MELLON CLASHES
WITH MILLER ON BONUS QUESTIONTwo Federal Executives Are at Loggerheads as Result of Alleged Discrepancy as to Ability to Pay Veterans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, both heading departments of the republican administration, clashed today in a battle over the bonus that was overshadowed today only by the fast-flying reports of changes in President Coolidge's cabinet.

At loggerheads with Mr. Mellon over the question of compensation, Mr. Miller started the argument last night and when a truce was called tonight the air had been filled with statements; President Coolidge had received from both parties to the controversy outlines of their cases; Representative Rainey, democrat, Illinois, had brought it up in the house; and Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, had formally demanded a congressional investigation.

Says Figures Were Juggled.

Colonel Miller was quoted as having said in New York that he had been formed by a high treasury official that the treasury had juggled figures as to the cost of a soldier's bonus in such a way as to try to defeat it. He added to that statement a long list of what he termed to be discrepancies in the treasury estimates and took occasion to say the former service men were "brought up" "wrong" over the attention which should be settled. Later, however, he said he had made no charges that Secretary Mellon had "juggled figures."

"What I did say," Mr. Miller declared in a letter to Mr. Mellon, "was that I had been informed that an official of the treasury department had verified my statement and figures which were sent you earlier in the day." These figures were those contained in Mr. Miller's remarks about variations in treasury estimates.

Demand Name.

Before Mr. Miller's last letter to him had been received, Secretary Mellon, who had appeared to be disturbed by accounts of the property custodian's speech in New York, had sent to him a letter demanding to know the name of the "high treasury official" quoted, and declaring that the charge was false. He also remarked that "he have within the past week an example of a man of public prominence who made statements in a speech without verification of their accuracy," and that such cases should be promptly dealt with. In reply to this, Mr. Miller merely said he noted "your reference to the statements made by a man of public prominence within the past week and it just happens that a reference

Work at Tomb of Tut to be Under
Egyptian ControlCarter Permitted to Continue Excavations But with Government in Charge; Press
Bureau Is Planned

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—As a result of consultations with legal advisers on the situation arising from Howard Carter's cessation of work on Tutankhamen's tomb, the Egyptian government has decided that Mr. Carter will be permitted to continue his explorations provided he accepts conditions formulated by the government according to a Cairo dispatch to the Evening News. These conditions stipulate that the work shall be carried out directly under control and direction of the government. The expense of continuing and completing the work is to be borne entirely by the government; the entire news service in connection with the tomb is to be undertaken by the government and distributed to the Egyptian and foreign press through a press bureau and in the event that Mr. Carter refuses to agree to these conditions the tomb is to be respected independently of him and he would then be free to take any legal action.

It is added that there is no legal obstacle to the opening of the tomb by the government as Mr. Carter, having broken his agreement, the government is held to be released from their obligations in the matter.

TOKIO, Feb. 18 (AP)—Baron Matsui, foreign minister, speaking at the annual banquet of the Tokio Rotary club, composed principally of Japanese, declared that "relations between the great powers concerned in the Pacific are now such that business men may have confidence in foreign enterprises not only for the present, but for the future."

"Business men may invest abroad, as well as at home," the speaker continued, "assured that their efforts will be less speculative as far as international affairs are concerned, than ever before."

THIRTEEN DEAD
IN GHETTO FIRESeveral Women and Children
Numbered Among Victims;
Suspect Work of Fire Fiend

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Thirteen persons, one man, four women, and eight children, one of them a baby, were known to have lost their lives in a fire which swept through a five-story tenement housing eight families in New York's lower east-side ghetto early today.

While firemen tried unsuccessfully to break through the wall of flames which prevented their ascent to the upper stories, screams of women and wailing of children impeded the fire building aroused scores of families in adjoining tenements.

With all means of escape cut off within the building, firemen and residents of the tenement made many thrilling rescues. A patrolman fought his way through the flames and brought out a six-year-old girl, while one man led his wife and two children across a perilous ledge to an adjoining building, from which they escaped to the street.

The fire was put under control almost as quickly as it had gained ground and within an hour firemen were able to mount to the top floor, where six of the charred bodies were found. It was said there were evidences of frantic struggles to check the progress of the conflagration.

The police were informed the fire was started in a baby carriage in the hallway of the ground floor by insane men.

The men were arrested and taken to police headquarters. One was arrested by detectives as he rushed from the burning building.

The fire started under the stairway on the first floor and immediately burned away the stairs, cutting off the exit from the floors above.

OFFER REWARD AS AID
IN ENFORCING DRY LAW

IDAHO FALLS, Feb. 18 (AP)—In an effort to check violation of the prohibition laws and in the interest of law enforcement in general, the county commissioners have authorized Sheriff C. Criddle to offer a reward of $25 to any person giving his office sufficient information to secure the arrest and conviction of any violator of the prohibition laws. The information will be kept confidential and the reward will be paid in securing evidence and conviction from information furnished.

This matter was thoroughly discussed by the commissioners, the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff and the reward was offered in order to clean up violations of the liquor law.

COAL LANDS TO BE LEASED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The secretary of the interior today directed the land office at Santa Fe to offer at public auction the leasing of approximately 1,000 acres of public coal lands in the San Juan river fields of New Mexico. The date for the offering was left to the Santa Fe office.

Under the lease, the government will demand a royalty of 10 cents a ton for coal mined, a minimum investment by the lessee of $100,000 during the first three years and a minimum production of 85,000 tons a year beginning with the fourth year.

SURRENDER RATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Revision of rates on livestock in Arizona, New Mexico and west Texas, which the Southern Pacific company proposed to make effective February 18, were suspended by the interstate commerce commission until June 17, next.

PARTIES SPLIT
OVER BILL ON INCOME RATESInsurgents and Regulars Still
at Variance; Bourbons Confident of Votes to Put Over Substitute Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—House consideration of the tax bill reached the amendment stage today with insurgents and organization republicans still split over income rates and democrats confident they have the votes to put over their substitute schedule.

Under an agreement reached when the measure was taken up last week general debate ended at 4 p. m. Reading of the bill under a rule which permits the offering of amendments with discussion limited then was begun.

By a vote of 140 to 67 the house rejected the first amendment offered by Representative Frost of Wisconsin, a republican insurgent—which would have authorized the federal government to tax state and municipalities.

To Take Up Income.

The income tax section will be considered tomorrow with votes likely on another amendment by Mr. Frost which would not disturb the present 50 per cent surtax but would cut general tax rates in half and on a proposal of Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, to halve normal tax rates and reduce the surtax maximum to 44 per cent.

Republican organization leaders who see no likelihood of obtaining a majority for the Mellon proposal for a surtax maximum of 25 per cent, were undetermined tonight whether they would seek a vote on a compromise proposition for a 35 or 37 1/2 per cent surtax maximum or devote their energies entirely to an attempt to defeat the Garner plan.

Predicts Close Vote.

Representative Longworth, the republican leader, predicted that the vote would be close. Representative Garner, admitting that the shift of a few votes might jeopardize his plan, expressed confidence that it would be adopted.

At another conference today the republican organization resumed its efforts to get together with the insurgents on an income tax rate compromise, but got nowhere.

The insurgents, led by Mr. Frost and Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, again indicated their willingness to agree to a 20 per cent cut in surtaxes.

EXTENSION OF OIL MIXUP
IS PROMISED; WANT U. S.
ATTORNEY-GENERAL OUTIncrease Pressure
for Resignation of
U. S. Legal ChiefDaugherty Not Inclined to Quit
Unless Forced Out; Wheeler
Claims to Have Much Important Evidence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Renewed demands for the resignation of Attorney-General Daugherty are receiving serious consideration among officials high in the administration.

The attorney-general himself is not now inclined to leave the cabinet unless he is requested to do so directly by President Coolidge.

The attitude of the president has not yet been made entirely clear. It was indicated tonight that some development might follow tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Want Early Action

During the past 24 hours increasing pressure has been brought to bear to convince Mr. Coolidge that he should entirely clear his administration of those who have come under attack in the oil inquiry. It has been pointed out to him that Secretary Denby out, many of the critics of the discredited Fall leasing policies may center their attacks on Mr. Daugherty, and that a resolution already pending in the senate will give opportunity for a comprehensive assault on the whole record of the present department of justice.

