OFFICIAL ORDER HALTS PLAN FOR NORTHERN TRIP

Coolidge Orders Stop to Preparations for Shenandoah's Arctic Flight Pending Congressional Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—President Coolidge today ordered preparations for the naval North Pole expedition suspended. By direction of the president, Secretary Denby issued orders bringing all preparations for the flight of the Shenandoah to an abrupt stop pending some form of congressional approval of the project.

A White House spokesman intimated that if such approval was forthcoming, preparations would be resumed immediately. Naval officials were frankly doubtful, however, that they could obtain congressional sanction in time to carry out the flight this year.

A White House spokesman intimated that if such approval was forthcoming, preparations would be resumed immediately. Naval officials were frankly doubtful, however, that they could obtain congressional sanction in time to carry out the flight this year.

The decision of the president was announced in the following statement issued by Secretary Denby: "Orders to cease preparations for the polar expedition were issued today by the secretary of the navy. The president, having been informed that considerable opposition existed to the expenditure of $350,000, instructed the department not to proceed with the expedition at this time nor until the naval bills have been considered and congress given an opportunity, if it desires, to express its views upon the polar expedition."

Statement Not Clear.
Mr. Denby would not amplify the statement. At the White House, however, it was said that the president, in view of opposition to the flight that had developed in congress, believed it wise to await action by that body to show its approval of the expenditures necessary to carry out the plan.

The White House explanation suggested that a request had been submitted for authority to spend $400,000 on the polar expedition. The pending naval bill now in house, contains no item of this character, however, and it was clear that what specific authorization the White House spokesman had reference.

French Opposed Plan.
There have been instances of opposition to the flight being voiced in the senate and house but no definite movement has been apparent in either house. Representative Longworth of Ohio, republican leader in the house, said today he had heard of no such movement.

Chairman Madden of the house announced.

Service to Public is Urged on Movie People by Edison

"Only Quality of Riches Counts," Inventor Points Out in His Letter of Advice at Dinner Event

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison today attended a dinner given in his honor at the Ritz-Carlton by the motion picture industry, but in stead of speaking, handed his prepared speech to his secretary to read. It contained a bit of advice and a bit of humor.

"A tendency toward stage fright which has prevented many from becoming a dangerous rival of Falstaff or Voltaire, coupled with my extreme deafness, makes it impossible for me to speak in public," he wrote.

"I believe, as I always have believed, that you control the most powerful instrument in the world for good or ill."

"Because I was working before most of you were born, I am going to bore you with a little advice. Remember that you are servants of the public and never let the desire for money or power prevent you from giving the public the best work of which you are capable."

"It is not the quantity of riches that counts; it's the quality which produces happiness where that is possible."

DEATH TOLL AT ELEVEN IN FIRE

Bodies of Nine Persons Still Held in Ruins of Building in Vermont City

MONTPELIER, Vt., Feb. 15 (AP)—The death toll of the fire which destroyed the four-story Lawrence building and threatened the business section of this city early today was placed at 11 tonight, but only two of the nine bodies thought to be in the ruins had been recovered.

Walter Washburn and Mrs. J. F. Waterman were killed when they leaped from windows, missing the fire net spread to receive them. Near one of the bodies found in the ruins was the gold watch of William Gibson, who ran through the corridors warning other tenants when the fire began, and the remains were thought to be those of Gibson and his wife.

Two entire families, those of Walter Washburn and J. F. Waterman, are included in the list of dead and missing.

On account of the tragedy the ski meet and winter carnival planned for February 22 and 23 has been indefinitely postponed.

DENIES PLAN TO CEDE BRITISH POSSESSIONS

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Arthur Ponsonby, British secretary for foreign affairs, in a written reply to a parliamentary question, denies that the British government has any idea of ceding Jamaica or any other part of its foreign possessions to the United States in connection with a settlement of the French debt, as was alleged last week by the Paris Excelsior. This newspaper said the Washington government was willing to accept the cession of the French West Indian islands in settlement of the French debt and would pay Great Britain the amount of the French war debt in return for the cession of Jamaica.

CONNECTS FALL WITH ALASKAN MINE LEASING

Initial Steps Toward Another Senate Inquiry Begun After Rail Man Files Charges as to Coal Property

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Initial steps toward a possible senate inquiry into the long fought Alaskan coal controversy were begun today after John E. Ballaine of Seattle, an Alaskan railroad constructor, had presented to President Coolidge charges respecting the transfer of the Matanuska coal reserve from the navy to the department of the interior.

Mr. Ballaine, in a lengthy letter to the president, declared examination of official files would show that former Secretary Ball and Secretary Denby, in July, 1921, four months after they had taken office, began negotiations for the transfer of the Alaskan coal reserve from the navy to the interior department and for the leasing of that reserve for a period of 50 years. The negotiations and the terms agreed upon, Mr. Ballaine asserted, ran along lines "exactly parallel with the policy of the interior in taking up mining operations in the Matanuska field suspended mining operations and that the navy department had refused to utilize Alaskan coal on the Pacific coast, although it had been shown to be cheaper and better, he said. Charts showing that Alaskan coal, according to navy tests, was better and cheaper than Pennsylvania coal such as used by the navy, were included by Mr. Ballaine in his letter.

Submission by Mr. Ballaine of his charges to the president was followed by preparation by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, of a resolution for introduction tomorrow, calling upon the interior department for certain records relating to the navy department transfer of the Alaskan coal reserve.

OIL SCANDAL GOSSIPS ARE FORCED TO BACK DOWN ON ALLEGATIONS

Vanderlip Tells Senate Committee He Had No Facts to Prove Charges as to Marion Newspaper Deal; Kuhn and Yoakum Unable to Verify Story of $1,000,000 Slush Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The senate oil committee took a ten days recess tonight after receiving information which discredited two of the most sensational rumors which recently have come before it. Frank A. Vanderlip, whose public references to the sale of President Harding's Marion Star had shocked the country, told the committee he himself did not believe the rumors to which he gave circulation; had no facts to support them, and had made no effort at verification.

Otto H. Kuhn and D. F. Yoakum, who had been depended upon as principal witnesses regarding the story of a $1,000,000 oil slush fund, notified the committee they had no knowledge whatever about it and were ready to say so on the witness stand.

Stock Market Reacts.

The ten days' recess was coincident with a sharp reaction in the New York stock market after reports were circulated that a prominent Wall Street trader had turned bullish in the belief that the oil disclosures were undermining public confidence.

The adjournment was announced after an executive session at the end of the day. It was explained that Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, the dominant figure in the pressing of the inquiry, found it necessary to be absent from Washington for some days.

Approve Special Counsel.

At this executive session the committee approved without a record vote the nominations of special government counsel in the oil cases—Atlee Pomerene of Canton, Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia. The nomination of Mr. Roberts was sent to the senate today by President Coolidge to take the place of that of Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, which was withdrawn yesterday.

The fight on Mr. Pomerene, which has been waged by the committee for several days, will be taken to the senate floor. Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, who initiated it, said he would ask for consideration of the nomination in open executive session and has assurances that his request would be granted.

Brush Explains Deal.

After it had finished with Mr. Vanderlip, the committee received a statement from Louis H. Brush, one of the purchasers of the Marion Star, that he and Roy D. Moore alone had bought the paper and that every cent that went into the purchase was their own money. The committee did not even think it necessary to question him.

George K. Thomas, secretary of the Pioneer Oil company, testified that he had been advised a month beforehand that Harry F. Sinclair would get the lease of Teapot Dome and that it was on the basis of this information that Sinclair was induced to agree to pay the Pioneer and Belgo Oil companies $1,000,000.

Wild Shot from Pistol Duel Strikes Greene in the Head; Condition Serious

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Frank L. Greene, senior senator from Vermont, was shot and seriously wounded here late tonight during a pistol duel with prohibition agents and bootleggers.

The bullet struck him over the left eyebrow and surgeons at the hospital to which he was taken immediately were unable to determine whether it had lodged in his brain. Senator Greene was conscious, however, and this was viewed as a good sign.

Federal Men Nip Plot For Making Bogus U. S. Notes

Two Are Charged with Conspiracy to Manufacture and Cash $1,000 United States Treasury Certificates

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—A nation-wide conspiracy to make and distribute counterfeit treasury notes of $1000 denomination has been nipped in the bud, according to secret service operatives, through the arrest of James C. Houghton, employee of the bureau of engraving and printing, and Curt Jacobson of New York.

Jacobson and Houghton, both charged with conspiracy to counterfeit, were arraigned before United States Commissioner McDonald today and held for the grand jury. Houghton furnished bond of $5000 and was released, but Jacobson tonight had failed to obtain his surety, fixed at $10,000. A number of arrests in other cities in connection with the alleged conspiracy are predicted within the next 48 hours.

A photographic plate of $1000 treasury note and several plates described as nearly complete and almost perfect reproduction of those used in the bureau of engraving and printing, were seized. An effort by one of the men arrested to destroy the photographic plates by burning them was frustrated.

COUNSEL GETS LINED UP FOR LEASE ACTION

Nomination of Successor to Strawn Marks End of Long Delay; Injunction Bills Drawn
Up by Pomerene

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Constitution of the government's special counsel in the oil cases was brought within a single step of completion today after having been delayed for one reason or another for nearly three weeks.

