLF

By DADDY

(Snarl Wolf sees children gather around to watch performing dogs. He plots to learn tricks so they will come to watch him. Then he plans to grab and gobble them.)

CHAPTER II

Snarl Wolf Does Tricks.

SNARL WOLF, peering through
the hole he had gnawed in the cellar door, watched closely as the trained dogs of Ikun the Scout did
their tricks.

"I can do all those tricks," growled Snarl Wolf. "I'll pretend to be a trained dog, and when the children
gather around to watch me I'll grab
them and gobble them."

As darkness began to fall, the dogs
finished their last trick and Ikun harnessed them to a sled. Jack brought out a nice batch of turkey hocks to pay
the dogs for doing their stunts so well.

The dogs ate some of the turkey hocks
and Ikun put the rest in a box for a later meal.

Snarl Wolf's mouth watered as he
watched the dogs feasting on the turkey hocks. The night made him more determined than ever to be a performer
of tricks.

When the dogs and children had departed, Snarl Wolf set to work to gnaw a big hole in the cellar door. He gnawed the door he thought how he
he didn't like to gnaw wood, but he
gnawed the door he thought how he
soon might be gnawing holes in his
pawed, and so he gnawed the faster.

After a long time he had a hole
through which he could stick his head.
Then he made a hole through which
he could force his shoulders. This done, Snarl Wolf gnawed a hole in the door
which he could wiggle and he struggled until he dragged himself through the hole. It was a hard job, and Snarl Wolf scraped off a lot of his fur in doing it but at last he got through
and was free.

Snarl Wolf ran at once for the woods. He wanted to put as much distance as possible between himself and that cellar trap. When he was far away, however, he gave a long howl
of triumph. Jack and Janet hearing it knew that Snarl Wolf was free. They shuddered at the sound of his mournful
howl. They would have shuddered more had they known the fact on which Snarl Wolf was working.

All night Snarl Wolf practiced the tricks which had been done by the trained dogs of Ikun the Scout. He sat up and huggled, he stood on his

—to hunt him.

head, he rolled over, he walked on his
hind legs, he played soldier, he proceeded to do many other things. By morning
he could do them well. For Snarl Wolf
was smart even though he was bad.

As morning broke Snarl Wolf crept
into his den for a little nap. He awoke
just about the time the village children
were coming home from school.

"Wan-gu! I'll have a big dinner
this evening," snarled Snarl Wolf,
stretching himself. "I'll do my new
tricks, draw the children around me,
and then I'll grab the plumpiest and sweetest."

Snarl Wolf ran through the woods
to the edge of the village. He saw the children on their way from school.

"Oh, see the trained dog standing on his hind legs," cried the children, and
then came running toward him.

Now, standing on his hind legs was something new for Snarl Wolf. He couldn't stand there long. Before the children could reach him he toppled
over. As he jumped to his feet he grinned. And his grin barred his big wolf teeth.

"Wolf! Wolf! It's a wolf! Run!"
yelled the children. And they fled like the wind. Before Snarl Wolf knew what had happened the children
were safe behind locked doors and the snarl of the village was running for game with which to hunt him. Snarl Wolf had to run fast to gain the safety of the woods. His plot had failed.

But Snarl Wolf was a shrewd
wolf. If one plot didn't work another might.

(In the next chapter Snarl
Wolf tries another plot and changes
his color.)

THE FORUM

SUGGESTS NEW TACK

Editor Twin Falls Daily News:

Dear Sir: It seems to me that Mr.
and Mrs. Hugh McKay must be a very unhappy couple. I have always believed that it is the little things that make our lives what they are. Why not consider us of our partner's virtues
rather than their faults?

Take, for instance, the case of Mr.
and Mrs. Wilbur Smith, as follows:
"My husband never tracks mud into
the house."

"When he comes in from irrigating he always stops at a ditch and washes
his boots, and if he is not wearing boots, but merely working about the farm he always has a towel to wipe
his shoes before he comes into the house."

"While he may sometimes be guilty
of leaving his boots or shoes lying in the middle of the floor, they are never muddy."

"Mrs. Wilbur Smith."

"My wife always has the meals on
time."