Borah Files Demand

One of those who have become active in pressing for the attorney-general's resignation is Senator Borah, of Idaho, representing a wing of the republican strength that has not heretofore joined with the LaFollette group in most of its assaults on the administration. Last night at the White House, Senator Borah confronted both the president and Mr. Daugherty with a demand that the latter step out of the cabinet because the country had lost confidence in him.

On the democratic side, the attack has been led by Senator Wheeler, of Montana.

RESIGNATION OF
DENBY ACCEPTEDBelieved His Remaining in Office Might Create Embarrassment to Administration

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The resignation of Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy to be effective March 10 was received and accepted by President Coolidge today.

Tendered voluntarily by the secretary for fear his remaining might "increase the embarrassment" of the president and as an outgrowth of the senate inquiry into the leasing of naval oil lands, the resignation marks the first break in the cabinet which Mr. Coolidge took over intact upon the death of President Harding.

Expressing regret in accepting the resignation President Coolidge declared in a letter to the naval secretary that "you will go with the knowledge that your honesty and integrity have not been impugned."

Mr. Denby on the other hand informed the chief executive that "it will always be a gratifying thought to me that neither you nor any one else at any time advised me to resign."

Although the action of the naval secretary at once started a flood of rumors concerning the probability of other resignations, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, whose name has been linked with that of Mr. Denby in the oil leasing cases, declared that he had not resigned.

Upon learning of his chief's action, Mr. Roosevelt made an engagement at the White House and conferred with the president. After the conference he authorized the announcement that he knew nothing of Denby's resignation and will not resign himself.

Successor Not Named

As for the question of a successor to Mr. Denby it was stated authoritatively that this has received little consideration by the president. So far as known there is no plan in administration circles to promote Mr. Roosevelt to the post. The names of Charles B. Warren of Detroit, who has at least tentatively accepted at the president's re-

Capital is Stirred

Closed Doors to Fathom Latest Development; More Officials May Be Named

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Hints of an entirely new and startling development in the oil scandal stirred the capital today and were communicated to President Coolidge.

A start at running down the story which has amazed senators and officials will be made tomorrow at a conference between the senate oil committee and Harry Payne Whitney, New York financier, and officials of J. P. Benckards and Company, a New York stock brokerage firm.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, who has introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty and the department of justice, will be invited to attend the conference which will be behind closed doors. Senator Wheeler was one of those who requested that Mr. Whitney and the brokers be summoned.

Confer with Counsel

Before the subpoena were issued last night, Senator Wheeler and Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, prosecutor in the oil inquiry, conferred with Milton J. Lambert, counsel for Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, who has just returned from Palm Beach, Fla., in response to a committee summons. It was stated that some of the new information reaching the committee was discussed.

After this conference Chairman Lenroot of the oil committee met with Senators Walsh and Wheeler to discuss the new turn of events and later Albee Pomerene, a special government counsel in oil cases, was called in. It was agreed that the information should be laid before the president and Chairman Lenroot and Mr. Pomerene went to the White House for that purpose.

Roberts to Prosecute

Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, whose nomination as an assistant with Mr. Pomerene in the oil cases was confirmed today by the senate, 68 to 8, is expected to confer with the president tomorrow and then will begin his story of the whole situation with Mr. Pomerene.

The first step in the long court battle for recovery of the oil reserves which Albert B. Fall leased to the Daugherty and Sinclair interests will be petitions for temporary injunctions to prohibit further extraction of oil from the reserves located in California and Wyoming.

Death Takes Nun
Who Spent Forty
Years in ConventSister Mary Is Called After Long
Voluntary Exile; Was One of Founders of House of the Good Shepherd

DENVER, Feb. 18 (AP)—Forty years of voluntary exile, during which time she had been out from the walls of the cloister but once, were ended here today for Sister Mary-of-the-Divine Heart Judge, when she died from an attack of pneumonia at the House of the Good Shepherd convent. She came to Denver in 1884 and was one of the founders of the House of the Good Shepherd. From that time until the day of her death she left the cloister but once, then only to move into new quarters of the convent.

Sister Mary-of-the-Divine Heart was a member of a Baltimore family. One of her brothers was the late Rev. Charles Judge, prominent in Catholic educational circles in Baltimore. Her other brother was the late Rev. William Judge, who went to Alaska as the first missionary there in the early gold rush days and who founded the first Alaskan hospital at Nome. He died in 1899. The only surviving relative is Sister Margaret Mary, who is at the Sisters of Mercy academy at Baltimore.

BUILD NEW POWER LINE

Washington Water Power Company
and Idaho and Montana Utilities Officials Co-operate in Giant Feat

SPOKANE, Feb. 18 (AP)—An engineering feat considered of major importance was performed recently by officials of the Washington Water Power company of Spokane in co-operation with officials of public utilities corporations of Idaho and Montana, when 20,000 horsepower of electrical energy was conveyed directly from the plant of the Montana Power company at Billings to this city. The new service establishes a continuous power circuit from Billings on the east to Tacoma and Seattle in western Washington.

The service was made possible by the completion of a seven-mile stretch of wire communication in the Coeur d'Alenes which became the connecting link between Montana and the Spokane company.

Initial tests for the new line were carried out without a hitch when the switches were opened, it was reported.

Change now to the brand that never changes and you'll never change again.

THE GUMPS—IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS, BUT

WILL REPORT ON PRODUCING COST FOR GRAIN CROP

Tariff Commission Concludes Hearing on Wheat; Results to Be Made Public; Coolidge to Hear Facts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The tariff commission today concluded its hearing on the cost of producing wheat in the United States and Canada and tomorrow will make public the results of its investigation into the cost of producing wheat products, particularly flour, and receive any testimony on that subject.

The commission will conclude its investigation and report to President Coolidge probably within two weeks, laying before the president information upon which he can determine whether the cost of production justifies an increase in the present duty on wheat and wheat products. The investigation has been made by the commission upon the application of the wheat council of the United States.

The formal hearing today on wheat cost production brought forth little information additional to that already before the commission. Former Senator P. J. McCumber of North Dakota, counsel for the wheat council, presented the result of an investigation made by him in North Dakota and in Canada which placed production costs much higher than the preliminary costs found by the commission's experts. He also presented a report of an investigation made by the American Wheat Growers association, whose figures likewise were somewhat higher than the commission's.

Professor R. Willard, of the North Dakota college of agriculture, discussed wheat prices in their relation to the prices of other commodities, commented on the preliminary findings of the commission and said the present tariff on wheat was effective to the extent of about 20 cents a bushel.

GOVERNMENT MEN FREED

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—According to reports from the palatinate the "autonomous government" is completely ended now and all the government officials have been released from separatist prisons and reinstated.

SUGGESTS CONFERENCE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18 (AP)—A meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Attorneys-General in Washington early next month as the first step in the launching of a nation-wide inquiry into gasoline production and costs was suggested in a letter from A. V. Cocco, attorney general of Louisiana and member of the committee, to O. S. Spillman, attorney general of Nebraska, president of the organization.

Value of Palms.

The sentiment of centuries has made palms the symbol of rejoicing and of victory, says Nature Magazine. Their admirers call them the most magnificent vegetable productions on the globe, while science tells us there is no family in the whole vegetable kingdom, except the grass family, of such service to the world.

Not Without Beer.

A Dutch concert is a social entertainment in which every man sings his own song at the same time with his neighbor is singing his, or in which each person present sings in turn one verse of any song he pleases, some well known chorus being used as a burden after each verse.

Nest on Barn Side.

Swallows, on swift flight, cleanse the air of flies and mosquitoes, says Nature Magazine. The cave or cliff swallows fasten their mud nests to the side of the barn under the eaves, or to the face of cliffs. These swallows nest in holes of pecks, in hollow trees, and in bird boxes.

Smoky Gaston to Defend Title

Smoky Gaston, American champion dog driver, who will defend his title against former champion Tud Kent and against the Montreal Winter Sports Committee's Canadian entry seeking to lift the American championship in the annual American Dog Derby at Ashton, Idaho, on February 22.

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 18 (AP)—Smoky Gaston, winner of last year's American Dog Derby, retain his title. Will Tud Kent, three times holder of the crown, "come back" this year, when the trail classic is run on Washington's birthday. Or will the Canadian huskie entered by the Winter Sports committee of Montreal and driven by "Whistling" Hutchinson lift the cup from all American contenders, and give it to the Dominion team and its plucky girl driver.