President Coolidge sent to the senate the nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, an republican member of the counsel to succeed Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, whose leave yesterday was withdrawn.

Several hours later the senate oil committee ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Mr. Roberts.

The final step remaining is confirmation by the senate of the two nominations, and although Senator Dill, democratic, Washington, has announced he will seek an open executive session in which to fight Mr. Pomerene's confirmation, Mr. Coolidge let it be known today that he expected final senate approval.

Dill Wants Discussion

Senator Dill announced today he had sufficient assurance of support to bring about the open discussion of the former Ohio senator's nomination when it is brought up probably tomorrow and that he would attack the selection on the ground that while Mr. Pomerene has had no oil connections, his firm has extensively represented large corporations.

"Selection of Mr. Roberts was made by the president upon recommendation of Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, and after an early morning session between the president and the attorney, Mr. Roberts was recommended as a criminal and trial lawyer of experience. He appeared before the oil committee in executive session after his nomination had gone to the senate and later again conferred with the president."

Got Plans in Shape

Should the nominations of the two members of counsel be confirmed to senate, steps will be taken to institute preliminary legal proceedings as soon as Mr. Roberts can familiarize himself with the cases. Mr. Pomerene in association with Mr. Strawn has already spent some time in reviewing evidence taken by the senate committee and the bills are drawn up for filing which will seek to enjoin further extraction of oil from the Teapot Dome and Elk hills reserves.

Strawn Withdraws

Mr. Strawn, prior to returning to Chicago today, had a final conference with President Coolidge and later correspondence between Mr. Strawn and the president, and between the president and the senate committee was made public. This correspondence showed that Mr. Strawn upon learning that a Chicago bank in which he was a director had acted as trustee for a loan floated by one of the Sinclair oil companies, had written the president asking that his name be withdrawn if the committee felt this would disqualify him.

The correspondence also showed that the committee acquiesced in the request of Mr. Strawn for withdrawal of his name because of possible public criticism of his banking connections, but had expressed their "fullest confidence in the ability and integrity of Mr. Strawn."

FINLAND A BILINGUAL LAND

Both Swedish and Finnish Tongues Used, the Latter Being in Ascendant

To the average traveler the matter of language is apt to be the most vital aspect of any foreign country. Trilingual Switzerland is familiar even to the impoverished continental visitor, but bilingual Finland may be more of a surprise. Nor will the fact that the choice of languages is confined to Swedish and Finnish make the trip any easier.

Formerly the Swedish tongue was in the ascendant among the cultivated classes, having been the vehicle of expression of the famous poet, Runeberg. Now, however, the pendulum is swinging the other way, and you will find even Swedish people adopting Finnish names.

Of course, all educated persons speak both languages interchangeably, even at the family dinner table. In the rural districts, however, it is different. Groups of Swedish peasants in the south and west parts of the country and in the Åland islands speak only their native tongue, and the rest of the peasants confine themselves to Finnish.

The writers who used Swedish were the first ones who extolled Finland as a nation. Runeberg was followed by Topelius, another poet and story writer, a particular favorite with children, and Fredrik Cygnus devoted himself to history. This activity met with a response from literary men who preferred Finnish, so that now equal bodies of characteristically Finnish work have sprung up in both languages.—Living Age.

Carried to England from Russia at the time of the Bolshevik revolution, the mystery diamond known as the "Princess Mary" has at last changed hands. The purchaser being a resident in the north of England. The price paid has not been divulged, but its late owner, Gordon Nathan, last year withdrew the diamond from auction, as the highest bid did not reach $10,000. The diamond is a stone of yellow tint, which is a peculiarity of Europe continue to fluctuate, diamonds will remain the safest investment. Diamonds I sold 25 years ago at $80 a karat are today worth $350 a karat. I don't know of anything else which has increased in value to that extent."

Blowing Out Devils

In Zululand, South Africa, native doctors collect rich fees by blowing into the ears of their patients to cast out evil spirits. The medicine man sits the victim on the blackened floor of the outdoor surgery, after announcing that he is to dispel the wicked demons causing sickness. He places a horn to the patient's ear and blows. The ill one generally makes a bad face, cries "enough," and, being convinced that he has been cured, is troubled no more. In severe cases, herbs are used as a remedy, when the horn is not effective.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Still in School

May June met her friend Agnes in the street, each each talking to a while, when a friend of theirs Doris by name, passed them on the other side of the street. In animated conversation with her was Colonel Mitkin. "Were not Doris and the colonel schoolmates?" asked May, as she caught sight of the pair. "Yes," answered her friend, "and they are yet."

"Where?" asked May in surprise. "Oh, don't you know?" said Agnes. "In the school for scandal."

Mother, father and Willie were in midchannel. It was rather rough. Father did not feel too well, neither did mother, and mother was also driven to distraction by the mischievous antics of the boy.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES FORECAST BY BABSON

Outlines Causes for Prosperity in East Central States; Dairying Proves Mainstay in Wisconsin

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 15 (Special to The News)—"The east central section is more active and is distinctly in a better position business-wise than either New England or the north Atlantic group," according to Roger W. Babson, statistician. The third section of his detailed report on business conditions in the United States and Canada, issued today, gives his findings in the six states comprising this group.

"Michigan is leading," says Mr. Babson, "with a gain of 23 per cent as compared with business a year ago. Kentucky comes second in the group, showing a gain of 17 per cent; Indiana follows with a gain of 16 per cent; Ohio also shows a gain of 16 per cent, while Wisconsin figures 11 per cent better than last year. Illinois is running an even 10 per cent ahead of the figures of 12 months ago. This section as a whole shows an increase of 13 per cent over last year."

Auto Manufacture Leads

"The fact that Michigan is leading in this section, with Illinois trailing, may possibly be due to the fact that Michigan manufactures the greatest number of automobiles and Illinois purchases the greatest number of new cars. Today Illinois has the cars and Michigan has the money. It is too early to decide which is the better off; this will depend, of course, upon the use to which the cars and money is put. Conservative bankers in the dairying sections remained relatively good even when sales were at their worst in other agricultural territories.

"The resistance which the dairying regions show to business depression is worth bearing in mind, although it may be dangerous to go entirely on precedent. It is probable that certain business men who find farming regions an unfavorable market place in the dairying sections remained relatively good even when sales were at their worst in other agricultural territories.

"Twenty-five years ago this section was almost entirely agricultural. But since that time it has been more and more impressed on each visit with the increasing diversity of interest and the changes that have taken place in the sources of purchasing power."

"Wisconsin is doing exceedingly well with its dairy interests. During the downward swing of business which began in 1920, one of the most spectacular features was the relative strength of the dairying regions. It was shown not only statistically, but by personal observation, that business in the dairying sections remained relatively good even when sales were at their worst in other agricultural territories.

Fewer Failures

"In all of these east central states, with the exception of Indiana and Ohio, I find a distinct decrease in failures, running from a 40 per cent decline in Kentucky to around a 50 per cent decrease in Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Further, a diversified interest represented in this section promises to keep it in fair shape regardless of what may happen to other sections of the country. If business, for instance, slackens in certain manufacturing centers during 1924 it should pick up in the agricultural regions. What will be lost in one field for these states will be gained in another. In addition I feel that the manufacturing interests of the central west are in a stronger position than those of the east because they are 'protected' both from foreign and home competition by high freight rates.

TIME NEEDED IN FORBES AFFAIR

Federal Inquiry into Alleged Vet Bureau Graft May Take
More than a Year

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP)—More than a year may be required for the completion of the federal investigation of alleged graft in the veterans' bureau during the administration of Colonel Charles H. Forbes, those in touch with the grand jury inquiry now being conducted here, declared today.

It was intimated that following the completion of this inquiry other juries will be convened in Washington, Boston, St. Louis and several other cities. Grand jury prohibited any questioning of the several witnesses called to testify before the federal grand jury and the same survey which Special Prosecutor John H. W. Crim has enforced since the outset was maintained.

Investigation into disbursements in the bureau for dental work was said to have been taken up by the jury today. Bureau records show that 5,500,000 service men have received dental work free from the government since 1919, and that disbursements to fee dentists in 1922 were $5,627,851.

A Lesson from the Stars

In the garden of a country home two men were talking. Near them sat a small boy, looking at the stars.

Said one of the men: "I am making a product that I know is the best in its class—and still I can't sell it."

There was a moment of silence. . . . Then the second man called to the boy who sat near them. "Son," he said, "if you had your choice of any of those stars up there, which one would you choose?"

The boy promptly pointed to the brightest star in sight. "That big one over there!" he said.

The man who had addressed the boy turned to his companion. "As a matter of fact," he said, "there are other stars in the heavens—which the boy cannot see, that are far brighter and bigger than the one he chose. But he didn't know the other stars were there—and so he couldn't choose them. That's why your product isn't selling. People simply do not know it exists."