"When I come in from a hard day's work it is never necessary for me to wait until a late hour for my supper.
She says it is just as easy to have
supper at half-past six as at seven or eight, or to have dinner at noon as at one o'clock. It certainly makes it much more pleasant and convenient
for me."

"Mr. Wilbur Smith."

With best regards to the best news-
paper in the county, I am,
MRS. C. B. STOKES.

Is Age Controlled by Glands?

Dr. George Voronoff of France, famous physician and surgeon, who has devoted years to research and experimentation with glandular treatment,
says: "A man is really only as much
as his glands."
Dr. Arnold Lombard says in his book,
"Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions if elderly years are to be reached with
vigorous and healthy vitality."
The new scientific formula—Gland-ogen—combines this method. Gland-ogen is a highly concentrated gland
compound in convenient, compact tablet form which combines the important
extracts of the vital glands of healthy
young animals with other effective ingredients. Hundreds of keen-eyed men and women are today taking Glandogen.

Breakfast Food

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By HUGH MCKAY

My wife squeezes the tooth paste
tube from the middle instead of from the end.

This may seem an insignificant
thing, but it's the cause of a considerable percentage of whatever lack of harmony exists in our home.

There's absolutely no excuse for any-
one mismanaging toothpaste in this way.
But my wife makes a habit of it.

We never have a tube of the stuff
for more than a few days before she's forced most of it down into the end
and broken the tube.

Then, every time I attempt to
squeeze a little on my toothbrush,
she breaks her own and starts in to get a shower of paste all over me. If this sort of thing goes on, I'll have to put on a suit of white overalls, like a paperhanger, every morning and evening when I brush my teeth.

I've tried to get away from all this trouble by buying separate tubes for
my wife and myself, but within a week
she breaks her own and starts in to
ruin mine—and we have the whole thing over again.

Oh, for a wife-proof tube of toothpaste.

Tomorrow: "My husband tracks
mud into the house."

Bunyan Holds Record.

"Pilgrim's Progress," next to the Bible, has been translated into more languages than any other book. The number (according to information received from the reference librarian of the New York Public Library) of translations of the Bible into other languages is 270 languages and dialects.
The Bible has been translated into
more than seven times as many
as John Bunyan's immortal work,
which first appeared in 1678.

Wood Heavier Than Water.

Wood is heavier than water. It is the air trapped in the many cells that makes it appear lighter. When wood has been in water for some time this
air escapes, the wood is waterlogged
and will not float.

"She is there alone," the speaker
went on, "in this room, with a revolver
still warm upon the floor; and near it
is the body of a rich young clubman—
a cousin, known often to have visited
her in the past, and suspected, it is said, of having been her admirer. No
one else is, or has been, in the room."

"Yes," said Hushrook Rutherford,
his prominent, bloodshot eyes fixed on
the speaker.

"And suppose, then," said the lawyer, "as would seem natural in the circumstances, the servants in the house, after breaking into the room,
should telephone for advice and instructions, whom to whom would they naturally turn first?"

The great figure opposite him sat
staring, scarcely breathing, his prominent eyes now almost bulging from his
face, with the sincerity of his attention.

"And then suppose," he went on,
"upon his arrival, this guardian of the woman, who we will say had been personally dismissed by the visitor from his front room in the early morning. He
stood thinking, shook his smooth gray
head over so slightly, turned the last
lights out and went to bed. However,
he was too restless for sleep."

But it was, after all, such an illogical city of the scene, in the scheme of
the power, whatever we may choose
to call it, which directs the progress
of this web of interwoven action
which we call the universe? Many of the greatest intelligences have answered no. To the mind of Adelaide Rutherford, in that instant, her personal mind and attendant that next evening, for an evening out, seemed
on its face a very fortunate accident,
and yet was it entirely that? Was there not very likely, if all were known, a purpose behind that action?

Whether there was or not it gave
to the woman, in that instant, the exact
opportunity that she had wished, to be entirely free in her own house, at least
and to be, at a little before half-past
eight, in the great study of the dead
Daniel Gorman without the questioning glances of anyone following her.

She was alone in the study, rather quiet gown which would have seemed equally suited to indoor or street
wear. She was alone when she entered the great room, her usual companion, Rags, having by a strange
awkwardness been allowed to go out of the house following her maid. There was nothing to be done then, but to go alone into the room and to the interview that she expected and of the same time dreaded and wished for.