Speculation on these questions is overshadowing all other discussion in the northwest as the date of this year's derby draws near. For tradition says a race last year that still brings a thrill to those who recollect it, a race in which an American championship changed hands on the slender margin of 14 seconds, and a race in which a plucky girl driver forced four veteran trailmen and their teams to smash their records to keep ahead of her.

Under the rules of the course at Ashton teams start five minutes apart, which last year caused Gaston to start ten minutes ahead of Kent, three winner of the American championship, and favorite in the race. This lead was held throughout a sensational run. Kent still had ten minutes to finish, with a possibility of winning after Gaston came in, and the hands of the clock reached the fatal ten minute mark simultaneously with Kent's reaching the head of Ashton's Main street 200 yards from the wire, and the champion finished in a spectacular sprint that showed the grit of the man and the gameness of his dogs in a manner that endeared both for all time to the frenzied, howling mob who saw it.

Since this year's first snow in this region of his ranch on Buffalo river, Kent has been training his team to regain his lost championship, while Gaston, over at Henry's lake took advantage of the same snow to start training his, with a game determination to hold the title. Then a team of well trained Canadian huskies, veterans of long trails in the Hudson Bay region, was entered against them by the Winter Sports committee of Montreal, to make the contest three-sided.

But the race is by no means a cinch for any of these three famous contenders. Other trail veterans whose teams maintain communication north, west and east of Ashton, wintered on the Union Pacific-Yellowstone Park line, are getting their dogs into perfect condition for the chase. These include such trailmen as Bill Traule, Warren Cordingley, Andrew Saek, George Pileher, Oleott Zarn, Bill Knoch and John Zuck. The town of Shelley, Idaho, has entered a team which will be driven by Slim Young.

Two professional men also have purchased teams and will enter them, these are Doctor Packard, a dentist of Ashton, and Doctor Morfield, physician and surgeon of St. Anthony.

George W. Zarn, president of the American Dog Derby association, predicts that when the derby starts on February 22, there will be at least 15 starters.

They Battle Bugs.

The warblers are one of the most useful families of birds—they eat so many noxious insects and insects scarcely any but habits says Nature Magazine. They nest in orchards, shade trees, willows, shrubbery and spruce forests. The yellow-throated warbler teases orchards and shrubbery near standing or running water. A caterpillar is its favorite tidbit.

English Train Is Fast.

The highest speed ever achieved on an English railway was that attained by a train known as "The City of Truro" which at one point reached the amazing speed of more than 102 miles an hour. Even then the "going" was as smooth as if the train had been moving at less than ten miles an hour.

When Lotteries Were Lawful.

In the eighteenth century lotteries were extremely popular in America. Legislatures authorized them for every species of public improvement for the building of churches and colleges, for the repair of losses to individuals by fire and otherwise; for example, Faneuil hall, after the fire of 1791, was rebuilt by lottery. The Continental congress tried to raise money by lottery in 1777.

WITNESSES SAY SMALL PACKERS IN GOOD SHAPE

Independent Producers Testify at Federal Hearing; Claim Monopoly Could Not Exist Permanently

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—A monopoly of the meat packing and distributing industry in the United States could not exist for any substantial time, six independent eastern producers testified today at the resumption of hearings in the government investigation on charges that the sale of Morris and Company to Armour and Company, last year, resulted in monopoly in violation of the anti-trust laws.

The witnesses were the first of 60, the defense expects to call this week, after which the hearings will be resumed at Boston. Chester Thurlott of the department of agriculture presided for Secretary Wallace, at whose instance the hearings were ordered.

Without exception the witnesses today declared that the smallest packer faced better these days than ever before in the recent history of the business, that the competition since the war had grown keener than ever; that the "big five" group of packers actually were losing ground in the east and that the economic laws of supply and demand were the only controlling factors in the prices of livestock and dressed meat, both wholesale and retail.

A. D. Loeffler of the Washington Abattoir company said he actually could not underbid the big five concerns on many products. He also cited cases where he had purchased dressed meats from big five concerns at seven cents a pound cheaper than it would cost to buy livestock and do his own slaughtering.

It was possible, he said, because the bigger packers often overstocked and had to sell to independents at a sacrifice.

TWENTY ALLEGED I. W. W.

ARE TAKEN IN RAIDS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 18 (AP)—City police detectives raided the Industrial Workers of the World headquarters here Saturday, arresting more than 20 alleged members of the organization. It was said that the men would be charged either with violation of the state criminal syndicalism law or of the injunction against the organization issued last summer.

TELEPHONES LIFE-SAVING TIP

Engineer Puts in Spare Time Watching Window's Ledge Opposite His Office.

"Yes," said the engineer, sitting by the window of his office in the Grand Central neighborhood. "I'm going to make a Carnegie model and also for an annual retainer from the hotel across the street. I'm official life-saver and damage-suit preventer."

He reached for the telephone and asked for his friend, the manager of the hotel, says a writer in the New York Sun. "Globe."

"You another one," he said. "Fifteenth floor, right wing. American beauty roses in a vase. Wind snapping up. 'It'll blow down in a minute.'"

"Now watch," he remarked, pointing across the street. "Sure enough, on the window ledge stood the flowers."

In less than five minutes two male and three female attaches of the hotel were in the room. The flowers were removed.

"How would you like to be walking down the street and have that vase crash on your head?" the engineer asked. "A person is likely to get killed. All sorts of contraptions are put out by hotel guests, not thinking they are endangering lives and putting the hotel in prospect of big damage suits. Yesterday a heavy vase of chrysanthemums stood shivering in the breeze until I spotted it. A big glass bowl stood on the narrow sill. It surely would have crashed in somebody's head if it had fallen during the lunch hour."

TALK PLANS FOR RETURN BATTLE

Negotiations for Another Dempsey-Gibbons Bout May Be Completed Tuesday

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Negotiations for the proposed return world's heavyweight battle in New York about June 1, between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons may be completed tomorrow at a conference between Promoter Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns, manager of the title holder.

Several weeks ago Rickard announced he had arranged the match but Kearns has not yet signed articles, although it is understood he and the promoter are in agreement on terms. Eddie Kinn, Gibbons' manager, already has accepted terms on behalf of the St. Paul boxer, who stayed the limit with the champion at Shelby, Mont., last June.

Rickard said today he probably would build an arena somewhere in the metropolitan district which would be available for the Dempsey-Gibbons encounter as well as the prospective return match between Dempsey and Louis Armstrong. He is inclined to use either the Polo grounds or Yankee stadium because of seating difficulties on these fields.

Dempsey, according to Kearns, is expected to return to New York next Saturday.

TRACED TOWER IN USE

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 18 (AP)—To his array of automatic track apparatus, "Bill" Hayward, veteran trainer of athletes at the University of Oregon, has now added an "observation tower." It is a small structure mounted on skids and may be taken to any part of the field as desired. It is fitted up with a glass window and warmth is provided while the track monitor watches his proteges go through their paces.

LEE RETURNS CONTRACT

"The Figure Mentioned Doesn't Interest Me," Said Tulsa Shortstop; Says Agreement Is Near

DENVER, Feb. 18 (AP)—Dudley E. Lee, the young shortstop purchased from the Tulsa Western league club last fall by the Boston Americans at a reported price of $50,000, returned his second unsigned contract to the Boston club today. He did the same thing two weeks ago after writing across the contract that the figure mentioned doesn't interest me. Lee sent a letter with the contract returned today thanking the Boston club for its new offer and intimating that he believed they were close to reaching an agreement.

THEATER QUELLS TROJAN QUINTET

Laundry Loses All Three Games to Idaho Theatre Bowlers; Fix Is High Man

"This strange what five men with good luck can do to the temper and usually high scores of a well established bowling team. The Trojans for the first time today, well, a long time ago, took the bitter pill of three straight defeats to open up the week Monday when they met the Idaho theater.

The movie men bowled and bowled with everyone going over the 300 mark save one, while the respectable Trojans still manfully trying for a place at the head of the average list, hit the second high for the evening with 508. Bailey and Phil King, who got an even 500, were the only ones to hit the high mark for the evening with a total, which means his record high score, at 570. The totals for the three games were, Trojans 2503, Idaho theater 2613, a difference of 110 pins. The averages are, Theater 173, and the laundry 167. All the games were well in the club with the last one for the movie bowlers coming within three pins of the 900 grade.