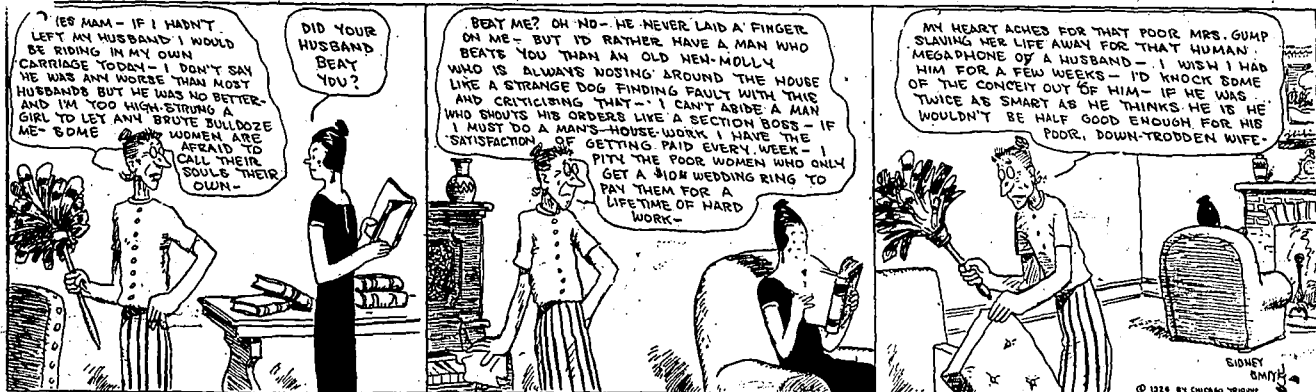

"I know what you mean," said the first man, "advertising. But I have tried advertising in the past—two or three times—and it didn't work."

HIS companion seemed preoccupied with the stars. "If we stand here and watch the sky for a few minutes," he finally said, "we shall see a shooting star. It will spurt across the heavens for a second, and then it will die out. There are thousands of shooting stars every night. People pay little attention to them and they are instantly forgotten. That's the kind of advertiser you were."

"THE Pole Star," continued the speaker, "has stayed on the job so long and so faithfully that its very name has come to mean 'a guide, a controlling principle.' And that's the way to advertise. There are certain products today whose names are regarded as a guide to satisfaction and a controlling principle of quality. They are the pole-stars. In this present economic situation, the pole-stars are doing the business."

THE GUMPS—SYMPATHY

G. O. P. TAKES STAND ON NEW SURTAX RATES

Agrees to Fight for 35 Per Cent Maximum and Against Democratic Substitute Plan for Higher Schedule

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Republican house leaders definitely agreed today to make a stand for a maximum surtax rate of 35 per cent instead of the Mellon rate of 25 per cent reported by the ways and means committee. At the same time they laid plans for a fight to a finish on the maximum surtax rate of 44 per cent, as well as the normal income rates, proposed by the democrats.

While the house was spending another day discussing the revenue bill, Representative Longworth, the party leader held a conference with about 10 others directing the republican campaign. Afterwards it was announced that an attempt would be made to obtain a vote on the 35 per cent surtax maximum when a showdown comes next week on the income tax schedule.

Instead, the republicans in making a stand for a 35 per cent rate as a compromise, will endeavor to so shape the situation that a vote on such a proposal, will come before the democrats can force a roll call on this recommendation that surtaxes range upward to 44 per cent.

The republican leaders indicated that if routed on 35 per cent, they would gradually yield upward, perhaps to 37, then to 40 per cent, if necessary, in an effort to command a majority. Republicans and democrats alike agreed today there was no possibility of a favorable vote in the house on the Mellon surtax rate. Some republicans expressed confidence that the 35 per cent maximum could be put through, although others were more pessimistic.

While declining to predict that the republicans could muster enough votes for the 35 per cent rate, Mr. Longworth declared that the rate agreed upon would be less than 34 per cent.

Bourbons Confident.
On the other hand, democratic leaders are confident that with the aid of republicans unwilling to go along with the organization, they can write their income tax schedule into law. Representative Garner of Pennsylvania, ranking democrat of the ways and means committee, asserted there was a majority in sight for the rates carried in his substitute. Representative Garrett, the democratic leader, made this prediction:

"The tax bill as it is passed by the house will be the democratic plan."

Will Talk Procedure.

At the republican conference today those who discussed the tax situation, in addition to Speaker Gillett and Mr. Longworth, were members of the republican steering committee, Chairman Green of the ways and means committee, and Representatives Tilson of Connecticut, and Mills of New York, members of the committee. Further conferences will be held during the next few days for a discussion of parliamentary strategy.

Voting on the income tax provisions of the bill probably will begin Tuesday. The house, already under agreement to terminate general debate late Monday, today approved a proposal that on Tuesday the amendments to the income tax section should be in order. Little time, leaders predicted, would be spent in debate as the five minute rule then will be in effect.

CANCER

It can be stated with definiteness and positiveness that cancer always begins as a local disease and is capable of cure in a very large percentage of cases in the early stages. Cancer rarely begins before 35 years of age and little apprehension need be felt before this period of life. In later life any mole or wart on the surface of the body demands immediate attention, particularly if it begins to grow larger. A persistent ulcer or sore which does not tend to heal occurring on the face, lip, tongue, or inside of the mouth should excite your suspicion and you should consult your family doctor at once. A continued indigestion with loss of weight is significant. In advanced life demands the most careful investigation by a competent medical man. Continued chronic constipation with loss of weight is significant. One of the earliest signs of a beginning cancer is an abnormal flow of blood from any of the hollow organs and it is particularly suggestive when it occurs at irregular times and is profuse. If such a hemorrhage occurs do not delay, but consult at once your medical adviser and he will institute an examination extensive enough to determine the exact cause of such bleeding and will apply the proper treatment for its permanent cure. Abnormal bleeding is one of the earliest and most essential signs of cancer.

The discovery of any lump or swelling or growth in the breast, especially coming on later in life, demands a careful investigation, for it may be potentially a cancer and its early and complete removal is the only safe assurance against disastrous results.

X-ray and radium have a most beneficial effect upon superficial cancers and they are valuable adjuncts to surgery, but from our present experience surgery offers the best hope of a lasting cure in most locations. Patches of all kinds are only mentioned to be condemned.

This is a real message of hope. Cancer always begins as a local disease and it can be cured in a very large majority of cases when seen early and carefully removed.

Earthquake Tolls.

Disasters due to earthquakes and volcanic eruptions have had heavy death tolls, among the worst up to 1923, being that of Lisbon, 40,000 dead, in 1755; Martinique, 40,000 dead, in 1902; Messina and Calabria, 120,000 dead, in 1908; and Vera Cruz, 4,000 dead, in 1920.

Health and Wealth.

Curiously enough, poor people forego health in search of wealth, while wealthy people hasten to spend their treasures in search of health. Happy is the man who has the good sense to recognize that the primary source of human wealth is in reality health.

COLONISTS WILL GET AUTONOMY

German Settlers Along the Volga to Be Made Part of Soviet Federation

BERLIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—Soviet Russia is about to give autonomy to the German colonists on the Volga, and will make the community, which has already been organized by the Volga Germans, a part of the Soviet federation. Of the 800,000 German colonists still reported to be alive in Russia, Dr. Otto Fischer of Hamburg, who is well acquainted with the conditions in Russia, says at least 600,000 are in great distress. The majority of these colonists are Catholics. Half of the German colonists in Russia are along the Black Sea and the remainder are on the Volga, in the vicinity of Saratoff.

Some doubt is expressed by the German press as to whether the Germans in Russia along the Volga can be won to the soviet standard by giving them autonomy because of the extreme hardships they have suffered under the Bolshevik regime and the disorganization and death visited upon them by famine and the requisitioning of their grain and cattle by the soviet government.

German first emigrated to the Volga area 150 years ago and 50 years later the German colonists settled along the Black Sea. Of recent years there has been a great emigration of these German-Russian colonists to the United States, especially to Kansas and North Dakota. Many of them also have gone to Argentina.

A new famine is now facing the Volga Germans, and the Berlin Catholic paper Germania is carrying an appeal for the colonists. The extremely high price of all sorts of textiles in Russia and the bad economic state of the Volga Germans make it impossible for most of the colonists to buy clothing. Many children cannot attend school because of the lack of clothing, and even the clergymen are reported to be so poverty-stricken that they have no suitable clothing to wear in the churches.

Both the Catholic and the Protestant German colonists have clung to their religion in Russia in spite of the Bolshevik agitation against all churches and the martyrdom of priests and preachers and they have clung to their mother tongue and customs.

Maritalist, the largest Catholic community in Russia, had 12,000 inhabitants before the soviet regime. It now has only 4,000 and other centers have been similarly reduced under the disorganized and unsettled conditions brought about by the political upheaval and the famine.

BOISE WRECKS LOCAL DEFENSE IN WEAK GAME

Braves Scalp Meteors in Scoring Contest Led by Quinter and Beyer; Final Count Reads 57 to 16

The slender Boise forward Beyer, slinging baskets with apparent ease from any part of the floor without visible opposition, led the Braves to an overwhelming massacre of the Meteors in the second game of the Boise-Twin Falls series in the local gymnasium Friday night. The final score in the adding machine count piled up by the Braves was 57-16 in their favor.

