Attorney-General Informs President of Disposition of War Fraud Cases; Democrat Would Investigate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Attorney General Daugherty notified the president and the senate today with what the department of justice is doing with respect to disposition of the many war fraud cases. Simultaneously, there was a formal note in the senate to provide for a broad inquiry into department of justice affairs, the attorney general being charged in a resolution with the duty to perform properly the duties of his office.

The senate resolution was offered by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, and declared that Daugherty had failed and neglected to prosecute in many civil instances, and proposing to invest the senate judiciary committee with power to delay in the place of departmental affairs. The resolution was laid on the table at its sponsor's request and may not be called up for several days.

Denies Immunity Charge.

Earlier in the day Mr. Daugherty had sent a response to the senate resolution introduced by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, denying emphatically that immunity from criminal prosecution had been promised in the settlement of any war fraud cases provided civil liability involved was met. The attorney general said that while many cases had been settled without criminal prosecution, these involved in the main over-payments by the government through mistake of law or facts. He added that plain warning had been given by departmental officers that if immunity from criminal prosecution was developed, not only would the defendants be protected, but what they would be used against them in prosecutions.

Daugherty Satisfied.

In a letter to the president, Mr. Daugherty expressed satisfaction at the work of the department in the transactions section in disposing of the many cases that have come before it. The letter embraced a voluminous report made of various divisions of the war transactions section, preparation of which was begun last November 22. The president was advised by the attorney general that there are claims by the government under consideration in which negotiations for settlement are pending involving $41,000,000 while action is under way in other claims involving approximately $62,000,000. The government recovered to February 1 more than $450,000, Mr. Daugherty's letter explained, and the more the right was impossible because of congested conditions existing in every federal court in the land.

CHURCH HELD TO TRIAL

BOISE, Feb. 13 (AP)—Former Judge M. J. Church and Mrs. Anna Borde Goodman were bound over to the district court to face trial on charges of adultery late tonight following a preliminary hearing before Carl Norris, justice of the peace.

Church and Mrs. Goodman were arrested February 1 upon complaint of L. E. Allumbaugh, Ada county sheriff and arresting officer.

REBELS ROUTED.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13 (AP)—General Gonzalo Escobar has reported that the rebels were defeated yesterday at Palo Verde, and are fleeing toward San Juanillo. The rebels had heavily in dead and wounded. General Escobar himself was wounded in the breast.

AMERICAN WOOL FIRMS MARKET

Sixty Per Cent of Total Used in 1923 Was Supplied from Sheep Raised in U. S.

SALT LAKE, Feb. 13 (AP)—American sheep supplied 60 per cent of the 647,607,000 pounds of wool used in 1923 for clothing and other purposes in American mills, according to F. R. Marshall, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association, who has headquarters here. In 1922 the amount was about 70 per cent of the total.

"The larger proportion of domestic wool used in 1923 is accounted for by the fact that the entire clip was sold from growers hands about as rapidly as shown in that year," Mr. Marshall stated. "In 1923, however, a reaction in prices took effect. When presented the marketing of the domestic wool and manufacturers drew upon large stocks of imported wools bought at lower prices and held in bond until required for use."

Mr. Marshall said the 1923 wool consumption was about two per cent under that of 1922, but estimated that "some of the mills which reported in 1922 did not report for 1923."

American and British Flags Fly as Miss Hutchinson Arrives at Ashton

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 13 (AP)—The British flag, as well as the American, was flown here today. The occasion was the arrival of Miss Lydia Hutchinson and her team of Canadian dogs entered by the Montreal winter sports committee which will compete in the American dog derby to be run over a 25-mile winter course here on February 22, Washington's birthday.

Miss Hutchinson, an Idaho girl, contracted to pilot the Canadian team after her own dogs had died. In past races "Lyd," as she is known in this vicinity, has given men drivers an exceedingly hard run.

COAL MINERS TO BE OUT OF WORK

Workers and Operators Agree Thousands of Jobs Doomed and Many Mines to Quit

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 13 (AP)—Fate in the garb of economic necessity has set its face against thousands of soft coal miners in America. Nothing the wage conference of miners and operators can do in their meeting here can save them from elimination from the industry nor save hundreds of mines and the mining hamlets over the country from gradual dissolution.

The verdict was sounded here tonight by leaders of both operators and miners, but none would move from their seats. Deep regrets were voiced as they told of the hopelessness of the situation and pictured the 200,000 or more excess bituminous miners and fields whose active days are numbered. "Elimination has commenced," a spokesman for the operators said, "and will stop only when economic conditions require. There are 700 bituminous shipping mines in the country. About half of them must go and with them about 200,000 miners. Every delay in reaching an agreement will stave off the elimination but only for a time. There is no escape from it."

This step only when economic conditions require. There are 700 bituminous shipping mines in the country. About half of them must go and with them about 200,000 miners. Every delay in reaching an agreement will stave off the elimination but only for a time. There is no escape from it."