OLYMPIC TRYOUT PLANNED

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Definite plans for tryouts of candidates for the American Olympic track and field team are under way.

Dates for two of the sectional tournaments have been selected—That for the eastern section at the Yankee stadium on June 7, and for the Pacific coast at Stanford university on May 17. Other preliminary trials to be held probably either on May 20 or June 7, follow:

- Central—At Chicago or Detroit.
- Midwestern—At Kansas university stadium, Lawrence, Kansas.
- Pacific northwest—At Portland, Oregon.
- Southern Pacific—At Los Angeles.

BLAME NOT FIXED FOR DEATH OF BOSTON MAN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 18 (AP)—At an inquest this afternoon into the cause of death of Norman D. APPROVE MINE WAGE CONTRACT

Renewal of Present Scale for Term of Four Years Provided for in Agreement

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP)—A renewal of the present bituminous miners' wage scale for a term of three years was approved unanimously by the sub-committee of miners and operators of the central coal field today.

It is a compromise of the miners' demand for a four-year contract and the operators' offer of a renewal for the customary one year. Tomorrow the report will be considered by the miners' policy committee and then referred for approval to the entire joint conference of miners and operators. Adjournment will come, it is believed, about 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The agreement was counted as a victory for the miners and their international president, John L. Lewis. There is hardly any doubt but that the policy committee and the full joint conference, will give prompt approval. It was believed; signatures of the 32 miners and 32 operators of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and western Pennsylvania will be affixed to the contract. It will be effective April 1, after it has been formally subjected to a referendum vote of the half million members of the United Mine Workers of America, both bituminous and anthracite.

CAPITAL STIRRED BY LATEST DEVELOPMENT

for a conference with the committee during its ten days recess from public hearings was reached at the Sunday conference and Senator Walsh, who left Washington last night for a brief rest in the south, was said to be in entire accord with the plan.

Extensive examination of books may be necessary before the new line of inquiry can be opened in public but some of those who have knowledge of the whole story say it has come to the committee as to what the transactions sought to be disclosed were not confined wholly to oil.

There are hints that the names of some former as well as some present government officials might be linked in the oil scandal and the trail might lead to the senate itself. Moreover, it was asserted that the transactions sought to be disclosed were not confined wholly to oil. Specifically what is sought from Mr. Whitney and in the books of the Denker firm is information as to transactions by public officials in stock of the Sinclair oil companies prior to and subsequent to the lease of the Teapot Dome naval reserve to Harry P. Sinclair.

May Convene Early Under the present plan the public hearings before the oil committee are to be resumed next Monday, but Chairman Lenroot and others said there might be developments which would call for earlier sessions. Mr. McLean probably will be among the first of the witnesses called unless the committee decides to dispense with his testimony. There have been suggestions that if the committee is satisfied with the information he gives publicly he may not be questioned in public.

Until the senate met and the new development in the oil scandal was whispered about on the floor and in the cloakrooms, the Sunday conference and the summoning of Mr. Whitney and the brokerage firm officers was shrouded in considerable mystery.

Declines to Talk

Chairman Lenroot declined to discuss the matter in any other way than to say that he had conferred with the president and that there was no intention at present of abandoning the ten day recess program. He refused to say whether subpoenas had been issued and declared he would be "derelict" to his duty "to the committee and the public to discuss the matter."

Later in the day, however, after information had been received that Whitney and the brokerage firm officers would come to Washington tomorrow, he announced that a call for an executive session of the committee for that time had been issued.

Confirmation of Mr. Roberts' nomination by the senate today makes it possible for the full machinery for institution of legal proceedings, civil and criminal, to be organized. Mr. Pomeroy and Mr. Roberts will organize a full staff and will have the co-operation of the department and the interior and navy departments.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hicking, Age 76, of Boise, Meets Death; Stepped in Front of Buhl Man's Automobile

BOISE, Feb. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Hicking, 76, of Boise, was almost instantly killed this afternoon when she stepped in front of an automobile driven by C. E. Evans of Buhl, Idaho. Both the right front and rear wheels passed over the woman's chest, crushing it, witnesses said. She was taken from the street to the sidewalk and Dr. F. A. Pittenger was called, but she died before he could arrive. The accident was unavoidable, according to witnesses.

MAILS DELAYED BY DOCK STRIKE

Walkout of London Shore Workers Causes Inconveniences; Speculators at Work

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The dock strike became fully effective today in practically all the ports except London where a considerable number of dockers are still working. The employers assert that 3000 additional men have volunteered to go to work on the employers' terms, offered yesterday, on condition that they are provided with police protection.

Up to the present the chief inconvenience experienced by the general public arises from dislocation of the mails, especially the American mails. Speculators in food and other necessaries have also seized the opportunity to advance prices, although the strike can not yet have really affected food supplies.

The government has lost no time in taking action. Premier MacDonald, immediately on his return from Chequers court, went into consultation with the minister of labor, Tom Shaw, and others and as a consequence the minister was able to announce in parliament the appointment of a committee of three members to make a report on the cause and circumstances of the dispute. It is not an arbitration court and its decisions are not binding. It will begin sitting tomorrow and Edwin Devlin, secretary of the dockworkers' union, has already consented to give testimony.

RAMON NOVARRO

A boon for the movies is "Scaramouche," the big Rex Ingram production for Metro, which opened last night at the Idaho Theatre. This film, which is a screen version of Rafael Sabatini's popular novel of the French Revolution, is in our opinion the greatest photoplay yet made in the motion picture industry. Romance, adventure, thrills, beauty, every desirable feature in a picture, are here done in superb fashion.

The cast of 10,000 is headed by Alice Terry, Lewis Stone and Ramon Novarro, the triumvirate of Ingram's earlier film, "The Prisoner of Zenda," and they score an even greater success.

Willis Goldbeck's screen adaptation was perfect. The excellent photography was by John P. Seitz. Curt Rehfeld was production manager and Grant Whytock edited the film.

EXPERTS SUM UP INQUIRY FACTS

Reparations Auditors Nearing End of Work of Balancing Germany's Budget

PARIS, Feb. 18 (AP)—The two committees of experts today began to sum up the result of their investigation in Germany of the reparation problem. The budget committee exchanged views verbally, while the committee on the exodus of German capital discussed memoranda drawn up by the different members with a view to formulating its report. Thus, the two committees have entered upon the final phase of their task, although sub-committees still are going over the work of the expert accountants and hearing Dr. Schlacht, president of the Berlin reichsbank, as to details of the organization of the proposed gold bank.

The members of the committees and persons generally connected with the investigation are confident their work may be finished entirely in early March. The greatest secrecy is still maintained as to what the experts individually have concluded. The only indication of the trend of their opinion is the optimism prevailing in French circles and reports that the British are disappointed. So far no tangible reasons for French optimism have been disclosed, but the confidence evidenced around the French official headquarters is so strong as to suggest that there is some reason for their hope that the experts will succeed in making recommendations on which the reparation commission can act and which will not be unfavorable to the French thesis.

was made to my office in that same gentleman's remarks."

Admits Inaccuracies.

"Replying specifically to your letter," Mr. Miller said, "please be advised that the quotation of my remarks of yesterday contains inaccuracies and even to the extent of quoting, as a part of my remarks, the names of other speakers who were present. I did not state that a high official of your department had told me anything."

He added that he referred to a conversation with a "prominent United States senator whose name will be revealed to you with my permission, or not, if he objects to my so doing."

In his earlier statement which he did not retract, Mr. Miller went over various treasury estimates on the cost of a bonus. He mentioned that President Harding had vetoed a compensation measure because he believed the country was facing a deficit of $650,000,000.

Cites Discrepancy.

"Yet," he added, "in the same fiscal year the government paid $631,000,000 of the government debt and still the treasury ended the fiscal year 1923 with a balance and credit of $370,000,000, showing a discrepancy in these figures of $1,000,000,000 within the space of a few months."

Mr. Mellon's letter to Mr. Miller supplemented a statement he had made last night in which he said he was "amazed" at the remarks attributed to his administration co-worker. He declined to say whether he had made any suggestions to President Coolidge in laying the subject before him, but declared he thought the chief executive should be apprised of the whole case. Mr. Miller took a similar view of his statement, but it was indicated no action was probably from the White House for the time being at least.

INCREASE PRESSURE TO FORCE DAUGHERTY OUT

democrat, Montana, who has told his colleagues that he is prepared to present information of an entirely new and sensational character if the proposed inquiry into the administration of Attorney General Daugherty is followed through. His declarations have been carried directly to the president.