A broken defense for Twin Falls and a strengthened one for the Capital City squad tells the story of the game. Quinter and Beyer eluded the blue and white guards with ease throughout the game, while Jenkins was constantly smothered by the Boise defense.

The game started with Dies at center for Twin Falls in place of the Meteor captain, Cole. The same five as on Thursday night represented Boise.

Twin Takes Early Lead

The game started with Silverthorne, Boise, fouling Swin, who failed to make good his free throw. Jenkins, standing under the basket, laboriously made the score 5-0 after three attempts made without protest by Boise, who calmly stood by and watched until the score was made before they roused from their stupor sufficiently to commence a furious game that resulted in Beyer fouling Dies, who missed two more points in the Twin Falls lead with perfect shots from the foul line.

It was then that the Twin Falls scoring stopped, for from the lead of 4-0 in the blue and white's favor Boise started a cool attack on the Meteor defense with Quinter and Beyer doing the scoring for the red and white, until relating until the score stood 4-17, when Evans sent in Rosa for Swin in hope of strengthening the blue and white. Jenkins slipped through the Braves for a field goal and Rosa converted a free throw for a short spurt, but Beyer and Quinter soon came to the front again and began to pile up the count with easy shots. Cron went in for Timm at the other guard position. With four blue and white forwards on the floor the Boise end of the court was left wide open and the half ended with Boise leading the count by 31-11.

Second Half Duplicates First

Swin and Timm both reappeared in the second half. Jenkins shifted to center, Dies taking the bench. Navin made one immediately and after that the Boise boys worked and Twin Falls was blanked. After five goals in quick succession and before Dies was sent in Moore Garrity to help stem the tide and the crowd yelled for a touchdown, but this failed miserably to stop the Brave onslaught, as did the substitution of Day for Cron, and later additions to the Twin Falls line-up. The red and white continued the massacre until the score stood 57-14 shortly before the end of the game. Coach Kalam jerked the entire Boise squad and sent in the second. Even then the Meteors, greatly weakened, were barely able to hold their own, Jenkins making the last two points on a personal foul by Wicksham with two perfect shots.

Referee Huddleson officiated to the apparent satisfaction of a large crowd which packed the high school gymnasium. The pop band furnished the music for the affair.

Next week the Meteors travel to Filer to make an attempt to repeat their victory over Demman's wildcats on the Filer floor. Filer's defeat at the hands of Twin Falls is the only one they have suffered this season.

The first game was the one in which the Elks made their score, piling up a 976 score, which completely smothered the 817 count of the Scilley gang. The selects awoke from their dream in the second round and pretty bowling resulted in their noising out the game by four points, with the count 818-816. ### Five-Back Tourney.

The Cardinals slipped ahead in the five-back tournament Friday night, taking three straight games and coming up from the cellar for air at the top of the league standing.

The Yank-Giant contest was the first on the program for a miniature world's series all by themselves. The Tritts-Evans combination took the superiority of the games by one after a little difficulty arose in their trying to convince the Yank squad that they had won all three games, and which was straightened out by re-addition of the results. Tritt pulled down the second high score of the evening with a 101 count in the last game.

PROVO, Utah, Feb. 15 (AP)—The University of Utah basketball team failed to accomplish its predicted comeback when it was defeated by the Brigham Young university five, 37 to 22, here tonight. This is the fourth defeat for the state university and the fourth victory for the locals.

Aero-Propeller Shaft Installations

DESIGNERS and builders of aero-propeller-driven craft, such as sleds and boats, are often handicapped by the lack of a suitable but cheap method of installing the propeller shaft. If advantage is taken of standard automobile parts, however, a very neat and close-coupled arrangement, which will give good service and operate efficiently, can be made at a minimum of cost and labor.

Front and rear wheel hubs from a light car are used to form the main parts of the installation together with a special shaft and a couple of sprockets. The shaft design is a combination of that of a front-side spindle and the outer end of a rear-side spindle or shaft. Between the two parts is a pair of shoulders for the seat of the driven sprocket.

The shaft must be carefully and accu-

The front wheel hub, minus the outer flange, is then slipped on, the ball cones adjusted so as to allow the shaft to run freely without any shake, and the locknut tightened and fastened with wire. The regular hub cap is used, filled with good grease, just as in the car.

tely turned from a solid piece of good machinery steel; the rear end is turned and threaded to the same dimensions as the front wheel spindle of the car from which the hub is taken, and the seats for the ball cones must be held very carefully to size. The front end is turned to fit the rear-wheel hub, threaded for the nut, and key-seated. The seat for the sprocket may then be turned, key-seated, and the thread for the locknut cut.

The hub that carries the propeller is a rear-wheel hub, as stated above, and it is fitted with a second flange, made out of another hub, which is machined away until a flange is left that will pass over the turned portion of the hub proper.

The propeller hub is drawn up on the tapered portion of the shaft, as in the car, and locked by means of a nut, washer, and cotter pin. The propeller is clamped between the flanges by six through bolts.

of ½-in. diameter, the sliding flange allowing for a wide variation in the thickness of propeller hubs. A hub cap is screwed on the forward side of the hub, to present a neat and finished appearance.

The key that holds the sprocket should be large and set deeply, as it carries all the motor torque.

Two heavy wooden uprights, meeting at the top to form an inverted 'V', are bolted to the ends of the frame, and straddle the body of the front-wheel hub as shown. Four ½-in. bolts hold the tops of the uprights firmly to the hub. Angular braces, made of 2-in. pipe, are also fitted; the ends being flattened and drilled for the bolts. The propeller should be balanced before installation, to insure vibrationless running.

The hub cap should be filled with good grease to insure perfect lubrication, and refilled at frequent intervals.

Use of Gas to Trap Animals Is Suggested by Edison

At the suggestion of Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, army experts are seeking to devise some means for using poison gas in connection with trapping, so that wild animals will be instantly killed instead of lingering for hours in torture. The use of electricity in the traps was declared to be commercially impractical. Therefore, it was suggested that a chemical might be so placed as to be released when the trap was sprung.

Million Homes for Workmen Needed in the U. S.

About 1,000,000 more houses are needed in the United States to relieve the present shortage, investigators studying the problem report. In spite of the various "building booms" in many parts of the country, only one city shows a surplus of residence buildings. It is held that the type of houses for the workmen must be changed, as to bring about cheaper construction. This alone, it is said, would increase the proportion of home-ownership by 30 percent. Building codes, it is contended, must also be re-examined.

KIMBERLY LOSES TO FILER SQUAD

Bulldogs Are Severely Clawed in Fast Cage Game with Wildcats; Score 39-20

FILER, Feb. 15.—(Special to The News).—Demman's Wildcats again took the measure of the Kimberly Bulldogs by a 39-20 score in the local gymnasium before a crowd of fans which packed the hall to capacity Friday night.

The main defect in the Kimberly team, or perhaps the chief and outstanding advantage of the Filer squad, was the inability of the Kimberly guards to completely cover the Filer scorers, or Filer's ability to score with more than one or two men. Shinn, satellite for the Priorites, was completely smothered by the Kimberly defense while Lapp and Love were able to score with apparent ease.

Severance, left guard for the visit, was the main cog in the Kimberly offense making 11 of the Bulldogs' score by himself. On the other side Lapp occupied a similar position, making 20 of the Filer points.

The whole game was perhaps one of the fastest ever played on the Filer floor and was a nip and tuck affair for the first half, which Filer led by an 18-12 score. Throughout the game Adams, playing center in the absence of Dehti, starred on the Filer defense. Probably no small part of the Kimberly offense was removed in the first half when Wood, received some severe injuries, and later when Adams retired on personal fouls, leaving a greatly weakened team to battle with the Demmanites for the remainder of the game.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 15 (AP)—Whether Joe Jackson, former outfielder for the Chicago club of the American league, who today was given a verdict for $18,711.04 against the club for salary under contract to play baseball, signed in 1920, will appeal from the verdict of the court setting aside the decision, and dismissing the case, will be decided early tomorrow, it was stated by Raymond J. ## AN AMBUSCADE

Is Usually Followed by a Massacre

A few years ago the American people were enjoying the greatest prosperity in their history. Some designing big interests then laid the foundation for an ambush in a financial way by the manipulating of the financial policy of the United States in such a manner that they could have all credits withdrawn, and no more new loans to be made. It is past history now, and the consequences are evident more and more every day and on every hand. When the U. S. Meat Co. started to do business here prices were from 25 to 75 per cent higher on an equal basis of livestock. Everything permissible has been done to discredit it. Now, sales of meats are being staged that are not in keeping with prices of livestock and are much below what meats can consistently be sold for, provided the meats so advertised are of good quality.

The assumption is that whereas the U. S. Meat Co. stands alone without any financial support, except the good will of those people who patronize it, and who can look through a wagon wheel with the spokes knocked out. On the other hand the other meat interests are receiving financial support from various sources, pending the intended elimination of the U. S. Meat Co. as a factor in the meat game. In the event we should be eliminated you will pay the old high prices with interest on top of it, to reimburse what they might consider they should have made during the time we were in business here. Therefore you can plainly see it is to your interest to patronize the U. S. Meat Co., as their staying in the game will insure you reasonable prices at all times.