Was Author of First Mother's Pension Law Adopted in Illinois; Practitioner on Idaho Land and Water Company

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Former Municipal Judge McKenzie Cleland, author of the first mother's pension law which was adopted in Illinois, and a practicing attorney in Chicago, for 40 years, died today, aged 64.

Judge Cleland was president of the National Probation league; vice president of the Anti-Capital Punishment Society; a member of the American Bar Association, and president of the Mother's Pension league, and spent many years in criminal procedure reform movements, emphasizing the good results of probation.

As a judicial judge of Chicago he commanded attention for his efforts to extend the probation system.

He was a director and had been general counsel for the Idaho Land and Water company and the Twin Falls-Bruneau Land and Water company.

IMMIGRATION MEASURE.

CITED AS INCONSISTENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Sections of the immigration restriction measure, pending in the house, would operate to exclude Japanese from the country and such exclusion would be "inconsistent" with treaty obligations with Japan, Secretary Hughes contended in a letter to Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee, made public today at the state department.

BRUSH PAGES SHARP DENIAL TO ALLEGATION

Ohio Publisher Fires Spirited Answer to Vanderlip's Implications in Deal for Harding's Newspaper

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 13 (AP)—The implications of irregularities in the sale of the Marion Star by President Harding to Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, made by Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier, in a speech at Ossining, N. Y., last night, brought a sharp denial from Mr. Brush tonight.

Mr. Brush is president of the Harding Publishing company in addition to owning several other newspapers in Ohio, and was a life-long personal friend of the late president. His statement follows:

"Mr. Vanderlip's attempt to implicate the late President Harding and the new owners of the Marion Star through the sale of that newspaper to Roy D. Moore and myself is laughably false. His statements were so venomous that it is impossible for him to soften their effect by claiming a desire to protect Mr. Harding's memory through the press of the country without regard to the harm he might be doing to the late president's reputation and to Mr. Moore and myself in our business careers."

Answers Vanderlip.

"Mr. Vanderlip says 'where did the money come from, did it?' Every dollar of it came from our own pockets, some of it borrowed; it is true, but with the customary scrupulousness of the business world, Mr. Harding and the minority stockholders and Mr. Harding's share is now a part of his estate. Practically all of these facts have been and are now available in the Marion county probate court, through the executor of the Harding estate or at the office of the Marion Star, for the benefit of Mr. Vanderlip, the senate committee or anyone else."

Gives Purchase Price.

"The actual purchase price of the Marion Star, including the equity share of stock was $380,000. The contract with President Harding was signed at the White House two days before he left for France. The payment by us of $50,000 in cash. The contract provided that other payments and details of the transactions should be cleared up and returned to us for our cash purpose he had planned to stop at Marion."

"Of the $380,000, Mr. Harding was to receive $280,000, the remainder of which was being held by Star employees. We were to pay the president $163,000 in cash, including the $50,000 paid to him in Washington and to turn over to him preferred stock in the reorganized Harding Publishing company amounting to $100,000. In addition the president was to sign a contract of employment with the Star as assistant editor at a salary of $12,000 per year. This arrangement constituted a compromise on the price, and as a result of our prospects of making good on the contract, the syndication of his writings at a comparatively small salary, the payment of the salary was guaranteed for ten years."

BANKER UNABLE TO GIVE PROOF

Vanderlip Says He Will Only Be Able to Repeat Statements as to Marion Deal

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Frank A. Vanderlip, financier and former president of the National City bank, who is at an address at Ossining last night, criticized the sale of "a certain Marion newspaper" and arraigned public officials in connection with the alleged national scandal, announced he would leave for Washington at midnight tonight.

He declared he had received a request by telephone from the sergeant at arms of the senate to appear before the senate committee which is investigating the Harding case, but he had declined. Mr. Vanderlip attended a dinner given tonight at the University club by Thomas C. Desmond and William M. Chadbourne, former members of the war-time vigilantes organization. He asserted that if he were called before the senate committee he "would not" be able to furnish definite proof of his statements of last night. "All I can tell them is what I have said," he added.

NEW PHASES ARE SUDDENLY ADDED IN LEASE SCANDAL; HARDING'S NAME DRAWN IN

Griffis Satisfied to Let War Slacker Remain in Germany

Says Bergdoll Held to Worse Fate Than Facing Trial in U. S.; Tells of Foreign War Rummblings

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Lieutenant Corlies' Heaven Griffis, self-styled "peace patriot," left Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, to a worse punishment when his attempt to kidnap him and return him to America for trial failed, he declared tonight before a large gathering.

Styling Bergdoll "a man without a country," he reported leaving him in a small German wine shop with a guard on each side, fearing for his life and fearing by his memory, he is infinitely worse than to return him to answer charges standing against him. "Let him stay there," said the Ohio boy who merely saw something he could do for his country and tried to do it. "We could use such men for examples from time to time to prove that adding 'no war' is too great to sacrifice for your country."