She was afraid, until the hour itself came, that she would be unable to get into the room unseen. She did so, however, and turned on the light
and closed the door behind her. There was an inside bolt on the door—of the kind that turns with a little knock. She turned it. There would be no one now who would enter the room to disturb
her. It was now eight-thirty by her watch, but she listened several minutes from the room or behind the door on the farther wall by which she knew her visitor and accuser would enter.

Several minutes passed, which seemed more like hours. She looked at her watch again. It might be that her conscience by her accepted messenger that nothing had misheard—
even though she had believed that she herself had seen it taken from the dog's collar and knew for a fact that the dog had returned without it. It might even, she reflected, have come into other hands! She stirred uneasily
and got up.

It was now eight-forty. She turned toward the long bookshelves at one side of the room, took out a book at random and sat down again, making a
pretense of reading but with her eyes
upon the wall of the room where that door was to open. And as she sat
there—still with her hand on the door-
knob—she heard the sound she was listening for—a feeble creak over
her that not infrequently attacks one
alone at night in a great dark cornered room, that some one else was there watching her. Dismissed at first,
the idea returned and even grew.
Gradually the sound and the fancy that there was some one breathing heavily
in the stillness.

Behind her, at the farther extremity
of the room, two tall, heavily car-
tained windows looked out upon an inner garden wild at one side of the house. It was possible, of course,
that some one might be concealed
there. Try as she could to resist it,
the impression grew upon her mind
that there was some one there. She was determined about one thing: she would not leave the room for any more imagining. So, rising suddenly,
she moved quickly toward the long
velvet draperies to convince herself of her foolishness. And when she had done so—and when she did not, felt
through the softness the terrifying
solidity of a man's body.

"Keep still, if you know what's good for you!" said a thick voice. And stepping backward, Adelaide Rutherford saw appear the great figure of the man whom she believed to be her husband.

tragedy—the friends and family of the
man as well as of the woman—to pull together and to focus all of their not inconsiderable influence to hush and
keep from general publicity a death
and a scandalous scandal as the death of this young man, whose body
might be found at night, in the room
where he had been in secret association
with this lovely madwoman, his
near relative.

The lawyer working out in great detail this latest legal supposition
he had conjured up—talking far into the early morn.

"But there must be no accidents!"
said Jasper Harg in final warning.
"Not too much drinking now!"

"You'll be safe," replied Hushrook Rutherford with a heavy laugh. "I know that—in any case!"—a statement that was probably true, though ordinarily he would not have said it. He had never before in the history of their relations
been quite so independent. "But don't worry," he asserted. "I'll do my side
of it. I'd do it anyhow," he asserted
for the third time, "on general principles."

The other man, it seems, was at heart not quite so confident of himself or of circumstances. He always was too far and too clearly for his own comfort. But it was a choice between two dangers, either one bad.
And this was clearly the less extreme.

"No accidents this time!" said Jasper Harg to himself, after he had personally dismissed his visitor from his
front room in the early morning. He
stood thinking, shook his smooth gray
head over so slightly, turned the last
lights out and went to bed. However,
he was too restless for sleep.

A TRACTOR SCHOOL
FOR POWER FARMERS

This Is Your Opportunity to Learn
More About Tractors

A tractor school is to be held by Casey-Parker Implement Co., the Mc-Cormick-Deering dealers at Twin Falls, on Feb. 13, 14 and 15.

The school is held for the purpose
of being of help to the users of tractors and tractor-drawn tools, and also
to all who are interested in power
farming whether they own a tractor
at present or not. The school is to be practical in every way and there will be something of interest doing all the time. The school will have many questions about the internal combustion
engine which they would like to ask.
These will be answered at this school.
The men in charge of the school have
valuable data available which may help solve these problems. If they have not the information that you are looking for, we are sure that they will get it
for you.

This school is also given for the benefit of young men and others who are interested in taking up the study
of operating tractors and tractor-
drawn equipment. This is a rare opportunity to get a good start in the knowledge of modern tractors, their operation, and care. We will make the time profitable to you. Kindly plan your work and arrange to be present. We are confident you will be amply repaid in knowledge for the time
you give.