OFFICIAL ORDER HALTS
PLANS FOR FLIGHT

proportions committee, is understood to be in favor of the flight, but opposed to any congressional action in connection with it.

Chairman French, republican, Idaho, chairman of the naval sub-committee of the appropriations committee, was at first inclined to be dubious as to the wisdom of the attempt to reach the pole by air.

GET BIG SHIP READY.

LAKESHORE, N. J., Feb. 15.—President Coolidge's order suspending preparations for the polar flight of the Shenandoah will not interfere with the reconditioning of the huge ship which was battered on her runaway trip January 29. It was announced at the naval air station here tonight. The order simply will apply to the large amount of equipment which is being gathered here expressly for the North Pole flight.

Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne arrived at the station today and reported to Commander Frank H. McNary, whom he will supersede. He will take command of the ship tomorrow morning. Commander McNary, who will be succeeded in command of the station by Commander Jacob Klein, Jr., will leave next week for Mare Island to assume command of the U. S. S. Canopus, a submarine tender. Gather Supplies.

Work of repairing the Shenandoah is progressing favorably, Commander McNary said today. The ship, it is expected, will be returned to service about May 1.

Preparations for the polar flight, which have been going on without interruption since the inception of the plan, include gathering of thousands of articles of minor equipment, spare parts and special instruments needed on a polar trip. Already a large amount of this equipment has been gathered but unnecessary preparations for their installation will be suspended until further notice from Washington.

Official orders from Secretary Denby concerning President Coolidge's suspension order are expected here tonight.

OIL SCANDAL GOSSIPS
FORCED TO BACK DOWN

the former Secretary Fall's New Mexico ranch, told the committee he never had received checks aggregating $68,000 or any like sum from Sinclair. Reports of such a payment had been laid before the committee by Archie Roosevelt.

A move to open a new avenue of investigation into the official acts of Secretaries Denby and Fall will be made tomorrow in the senate with the offering of a resolution by Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, author of the oil resolution. This will have to do with charges laid before the president to day that in July, 1921, Fall and Denby began negotiations looking to the leasing of the Matanuska coal field in Alaska on the same basis as the oil leases subsequently were made.

shots were exchanged but no one else was injured. The senator was wounded while trying to shield Mrs. Greene in the hall of bullets.

Dylananders told the police the shooting had barely begun before Senator Greene fell. They rushed to his aid and placed him in an automobile which hurried to a hospital. The bootleggers, who were in an automobile, escaped, but the police held O. E. Fisher, a prohibition agent, who said he had fired four shots.

Shagbark Valsable.

The shagbark hickory is one of our most valuable trees from many standpoints, says the American Tree association of Washington. It is not, however, one of our largest, averaging at maturity from 60 to 80 feet in height, with a trunk diameter of from one and one-half to three feet. Under most favorable conditions it has been known to reach a height of 120 feet.

Squirrels in Winter.

What do squirrels do in winter? All do not hibernate, says Nature Magazine. To be sure they are not abroad so much, nor are they as active, in the cold weather as during the summer months, but neither do they red nor the gray squirrel has any period of continued sleep.

Plant Drowns Insects.

An interesting plant of the pest-bog flora is the pitcher-plant, with its pitcher-shaped leaves of a peculiar green veined with red, says Nature Magazine. These pitchers contain a little water, and at their mouths are downward-pointing hairs, so that insects crawling into them cannot crawl out again, and are drowned.

Ram's Horns Curved.

The "Big Horn" is a stocky, sturdy animal, surprisingly agile in spite of its weight, says Nature Magazine. An average size ram will turn the scales at 250 pounds, while an occasional specimen will weigh 350. Both male and female have horns, those of the ram being gracefully curved.

Six Former Mistresses of White House Survive

Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Harrison

Only one former American president survives—Chief Justice of the Supreme Court William Howard Taft. Six former first ladies of the land are still living—Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. Susan J. Polk (the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland), Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, who is now touring the Orient; Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. Florence Kline Harding, wife of the late President Warren G. Harding, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Fortuna Ballo, of the San Carlos Opera company, says "Little Old New York" marks a notable advance in screen achievement. Beauty, brains and talent are perfectly blended to create this masterpiece. Marlon Davies could not be improved upon.

THE NAME SCARAMOUCHE

"Scaramouche" is the name given one of the characters of the old Commedia Delle Arti players of Italy and France—a sly buffoon, with a swift smile, a sharp tongue, the ability to make trouble and the ability to come out of it with a whole skin.

In "Scaramouche," the Rex Ingram production for Metro coming to the Idaho Theatre on Monday, the hero is a fascinating character, swordsman, wit, revolutionist, who, joining a band of strolling players at a time when his life is being sought, becomes the company's star. Ramon Novarro enacts this character.

"Scaramouche" was adapted to the screen from Rafael Sabatini's novel of the same name.

THE LAVERING THEATRE TO PRESENT POWERFUL DRAMA

Perhaps the most sensational and soul-stirring drama ever offered to the theatre-goers of Twin Falls will be presented at the Laving Theatre on February 21.

"The Divorce Question" is a play for every man and woman, in no matter what walk of life. It places before you a vital question, one that is a menace to our social life. It is a story of divorce and its aftermath—a story of two helpless babes struggling against overwhelming odds—and why? Not because of any fault of their own, but of their parents. They are the victims of an evil which is shaking the very foundation of our nation—divorce.

Suddenly thrust upon their own resources, battered from pillar to post, they find themselves facing a cold, vicious world; a world both selfish and intolerant. What becomes of them, their misery and suffering, are graphically told in "The Divorce Question," and in a manner that makes one pause long enough to think and think right.

There are some lighter moments in the play, enough to relieve the more tense situations.

The clergy is particularly invited to attend this performance as the guests of the management.

The company will be at the Laving theatre three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a complete change of program nightly. Every night a big show.

BABY MARIE DELIGHTED WITH RECEPTION HERE

Child Star of Silver Screen Tells Pleasant Experiences of Day in Twin Falls

Baby Marie Osborne, world-famous child star of the silver screen, soon on the last lap of an 18-months tour of the United States and northwestern Canada, is delighted with the reception she has received in Twin Falls.

Poise of the budding debutante and charming simplicity of an unaffected child were mingled in the mixer of the winsome little miss as she expressed her pleasure over her visit to Twin Falls back stage at the Orpheum Friday evening at the close of her pretty singing and dancing act.

During the evening she had entertained back of the curtains and in her dressing-room, two little girls of about her own age—Gwendolin Loser, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Loser, were friends of Baby Marie's parents in Monte Vista, Colorado, in the days before Baby Marie began her work in the filmed drama, and Miss Virginia Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stanley.

"I've met such nice people here," Baby Marie said, "and they're so good to me. I've been invited tomorrow morning to breakfast with Patricia Wilson at her home with some of the other girls I've met here. It'll be at eleven o'clock. You see, the girls don't get up very early."

"Today I went to call on Patricia," continued the child who holds a warm spot in a million hearts. "I rode out on a bicycle and fell off and hurt my elbow and knee a little. I went across the street to see a little boy named Frank who has mumps and everybody is afraid to go to his home; but I didn't mind because I've had the mumps already on both sides, and pretty hard, too, so I wouldn't catch it again."

Baby Marie put on her cloak and with a cheery "Good night" joined her "daddy" and was off to the hotel for a good night's rest to be ready for the party-buffet in the morning.

At this afternoon's performance a number of the girl friends who have entertained for her here will be Baby Marie's guests at a box party.

Her three-day engagement here will close this evening, and she will go from here to Boise, where she expects to be joined by her little sister, Gloria, and her governess, who has been detained in Salt Lake by illness.

Like Open Fields.

A perennial in the downy gentian, an unusually handsome plant with terminal clusters of bell-shaped, brilliant-hued violet-blue flowers, says Nature Magazine. Unlike most of its relatives, the downy gentian prefers open prairies and dry fields. The gaudy flowers may be found during early fall in the wheat-producing areas of Minnesota and South Dakota and as far eastward as Ohio and Maryland.

Borders the Woods.

The closed gentian prefers moist soil and its clusters of violet-blue "bottles" may occasionally be found growing abundantly along the borders of rich, moist woods or on the banks of streams, says Nature Magazine. The large, opposite leaves with clasping bases are rather distinctive. Unlike its fringed namesake, the closed gentian is a perennial.

SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams
Telephone 300

On Thursday afternoon the current events department of the Twentieth Century club gave their annual valentine luncheon in the private dining-room of the Hotel Rogerson, which was attractively decorated for the occasion in red hearts. The centerpiece for the table was a tree of red hearts. Strips of red crepe paper were placed flat on the cloth down the center of the table and crystal candlesticks held red candles. Baskets of red sweet peas enhanced the beauty of the valentine arrangement.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock with covers for 40, and as the guests were being seated Mrs. A. Gilbert played a march. The program consisted of an instrumental number by Mrs. Gilbert; Mrs. W. H. Dwight and Mrs. Glenn Sturdevant each sang two vocal solos accompanied by Mrs. Wilton Peck.