"I've probably got a different viewpoint than most of these coming back from Germany," he continued. "I didn't go over there as a diplomat to whom the Germans could look for foreign favors. I wasn't an American soldier, I was a prisoner. I was inside looking out."

"So what I might say about Germany would probably be considered tainted. I still feel a little bit tainted. But wherever I saw a German who had fought for his country, who had sacrificed and knew what love of country meant, I met a friend. Patriotism is something greater than nationalities."

"Everywhere in Germany I heard the words 'We'll get even again. There'll come a day when America won't sacrifice France.' But I don't believe the United States should ever desert France."

"France has something that I wish we might copy, the only thing in Europe worth copying. That is its patriotism. Frenchmen don't dodge taxes, because that isn't patriotism. They don't cheat with the scalars, because that isn't patriotic."

CHRISTIAN BITTER OVER VANDERLIP'S STATEMENT

Secretary to Late President Harding Classes Banker as Unconscionable Traitor to Memory of the Dead

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—President Harding's secretary, George B. Christian, Jr., declared in a statement here tonight that Frank A. Vanderlip was "an unconscionable traitor to the memory of the dead."

"Even when hysteria is the order of the day," Mr. Christian said, "the suggestion that the sale of Mr. Harding's private property has any connection with the scandal is a gross violation of the honor of the government of this country. It is hardly possible. Mr. Vanderlip has the choice of proving he has been misquoted or standing the most contemptible of men."

FORTY-EIGHT ARE INDICTED

Williamson County Grand Jury Names Many Persons Suspected of Participation in Illegal Activities

MARRION, Ill., Feb. 13 (AP)—A total of 48 indictments were returned today by the Williamson county grand jury which has been in session here for the past two weeks investigating the acts of Glenn S. Young, dry raid leader, and other raid leaders, the alleged illegal arrest of the foreman of the grand jury and allegations of theft and assault, advanced by those arrested in the recent raids.

New York Banker Must Explain His Statements Concerning Marion Star

Vanderlip's Implications as to Harding Deal Not Popular in Many Quarters; Strawn and Pomerene Ruled Out; Inquiry to Take in Treaty with Great Britain

THREE MORE ARE NAMED BY JURY

Additional Indictments Returned by Federal Body; Dampier Pleads Not Guilty

BOISE, Feb. 13 (AP)—With the return of three additional indictments to the grand jury in Tuesday afternoon, the federal grand jury, which went into session Monday morning, finished its deliberations Wednesday afternoon and was excused. The three charges returned Wednesday were against:

Martins Indeta, charged with violation of the prohibition law; Cecil Hooley, alias Edith Trickson, charged with violation of the Mann act, in the alleged transportation of Pearl Lind, Oregon; J. A. Wooten, charged with violation of the Mann act in the alleged transportation of Jennie Collier from La Grande, Ore., to Weiser.

Of the three secret indictments returned Tuesday, the one against J. A. Lauer, of Payette, Idaho, was made public Wednesday. Lauer is charged with misapplication of funds of the Payette National bank, of which he is an officer.

E. H. Dampier, report attorney and a former bank officer of that city, against whom an indictment was returned Tuesday, pleaded not guilty to a charge of sending obscene letters through the United States mails. Judge P. S. Dietrich, of the United States district court, set February 25 for trial.

SEPARATISTS IN BATTLE

Dispatches Tell of Death of 28 Rhinelanders and 21 Citizens of Pirmasens in Course of Fighting

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The latest reports from Pirmasens, which may be exaggerated, says a Reuters dispatch from Berlin filed at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon, asserted that 23 separatists and 21 inhabitants of the town were killed in the disorders yesterday.

It appears, the dispatch adds, that the barricaded separatists repeatedly were summoned to surrender, but refused, and toward evening the mob, now of huge proportions, began to attack them armed with axes, sticks and all sorts of missiles. The separatists, who had rifles, hand grenades and ammunition, defended themselves obstinately.

GREENFIELD QUITS JAIL TO ANSWER INDICTMENT

Gordon Greenfield, who was Tuesday indicted by a federal grand jury in Boise on two counts, one for alleged violation of the Mann act and the other for alleged violation of the motor vehicle theft act, Wednesday evening left the county jail here, where he has been a prisoner since October 11, last, and in custody of United States Deputy Marshal Sutherland, went to Boise to face further proceedings in his case in federal court.

In the first indictment, Greenfield is charged with transporting Thomas "Mac" Taylor, daughter of L. M. Van Eaton, Bank Creek, from Twin Falls to Laurier, Washington, and in the second he is charged with stealing the car in which the alleged theft was made from the girl's father. The alleged transportation took place last September.

Greenfield and the girl, who were called by customs officers at Laurier on the Canadian border, were turned over to Deputy Sheriff C. E. Jones of Twin Falls county, in whose custody they returned here.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)

Developments in the oil scandal tumbled over each other so rapidly today and went so far afield that when night came the national capital had not recovered from the shock.