Do not forget the date, Feb. 13, 14
and 15, at 9:00 a. m. sharp—adv.

THE MARKETS

WHEAT DECLINES FROM HIGHEST PRICE LEVELS

Close is Unsettled and Lower as Result of Profit-Taking Sales and Drop Follows Fall in Corn Prices

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—After touching new high price records for the season, the wheat market today fell back as a result of profit-taking sales and in sympathy with weakness of corn values. The wheat upturn was largely due to an unexpected advance in Liverpool sending to need of universal fresh supplies abroad. Wheat closed unsettled, 3-8 to 1-4 to 5-8 to 3-4 lower; May and July $1.11 3-4 to 1.11 7-8, with corn 12 to 5-8 to 1-2 down, oats at 1-4 to 3-8 to 5-8 lower, and provisions ranging from 5c decline to a gain of 2c.

It was regarded as significant that foreign wheat markets should be strong in the face of huge world's shipments, 21,277,000 bushels and nothing an increase of 7,480,000 bushels in the amount of wheat on ocean passage. A consequent rush to buy which took place here was also encouraged on account of correct opinions that the domestic visible supply would show a decrease today. There was gossip current, too, about prospects of bullish legislative developments at Washington. Selling on the advance, however, proved of greater volume than the wheat market could readily withstand in view of the opposite action of corn.

Much selling on the part of a house that has been closely identified with the bull side of the corn market had a good deal to do with the downward swing of the future deliveries of that cereal. On the other hand, arrivals here and abroad were offering more weight. Moreover, export orders here were close to a working basis. Oats followed corn.

In the provision market demands from cash interests brought a rally from declines associated with the lower quotations on hogs.

TWIN FALLS MARKETS

These prices are obtained daily at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and are intended to cover only the average of prices. Where certain dealers for short periods offer more than the quoted price no effort is made to include such quotations. But these are offered merely as a guide to producers and should not be accepted as reflecting extremes of either high or low prices.

BLACKFOOT MAN CHOSEN HEAD OF LOCAL SCHOOLS

Ernest D. Bloom Receives Unanimous Vote of Board of Education for Superintendent; Warmly Recommended

Ernest D. Bloom, superintendent for the past four years of Blackfoot, Idaho, schools, was Monday night elected by unanimous vote of the Twin Falls board of education to be superintendent of the Twin Falls schools at a salary of $3600 a year, succeeding M. C. Mitchell, whose resignation, effective June 30, was recently accepted. Mr. Bloom, who was here last week to submit his application in person to the members of the board, is expected to arrive here today for the first of a series of week-end visits he is expected to make in order to familiarize himself with the schools here. He was elected to perform. Soon after the close of the present school year, he will come here with Mrs. Bloom and their two children, a son and a daughter, to make their home in Twin Falls.

Hails From Iowa.
Mr. Bloom is a graduate of the Iowa State Teachers' college, from which he received the degree of bachelor of arts, and also has prosecuted post graduate study with a view to receiving a master's degree. He has had 15 years' experience in school work, one in rural schools, two in high schools, and the remainder in administrative capacities as city superintendent and principal.

Mr. Bloom also served as instructor for four summers in the Iowa Teachers' college and in a similar capacity last summer at the Idaho Technical institute.

In his formal application for the position to which he has been chosen here, Mr. Bloom said, "I have never failed of re-election, and always have moved to better positions and advancement."

In connection with Mr. Bloom's application, the board considered recommendations given by citizens and members of the Blackfoot board of education, and also by citizens and educational authorities of Hampton, Nashua and Rofle, Iowa, where he previously was engaged in school work.

It is stated in connection with these recommendations that Mr. Bloom has taken on an active part in church and civic organizations in the communities in which he has resided and that during his administration of Blackfoot schools there has been "no friction of any kind and no complaint of any kind on the part of the parents as to the management of the schools."

Dates Special Election.

In addition to the election of the new superintendent, the board at its meeting Monday evening designated Tuesday, February 25, as the date for a special election at which electors of the district will vote on authorization of a tax levy for the year for general operation of the schools next year amounting to 14.34 mills, the same as the levy laid last year. The election for this purpose is mandatory under the provisions of a recent state law which requires authorization by the electors of a certain proportion of the tax levy for this purpose, which, heretofore, has been authorized by the state board of education. The clerk of the board was directed to issue notices of the election, which will be published this week.