Mrs. O. W. Witham gave an interesting paper on the origin of St. Valentine's day and an impromptu speech was given by Mrs. Packard, who has been chairman of this department for 13 years and who spoke most entertainingly of former luncheons and reviewed some of the work of the department. Other speakers were Mrs. M. J. Sweezy, Mrs. Mary Y. Norton and Mrs. W. W. Humphrey.

Valentines were exchanged and read after the program. Mrs. Packard received numerous valentines and other dainty gifts and was presented with the red sweet peas which were used on the table and also received many complimentary remarks extolling her love and interest in which she is held by the members of this department as well as the entire club, of which she is honorary president.

Mrs. R. D. Stover was hostess to the Aelreum club Friday afternoon at her home on Poplar avenue. After a short business session the afternoon was spent with games and making valentines. Mrs. A. B. Herron and Mrs. C. E. Winning were guests. Mrs. Stover served dainty refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

The T. S. S. club met with Mrs. V. A. Finlayson Friday afternoon at her home on Eleventh avenue east. The time was spent with sewing and visiting and late in the afternoon the hostess served delicious refreshments. Those present were Mrs. Reese Williams, Mrs. J. S. Stewart, Mrs. W. E. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Frahm, Mrs. Bon Brown, Mrs. R. S. Loser, Mrs. Thomas Rowberry, Mrs. Harry Alexander, Mrs. S. P. Newman and Mrs. H. H. Hedstrom.

Mrs. M. J. Sweezy entertained the Luncheon club Friday at the Hotel Rogerson. The centerpiece for the table was a potted plant. Red nut cups and place cards were used, a valentine motif being carried out in all the details. Following luncheon the party motored to Mrs. Sweezy's home where the remainder of the afternoon was spent with bridge. Mrs. L. Cloe winning the favor for highest score. Eleven members were present.

The Business Women's club rooms were the scene of a delightful social function Friday afternoon when the War Mothers entertained the members of the Legion Auxiliary. The regular order of business was transacted, after which War Mother Mrs. David Brown gave an address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. Bur-

The afternoon was then given over to the entertainment committee, consisting of Mrs. G. M. Simpson, chairman; Mrs. Minnie Ross and Mrs. H. B. Johnson. Mrs. Hermann Schuriger gave two readings and Mrs. Glenn Sturdevant sang two selections accompanied by Mrs. Wilton Peck. An interesting guessing contest was then enjoyed, after which the committee in charge of the refreshments with Mrs. J. C. Beauchamp chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. H. Karib, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Pilgrimage and Mrs. Hackman served delicious refreshments from a beautifully appointed table, the centerpiece for which was a bouquet of red sweet peas. The white cloth had red hearts and darts scattered over it. Crystal candlesticks held red candles and the silver service at either end of the table were presided over by Mrs. David Brown and Mrs. C. T. Burt.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Mentor club will entertain for their husbands at the Business Women's club rooms Thursday, February 21, instead of on Friday as previously announced.

Mother Was Particular.

A mistress nursed her maid through a bad attack of measles and then sent her away for a week's holiday. On her return the girl gave notice. "What?" exclaimed the amazed mistress. "After I've nursed you through your illness?" "That's just it, mum," replied the girl; "mother's particular anxious that I should be with a lady, and she says no lady would have nursed a servant."

Feeds Through "Roof."

One of the most abundant species of rocky coasts is the barnacle, a sedentary form which looks more like a mollusk than a crustacean, says Nature Magazine. When it is covered by the tide the two top plates of the shell open like a little door and the animal feeds by withdrawing minute organisms into its mouth with the feathery feet.

Captive Animals Fretful.

Some wild animals are so fretful in captivity that their lives are shortened materially. This is true of foxes and monkeys. Elephants and snakes do not seem to suffer much from captivity, but are strongly inclined to long lives in any environment. The mortality among animals in zoological parks is very high.

Too Late.

Now comes one Egyptoplia with declaration that Cleopatra was neither a beauty nor a virgin, that she really thought she was married to Caesar, and that she was the mother of twins. It's too late to put this stuff before us, belonging as we do to the "I am dying, Egypt, dying" era of civilization.

GO TO THE BOTTOM

In all the maze of charges and counter-charges in connection with the disclosures of graft and worse which appear to link up the oil industry with the administration of government officials in high places, there is one point upon which all should agree, namely, that the probe should be forced to the very bottom of the wound and the facts given to the world irrespective of who is hurt or which political party is made to suffer.

From the mass of information available it is difficult to determine at this time the proportions the scandal
may assume before the whole vicious story is laid bare. It is not at all unlikely that the names of men who are utterly innocent of any wrongful connection with the matter will be dragged through the mire, and it is not beyond possibility that some of the most guilty of all will escape. But in a general way the investigation
promises to result in a sufficient understanding of the matter to strike
terror to the very root of the conspiracy, and if this result is obtained the lesson will not be barren of benefit to the country.

But the political aspect of the case should count for little or nothing. It doesn't make a penny's worth of difference which party the guilty men belong to. There is no greater degree of culpability in the case of a Democrat than a Republican, and vice versa.
By all means let the investigation proceed to the very bottom of the whole filthy mess and let the blame rest
where it falls.

LAW AGAINST TAXLESS
SECURITIES

The House of Representatives has come slightly short of the two-thirds majority needed to endorse the constitutional amendment forbidding tax-exempt securities. There is no prospect, therefore, of an early submission
of such an amendment to the country
for ratification.

Meantime there is a strong sentiment in both houses of Congress for abolishing these notorious exemptions,
and a still stronger sentiment throughout the country. Nearly everybody agrees that there should be no form of investment permitted in which great fortunes may hide and avoid bearing any share of governmental expense.

There will be effective action of that sort sooner or later, unquestion-ably, in some form or other. Meanwhile what is to be done?

It is pointed out once more that no
matters stand, Congress is not necessarily helpless. By the Sixteenth Amendment, on which all federal income tax legislation is based, Congress is empowered to tax incomes
"from whatever source derived." The lay mind naturally assumes, on reading that amendment, that it means what it says. The courts have never explicitly declared otherwise, though there is a general impression among lawyers that the words are not to be construed literally.

At any rate, Congress might incorporate in the pending income tax revision act a clause making the net apply uniformly in all securities issued hereafter, and let the Supreme Court pass on that point. It could do no harm, and might solve the problem.

INTERNATIONAL LECTURES

A bill introduced in Congress by a Massachusetts representative would make it necessary for all non-resident aliens coming to the United States to deliver lectures or write articles dealing with American institutions and policies to register at ports of entry
and clearly state their purposes.

Dreamland Adventures

THE WHITE WOLF

By DADDY

(Snarly Wolf makes his coat white by rolling in flour. He draws the children around him by doing tricks. They think he is a performing dog. He plans to eat
one of them for dinner.)

CHAPTER VI.

The Best Trick of All

Jack started at the white smear on his hand. He had gotten that smear when he had patted Snarly Wolf on the head. It had showed Jack that Snarly Wolf was not a white dog,
as he pretended to be.

Jack looked closely at Snarly Wolf.
The children were clapping their hands
as Snarly Wolf jumped to his feet,
after standing on his hind legs. Snarly Wolf grinned as he heard the children
clap. But he grinned a little too soon.

Jack knew that Snarly Wolf was
the fang of a wolf, and not of a dog.
This discovery startled Jack. Here was a wolf doing tricks for children.
He might seize any one of the little ones gathered around him. Jack must be something at the moment to save them.

"Hot! This is a fine trick dog!"
shouted Jack. "I wonder if he can play dead!"

Yes, Snarly Wolf could play dead.
He rolled on his side in the snow and closed his eyes.

At once Jack whispered the news to the other children. "The white dog is a wolf made white with flour," said he. "We must get the children away."

Silently Jack and Ivan warned the children to run for home, but to do so quietly. The children crept away.
Then the Scout and two boys around his waist. Each bore had a loop at the back. One of the boys handed to Jack.

The other he kept himself.
Jack made his long leap, like the mouse in a cow-boy's hand. He whirled the loop around his head.

"Wake up! Wake up! Snarly
Wolf!" shouted Jack. "The hunters
are here after you."

He jumped Snarly Wolf. He glared
about, snarling and showing his teeth.
No longer was he a gentle, white, trick
dog. He was a snarly, grey wolf.

"One glimpse showed Snarly Wolf there were no hunters about. He had been foiled. At once he changed his wolf author of the bill, "need take umbrage
at a requirement that all alike place
their cards, face up, upon the table."

He adds that the United States would be glad to have other nations adopt a similar system and compel our own "bushies" to make frank announcement of their intentions when they go abroad.

The foreign lecture business, it will be readily admitted, has been overdone in this country of late. Americans, perhaps, have been over-tolerant of foreign criticism. And it may be that some of our own people are overzealous in going forth to criticize and enlighten other nations. Yet isn't any formal attempt to curb the evil by legislation rather silly? There are too many laws now. Why not leave such matters to the censorship of public opinion? That is the court to which writers and speakers always appeal, and which settles the fate of every critic and propagandist sooner or later.

Besides, it would interfere with both the gaiety and the instruction of nations to discourage honest comment
from foreigners. Nations, like individuals, can profit by checking up on themselves now and then and trying to see themselves as others see them.