President Harding's name and the circumstances surrounding the sale of his newspaper, the Marion Star, were brought in by Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker who promptly was subpoenaed by the oil committee to appear tomorrow morning and tell what he may know.

Richard Colby, a former secretary of state and one of the law partners of President Wilson for a brief period, was mentioned in information brought to the committee in connection with the vast array of lawyers retained by the various oil interests.

President Coolidge, informed by republican senators that neither Silas B. Strawn nor Alton Pomerene could be confirmed as special government counsel in the oil cases, made preparations to withdraw their nominations.

James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, was considered for appointment as one of the government attorneys, but investigation showed that Mr. Garfield's firm had legal connection with the Odeon interests in Mexico.

Will Review Treaties

Without a record vote the senate adopted a resolution by Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, of the oil committee, calling on the state department for all diplomatic correspondence relating to the Colombian treaty, ratified by the senate after Secretary Fall had urged that it was necessary to protect American oil interests in Colombia.

Then the senate adopted another resolution by Senator Dill calling for similar correspondence with Great Britain and other countries relating to oil concessions.

Groundwork for a sweeping investigation of the administration of Attorney General Daugherty, particularly his failure to act in the oil scandal and on other matters, was laid in a resolution presented by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana.

A subpoena was issued for Earl C. Schuyler, Denver attorney, to produce correspondence relating to Teapot Dome which was described to the committee as sensational.

Stack Tells Deal

J. Leo Stack, a Denver oil operator, followed up previous testimony of an understanding between Harry F. Sinclair and Standard Oil interests by testifying that he had been informed a week beforehand by officials of the Pioneer Oil company that Sinclair would get Teapot Dome.

A subpoena was issued for Harry Daugherty soon would retire from the cabinet, but there were no outward developments either at the White House or the navy or justice departments to indicate that the resignation of either was impending.

WANT REJECTION OF POWER RATES

Association Moves to Cancel Proposed Schedule Filed by Idaho Power Company

BOISE, Feb. 13 (AP)—A motion by the Southern Idaho Power Users association to have the public utilities commission reject the schedule of rates filed by the Idaho Power company January 18, brought to a temporary close today the rate hearing which started Monday. The commission took the motion under advisement, to give a decision Thursday morning.

The users urged that the commission continue its work of finding and establishing what are just and reasonable rates. To expedite this work the users urged the commission to request the power company and its customers to co-operate in formulating and presenting proposed rates for each class of service.

The power company opposed the motion on the ground that the commission is now proceeding without jurisdiction to hold this particular hearing.

BOURBONS STAND UNITED BACK OF GARNER PROGRAM

House Democrats Bound Together at Party Caucus for Substitute for Mellon Plan; Want Higher-Surtax Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Democrats of the house bound themselves tonight by a party caucus vote to stand as a unit for the tax revision program proposed by Representative Garner, of Texas, as a substitute for the Mellon plan. The revenue bill carrying the income tax rates proposed by Secretary Mellon will be taken up in the house tomorrow under general debate.

The action of the democrats means that if the 335 members of the house vote on the income tax rates section of the bill, at least 200, 12 less than a majority, will be cast for the Garner plan providing for a 50 per cent cut in normal taxes and a maximum surtax rate of 41 per cent applying to incomes of $92,000 and over.

Only Four Dissent

Of 168 democrats at the caucus, 163 approved the action to bind the members. Rules of the membership provide that if two-thirds of the party membership approves of such an action it will be binding upon the entire party unless a member shows that he has made a pledge to his constituents prior to election which would be violated by carrying out the party edict.

Representative Dial of Virginia was the only member excused on this ground. Seven others were granted permission to vote for any amendments to the revenue bill which would provide higher surtax rates than the Garner plan, but if these were not accepted they were bound then to support the democratic program.

Action in Sight

The Mellon income tax placed in the bill in committee provides for 25 per cent cut in the normal tax section, a maximum surtax of 25 per cent. Under agreements reached today by the ways and means committee unanimous consent will be asked when the bill is brought up tomorrow to close general debate at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. Consent then will be asked to take up on Tuesday the normal tax section, over which the controversy on the measure is centered. Leaders predict this sections can be disposed of within two days.

SOVIETS DEMAND RECOGNITION AS
BASIS OF TRADE

No Commerce Agreements to Be Signed Until Diplomatic Relations Are Restored, Litvinoff Declares.

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, deputy minister of foreign affairs, in connection with the recent action of Great Britain and Italy in recognizing the soviet as the de jure government of Russia and today's announcement that Norway also had accorded the government full recognition, gave an interview to newspaper correspondents here. M. Litvinoff outlined the general principle that the soviet government would refuse to sign any commercial treaties with countries prior to their de jure recognition of Russia.

To a question if this statement meant there could be no trade agreement between the United States and Russia, unless there was de jure recognition, M. Litvinoff said there was a distinction between trade agreements implying de facto recognition, and commercial treaties. At any rate he added Russia had not yet been approached on this subject. Regarding Europe, however, it seemed obvious from Litvinoff's statement that the soviet feels it now holds the trump card.