Mr. Daugherty has repeatedly declined to talk about details of the criticism leveled at him, but he is understood to take the position that the effort to drive him out of office is a subject which could well be taken up for discussion by the cabinet. White House officials declined tonight to discuss a report that it would be discussed at the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Attacks Launched.

Heretofore, the attack on the attorney-general has been directed along two lines. One contention of his critics has been that, regardless of the actual facts as to his record, the cumulative effect of a long series of developments has been to discredit him in the opinion of the public. The other argument used against him has been that although he was not a party to the oil leases, and has said he never was asked for an opinion regarding them, he occupied the position of chief law officer of the government at the time when his colleagues in the cabinet were concluding agreements now recognized by congress as without authority in law.

Charges Not Public.

Whether new factors have entered into the latest phase of the situation is not revealed nor are the senators opposing him willing at the present stage to produce publicly the charges they say they will make if he remains in the cabinet and undergoes the ordeal of a public investigation as proposed in the pending resolution introduced by Senator Wheeler.

Mr. Daugherty has told his friends in and out of congress that he was fearful the result of such an investigation; has pointed out that as a matter of fact he himself requested that the inquiry be held after demands for his retirement had been made in the senate; and has insisted that his record both as regards the oil scandal and all other matters connected with his administration is absolutely clear. Today he sent to the senate, in response to an inquiry, a record of war frauds investigation which he said showed that actual material progress had been made despite great handicaps.

RESIGNATION OF DENBY ACCEPTED

quest appointment as ambassador to Mexico, and of former Representative Patrick H. Kelley, also of Michigan, former chairman of the naval sub-committee of the house appropriations committee, are prominently mentioned for the post. There has been nothing to indicate, however, that these are the only names before Mr. Coolidge and his advisers.

Discusses Resignation

In a statement made public today Secretary Denby discussed his resignation and pointed out that the delayed date of his retirement left plenty of time for any impeachment proceedings against him.

"Therefore," he added, "any one who says that I am resigning for fear of impeachment simply lies."

Referring to the president's recent action in rejecting publicly the advice contained in a senate resolution requesting him to call immediately for Mr. Denby's resignation, the naval secretary said in the statement:

"The president has stood manfully for right and justice. The sportsmanlike thing for me to do is to relieve him of the further embarrassment of the critical maneuvers and partisan political trickery."

DENBY SUBMITS LETTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Secretary Denby's letter of resignation, dated February 17, is as follows:

"My dear Mr. President:

"Heretofore I have verbally expressed to you my deep appreciation of your strong message in regard to the Robinson resolution.

"No one appreciates better than I how difficult your situation has become. I fear that my continuation in the cabinet would increase your embarrassments. Therefore I have the honor to tender to you my resignation as secretary of the navy."

"As there are a few pending matters which should receive my personal attention, I suggest that my resignation be accepted as of the date of March 10, 1924."

"It will always be a gratifying thought to me that neither you nor any one else has at any time advised me to resign."

"I assure you again of my appreciation of the many courtesies you have shown me and of your last great act in refusing to accede to the demand of the senate that you ask my resignation."

"With cordial regards to you and Mrs. Coolidge and best wishes always, I am,

"Very sincerely yours,
"EDWIN DENBY."

After the usual transaction of business a very enjoyable program was given consisting of two violin solos by Mrs. F. W. Dumko, accompanied by Mrs. F. T. Kellogg, and two readings by Mrs. Herman Schurger. A social hour followed and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles E. Jones, Mrs. A. W. Husted, Mrs. E. T. Kellogg and Mrs. H. R. Johnson. Thirty-five members were in attendance.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Stuart Taylor, Jr., entertained her class in the Presbyterian Sunday school with a delightful party. Games and contests were enjoyed and late in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Harriet Dunlap, Dorothy Evans, Elizabeth Blake, Marjorie Glendon, Betty Bolster, Marian Dickey, Julia Hayden, Margaret Witham and Helen Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Taylor entertained a few friends on Saturday evening with the radio, the feature of the evening being the opera "Il Trovatore," broadcasted from Los Angeles.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller and family and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Rozelle and family tendered them a pleasant surprise on Sunday afternoon at the home of the former. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. Rozelle are leaving the neighborhood, but are as yet undecided as to their future plans.

The afternoon was spent visiting and at a late hour refreshments were served. Those present beside the honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. William Woodke and son, Mr. and Mrs. Roush and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Peterson and family, Frank Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rigdon and son, Mr. Fulford, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vance and family, Mr. and Mrs. Landers, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Henderson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garret Osterloh and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Junker and daughter, Mrs. Woodington and Harry Deloria.

GREENE SUFFERS GRAVE RELAPSE

Second Operation is Performed on Vermont Senator; Condition Held More Serious

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Senator Greene of Vermont suffered a serious relapse after a second operation last night, his condition being regarded as very critical. Only a few minutes earlier physicians had declared his chances of recovery favorable.

He apparently had come through the operation successfully when he suffered a hemorrhage on the brain.

The operation was determined upon after the senator had developed unfavorable symptoms and his condition had been described as critical. The first operation was performed Saturday when bone splinters were removed from the brain the result of being shot Friday night in a battle between revolts.

After a consultation shortly before officers and bootleggers.

The hemorrhage was quickly checked, however, and attending surgeons then said that although the condition of the patient was critical no more serious developments might follow. Some hope for his recovery was indicated.

At midnight, the surgeons announced that "the prognosis was grave."

THE HERRIN FRONTIER

If there is still a "frontier" left in America, it is probably in Williamson county, Illinois. A frontier might be defined as a place where definite social organization exists, and residents
get along with makeshift substitutes for law and justice. That definition
will fit Herra pretty well.

Certain pitched battles, whether between union and non-union miners or between forces representing law and order and forces representing the liquor traffic, or between public officials and vigilance committees, have little to do with Anglo-Saxon civilization. They are phenomena of the borderland between civilization and barbarism.

There seems to be enough regulative
vigor in Williamson county to keep the inhabitants in order, if it were only better applied. The troubles comes from private organizations trying to usurp official public functions.

If the zeal which has led groups of private citizens to fight bootlegging in that county were only exerted through legitimate channels, the result might be clean government and triumphant
morals instead of a new crop of murder
charges.

If men in office will not enforce the laws, the reformers should see that men who get into office will enforce them, and should stand by them
and keep them up to the mark when they get in. As matters stand, the
would-be reformers have been misap-
plying their energy by breaking down
the law, and making a heap of trouble
for themselves.

It is fundamentally not wickedness
but a lack of common sense. And Herrin is not the only American community suffering from such foolishness.

AMERICAN ACTION IN BERLIN

Nobody knew just what the business situation was in Germany, and nobody seemed able to find out. Prejudice
and lack of direct business methods
hampered allied statesmen. The Germans themselves, overwhelmed by their own disaster, did not seem to know,
and could hardly be trusted to make
a frank revelation if they did.

Then into Germany came two American business men, Messrs. Dawes and Young, with their international committee of experts appointed by the baffled reparations commission. Under the driving power of Chairman Dawes,
that committee went ahead with such vigor as was never seen before in Berlin. German officials and bankers and economists were so amazed by its energy and efficiency that they stopped hedging and sparring and equivocating, and gave the information desired. The tremendous job was accomplished in two weeks, probably breaking all European records for comparable inquiries.

Now that committee is planning to submit a complete report within a month, stating simply and clearly the economic condition of bankrupt Germany and recommending a specific
plan for the reorganization of German finance and industry, so as to put the country on a reparations-paying basis
again as quickly as possible.

There is action if it succeeds, it will add immensely to American prestige abroad, benefit America in a business way by improving business in Europe, and encourage supplementary
efforts on the part of Americans, officially or unofficially, to solve post-
bellum problems of world-wide scope.

WISDOM FROM EDISON

Edison, inventor of the questionnaire
among other things, was subjected to one himself on the occasion of his seventy-seventh birthday. It is always worth while to see what the most

perfectly functioning mind in America
thinks about things, even when it is hard to agree with him. Here are his rapid-fire answers to reporters' questions:

"When coal and oil are gone, we shall get power from the sun, wind,
tides and vegetable growth."

"We shall probably never communicate with Mars."

"Surgical rejuvenation of men is possible only in a small way."