MANY TO SEE LEAGUE SHOW

Indication that the Epworth League players, presenting, as their annual dramatic offering, "The Hoodoo," at the Lavering theatre this evening, would be greeted by a capacity house was seen in a brief demand for admission tickets that Monday evening had made considerable inroads on the available supply. The offering this year is to be produced by a cast including 23 persons under direction of Howard E. Sablin, and is the most pretentious effort in this direction in the history of the organization.

WIFE ALLEGES DESERTION.

Alleging desertion, Mary Dana instituted suit in district court here Monday for divorce from Joseph Dana, to whom according to the bill of particulars, she was married December 30, 1917, in Twin Falls. She asks also for the custody of their three-year-old child and adjustment of community property consisting of livestock valued at $600. The suit was filed through J. W. Taylor, attorney.

SUBRENDERED BY BONDSMAN.

Joe Nobel, convict, Nevada, convicted last week of kidnapping 11-year-old Virginia Darling, of Bogerson, and admitted to bail in the sum of $1250, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff Sunday evening when John Totton, who had furnished $1000 of the bail, surrendered him to the court and received back his deposit.

KIWANIS HEAR TALK ON VETERANS' MEASURE

Harry J. Benoit, American Legion National Club president, addressed the Kwanian club here Monday evening.

Members of the Kiwanis club, at a dinner meeting Monday evening in the Hotel Perrine, were addressed by Harry J. Benoit, vice national committee man for the Idaho department, American Legion, who discussed the question of adjusted compensation for former service men of the world war, presenting the subject from the standpoint of the service men.

Merlin Bailey, vice-president of the club, who presided in the absence of John W. Graham, also submitted a detailed report of a conference of the Kiwanis district trustees which he attended last week in Logan, Utah. The club voted to hold its next meeting on Wednesday evening of next week at which time members of the Zeta club are to be guests.

E. Barrett of Salt Lake, brother of J. A. Barrett of this city, was a guest at the Monday evening meeting.

SCOUT TROOPS ARE LAUNCHED

Three New Units Officially Recognized at Investiture Ceremony; Band Makes Debut

Official recognition was given to three new Boy Scout troops at an investiture ceremony conducted Monday evening in the high school auditorium before the court of honor of the Twin Falls scout council, at which there were assembled about 500 persons including a large representation of Twin Falls scouts now numbering more than 180 lads ranging in age from 12 to 18 years.

The investiture was the occasion also for the presentation of the Boy Scout band of 24 pieces under the leadership of J. T. Balastrone, and the award of merit badges upon scouts who had attained progress in scoutcraft.

Harding Awards Presented.
Seven local troops and the local scout council which had increased their memberships 25 per cent in the 1923 anniversary roundup, received at this time the awards of J. T. Balastrone, awarded by the late President Harding.

Leaders and members of the new troops and scouts qualifying for the various awards made on this occasion were introduced by F. Douglas Hawley, district scout executive, before the court of honor, which was composed of R. W. Crocker, Dr. W. P. Passer, Clinton W. Evans, who served in the absence of M. C. Mitchell, and E. V. Berg, who served in the absence of Stuart H. Taylor.

A succeeding session of the court of honor with investiture ceremony will be held in March, Mr. Hawley announced.

New Scout Units

The new troops which were officially recognized Monday evening were: Troop No. 5—F. A. Goodykoontz, scoutmaster; sponsored by the Methodist church. Troop No. 9—C. E. Allen, scoutmaster; Melcher Priole, assistant scoutmaster; sponsored by the Christian church. Troop No. 11, Knall—E. L. O'Connor, scoutmaster. Wilbur S. Hill, scoutmaster, and Barry Coe, assistant scoutmaster, were invested as leaders of troop No. 1. Merit badges were awarded as follows:

Flourishment—George Sprague, Richard Robertson, Byron Rendahl. Cooking—Byron Rendahl, Richard Robertson. Pioneering—Richard Robertson, Byron Rendahl. Camping—Richard Robertson. Scholarship—Richard Robertson. Fred Varney, Tim Robertson and Robert Deas, all members of troop No. 7, were awarded first-class scout badges. Second-class scout badges were awarded to Ralph Gillette and Walter Wagner.