Recognition First.

"Some countries go on muttering about old debts," said Litvinoff. "We refuse to consider any preliminary condition to commercial treaties. Countries first must recognize us de jure then we will discuss matters with them."

"With Great Britain, Italy, Germany, Norway and the latter states we now have an ample field for our economic activities and to export raw and import manufactured materials. Recognition now is of much less importance to us. There is not the slightest doubt that other European and also American countries in the near future will throw over their illusions, hopeless expectations and conventionalities. We are near general recognition."

According to Litvinoff, countries which have not yet established official relations with Russia will not be permitted to have official or semi-official representatives in the soviet territory. He added that the Japanese government has been informed that its so-called consuls at various points in Siberia could be considered now only private citizens.

About a year ago, when negotiations were under way for a Japanese-Russian agreement, these "consuls" were permitted considerable official standing. In consequence of Norway's recognition of Russia, which is unconditional, soviet Russia probably will recognize Norway's sovereignty over Spitzbergen, which is provided for in the treaty of Paris, to which Russia hitherto has refused to adhere.

PRIEST HELD FOR MURDER

Pastor of Catholic Church Arrested Following Death of Woman Housekeeper from Bullet Wounds

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 13 (AP)—Miss Anna McDonough, 45, was shot and killed late today in the study of the parish house of St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church, where she was employed as housekeeper.

The Rev. John G. Grady, pastor of the church, was arrested and is being held upon a charge of murder. He admitted the shooting, according to the police, but claimed it was accidental.

Miss Mary McDonough, sister of the dead woman, and Robert Shields, janitor, both living at the parish house, were being held as material witnesses.

Resignation of Weidfeldt Rumored Following Flag Affair at Washington

BERLIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—An attempt to hold Doctor Weidfeldt, the German ambassador to the United States, responsible for the failure to lower to half mast the flag on the embassy building at Washington in respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson seemed reflected today in a section of the press close to Chancellor Stresemann. These papers presume to know that the ambassador will retire from the post at Washington at an early date, although it is added that this resolution antedates the flag incident and is in keeping with Dr. Weidfeldt's desire to return home and rejoin the Krupp directorate.

Dr. W. S. Wolf, ambassador to Japan, who is on his way to Germany on leave of absence, again is being named as the possible successor of Dr. Weidfeldt in the event Weidfeldt retires.

FACTORY BOWS BEFORE CLERKS

Kleffner's Men Take Second Series of Season from Scilley's Brigade

For the first time since the bowling league has started, "Pop" Kleffner participated in a series in which his matchless team were the winners Wednesday night. Once before they rolled, winning two out of three, but that evening "Pop" plotted against the rivals and rolled in the dummy place on the rival team. Possibly that accounts for the Golden Rule victory then.

However, winning the series didn't take the total pin count away from the reputable sugar men, who rolled 2406 in the three games to 2376 for the Golden Rule.

According to the estimate as seen through the box score about 60 per cent of the factory squad were off their feed in Wednesday's game, 20 per cent took high honors with a 531 mark and the remaining 20 per cent bowled a normal game. As for the clerks, they took their points when they needed them and one of the bunch managed to boost his score one point above the 500 mark.

Unique ideas of bowling were presented at various stages of the evening. Squires demonstrated a peculiar form of humor by taking both high and low scores for a single game with his mark starting at 104 in the first round and then scoring to 232 in the second to settle back to the 132 mark in the final count. Needless to say the odd game which the sugar men took was in the second round but the remarkable part comes in the score which stood out about as prominently in the evening's totals as the Tenpat Dome episode does in congressional investigations. NEW PHASES ADDED IN OIL SCANDAL ing's name into the oil muddle created a sensation of scarcely less magnitude than did E. L. Doherty's unexpected testimony of two weeks ago that he had made an unpaid loan of $100,000 to Albert B. Fall.

"OUR HOSPITALITY."
The eternal feminine. To the many persons who have wondered why Buster Keaton turned to the period of 1830 in his latest Metro comedy, "Our Hospitality," which comes to the Idaho theatre today, the answer is Natalie Talmadge Keaton, his wife. Natalie liked the Empire style of dress of that day, and so you've guessed it.

COMING TO THE ORPHEUM
Throughout the entire world there isn't a section in which you find a person who has not visited, read or dreamed about New York city, especially in the old days when it was called—"Little Old New York." Its rapid growth and social activities are known the world over.
The screen version takes us back a hundred years into the days of our grand-uncles, and famous characters strut across the screen—the names of whom are familiar to every school pupil.
It will ranch into the hearts of every man, woman and child in the United States, whether they live in hamlet or metropolis. It shows them how the largest city in the world looked in the "old days."
It will interest those from the old continent the same as their past history interests us on this side of the water. Announcement as to play dates will be made in this paper.