"The greatest fields for the application of electricity in the future are
farm power and transportation."

"The fight between fundamentalists
and modernists in the church is the transition from myth to fact."

"The modern young woman is all right, though her actions are foolish."

"The percentage of fine people in the world is gradually increasing."

"This last judgment is particularly reassuring. Edison is still an optimist.
Thoroughly sane people usually are."

THE WORLD'S AUTOS

The latest statistics show that automobiles are multiplying as rapidly in
the rest of the world as they are in the United States. In spite of the enormous increase in American cars,
our percentage of the world's cars is
just what it was a year ago.

The total number of passenger cars
and trucks for the United States is said to be fifteen million, two hundred thousand, with only three million six hundred seventy thousand for all other countries together. Great Britain comes second with six hundred fifty-five thousand cars, Canada third with six hundred forty-two thousand, and France fourth with four hundred sixty thousand. Five of our states, New York, California, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania, each have more cars
than any other foreign country.

Increase of motor cars, whatever else it may signify, is a good index
to material progress. Thus these figures speak for themselves regarding
the relative material welfare of the United States and other countries.

My husband expects burglars.

He's been looking for them for the last five years, but they haven't showed up yet. He's still hoping, however.

Every night before he goes to bed
he makes an inspection tour of the whole house. Doors, windows, locks,
bolts—everything must be secure
against invasion.

It reminds me of a stage detective
looking over the scene of the crime, but I never dare laugh at him.

He takes the possibilities of robbery
just as seriously as a burglarious
salesman. I think he really enjoys the game very much.

He frequently casts a calculating eye
over the silver on the sideboard. "A nice haul for somebody if they'd break
in here," he observes shrewdly.

But so far as we can see, no burglars have ever thought of robbing our house. And I sometimes think that burglars just a little disappointed about
it, too.

brella loser."

JUDGE OWL'S LETTER
BY DADDY

(The village postmaster gets a letter, but can't make out who it is for. "Two Owl," said Jack and Janet of the woods. Jack and Janet decide the letter is for Judge Owl.)

CHAPTER II.
The Little Mail Carriers.

"WE WILL take the letter to Judge Owl," said Jack and Janet to the postmaster.

The postmaster, not knowing what else to do with the queer letter that bore no other address than a picture
of the hollow tree in which Judge Owl
had his nest, turned it over to Jack and Janet.

"All right!" he said. "Take the letter to Judge Owl if you can find him. I do not know him myself. But if the letter is not for him bring it back to the postoffice."

This Jack and Janet promised to do.
They took the large envelope, and carrying it carefully, set off through the woods. Snow was falling on the ground, but it was covered with a crust that made walking easy.

Jack and Janet knew right where Judge Owl lived. They often had visited the hollow tree in the summer time
when the birds filled the woods.

When they came to the place where the hollow tree stood, however, they scarcely recognized it. The leaves were off the trees and the bushes were bare.
Where in summer all was green, now
all was white with snow. The hollow tree, which usually was half hidden by vines and branches of other trees, stood
naked in the wintry wind.

Jack stepped on the trunk of the tree.
As he stepped he chanted this song:

"Ho, ho! Judge Owl,
You wise old fowl,
Open your eyes,
Here's a surprise.
Turn out of bed,
You sleepy head!"

But Judge Owl didn't turn out of bed. At least he did not show his sleepy head at the door of the hollow

tree.

"Go on, please," she said.

"In the first place," he told her, "I have done this. It was necessary, you see," he said, explaining, "that some one be appointed to the position of Jasper King as active manager of the Trust."

"Yes," she said, waiting.

"I had myself appointed. You don't object?" he asked her when she did not answer but sat looking at him.

"Object, no!" she said. "Why should I? It's all yours, anyway—not mine. Yet I don't understand it," she added, somewhat suspiciously. "It seemed to her that it might be another scheme of evasion or delay on his part—to keep her from doing what she intended to."

"I thought," he said, "that perhaps you might thank me for it! But you will—yourself understand it later. That's the first point. Now the second point in my scheme. I've arranged it now,
what you wanted, so that you are no
longer Adelaide Rutherford—that is,
you will not have the unpleasant features of her! I've fixed it so you will be no longer under that cloud of being
legally insane."

"What does not change the real situation about Adelaide Rutherford?" she objected, "—the one thing that would be almost impossible to bear."

"What?"

"Her reputation of having been insane."

"Her reputation," he said, "—with whom?"

"She of course did not know directly.
"I guess you don't," he said, "You innocent! Do you imagine that the Gorgam family ever let that be known?
Is it customary to advertise family secrets? Not half a dozen people in the world know it, and they, you may be sure, always have been and will be strangely silent."

"Even if they are," said Mary Manchester, still obstinate, "that will make no difference in my plans. I'm not Adelaide Rutherford. I'm Mary Manchester and I won't be Adelaide Russington much longer," she said, flushing, growing a little angry.

"That's it," he said, smiling, "that's just it. The third point of our compromise!"

"Our compromise?" she echoed after
him.

"Don't you know?" he asked, and
caught her hand—but not yet her eyes.
"No," she said with somewhat questioning eyebrows.

"I want you to be—let us say—Mrs.
Gorgam," he explained with his half-
mocking but now comparatively serious smile. "Will you agree to my compromise?"

He was greatly surprised by her
next action.

"No," she said, springing to her feet.
"No," she said vehemently. "No, no!
I won't have it so. I'm Mary Manchester. I've never been Adelaide Rutherford, and I won't—I won't!
I won't! I'm going back to be declared
what I am legally."

"Another thing," she said, still finding objection to that money. "It doesn't belong to me. It belongs to
you. Why keep up this farce?" she asked, "—this awful farce of a Trust
for me, when you know just who I am?"

"I thought," he said with a somewhat less certain smile, "that was one of the fine points of my scheme. If I controlled that, the Trust, I would control all the money and incidentally

you."

But she was obstinate, he found—
surprisingly so for so frail a creature.
"I've done wrong," she insisted. "I know it. And I'll take my punishment.
I'm going to be Mary Manchester again
some day. And then I'm going as far away as I can—away from here and this and you." And she tried now despairingly to wrench herself free.

"So you don't like my compromise?"
he said, releasing her at last with a rather very smile. He was clearly both surprised and disappointed.

"No," she answered. "It is neither
right nor honest nor anything."

"Listen!" he said, catching her hand
and holding her. He looked down into her flushed face. "Listen," he said
sternly, "you young criminal! I want to talk to you—and I shall. Let us go back," he proposed, "and take the old money. I never shall always use
it. Let's work out the theory of a possible case."

"Suppose," he said, when she found herself unable to get away, but still
did not answer, "in a case where a young woman—who is incidentally, I may say,
very good to look up—loses her mind's
life at the very great risk of her own."
She tried to speak then, but he would not permit her.

"And suppose she had a crazy idea
that she had done wrong, and must go through and take her punishment—
straighten everything out publicly
in some way—would she not be a criminal. Calling herself a criminal!"
She tried again to get away
from him.

"And then suppose the man, whose life she had saved, and who was also
for other good and sufficient reasons
absolutely determined upon her, had offered her a most reasonable compromise—by which, as his wife, he would have control both of her and of her
money—and that she deliberately refused—because she feels he would have too great control over her," he added, smiling, "just the mere fraction
of a thing?"

"It's nothing of the kind," she answered him, speaking for the first time, "and you know it."

"And supposing," he went on, disregarding her remark, "that under the law he had absolute control over her legally, would she not be a criminal?"
he asked, "especially when he saw that she was worrying herself sick over matters? What could he do," he asked when she did not answer, "except try again—offer one more compromise—which will be an ultimatum?"

"What?" asked Mary Manchester un-
genuinely.

"This," he said quickly, taking advantage of her question: "Mary, will
you marry me?"

"No," she answered again more vehemently than was necessary.

"Wait!" he commanded her. "That's
only half of my plan—the new compromise. If," he said, bringing out the other half, "I will let you afterward go to court, publish yourself a criminal, smash this Gorgam Trust to a million pieces—do anything you want to?"

"Shall I be Mary Manchester
again?" demanded his opponent grimly.

"Not for very long. You'll have to marry me before-hand, while I'm still got you. You've got to marry me before-hand. And then we'll finish up that legal dragon of Jasper Halg's—
together!"