"Matrimonial Speaking"

By HUGH MCKAY

My wife enjoys telling me about people's family histories.

All I have to do is to mention the name of someone she knows and I don't know the avalanche of information
is started.

"Bob Storey's wife? Why, she was one of the Allen sisters. You must know where we live. Her sister, Alice Allen, married Eddie Gayley—you know, he's a brother-in-law of Sue Taylor, and a cousin of the Jameses."

She thinks she's making everything
clear, but I can't quite see it.

"You've often heard me speak of Mortimer Scott, haven't you? Well, he was supposed to have been engaged to Dorothy Allen—a first cousin of this Allen girl who married Bob Storey—
but somehow it was broken off."

By this time I'm willing to believe anything she says. If only she'll give me a chance to clear up a little.

And so I say "You're quite right,
dear. I had simply forgotten all these things. I remember Bob Storey's wife perfectly."

Tomorrow—"My husband complains because he has so little real
home life."

—Fought hard.

enarl into a dog snarl. He tried to appear kind and gentle. But it was too late. He had betrayed himself.

Snarly Wolf saw that the children
were racing for home, and
was too far away to be caught.
But Jack was still there, and Ikan
the Scout. Snarly Wolf decided at once that he would get Jack. Again
an ugly wolf, with gleaming fangs,
sprang toward Jack.

Snarly Wolf stopped short—something had grabbed him by the neck;
something was choking him.

Snarly Wolf leaped around. He saw that Ikan the Scout had lassoed
him with a rope.

Well, there was one way to get free
—he could rush Ikan the Scout and tear him to pieces. Snarly Wolf started for Ikan, but as he did so something grabbed him behind, holding his legs. That something was Jack. He had lassoed Snarly Wolf's tail, entangling
him by the body and hind legs.

Jack pulled one way; Ikan the Scout pulled the other way. They held Snarly Wolf fast between them.

Snarly Wolf fought hard to get free.
He struggled and lashed about. He dragged Jack and Ikan this way and that. But they held fast, and men of the village, alarmed by the cries of the children, came running up. The men grabbed the ropes, and once more Snarly Wolf was a secure prisoner.

Thus had his plotting failed. Instead of dining on a sweet, plump child, he found himself to be in the village jail.
Which was just what such a bad
wolf deserved.

Held in Trust

"What is it you want?" he asked the man whose eye he held. And he saw with growing satisfaction the hand
holding the revolver now somewhat lowered—held for support more closely to the body of the other. "A little more," he thought, as the other was discussing.

"You" replied Hasbrouck Rutherford simply, with a gleam of high satisfaction in his eye. "You first! You thought you'd get it, didn't you? You thought by this move now you'd take over all the Gorman money as restitution for what you want. Not now—
or ever!"

It was soon clear to Stanford Gorman
that it was not his old acquaintance's purpose to let before he talked —and it considerable length. He could see, he thought, that the pleasure to which this man looked forward in settling old scores by murdering him
would lose a great part of its piquancy
if he could not discuss it beforehand
with the man he proposed finally to execute.

But Stanford did so now—ventilating
his soul, discussing at length his grievances of all kinds—first against Stanford Gorman, and his uncle, and Jasper Halg; and then at still greater length against that immaterial thing,
now grown more real than flesh and blood itself in his mind—the Gorman Trust. It was a curious thing to think and hear; he seemed loath to hate the Trust and to be in terror of it as a great, implacable, living enemy.

"Neither you nor I nor this thing on the floor," he said, again indicating Jasper Halg, "nor all the other men around would let me unmolested were I to do this. Cunnings!" he explained, with an unpleasant smile.
"As cunning as it is powerful! It's that—that that paper devil that's to blame, that's brought us here together
now, and is going to kill us."

"Did I think," he inquired, "when I came here that I'd kill Halg? Or this Gorman Trust? No. Not for a minute."
You—but not them! It wasn't I that did this thing, or planned it. Nor Halg either! It's this thing—this ink-

and-paper devil—that planned it all,
and is doing it now. Can you see that handy cant but a fool. But that's all I've as simple as can be. I thought for years," he explained, "that I could fool it. This thing here," he said of Jasper Halg again, "thought so, too.
Nothing doing! We did always want it planned for us to do—in the end—
the same thing."

"Like now! I'm not doing this," he protested with a touch of self-pity in his voice, "not myself! Nor, this thing here," he said, indicating Halg
once more, "nor anybody in the world.
This is the doing—the act of this thing that's got us all. It's big—big—cunning. It's got us all, ending up it's always done exactly what it wanted. I've overheard it too, plotting and planning several times lately," he stated, "plotting, planning! Coming around, speaking to itself—in my bedroom nights—when it thought I was asleep!"

"But," he said, now rather bost-ingly—speaking in the manner of a man who talks a great and terrible secret freely out loud, in spite of who or what may hear it, "there's something else that's got us all. It's big—big—cunning. Now I've got it, too! I thought I was alone, he cried out boldly, "when this is all over—it will be gone itself! In fifteen seconds, now, the Gorman Trust will be dead—dead
as we are!"

Stanford Gorman, standing rigidly
like a soldier at attention, could see quite clearly that the end had come—whatever it was to be. The end of the lecture on his own shortcomings, the speaker's wrongs and the diabolical machinations of the Gorman Trust was now complete in the mind of the hearers. In the maw of the revolving wheel he had hoped and watched for had not yet appeared.
There was nothing now but action!

But at that time an unexpected happening intervened. Suddenly, without any intimation of life, the body of the speaker, as if by magic, disappeared
from the floor and staggered, uncer-
tainly, but with a surprising rapidity,
toward the hall door from behind
which still came the whispers of people and the growling of the dog.

An acute change in the situation
had been created by this act.

"Stop!" called Hasbrouck Rutherford.

It was a confusing development to a mind not exactly in condition for quick decision—after twenty-four hours of persistent drinking. If he turned to follow, he exposed himself to the enraged ire of the dog.

"Stop!" he cried, but still the obstinate little fool of a girl went on toward the locked door regardless—let
it that crowd outside and the dog.
She staggered but did not falter. It was necessary to do something. Hasbrouck Rutherford, with a shot of missing. For before he turned, the other man was on him. He had only time to turn again and shoot him somewhere in the body when the door was opened and that crowd and that dog—
dog in him! The situation was now entirely reversed.

It had been the intention of Hasbrouck Rutherford at least to turn to finish up his work on the man now lying just before him on the floor. But this, he now saw, would be impossible.

Like a thrown projectile the dog was on him. It was a thing of fire and fury; it must have weighed seventy pounds. He fired and missed it.
Fortunately, though, the brute itself
missed its aim in a way—it caught instead of flesh, the breadth of the coat upon his shoulder, too lightly to bother with, and passed for a second, against the wall.

He started to fire again at the beast,
but before he really could recover himself to do so, the thing was up again. It tore at his extended hand, unfortunately, and he lost his weapon
—the revolver.

There was nothing to do now but to escape from this thing, for that crowd
on the other side of the room could never interfere in time to save him
from it, probably—even if they tried.
The unmanly hand of Hasbrouck Rutherford was the knob
of the outside door and old Dan Gorman's private passageway. He opened it with what quickness he could, managed to start through it.
But unfortunately the dog came with him. The spring lock clicked behind;
he found himself at the head of those long white stairs, and had empty space, with nothing but an open hand for defense—and that half-mad dog upon him. Cautious like a rat with a wren's tail at the entrance of a stone
rathole!

No wonder Hasbrouck Rutherford
cried out so hoarsely that they heard him through the thick door, with that great crowd outside, and that great dog upon him. They found him when they came in,
far down at the bottom of the slinky stairs, a great, loose bulk against the outside door, the dog standing over him.

"They're that way," said the English
servant who had lifted him, commenting afterwards, "those dogs. I've seen them in the old country. They never touch a thing that's dead!"

"He must have fallen backward
when the beast jumped at him—from just near the top," said the other man whom he spoke, discussing the probability of what he now actually saw.
"What could you expect?" asked the other. "A heavy man like that—striking backward on his neck."

But whatever may have been the exact and unadvised cause of Hasbrouck Rutherford's own death, his prophecies concerning the extinction
of the Gorman Trust had not yet been fulfilled. In fact, a story of the action had been created by his last act. The two chief active agents—

the physical brain and body, so to speak, of that great legal person, had gone. But the Trust itself lived on.
And it still held in its incorporeal grasp the young ward around whose person it had been constructed—

THE MARKETS

MARKET BREAKS FORCE
WHEAT TO LOWER LEVEL

Prices Dragged Down by Selling Associated with Unfavorable Developments in Stocks and Cotton

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP)—Wheat suffered a sharp fall in price today, dragged down by heavy selling associated with breaks in stock market values and in cotton. The close was unsteady 1.18 to 1.14 to 2.18 net lower; May $1.08 3/8 to 1.02 1/2, and July $1.08 3/4 to 1.02 1/2. Corn lost 1/8 to 1-1/2 to 2-8, and oats 1-1/4 to 1-5/8. In provisions the outcome varied from 15 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents. Lowest prices of the day prevailed in the wheat pit as trading came to an end, and with liquidating sales from eastern holders prevailing all other factors. Earlier, the market had shown an upward tendency, chiefly owing to prospects that an advance of the United States import duty on wheat would be ordered next Monday. The early strength in wheat prices, however, appeared to depend more on temporary absence of selling pressure than on any increase of demand. Besides, expectation of a higher tariff rate was offset to a considerable extent by the fact that there is fully 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian bonded wheat in this country at the present time. The market effect, too, of some foreign financial aid of the northwest seemed to be generally looked upon as having been discounted.