Origin of Word Potomac.
There are at least three explanations of the origin of the word "Potomac": (1) That it is derived from "Potanook," which means "they are coming by water." (2) It is a derivative of "Potowannomec," which means "to make a fire in a place where fires are usually made." (3) The word is supposed to mean "a river of swans."

THE SCHOOL ELECTION

The main point which should be kept in mind in connection with the forthcoming election on the matter of providing funds for school operation within this district, is that the carrying of such election does not mean an increase either in taxes or school expenses.

If the election carries, as it should,
the schools of the district will be continued on the same basis of operation as formerly. The same amount of money will be available for the coming school year as was raised during the past school year. The difference lies in the fact that the mill levy heretofore was fixed by the Board without the necessity of an election, whereas under the present law an election is required in all cases where a greater levy than eight mills is necessary for general school purposes.

Independent District Number 1 is permitted under the new law to levy eight mills for general school purposes, four mills for school wagon maintenance, and such further levy
as is necessary to care for interest and sinking fund charges.

At the election the people of the District will be called upon to endorse the proposition of providing for a further six and three-quarter mills, which altogether will amount to the same total levy as in previous years and raise the same amount of money for the coming school year as was used during the last few years.

There is an further or additional expense to the taxpayer involved in the carrying of the election in any way, shape or form, unless it be in the matter of the expense of holding the election, regarding which no choice is open.

The question is, simply, shall the schools of the district go on as formerly, or shall we insist on an attempt to operate them with a cut of six and three-quarter mills as compared to last year's expenses?

The News believes in economy, but not in the kind which is likely to result in the closing down of a part of the schools.

THE THREEFOLD PLEDGE

On a street corner in a big city the other evening a thin man approached a newsboy, wearing the insignia of a Boy Scout Tenderfoot, to buy his evening paper, exactly at a quarter past eight o'clock. Instead of thrusting a paper instantly into the man's hand the boy hesitated just long enough to give the Scout salute. Then he proceeded to business as usual.

While that boy was giving the Scout salute, hundreds of other boys in other isolated situations were doing so, too, while thirty-five hundred Boy Scouts in uniform saluted at a gathering in one of the local churches. They were all recognizing the fourteenth anniversary of the founding of the organization in this country by renewing their pledge to "keep themselves physically clean, mentally awake and morally straight."

There are many tragic stories of boy handouts and hold-ups in the columns of our daily newspapers. Sometimes a few grown-ups give way to complete pessimism and declare that all the youth of the present day is going wrong. But such people are forgetting that all the normal, healthy activities of boys and girls do not get into the paper simply because they are so commonplace as not to be news and so numerous as to take up more space than papers have room for or readers have patience for. An occasional report of such an event as this special Boy Scout celebration serves to remind the thoughtful that there is an army of likable, serious boys and girls growing up to be citizens quite as decent and intelligent as their parents, and perhaps a little better prepared than the latter for the duties of citizenship.

Dreamland Adventures

THE WHITE WOLF
By DADDY

(Snarly Wolf learns tricks and turns himself white with flour to make the children think he is a performing dog. He plans to draw them around him, and then gobble
the sweetest.)

Staring after him.

CHAPTER IV.

The Flour-White Performer.

SNARLY WOLF was all covered with flour so that he looked like a white collie dog.
"Now no one will know that I am a wolf," growled he. "The children no longer will be afraid of me!"
And this was true. Snarly Wolf trotted to the edge of the village and there a man and woman passed him by.
"What a beautiful white collie dog!" cried the woman. "I wonder who owns him. I would like to buy him as a playmate for little Tommy."
Snarly Wolf grinned to himself when he heard that.

"I'd like to be a playmate of little Tommy," he snarled beneath his breath. "I would teach him to play
the game of Little Red Riding Hood.
He would be Red Riding Hood and I would be the wolf."
In the village a group of children were at play. Snarly Wolf trotted up to them, acting as much as he could like a dog.

"Oh, see that pretty white dog,"
shouted the children. "Come here, pretty white dog. Can you do tricks?"
To be sure the supposed pretty white dog could do tricks. Snarly Wolf sat up and begged, he played soldier, he marched on his hind legs.

As he did the trick the children clapped their hands with delight. The crowd closed around Snarly Wolf.
They never thought he was anything except a kind, gentle dog.

Snarly Wolf's mouth began to water.
He looked over the children trying to pick out the plumpest and sweetest.
He snarled, he purred, and sweet; he couldn't make up his mind which to grab.

At last Snarly Wolf said to himself:
"I'll shut my eyes and whirl around five times. And as I stop I'll grab the child that is nearest to me. That is the way I'll pick my dinner."

So Snarly Wolf took the end of his tail in his mouth and whirled around five times. The children thought he was a dog.

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By HUGH MCKAY

My wife holds "post mortems" on all the clothes she buys.

It never seems to be hard for her to make up her mind that she needs some new clothes. It's after she's made her purchases and has had them sent home that her troubles begin.