"What do you say?" asked the offer-
er of the compromise. There was no answer; both stopped speaking for the time being. But this last compromise,
it appeared, was finally accepted.

It was finally, through this compromise, it seems, long before the coming
of this matter to court, that the widely famous termination and dissolution
of the Gorgam Trust was brought about—concerning which the reader no doubt has long ago learned the more familiar features through the public press.

Do Not Talk When The Doctor Says Castor Oil
You Can Now Get Castor Oil That Has
No Bad Taste or Smell.
Ordinary castor oil contains certain
impurities that make many people actually sick. But if all these impurities that give it its taste and odor are completely removed—as has been done by a new, super-refining process in Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil—
it is as pure as doctor will tell you, the ideal product for the sick.

For not only thoroughly cleanses
the entire bowels as no other purgative does, but it also neutralizes the intestinal gas that causes heart-
aches, auto-intoxication and that tired
feeling—not to mention skin blemishes, salivary complications, etc. Furthermore,
it does not irritate, as do other purga-
tives, but actually heals irritation,
making it especially useful for infants
and children in diarrhoea and colic.
And in this new, purified form it is as safe as the old castor oil, so that the most unreasonably child takes it willingly.

You can get a sample bottle of Kellogg's by writing to Walter Janvier,

The said action is brought for the purpose of clearing a real estate
mortgage loan, executed and delivered by William F. Burgz, a bachelor, now deceased, to Frank Reeder, and duly assigned by the said Frank Reeder to plaintiff, which mortgage covers certain real property situated in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho,
and particularly described as follows:

Lots Ten, Eleven and Twelve (10, 11
and 12) of Block One Hundred Sixteen (116) of the Townsite of the City of Twin Falls, according to the official record of said block in the office of the County Recorder of the said County.

GRAIN QUOTATIONS HIT BY EXCHANGE WEAKNESS

Barish Activities on Stock Market Appear to Intimidate Buyers; Wheat Closes Unsettled, Lower

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 (AP)—Grain prices showed a downward tendency today, largely as a result of New York stock market weakness, which appeared to intimidate buyers here and made sellers become bolder. Wheat closed unsettled, 1.4 to 1.4 1/2 and 1.4 1/2 to 1.4 3/4.

Corn lost 3/4 to 3/4 to 7/8 and oats a shade to 1/4. In proving the outcome was unchanged to 7/8 down. Setbacks in wheat values began within a few minutes after the opening and continued throughout the day except for occasional slight rallies. Persistent selling and inadequate buying support characterized the trade all the end. Selling came chiefly from commission houses and job speculators and although only of moderate volume proved to be more of a weight than the market could sustain without yielding to a considerable extent. This was especially the case after announcement that all the plants of a Chicago flour milling concern had shut down for an indefinite period because of lack of flour buying.

Increased receipts of wheat at primary points acted as more than an offset for a decrease in the visible supply total. Meanwhile, world shipments of wheat were heavy and a decided enlargement of the amount of wheat on ocean passage together with growing surpluses of the British dock strike counted as a further handicap for wheat bulls. On the other hand, talk about impaired prospects of winter wheat and about expected reduction of spring wheat acreage failed to stimulate demand.

Liberal arrivals of corn here, nearly 900 cars, had a depressing effect on the corn market and on oats as well. Besides total receipts of corn at primary points were more than double the amount a year ago.

Provisions sagged in response to decline in hog values.

Speculators for the Decline Force Reactions in Ralls and Industrials; Many Factors Are Adverse

Total stock sales 1,275,000 shares. Twenty industrials advanced 96.90; ten declined 1.03. High, 1924, 101.24; low, 94.38.

Twenty railroads averaged $29; net loss, 74. High, 1924, $5.90; low, $2.74.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Speculators for the decline regained control of today's stock market by launching a series of attacks against speculative rallies and industrials which carried them down one to three points and forced some below the resistance point established in the drastic decline last Friday. The bear attacks started after the week-end buying orders had been disposed of, opening prices displaying a rather firm tone.

Selling of stocks undoubtedly was influenced by the latest Washington oil developments, including the resignation of Secretary Denby, announcement of the decision of the house republicans to boost the proposed maximum surplus rates in the revenue bill to 31 1/2 per cent, and the acute weakness of French and Belgian francs, which established new low records for all time. A bearish bulletin by a stock market advisory service also was regarded in some quarters as a contributing factor.

Call money held at 4 1/4 per cent all day. Time money rates were somewhat firmer, loans being quoted at 4 3/4 and 5 instead of 4 1/2 and 4 3/4, the ruling quotations last week. The bulk of prime commercial paper continued to move at 4 3/4 per cent.

Foreign exchanges developed a reactionary trend. Demand sterling, 4 1/2 farthings steady around $4.29, but French franc broke 25 points to 4.12 1/2 cents, a record low for all time, and Belgian francs dropped 24 points to 3.50 1/2 cents, also a record low. Selling, which originated largely in Paris, apparently was based on the delay in the adoption of Premier Poincare's fiscal program.

1468 Gland Tests Made by Physician

Proving again the efficiency of glandular treatment, the head physician of the Glandular Institute, Dr. J. W. Moore, has announced that 90 per cent of over 1400 patients received unusual and sometimes marvelous benefits through glandular treatment of the vitals glands. Not only have patients experienced a rejuvenation of mental and physical powers but chronic ailments have disappeared, bringing about a general betterment of health.

Hundreds of men and women are now turning to the glandular treatment to help regain lost strength, vigor, vitality and health. Since Science has prepared a gland compound in concentrated, compact tablet form—Glandogen—it is a simple matter to take glandular treatment. Glandogen is a scientifically prepared laboratory tested gland compound, combining the extracts of vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. It is obtainable at Schramm-Johnson Drug company—adv.

MEAT INSPECTOR PROPOSES PLAN TO PAY OWN WAY

Dr. McPherson Would Assess Charges Against Dealers and Relieve Taxpayers at Large of $150 Monthly Expense

A schedule of charges to be paid by dealers for inspection of meat, prepared by Dr. W. C. McPherson, meat and dairy inspector, with a view to making his division of the municipal administration self-supporting, was submitted to Twin Falls municipal commission at its regular meeting Monday evening and referred to City Attorney J. T. Myers for investigation with regard particularly to practicability of attempting to enforce collection of such charges.

The inspector's schedule was offered as an answer to the commission's problem of doing away with a drain on the current expense fund occasioned by annual cost of meat inspection against the taxpayers as a whole. It contemplates return to the policy in effect for some months prior to the adoption by the former administration of the present meat and dairy inspection regulations.

Apportion Charges. Under the inspector's schedule the principal meat dealers would pay an annual fee of $20 and smaller dealers $25 each for inspection. In addition there would be collected a fee of 50 cents for each beef animal and 10 cents for each veal, sheep or hog inspected. It is estimated that the total revenue from these sources would pay approximately $150 per month, thus meeting the present inspection costs.

The commission's action Monday evening was endorsed by Commissioner S. S. Allen's arraignment of methods employed by county authorities in dealing with the epidemic of measles, which has heavily reduced school attendance and been attended by several fatalities. Commissioner Allen declared that quarantine has been loosely enforced, and asked if it were not within the province of the municipal administration to adopt measures for safeguarding public health.

Brown Gets on Payroll. An offer by "Doc" G. H. Brown to rid the city of dead animals, tags made in connection with his complaint against various disturbing factors, including barking dogs, bicyclists on sidewalks and children roller-skating on the streets and shouting, "especially on Sunday," was accepted by the commission, and Brown was authorized to enter upon the duties of animal dog catcher either in person or by proxy. Brown told the commissioners he was sure he could do more effective work toward reducing the number of excess dogs than had municipal employees, but did not volunteer his services toward abatement of bicycling or roller skating on sidewalks.

Way Out for Natoratorum. C. N. Laubenhahn and M. P. Gamble of the Twin Falls natoratorum, appearing again before the commission in regard to their problem of obtaining water supply for the coming season, were told that favorable consideration would be given a proposition under which the city would install a supply line to the city limits, provided the expense involved could be brought within the budget limits. They were advised to obtain right of way for such supply line and were promised a definite decision at next week's meeting of the commission.

It was estimated that the expense to the city of extending the supply line to the city limits would approximate $500, which, it was shown, is approximately the amount paid by the natoratorum for a single season's water supply. The natoratorum would continue the line from the city limits to the pool, a distance of about 2500 feet. The natoratorum heretofore has obtained its water supply through the line supplying the county general hospital, which has been rebuilt and which, according to decision rendered in court here recently, is county property.