CITIZENS WILL BUY GRAVEL TO REPAIR STREET

Property Owners on Eighth Avenue East Seek to Enlist Municipal Co-operation in Battle with Mud

Twin Falls streets that are not now hard surfaced will be made passable the year 'round in at least one-quarter of town if an undertaking presented to the municipal commission at a regular meeting Monday evening is carried into execution.

In this instance residents and property owners on Seventh avenue east purpose contributing at this time approximately $300 for purchase of gravel to be spread on the thoroughfare west from Blue Lakes boulevard for a distance of about one and one-half blocks to connect with the paved section. The proposal was presented to the commission by H. E. Vogel, who stated that about 15 property owners had entered into the agreement to purchase the gravel for this purpose. The municipality was requested to prepare the street by grading and to improve the intersections.

The commission was referred by vote of the commission to S. S. All, commissioner of streets.

Others Considering Plan.
The commission's action on the request was preceded by some discussion in the course of which it was indicated that the method of obtaining street improvement adopted in this instance seemed likely to be employed by citizens in other quarters of the town, and question was raised as to the city's financial ability to undertake improvement of intersections. In this connection, Commissioner All expressed the opinion that "we should go as far as we can with the money that is available for that work."

The coalition which recently avenue residents purpose to remedy by voluntary action, Mr. Vogel said, is one that makes use of the street for automobile traffic impossible "about twice each year."

It is proposed at this time to purchase gravel sufficient to provide a coating four inches in depth. The estimated expense is about $20 per lot. Later, Mr. Vogel said, additional gravel will be purchased to make a coating six inches deep.

Asks Water Supply Line

The commission promised to give further consideration to a request made by C. N. Laubach, of the Twin Falls natatorium that a plan be devised whereby there might be provided a wood water supply pipe to the natatorium, the expense of which should be paid in installments by the natatorium owners. The natatorium barefoot has been supplied with water through a supply line that also served the county general hospital.

Further consideration was given at this meeting to the suggestion recently made by Dr. W. H. Dwight, commissioner of parks, that city workmen be employed to trim trees on parkings. No decision, however, was reached. City Attorney A. J. Myers advised that such work might be done by the city if the condition of the trees constituted a nuisance.

The commission voted to grant licenses for operation of rooming-houses to applicants in three cases in which the approval of the chief of police has been given. These applicants were Miss Etta Cannon, St. Regis rooming house; Mrs. A. Avery, Keith rooms; Mrs. M. B. Miller, Rialto rooms.

SCOUTS USE CEREMONY FOR DESTROYING FLAG

Stained and Tattered National Emblem from Potofotico and Elks Building Consigned to Flames.

With appropriate ceremonial, members of the Boy Scout troop of which W. E. Nixon is scoutmaster, Monday afternoon removed and destroyed stained and tattered flags from the federal building and Elks' building and replaced them with new flags. Thirty-five members of the troop in uniform took part in the ceremony. While the flags were being hauled down the troop bugler sounded "retreat," and while the new flags were being hoisted he sounded "to the color." The discarded flags then were carried by troop members to the city park, where, in accordance with requirements of United States army and navy regulations they were destroyed by burning. The bugler sounded "taps" when the lighted match was applied.

LAWYERS STAGE EXODUS

American Falls Bond Hearing in Supreme Court and Opening of Federal Court Term Take Many to Boise

Hearing in the state supreme court Monday on appellate proceedings brought to test the validity of the American Falls reservoir district's $2,700,000 bond issue and the opening of the term of federal district court in Boise on the same day caused an exodus of numerous Twin Falls attorneys to the state capital during the past two or three days. For the most part the traveling barristers made the trip by rail, while some proceeded by auto to Boise, the present terminal of the motor stage line, and a few essayed the entire journey overland.

James R. Bothwell was to appear Monday as attorney for the reservoir district in the hearing before the supreme court, and other local attorneys called to Boise the first of this week included Shad L. Hodgins, Frank L. Stephann, M. J. Swelley, E. M. Swelley, E. V. Larson, O. C. Hall.