And I don't mind adding—mine,
too.
She's never sure whether or not the new hat is too high for her face, or too wide in the brim, or about half a dozen other things.

She can't decide whether she made a mistake about her new coat or not—whether it's the right shade of brown, or too long or too short—and so on.
The funny part (afterward) about all this is that she appoints me official judge and jury in all these style cases.

I am just as much good at this sort of thing as a Mexican would be in the United States supreme court, but still she insists on me playing my part.

And so I have to hold a fashion court every night for a week, each time she invests in some new clothes.

I wouldn't mind either the money or the time that her clothes use up—but I certainly do begrudge 'em both.

Tomorrow—"My husband never

Schooner on Iceberg.
A steamer was rounding Cape Horn recently when the captain saw a gigantic iceberg floating in the water, and on it was a large three-masted schooner with its boats still in position, but apparently no one was on board. It was impossible to get near enough to it to see its name, and what had happened to its crew remains a mystery.

Had Never Failed.

A man was driving through the country in an automobile without a top. It began to rain and he sought shelter under a farm shed. As it continued to rain for some time he became impatient and said to the farmer: "Do you think it is ever going to clear up?" The farmer looked out and slowly said: "Well, it always has."

He was certainly not a more drunk-worse. His voice showed it, as did the light rising to his face, the little look of veins upon his temples and the unnatural glint which showed now in his reddened eyeballs.

He started to his feet and she with him. He was staring now at the place where her eyes had been—the fold of that high velvet curtain.
"Come out of there!" he cried in a hoarse voice. "From behind that curtain! I see you," he said with a mouthful of foul epithets.

And at that the curtain moved—very slightly, but still visibly.
"No, no, no!" cried the false Adelaide Rutherford, pushing at him with all her might. She saw now what she had done. She had brought this unfortunate man—this rescuer and befriender whose name she did not even know—here to be murdered. "No!"
she cried hysterically; and she was pushing at the unspeaking body of the man beside her as he fired.

He fired; the curtains shook and fell apart. And on the floor, prostrat-

The new Adelaide Rutherford crouched for the moment, covering her white face with her bloodless hands.
She heard the heavy footsteps of the man who had been with her pass across the room to the body upon the floor—the body with the white face and the smile—still that oblique smile of the celebrated and wonderfully astute lawyer, the manager of the

And as she looked up, she knew with terror that he must be dead, for she saw the great brute who now stood over him, lift him and drop him clearly now a thing entirely out of any semblance of self-control.

AGREEMENT ON INDIAN LANDS LIMITS COST

R. E. Shepherd, Head of American Falls District Board, Sees Mutual Advantage in Solution Reached

Assurance that the cost of constructing the American Falls reservoir will not exceed $4 per acre foot for each acre foot of water to be impounded in it has been made more certain as a result of the agreement reached this week in Washington for the purchase of Twin Falls Indian lands that are submerged when the big project is completed, according to R. E. Shepherd, Jerome, president of the American Falls reservoir district board of directors, who reported Wednesday to the district board at a meeting here on the results of his recent visit to the national capital in the interests of the project.

Interested in Cash. Previous to this agreement, Mr. Shepherd said, there had been no common understanding as to the amount of Indian land to be purchased in connection with the project. Under the agreement the Indians will receive $700,000 in return for land sufficient for the construction of a reservoir of 1,700,000 acre feet capacity. Title to the land will be conveyed in fee simple rather than by easement, as had been suggested, and the Indians retain hunting and fishing privileges.

"The Indians who attended the conference in Washington," Mr. Shepherd said, "seemed to be desirous principally of obtaining $700,000 for their lands without particular regard for the amount of land taken."

The price to be paid for the Indian lands is the value previously placed upon them by a board of appraisers. Securing of title at this time to all of the Indian lands that will be required for construction of the reservoir to its maximum capacity, Mr. Shepherd said, eliminates the possibility that a higher price might be demanded for additional land if only an area sufficient for construction of the reservoir to partial capacity were obtained at this time and the reservoir were later developed to full capacity.

Understanding Needed. Mr. Shepherd said that he left Washington last week with the assurance that no barriers to uninterrupted prosecution of work on the American Falls project, and that he has not since been obliged to alter his opinion in this regard.

"All that was necessary," Mr. Shepherd said, "referring to removal of obstacles encountered in progress to the granting of a federal appropriation for the project, 'was that the facts be made known to those who were opposing the project. Lack of complete understanding of all of the facts caused the objections we encountered in congress.'"

Smoot for Big Project. Mr. Shepherd said that he had received Wednesday a telegram from Senator Gooding, stating that Senator Smoot, Utah, chairman of the senate sub-committee on the interior department appropriation bill, had "proposed an amendment that will settle everything." Mr. Shepherd said that the purport of Senator Gooding's message was not clear to him, but that Senator Smoot had given his endorsement to the American Falls project and it was unlikely that the Smoot amendment implied anything not to the advantage of reclamation in Idaho.