Reports on Cash Balances. Statement relative to cash balances at the end of the past month was submitted to the commission by City Clerk J. L. McCo, showing total of cash on hand January 31 amounting to $65,410, as against balance on hand December 31 of $56,480. Revenue received during the month amounted to $11,167.50, taxes, $462, receipts of clerk's office, and $407, interest on daily bank balances. Warrants were ordered drawn in payment of claims against the city in the aggregate of $541.05, in addition to payment of $110.19 on account of interest on city bonds. A check was issued against lands within the city limits to which the city holds water stock. This claim was reduced in the sum of $295.75 by reason of representations made by the city administrator on the grounds that the city did not hold stock for lands against which the government was entitled, although the same were included within the city limits.

Sportsmen Vote to Join State Society

Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association Holds Enthusiastic Annual Meeting

The Southern Idaho Fish and Game association will affiliate with a state organization, according to decision reached at an annual meeting held Monday evening in the private court room here, provided the cost of affiliation does not exceed 10 per cent of the annual membership fee of $1 paid by members of the local organization.

The association approved also the appointment of a permanent legislative committee to which will be referred all matters in which the interests of fish, game and sportsmen, including preservation of fish and game, may be served by legislation.

Another committee was appointed to make inquiry into legislation pending in congress relative to migratory birds and shooting grounds.

W. R. Buehl was elected president of the association, to succeed G. W. Shroat, and other officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Vice president, George Reynolds; secretary, L. A. Chapin; treasurer, H. B. Grant.

The meeting was attended by about 50 members and was characterized by the interest in discussion bearing upon subjects within the purview of the organization.

BUEHL MAKES BID FOR CONVENTION Twin Falls Gets Opposition in Plans for Entertaining Nominating Conclave

Twin Falls' hopes of entertaining a state convention of the democratic party this year received a setback on Monday when it was learned that Buehl would make a bid for the nominating convention next August. Buehl will receive Twin Falls county's vote, which will be cast by J. M. Shank, Buehl, state committee man, through his proxy, C. G. A. Dyrholm, Buehl, at the meeting of the democratic state committee in Boise next Saturday.

Twin Falls' invitation, however, will be offered to the state committee, it was stated Friday evening, and T. J. Lloyd, member of the state house of representatives, will attend the committee's session for this purpose. Until Buehl entered the lists, it was believed that the chairmanship would be the only bidder for the nominating convention.

Hall and Band Pledged. Word that Buehl would seek the convention came to a meeting here Friday of several democratic leaders including the chairman and secretary of the county committee, and officials of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was called for the purpose of making plans for entertainment of the convention. Through its officials the chamber of commerce had made known its readiness to provide suitable convalescent hall and band.

It was suggested, then, that Mr. Shank, as state committee man and representative of this county at the Boise meeting, be requested to extend Twin Falls' invitation for the convention, and Mr. Shank was communicated with by E. J. Finch, chairman of the county committee, over the telephone.

Mr. Shank advised that he had issued his proxy to Mr. Dyrholm and Buehl had decided to extend its own invitation to the convention.

In the meeting here Friday the chamber of commerce was represented by D. D. Alvord, president; Charles P. Dwight, secretary; and Dr. D. L. Alder, former chairman of the public affairs department. Democratic leaders in attendance included E. J. Finch, county chairman; O. A. Witham, county secretary; T. M. Robertson, former state committeeman; State Representative F. J. Lloyd and John E. Davies.

FORMER IDAHO MAN DEAD

P. C. Bowen, Charged with Having Thrown Three, Reported to Have Committed Suicide at Long Beach

P. C. Bowen, formerly engaged in piano tuning here, who was arrested in Long Beach, California, early last December on a charge of having three wives, two of whom were reported to have committed suicide last week by cutting his throat with a razor, according to word received here.

According to the report, which was in the form of a newspaper account from Long Beach, Bowen was released last Christmas eve under bond of $1000.

Bowen, while here about a year ago, made his headquarters at Boise and traveled from there to various other Idaho cities where he engaged in piano tuning and repair work.

LOE ACQUITTED IN BOOZE CASE

Jury Returns Verdict at Variance with Story Told by Special Agents of Sheriff's Office

H. B. Loe, auctioneer, and one of the proprietors of the St. Regis pool hall here, on trial in district court here Monday on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, was found not guilty by a jury which returned its verdict after brief deliberations.

A. F. Peterson and Joseph Priest, who testified that they were Hansen district farmers who had been employed by the sheriff's office to obtain evidence against Loe, were the principal witnesses against Loe. They testified that they had purchased from Loe in his pool hall here October 5, a pint bottle of whiskey for which they paid $2.50. The bottle was introduced in evidence.

Says He Was Out of Town. Testifying on his own behalf, Loe repeated statement he had made at the preliminary examination December 15, to the effect that he had been away from Twin Falls all day October 8, on a trip to several north side towns. In this connection there was introduced by stipulation statements of Dennis Shoro and William Kala to the effect that they had accompanied Loe from Hazelton to Twin Falls that day and had left him here after luncheon with him between 11 and 12 o'clock p. m.

Statements of Shoro and Dennis were set forth in an affidavit supporting Loe's application for continuance of his trial on the grounds that Shoro and Dennis were now away in Elko county, Nevada, and could not now be communicated with. Admission of their statements was consented to by the prosecuting attorney in order to avoid delay in bringing the case to trial.

The regular jury panel was exhausted before action of the jury in this case was completed, and a special venire calling for 10 additional jurors was placed in the hands of the coroner to serve.

Members of the jury as impaneled were George P. White, W. H. Beveridge, Henry Olson, W. A. Maxwell, H. E. Bohrer, J. E. Jewett, G. E. Thayer, B. W. Mager, Luc Mastry, E. S. Wood, A. E. Kiles, W. F. Baker.

The case for Loe was conducted by Frank L. Stephan, former prosecuting attorney.

Trials in the case of L. M. Van Eaton, Rock Creek, on appeal from conviction of the probate court on a charge of driving an automobile in a reckless manner while intoxicated, was expected to begin before a jury in district court this morning.

In the case of L. R. Calcutt and Robert Campbell, charged with failure to obtain an inspector's certificate for operation of a sheep into Idaho and neglect to dip such sheep, Judge Halvick Saturday sustained demurrer to the amended information and did not direct that a new information be filed.

HIGH SCHOOL AG CLUB TO ENTERTAIN FARMERS

Juniors Issue Invitation to Feature Meeting of Year with Special Program and "State"

Twin Falls high school Ag club has extended an invitation to the former friends of the organization to attend a joint meeting with the members of the club this evening in the high school. The Ag club is one of the most active organizations in the school and is composed of 25 or 30 of the boys enrolled in the agricultural courses under the supervision of J. S. Foldhusen.

This evening's meeting is planned to be on the plan of the father and son, except in this case each lad is expected to have an older man with him with the understanding that any farmer that has an interest in the agricultural work of the school is also invited.

A special program is being arranged by Mr. Foldhusen. Carl Irwin will speak on seeds and their selection with particular regard to production; Roy Scott of Hansen has "Fattening Beef Cattle" as his topic. H. H. Schildman of Filer will talk on market hogs, and is listed as a fourth speaker. Mr. Foldhusen will also have a short talk to the guests and members of the club on "Vocational Agriculture" at the conclusion of the special speeches.

"Ed Ag" which is the term applied by the Ag club to all refreshments will be served by the boys to their guests at the meeting and they are especially anxious that the farmers turn out for their feature meeting of the year in the report of Mr. Foldhusen.

ROAD CONDITION BETTER

Resumption of Traffic Over State Highway Between Filer and Buhl Within Few Days Is Promised

Traffic may be resumed over the state highway between Filer and Buhl within the next day or two, according to assurance given Monday evening by S. Watkins, resident engineer for the state highway department, under whose supervision work was done Monday on a had spot in the road between these points at which teams and workmen have been stationed for several days to assist autists.

After the stage service between Twin Falls and Boise, which has been suspended for several days because of this bad place in the highway, will be resumed today, according to announcement by Jack Personius. The stages will not attempt to negotiate the highway between Filer and Buhl for a time, but will go by way of Clover. Stage service has been maintained without interruption between Buhl and Boise.