Commission houses took actively to the selling side of the wheat market in the last half of the hour of trade session. Rapidly increasing all other factors, numerous automatic stop-loss selling orders being brought into play as quotations abruptly overturned. Announcement that a dock strike in Great Britain would be called tomorrow was an added stroke to the bulls. Corn and oats yielded with wheat, but had better support. Immediate country offerings of corn were fur from burlesque, and hog receipts indicated that heavy feeding was still going on.

Provisions were bearishly influenced by moderate selling of lard. The selling came from packers.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW
NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Weather irregularities, bad roads, price uncertainties, and the all-permeating small but often buying, make for a continuance of the unsatisfactory trend of reports from the apparel trades," which have improved somewhat especially with jobbers, but are still below expectations, with reports of extension of the curtailment movement in southern cotton goods.

On the other side of the case is the continued increase in activity in metal trades, steel, iron, copper, lead and zinc, while preparations are active for a big spring in construction lines, in the building of houses, and in the inauguration of many local improvements such as roads. Automobile manufacturing is active and a fair share is doing in furniture manufacturing also.

Weather conditions have tended to retard building in home furnishings, but the building of lumber, hardware, paints, brick and cement—all report more than normal winter activity."

OIL SCARE HITS PRICES
Dramatic Decline Takes Place as Rumor of Rumors Concerning Lease Termination; Bears Begin Attacks

Total stock sales 1,671,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 97.24; net loss 3.21; high 102.4; low 94.88.

Twenty railroads averaged 83.15; net loss 1.26; high 102.4; low 82.74.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—A drastic decline in prices took place in today's active stock market, the widespread circulation of rumors that one of Wall Street's most prominent operators had switched from a bull to a bear position because of his belief that the Washington oil lease disclosures had undermined public confidence. The reaction was allowed to run its course by strong financial interests with the result that active industrial issues broke one to eight points and Fisher Body dropped 13.

Opening prices were irregular with the main tendency upward. Before the end of the first hour rumors were broadcast that a piece of material news would be published before the end of the day, but its source was not revealed until after noon, when a summary of a telegram sent by the prominent operator from the south to one of his Wall Street friends was published on the financial columns.

BOY RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE SEVERELY HURT

Lloyd Johnson, 12, on Way on Bicycle to Scout Troop Meeting, Suffers Injuries About Head when Struck by Car

Struck down on his way to attend a Boy Scout troop meeting Thursday evening by an automobile at the intersection of Shoshone street and Sixth avenue north, Lloyd Johnson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Johnson, northeast of Twin Falls, suffered injuries about the head the exact extent of which had not been determined Friday evening. The boy was unconscious for several hours after the occurrence, but Friday regained consciousness. Dr. C. B. Scott, the attending physician, stated that it had not yet been determined positively whether the skull had been fractured. The boy also received painful bruises about the knee and shoulder.

Driver Makes Amends

The boy, who was proceeding on a bicycle, was run down by a Ford truck owned by Paul Dawson and driven by Earl Love, one time driver of a delivery truck for a local grocery. Through the sheriff's office Friday afternoon Love made a settlement with the boy's parents by agreeing to pay them $100. Love was not placed under arrest.

Love expressed deep regret over the occurrence and stated that it was entirely accidental. After striking the injured lad Love stopped his car and carried him to the physician's office.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENT IN SHEEP DIPPING CASE

Objections to Prosecution of Men Held to Answer for Violating Regulations Aired by Attorneys

Objections raised in demurrer to prosecution of Louis C. Calcutt, Rupert, and Robert Campbell, Elmer, for alleged violation of state law relating to shipment of sheep into Idaho were aired in attorney's arguments before Judge W. A. Hulsebeck in district court here Friday. Judge Hulsebeck reserved his ruling.

The action grew out of alleged failure of defendant to obtain an inspector's certificate for bringing a number of lambs into the state, and for alleged failure to dip these lambs after their arrival here. J. S. Dado, inspector for the state board of sheep commissioners, is the complaining witness.

Attorneys for the defendants argued that the commission had exceeded its authority in ordering the dipping of all the lambs regardless of whether they were healthy or whether they had been shipped from a disease-free area. Defendant Calcutt was represented by Homer C. Mills, and Campbell by W. Orr Chapman of Bothwell and Chapman, the case for the state being conducted by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor.

BONDING CONCERN WOULD GO INTO FEDERAL COURT

Petition for Removal from Local Tribunal is Filed in Suit Brought by Building and Loan Association

Removal to the United States district court in Boise of the suit of the Mutual Building and Loan company against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company to recover approximately $18,000 on the bond issued for F. G. Leichter, former secretary of the association, will be sought by the bonding concern which Friday filed notice of application for such removal in the district court here.

Hearing on the petition for removal of the suit to the federal court was set for Saturday, March 8.

Removal is asked on the grounds that the action, which involves more than $3000, is between citizens of different states, the building and loan association being incorporated under Idaho laws and the bonding concern under laws of Maryland.

Action of the bonding concern in this regard does not affect continuing negotiations for settlement between it and the building and loan association, H. C. Hazel, attorney for the association, said Friday evening.

COURTS HERE TO DEAL WITH HARNESS THEFT

Blackfoot Deputy Sheriff Decides Against Returning Eagle Watson and Fred Greus to Blingham County

Earle Watson, who, according to the sheriff's office, has confessed his guilt of theft of several sets of harness taken from Blackfoot recently, and to have implicated Fred Greus in the theft, will not be returned to Blackfoot to answer to the courts there, but will be permitted to enter plea of guilty and receive sentence in the local courts, it was stated Friday evening, following the visit here of Deputy Sheriff Clark of Blackfoot, to investigate the case. Both Watson and Greus have been held prisoners in the county jail here since their arrest early this week.

Greus was admitted to parole under sentence of one to 15 years' prison term imposed upon conviction here last spring of burglary of a chicken house. He disclaims any part in the offense in which Watson's reputed confession is said to have involved him.

Important Change In School Plan is Effected by Board

Office of Supervisor of Elementary Grades Heretofore Held by Miss Elizabeth Shotwell is Abolished

At a called meeting of the board of the Twin Falls school district held Thursday afternoon, decision was made to abolish the position of supervisor of elementary grades heretofore held by Miss Elizabeth Shotwell, and to reorganize the old position of principal of the high school as a whole. Ernest D. Bloom, recently elected superintendent, will serve as grade supervisor in addition to performing the duties of superintendent. Selection of a principal has not yet been made, according to Mrs. Jane Craven Scott, secretary of the board.

The matter of a possible change in the organization of the high school to provide for the students of the old two-year junior and four-year senior courses, as against the present three-year junior and three-year senior plan, was discussed but was not favored by the board.

Those present at the meeting were C. E. McClain, chairman; Mrs. Scott, secretary; E. D. Bloom, W. H. Weaver, and James Fitzgerald. E. S. Peters (the remaining member of the board, is at present in California).

Ernest D. Bloom, superintendent-elect, expressed himself as warmly endorsing the present plan of organization and highly commended the work of superintendent Mitchell as school executive.

Vote upon the action taken stood three to two, Mrs. Scott, Mr. Flory and Mr. Weaver voting in the affirmative with Messrs. Fitzgerald and McClain opposed.

UNCOVER LARGE LIQUOR CACHE

Police Seize Ten Gallons of Moonshine and Take William Prough in Custody

Approximately 10 gallons of moonshine whiskey, one of the largest caches of liquor to be seized here in recent months, was confiscated Friday evening by the police, when they took in custody William Prough, 24, just as he was emerging, they said, from the premises at 318 Main avenue south, after filling several bottles out of the cache liquor.

The case will be brought to the attention of federal authorities, Chief of Police P. O. Herriman said Friday evening.

The liquor cache was discovered in a space which had once served as an approach to a side entrance to the building at 318 Main avenue south. Entrances to this space have been closed by means of locked doors or gates. The cache included several kegs in which liquor had been brought in, some of them being empty, together with a rubber tube used in siphoning the liquor out of the kegs. Inside the building the officers discovered a suitcase full of corn.

Prough stated, according to the police, that he had rented the premises only about a week ago from Paul Dawson, proprietor of the Weaver rooms situated almost directly across the street.

Business Men Know

that fire insurance is not only a desirable but very necessary form of protection. If all property owners followed the advice of experts much of the horror of disaster would be avoided. A serious fire and consequent loss to the community is bad enough, but it is unnecessary to suffer financial reverses because of neglect of insurance requirements.

The service that you will receive from this agency plus a policy in the Hartford Fire Insurance Company are certain guarantees of protection.