"There will be no difficulty about disposing of the district's bonds," Mr. Shepherd stated, "and when the time comes—about July 1—when the district and others participating with the federal reclamation service in the construction of the reservoir must deposit $1,500,000 to make available the federal appropriation the district will be ready."

Awaits Court's Decision. No action looking toward sale of any portion of the district's $2,700,000 bond issue will be taken, directors said Wednesday, until the state supreme court has rendered its decision on questions raised to test the validity of the issue. Hearing on these questions was held Monday before the supreme court and an early decision is anticipated.

J. R. Bothwell, attorney for the district, reported to the directors Wednesday that a number of attorneys participated in the hearing before the supreme court, and that with a single exception, all urged the approval of the district position. The court Judge Bothwell reported, allowed 29 days' time for friends of the court to submit objections to a decision favorable to the district.

Explains Issue in School Election

Board of Education Sets Forth Reasons for Vote on General Fund Levy

In explanation of the proposition relative to taxation for operation of Twin Falls schools next year to be submitted to the electors of Twin Falls independent school district at a special election on February 26, the board of education Wednesday made public the following statement:

The school law has been changed so that now the school board may make a levy of eight mills for the general fund and they may make an additional levy of seven mills or less if they have obtained the approval of the voters of the district at an election called for the purpose.

Under the old law, the school board had the right to make a levy of 10 mills and with the approval of the state board of education to make an additional levy of five mills or less.

The total levy for the general fund cannot exceed 15 mills. It is the same in this respect as the old law.

The school board is now asking the approval of the voters for an additional levy of six and three-fourths mills, making a total of fourteen and three-fourths mills for the general fund. The levy for this fiscal year was fourteen and three-fourths mills.

The cost per pupil per month in the various high schools of the state or falls an interesting comparison with our own. Average of 21 high schools of the state having 200 or more students, $9.23.

FORMER MAYOR LOSES CONTEST

Court Sustains City Administration's Contentions in Relation to Meters Purchase

A temporary injunction, obtained by J. D. Tucker, former mayor, to restrain the present Twin Falls municipal administration from proceeding under a contract for purchase of meters to complete the water distribution system will be dissolved as a result of a decision announced Wednesday by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here.

The court's decision sustains the contention of the municipal administration that procedure in connection with the contract was legal and proper and that the city has available funds for the purchase of the meters.

The temporary restraining order which will be dissolved as a result of the court's decision has been in effect for about four months, during which time a legal battle has been waged involving many questions relating to municipal finance.

SURETY CONCERN OUT OF LAWSUIT

Court's Ruling Relieves Bondsman in Litigation Over Roseworth Reservoir

The Idaho Farm Development company must look to the Idaho Construction company rather than to the American Surety company, one of the construction company's bondsmen, for recovery on a counterclaim for $61,814.84, which had been asserted by the farm development company as defendant in a suit instituted by the construction company to recover approximately $90,000 which it claims under a contract for building the reservoir for the Roseworth irrigation project southwest of Buhl.

This situation was brought about by ruling made Wednesday by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here, quashing a previous order which permitted the development company to file a cross-complaint and ordered the surety company to answer. The effect of the ruling is to remove the surety company as a party to this suit.

Records in the case, which has not yet been brought to trial, indicate that the construction company entered into a contract in March, 1919, to construct the Roseworth reservoir for $101,417.25. Suit subsequently instituted by the construction company under its contract was related by the farm development company, which alleged failure on the part of the construction company to fulfill the contract and sought to recover damages.

MOURNING EAGLE AGAIN PAYS VISIT TO ELKO

Strange Coincidence Noted in Black's Appearance Near Half-Masted Flag at President's Death

Resting in dignified splendor not 20 feet from where the half-masted flag at President House symbolized the grief that Elko county feels in the passing of Woodrow Wilson, an enormous American eagle perched on a branch of the court house dome for some time one day last week, says the Elko Independent, "as though he, too, were mourning for the passing of Wilson."

It was an unusual and inspiring sight and scores of people watched the living emblem of freedom as it surveyed the court house dome. During the greater part of the two hours that the eagle rested, its gaze seemed fixed on the Stars and Stripes that hung at half mast.

Two eagles have visited Elko, if one accepts the memory of the older residents. On each occasion they have appeared at the time of the death of a person of note in the community. The first eagle to choose Elko as a resting place appeared here in 1898, when word was received here of the death of President Grant. The eagle flew to the brass ball at the top of the old flagpole.

W. F. Smith, then a young man, saw the eagle sitting on top of the pole which here the half-masted flag. Seizing a rifle from the gun shelf in the store which is now operated by the George Russell company, he fired at the bird, but missed. For his impetuosity he was fined $100 for discharging a firearm within the city limits.

In both instances of the eagles' visit to Elko, they have been associated by coincidence with the death of a president, and upon each occasion they have chosen a perch in the proximity of a half-masted flag.
